INTERESTING

Senator Prentiss M. Brown is quoted in news dispatches as having said that if he had known Hugo Black was a member of the Klan, he would never have voted for him. The only interesting thing about Senator Brown's statement is his claim that he didn't know that his fellow senator was a member of the Klan. How it could be possible for a senator to sit through two or three days session of the United States senate when Black's Klan affiliations were freely discussed and when every newspaper was filled with charges of Black's affiliation, is more than one can understand. Senator Brown knew about it, just as did every other member of the senate. He voted for Black as supreme judge because President Roosevelt wanted him to vote for him and because he personally wanted to vote for him. Now that there is quite a furor being made of the Klan affiliation of the new supreme judge, Senator Brown is trying to find an "out" by saying he didn't know about it. Such a statement is not only foolish, but it serves to seriously lessen the estimation of Michigan residents in the sincerity and honesty of purpose of its new junior senator. It would have been far better for Senator Brown to have said nothing at all than to say what he did.

GOOD HAS BEEN DONE

There is without the slightest question a strong sentiment growing up against the present Washington administration. A vast number of people seem to think the benefits from the policies that have been carried on during the past few years are so inconsequential that they amount to nothing. Of course this is not true. Some good has been accomplished, but whether the benefits will be of long duration, that is another question.

As one carefully looks into the record of the past four or five years there are two developments that have furnished the nation with two difficult problems to solve—and both of these are directly due to the policies that have been carried on in Washington. One is the damnable welfare racket that flourishes from coast to coast and the other condition that must be ended as quickly as possible is the spreading of ill will among the people of the country.

The welfare system that should never have been established in the first place has brought into existence a great mass of people who no longer regard it as a shameful thing to ask for public alms.

There was a time and it was not long ago that when a person in distress needed aid, the poor office was the last refuge they sought. But we have abolished the "poor office" and we have taught the lazy and the indolent that it is not a disgrace to ask for public support until we now have hundreds of thousands of people who regard public aid as "easy money" and something they should get as much of as they can.

That thing MUST BE STOPPED.

The other thing that must be ended as quickly as possible is the campaign of ill will and discord that has prevailed so persistently in the last three or four years.

We as a nation can get nowhere unless there is peace and harmony among ALL the people. From the beginning of this nation and until the end of all time there will be farmers, there will be merchants, there will be workers, there will be professional people and there will be those who produce things by manufacturing them.

As the picture now presents itself to the nation, the worker

When Finding Fault

by LAWRENCE HAWTHORNE

Americans have always felt quite free to criticize whatever they believe is not decorous, just or wise; and I, for one, have done my share of pointing out the way to others who appear to be inclined to go astray.

This gentle art of finding fault (if "gentle" is the word) can easily become unfair, or vicious, or absurd! Unless the critic is discreet in voicing his complaint, he finds himself beyond the bounds of reason and restraint.

And so, I think we should adopt one simple guide and rule, before we label anyone a scoundrel or a fool—When finding fault, we should include a comprehensive plan for bettering the thing for which we criticize a man!

is being arrayed against the manufacturer, the merchant—the man who hires.

Wouldn't it be a thousand times better if instead of creating ill will and discord, we turned our efforts towards a campaign of good will, of cooperation, of unity in our efforts to make a better and happier nation? No benefit, no good of any kind ever came from discord and ill feeling.

But a world of good can come to every one by playing fair, by working in harmony and by giving the right consideration to every problem.

Might we suggest that our political leaders in Washington give a little thought to these two problems. It would go a long way to the solution of the nation's ailments.

A NEW SCHOOL DUTY

We maintain our public schools for the purpose of preparing our boys and girls for useful and beneficial careers after they reach maturity. We teach them to read, to write and to figure besides imparting to them much other beneficial knowledge.

But changing times has brought about another subject our public schools must begin to teach the boys and girls—that subject is safe automobile driving. The automobile has become just as much a part of the life of the average citizen today as the daily bread the body requires.

The fast growing fatality list each day coming from improper uses of the automobile makes it essential that the boys and girls of the nation be taught the rules of safety in automobile driving. Knowing how to run an automobile and knowing clearly ALL of the rules of safe driving will go a long way to end the distressing traffic news of the day.

Yes, instruction in safe automobile driving should be a requirement of the public schools.

INSISTS THE WORLD IS FLAT

The world is still flat, says Wilbur Glen Voliva, religious leader of Zion, Illinois, who thinks that the recent flight of the Russian aviators across the North Pole confirmed his theory that the world is saucer-shaped.

