

Service Stressed At Convention Of Postmasters

Sessions Attended By Plymouth Postoffice Heads

Service to the public was the keynote of the convention of United States postmasters in St. Paul Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 21, 22 and 23, according to Plymouth Postmaster Frank Learned and Mrs. Beatrice Schultz, assistant postmistress, who attended the sessions.

The score or more heads of departments from Washington, the many attending postmasters who presented addresses at the principal speaker at the convention, Postmaster James Farley, emphasized that the goal of the postoffice department is service and that efficiency and courtesy are essential factors, they said.

Mr. Learned and Mrs. Schultz motored to the convention city in company with Postmaster and Mrs. Fred Van Atta of Northville and Postmaster Mrs. Florence Abbott of Ann Arbor.

One of the principal topics for discussion among the delegates postmasters, they reported, concerned the new regulations for placing postmasters under civil service. Under the terms of the regulation postmasters will take a non-competitive examination upon completion of their terms of office to qualify for civil service.

Heads of each department of the service, such as personnel, rural mail, postal savings, parcel post and others gave lectures on the particular problems of their work and advised the postmasters on best means of increasing their efficiency and service in those respects.

Each morning of the convention was given entirely to the lectures, discussions and other business, and the afternoons and evenings were devoted to entertainment. However, the afternoons were generally left clear for the purpose also of affording an opportunity for visiting postmasters to meet Washington department heads personally and confer on individual problems and methods of bettering local service.

It was also announced that the postoffice department would continue the work of advertising the benefits of the service by such means as the Air Mail Week which proved so successful in Plymouth and nationally this summer.

In this line, the department will sponsor a Write a Letter Week starting October 2 and a Parcel Post Week in December.

In this latter respect, Postmaster Learned pointed out that merchants are neglecting a profit-making and money-saving branch of the postoffice. He remarked that the Plymouth postoffice serves a rural mail area with a radius of 160 miles and over 2,000 residents.

Patrons on the route, he said, could write or telephone Plymouth merchants and receive merchandise by mail the next morning. The cost of transporting goods, he said, amounts only to nine cents for five pounds and 12 cents for 10 pounds of parcel post.

"This is one of the examples of service which the postoffice is able to render in the community as stressed at the convention," Mr. Learned said. "Another example was the advice we received to keep the friendliest and most accommodating postoffice employees behind the counters to meet the public so that the best possible service will be extended to everyone who visits the postoffice."

"The postoffice department wants the public to feel that we are not just selling stamps but we are providing a necessary and efficiently a necessary service, for which the stamp actually is only a receipt."

Masons And Sons To Dine Tonight

Members of Plymouth Rock Masonic lodge 47, F. & A. M., will entertain their sons in a banquet tonight (Friday) which will serve to open the lodge's fall activities.

Fathers and sons who are members of the lodge will be present at the third degree by the Ford Rolling Mill degree team, considered an outstanding team by Plymouth Masons who have seen them put on the work before.

Gullen Talks To Local Rotarians

Through the efforts of Roy Woodworth, Rotarian, last Friday was privileged to hear an address by former assistant prosecutor, George Gullen, of Detroit. The speaker gave the club a complete outline of the Townsend Plan and described its four principles.

He stated that although there are still many features of the plan that have not definitely been cleared there is, at the present time, another country where a similar plan is operating and that country is free from dependents and illiteracy.

Members of the club were privileged to ask the speaker questions concerning the plan after he had finished.

Civic Committee Starts Plans For Hallowe'en Party

Plans for the Plymouth Civic Committee's Hallowe'en celebration were formulated Tuesday night in a meeting at the city hall.

The annual affair, including a parade for youngsters and prizes for contest winners, will be held Monday night, October 31.

The committee in charge, headed by Harry Mumby, expects to take advantage of last year's experience and of the fresh viewpoints of new committee members to make the observance one which will merit as equal the good times at the last children's civic party.

The Hallowe'en celebration is sponsored for the purpose of providing a good time in safety for Plymouth children by the Civic Committee, which provided five topnotch civic entertainments in the last year.

Mumby's general committee in charge of the Hallowe'en party is composed of George A. Smith, Mrs. Robert Willoughby, Mrs. Ed Wilson, Mrs. Nellie Bird, Vaughn Smith and Mrs. F. R. Hobeisel.

Sub-committee chairmen who will handle the various phases of the program are Lewis Evans, in charge of music; John Jacobs, parade; George M. Chute, judges; William L. Goss, prizes; Harry Brown, food; J. R. Cutler, scouts; Harry Lush, films; Dave Taylor, construction; William Wood, finance; Sidney D. Strong, secretary.

