

Federal Government Tax Taken Out Of Michigan Almost Doubles 1937 Value Of All Farm Crops

Local Representative Tells Salem Farmers Of Tax Increases

Speaking before members of the Salem Farm Union Tuesday night, State Representative Elton R. Eaton, of Plymouth, declared that the federal government during 1937 took out of Michigan in taxes almost twice as much as was the total value of all farm crops raised in the state during the same year.

He declared that the total of all federal taxes paid by Michigan in various forms was $261,814,000.

According to the crop report just issued by the Bureau of Agriculture of the Michigan department of agriculture, he pointed out that the total value of all farm crops including the value of orchard crops, was placed at $146,784,000.

"The same report," declared Eaton, "points out the fact that crop yields for last year averaged close to normal. The hay, bean and corn crops were far above normal, potato yields being slightly above the average and the fruit crop near record volume. Still all of these bumper crops only brought in enough money to pay a little over half of the federal tax that was extracted from the pockets of Michigan taxpayers."

"The federal tax taken out of Michigan last year is $100,000,000 more than it was in 1936.

"Where has all of this money gone? Into politics.

"Hundreds of thousands of new political job holders throughout the nation have to have pay checks every two weeks. Some of them have two pay checks. Most of them require big expense accounts, the 'surplus' on some of these expense accounts in themselves being a fair sized income for one person," he declared.

"Outside of the money being used for job holders, a large amount of it goes into propaganda. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are being spent in Michigan to make you believe that the authorized conditions to which every farmer and every little business man and the working people of the state are being reduced is a good thing for you. The only people getting all they need today are the political job holders," he said.

"In addition to the tremendous federal tax being taken out of Michigan, Eaton charged that the state and federal governments are forcing the coal dealers, the merchants and supply men, the 'small business men' of Michigan, to carry the state's welfare load.

"Only a very few of the bills contracted by the welfare agencies of the state have been paid since January 1. No one knows how many millions of dollars the state owes the business men of Michigan. Some of these small dealers are so hard pressed because of the failure of the state to meet its just obligations that they have had to borrow money, in order to keep from going into bankruptcy," he said.

"It is not the state, but the small business men up and down the main streets of our commonwealth who are today carrying the welfare load. I defy state officials to tell the taxpayers how much money they owe for welfare purchases and orders."

He strongly condemned the fund-matching plan inaugurated by Washington officials in order to control tax payments for politics.

"Of all the vicious schemes ever concocted to get more tax dollars out of the farmers and other taxpayers of Michigan, the requirement that the tax dollars be put up to match your own tax dollars paid into the federal treasury in order to get some of your federal tax dollars back is the worst.

"They talk about wanting to help the farmers of Michigan and the nation. The biggest help the farmers can get from their government is a little relief from a tax burden that is breaking the back of every man who tills the soil in order to make a living for himself and those dependent upon him.

Eaton branded the destruction of food crops at a time when people were actually hungry, as a national disgrace.

"Why in the name of common sense didn't the state government and the national government buy up the surplus potatoes and other surplus foods raised by the farmers and see to it that those in distress received the food?" he asked.

Eaton charged that money voted by the legislature for old age pensions instead of going to the elderly people it was intended for, is being used to support a horde of job holders so great that it is difficult to find office space in Lansing to house them all.

V. J. Brown Seeks Auditor's Post

VERNON J. BROWN

Vernon J. Brown, who recently made public his decision to retire from the state legislature, has announced his candidacy for the nomination to the office of Auditor General at the state republican convention this fall. Mr. Brown has represented the second district of Ingham county for the past 10 years.

Vernon Brown is well known throughout Michigan, both as a legislator and as publisher of the Ingham County News. His articles on state government and his editorial comments on state matters have been widely read. At one time his syndicated articles were being published in more than a third of the weekly and daily newspapers of Michigan. They were circulated in every county of Michigan. Entering the legislature in 1929 after varied experience in township, city, county and state positions, he early won prestige as a student of government and an authority on taxation and finance. His campaign for economy in 1932 resulted in the passage of nearly 100 economy bills prepared by a commission of inquiry into costs of state government. Mr. Brown was a member of the commission. Passage of the bills resulted in the reduction of the 1933 budget by approximately $5,000,000.

In his announcement, the retiring legislator declared that he is entering the campaign as a result of hundreds of letters and editorial comments emanating from every section of Michigan urging that he continue in state affairs.

"I believe I can best serve the state at this time in the office of auditor general," stated Mr. Brown. "It is my belief that the importance of this office to the people of Michigan has been overlooked in recent years. I am convinced that if I am nominated and elected I can render a distinct service in that capacity.

"Clamor for party patronage has defeated several measures proposed in the legislature and aimed at economy. Others which passed have failed to accomplish their purpose because of unfriendly administration. Obsolete accounting methods frequently lead to confusion and controversy concerning the condition of state funds. For years there has been complaint regarding duplication and unnecessary expense, but no remedy has been applied. Useless expense, not only at the state capital but in the offices at every county seat in Michigan, results from unnecessary accounting between county and state, required once but now to no purpose since the state has abandoned the property tax. Many other economies can be effected without sacrifice of efficiency. My experience in the state legislature has led me to discover these shortcomings in this department. I am convinced that if nominated and elected auditor general I can do much to reduce costs and increase efficiency."

The annual election of officers and directors of the Women's Club of Plymouth will be held today (Friday) at 1:00 p.m. in the Hotel Mayflower.

Mrs. J. Merle Bennett, president, wishes all members to be present if possible as there is special business to be decided upon. Plymouth Has High Rank In Scout Exhibition

Local Troops Are Elated Over Success Of Event

The second Boy Scout Exposition staged by the Detroit area council has come to an end. Conservation of the north half of the Plymouth hall it was the largest show of its kind ever held in this country. One hundred and sixty booths full of Scouts doing all the things Scouts do amazed over 50,000 visitors who thronged the hall in dense crowds last Thursday night and Friday afternoon and evening.

Plymouth may well be proud of the part of its Cubs and Scouts played in this great exposition. Cub Pack 620, under the leadership of Cubmaster Ernest Henry and Den Chiefs Dean VanLandingham and Bayliss Erdelyi, occupied an outstanding place among the nine Cub booths. Decorated with Cub handicraft and with Cubs active doing leather work and bead work, this booth compared favorably with the others and always had a crowd of interested elders in front of it.