While we have it on the authority of the best minds that the world is round, there is nothing to prevent Overseer Voliva from sticking to his theory.

We may be inclined to smile at what we consider the vagary of the idea that he abides by but, just the same, how about our own ideas? Are we willing to check up on them? We build much of our life upon theories that are handed down to us and we exhibit, as a rule, no great willingness to question them. In fact, we are more inclined to consider them settled and our minds at ease.

That most of our accepted ideas are correct happens to be lucky for us, but that every individual's thinking includes some fallacies is certain. Until human beings possess the absolute in truth there is sure to be error in the thinking of man, and where there is error there should be the desire to correct the mistake. To understand this is to begin to possess an open mind and that is to begin the road toward wisdom. — George Averill in the Birmingham Eclectic.

THE PEOPLE ARE THE GOVERNMENT

We are not very sure that the people of the United States were much impressed by the celebration recently of the 150th anniversary of the Constitution of the United States. They heard the President give his version and ideas. They heard and read Senator Vandenberg's speech. We have met few who were much impressed with either speech—many did not even listen to them, or read them.

Young as is the government of the United States, the 75-year-old man has lived but half its existence. Several generations have come and gone during these 150 years. The present generation of voters—from the 21-year-old to the most aged—have known nothing else but the freedom of this country. They have lived their lives in a country where the PEOPLE ARE THE GOVERNMENT.

They hear and read about Mussolini, about Stalin and Hitler. They shrug their shoulders and say: "It can't happen here." We do not believe it can. But... there are many people in this country who believe it CAN happen here and are working diligently toward making it happen here. There are others, millions of them, who are somewhat disgruntled and dissatisfied, who are rather indifferent. They have never had to fight for liberty. They go to what church they will, or none at all. They say what they please about anybody, including the government. They are rewarded according to their ingenuity, thrift and ambition.

Millions of Americans consider the blessings of this country in a relative way. They compare this year with last—or this generation with the last. They cannot conceive what has happened and is happening in other countries. They are blissfully unaware of the great blessings enjoyed in America as compared with other parts of the world. They are so sure of themselves and their government that they fail to take even a healthy interest in such a significant date as the 150th anniversary of the founding of this government.

ence placed around our American liberties might be compared to the inroads made on the human system by tuberculosis. At first there is a little fever—not much. There is a tired feeling—a lack of energy. There is no sharp pain. Gradually but surely this disease consumes the very organs which afford the breath of life. Too many recognize it only when it is too late.

The people are the government. The government will be just as good as the people make it. If the people are ignorant we will get foolish government. If the people are lazy and indifferent, the thieves and robbers will run away with our government.

The Constitution gives us the rights—makes us the government. If we lose those rights, we will have only ourselves to blame.

We like the way W. J. Cameron puts it:

"We accept no rights from government and ask none, because as a people we already have all the rights there are. Our one purpose in setting up a government at all was to protect and insure those rights, and our one reason for writing a Constitution was forever to prevent political authority from abridging those rights."

"The Constitution is not a government concession made to a people, but a people's rigid restriction clamped down on a government."

That restriction expresses the deep distrust of political authority our people have always left, a distrust that grew out of long experience and sad knowledge that power over a fellow-man—any kind of power—inevitably tempts the holder of it to excess.

It took years of fighting, privation, starvation and many human lives to get our government. It deserves intelligent and vigilant interest.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

The fast tempo of modern living has exacted an appalling penalty from human eyes. One child out of every five in our public schools, 40 college students in a hundred, and half the people over 35 have defective vision. We make demands on our eyes that were unheard of a century ago. Books, magazines, newspapers, cards, the movies... all lay heavy burdens on our eyesight. Today more than ever, we need to do everything in our power to protect priceless vision.

Light Conditioning helps to protect eyes young and old. The eyes of a child are immature and easily strained... they require frequent examinations and abundant light of good quality. Old eyes need more light because from middle age on, the pupil of the eye grows smaller and admits less light to the retina. The older people in your family need more light than the young people.

It is a simple matter to Light Condition your home. Without charge, one of our Home Lighting Advisers will measure your lighting with the Sight Meter, and make recommendations for improved lighting for comfort and beauty. Phone for a survey of your lighting today.

All things were made by him; and without him was not anything made that was made." But It's True

Fisher, one of the pioneers in air-writing, accomplished his feat on July 6, 1930. It required great speed and no wind. Five previous attempts over a period of a year had failed. But clear pictures of the "prayer" were taken on July 6. Some clergymen protested that the act was a sacrilege, but others praised the pilot as furthering religion.

