GALESBURG

(By Elton R. Eaton)

A few weeks ago, the editor of The Galesburg Argus, in a semi-caustic editorial, said Galesburg didn't have a public library, the town is without a sewer system, it has no public park although it lies along the banks of the Kalamazoo river, it has no vocational course in its public school, there is no transportation to take its boys and girls to and from school, there is no postoffice building, no luncheon nor commercial club, no city band, too few merchants, poorly attended lodges and churches and no rural mail service.

These are eleven "indictments" he lists against one of the most glorious little cities in all America!

Galesburg! Where is this town that has no park, no commercial club, no library and poorly attended churches?

Years and years ago when the pioneer builders of a great nation started westward across Michigan, they came to some "oak openings" and before them towards the west spread a beautiful, fertile prairie covered with tall grass waving in the sunlight of a late summer afternoon. To the north was a range of hills—extending from the east to the west, screened with towering oaks and maples. To the south of them coursed the clear, sparkling river that flowed through the valley down which they had followed an Indian trail.

There it was, one vast field, as level as though it had been smoothed by man, ready for cultivation and completely surrounded by giant oaks.

William Toland was one of those old pioneers who first tramped about the prairie. They named it after him and for generations the location about Galesburg has been known as "Toland's prairie".

It was on the east end of this prairie near the river and not far from the hills where was built the log cabins of the first settlers of Galesburg. They tilled the soil of the prairie. They built a log school house.

Standing to this very day on the edge of the prairie is the old log home where General William Shafter was born, the great military leader who won fame in both the Civil and Spanish American Wars.

The hallowed oak trees swarmed with honey bees. To Galesburg and Schoolcraft and Climax went James Fennimore Cooper in search of legends and material for his historic stories of The Bee Hunter and Oak Openings and the Last of The Mohicans.

As years rolled along, news finally trickled back to the "states" of the discovery of this fertile land, ready for the plow and cultivator without the necessity of clearing. Early one summer there emerged from the woods in the east a number of covered wagons. "More settlers" said those who had first come to Galesburg. When the wagons stopped at the little settlement the men, women and children piled out into the thoroughfare.

"We are members of the Alphaadelphia society" they said, "and we have come to establish a new home in the West where we will all work together and all that we produce goes into one big granary and then after the harvests are over we will divide up equally what we have produced," they said. The thought was something new to Galesburg. In a few days the newcomers moved on a couple of miles to the western edge of the prairie and they settled down along the banks of the Kalamazoo river. There they started their experiment of dividing up among themselves all that they produced. They built their granaries and the "community" houses. These newcomers gave to Michigan its first "new deal". But there were drones among the members of the Alphaadelphia society, just as there are drones today.

Soon some of the hard working members protested against giving to the drones as much as they themselves received. The dissension continued to grow. The workers abandoned the society and moved out to establish new homes of their own around the prairie. The writer remembers well the aged "son" of one of the original members of the Society.

With only the drones left to carry on the experiment it was not long before the venture was entirely abandoned and then Kalamazoo county took the land of failure over for its poor farm. Some of the Alphaadelphia buildings served for more than half a century to house the poor inmates. When the old

Mother's Hands

Hands that are worn and wrinkled,
Hands that are old and tired,
Hands that cheerfully struggled,
Hands that with love were inspired;
Gone, their grace and their beauty—
Motherhood's sacrifice
On the altar of duty
Which cruelly claims its price,

Hands that were once soft and lovely,
Beautiful hands, in truth,
Hands ever willing and helpful—
The glorious hands of youth.
Now, tho they tremble and falter,
To me they're the acme of grace,
To me, her worn hands exalt her,
Her touch ever soft to my face.

These newcomers gave to Michigan its first "new deal". But there were drones among the members of the Alphaadelphia society, just as there are drones today.

The workers abandoned the society and moved out to establish new homes of their own around the prairie. The writer remembers well the aged "son" of one of the original members of the Society.

With only the drones left to carry on the experiment it was not long before the venture was entirely abandoned and then Kalamazoo county took the land of failure over for its poor farm. Some of the Alphaadelphia buildings served for more than half a century to house the poor inmates. When the old windmill factory in Galesburg burned, the last of the original Alphaadelphia buildings were moved to "Railroad" street to replace the building destroyed by fire.

Even to this very day Michigan's first "new deal" experiment community serves as the poor house of a rich and beautiful county.

Strange too, isn't it, that this indictment against the village where flourished and perished the first new deal experiment in our country should be made by a "modern" new dealer?