Scout Troop P-1, under Scoutmaster J. Rusling Cutler, demonstrated the new fingerprinting merit badge. For weeks and weeks Captain Charles Thumme has taught eight Scouts of his troop and its leader the theory and practice of fingerprinting. Its booth at the show was almost entirely in the black and white of the ink and paper used in the identification prints. During the 13 hours the exposition was open to the public these boys took nearly 400 official sets of prints for the civil identification files at Lansing and Washington. So interesting was this work to those attending the show that all three sets of fingerprinting equipment were busy every minute and a double row of spectators was constantly watching the boys at work. To Captain Thumme is due the credit for the thorough instruction which enabled these Scouts to correctly answer the many questions asked concerning the subject and to so successfully carry on their work under the constant watch of the crowd that less than a dozen of the sets of prints proved unacceptable for filing.

Two years ago, at the first exposition, some of these same boys worked in the surveying merit badge booth with which P-1 won an honor rating among the exhibitors at that time.

The Wayne County Training school Scout troops also had three outstanding exhibits in tinacraft, basketry and first class nature study under Scoutmasters Ed Crosby, T. W. Traill and Kendall Evans. The crowds ever in front of these booths gave proof of the interest in these boys and the work they were doing.

Keith Miller celebrated his seventh birthday Saturday with a theatre and supper party. Attending were eight friends and cousins, Joan Miller, Francis, Joyce, and June Karker, Rowland Jarsky, of Plymouth, Jacqueline and George Tries and Mary Trese Watters, of Detroit.

It made such rapid headway that the men were unable to prevent the destruction of the 125 chairs and the truck. This is the second truck owned by the House of Correction that has been burned recently.

Adeline Plant Takes First In Essay Contest

Marilyn Holton Is Second In Bank Competition

Adeline Plant, of Ann Arbor Trail, a senior student at Plymouth high school, won first place in the essay contest sponsored by the Plymouth United Savings bank in co-operation with the state-wide competition conducted by the Michigan Bankers association.

Miss Plant was awarded the $5 first prize and her essay will be entered in the state contest, the winner of which will receive a $500 scholarship to the University of Michigan. The subject on which the entrants wrote was "How Does a Bank Benefit Its Community?" The state winner will be a guest at the Michigan Bankers' convention in Grand Rapids in June.

Second place in the local contest went to Marilyn Holton, a senior, who lives in Rosedale Gardens. She received a $3 cash prize.

Judges for the contest were Principal Claude Dykhouse and Miss Gertrude Fiegel, twelfth grade history teacher.

Miss Plant's prize winning essay follows:

"Let us take the Jones family who are typical citizens of a community and see just what services a bank offers."

"Mr. Jones and other citizens pool their unused resources in a bank which may also be called a reservoir. In this reservoir there are several pipes that extend in many services to a community. The bank discourages hoarding of money and if pooled together may be extended to those who need it for consumption and production. Mr. Jones would like to buy an automobile, he may have the money, but he is uncomfortable by financing it through the bank and the dealer in his community sells another vehicle. If Mr. and Mrs. Jones want to buy a house the bank either mortgages or will loan through the Federal Home Loan Administration which is monthly payments within a certain time just as paying rent at a definite sum which includes interest, principle, etc., thus causing very little grief in their income. The Jones family now are happy and secure in their new home and the bank is possible by the courtesy of the bank. Another benefit of depositing money in a bank is no one bears a loss individually if it should be robbed because of insurance coverage."

"A new feature of the banking system is night depositories. Mr. Jones may run a theatre; his son, a gasoline station; his grandson, a haberdashery; and are all open after banking hours. They may deposit their checks and cash in the depository without any fear of fire and theft."

"All the valuables of the Jones family such as mortgages, leases, contracts, deeds, abstracts, insurance papers, and jewelry, etc., may be laid away in a safety deposit box that are insured with a feeling of relaxation that the material will not get mislaid, stolen, or burned in case of fire."

"If Mr. Jones and her young son would like to take a journey they may do so in safety without any fear of molesters by purchasing American Express travelers checks. These express checks are given out by the American Express company to the bank as an agent. They resemble a check and are of no use to anyone else because of a counter signature, one which is made when purchased from the bank and the other when ready to pass a check as currency. Travelers checks are accepted in any part of the country."

"Merchants may go to the bank which is probably the easiest place to find and obtain accurate information as to the Jones' credit rating. This institution encourages good credit because the bank and file of people have their money invested."

"The bank provides a medium of exchange to the citizens of its community in the form of checks. Mrs. Jones may pay all her household bills by check without handling any actual cash. She always has a receipt to show that her bills are paid and settle agreements of accounts."

"Jerry Jones may secure a

LET US HOPE.

This editorial is being written before President Roosevelt and Henry Ford will have their conference on Wednesday. It will be printed before the results of that conference are given to the public. It was stated in The Plymouth Mail last week that the invitation of the President to Mr. Ford was the first bright ray of hope that had appeared in the sky towards a solution of our present day problems, since the beginning of the depression.

No one can rightfully say that President Roosevelt has not been trying to find some course that will help the greatest number of people of this country. Probably we can also say that all of his methods have not been along the right path.

No one can rightfully say that Henry Ford, like President Roosevelt, has not been trying to place American industry and living conditions upon the same basis of security and permanence that President Roosevelt hopes to accomplish.

Conditions over which no one seemed to have control led the two great leaders in direct conflict.

Now they are going to meet face to face and discuss as man to man the distressing problems of a great nation that each hopes to solve.

Out of this conference, the first these two great thinkers have had since the beginning of the nation's economic troubles, let us all hope that there will come a mutual understanding between President Roosevelt and Henry Ford. Let us hope, too, that the good ideas of the two will be welded together and out of it will come security, happiness, stability of business and the peaceful conduct of our every day affairs.

PUBLIC APPROVAL.

These are perilous times. Every farmer, every worker and every business man is thinking of the future and what it will bring. Never before in the life time of the writer has there been a similar condition as that which prevails today. With it has come a public, quick to express its approval or disapproval of acts on the part of public officials.

The other day when President Roosevelt pardoned Dr. Townsend, thereby saving the elderly gentleman from going to prison, the public was quick to approve of the Presidential action. The public did not like what the congressional committee did to Dr. Townsend. They figured that he was being prosecuted because he had stepped forward with an idea that he believed of benefit to the nation. If congress had had its way, Dr. Townsend would have today been looking through the bars of a prison, because of his proposal to do something in a legal way to help the country. The nation is thankful that the President stopped such a thing.

