City Commission Orders Start Of Beautification Project And Removal Of Church Manse Here

When Completed Will Provide Fine Civic Center

The city commission gave a go-ahead signal this week for improvements which when completed will provide Plymouth with one of the most beautiful groupings of public buildings in the state.

The commission approved blueprints which provide for the removal as soon as possible of the Presbyterian manse from its present location to a portion of the park behind the new Presbyterian church. This action, approved by more than 80 percent of the voters in the spring election, involves an exchange of property between the city and the church.

The area in which the manse is now located, from the church to Main street, will be landscaped to provide an addition to Central Park. A double lane boulevard, with plantings in the center, will be built on Park Drive from the Presbyterian church to Main street to provide an extension of Church street.

A second, separate portion of the project, yet to come up for approval, would close Church street from South Main street to the driveway of the Methodist church, a distance of about 200 feet. This action, on which the commission will hold a public hearing July 6, is designed to reduce the traffic hazards for the hundreds of children who enter and leave the high school building several times daily.

It is contemplated to fill in the old street to beautify it and make it a part of the park.

A horse-shoe driveway is already under construction off Adams street which, when completed within a few days, will provide suitable facilities for automobiles coming to the school to bring or pick up children.

"The removal of the manse and the construction of the double lane Park drive is one of the biggest steps we've ever attempted in beautification," one city official commented. "It will provide a really beautiful civic center."

The deeds have been drawn up for the exchange of the property between the city and the church and work of moving the manse will get underway about July 1. Most of the beautification work and the removal of the manse will be done by city employes.

To Enforce Tree Removal Law

The co-operation of business places in tourist and resort districts of Michigan to prevent the removal of small pine trees, plants and shrubbery from woodlands by vacationists was sought today by department of agriculture. Stricter enforcement of quarantines existing under plant and insect pest laws will make practically impossible the removal of these trees and shrubs from the state, department pointed out.

The department is having printed a quantity of small attractive labels explaining the situation as it exists in Michigan and is asking business men to display these in such a fashion as to acquaint tourists with the inadvisability of attempting to transport trees.

"To remove one of these trees from the woodlands, only to have it later seized is a useless destruction of trees in my estimation. Last week, an Illinois car was stopped and six five needle pine trees and two wild gooseberry plants were seized. Transportation of any trees, plants or shrubs without being properly tagged as inspected stock or native trees is unlawful in this state.

"Due to existence of quarantines it is becoming more difficult to disobey the law. Thousands of dollars have been spent in the eradication of white pine blister rust. In the case last week, the transportation of the pine trees and the alternate hosts of white pine blister rust, gooseberry plants, was truly dangerous." E. C. Mandenberg, in charge of Orchard and Nursery division, said.

Supply of attractive labels may be obtained by writing department of agriculture, Lansing, Michigan.

Mrs. P. W. Carley was called to Grand Forks, North Dakota Wednesday by the very serious illness of her father. She left immediately going by plane part of the way.

Bill Simpson Opens New Sandwich Shop

The formal opening of the new, modern - equipped Simpson's Sandwich Shop at 477 South Main street will be held Saturday, Bill Simpson, proprietor, who for four years has operated the Plymouth hotel, says that he will specialize on cold, draught beer and sandwiches in the new location. The interior of the new business place has been completely renovated and will accommodate approximately 100 persons at a time.

Simpson said that he was proud to announce that he has the first cooler-keg system, which draws cold beer direct from the keg, which has been installed in this vicinity. The new cooler, Bill predicts, will popularize draught beer and the equipment is the latest invention introduced in the beverage business.

The sandwich shop was opened last Friday and a large number of people dropped in to look over the new establishment.

"I want to thank all my friends of Plymouth, Northville, Salem and the farming community for the many congratulations they offered when they visited my place last Saturday," Simpson said. "Every detail of the new equipment will be ready for the formal opening Saturday."

M. S. C. Leader To Deliver Address At Commencement

Rev. Norton To Give Baccalaureate Sermon June 20.

Dr. E. L. Austin, head of the education department of Michigan State college, was announced this week as the speaker for the annual commencement exercises on June 24 when 101 Plymouth high school seniors will receive diplomas.

Rev. P. Ray Norton, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday night, June 20. Class day will be held on June 22. All three events will be held at the high school auditorium and will start at 8:00 p.m.

The commencement speaker, considered one of the most forceful orators in the state, received his education at Moore's Hill college and Purdue University, receiving his PhD in 1928. Before coming to Michigan Dr. Austin was dean of men and professor of education at Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The programs of the three commencement week events will be carried in The Plymouth Mail next week.

College Warns Fruit Growers

Fruit growers in this county and in other sections of Michigan's apple and peach producing area are warned that hot weather has brought out hatches of curculio moth and curculio two weeks ahead of time and that the first arsenical spray should be applied now.

Millions of dollars in quality fruit is involved, says Ray Hutson, entomologist at Michigan State college. If the first hatches are permitted to build up they will do extensive damage later in the summer.

Apples are affected by both the curculio moth and the curculio, but the same spray can be used for protection. Three pounds of arsenate of lead is recommended in each 100 gallons of spray. Spraying should be thorough, for the eggs are laid on both leaves and small fruit.

Peach protection is different, for only the curculio is the active pest of the two now hatching. The curculio if left unhatched will be found in ripe peaches as a little white footless worm. For 100 gallons of spray Hutson recommends two pounds of lead arsenate plus some corrective to prevent burning of young wood.

Later as the second brood hatches at different dates in different sections of the fruit belt, the college extension staff plans to issue its usual timely warnings to fruit growers as the proper spraying dates arrive.

Plymouth Lad Aided "Duckers"

"The students really went after those babies," writes Gene Kendall Brocklehurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Brocklehurst, who is a student in Michigan State college, in a letter to his parents telling of the invasion of East Lansing by a raiding mob of Lansing strikers last Monday afternoon.

The mob that had been successful in brow-beating and threatening Lansing merchants into closing their places of business on Monday, went out to East Lansing to do the same thing.

But it seems that the students of the college have some ideas that they still possess a few rights as American citizens and when the mobsters reached the college and tried to tell the college students that they couldn't eat their supper in their usual places, and proceeded to carry out their orders by force, they ran.

Fingerprints Of 1200 School Pupils Are Taken Here

Robert Moore, County Expert, Nears End Of Task Here

Robert E. Moore, superintendent of the Wayne county identification bureau, this week completed taking fingerprints of 1,200 of the 1,500 students enrolled in Plymouth public schools.

Each student is given a card bearing identification information and his thumb print. A complete set of each person's fingerprints are sent to the federal fingerprint bureau in Washington and one set is retained for a civilian identification file in Wayne county.