Climb to the tops of the hills about you, Schram's hill, if you like, look down upon the beautiful valley of the Kalamazoo, visualize what it was and what it is. As you stand there, Argus Editor, think of how much there is about you to connect the past with the present. There is the river that carried the boats of the early explorers and settlers from the east to the west, the Indian trail that is now the Main street across southern Michigan, the railway that was the first to connect the east with the west—inspiration everywhere!

Then go back to your office and write another editorial and tell about all the fine things you have seen. Tell about all the kindly deeds of your neighbors who are today enjoying luxuries and comforts the people of Galesburg never dreamed of 50 or 100 years ago.

Tell of the grandeur you can see over the valley to the east, the north and the west. Note the church spires as they rise out of the trees below. Tell of the skyline of a great, progressive city you can gaze upon as you look down the Kalamazoo valley. It is all beauty beyond description.

Galesburg has no "public park", indicts The Argus. Why, Galesburg sits right in the middle of one of nature's finest parks. Anywhere one goes in or out of the village there is beauty such as found in but few of the nation's parks. Half circling the village runs the Kalamazoo, with giant willow trees shadowing its banks. To the east there is the valley of Gull creek, a stream that carries the waters of beautiful Gull lake to the river.

Big white oak trees, maples, all giants of the forests, line the streets and thoroughfares in and about Galesburg. There is beauty everywhere, such as no public park can provide if one will just look for it.

"No vocational training in the schools?"

From out of the Galesburg schools have gone leaders in business, in transportation, in art, in finance, in the professions and in public life. The Stuards, the Olmsteads, Oakleys, Cummings, Burdicks, Paynes, Luttentons, Summers, Franklins, Abbotts, Imuses, Strubles, Marhoffs, Blakes, Clapps, Jacksons, Towns, Olines, Carsons, Ralphs, Bishops, Staffords, Ogdens, Covells, Durkees, Harrison, Allens, Carvers and hundreds of others—all good American names and good Americans, have gone from the class rooms of the Galesburg schools to win outstanding success for themselves in a wide field of American activities. Every time a sportsman spins a fishingline through a level winding reel, he is able to do so because of the inventive genius of a product of the Galesburg school. Miniature portrait paintings, popular today throughout the nation, were first originated by a Galesburg school girl.

No vocational training? What a silly indictment against such a school as that in Galesburg has been for more than a century, a school that to this very day can lay claim to the glory of never having one of its graduates face a criminal court. Surely this must, in part, be due to the training, the environment and the education provided boys and girls by a school now "indicted" because it does not have a vocational education department.

Under the sod in the groves and hills to the north, lie the remains of soldiers who fought in the Revolution to make this a free and independent nation. When the Civil War came, the little village freely sent more than its quota of soldiers to the battlefields of the South. Lying there, too, with the departed soldiers of all our great conflicts are the remains of the sturdy pioneer builders of a great state.

Galesburg has been from its first day of settlement a happy, contented little town, filled with the best people who ever trod the earth, people who are loyal to the last ditch to their friends.

It is rich in historic lore, rich in all the human kindnesses that any community can lay claim to.

Galesburg?

It is one of the finest little cities in all the world. Everything about it is good and grand! Its old print shop gave me an opportunity to make my own way in the world. It is my old home town and I am intensely proud of it!

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

THE "MILCHING" GOVERNOR

We observe that Governor Frank Murphy is going to see that the producers of milk get better terms for their products in Michigan. As a "milk" expert, the Governor knows his pastures—for he's certainly inventive when it comes to "milking" the public of taxes.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

THE INFLUX COMING

Reports are coming to this office daily, relative to the migration of southern families into Michigan preparatory to our state election in November.

One local citizen has told us about talking with a carload of such individuals who were inquiring as to the location of a certain farm in Van Buren county not very far distant from South Haven. They had been told that they could get work there picking berries.

Other reports, which we do not like to believe and would like to have substantiated, are to the effect that WPA workers are being transferred from the southern states and placed on the WPA rolls in Michigan. Such workers are said to be placed on rural drainage projects and the like, and not placed on projects conducted in the smaller communities where strangers are readily recognized.

If it is the intention of the Administration, and if the prevailing reports are true, that these imported southerners are to be used in Michigan to vote for the "chosen" state officers, then the citizens of this state should immediately find some way to put a stop to such an unAmerican practice.

At the last presidential election on the last day of registration, according to the City Clerk's records, there were 451 registrations made. A most unusual occurrence in South Haven. The former addresses of over 400 of these people, according to Mr. Ross, were in such states as Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, etc.

Michigan has ample unemployed to work on the farms in the state and on WPA projects without importing manpower.

Michigan voters are qualified to elect their state officers without assistance from relief voters from other states transported here for that purpose.

Under the old system of the county supervisors dispatching relief, these people would have to establish their residence in the county for a year before they were entitled to county relief. Under the present system it seems that they are eligible for relief funds immediately upon proof of the need.