Aid Promised Bird Hunters

Michigan delegates to the recent conservation conventions in Mexico City have returned more firmly convinced that close cooperation between Canada, the United States and Mexico in migratory bird legislation will help produce better duck and goose shooting in Michigan. "Vast numbers of ducks, geese and other migratory birds that nest in the United States and Canada migrate to Mexico for the winter months," said P. J. Hoffmaster, director of conservation, who headed Michigan's delegation. "It is obvious that indifference in Mexico to the manner or degree with which these birds are killed, would be an important factor in the present and future of the supply. "However, Mexico is not indifferent in this matter, as the new international migratory bird treaty, including 142 species, between that country and the United States will indicate. This treaty went into effect this year and binds both Mexico and the United States to cooperative endeavor in conserving migratory bird life. Hoffmaster stated that delegates from the different states of the Union and Canada felt that the conventions in Mexico City were a propitious occasion for cementing friendly relations between the three countries and assuring future successful operation of the international bird treaty. "Mexico is growing more conservation conscious," Director Hoffmaster said. "The penalties imposed on game law violators in that country may be considered as an indication. Violators of the conservation laws in Mexico are likely to be cured permanently of any poaching-complex after being brought the first time before a magistrate. The laws pack a real knockout wallop for the violator. "For instance, a game law violator would be given a mandatory fine of the amount of his permit or license fee multiplied three times and then doubled and permit fees are relatively high in Mexico. Apparently, Mexican laws were not formulated to give the magistrate much opportunity to exercise leniency. "Each of eight men convicted of killing seven deer were given the full statutory penalty for the offense. Then the magistrate, in addition, made each respondent pay a similar amount for each of the seven deer shot. "Director Hoffmaster remarked that Mexico's interest in conservation bears watching and that Canada and the United States may well encourage the conservation movement below the Rio Grande as a means of helping to "bring back" ducks, geese and other migratory birds. Accompanying Hoffmaster to Mexico City for the annual conventions of the American Fisheries Society and the International Association of Game, Fish, and Conservation Commissioners were H. D. Ruhl, chief of the game division and Fred A. Westerman, chief of fisheries operations, who comprised Michigan's official delegation.

Attention Motorists and Truckmen

Automotive engineers as well as owners and drivers of cars, trucks and buses, are talking about the strange mineral that can save the price of a rebore job costing from $46 to $150, as well as pistons and rings. Saves up to 50% on oil, and as much as 40% of the gas. Avoid having your car laid up in the shop for several days. Think of these savings. Costs less than one tank of gas yet will last for 10,000 miles of driving. Imagine the smooth economical miles of driving with new car zip. If you would like to avoid that expensive rebore job, buy NUTMETAL. Complete service costs only $1.95 for car or truck motors. Wm. H. White, 632 North Center Street. No Sunday sales.—Adv. 312pd

FLEXIBLE TOP HEAT TOO

Yes, ANY amount of heat you want on ANY top burner of your Modern Gas Range—depending upon the job to be done. Pans vary in size from several quarts down to cups. Also pan frying requires very intense heat, whereas the steaming or boiling process, once the boiling point is reached, requires very little heat to maintain boiling. Flexible topheat is therefore essential. Today we suggest a combination of pan frying and simmer cooking as an illustration.

PORK CHOPS AND RICE

4 or 6 pork chops (1/2 in. thick) 1/2 c. rice (washed)
Salt and pepper 3/4 c. tomatoes (or No. 1 can)
1 T. fat

Place skillet that has tight cover on any top burner, turn valve on burner flame to high. Put 1 T. fat in the skillet. When melted and a little hot add the chops. Brown the chops, turn, salt and pepper, and brown other side. Remove from skillet and add rice and tomatoes. Place chops on top of rice and tomatoes. Place cover on skillet and turn flame very low—to a "head flame". This low flame will be sufficient to create steam for the cooking process. Set timer for 30 minutes. As the sound of the bell the food will be done.

Touring Mexico Now Real Joy

Nearby Country Has Developed Some Fine Highways

Mexico as a land of mystery—at least where the motorist is concerned—will soon be no more. As a country of glamour and romance, of unsurpassed natural beauty, of inspiring contrast between a civilization that was and one that is to be, and of new challenge to the exploring traveler, Mexico as a tourist mecca soon will have new appeal as a result of the mapping of the country's roadways by James D. McClure, American map-maker.

Commissioned by the Mexican government and working in close cooperation with its departments of education, interior, forestry, fish and game, communications and highways, McClure and his bride recently completed a 14-months' tour of the country, an extension of what was to have been a 6-months' honeymoon jaunt. After covering more than 22,500 miles in their survey of Mexican highway facilities, the McClures returned recently to this country with this report: "It is absolutely safe to motor in Mexico."