These are troublesome times, not the kind of times when men, who are thinking of ways that they believe will help their nation, should be prosecuted.

There are too many polecats running about the country, unmolested, hurling their stench bombs at our form of government, trying to wreck the organized society that provides us with what protection we have, for congress to prosecute Dr. Townsend or any other law-abiding and law-respecting citizen.

Congress has many grave questions before it for consideration. Dr. Townsend and every other good citizen has a right to be heard before this congress. At any rate, the public thinks so and that is why the Presidential pardon of Dr. Townsend has found such general public approval. Let it be said in this connection too, that of the very large following that Dr. Townsend has, every one of them whom the writer knows personally, is a good citizen. Every one of them respects law and order and all are striving to do what they believe is the right thing to do. Surely no congress can hold such a group in contempt of lawful American legislative procedure.

IT MIGHT HELP.

According to the New York Times, it hasn't taken Congressman Bruce Barton, who was elected last fall, very long to find out one of the reasons why the country is in its present deplorable condition. He has offered a bill in congress to make it a penitentiary offense for any public office holder to use in any way one cent of the vast WPA appropriation for political purposes.

The bill strikes at the very heart of the political skulduggery, the faking and the cheating that has brought the nation to its present low ebb.

The measure, Congressman Barton declares, would make it a penitentiary offense for any official who had charge of the distribution of public funds to influence the political beliefs or actions of a recipient.

"This is not a partisan issue," he asserted. "It reaches to the very roots of our democracy. If a voter on the payrolls of the WPA or the PWA can be told how to vote; if a corporation receiving government orders must take political orders as well; then we have passed out of the state of free democracy and are entering the 'bread and circuses' era which preceded the decline of Rome."

He offered instances of the "domination" against which his bill is aimed. Citizens who received rural rehabilitation loans, he said, were required to sign an agreement containing a clause "I agree that at any time prior to the final liquidation of my loan from the Rural Rehabilitation Corporation to do nothing that is in opposition to the AAA program."

He even came to Michigan to produce evidence of the outrageous political domination of those in hunger.

The Kalamazoo County Democratic committee gave to some persons who were seeking relief jobs in Michigan, he added, a form which asked these questions:

"Did you vote in the primary of September, 1932? Democrat? Republican?"

"Did you vote in the primary of September, 1934? Democrat? Republican?"

"Are you a member of any Democratic organization or club? Where? Did you vote in the election of November, 1934?"

"Have you contributed to any Democratic organization in Kalamazoo county? To whom? How much since August, 1932?"

"Here are specific evidences," Mr. Barton declared, "of the violation of the constitutional Bill of Rights which guarantees all citizens the right of free speech and of political as well as religious opinions and affiliations. It is such practices as these which must be vigorously stamped out if individual liberty is to remain a possession of the American people."

After a statement that "there is an enormous amount of evidence at hand that political favoritism and pressure have been used, especially in the distribution of relief funds," Mr. Barton said:

"State relief administrators have been known, and the evidence is in hand, to direct their subordinates to separate the Democrats from the Republicans and to list them in order of priority 'so we may notify our safety foremen and compensation men as to who is eligible to participate in case of injury.'"

"There is other evidence that Democratic leaders in Philadelphia instructed their committeemen to 'contact all houses in your division and get the names of all men on relief, also of those holding WPA jobs. Urge them to register Democratic on March 26 or else lose their jobs.'"

"No more dangerous or despicable condition of affairs can be imagined than this in which men and women entitled to be relieved of hunger and suffering must submit to political coercion as the price of their relief. It is un-American. It is inhuman. It is immoral. And it is the way by which a corrupt political bureaucracy may retain itself in power, unless we so strengthen the Corrupt Practices Act as to be able to convict and imprison those venal officials who will stoop to such unspeakable practices."

"It is for these reasons that I have introduced the proposed amendment to the Corrupt Practices Act. It has become perfectly apparent that there is little disposition on the part of the Department of Justice to prosecute practices of the sort described unless the law on the subject is so clear and the evidence of violations is so overwhelming that public indignation will compel action."

He listed some of the practices he would forbid as follows:

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

GIVE THEM JOBS

The great need of this country today is jobs. Where are they coming from?

A great majority of the 13,000,000 unemployed want to go to work. They must go to work, because we cannot go on indefinitely spending million after million for relief.

Jobs are provided by businesses in which people have invested their savings with the hope of making a reasonable return. Many of these concerns are going out of business every year, even when we don't have a depression. The things which they make or sell may cease to attract the public, or may be chased out of the market by newer and better inventions. Or the owners of businesses may die and their heirs decide not to keep them up. There are many other reasons, in addition to bad management and lack of capital, why companies fall by the wayside every year.

Under ordinary circumstances, new businesses are developed and many of the old ones expanded. They then employ those who lost their jobs when the first group closed up.

This hitherto normal expansion of business has not been going on. The jobs have not been provided.

Two of the principal reasons for this are: continuous attacks on business and industry by the government; high taxes.

Unless you can truthfully say that nothing that has happened in the last year or so has affected your personal fortunes, your prospect of a steady job or the security of your savings, these taxes have a direct personal effect on you.—Floyd Miller in The Royal Oak Tribune.

CHINA'S EXAMPLE

Instead of China shooting the opium addicts by the thousands like in former days they are making soldiers of them. In America only the physically and mentally strong are acceptable for war fodder.—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

OUR GREATEST NEED

Seizure of plants owned by the Consumers Power Co., by members of the CIO merely repeats the lawlessness of more than a year ago, when some of Michigan's motor plants were taken over by them. If Michigan had a Governor who was opposed to such lawlessness, these seizures would be impossible. A labor strike is one thing—but seizure is quite another. Michigan needs a Governor who will stand up against such sit-down seizures—and here's hope that Michigan's New Year present for 1939 will be an honest-to-goodness Chief Executive.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

Arthur Rutenbar from the seventh grade is quarantined with scarlet fever.

The fifth grade took a trip through Greenfield Village last Friday afternoon, April 22. The class left the school at 12:45 in cars driven by parents, were admitted immediately to the museum and village and remained there until 4:00 o'clock. The Edison museum was the first thing seen and there the transportation unit was the thing which most attracted the children. Time was too short to see all of the village but the children displayed eager interest in the glass-blowing shop and the chair in which Abraham Lincoln was assassinated. Next in order of interest was the lunch wagon in the center of the village which did such a rushing business in hot dogs and hamburgers that an assistant had to be called to serve the hungry horde.