If these reports are true, or if they are not true, now is the time for citizens of the State of Michigan to know about it.—South Haven Tribune.

HAS IT COME TO THIS?

A story is going the rounds of trade journals which brings home with deadly conviction the damages done to all business when officialdom becomes saturated with the desire to punish big business.

The story is of a small business, as business is counted these days. It was of a concern which had a weekly payroll of around $500 a week. It wasn't much but it meant a lot in the small city where it was located. Only 15 were employed of whom the proprietor was the leading spirit. He worked long hours. He drove himself as he dared not drive others. He made considerable money before Washington started running things. After that what with regulations of hours and wages, regulations by CIO and NLRB, and social security taxes and all the other new taxes and regulations which are today imposed on business, big and little, there wasn't much left at the end of the year.

So the boss sold out to a bigger concern. "With what I have salted away," the proprietor explained, and a fruit ranch out in California, I have it figured out that I can have an income of $5000 a year—and I can keep most of it. And what is the use of making any more? The government won't let you have more than that I'll work about half the time I have been working; I'll make about a third of what I have been making—but I'll have as much when I get through without all the grief I have been taking." The only trouble with that reasoning lies in the fact that the 15 once employed are now unemployed; the merchants of that town are bereft of $500 a week in business; the federal government is out about $2000 of income tax it has been collecting and the state is out at least $1000 a year in sales tax collections.

When men deliberately set out to earn less so they can have more, that day spells doom for thousands who have depended upon the genius of others for their own incomes.

On the statutes of business there still stands that old law of economics, the law of diminishing returns. It is not to be easily repealed.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

YOUR VITAL FUNCTIONS

The toughest portions of our bodies are the organs directly concerned with keeping the body alive. The heart, kidneys, lungs, stomach and the visual system represent the vital functions. These are the toughest fortresses to break down for, with these held, the body can make shift to stay alive. So we find them highly resistant to fatigue, disease, wear and tear. Think of the ceaseless activities involved in their functioning!

When you have any functional derangement manifesting itself in any of the vital activities of your life, you are being warned of great stresses, life-threatening in their nature, else they would never have shown themselves in the stoutest units of your body. So you may realize the importance of visual symptoms to your welfare and success. They never would have occurred unless your "organismic" pattern had been put under heavy pressure. Too few of us realize that the seeing mechanism is one of the basic vital functions of life.

Follow Footsteps of Parents

Mrs. Addie Field with her brother, Dick Pinckney of Toledo, and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Devlin of Los Angeles, California, left Wednesday for the coast, making the trip by auto, they will travel over the same route which Mr. Pinckney and Mrs. Field, in company with their parents and brothers, made 64 years ago. At that time they went from Michigan to Salt Lake City by train. From there they traveled the rest of the way to Virginia City, Montana by wagon train. They encountered a great many difficulties, such as snow twenty feet deep. Hay and grain was very scarce for their horses. They paid as high as $30 a ton for hay. Nights were spent within Indian camps along the way. The trip of 400 miles took 28 days. They expect to find things changed a great deal. But nevertheless are hoping to find the cabin in the foot hills where they lived. Their father had two gold mines which he was working at that time. They have long been closed. Mr. Pinckney is planning to make his home in Los Angeles with his daughters, Mrs. Devlin and Mrs. Brooks. Mrs. Field will spend some time with her nieces and also her grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Osborn formerly of this place.—South Lyon Herald.

All State Funds Squandered By Present Administration — New Funds Necessary To Feed Hungry

Wild Spree Of Job Holders Comes To Sorrowful End

By Gene Alleman

LANSING—The state cupboard is bare at Lansing, and so Governor Frank Murphy, in the chosen role of Michigan's "Mother Hubbard", is calling the legislature to meet late this month for another special session, the second since his inauguration.

The governor's predicament is not the source of rejoicing among democratic leaders. In fact, the governor has been warned repeatedly by important party advisers from Senator Prentiss Brown down to county chairmen that a special session in a campaign year would be injurious to his re-election chances. It's a pretty mess for all concerned.

Consider the situation. The state legislature appropriated in 1937 the grand and staggering sum of $122,000,000, while expected tax revenues at that time tallied to $104,000,000—a mere deficiency of $18,000,000.

Before legislators grabbed their hats and rushed home, the governor obtained executive authority to trim appropriations. Hopes were entertained temporarily that the budget could be balanced.

In spreading public benefits here and there, distribution of wealth that is popular with the masses, the legislature managed to create new agencies and to load new responsibilities on the state government. Result: More jobs, bigger payroll.