That is the one fact motorist to Mexico should know, said McClure, a national automobile road scout and authorized investigator for the Mexican Automobile Association as well as the national tourist department.

According to McClure, Mexico has performed miracles in carrying out her tremendous program of highway construction. The first completed link in her network, and the first division of the proposed Pan-American highway to the Panama Canal, is the excellent road between Laredo, Texas, and Mexico City, D. F., the nation's capital. Mexican engineers have spanned the desert barrier just south of the Rio Grande, pierced the jungle lowlands of the "terra caliente," and crossed the lofty peaks of the Sierra Occidente onto the high plateau where lies Mexico City. Excepting a short stretch now being paved, the McClure report, this entire route may be traveled in comfort and safety—the section under construction is rough but passable.

For the first time, the American motorist may drive his own car from any part of temperate America directly into the tropic, if he continues south from Mexico City 300 miles, over good, safe roads, to Acapulco, a city set in tropic surroundings which might have been lifted bodily from some South Seas paradise.

"Picking orchids in the morning and having a snowball battle in the afternoon," stated McClure.

CHECKS KING'S SPEECH

He doesn't wear a coronet nor a ermine cloak, but Lionel Logue is one of the most important persons at the British royal court. He is oral instructor to King George VI who since childhood has had to combat a tendency to stammer. Logue was the unsung hero behind the coronation, for his constant attendance on the monarch is credited with the flawless manner in which King George delivered his response to the ritual questions.

"are comparisons which show the nature of the country through which we traveled, but they also testify to the diversified conditions under which our Chevrolet was operated.

"From sea level to volcano summit; from the extreme heat and humidity of the lowlands to the cold rarefied atmosphere of mountain top, without carburetor adjustment, our car made an excellent showing, without noticeable depreciation in power or performance."

Obviously looking for the most adverse traveling conditions, the McClures drove over burro trails that never had felt the imprint of auto tires; on crude roads built for primitive native vehicles; through swampland and mountain passes never before undertaken by auto.

The McClure itinerary took in the four principle roads of Mexico as well as the uncharted by-paths. These main highways are from Laredo to Mexico City, Mexico City-Acapulco, Mexico City-Vera Cruz and Mexico City-Guadalajara. Those roads were logged mile for mile by the American map-maker, and thoroughly photographed. The work of the McClures has been lauded by the Mexican government, while their maps have been certified as official by all interested government departments.

"It is safe to say," McClure asserted, "that in our travels from sea level in the tropics to an elevation of 15,000 feet, we encountered every conceivable type of road and operating conditions under which a car could perform. And we have nothing but praise for the performance of our Chevrolet. Rugged and dependable, combining thrift and power, that car took the worst Mexico had to offer—and came through with flying colors every mile of the way."

Teletype Helps Local Police

Quick System Of Communication Proves of Benefit

Swift, modern communication is playing a bigger and more important part in efficient crime detection and law enforcement, declares Chief of Police Vaughan Smith. Science and modern ingenuity have combined forces in order to combat crime at its worst.

One of the newer methods is the "teletype," an electrical device for typewriting by wire. Local police are fortunate in having access to this great system, a teletype being located in the police headquarters in Plymouth.

Wayne county is entirely covered with a network of teletype lines and machines. The main switchboard is located in the Detroit police building, to which all messages are first sent, and from there they are sent to whichever town they were intended. An example of how a message makes the rounds is as follows: A holdup or some other crime is reported to police. The alarm is sent out by teletype immediately and simultaneously to all departments connected in the system. It gives each department, accurate, written information on which to base its activities, and assists in keeping the case alive until completed. After a case has been closed, messages are cancelled by means of a final teletype message, and are filed for future reference.

The operator in Plymouth turns the machine on by pressing a button, which turns a light and a buzzer on in the Detroit office. The operator plugs in the same as a telephone operator. The local machine is capable of sending messages to any one, a group, or all stations in Wayne county. The system went into effect in March, 1935. There is absolutely no way of tapping the teletype lines, as they are foolproof, says Chief Smith. The county pays the entire cost of installing and operating these machines.

The central idea supporting the plan is the whole-hearted cooperation between each town and city. All departments function as one unit. There are approximately 22 teletype machines now in use throughout the county.

A resolution at the recent Michigan Association Chiefs of Police convention was proposed in which a commission was to be appointed to study the advisability of extending the teletype system throughout the entire state, and present its proposals at the meeting next year. Of the many counties in Michigan, only Wayne boasts the services of this marvelous system.