The parents who drove the children to the village were Mr. Nichol, Mrs. Burton, Mrs. Flannigan, Mrs. MacDonald, and Mrs. Crisp. Although this trip was sponsored by the Rosedale Gardens P.T.A. under the direction of Mrs. H. Crisp, president, the fifth grade pupils and their teacher wish to express their appreciation to the parents who helped to make their trip such a success. This is the third trip taken by classes of the Rosedale school this term and each one was sponsored by the Rosedale P.T.A. The sixth grade took a trip through a rubber plant in Detroit, and the seventh and eighth grades visited a museum in Ann Arbor. The first grade room is making plans to visit a farm this spring.

The fifth grade has finished its study of the United States in geography, and will spend the rest of the school term in a study of the island possessions of the United States and of the Dominion of Canada. To supplement its work in the study of the latter country the Citizenship club of the fifth grade has bought the book, "Seeing Canada With Lowell Thomas". Another new book which the fifth grade has added to its class library is "Bambi" by Felix Salten, the story of a deer. The children have been especially interested in reading this book because it is rumored that Mr. Disney is going to make "Bambi" his next full length picture.

Here's A Word To Perch Fishermen

What's what in perch fishing regulations this year was explained today by Fred A. Westerman, chief of the fish division of the state conservation department, in answer to numerous inquiries apparently resulting from confusion among fishermen caused largely by the publication of misinformation concerning the laws.

A new regulation now in effect limits the daily catch and the number in possession at one time, of perch taken in the Great Lakes or their connecting waters to 50. The limit on inland waters is 25.

"The statute defines 'connecting waters' of the Great Lakes," Mr. Westerman explained, "as being the St. Mary's river, the St. Clair river, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit river and the Saginaw river. In addition, the limit of 50, instead of 25 as for other inland waters, applies to the following inland lakes: Black lake, Ottawa county; Muskegon and White lakes, Muskegon county; Pentwater and Stoney lakes, Oceana county; Pere Marquette lake, Mason county; Manistee, Arcadia and Portage lakes, Manistee county; Lake Charlevoix, Charlevoix county."

"Such streams as the Quincasse, Pine and Tawas rivers and the 'big ditch' near Au Gres are considered inland waters where the limit of 25 applies," Mr. Westerman said.

"And the dividing line between a river and the Great Lakes is generally regarded as being at the point where the meander line of the Great Lakes intersects the meander line of the stream."

Trout Fishing Season Opens Saturday—Many Plan To Go North

Special Trout License Is Needed This Year

There's going to be an important "business" conference up on one of the branches of the Pere Marquette river Saturday morning.

Glenn Jewell will be there at sunrise to attend the early morning conference.

Mark Chaffee will be down the river 50 or 60 miles attending another discussion about "business".

There will be others, dozens and dozens of others leaving Plymouth bright and early Saturday morning for "meetings" to be held somewhere along the trout streams of northern Michigan.

Yes sir, these over-worked business men are going up there to talk business with the brook trout of the state, and if the trout fail to fall for the bait held out by these over-worked business men, there will be a lot of explaining to do when they get home.

Saturday marks the opening of the 1938 trout fishing season.

Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief, the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker will also find unity in mutual desire and determination Saturday.

They will be trout fishing, too.

The number who went trout fishing last year is estimated at from 125,000 to 150,000 and there probably will be at least as many this year before the season ends.

And the percentage of those who will realize their hope promises to be higher than a year ago.

Fish, of course, are often whimsical and the weather is unpredictable, both of which factors may interfere with the catch. But the outlook now is promising. Reports received at the department of conservation indicate that the comparatively mild weather this winter was favorable to the trout. Early snow protected the streams from extreme conditions such as anchor-ice which might have restricted the number of places where the trout could winter successfully.

The trout have begun to run upstream already on their annual spawning migration although heavy concentrations probably will not occur until later. Special patrols have been established by the conservation department during this period to protect this game species from poachers and thus save them for legitimate anglers.

trying their luck for another week or two. Many veteran fishermen hold to the belief that the best trout fishing usually begins about the middle of May, as the temperature warms.

D.A.R. Members Hear Reports

The pleasant home of Mrs. Charles Root, West Ann Arbor road, with its many lovely colonial pieces of furniture, pictures, and china, made an appropriate setting for the meeting of the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter, D.A.R. on Monday, April 25.

A large number of the members were present from Plymouth, Detroit, Wayne, and Northville.

Following the regular business meeting, conducted by the regent, Mrs. Sidney Strong, the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. Henry Baker.

Mrs. John Root read a most interesting article on national defense which showed the alarming influence along this line being brought to bear upon the cities where atheism is being stressed so strongly.

Following this, the reports of those who attended the state conference of the D.A.R., held in Lansing, March 30, 31 and April 1 were given. Those of the chapter who attended this meeting were Mrs. Sidney Strong, Mrs. M. J. Bennett, Mrs. Dwight Randall, Mrs. Charles Horr, Mrs. Walter Nichol, Mrs. Irving Blunk, Mrs. David Mather, Mrs. Charles Root, and Mrs. E. J. Cutler, each of whom gave an interesting account of some particular part of the meetings in such a graphic manner that those not fortunate enough to be there had a very vivid picture of the proceedings.

Mrs. George H. Wilcox, who with Mrs. Dwight Randall and Mrs. Nettie Dibble, represented Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter at the national congress, D.A.R., at Washington, D.C. the week of April 18, gave a splendid account of the meetings and receptions attended. She mentioned the fact that President Roosevelt appeared upon the platform at one meeting as a guest of the society. Former State Regent Mrs. George Schermerhorn, of Reading, Michigan, was elected to the national office of organizing secretary-general for the next three years.

Mrs. Dwight Randall was unable to be present on Monday but will give her part of the report of the national meeting at the next meeting of the local chapter.

Mrs. Root had a table of lovely antique china and silver for the entertainment of the members of the chapter.

Schrader Wins Over All-Stars

Playing in a steady rain Sunday afternoon the Schrader-Haggerty team defeated Art Superko's All-Collegians in a hard-fought pitchers' duel by the score of 2-2. Clifford Zink, the Collegians' starting pitcher, allowed but two hits and struck out 11 of the local batsmen, while Warren Bassett was nicked for eight hits in the eight innings he pitched, tightening up with men on bases and held the visitors from scoring in the early innings of the game.