Moore called attention of parents to the benefits of having their children fingerprinted.

"A few weeks ago 96 boys of the Northeast Y. M. C. A. were fingerprinted and given cards with their identification by me," Moore pointed out. "The following week one of the boys wanted to go to a show on Saturday night."

"He had walked down the street only two blocks when trying to cross the crowded traffic lanes he was struck and knocked unconscious. Police took him to Receiving hospital and in searching his clothes they discovered the card. The boy's father was thus notified quickly and he took the injured lad to another hospital where through immediate expert care he recovered. This is but one of the hundreds of practical demonstrations of the value of fingerprinting civilians."

One of the most important reasons why finger-printing is being done in the schools through out the nation is because too often tragic accidents occur after which the only possible way to identify the victims is by the finger-prints. As an example, Mr. Moore cited the recent explosion and burning of the New London, Texas school. "It was necessary to take prints of those killed and burned and compare them with prints taken at the Texas Centennial, these prints being filed at Washington, D. C. along with 40,000 other records which have been recorded in the last two years," he explained. "This file is growing at the rate of 4,000 a day and will soon surpass the criminal file of seven million. These prints are classified according to the Henry system, a combination of numbers and letters; this system is used in all English speaking countries throughout the world."

Several other Wayne county schools have been finger-printed recently. Six of the large Detroit schools, 2,000 Ecorse students, 1,500 River Rouge students, and 1,400 Grosse Pointe students are included in this group.

G-Men Capture Suspect In Series Of Bank Robberies

Long Taken To Court On Plymouth Hold-up

The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced this week the arrest of George Benchick, 24, a paroled Jackson prison convict, in connection with the series of eight Michigan bank robberies committed since January 1.

Although Benchick is held under $100,000 bond pending arraignment on a federal charge of participating in the Lapeer Savings bank hold-up, May 18, his close association with Willard Long, arrested in St. Louis, Missouri, in connection with the robbery of the First National bank of Plymouth, aroused speculation to the possibility that Benchick also might have been involved in Plymouth.

Benchick was sentenced to a five to 15 year term in Marquette prison in 1932 and was later transferred to Jackson prison where he served at the same time as did Long. The two men were paroled a month apart in 1936.

Long, who was identified by Floyd Kehl, president of the victimized Plymouth bank, as one of the robbers, was arraigned in federal court in Detroit Thursday on a charge of participating in the daring early morning hold-up here May 5, when bandits escaped with $6,628.

Long has been held at the federal detention farm at Milan in default of $100,000 bond since his arrest by the federal agents.

Jay Newman, agent in charge of the Detroit office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced that G-men aided by Michigan state police arrested Benchick last Sunday.

City To Purchase Turbine To Meet Demand For Water

Move Provides Extra 200 Gallons A Minute

The city commission authorized City Manager Clarence H. Elliott to get bids on and purchase a new turbine pump to develop another six-inch well at the city's spring.

The installation of the turbine at the well, already drilled, will provide 200 gallons per minute increase in the water pumped in to the city mains. This amount, city officials pointed out, is needed to meet new demand for water.

The commission also ordered the purchase of 10,000 gallons of tarvia from the Barrett company, Detroit. The tarvia will be applied on principal streets to provide a hard surface. This repair work is expected to start June 21.

City Manager Elliott was ordered by the commission to make an appointment for the commission to meet the Wayne county road commission to seek construction of a grade separation in the city at the Pere Marquette railroad crossing on North Main street. This safety precaution is necessary to prevent further fatal accidents at this crossing.

The commission set June 21 for hearings on a petition in which William Eckman and Charles O. Luecke ask for construction of sewers and water main along 280 feet which fronts 13 lots on Beech street. A hearing will be held on the same night on the construction of a sanitary sewer on the south side of Plymouth road between Mill and Holbrook.

Approval was given a plan whereby Ralph Lorenz will deed the city property on which the sidewalk stand in front of the old Plymouth hotel building. The city, in return for the deed, will lower the sidewalk to the curb when the new Lorenz building is completed. This will improve the appearance of the entire main street and eliminate a series of steps necessary to climb to get from Ann Arbor Trail roadway to the sidewalk at present.

He attended high school in Utica, New York, where he graduated in 1929.

Lumberg, who has been working at the felt plant pending completion of his bar examination study, plans to open the practice of law in the fall either in Plymouth or in Detroit.

Mather, 373 North Main street, who also studied in the literary school; and Frederick B. Cline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cline, 627 Burroughs, who will receive a degree from the engineering school.

Joe Scarpulla Sets New Record, Wins Junior Decathlon

Douglas Prough Was Close Second In Event

Joe Scarpulla, a ninth grade pupil, set a new record by registering 3,984 out of a possible 10,000 points to win the annual Plymouth junior high decathlon last Thursday.

Douglas Prough was a close second with 3,965 points. Both Scarpulla and Prough were far ahead of the old record of 3,921 points set by E. Egge in 1934. The event, sponsored by the Rotary club and held under the supervision of Athletic Director Kenneth Matheson, attracted 98 contestants from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

Scarpulla also set a new, broad jump record of nine feet, seven inches better than the old mark set in 1934 by O. Fisher. Gold medals were presented to the winners finishing in the first seven places in the standings. Others besides Scarpulla and Prough were: third, R. Sessions, 9,065; fourth, H. Fischer, 8,850; fifth, I. Packard, 8,850; sixth, S. Dunham, 8,860 and seventh, J. Baker, 8,641.

Twelve next places, the winners of which won silver medals, went to P. Keller, 8,746; H. Paulsen, 8,594; C. Hulson, 8,265; J. Butler, 8,155; G. Robinson, 8,000; R. McClain, 7,977; K. Drews, 7,946; J. Butz, 7,703; J. Birchall, 7,660; E. Wilson, 7,541; E. Baker, 7,428, and G. Blyton, 7,410.

A bronze medal was given to each of the winners of the next 17 places. They are, in order: E. Slater, J. Walker, R. Rogers, W. Perkins, H. Dahmer, H. Stevens, M. Horvath, A. Oaks, R. O'Connor, N. Pearsall, E. Bridge, W. Aluia, R. Brown, D. Bloomhoff, B. Erdelyi, E. Keller, and R. Dunnlop.

Each contestant was required to participate in all eleven athletic events and then his score by points was figured from his ten best performances.

