

Two Youths End 2,600-Mile Tour Of 14 States

One Flat Tire Mars 12 Days Of Roaming In Old Car

Lewis Gilbert and Charles Paddock, of Newburg, completed a 2,600-mile tour of 14 states and the District of Columbia last week. The 12-day odyssey cost them only $30 each, and that includes a $3 fine for a minor traffic violation in New York state. The journey was made in an old model A Ford, with only one mishap, a flat tire in New Hampshire. It was the first time that the youths had made such an extensive trip. Gilbert, 18 years old, will be a senior at Plymouth high school next fall. Paddock, 23 years old, is a Plymouth graduate now employed at the Daisy Manufacturing company. The pair followed the Lake Erie shoreline route to Niagara Falls, going north through New York, Vermont and New Hampshire up the Atlantic seaboard to Maine.

Highpoints in the tour of the northeastern states, Gilbert said, was seeing the House of the Seven Gables, the old belfry where the signal to Paul Revere is supposed to have been given, Sleepy Hollow cemetery, the Old North Bridge, the monument to the Minute Men—and the one and only flat tire.

They were disappointed in Plymouth Rock, they said, because it was so much smaller than they had anticipated. At Ossining, where sightseeing is barred at Sing Sing prison, Paddock drew a prison guard into conversation and elicited the information that the ill-famed prison is "not such a tough place." "Many of the prisoners would rather be there than anywhere else," the youths were told.

They became lost in Boston and didn't see much besides Cambridge college, the two said. New York was a different story. They got a thrill from the world's biggest city.

Other high points of the tour they selected were visits to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Arlington cemetery, the big planes at the Washington airport, Washington's home at Mount Vernon, the Gettysburg battlefield and one dark night when three vicious hounds scared them out of a sound sleep and into the car for the rest of the night.

They slept out each of the 12 nights, sometimes under their tent, sometimes on cots alongside the car and sometimes in the car. Paddock drove the entire distance.

The wilderness and solitary place shall be glad for them; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose.—Isaiah 35: 1.

Plymouth Fisherman Lands Big Bass

—Courtesy South Lyon Herald

This may be a fish story, but it's a true one and the picture is the proof. Wallace Duncan, of Eleven Mile road, South Lyon, is shown with the six and one-quarter pound small mouth bass caught by his father-in-law, Bert Tomcray, of Plymouth, at Briggs lake Sunday.

The two men were fishing with bamboo poles, using angle worms for bait, when the big fish struck. The bass ran away with the hook about noon after the men had been fishing an hour and a half. For the next five minutes the fish provided them with a real sportsman's thrill.

Some extra good catches have been made during the past few days by Plymouth fishermen. L. L. Price got his limit of big wall-eyes over in the St. Clair river the other day. Most of them averaged better than three pounds each.

Other fishing fans have been having better luck than usual bluegill fishing.

Some of the catches made at Island lake have been good, but the bluegills have not been of large size.

Nine Teams Enter Boys' Ball League

A softball league organized by Milton H. Jacobi, playground director, to bring together as many boys as possible from all parts of Plymouth began with five teams and before the first week was up many requests came in from other boys to join the league.

The Plymouth Recreation department, in charge of the North-Enders and Plymouth district tournament in tennis, reports that Northville will have 32 men and 16 women entered and Plymouth will have about 64 men and 32 women.

The first cablegram was sent from London to New York on Aug. 28, 1857.

What's the Answer?
By EDWARD FENICH

WHY DO WE SEE STARS WHEN HIT IN THE EYE?

IT IS not really stars we see; it is a blinding light. And that light is not really sight but sensation. Any of the five senses when stimulated artificially will produce the sensation for which that sense is responsible. Thus, when a blow to the eye injures the nerves of the eye it sends to the brain a message of sight. Since there is really nothing there to see, it reacts in a sensation of blinding light.

Consciousness of right-doing brings its own reward; but not amid the smoke of battle is merit seen and appreciated by lookers-on.—Mary Baker Eddy.

The ideal social state is not that in which each gets an equal amount of wealth, but in which each gets in proportion to his contribution to the general stock.—Henry George.

For the ultimate notion of right is that which tends to the universal good; and when one's acting in a certain manner has this tendency he has a right thus to act.—Francis Hutcheson.

Music Recital Pleasing Affair

About 200 guests attended, with manifest interest and enjoyment, the voice recital given by pupils of Mrs. M. J. O'Conner Monday evening, July 11, at the Methodist church.

The decorations consisted of massed banks of hollyhocks, Queen Ann's Lace and other mid-summer flowers, which under subdued candle light, afforded an unusually effective background for the summery gowns of the young ladies who participated. Mrs. O'Conner merits considerable praise for her untiring work with those who enjoy singing and for the artistic skill and musicianship she displayed in arranging and directing the program, the completion of which showed much work on her part, as well as on the part of those who sang.

Miss Doris Hamill, accompanied by Miss Czarina Penny, supplied two very delightful interludes with her violin.

The pupils of Mrs. O'Conner who sang are: Miss Betty Ridley, Harold Young, Elizabeth Matthews, Miss Dorothy McCullough, Miss Veronica Marti, Bernard Curtis, Miss Carol Campbell, Mrs. Anthony Kreiger, Keith Joliffe, Miss Linnea Vickstrom and A. R. Chilson.

Anniversary Is Wedding Date

On the 25th wedding anniversary of her parents, July 10, Miss Kathleen Virginia Spence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Spence, of Lansing, became the bride of Howard Hopkin Truesdell, of Plymouth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Truesdell in the parlors of Central Temple house. Dr. Stanley Coors, pastor of Central Methodist, performed the service at 3:00 o'clock in the presence of about 100 guests.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk redingote gown over white taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet. Miss Lorraine Corbett, of Plymouth, was maid of honor; Miss Dorothy Spence, of Lansing, and Miss Irene Truesdell, of Plymouth, were bridesmaids. Kenneth Truesdell, of Plymouth, was best man; James Pötzinger, of Lansing, and Thomas Millar, of Benton Harbor, were ushers.

The couple left for a wedding trip through northern Michigan and Canada. Both attended Michigan State college. The groom is employed as an electrical engineer at Kelsey-Hayes, Detroit.

Teacher Supply Again Excessive

Economic conditions are affecting the supply and demand of rural teachers according to Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, superintendent of public instruction. A survey made one year ago by the department of public instruction showed a shortage in the number of teachers available for rural positions. Study of the returns from a questionnaire just sent out shows clearly that the business slump is bringing back teachers who left the classroom two or three years ago for other employment or to marry.

Dr. Elliott points out that the change in twelve months has been so pronounced that the county normal schools and state teachers' colleges in many cases have been unable to place their 1938 graduates.

The survey conducted through the county school commissioner covers 80 of the 83 counties and shows an adequate or over supply of rural teachers in 73 of the 80 counties reporting. With only three counties left to be heard from indications are that the over supply will be about 500 rural teachers. This number includes 77 county normal graduates and almost an equal number of teacher college limited certificate students who as yet have no positions.