The Schrader-Haggerty team scored the first run of the game when Zielasko walked, went to second on Dave Gates' single to center and both Zielasko and Gates scored on Bassett's disputed high fly back of second when Wolak, in attempting a forced double play, dropped the ball. The winning run, scored in the ninth, resulted from a long double by Zielasko, who came home on Molner's single to center, after two were out.

Singles by Tonkovich and Born, combined with a passed ball, scored the visitors' first run in the eighth inning. Superko's single scoring Born with the second run.

Next Sunday afternoon the Schrader-Haggerty team will wind up its series of week-end practice games when it encounters the Cass Benton team at Cass Benton. The first game on the Michigan Inter-County league schedule will be played on Sunday, May 8. Watch The Plymouth Mail for further announcements.

Fire Destroys Home Of Former Residents

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Chalmers, 12305 Indian avenue, Redford township, was destroyed by fire together with all their furniture at 12:15 p.m. Friday, April 23. The fire was caused by explosion of an oil heater, and was far beyond control when employees of the county road commission, Norton Yard and Redford township fire engine arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers and daughter, Evelyn, 13 years old, a pupil of Plymouth high school, built and moved into their new home about two years ago. Mr. Chalmers was an employe of Chrysler Motor Car company, Plymouth division, prior to November, 1937. Since that time he has not been employed. Mrs. Chalmers has spent most of this winter in Ann Arbor hospital and returned just three weeks ago. She is still in poor health. The fire loss was only partially covered by insurance.

Residents of this section of Wayne and Washtenaw counties will have an opportunity of not only hearing but actually seeing a full two hours of entertainment just as it is done in the radio broadcasting studio. Happy Hal and His Gang in Sleepy Valley Ranch, a regular feature of CKLW station presentations will be at the Plymouth high school auditorium on Monday, May 2 at 8:00 p.m. A public address system will be installed so that all may get the entertainment perfectly.

The presentation of this novelty in entertainment in Plymouth is under the sponsorship of the Ex-Service Men's club and information and details may be obtained from any veteran of the club.

Hitt's Two Hitter Swamps Centerline

Sophomore Bob Hitt is a real pitcher, as he proved by pitching six hitless, scoreless innings and striking out 10 in a pre-season game with Centerline here last Monday, April 25. Besides his pitching performance, he began Plymouth's four-run uprising in the first inning with a lusty double. He was well on his way to a no-hit game, pitching "air-tight" ball in the first four innings, when White, Centerline right-fielder, blasted a triple to left center to open the fifth. This, together with a single later in the same inning, made up all of Centerline's hitting for the afternoon. Bob had excellent control, walking only three men.

As before related, Hitt opened Plymouth's first inning rally with a double. Darnell singled him to third, and Folsom drove them both in with a husky double. Leach got on base through an error by Miller, Centerline pitcher, and after stealing second was brought home, together with Folsom, by Hoffman's scratch single through second. Miller was replaced by Bock at this juncture, and he induced Egloff to ground to him, ending the inning.

Fat and pudgy Catcher Ryan, of Centerline, made a bad throw to first on May's grounder in the second, and he was safe. Hamilton Newman, who was playing first base in the absence of "Butch" Krumm, who arrived later and took over his duties, slammed a single to right. May took third on the hit, and since the throw there was wild, he tried for home. He won the decision, but injured his ankle in sliding into the plate, and was unable to continue. Newman took May's position, and Krumm, who had arrived, played first base.

Folsom got on base by an infield error, stole second, took third on Second Baseman Atkins' wild throw to first on Leach's grounder, and scored on a third infield error on Hoffman's grounder, in the third inning.

After a scoreless fourth, Plymouth finished its scoring in the fifth when Darnell and Leach singled and were brought home by Robinson's single to center. Robinson had replaced Egloff at second. This brought Plymouth's total to eight runs.

Hitt was given very good support, his mates making only one error. This, however, accounted for two of Centerline's three runs. After White tripled in the fifth, he was safe at home plate by two feet on a return of an infield grounder. A pass and a single filled the bases, and then Krumm lost a high fly behind first in the sun, got his mitt on it, and dropped it, a two-run error.

Centerline made three runs, two hits, and five errors while Plymouth made eight runs, eight hits and one error.

This game originally was to have been played here Friday, but through some slip-up the Centerline boys appeared at the high school Monday. The Rocks played a very good game for an impromptu affair, a complete reversal of form over last week's defeat by Garden City.

GOINGS ON AROUND P.H.S.

Ellen Nystrom's cousin from Detroit visited her during vacation. Friday night Ellen attended the Wayne J-Hop.

Evelyn Bower saw Wayne King Saturday at the Fox.

Ruth Roediger saw "College Swing" at the Michigan during vacation.

Those steak roasters are loose again. This time it was Jean Hamilton, Tom Campion, Shirley Sorensen, Jack Ross, Florence Straub, Ham Newman, Lois Schaufele, and an individual by the name of "Chick" from Grosse Isle who feasted on burned and smoked meat for the pleasure of being in the wilds, might I add, the park.

Lorraine Welch was another individual who saw "College Swing" at the Michigan last week.

The Bohl sisters, Dorothy and Evelyn spent the week-end in Trenton visiting their sister.

Jane Springer spent Tuesday in Rosedale Gardens visiting Margaret Brandt.

Jennie Bassett attended the Wayne J-Hop Friday night. Norma Coffin entertained Arlene Soth, Shirley Sorensen, Betty Mastick, Betty Knowles, Dorothy Roe, Betty Korb, and Annabell Brown Tuesday night.

Jacquelyn Schoof attended the opening at Walled Lake Friday night.

Belva Barnes, Mary Jane Ol-saver, and Pat Bronson of Detroit saw Wayne King at the Fox Friday.

Dorothy Ebersole attended the Romulus J-Hop Saturday night.

Wheel Another party. Doris Schultz entertained Dorothy McCullough, Joe Schultz, Mary Hood, Bob Schmitting, Jane Hood, Bud Schmitting, Betty Curtis, "Shorty" Schmitting, Lily Wickstrom, Kenneth McMillen and Charles Hadley. They danced and played games and were served refreshments. All this happened on Friday night.

Velma Thatcher spent her vacation in Detroit visiting Mary Holland.

Jane Springer and Ruth Drews saw Spanky McFarland at the Michigan Wednesday.

Another dance was held at the Rosedale Gardens clubhouse Friday night. Among those who attended were Patricia and Bernice Kinahan, Dorothy Waters, Pat Mason, Warren Hoffman, Howard Walbridge, Marilyn Holton, Carolyn Castle, Shirley Mason, and Paul Thams.