League To Gather Books For Detention Home

The Plymouth League of Women Voters is sponsoring a drive for the collection of usable books, games, and toys for the boys and girls of the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Home in Detroit. The committee in charge of the drive consists of Mrs. Clarence Elliott, chairman; Mrs. James Sessions, and Mrs. Bruce Woodbury. Anyone who has books, games, or toys which he would like to contribute to this drive may call any member of the committee before July 1.

Four Students Pass Federal Radio Code Examination

Small Three-Tube Set At School Picks Up Berlin

Four Plymouth high school students were notified this week that they had passed the Federal Radio commission code test for their amateur radio operator licenses.

The quartet, Robert Gots, Douglas Eckles, Lewis Green and Marvin Wilson, are scheduled to take their theory examination July 9 and if they pass will be awarded their federal licenses. Then in a year's time the successful members can take an examination for a commercial radio operator's license which would qualify them for jobs on ships, in radio stations and other similar posts.

The announcement capped the first year of the new radio class inaugurated at Plymouth high school under W. L. Campbell, director of industrial arts. A total of 20 boys took the course this year and seven took code test. Two failed and a third missed passing by a single word. To pass the examination each applicant must be able to take and send 13 words a minute. Many of the Plymouth students can take as high as 18 words a minute.

During the year the class built 16 radio sets but the one on which most of the interest has been settled is a three-tube set, the total cost of which was less than $14, which recently added Berlin, Germany, to its long list of short wave stations which include Australia, England, South America and France.

This set was built in the class by a freshman student, Edgar Nash, with the assistance of the others.

After hearing station DJD, Berlin, on May 10, a letter was written to the German station for confirmation.

The answer was received this week and when transcribed into English by H. Weberlein of Plymouth, it read:

"The German shortwave-sender thanks you very much for your writing of the tenth of May, 1937, and is delighted to count you too, as a listener. He confirms with pleasure that the broadcast you heard on the tenth day of May corresponds with the program of station DJD.

"We would be very much delighted to be further informed about the result of your reception and to receive therewith an opinion on the contents of our broadcast. We would be exceptionally thankful if you would call attention to our broadcast, and invite acquaintances and friends, not possessing receiving sets, occasionally, to listen in with you.

"Signed, Berlin, House of Radio."

New Highway Maps Out

The first summer edition of the 1937 official Michigan highway map is now ready for distribution to the public, a limited supply of which is available at The Plymouth Mail office.

The map follows the general style of the 1936 editions which proved popular with the public. Chief among these features is the improved type of accordion fold permitting easy folding and unfolding of the map.

Other features include the latest corrected information on the various types of highways, individual maps of the principal cities, a mileage table, the ferry schedule at the Straits of Mackinac, the location of airports, state parks, forest areas, and state police posts, an index of cities and villages, and a detailed map of the metropolitan area.

The reverse side of the map is more profusely illustrated with scenic views than previous editions.

This is the first edition of the 1937 map. Others, with corrections, will be available in July and September.

Copies of the map can be obtained free of charge by writing State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner. Approximately 300,000 maps were distributed by the state highway department last year.

Several couples from Plymouth joined Mr. and Mrs. Ted Foster, of Walled Lake, at a dancing party, Wednesday evening.

Police War On Reckless Drivers Continues Here

Total Of $225 In Fines Paid In May

The war on reckless driving continued in Plymouth this week. Police Chief Vaughn Smith announced that Frank Hinchman, of Northville, was arrested for driving at a high speed on Starkweather avenue and when taken before Municipal Judge John Dayton, was assessed a fine of $50 and $3 in costs for reckless driving. Another driver paid a $25 fine for leaving the scene after his car struck and damaged a parked vehicle.

The result of the drive for safer traffic in Plymouth was disclosed in a report for the month of May in which a total of $226 in fines were paid for traffic violations.

Chief Smith warned that the June total of fines will be higher than that unless all drivers use more caution within the city.

"With schools getting out soon we must expect some serious accidents to children unless motorists co-operate by making sure they have their car under control at all times and unless parents make certain that their children keep out of the streets," the police chief said.

Committees Busy On Plans For The July Exposition

Merchants And Industry To Hold Event

Chamber of Commerce committees were busy this week working out details for the Plymouth industrial and merchants' exposition to be held at the high school building on July 7, 8, and 9.

Early reservations for booths for merchants' exhibits brought predictions that every available foot of space would be taken before the event starts. There will be educational displays in the auditorium, hallways and some class rooms of the school.

The committee plans to have plenty of entertainment for the affair which will run from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. each of the three days. Details of the entertainment will be announced later.

Garden City Wins 13-Inning Contest

Roy Wolfram's single in the 13th inning scored O'Brien in the winning run to give Garden City a 2-1 victory over Inkster last Sunday.

The hit broke up a stirring pitchers' battle between Waldo Scott of Garden City and Lee Pechette of Inkster. Scott struck out 14 men and limited Inkster to four hits during the 13 innings. Pechette was equally effective in the pinches although O'Brien, Wolfram, and Scott each collected hits and Tatro and Bud Johnson one safety apiece.

Garden City travels to Farmington next Sunday in a regularly scheduled game in the Michigan Inter-county league.

A WORTHY EXPERIMENT.

There is being conducted an experiment in the Plymouth schools which may result in a world of good to a very large number of young men who are students in the high school. The same plan, which has been in effect in the Grand Haven high schools for sometime, is very well explained in a recent editorial in the Grand Haven Tribune, which follows:

"A program which has unlimited possibilities for improving the lives of individuals and promoting the efficiency of industry has been inaugurated by local school authorities. It is concerned with the training of youths of high school age under a plan which permits practical experience to be combined with the regular curricula.

Under the plan, students over 16 years of age will receive instruction for one-half day in the local high school. Two hours of this time will be spent under the supervision of an instructor employed for the purpose of coordinating the students activities along the theoretical line of the occupation he chooses. Another two hours will be devoted to instruction in the regular high school courses. During the other half day, the student will be given the opportunity of learning a definite occupation through employment in a local industrial plant or commercial institution.

The program has definite advantages for each group concerned. For the student it means an opportunity to acquire the fundamentals of an established trade or occupation and at the same time acquire some phases of cultural education, both of which are requisite to a full enjoyment of life. It will create an added interest in his studies because the vague formulas of algebra or geometry will assume a new meaning when the student applies them in industry. In a like manner the law of supply and demand which he studies in economics will be easier for him to understand when he discovers how it works through employment in a commercial occupation.

For the student it also means an early interest in something constructive because he will be given the opportunity to use his energy and his education toward a practical end—his objective is close at hand. The experience of many individuals has been that after leaving high school and finding employment, they wish that they had given more attention to some of those phases of their education which appeared rather "dry" and dull while they were studying in school. Experience has also demonstrated that students who were "ignorant" and unready during their school days have shown remarkable talent and ability when they acquired the job they liked to do. The advantage of an earlier start in such a situation would be of untold value.