Municipal and county systems are usually connected with each other and with the state systems, and are tied in by direct teletype lines with systems of neighboring states. Strategically located are a number of police radio that the reason Stanley Corbett has been keeping away from crowds of people of late was because when he went over to the fair a few weeks ago all the boys that were giving away blankets were pestering him so much and calling him brother he decided he must look like he oughta keep outa sight.

For a long time it looked like this fancy idea of "Eight-em's" might have been gonna elect him but darned if Hon. Mathew Powell didn't come right back with a promise that if he was elected he'd run one of his steam shovels up the Main street and lift folks in and out of their cars.

The BREEZE has got it all figured out that the reason our competitor editor don't come back from his vacation is that the boys are getting their guns all oiled up for huntin' and a lot of them boys are really mad cause they can't shoot squirrels.

The communication system has made two valuable contributions in the war against crime; first, through an almost universal telephone service it enables the public to give an alarm quickly and secondly, through radio and teletypewriter it allows the authorities to take rapid action on the receipt of an alarm and to spread information with no loss of time.

Plymouth Defeats Redford 26 to 0; Clashes With Rochester Here Friday

Plymouth high school's light but speedy football team crushed Redford Union, 26 to 0, last Friday, to register its second straight win of the season. The Rocks meet Rochester here at 3:30 p.m. Friday.

The Rocks showed plenty of power by rolling up 11 first downs and 261 yards while Redford turned in but two first downs and total gain of only 41 yards. Plymouth used only running plays while Redford threw six passes, two of which were completed.

Krumm scored Plymouth's first touchdown. The speedy fullback, taking the ball on a spinner, went through tackle for 10 yards to score. Gilles turned in the second by picking up a blocked punt and running 50 yards across the goal line. Gilles made the next touchdown too, this time returning a punt 40 yards to score. Prough added the final score by picking up a blocked punt and running five yards for a touchdown. Plymouth converted two of the four tries for extra points.

The Rocks had to punt but five times during the game, with the punts averaging 32 yards. Redford kicked 12 times for an average of 24 yards. Plymouth was penalized a total of 35 yards while Redford was nipped 20 yards.

The line-ups:

Plymouth	RE	Redford
Prough	RE	Roskoszewski

CROSS-COUNTRY MATERIAL BADLY NEEDED

With the opening of the Cross-country season less than two weeks away, Coach Wallace reports that only three men are out who are eligible to compete, whereas, six men are needed to make up a team. While anyone can run who desires to build himself up physically and mentally, the requirements for competition are that the candidate be at least sixteen years old and in the ninth grade, or over.

Cross-country is the very best thing to get anyone in shape who intends to go out for basketball or other sports later on in the season. Its purpose is to develop stamina, speed, endurance, and strength. These things are achieved through experience in running at an easy pace, sprinting, and exercising the upper part of the body. It is certain to be beneficial to anyone who goes out for it.

The sport in general seems to be on the down-grade. River Rouge high school is not even maintaining a team this year. The merits of the game show that it does not deserve this downfall. Dual meets have been scheduled with Dearborn, Wayne, Ypsilanti and Ecorse.

TORCH CLUB CHOOSES SCARPULLA

The members of the Torch club elected their officers Thursday, September 23. Joe Scarpulla was elected president; Ivan Packard, vice president; Wesley Hoffman, secretary; Ed Holdsworth, treasurer; Dick Dunlop, reporter; Bill Thomas and Warren Hoffman to keep the point system.

DRIVERS' LICENSE CLUB

Very new in school this year is the Drivers' License club conducted by Mr. Campbell. Meetings are held every Wednesday third hour in Room 13. The main purpose of this club is to give high school students an idea of the importance of knowing the safety factors in driving and putting them into use.

During the first few meetings Mr. Campbell pointed out the number of cars in Michigan alone and showed pupils why they should be more cautious in their driving. Anyone who passes the examination of this club can get a driver's license. At present there are 64 members of which only nine are girls; however membership is open to boys and girls both who wish to be given drivers' licenses by the city police.

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Campbell's first grade is making family books. They have learned to write the numbers one and two and are able to name the colors blue, green and red. In their flower study they have completed booklets on the zinnia, aster, and goldenrod.

In Miss Disbrow's first grade the social study is centered on a discussion of the family and the part that each plays in the home life. They are making booklets with pictures of the members of the family in it.

During the summer many of the pupils visited the zoo and the class has composed a story about the animals found there. They have cut out and colored pictures of these animals for their blackboard border.