According to records of Budget Director Harold Smith, state payrolls for the first 18 months of the present administration were $9,420,284 higher than in the comparable period of the previous administration. If our arithmetic is right, this sum is around 50 percent of the anticipated deficit even on the expectation that the state would collect $104,000,000 taxes.

Of course, the legislature could not know that we would be plagued by another business decline—known as "the recession". Instead of the state collecting $104,000,000 in revenues, it will

New Air Chief

Edward J. Noble is chairman of the five-man civil aeronautics authority which will take charge Monday August 22 of all American civil aviation under the McCarran-Lea bill passed by the last session of congress. The commission marks an important milestone in the progress of commercial aviation, absorbing the burden of air commerce and cancelling jurisdiction over rates and standards heretofore exercised by five other government agencies.

Relief rolls grew rapidly despite the aid of the federal government in assuming a major share through WPA and other work projects. The state's welfare appropriation for two years, starting July 1 of last year, is now at the vanishing point.

Quoting Governor Murphy in a press article: "The state is going to need between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 between now and next March for welfare. It's a question of whether I should do something or nothing about it. I have decided to do something, but in so doing I am mindful of my friends' warnings that it may mean the end of me politically."

To raise $8,000,000 or more, the legislature must enact additional taxes.

It is the governor's view that these special levies should function only during the "emergency". And it is quite obvious that special taxes, if imposed a few months before election, should be as "painless" as possible—the hidden variety which you pay without being conscious of it. A state income tax is "out", the governor says.

The sales tax of 3 percent could be raised one-third to 4 cents, and even with the increased sales resistance, it would be reasonably easy to keep every unemployed family on the public relief rolls. Michigan's gasoline tax is 3 cents, as compared with 4 cents in Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New York, Wisconsin, and Minnesota—to mention a few of the nearby states. As Michigan received in 1936 a total of $25,735,000, the money-raising possibility is easy to understand.

The petroleum tax bill has grown to $1,200,000,000 a year from the $130,250,000 paid in 1922, an increase of more than 800 percent as against a general tax increase of 21 percent.

What effect the legislative special session will have on the November election is a topic of lively speculation.

If a majority view of the democratic leaders is borne out, an extra session and new taxes will not help Murphy's chances for re-election. There is a movement under way, perhaps in anticipation of this reaction, to get President Roosevelt to include Michigan on his October speaking tour.

Republican legislators, many of whom are candidates for re-election, will try to overcome the handicap of absence from their bailiwicks before the primary by making fiery speeches and thus providing "front page copy" for the voters back home.

Some democratic strategy accents believe that Murphy's move is cleverly designed to put the Republican majority in the Senate "on the spot". Can the republicans afford to take an anti-relief position by voting against $8,000,000 or more for public welfare? We surmise that the administration will have little difficulty in getting the welfare appropriation. Republican opposition will probably center on how the money is going to be raised.

Thus we come to the crux of the whole matter. Who is going to foot the bill? This is the real question today!

BEFORE the time when people acquired individual names they were known simply by the symbol of their tribe or clan. This symbol was usually an animal, as for instance, the lion, and the people of that tribe which had adopted the lion as their symbol were known merely as Lion. They put the lion on clothing, bodies, cooking utensils, anything belonging to them much as we would write our name on our personal possessions. Each tribe had its own pole on which was carved their "totem" or "family token" by which they were known.

Trains Dogs To Use Of Harness

John Thorpe, a 15-year-old high school lad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Thorpe, residing at 300 South Mill street, knows how to train dogs.

A lover of dogs of all kinds, he has been able to train a team of mongrels to the harness and cart as thoroughly as any horse trainer ever prepared a colt for the harness.

The boy for a number of days past has been driving about the streets a team of mongrel dogs hitched to a wagon. They obey him much better than some horses do their drivers.

One dog is named "Shep" and the other "Flash". He trained "Shep" to the harness a number of years ago, but "Flash" is a new dog.

"But it only took a little over a week to make him a good mate for Shep," said the lad the other day. Not only has he trained the dogs, but he made the harness and the wagon equipment. No boy ever had more enjoyment out of any activity than John does in driving his dog team. He does it without the use of whip or harsh words.

Dr. Douglas Wins High Honor

Election of Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, Detroit, as president of the American Sanatorium association was pointed out this week by the Michigan Tuberculosis association as one of the highlights of the National Tuberculosis association's recent annual meeting at Los Angeles, California. Dr. Douglas is also president of the Michigan Tuberculosis association.

Regarding discussions at the annual meeting, the association reported that eminent physicians who lectured, agreed that tuberculosis case-finding must be built more and more around the examination of contacts—people who have been exposed to an active case of tuberculosis. In Michigan the association has been concentrating its Christmas seal chest X-ray clinics on the examination of residents who have been in close association with a case of tuberculosis. Only by thorough examination through modern weapons of discovery can the White Plague, often resulting in loss of life and tremendous expense, be eventually wiped out, it was explained.