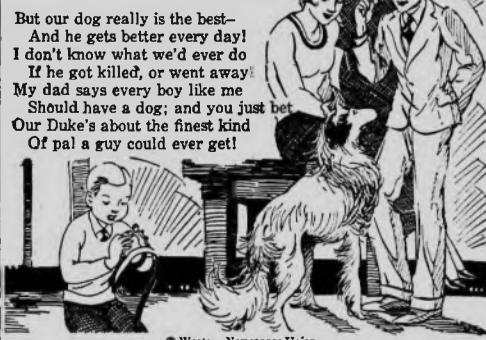

Under the program, the employer will have the advantage of preparing future full-time employees under the most favorable conditions. The apprentice who is supplementing his work with theoretical knowledge and has available to him information and guidance on the specific task he has to do will develop into a better workman than one who does not have this opportunity. It is our opinion that training of apprentices under this arrangement will stimulate and develop a greater interest of the employer in the employe as an individual and will tend to demonstrate that proper supervision and explanation of the work to be done, at the time the work is first undertaken, will

My dad brought home a dog one day—
The cutest little Collie pup,
And it's been lots o' fun, you bet,
To watch him while he's growin' up!
He certainly is awful smart,
And seemed to like us right away;
And, boy, you ought to see the tricks
He does when we go out an' play!

We named him Duke, so he would know
That he's important; and he is!
I bet you don't find many dogs
With better pedigrees than his!
But even if he was a mut
I'd think that he was plenty good,
'Cause every kid calls his own dog
The best one in the neighborhood.

But our dog really is the best—
And he gets better every day!
I don't know what we'd ever do
If he got killed, or went away!
My dad says every boy like me
Should have a dog; and you just bet
Our Duke's about the finest kind
Of pal a guy could ever get!

go a long way toward the establishment of an efficient organization.

For the educator, the plan brings closer to realization that dream of every true educator—to develop each individual completely in whatever capabilities he may possess. That objective is not only a dream, it is also a duty and not one only of the individual concerned directly with education but also of those who make education possible through the payment of taxes. Such a development will mean that the individual who has had the advantages of this type of training will reap the rewards that come to him who is specifically qualified for a specific task. Under those conditions the community as a whole reaps a lasting benefit.

Whether we like to admit it or not, during the last quarter of a century we have promoted the false conception that the high school graduate is a "white-collared" worker and that this type of employment is the "thing to have". Under this conception, we have placed men in offices and executive positions who should be, for their own welfare and the welfare of the employer, doing manual labor and have barred from those positions men who are far more capable in such capacities than they would be at the work they were assigned.

The apprentice training program will tend to eliminate that type of inefficiency. It will help to correct the mistaken conception that one type of work is "above" another. It will help everyone to realize that the parts we play in the work of the world in which we find ourselves are dependent one on the other and that the only way we can live our lives to the fullest enjoyment and profit is one in which each phase works in cooperation and harmony with the other.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

LEGALIZED EMBEZZLEMENT.

The state of Michigan some weeks ago went through one more election in which conspicuous use was made of the sordid political implement of assessment of state employees. A fundamental characteristic of the spoils system, we can expect political assessment to remain as an unlovely feature of state politics until the day when passage of a sound civil service bill stamps it out.

The practice of requiring state employes to fork over tens of thousands of dollars during every campaign period is a vicious racket, as far as the assessed employes are concerned, and nothing short of embezzlement of public funds from the point of view of the people.

It is a racket from the employe's standpoint because, when the assessment is made, they find themselves in the hopeless dilemma of either making substantial contributions out of their non-too-substantial incomes, or losing their jobs.

It is public embezzlement because it is public taxes which go, first to state employes, and then, in the form of political assessment, to the parties and the politicians. Under the system of political assessment a good slice of the money which ALL the people pay, for the collective COMMON welfare, is thus expropriated from the rank and file of state workers and used by INDIVIDUAL politicians for PARTISAN purposes. Public taxes are meant to support public programs; under the spoils system of political assessment they are perverted to support party campaigns.

No particular individual and no particular party is solely to blame for this practice. It is rather a fault inherent in a system which hires public employes in a political rather than a merit basis. As such, it can be remedied in just one way—passage of the merit system bill now in committee at Lansing.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

STOP AND GO DRIVING IS COSTLY

Every time you start up from a normal traffic stop, you can waste enough gasoline to drive a third of a mile!

To cut down the high cost of today's stop-and-go driving in village, town, and city, Shell engineers developed a way to "balance" gasoline.

This balancing process rearranges the entire chemical structure of gasoline—makes it "digestible" for your engine—just as cooking makes food digestible for you.

Your motor gets the full benefit of Super-Shell's high energy content.

Super-Shell—the "MOTOR-DIGESTIBLE" gasoline is sold from coast to coast.

There's a Shell station in your neighborhood. Stop there "next time."

Free Press Editor Tells Of Life-Long Battle For Right By Henry Ford

Has Been Victor In Every Conflict Waged Against Him

Because of the fact that many readers of The Plymouth Mail do not see every issue of The Detroit Free Press, The Mail is printing in full the following article pertaining to Henry Ford, written by Malcolm W. Binyay, editorial director of The Free Press, in his "Good Morning" column:

Henry Ford—Unchanged
There seems to be a general idea that there is to be a battle between Henry Ford and John L. Lewis over who is to manage the business that Mr. Ford created. This is only partly true. The real objective of the campaign is to make the Ford employes join the C. I. O. These Ford workers have not asked to be unionized. If they had, demonstrations would not be necessary outside the gates to attract public attention. The Lewis objective is to line them up whether they want to join or not.

And the purpose is to get one dollar a month from each one of them, $100,000 a month or $1,200,000 annually for the privilege of working for Mr. Ford—who contends no man has to pay for the right to work for him.
A nice sum of $1,200,000 a year for Mr. Lewis to spend as he pleases without being accountable to anybody outside his own group is nothing to be sneezed at. Especially when, to take over the federal government costs dough. Mr. Lewis admits that he spent over a half million of the C. I. O. funds in the last campaign to elect Mr. Roosevelt. He did not even hesitate to publicly remind the president of the United States of that obligation, and all that it implies.