Doris Buzzard and Charlotte Jolliffe attended the Ford Sunday evening hour April 24.

A picnic was given Thursday night. Those in attendance were Norma Coin, Roy McAllister, Ellen Nystrom, Rocky Smith, June Bakewell, Bob Hudson, Catherine Kaletsky, Lawrence Smith, Charlotte Jolliffe and Roy Martin.

Betty Smith attended the opening of Walled Lake Friday night.

Chicago was honored by the presence of Jack DeLaurier during vacation.

Miss Fiegel spent her vacation in Ann Arbor entertaining guests. They attended the Ford Sunday evening hour, visited Greenfield Village and saw several movies.

Mr. Fountain went up across the Straits smelt fishing and has a tale of a big storm to tell.

Miss Lundin spent her vacation in the upper peninsula, recuperating from the trials and tribulations of school life.

Miss Saffel visited her father in Ann Arbor during vacation.

Miss Lavelle spent her vacation in Columbus and Springfield, Ohio; Miss Allen visited her brother in Findlay during the Easter week-end.

Mr. Latture went fishing but regrets he has nothing to show for it. He also had a birthday party and had as his guests, Mr. and Mrs. Matheson.

Miss Heath, Miss Gallimore, Miss Tyler, and Miss Rathburn have returned from their trip to Kentucky. They went on down to Tennessee through the Cumberland Mountains and then back up through the Blue Grass regions of Kentucky. The great puzzle of the trip seemed to be trying to figure out when the mountaineers with their squirrel rifles did any work. Candid camera shots were taken and some moving pictures which should prove interesting, according to all reports.

In the South Seas, money is made of porpoise teeth.

MRS. HOGUE SPEAKER AT MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BANQUET, MAY 9

The annual mother and daughter banquet is to be held May 9, at 6:00 in the auditorium of the high school with Mrs. Helen Hogue as speaker. The Girl Reserves are in charge of the affair with Astrid Hegge as general chairman.

A theme rather unusual and original has been worked out for the program this year. It is intended to show the evolution of the American girl, from Indian days to the present.

After dinner songs will be led by Doris Schmidt, after which an introduction to the toastmistress, Margaret Bentley, will be given by Astrid Hegge. A toast to mothers will be given by Jane Taylor and the response by Reverend Cora Pennell. The principal speaker of the evening, Mrs. Helen Hogue, mental hygienist from Highland Park, will talk on the personality development of the American girl. A reading on the evolution of the American girl will be given by Marilyn Holton followed by a pantomime of the stages of development of the American maid, showing the Indian maid, the colonial girl, the Revolutionary girl, the frontier girl, the Civil War girl, a girl of the '90's, and concluding with the Miss of today.

SPRING

The real signs of Spring are here at last, and for proof let's take a walk down the halls.

First, we see Eugene Bakewell and Shirley Burnham taking their time while going toward the study hall. A few minutes later we find Caroline Ewosser talking with a male friend of hers. Our famous boys of sport have not escaped either. We see Paul Kellar talking with a member of the fair sex; while Dick Innis gets along all right with Doris Buzzard. Jack Ross is doing all right by himself. Doug Frough isn't doing so bad either. The bug doesn't seem to have any respect for people who are supposed to have a good share of brains. For example, Lynton Ball can be seen daily with Glorete Galloway. Richard Strong and Margaret Zimmerman can be seen a lot together. Wesley Hoffman and Betty Barlow can be found together every morning at the drinking fountain on the first floor. Betty Curtis and Ronald Cook seem to enjoy each other's company. Yes, SPRING is really here, and it seems to have an effect on some of the teachers too, but for certain reasons we won't mention any names; and so, before the bug gets me I'll be saying so-long until later.

TAKES TWO TO MAKE A BARGAIN

Some day, the public that depends for its living on being able to see at a near point, will find that it takes two functions (and not just one) to accomplish successful and efficient seeing. There are TWO eyes that must work together. Suppose I asked you to look up a number in a telephone book. What do you do? You point your two eyes at the number, but the type is small so you bring the book near you. You are turning your eyes IN TOWARD EACH OTHER and the closer you bring the book, the more IN you have to turn your eyes. Most of your important work is done at what we optometrists call the "near point", roughly around sixteen inches from your eyes. Is that about where you are holding this sheet? If you are holding it out at arm's length, if it is close to your face, these actions tell something about your lack of visual capacity. Visual fatigue does NOT come in seeing in near vision, because your eyes are working. Your eyes, like your heart, are capable of enormous amounts of work without tiring—nature planned plenty of capacity for work WITHOUT fatigue. No—your fatigue, or ache, or sleepiness, or inability to work for very long, comes from a battle that is going on between your functions of focus (we call it accommodation) and of convergence (or intuning) of the two eyes so that each shall see close objects as well) at near point. It is lack of harmony of nerve impulses distribution between our two seeing functions that makes so-called "eye-trouble", which rarely has anything to do with the eye balls, but is found in the nervous system. Chances are your eyes are entirely normal, but you may be having the sickness of a time doing your work; you may be fatigable, restless, and unhappy (or even nervous) because of the conflict between the two seeing factors, and it is optometry's job to bring about harmony at just that point. Thank Heaven, we usually succeed!

PLYMOUTH TRIUMPHS OVER ECORSE

Plymouth won its fifth straight victory by defeating Ecorse 5-0, Monday night on their courts. Our home tennis team evened the score as Ecorse defeated us in football. The scores were: No. 1 singles, Moe defeated R. Jones (6-1) (6-2). No. 2 singles, Smith defeated Beier (6-1) (6-4). No. 3 singles, McAllister defeated H. Jones (6-0) (7-5). In the doubles Anderson and W. Norman defeated Eaton and Callow (6-3) (6-3). McLain and R. Norman defeated Hauk and R. Seauti (6-1) (6-2).

ANN ARBOR FALLS VICTIM TO PLYMOUTH TENNIS TEAM

With the defeat of Ann Arbor, Plymouth wins its sixth consecutive victory 5-0. Anderson and W. Norman lost their first set, but came out ahead and defeated Brown and Hollowell (3-6) (6-2) (6-3). Lawrence Smith played the longest set played since tennis season began and defeated Simmons (6-4) (10-8). Moe defeated his opponent, Fishow (6-1) (6-2). Bill McAllister triumphed also by defeating Robinson (6-3) (6-1). McLain and Bob Norman won their match from Dobransky and Watkins (6-3) (6-2). If the racket handlers keep up the good work Plymouth will lead the league.