Emphasis was placed, too, on the importance of rehabilitation in tuberculosis control. With thousands of cured tuberculosis patients discharged annually from sanatoriums, the problem of re-building their capacity for self-support was noted as worthy of the attention of both industries and tuberculosis associations. It was pointed out that a greater future coordination between industries and tuberculosis associations for the prevention of tuberculosis, as well as for the employment of cured patients, is needed.

Quitting-Time

Quitting-time—and out the door
To the street, the workers pour.
Some look happy, some do not;
Some with troubles all forgot—
While some other faces show
That their troubles with them go.
Homeward bound to house or room—
Homeward bound, to joy or gloom!

Quitting-time—and down the street
Go the light and heavy feet.
Some folks young and bright with hope,
Other shuffling down the slope,
Merely floating with the stream,
Too old, now, to plan and dream.
Quitting-Time—and may it bring
Hours in which your heart may sing!

The class of 1910 was entertained Saturday evening by the Misses Hazel Smitherman and Gladys Passaga at the home of the latter. Until this year this class has held the record as the largest, and it has the distinction of being the only one to give a class memorial to the school. That the old loyalty still exists was shown by the fact that, all but five of the class were present.

They can buy the necessities and many of the non-essentials of life, and you accomplish that which we desire, the injection of enough money into trade to force business to re-employ men to maintain production with demand.

With all over $100 these elderly people, American agents of prosperity—will be able to buy better food, more and better clothing, good housing, automobiles, new furniture, and medical and dental care, as well as a myriad of other things which Americans require.

Their purchases would result in an immediate speed-up of industry, a demand for agricultural products such as milk, beef, grain, cotton, fruits and vegetables, and the necessity for the use of every distributing system in the nation to carry these added products to the consumer.

Every industry and every trade would feel, almost immediately, the results of this great consumer demand, this increase of purchasing power. Men, long unemployed, would be called back to shop and to office, to railroad and field and within a short time their own re-established purchasing power would result in the greatest prosperity the nation has ever known.

What Townsend Says About Debt

The Townsend club says the following about the national deficit:

Our government is now paying approximately eight millions of people, who are on relief or federal works projects, an average of $65 each month. This great outlay of money from the Federal Treasury has caused a deficit which will reflect upon the taxes of our grandchildren. That amount placed in circulation each month has not brought any measure of recovery. Why? Because these indigents and project workers receive enough to buy only the barest necessities. They purchase the cheapest clothing, the poorest food, the shabbiest dwellings possible. They live as peons, and no one with intelligence can deny this.

To give elderly people a similar sum would be a further drag upon business, and would not in any way stimulate industry and trade. More poverty, more penance would be the result. On the other hand, give these people a large enough sum with which

YOUR OIL FREE (UP TO THE FULL MARK) - IF I FORGET TO CHECK IT

IT'S MIGHTY IMPORTANT that you always have enough oil in your engine. If you don't, you're headed for trouble.

To save you grief, all of us Shell dealers listed below make you this proposition:

Drive into one of our stations. If we don't check your oil—AUTOMATICALLY—we'll bring your oil level right up to the full mark FREE OF CHARGE.

We will put in our Golden Shell Oil, too... the oil that's been refined especially for today's stop-and-go driving.

Maybe you never knew that stop and go calls for a certain kind of motor oil. Well, it does—and here's the reason why...

You average ten cold starts a day. If your oil is sluggish and slow-flowing, one start can cause as much wear as fifty miles of steady running.

Golden Shell changes all this. It's fast-flowing. The second you step on your starter, Golden Shell coats each engine part with a tough oil film that does not break down... even under the heat of your steady running. In fact—

There's no finer oil at any price than Golden Shell.

16 Runs Scored In One Inning 58 Minutes Long

Schrader-Haggerty Beats Perfection By 25-5 Count

Baseball fans who crowded the Riverside park diamond sidelines to see Schrader-Haggerty play Perfection Laundry last Sunday got their money's worth all in one inning. In the sixth inning, a hitting marathon started.

Before the inning was over, three Perfection pitchers had used the mound, trying vainly to stop a batting spree which continued until the Schrader-Haggerty sluggers had scored 16 runs.

The one inning lasted 58 minutes. There was a home run and a wide assortment of runs, three-baggers, two baggers, base hits and walks.

Debozy pitched the entire game for Schrader-Haggerty, which won by a score of 25 to 5. Perfection failed to mark up a hit after the fifth inning. Debozy had a good day all around, as he also got three hits out of five times at bat.