The C. I. O. organizers will explain that this is not so, that Ford workers do not have to pay them for the privilege of working for Ford, that the men do not HAVE to join their organization. Of course, if they get beaten up or intimidated for NOT joining, such things are done by irresponsible and overly enthusiastic members of the C. I. O. and they, the officers, will be glad to repudiate such actions. Repudiation always consists of saying such things are done without their sanction.
Nothing in the Wagner Labor act says a man MUST join the C. I. O. or any other union. Contracts have been agreed upon in the motor industry with that understanding and the authorized union leaders have given their word that the agreements will be lived up to in letter and spirit. But what happens?
The men strike anyway, saying they refuse to work with non-members, and sit down as they please or, rather, as they are ordered.
The non-union man who will not pay his $12 a year for the privilege of holding a job is "ganged", until for the peace of mind of his wife and children and the safety of his own life and limb, either gets out or comes across.
And the money rolls in!
To be spent how? That is nobody's business but the masters of the C. I. O. Mr. Lewis campaigned for Herbert Hoover against Roosevelt and then campaigned for Mr. Roosevelt against Alf Landon. He will determine what party is to be financed with that dollar a month of yours—and you can like it, or else.
All this in the name of American democracy.
That's the thing that Henry

Ford is fighting and it is no new battle for him. He has fought all his life against monopoly in whatever form it has appeared, whether from Wall street, from trade associations or from politically ambitious labor leaders.
He fought the Selden patent monopoly single handed and alone when a poor man beginning his career—and freed the motor car industry of that extortion.
He fought Wall street from his very beginnings and created the greatest industrial unit in the world without ever a cent from the "economic royalists." He has refused consistently to ever join any associations or groups because he wants no trade agreements. He believes in open competition openly arrived at. He was warring on the "princes of privilege" in the years long ago when Franklin D. Roosevelt was one of them.
He fought the NRA because it meant bureaucratic domination from Washington and was in opposition to the American principle of free enterprise and an open market.
He fought for higher wages, shorter hours and better working conditions long years before John L. Lewis stepped into power and he was denounced by his rivals in the motor car industries as an "enemy of capitalism" because he preached the sound doctrine of higher wages so that the worker could share in his own product and absorb the production.
Time has vindicated his stand against the Selden patent monopoly, time has proved him right in his war on Wall street, time has shown he had the right done on NRA. In seeking to help himself to over a million dollars a year of the Ford workers' money, John L. Lewis is meeting no novice in the person of Henry Ford as an opponent.
Even his present slogan, "You do not have to pay anybody to work at Ford's" is not new. It is 23 years old. When he first announced his five-dollars-a-day plan thousands of men swarmed into Detroit from all parts of the world to get in on it.
And with them came racketeers who told the innocent and the ignorant that they could get them "bribe". They took regular fees from their victims until their game became an open scandal.
Mr. Ford then issued public statements explaining that nobody could guarantee anybody a job.
He said then, "You do not have to pay anybody to work at Ford's". And he is still saying it.
He fought then to protect the men from exploitation and insists now he is carrying on the same fight. The only difference is in his opposition. All his long life he has fought monopoly and special privilege, whether it came disguised as financial, political or industrial dictatorship.

Musical Season Opens July 1

What remains of Michigan's mussel supply, which years ago supported a thriving industry, will become legal game for licensed clambers in the producing streams of lower Michigan during a three-month season which begins July 1.

The mussel supply in southern Michigan is now badly depleted, fisheries authorities believe, and they think it is due in part to the over-intensive shelling operations during the depression. Many persons who lost their jobs went to mussel fishing and found that it produced a varying cash crop that helped to sustain themselves and their families. The shells obtained in Michigan's mussel industry are sold to pearl-button factories in the middle west and occasionally the shellers find pearls and slugs which also are marketed.

During 1935—the last season on which complete official reports are available—nearly a half-million pounds of shells were harvested by 190 licensed dealers. These had a market value of $8,759. In addition slugs and pearls brought $183.

These figures appear low in comparison to the depression season of 1933 when 822 persons were licensed to fish mussels and produced nearly three million pounds of shells having a market value of more than $85,000. The slugs and pearls brought $2,555 that season.

Authorities have experienced difficulty in compiling statistics on and administering the mussel industry due to the fact that many of the licensed operators neglect for months to report their catch of the previous season, making the report only when reminded that a new season's license cannot be issued them under the law until the report is filed.

For that reason complete figures on the 1936 season are not available, since a number of the 414 licensees remain delinquent in their reports.

However, fisheries authorities believe that the mussel industry should be properly conserved since it apparently provides revenue to several hundred persons in excess of the cost of operations. This conservation can best be achieved, they believe, by giving some of the larger mussel producing streams a long rest so as to permit the supply to "come back". Under present law this is not entirely possible, however, because the conservation commission, which is responsible for protecting the mussel resources, has authority to close not more than half of any one stream to mussel taking for a period of not to exceed three years. However, a measure is now being considered by the state legislature which will authorize the commission to close all of a producing stream if it so sees fit.

All state regulations affecting the mussel industry this season will remain the same as last year and any changes made by the legislature are likely not to become effective until 1938. The mussel season closes September 30.

SENIOR BIOGRAPHIES

Francis "Bones" Trombley, although born in Detroit has been a student in the Plymouth schools from the lowest grade on up. "Bones" is very interested in sports and was a member on both the football and baseball teams for two years. His hobby is radio and is up on all the latest developments in that field. During his four years on high school work Francis has been president of the radio club, president of the Varsity club, vice-president of the Hi-Y, and a member of the Torch club. His latest development has been the purchasing of a snappy Chevrolet roadster which he travels up and down the highways of Plymouth quite a bit. After graduation or sometime in the future "Bones" plans to take up a course in electrical engineering.

Marian Tuck daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Tuck spends her spare time having a good time when she isn't listening to Eddie Cantor or Thelma Bow over the radio. Marian came to Plymouth high school in her freshman year, riding on the bus, for she lives out by Rouge Pools on Plymouth road. When she graduates Marian wants to get a job at the Bell Telephone company as a filing clerk. While in school she has belonged to Girl Reserves, Drama club, and Glee club. Her favorite food is vegetable soup; her drink, ginger ale and her pet, peeve, so she says, is "coon-hunting".

Elizabeth Vealy, a tall, slim senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vealy of Elizabeth street, Plymouth. She was born in Plymouth and has attended school here since kindergarten. During her high school life she has been a member of the Girls' Glee club for two years. Marshmallow roasts and dancing, are her favorite hobbies and Sammy Kaye her choice for swing music. Conceited people are her pet peeve. Elizabeth expects to get an office position after graduation.

Janet Waldecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waldecker, was born in Dearborn on December 1, 1920 and is the youngest member of the senior class. She attended the Hanford school before entering Plymouth high in the ninth grade. Unlike most girls, Janet's favorite sport is baseball. For her favorite orchestra she chooses Guy Lombardo's. After graduation she plans to attend Cleary Business college.