ALUMNI DEFEATS GOLF TEAM

The graduates of Plymouth high school defeated the local golf team 9-3. This year is the first season for three of the boys which may account for some of the scores.

Dick Dunlop, 0, opponent, 3; Bob Brown, 0, opponent, 3; Warren Hoffman, 1/2, opponent, 2 1/2.

The next games will be with Ecorse and Ypsilanti, April 27 and 28.

GOOD LIGHTING FOR A GAME OF BRIDGE—

300 WATT LAMP

You can operate this 300-watt lamp 56 minutes for 1c (at average residence rates)

COST: ABOUT A penny an hour

BRIDGE isn't much fun if half the time is spent in frowning at cards in dim light, and peering across the table at a dummy hand only half visible. Bridge to be enjoyed must be played with good lighting—and that is exactly what this 300-watt lamp provides. Used with the new reflector-type floor lamp which has a reflector bowl under the shade, this 300-watt bulb will provide almost one hour of excellent illumination at a cost of only one cent. And it is soft, pleasant lighting—easy on the eyes.

At your next bridge party—instead of huddling in cramped discomfort next to an inadequate, old-fashioned bridge lamp—try this new type of lighting with its sense of freedom and relaxation. Lean back in your chair and enjoy yourself: Revel in the soft, pleasant illumination of a 300-watt reflector-bowl floor lamp. You can afford it—its cost is only about a penny an hour!

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Job 31: 6), "Is not destruction to the wicked? and a strange punishment to the workers of iniquity? Let me be weighed in an even balance, that God may know mine integrity." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 404): "If the evil is over in the repentant mortal mind, while its effects still remain on the individual, he can remove this disorder as God's law is fulfilled and reformation cancels the crime."

Catholics Seek Library Aid

Four years ago the Catholic library in the Chancery building was founded. This library has become one of Detroit's principal book centers for all those seeking intellectual development. As part of an expansion program to enlarge the Van Antwerp library in the Chancery building, a county wide bridge party will be held in the Naval armory, Wednesday evening, May 11. This expansion program has the full and hearty endorsement of the Most Rev. Edward Mooney, archbishop of Detroit diocese. Proceeds of the party will go towards the purchase of books, new books, for the library. The present library roster shows there are more than 1,500 regular patrons, some 60,000 books have been loaned and in excess of 100,000 pamphlets on Christian matters have been sold. Essentially the Van Antwerp Catholic library is a circulating one, many citizens of Wayne county drop in on their lunch hour to avail themselves of the reading room.

The enlarging of the Van Antwerp library is not alone a Catholic movement—it's a civic undertaking that has the approval and full endorsement of men and women in all walks of our business and social life. This library is not for Catholics alone—it is being and may be used by all book lovers, regardless of creed. Soon the library will be moved to larger quarters in the Chancery building. The Most Rev. Edward Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, has set aside the second floor for the new, enlarged library. Through the bridge party on May 11 the necessary new books will be purchased. In addition to the table prizes there will be at least 75 valuable door prizes.

Groups from every section of Wayne county have already made table reservations. According to the plans of the committee it is expected that at least 1000 tables will be filled on May 11. Books in the Van Antwerp Catholic library are not all of the religious variety. However, any book that smarts of atheistic tone are not kept. The library committee strives at all times to keep all the books by recognized authors. Selections from the Book of the Month club and the Catholic Book of the Month club are available. Current mystery and detective stories are always on hand.

Miss Mary Schutz is the chief librarian and Miss Jessie Gerbig is chief assistant. Present officers of the Catholic library board are: President, Ruth Gerbig; vice president, George Herman Derry; and the Rev. Edward J. Hickery, chancellor of the Detroit diocese, secretary and treasurer.

Exhibits For Achievement Day

The annual home economics extension achievement day which has been scheduled for Wednesday, May 1 at the Wayne County Training School, Northville, will have some exhibits which will be of interest to the general public.

The home furnishing groups have studied the recognition of suitable furniture by knowing quality in style, wood and in the usefulness and comfort of each piece. In economizing on furniture one must know which features can be altered without destroying quality.

Cutting patterns on lineoleum blocks to transfer the design with the use of oil paints on such materials as feed sacks, muslin and gingham is an interesting method of making colorful hand towels, wall hangings and table covers, not saying anything about the possibilities of making original and personal Christmas cards.

Arranging flowers in the most artistic way is just another possibility of adding beauty to ordinary rooms. Suitable arrangements for various rooms will form part of the exhibit in the home furnishing project.

Since all homemakers, even those who do considerable home sewing by many "ready-mades" for various members of the family, a series of five discussions on buymanship was offered to the clothing groups. In their exhibit, one will find the new fabrics and methods of identification as well as good and poor purchases in ready-made dresses and coats, underwear, men's shirts, shoes and hosiery.

The nutrition group have been busy planning the family meals emphasizing simple meals attractively served, as a time saver for the busy woman, as a real contribution toward happy living and as a means of developing good meal time habits for every member of the family.

The home nursing groups under the leadership of Miss Georgina Reid, Wayne county school nurse, will have appropriate exhibits pertaining to different phases of the sick problems within the home.

Under the guidance of Miss Loretta Dawson, Wayne county librarian and her assisting staff of ten, there have been 11 reading groups located in various sections of the county. The Wayne county library staff will have an exhibit which will appeal to all interested in books.

The natives of Dahomey, a French West African colony, seldom seek divorce—they have a custom, that, usually, makes it unnecessary. When a man and his wife quarrel, both must go to opposite corners of the room, and facing the wall, meditate IN SILENCE, for a fixed period. This over, the man speaks first, but all he is permitted to say is "I'm an idiot." This he shouts 100 times. When he has finished his wife does likewise. Then both turn, advance to the center of the room, and together cry "We are idiots." This ends the ritual. Both are now free to do whatever they please, but they in most instances burst out laughing and forget their quarrel.

School News

PLYMOUTH NINE HAS FIELD DAY AT ROCHESTER. At the saying goes, the Plymouth lads really went to town last Tuesday, April 26. Under the capable pitching of Jack Hovey, the equally excellent support at bat by "Sluggo" Leach, and in the field by Wes Hoffman who made a double play unassisted, the lads triumphed over the Rochester nine by the score of six to one.