The first four teams in the two divisions of the league will go into play-offs following season-end league games scheduled for Sunday. Schrader-Haggerty will play Northville Sunday in Riverside park, where a pitchers' battle is expected to attract a good crowd.

Play-offs next week in the first division appeared certain to include Schrader-Haggerty, Inkster, Garden City and Cresskill. In the second division play-off contenders were in doubt, as the race was so close that it was not expected to be settled until after the final league games had been played Sunday.

Schrader-Haggerty and Perfection were scheduled to meet again Thursday at the Northville fair, the winner to play at the fair Saturday against the winner of the Northville-River Rouge game scheduled at the fair today (Friday).

The intermediate division started late but as time went on the interest increased and now as the season is near an end and the play-offs are taking place the teams are lined up so that the play-offs should be as exciting as the senior division's.

Many See Night Blooming Flower

Neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Robison, 884 Pennman avenue, Monday evening had the pleasure of seeing five beautiful blossoms of the rare night-blooming cereus. But, unfortunately, Mr. and Mrs. Robison, after six weeks of painstaking care of the plant, were away from home the night that it bloomed so beautifully.

The blossoms are exceptionally large, resembling a waterlily, the petals are pure white and the stamens of the flower is a beautiful thing in itself, one of them being starlike in shape. It has a sweet odor similar to the waterlily. The blooms are formed from a little stem that grows from the side of the leaves of the plant. It is a member of the cactus family and blooms only once in six years at night-time.

Three-Run Hit Disqualified In Girls' Game

Batter Fails To Touch First Base After Hard Clout

The all-star girls' softball contest Monday night, which drew an audience of about 250 persons, ranks on a par with the famous football game in which the ball carrier became excited and ran the wrong way.

In the third inning, the Leaders-Alumni aggregation had two players on base and two out. The winning runs, as it proved later, were in the hands of the batter.

The batter, Marion Shoebright, connected with a fast ball and smashed it against the horizon for one of the longest home runs ever seen in the park.

But it was not to be. "Casey," it was true, had not struck out, but something as disastrous as the action in the famous baseball poem had taken place. The three runs were disqualified because the home-run batter failed to touch first base in the excitement.

The Thelma-Midgits team won the contest 8 to 6. The winners, although outlit 15 to 9, produced hits when needed to score runs, while the Leaders-Alumni put more runners on base but left 12 of them stranded.

The winners tallied six errors to three for the losers. The teams were captained by Dorothy Bassett and Miss Shoebright.

Outstanding work was accomplished by the rival first basemen, Frances Williams and Dorothy Barnes, who time after time came through with big-time stops of badly thrown balls.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST Scientist. Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00. "Mind" will be the subject of three lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 21. The Golden Text, (Job 38: 5), is "Behold, God is mighty, and despoth not any; he is mighty in strength and wisdom." Among the Bible citations in this passage (Rom. 11: 33): "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!" Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 275): "Divine metaphysics, as revealed to spiritual understanding, shows clearly that all is Mind, and that Mind is God, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience, that is, all power, all presence, all Science. Hence all is in reality the manifestation of Mind."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH. "Be instant in season, out of season." The ideal for minister and church alike, in regard to the proclamation of the gospel message. The church has a distinctive mission definitely commanded by the Lord and Savior himself, the salvation of sinful men. Dare we be false to that mission? We welcome any and all to our services. Morning service, 10 o'clock; Bible school, 11:30; young people's hour, 6:30; evening service, 7:30; prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30. In the absence of the pastor, T. H. Shinn will speak at the morning service. Clinton Postiff will speak at the evening service, and Silas Mattinson at the Wednesday evening prayer service. Another ear mark of the closing of this age will be the thought men will be "lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God." 2 Tim. 3: 4. Take a look at the places of amusement on Sunday night and then look at the churches, even in our own fair city, and see if God's word is not coming true. Bull's Eye No. 1. In order for you to "hide behind" the hypocrite you must be smaller yourself.

Cooper School Reunion Aug. 28

Students of the "Old Cooper School", corner of Middle Belt and Ann Arbor Trail, are going to hold their annual reunion at the school on Sunday, August 28, according to a notice just sent out by Margaret Kubic, secretary of the organization.

There will be a potluck dinner at noon for the homecomers, and at 2:00 o'clock the program will take place. Following the program ice cream will be served. But the notice sent out was considerably more than a mere notice. The secretary prepared the following poem about the school homecoming:

Our homecoming day has been set for this year,
The time and the place in our minds is still clear.
We just hope to meet every old friend out there
Regardless of creed or the color of hair
Oh, come where we first learned life's golden rule,
To the scenes of our childhood and
The old Cooper School.