Marvin Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson and was born September 21, 1919, in Plymouth, Michigan. He later moved to Newburg and attended school there until he came to Plymouth high school in his freshman year. In high school his favorite subjects have been chemistry and physics while he has intensely disliked history. Torch club, Radio club, Hi Y, Glee club, and Senior Drama club were the high school organizations to which he belonged. Marvin was also in the Senior play, stunt night, inter-class sports, and on the baseball team. After graduation he hopes to go to Cleary Business college in Ypsilanti with Hank Worden and after that he will study television in the Milwaukee School of Engineering.

Howard Zander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zander, entered the Plymouth schools in the ninth grade from the Bartlett school. Howard is fond of music and is able to play a fair sounding serenade on a Spanish guitar. In his spare moments Howard takes a great deal of pleasure from hunting and fishing and also enjoys outdoor sports. Howard has been taking a business course for the last few years and plans to apply himself in some business position.

Ruth Campbell, daughter of Mrs. G. Anderson of Northville, was born on Six Mile road, and went to school at our rival city of Northville until her senior year, when she came to P.H.S. She now resides with her brother on 424 North Harvey street. Ruth has but one objective in mind when she graduates: that is to get a job, any kind of job. While in Northville, she was secretary of the junior class, was in the junior play, and was chairman of the J-Hop committee. Ruth is very athletic, participating in all the sports, and is a member of Leaders' club. Her favorite personalities are Guy Lombardo, Jackie Heller and Bob, and her hobbies are eating, which has to be proven, and collecting popular songs. Her two favorite girl friends are Phyllis Dickinson and Betty Housley.

Phyllis Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stewart, was born on a farm in Garden City. Perhaps that is why she is such a healthy girl. She now resides at 243 Mill street, close to Jean Dunham who shares the love of baseball with her. Phyllis' favorite subjects are mathematics (except solid geometry) and English, and she plans to attend a teachers' college in Pennsylvania after graduation where she will take up mathematics and English. Phyllis is salutatorian of the senior class, receiving excellent marks all through high school. She has also participated in class sports and is a member of Leaders' club, Girl Reserves, Glee club, Math club, and Flythen. Phyllis has been treasurer of Girl Reserves for three years. Her hobbies are reading and sports, while her ambition is to get a box seat next to the Tiger dugout for a Tiger-Yankee game at Navin field. Whew!

Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, is the birth place of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Stitt's eldest daughter, Velma, who entered Plymouth schools in the third grade and remained here until the seventh when she moved to Hillsdale, attending school there until she returned to Plymouth for the tenth grade. She has been a member of the Girls' Glee club for two years, and sewing and picnics are her favorite pastimes. After graduation she will try to obtain an office position.

Arthur Stroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stroll of East Ann Arbor Trail, has attended only Plymouth schools. Art has been very interested in sports and often has been on the class teams. His favorite subject is auto mechanics and it is very easy to enter a debate with him concerning the good points of the Terraplane automobile. Guy Lombardo's orchestra comes first in Art's list of bands and he enjoys very much to drive around in his Terraplane while that particular orchestra is performing. After graduation he intends to take up a course in diesel engineering.

Plymouth BOY SCOUT NEWS

The third annual Boy Scout Camporee is now a thing of the past—having "come off" last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. And if you don't know what a Camporee is—it is camping on a council-wide scale, just as the Jamboree at Washington the last of this month is a camp on a national or international basis. This Camporee was held on the flats of Rouge Park opposite the end of Chicago boulevard. Representative patrols from 94 boy scout troops of the Detroit area council marched into camp Friday afternoon and Saturday morning with everything on their backs that they would need for a week-end outing in the way of shelter, clothing, equipment and food. Among these patrols was a six-boy group wearing the colors of P-4 of Plymouth. This is the first year our district has been represented. Harvey Shaw, Howard Ebersole, Mike Spitz, Max Spitz, Franklin Coward and Paul Thams comprised the patrol, the last two being P-1 scouts substituting for P-4 boys unable to attend. Paul Thams acted as patrol leader. The camping patrols, each occupying an assigned space 40 feet square, were divided into three divisions. With each division were four men experienced in scouting who acted as observers. The patrols did not compete with each other for comparative ratings in camping expertness, but against a high standard of camping requirements, receiving ratings of "standard" or "participating" according to whether their scores exceeded or fell short of 900 out of a possible 1200 points. The observers marked the patrols on many details of six general classifications of camp activity. These included the manner of entering and leaving camp, the general matter of food, patrol equipment, camp craft, exhibition of scout qualities and participation in certain scouting projects. Only 29 of the 94 patrols passed the very rigid and "hard boiled" requirements of the "standard" grade. Plymouth District Commissioner Strong was one of the four observers with division "C" of the camp, made up of 35 patrols. The rainy weather made the period a more severe test of the boys' camping ability than it might have been with more sunshine, but everyone enjoyed the experience and learned a lot. It should be noted that this camping was entirely "on their own" as far as the boys were concerned, for the adult leaders were forbidden to give any help or coaching on the grounds. Almost all of Saturday, the Ford Motor company's photographic department was present taking movies of various phases of the camping work. Another year it is hoped that more of the Plymouth troops will join in this very worth-while practice of camping, and it isn't too early now to start planning tentage and equipment. It is unfortunate that more Plymouth citizens could not have visited the site and enjoyed watching the 750 boys with all their variety of camp tents and gadgets. It was a really inspiring sight.

ing; and also a piano duet with her daughter, Elaine. Fifteen new members were voted upon and admitted to the association. The Sultz and Kleinschmidt children were asked to join the Night Ramblers in several selections and ended an enjoyable evening by playing a few numbers for those who wished to dance. Plymouth Edges Out Wayne In Last Inning Rally 9 to 8

The Plymouth Rocks have finally broken their losing streak. They did it when they played the Wayne nine here on Friday, June 4. Lady Luck gave them all the breaks, which they needed badly, for they gathered only four hits to Wayne's 12. It was also the first time in many moons that Plymouth made less errors than the opposing team. She made four to Wayne's five.

Bob Hitt went the whole distance on the mound for Plymouth, although he got into hot water more than once. Wayne garnered three hits in the first inning without producing a run. Brown opened with a lusty double but he was nipped stealing third after Brehmer had struck out. Proctor and Monroe singled in succession and advanced to third and second when Leach fumbled the ball. This put Hitt in a hole, but he pitched himself out of it by striking out Borsman.