Rochester's lone run was the result of a double by Werth, the Rochester catcher, who, when the ball popped out of Ray Martin's glove, took third. A fly ball was lifted by the next batter to Harold Leach who made a superhuman shoestring catch, but as he was off balance could not cut off the run at the plate.

Plymouth scored three runs in the first inning, enough to win the game.

"ROCKS" LOSE TRACK MEET. The second track meet of the season was held at Ecorse Tuesday, April 26 with a very nice crowd attending; it was the first defeat of the season for the Plymouth trackers.

Although Plymouth fought very hard they were defeated by the score of 53 1/2 to 48 2/3. While Plymouth won firsts, they lacked secondary men to collect enough seconds and thirds to win the meet. There is a great need of more track men to round out the team even though these may not be good enough to collect firsts.

The winners of the various events were: Roundtree of Ecorse won the 120 yd. high hurdles in 18.2; Mielbeck of Plymouth won the 100 yd. dash in 11.3; McMullen from Plymouth won the mile in 5:19. The 440 yd. dash was won by Kalmback of Plymouth in 64 seconds. The 200 yard low hurdles were won by Roundtree in 23 seconds; Jolliffe won the 220 yd. dash in 25.8. Campion won the 880 yd. run in 2:25 minutes; Prough won the Pole Vault with a jump of 9 feet; Price of Ecorse put the shot 34 ft. 6 in. Van Amburg high jumped 5 ft. 3 in.; Roundtree broom jumped 19 ft. 6 1/2 inches; Ecorse won the 880 yard relay in 1 minute and 44.8 seconds.

The United States prison population for each 100,000 decreased from 119 in 1880 to 95 in 1923. Lord Byron, English poet, once swam the channel of the Dardanelles in an hour and 10 minutes. The feat was accomplished at the narrowest point of the channel, a mile across, where the current is swiftest.

"In His Steps" advertisement. Text: 'The Author of This Book Tells What He Would Do to the First Page of a Newspaper. Hundreds of Plymouth Mail readers will recall the interesting book entitled "In His Steps" that created so much interest back about a quarter of a century ago. The other day, in turning over the pages of The Publishers' Auxiliary, a paper devoted to the newspaper business, there appeared an interesting article about the author of the book. It pertained to his ideas of what he would do to the first pages of a newspaper, if he were the editor. The article is so interesting, and so many hundreds of readers of this paper have read his book, that it is printed in full as follows: "Under the headline—"If I Had a Paper of My Own—" a recent issue of the Quill, magazine of Sigma Delta Chi, carried an article written by Dr. Charles M. Sheldon, famous author of the book, "In His Steps". Written in 1896, it is said to have had the widest circulation of any book excepting the Bible. "Sixteen publishers in the United States and 24 in Europe have issued editions which have sold more than 8,000,000 copies in this country and more than 12,000,000 abroad in 20 languages. Because the editor of the religious weekly in which "In His Steps" originally appeared filed but one copy of the serial instead of two with the copyright department in Washington, thereby making the copyright defective, Dr. Sheldon has never received one cent from the publication and sale of the book. "Back in 1890, Dr. Sheldon edited the Topeka Daily Capital for one week "as Jesus would have edited it". That experiment attracted intense interest and required the sending of mats to outside cities so that the demand for papers could be filled. "Editor in chief of the Christian Herald from 1920 to 1925, and a contributing editor since, he has written nearly 50 other books. He has been a resident of Topeka since 1899 when he went there to become pastor of the Central Congregational church. "The text of Dr. Sheldon's article in the Quill, which is substantially the same as the address which he delivered before the last Sigma Delta Chi national convention in Topeka, follows: "If I had a newspaper of my own and could direct its policy and its general program I would do a number of things that the regular dailies have not tried. "First of all, I would change the character of the front page. At least once a week and perhaps oftener I would print one article and one only on the front page. I would choose the most important thing that was of vital interest in the world and emphasize it. As for example, war is a world subject in which the whole human race is interested. I would print the facts about war, its cost in money and in men and in conduct. And I would ask the reader of my paper what he is going to do about it. "That front page would be read, every word of it. "Once a week or oftener I would put my best editorial on the front page and sign it. It would all be read. "Then, if I had a newspaper of my own I would define the word "news". I would print news in proportion to its real importance. I would not count it news if a man ran away with another man's wife in Hollywood. I would print very little scandal and crime. "The Crucifixion of Jesus Christ was one of the great events of history but the historian tells it in 460 words. It would take only one-third of the space of a column in a daily paper. If I printed any account of a crime I would always try to find out the cause of it and the remedy. "If I had a daily of my own I would want an editor to help me who would know how to interpret news, and tell the reader what it meant. Human events need to be understood and every day news is not interpreted. This editor would have to know about everything and sit up nights. "If I had a paper of my own, I would always sign my editorials and I would have the reporters sign their names so as to be accurate and get credit for good work. "Once a month I would have a special edition telling of all the good and beautiful things I could find in my own town about people and institutions that had any decent and useful program. I would gather together all the good sayings I could get from conversation in my town which would make folks careful about how they talked and I would emphasize all the fine things that made up the place where my paper was printed. "There are a good many other things I would do if I had a newspaper of my own. Some of them might not work, but some that I have mentioned, especially the making over of the front page, would. And if things didn't work I would not keep repeating them. "Recent surveys indicate that sewers "run backwards" in four out of 10 American homes. Dry basement drain traps permit sewer gas and vermin to enter homes.'

Sportsmanlike Driving—Keep Up With Traffic

The driver who lags on the highway at an unreasonably low speed, causing other motorists to become impatient and to take chances, is a traffic menace. Such driving is a violation of the motor laws in some states. Certainly it is not Sportsmanlike Driving. Do you keep up with the traffic?

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of dear Father and Mother who departed this life April 17th, 1916 and April 15, 1925.
Over the river they beckon to me. The loved ones who have gone to the farther side, The gleam of their snowy robes I see. But their voices are drowned in the rushing tide. Over the river, the mystic river, the angel of death has carried thee.
Their daughter,
Mrs. William Powell

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Pearl B. Smith, who passed away two years ago, April 30, 1936.
You bid no one a last farewell, You said good-bye to none, Your living heart had ceased to beat,
Before we knew you were gone,
Every day we sadly miss you: Deeply do we feel our loss: Lonely in our home without you Help us, O God to bear our cross, Sleep on dear Pearl, and take thy rest; God called you home when he thought best. Sadly missed by your mother, sister and three brothers.