Miss Weatherhead has a new student in the two B division, Ardis Koehnle from South Dakota. In the social study the pupils are discussing the fireman.

Under the direction of Miss Inge the second A group is making a project of a grocery store. In reading they have two books "Dick and David" and "The Child Library Reader", book one. The pupils have been making booklets on the subject: "Getting Ready for Winter".

In the third grade Mrs. Bird's pupils have learned the poem "How the Leaves Came Down". In nature study they are learning the parts of leaves and trees.

Miss Sly's three A group have made posters on tree dwellers. They have finished studying the dahlia, the wild aster, marigold, and the petunia in nature study. The four B and the four A's in Miss Robinson's room have been making health posters and health scrapbooks. The boys and girls are working well in spelling but as yet there are no scores.

In geography the four B's are making a trip across the continent on the Lincoln highway and the four A's have just completed a study of Egypt.

In Miss Widmayer's room the flower study has taken in a discussion of the morning glory, black-eyed susan. They are compiling poem booklets and already have two about September.

The geography class of four B's are taking a trip around New York City. The four A geography class has taken a trip through the Sahara and are now in Egypt. Barbara Davis is absent on account of illness.

In the four B spelling contest Jean Schepple's team has won for the first two weeks.

In the four A Henry Johnson's spelling team has won.

MR. BENTLEY'S APPRENTICE TRAINING CLASS

The vocational guidance department of Plymouth high school, at the head of which is Mr. Carvel Bentley, already has on its role the names of fourteen approved pupils who have been placed in establishments throughout town as apprentices.

At present in the first hour class, the pupils are making a study of the individual trades. The second hour class, which every apprentice is required to take, is called "Social and Economic Problems Which Affect Young Workers". In this the pupils are studying (1) why we work, (2) kinds of work, and (3) kinds of pay.

Because the work is new, material and books concerning occupations are being secured for study. The 14 boys have been placed as apprentices to gas station managers, auto mechanics, dry cleaners, meat cutters, dairy product manufacturers, bakers, electricians, florists, shoe clerks, and grocers and printers.

VOCATIONAL HOME ECONOMICS PROJECTS

A home project is a planned piece of work involving home activities or social responsibilities which is planned, executed over a period of time, evaluated, and reported by pupil.

The modern composite course in home-making reduces time available for each unit so that appreciable growth in managerial and technical skills can only be acquired by supplementary activity. Training for home-making should be in a natural setting at home. Girls should be encouraged to become working and helping members of their households.

The girls worked our projects on canning, home management, meal preparation, new dishes, re-decorating, and care of their room, child study, care and repair, and clothing construction. A home project is one important factor in selecting girls to attend state vocational home economics camp. Betty Knowles and Arlene South represented Plymouth high school at this camp in June.

HI-Y CLUB HEARS REPORTS OF HAYO-WENT-HA

The first two meetings of the HI-Y club this year have been taken up by talks from President Dick Gilles, Bob Beyer, and James McClain, who described for fellow members their activities at Camp Hayo-Went-Ha during the last week of summer vacation. At the first meeting Bob Meyer read his camp diary and Dick Gilles gave an account of the daily routine of the camp and discussed methods of improving the club.

At the second James McClain briefly summarized the camp conference discussions of Dr. Purdom of the University of Michigan, Dr. Frye, and Dr. Hall. Dr. Purdom's talk was concerned with development of personality, Dr. Frye's, character, and boy and girl relationships; Dr. Hall's, the international situation and American's position in the international arena. Afterwards McClain led group discussion on the Girl Reserves' ideal boy and HI-Y boys' ideal girl. During the old and new business of these sessions the members voted for monthly dues of ten cents and elected Bob Beyer program director.

OUT-OF-TOWNERS SWEEP FRESHMAN ELECTIONS

The freshman class of "41," almost 200 strong, the largest in the history of our school, held its first elections for class officers.

They chose as their president Arvel Curtner of Rosedale Gardens. Warren Hoffman also of Rosedale Gardens gave Arvel quite a bit of competition but finally came out as vice-president. Marjorie Merriam of Country Gardens was elected treasurer and Betty Schepple of Plymouth as secretary. The student council representatives from the six home rooms are: Jack Buz, Ardith Rowland, Bob Norman, Edly Wickstrom, Bob Daniels, and Paul Ketchem.

Friday, September 24, the seniors held the first school party honoring the freshmen.

NEW JUNIOR GUILD BOOKS IN LIBRARY

The high school library has continued its membership with the Junior Literary Guild and will receive new books each month. Last week the summer edition of eight new books arrived; the next group will come in October.