A double play squelched Plymouth's first inning chances after Hitt had walked.

Both teams scored in the second. Wayne tallied two runs without a hit by taking advantage of two free passes and a like number of errors. Plymouth got two solid hits, two more errors, a walk, and a hit batsman, scoring three runs before they were retired by a neatly executed double play.

Plymouth staged its biggest rally in the fourth on only one hit, producing five runs. Four walks, two errors, and interference by the catcher turned the trick. This put Plymouth six runs in the lead.

Wayne then began to overhaul the Plymouth team. She scored three counters in the fifth, two in the sixth, and finally she squeezed the tying run across in her half of the last inning.

The score stood 8-8. If Plymouth could not score, the game would go into extra innings. Orlan Egloff came through with a single to left, practically saving the game. Ned May was put in to run for him. He was sacrificed to second by Hoffman. That left it up to Gilles to score or at least advance him. He sent a fast grounder to third, which Monroe hobbled, allowing May to get safely to third. Then Monroe became nervous. He saw a runner on third who would score the winning run on a wild throw to first, and he threw it over the first baseman's head. May romped home, and the game was over.

Egloff garnered two singles to lead the Plymouth attack. For Wayne, Proctor smacked three singles. Brown a double and a single, and Monroe two singles.

Hitt allowed 12 hits, two passes, and struck out eight. May and Vernier, Wayne pitchers gave four hits, seven walks, and struck out six among them. May hit a batsman.

It was Plymouth's first victory in three weeks.

ROCKS TO PARTICIPATE IN WAYNE RELAYS

The Rock track team will again be in competitive running at Belle Isle Saturday, June 12 at 2:00 o'clock to compete against the schools of the Detroit area. The Plymouth group will be composed of two relay teams, two high jumpers, two broad jumpers, and a pole vaulter. The one-half mile relay team is made up of Jolliffe, Scarpulla, Towle, and Egge; the medley relay of Jolliffe, Scarpulla, Keller and either Burton or Van Amburg. The high jumpers will be Egge, who will also broad jump, and Van Amburg. Scarpulla will be the other member of the broad jumping squad. The lone Plymouth pole vaulter will be Bruce Towle. The local boys will encounter stiff competition in this meet and a good turnout would help them come through.

CENTRAL GRADE NOTES

Last Thursday and Friday Central school pupils gave their exhibit for parents and friends.

The kindergarten A's in Miss Marion's room are doing coloring sheets in their seatwork pads. They have painted pictures on the easel and have also drawn crayon pictures of the circus parade they have displayed on their bulletin board. Barry Moore has left kindergarten for the rest of the semester, having gone East for his vacation.

Miss DeWaele's pupils have been learning about moths in nature study. They had a polyphe-mus and a cecropia moth in their room last week to study. They are very much interested in the individual recreational reading of books from their library table.

The losing spelling team in Miss Sly's room entertained the winner's side with a party last week. Earl Scrogg's team being the winners.

The kiddies in Miss Benz' and Mrs. Bird's rooms have been writing original poems; some of the outstanding ones were written by Marjorie Kirkpatrick and Ardis Curtis who wrote about trains. Richard Tarnutzer who wrote about an oriole and a butterfly, and Marion Matheson whose subject was a purple cow. The children have been illustrating the book "Little Pear", a story of a little Japanese boy. They have finished reading about "Tum-Tum, the Elephant".

In Mr. Berridge's room the 6B pupils are learning about Egypt in geography while those in the 6A are studying Russia. In sewing the girls are making halters. Billy Donahue's Tigers seem to be heading for the championship in the baseball league for they have greatly increased their lead and are well within reach of the pennant.

For the exhibit all of Mrs. Holiday's pupils joined together in making a moving picture of Switzerland.

Plymouth Boys Go To State Tennis Matches

Gordon Moe for the singles, and Howard Anderson and Bill Norrnan all qualified for the state tournament held at Ann Arbor Friday and Saturday, May 25 and 26. Howard was declared ineligible because of scholastic difficulties and Lawrence Smith was substituted in his place. In the state meet Moe defeated Webber of Grand Haven which put him in the quarter finals where he was defeated by Spero of Allegan. Smith and Norman defeated Rohrkemper and Baker from St. Anthony in Detroit in their first match which put them in the doubles quarter finals. Here they were defeated in three hard fought sets by Stahl and Callanan from Dowagiac. The results of the state tournament are not yet known but Plymouth placed well up near the top. This is the best that any Plymouth tennis team has ever done and as Plymouth will not lose any of their team next year, she will have a very good chance of winning the state meet next time they are in it.

LOCAL GOLF TEAM DEFEATED BY UNIVERSITY HIGH

The local golf team was defeated for the second time by the University high team on the University of Michigan golf course June 1. The weather was just like it should be for this time of year. This game was the next to the last of Plymouth's schedule. The last contest of the season will be played with Northville Tuesday, June 8 on the Plymouth Country club golf course.

PLYMOUTH VICTORIOUS OVER FORDSON THURSDAY, MAY 27

The high school golf team got out of their long slump in time to defeat Fordson by a score of 348 to 367. In the past few games the local golfers have been on the losing side of the fence. This game against Fordson was almost the last one of Plymouth's golf schedule. The boys have worked hard this season and they all deserve honors.

PLYMOUTH CLUB LEADS CEREMONIAL

Five Plymouth Girl Reserves had the honor of taking part in the city-wide ring service last Sunday afternoon. Barbara Hubbell acted as leader of the service in which about 40 girls from senior clubs throughout Detroit were awarded their rings. Accompanied at the organ by Norma Jean Roe, a trio composed of Patricia Cassidy, Florence Norton, and Jeannette Brown sang the "Girl Reserve Code", "The Quest" and "Spirit of Light" during the presentation of rings. Miss Hunter, secretary, asked these girls to take part because of the effectiveness of their worship service presented last February at an inter-club council meeting.

SOTH AND KNOWLES TO ATTEND SCOUT CAMP

Arlene Soth and Betty Knowles have been chosen to represent Plymouth high school at Vocational Economics camp at Hastings, Michigan. There are two camps, one in the lower peninsula called Camp Kitanniwa, and one in the upper peninsula called Camp Michigamme, Michigan. These camps are conducted in the interest of Vocational Home Making which stresses training for worthy home membership and personal improvement. Here girls will have an opportunity to exchange experiences concerning home project work and to carry back to their own schools new ideas and increased enthusiasm for carrying home economics training into finer home living.