We are scattered about like ships out at sea,
But often in dreams my thoughts are of thee;
So try and come back and be with us this day
Let us talk old times over, just laugh, sing or play
We will view the old landmarks, the old swimming hole
The place of sweet memories—
Our old Cooper School.

Poor Old Starving Michigan

AN EDITORIAL

By H. S. Babcock, Editor of The Alma Record

You know I was born in Michigan more than seventy years ago, and I have always thought it was a pretty good state in which to live. I have seen it develop through the years until it had more first things than any other state in the union including the manufacture of automobiles, for in Michigan three out of every four high grade cars produced in the entire world are built.

I have also seen it produce the latest approved style of sit down strike which has wrecked the automobile business and thrown millions of people out of work. Therefore, I have seen my share of development in Michigan.

And through all this time I have never dreamed what a scabby, undernourished, half starved state I lived in, until I got a large envelope from the Michigan Unemployment Commission the other day, which contained a bulletin marked No. 511, which had the following inscription in cap letters: "RADIO ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR FRANK MURPHY, UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION BROADCAST, STATION WJR, DETROIT, MICH., JUNE 30TH, 1938, INTRODUCED BY CHAIRMAN FRANK A. PICARD, MICHIGAN UNEMPLOYMENT COMMISSION."

Now this was a fair sounding title to be sure, so I turned with interest to a perusal of the document and on page 2 of Mr. Picard's introductory speech I found a most interesting as well as astounding statement. I quote it, word for word.

"Frank Murphy is not only an idealist—he gets results. For a number of months past the newspapers of this state have been informing the public in their editorials that Michigan was paying too much money in taxes to Washington for what Michigan was getting out of it. So, taking them seriously, Frank Murphy went to Washington. Let us assume the newspapers sold him, and strange as it may seem, he was able to sell Washington, because he came back with not only over a hundred million dollars in wages for the people of Michigan—BUT HE ALSO WITHIN THE LAST WEEK BROUGHT THIRTY MILLION TONS OF FOOD FOR THOSE WHO ARE ON RELIEF AND 5,000,000 LBS. OF MILK FOR UNDERNOURISHED CHILDREN.

"But I have looked in vain in the editorial columns of those newspapers for one bit of a compliment to THIS GOVERNOR WHO IS ABLE TO DO WHAT NO OTHER GOVERNOR BEFORE HIM COULD DO—AND WHAT NO OTHER GOVERNOR IN THE OTHER FORTY-SEVEN STATES OF THE UNION CAN DO—and I have looked for, but have not found one word of praise. And so for fear it might escape your people's notice, I am recalling it to you tonight: FRANK MURPHY GETS THINGS FOR MICHIGAN."

Well here is one newspaper which is prepared to comment upon this most astounding achievement, and give all the praise that is due. Referring to that thirty million tons of food that Murphy brought into Michigan in one week here are the indisputable facts.

A ton of food weighs 2,000 pounds and two thousand times thirty million amounts to sixty billion pounds. Now the latest census of Michigan gives the entire population as 4,842,325 persons, and to be sure that I have not omitted a single person from this estimate, I will assume that the present population is now an even 5,000,000 people, for it would be just too bad to leave anyone out, you know.

It follows then that sixty billion, divided by five million, equals 12,000, hence according to Mr. Picard's public and published statement, Murphy brought 12,000 pounds of food into Michigan for every man, woman and child in the state which equals six tons for every single person, babies and all, an outrageous statement for any man to make.

Now the average carload of food weighs about twenty-five tons, but for convenience and so that there can be no misunderstanding or under-estimate of the weight, I am granting that it weighs thirty tons. Hence again dividing thirty million by thirty, we find that it must have taken a million freight cars to bring that food into Michigan on that memorable week, and boys and girls, a million car loads of food coming into Michigan in one week, is some feat for any state's governor to perform in any country.

Mr. Picard therefore made one strictly truthful statement when he said, "This governor is able to do what no other governor before him could do—and what no other governor in the other forty-seven states in the union can do."

I rise to remark, therefore, that no other man in this state or any other of the forty-seven states of the union would have the bald headed effrontery to make this kind of a statement about any governor and expect anyone to believe it and Murphy heard the statement and neither denied nor corrected it. If you have not received your allotted tons of food, I would advise you to call up either one of these men who will be perfectly frank about it and send it right over, for by this reckoning, a family of five should get 30 tons and a family of ten, 60 tons, by the next mail. If you don't believe it, ask Frank.