Remember that interesting fiction story "Coat Club" by Arthur Ransome? One of the new Guild books, "Pigeon Post" is by the same author and promises to be exciting. Captain Nancy, John, Kitty, Roger, Professor Dick, and the rest of the old gang go prospecting for gold! They established their camps on High Topps and send and receive messages. If you are looking for adventures and thrills, read "Pigeon Post."

Farrukh was almost beside herself with excitement. Today, the first full moon after the Washing of the Grapes, was her wedding day and she had never seen her husband-to-be. But this did not seem strange to her because in Persia the parents always arrange the marriages. If you would like to read about the strange and picturesque wedding ceremony, Farrukh's husband, and her new life in a new home, ask at the desk for "Jasmine" by Anna Ratzberger.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Lyon's kindergarten has enrolled this year 31 boys and girls in the "B" group and 19 in the "A" group. The "A" group has been making a cupboard for its new dishes. For the first time last week it had a party to initiate its new dishes and served tomato juice and crackers to eat.

Miss Stader's first "A" and second "B" classes have been studying board work in spelling, and last Wednesday they had their first spelling paper, for which 19 received an A. They have been studying trees and have learned the names of six: the apple, maple, oak, pine, elm, and cedar. The pupils are also studying the fall flowers: sunflower and nasturtium.

Miss Maunula is teaching the third "B" and third "A." They have begun the study of flowers using first the petunia. They have also been studying two kinds of butterflies, the cabbage and the sulphur. They have a collection of caterpillars. Inez Thorpe went down South and brought back some cotton for the school room.

Miss Bock has 17 four "A" students and 20 in the five "B." The class has made four spelling charts; two have the names of the five "B's" and their captains; the other two have the names of four "A's" and their captains. Madeline Gearns' team won last week for the five B, and Loyd Johnson's for the four A.

To Fight Frost

Ten acres of orchard can be protected from frost with use of this improved hot air heater, developed by a Los Angeles inventor, G. W. Grable. The machine, standing 30 feet high, has a rotating blower unit mounted on a central standard, surrounded by a flue leading from a smokeless oil burning boiler. Oscillating to cover any desired orchard area, the device keeps the air in motion.

Nevada Is The "One Sound State"

to the voters. We, in Nevada, are proud of the fact that our political leaders have at all times worked with and for the people who are forced to carry the state tax burden.

"What about Reno?" he was asked by the writer.
"Reno is Reno—but some day Reno will be just like the rest of the state. It's a place by itself over there in the lower corner of Nevada. It's a nice city, but can be made a lot nicer than it is and some day it will be."

But the affairs of government are not of much concern these days to the people of Nevada. They run smoothly and function just as the majority of the people of the state desire.

The one teeming interest in the state just at present is its tremendous mining development. They are finding more gold, silver and other rich ores than anyone ever dreamed existed in the sides and valleys of the mountains and hills of the state.

Some of the headlines in Editor Stitzer's papers, (he has three of them in Nevada) give a pretty good idea of what is happening in Nevada's mine development at the present time.

"Ten Million Dollars Involved in Largest Mine Deal in State"; "Millionaire Mine Owner Started as Store Keeper"; "Air Conditioning Installed in Mine Bunk Houses"; "Large Daily Shipments of Copper Ore Being Made by Mountain City Company"; "Custom Mill Being Built at Westgate"; "Sleepy Village of Silver Peak Now Thriving Town"; "B and B Mine Force Being Increased"; "Ore Dump Operations"; "New Strike Is Made in Elko County"; "Rich Deposit of Radium Located"; "Six Hundred Ton Mill To Be Built at Getchell"; "Opalite Mine Being Operated at Full Capacity"; "New Cinnabar Discovery to Open Entirely New Fields"; "New Lode Discovered in Bottle Creek"; read a part of the headlines of The Humboldt Star in just one or two of its editions.

The entire state is teeming with mining activities, brought on by new ore discoveries seemingly in almost every mountain side.

Indeed it is refreshing to spend a little time in a state where old and young find an interest in something besides a lot of cheap welfare politics and are willing to go again to the hills in search of a rough and tumble existence that always carries with it the anticipation of sudden riches.

Nevada is a good state, well governed—and the one place in our nation where the mining days of the old West can again be lived.

Hunting Licenses Expire Sept. 30

Michigan's new hunting and trapping licenses for the seasons of 1937-1938 go into effect Friday, October 1. The old licenses expire Thursday, September 30.

New licenses may be procured, as in the past, from license dealers, conservation officers and regional and district conservation posts.