Camp Kitanniwa has splendid buildings and equipment which have been provided for by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation. The main lodge provides convenient offices, a modern kitchen, a pleasant dining room, well equipped first-aid room, craft rooms and a large recreation room with a fireplace. There are airy screened cabins each accommodating nine girls and a counsellor. There will be a nurse at camp at all times. All water front activities are supervised by qualified life savers. The fees for this camp are paid part by the girls themselves, and the remainder by the home economics club.

The Plymouth Rocks lost to the Dearborn Panthers in their return game last Friday, June 1, at Ford field. Perfect baseball weather prevailed, although the glaring sun was inclined to cause outfield errors.

Lloyd Trinka did Plymouth's twisting duties, and allowed five hits, walked three, and struck out four. Albertson, who pitched Dearborn to that humiliating 30-0 victory over Plymouth two weeks ago, took the mound for Plymouth, allowing six hits, six walks, a wild pitch, a hit batsman and the amazing total of 13 strikeouts. Every Plymouth man struck out at least once.

Plymouth scored one run in the first on two walks and a timely single by Leach, but Dearborn came back with three tallies. They were produced by four errors, three walks, and a wild pitch.

The Panthers added another in the second on a bunch of bad decisions. Cassini dropped a bunt and was called safe. He stole second and third, being called safe on a close play at each base, and was also safe on a number of times when Trinka tried to pick him off.

Both teams scored two runs in the fourth. Plymouth got hers without a hit, due mainly to wildness on the part of Albertson, who gave three passes, loading the bases with one out. Hitt, next man up, bunted, and everybody was safe. Plymouth could squeeze in only one more run before the inning ended.

SENIORS TAKE CHARGE OF LEADERS' CLUB

A race and a baseball throw, with prizes, constituted the Leaders' club hour last Tuesday. The program was in charge of the seniors, headed by Ruth Campbell, Betty Jane Housley, and Alyce McNulty. The rest of the seniors were judges and officials.

Dorothy O'Leary received first prize in the race, with Betty Barnes running a close second, with Ruth Kirkpatrick third. In the baseball throw two sisters, Althea and Joyce Shoemaker, threw the ball the farthest. Althea receiving first prize with Rose N'edospal third. The prizes were gold, silver, and red paper ribbons with the event and "Seniors' Day in Leaders' Club" marked on them.

FORDSON ROLLS OVER ROCK NINE, 20-6

Fordson high school's baseball nine once again piled up a football score Monday, June 7 against Plymouth at Plymouth by winning 20-6. Very poor pitching and very spotty fielding contributed to the Rock's defeat. After scoring seven runs on five hits, an error, and a walk in the first inning, the visiting Tractors were never headed and the game developed into a wild, one-sided massacre. Kelley for Plymouth and Burke for the visitors were the starting pitchers and neither Dearborn tallied through a Texas League single a drag bunt that became a hit because of slow fielding, and two glaring errors. Dearborn now had the game sailed away, and although Plymouth threatened now and then she could not score.

A fight threatened in the fourth inning when Martin ran into second baseman Ham of Dearborn. The umpire pulled the boys apart, however, before they came to actual blows. Errors played an important part in Plymouth's defeat, as usual. She made nine of them against three for Dearborn.

survived for the entire game. Engleson, who relieved Kelley, was hit freely, and also failed to stem the hit barrage. Bob Hitt played shortstop for Plymouth and led the hitting attack with two hits and another that was rightfully a hit but which was cut off by a brilliant catch in the first inning by Dragg, the Fordson shortstop.

Fordson made 15 hits, Plymouth four. Fordson made three errors, Plymouth 10, before the scorer was tired out. These figures tell the story of the ball game. Kelley was the losing pitcher and Burke the winning one.

The pupils of Starkweather school held their annual exhibit Friday night. All of last week was spent in last minute preparations and decorating their rooms.

The kindergartners have finished the May calendar and are beginning the June one. They enjoy coloring dandelions. Barbara Hill of Miss Farrand's room was the only person who received a final button for penmanship. The 6B geography class has completed an Egyptian project; they are now studying Alaska. Luella Chappell of Newburg was a visitor at Miss Stader's room Thursday morning. The most interesting feature of the exhibit in this room was the form which they made just outside the window. The buildings were made and the garden planted by the children under the supervision of the teacher.

Because of the urgency of school examinations and other pressing matters, our Children's Day program is put over until the evening of the 27th of this month. On the morning of June 28, we begin a daily vacation Bible school. This is a school for all the children who wish to attend. It is not to be a school of doctrine. A fine group of teachers will be in charge of all grades and we begin at 9 o'clock in the morning, closing at 11:30. Some facts should disturb us—what do you think of the following? The Hebrew child today receives 335 hours of religious instruction, the Catholic child 200 hours, and the Protestant child 50 hours. Sixty-nine percent of the youth of America receives no religious training. One-half our Protestant boys and girls are without religious education of any kind. We are seeking to do our part to change this in Plymouth. The Loyal Daughters will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Humphries, 5112 Mead avenue, Dearborn. After a brief service of song beginning at 10:30 o'clock, the children will present their program under the direction of Mrs. Leslie Curtis. We hope to have with us the babies who are in our cradle roll and our other little folks of pre-school age. Mrs. Will Clay, superintendent of the cradle roll department has been asked to introduce the mothers and babies. We shall be happy to meet our friends at the penny birthday supper, Friday evening, June 11. There will be tempting food in a variety to suit all tastes.

Cor. relative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 393): "Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. No where can we find peace and rest in personal feelings, in duties or in good resolutions, so-called. Christ is the beginning and the ending; He is everything, or He is nothing. "Behold the Lamb of God who taketh away the sin of the world." Behold the mighty sacrifice, behold the finished work. Behold the only foundation for joy, security and peace. ALL STEEL and TWO YARDS WIDE

THERE'S a lot more in this picture than meets the eye, though the eye has plenty to sparkle about in the stunning style of this spirited Buick car.

What you don't see here is the lift that's yours when you touch off the flashing power of Buick's valve-in-head straight-eight engine and go streaming off across the map.

What you don't see is the solid, steady feel of Buick—the firm stability that holds you on the line without weave or sway or wander on straightaways or on the curves.

What you don't see is the assurance you'll know once you step on Buick's tiptoe brakes and see how surely and safely they make you master of its power.

We can't picture here the security that's yours in a body of steel-fused-to-steel—with floor, roof, side panels, cowl all welded into one stout unit of protective metal.

And only time can tell you how big is your money's worth in Buick—all steel and two yards wide, a big package that's your one best bet of the field when you add the superb action that gives its metals life.

All we can do is show you how a Buick looks—and handsome as this gallant traveler is, remind you that its good looks are literally the least of what it has to offer. Go try a Buick now!