To be sure this may cause you some inconvenience in regard to storage space, for it would take quite some time for any family to consume that amount of food, however, my advice is the same as that of many others in these days, "you had better get while the getting is good" if you have tons of produce spoil in the process of distribution, just call it an incident not worth mentioning, and hold out your hands for more. And on no account should you be guilty of trying to solve any of your own problems or produce any of your own food any more, it's just too hard work. Why worry when Frank says you have thirty million tons of food coming in a million freight cars.

The World Almanac of 1937 gives the number of locomotives in the U.S. as 49,541, freight cars 1,867,381. Assuming that there are 50,000, it took all the locomotives in the United States, each drawing twenty cars of food (just over half the freight cars) to make that remarkable delivery to poor old starving Michigan.

What in the world will the farmers do with the food they raise while we are eating six tons apiece that is given to us by our generous governor.

If one word of the statement made by Picard and approved by Murphy is true, why in the name of common sense is it necessary for the governor to call a special session of the legislature to tax the people for ten million dollars more when he has already shipped into Michigan six tons of food for each man, woman and child, brought in a hundred million in cash, and five million pounds of milk? "My friends," laugh that off if you can.

NO CHANCE FOR ARGUMENT

A YOUNG MAN AT COLLEGE WHO WENT broke playing poker, wired his father as follows: "Am on the hog; wire me fifty dollars quick." To this father wired back: "Am short of ready cash; ride the hog back home, we need the pork." If you will look over our stock of lumber, you'll find every desirable size and kind; we measure it with the Golden Rule, and will sell you one piece or a carload.

There will be no chance for argument this winter if you fill your coal bin now at low summer prices. Take our advice—you'll be glad you did when prices advance.

But It's True

LETTER
IN THE MAIL 33 YEARS DELIVERED TO FREDERICK BENT OF CLEVELAND, OHIO, IN 1932...

THE TWO-LEGGED DOG WHICH WALKS LIKE A CHICKEN (THE LEGS ARE IN THE MIDDLE OF ITS BODY.)

THE ONLY PLACE IN THE UNITED STATES WHERE THE AMERICAN FLAG IS ALLOWED BY LAW TO FLY AT NIGHT IS OVER THE GRAVE OF FRANKIE SCOTT KEY IN MARYLAND...

JOSEPH BURNES, BORN IN NEW YORK, IS NOW A JAPANESE SUBJECT.

The letter to Mr. Bent was written by Harvey Smith and was mailed in Dayton, Ohio, in 1899. There was never an adequate explanation as to the delay. Mr. Bent had moved from the address used on the envelope, but still lived in Cleveland, and does yet.

The purpose of the exception, as far as Francis Scott Key's grave is concerned, is to make true always the line in Key's "Star-Spangled Banner": "Gave proof through the night that the flag was still there." Byrnes, in business in Tokyo for the last 22 years, became a subject of the Emperor in 1933.

Old D.U.R. Workers To Hold Picnic

"Come one, come all" that's the cry of the D.U.R. boys who are taking charge of the second annual all-day picnic to be held by the Flint Division of the D.U.R. at the Avon township park at Rochester, Sunday, August 21. Several hundred people are expected to attend, and of course the friends and families of the D.U.R. boys are invited to come. Many former D.U.R. workers in Plymouth are planning to attend.

August 21 will be a great day for Rochester as people are expected here from Ohio, Illinois, Canada and various parts of Michigan to attend this annual outing.

Probably the greatest attraction of the day will be a basket lunch at noon and there will be lots of good things to eat. Many are planning to come early in the morning and spend the day in beautiful Avon park, located along the banks of Paint Creek on the west side of town. The youngsters as well as their elders may enjoy the refreshing waters of the swimming pool in the park.

And the kiddies must not forget there will be refreshments during the day and they will have an opportunity to do things, eat ice cream and see what the park has to offer in the way of amusement.

One thing of importance which must be mentioned is the cards which have been sent out and which read "This card must be presented at gate." This was only done for the protection of out-of-town people who are coming and perhaps will not be recognized by the gatekeeper. It means nothing else, so come one, come all. Don't stay away because you didn't get a card. Remember everyone is invited to the outing, the biggest thing Rochester will see for some time.

John T. Flynn, financial writer: "The depression has not made itself felt on the farm as emphatically as in the cities."

Antelopes vary in size to a remarkable degree, some large varieties attaining a height of 6 feet and weighing 1500 pounds, while the smallest kind are little bigger than a rabbit.

Anthony Eden, former British Foreign Secretary: "No true Democrat can feel sympathy for the methods of autocratic states, still less see them reproduced in his country."

This figure is a one-year's average of actual cooking costs in families of three persons, at the rate of 2 1/2 cents (last) per kwhr. The cost of operating your range will vary with the amount of cooking done, and with the use of retained heat and the waterless cooking method.