Although the upland small-game hunting season in the lower peninsula does not open until October 15, sportsmen who want to go afield to shoot crows or predators between the dates of October 1 and October 15, are required by law to procure a gun permit for 1937-1938.

After September 30, gun permits will be issued by conservation officers only to those who hold the new hunting licenses.

Deer hunters should find a large percentage of young antlered deer in northern Michigan this fall than in 1936, due to the comparatively mild weather of the past winter and the favorable spring and summer seasons, according to the opinion of game men.

In some sections of Michigan last fall the deer kill ran heavier to older deer than normal. Game authorities here believe this was the result of the severe winter of 1935-1936 in which starvation caused the deaths of many deer, the fawns being hardest hit. Deer born in the spring of 1936 faced conditions much less severe last winter and the males will be wearing antlers, a considerable portion containing as many as eight points, during deer season this fall.

Five species of wild ducks as well as Ross's geese and swans may not be shot legally in Michigan or any place in the United States this fall under federal migratory waterfowl and state regulations. The species of ducks protected are canvasbacks, redheads, wood duck, ruddy duck and buff-breast duck.

Sunday's Game To Decide Title

Garden City and Cass Benton will clash at Plymouth park at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in a game which will decide the championship of the Michigan Inter-County baseball league.

Garden City won a chance for the title by defeating Cass Benton, 4 to 3, last Sunday. It was Garden City's fifth straight victory in the play-offs after losing the first game in the post-season series. Now Garden City has a chance to repeat its title drive of last year.

Waldo Scott limited Cass Benton to but six hits in Sunday's game. Garden City took an early lead by pushing across three runs in the first inning on two hits.

Cass Benton scored one in the fifth but Garden City stretched its lead to 4-1 in the sixth. Cass Benton staged a two run rally in the eighth.

Warns Against Installment Selling

"Three years to pay" will be a forgotten phrase within another year," according to an announcement just received by the Merchants Service Bureau, from L. S. Crowder, General Manager-Treasurer of the National Retail Credit Association, whose headquarters are in St. Louis. The announcement went on to state that a nation-wide committee had been appointed by the National Association to continue the study of installment terms.

"The appointment of this committee," said Mr. Crowder, "is the result of two years of intensive effort on the part of the Michigan Retail Credit Association to educate the retailer-members to see the fallacy and pitfalls of the over-extension of long-term credit—terms that in some cases extend beyond the life of the merchandise.

The teachers and school board members are going to meet once a month this year for a short business session, and a social evening. The special problems due to fast growth are many in Stark. The teachers do not have ideal conditions for discussing school problems as the two buildings are located a considerable distance apart. This monthly business and social evening will tend toward efficiency, growth, and unity.

Buick To Have New Features

New 1938 Buick cars will have one of the most important engine developments of the last ten years and a startling new ride control said to be as revolutionary in its advantages as knee action, according to C. G. Shear, local Buick dealer, who returned home today from a dealer meeting at Flint, where dealers from this area were given their first look at the new cars.

Details of the new 1938 cars, Mr. Shear said, will not be announced publicly until about October 15, or about ten days prior to the annual New York Automobile Show. He indicated that the new Buicks will have exclusively two of the biggest automobile engineering advances of the 1938 year.

Several hundred Buick dealers from this area attended the meeting, which was held to launch the 1938 program of this division of General Motors and hear sales, manufacturing and advertising plans discussed by factory executives.

Outlining the 1938 Buick manufacturing program, Harlow H. Curtice, Buick president, discussed the automobile industry in terms of the outlook for the coming year, declaring that he looks for this all-important industry as a whole to equal or exceed its 1937 volume again next year. Because of the "startling" new engineering developments in the 1938 Buicks, he said he looks for Buick to obtain an even greater share of next year's volume.

"More than 220,000 Buick cars were delivered during the 1937 model year, a gain of more than 30 per cent over 1936, and increased schedules are in effect for 1938," Mr. Curtice said. "Production already is well under way on the new cars and quick deliveries will be possible."

The executive expressed himself as being "quite optimistic" regarding the labor situation for the 1938 production year.

The meeting was one of 20 such meetings held in key cities throughout the United States, at which the Buick story for the coming year was carried to the nationwide dealer organization.

W. F. Hufstader, Buick general sales manager, told the dealers of Buick's 1938 sales plans, and a presentation covering the engineering phases of the new cars was made by C. A. Chayne, chief engineer. Advertising and sales promotion plans for 1938 were discussed by Thos. H. Corpe, director of advertising and sales promotion.

Samuel D. Riddle, who owned Man O' War, and now owns War Admiral, 1937 Kentucky Derby winner, is said never to have wavered on the races.