These chairmen of sub-committees will meet with the general committee at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the high school to select committee members and to lay detailed plans for the affair.

Plymouth Gardens Improvement Assn Meets Monday Eve.

The Plymouth Gardens Improvement association meeting will be held at Stark school, Monday evening at 8:00 p.m. Candidates will present. A large attendance is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bredin of this city and James Glass of Ann Arbor were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schroder of North Farmington, Sunday.

Ups And Downs Of State Aid For Schools And Activities Debated

Discussion at the meeting of Michigan superintendents of schools at Sault Ste. Marie, September 23-24 centered about two topics, each of which has a bearing on the Plymouth school system, George A. Smith, Plymouth superintendent of schools, who attended the sessions, reported this week.

Praying Bandit Is Arrested In City Church

He Admits Theft Of $63 From Woman At Devotions

Attilio Calarco, 28 years old, of Watertown, New York, pleaded guilty to stealing a purse from a woman who was praying in church when he was arraigned before Municipal Judge John S. Dayton Monday.

Mrs. Peter Mandl, of Plymouth, told Capt. Charles Thumme, who investigated the case, that she was praying in Our Lady of Good Counsel church at 2:30 p.m. last Friday when she suddenly missed her purse which she had placed on the pew beside her.

She made a search, she said, but felt certain that the purse, which contained over $63, had been taken. She asked Edward Parent, of Plymouth, who also was praying in the church, to assist her. Mr. Parent said that he had noticed a man apparently praying directly behind Mrs. Mandl.

Capt. Thumme returned to the church with Mr. Parent, who pointed out a man entering the building and said, "That's the man."

The suspect protested his innocence, but Capt. Thumme took him to the house in which he was staying with a Plymouth man across the street from the church. A search of the suspect's clothing

Woman's Club To Hear Talk By Shanghai Teacher

Guest Day Will Start Fall Program

The first meeting of the fall season of the Woman's Club of Plymouth will be held next Friday, October 7, in the Hotel Mayflower. There will be a luncheon at 1:00 p.m. with a meeting following at 2:15. This will be Guest Day.

Mrs. Christine C. Chambers, of Shanghai, China, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Chambers, who is a teacher of English in the University of Shanghai, is taking a post graduate course at the University of Michigan. She has been a resident of China for the past 25 years and her subject will be "The Present Situation in China in the Light of 25 Years of Progress."

Music will be provided by Doris Hamill, with the violin, and Czarina Penney at the piano. Reservations for the luncheon may be made with your chairman or call Hotel Mayflower on or before Wednesday evening, October 5.

More Members For Townsend Club

Several new members were added to the local club at its meeting, Monday, September 26 in the Grange hall when a very interesting talk was given by Clyde V. Fenner of Detroit.

Boy Scouts See Football Game

Troop No. 3 attended the Michigan State-Wayne football game last Saturday. This game, the fifth game, Troop 3 has attended, is the game of which all Scouts are guests of Michigan State college.

Arriving at East Lansing at 11:30 a.m. a brief tour of the campus was conducted without guides. The game started at 2:00 p.m. and the whole south side of the stadium was filled with Scouts.

The game was a very exciting one. The trip back to Plymouth was very enjoyable as every boy tried to out-do his fellow Scout in telling Scout tales.

City-Northville Singers Form Mixed Chorus

Performances Are Planned Later In Year

In many countries, notably Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland and Wales singing societies for mixed voices have for centuries formed an important part of community life. Some of these choruses have been in continuous existence for 300 years or more. They sing for enjoyment and the many health benefits derived as well as for its cultural benefits.

Here, in this country, we, too, are becoming increasingly conscious of the many advantages of singing. Scarcely is there a village that hasn't now some serious effort made to study and sing good music by a group of its inhabitants. Plymouth and Northville have the good fortune to be the residences of many talented people who have for years interested themselves in group singing. Among these has been an association of men from the two towns and including some from Wayne and Detroit which have met regularly each week at the Northville high school for the past five years as the Northville-Plymouth male chorus.

For some time it has been felt by the majority, that due to the meagerness of music literature written exclusively for male voices and the fact that mixed voices are more adaptable to proper interpretation of chorus compositions the society should be re-organized as a mixed chorus.

This has now been accomplished. Two rehearsals have been held with satisfying results. This is, of course, not a commercial venture, but one solely for enjoyment. However, a little later in the season some public appearances will be made. The membership is as follows: Miss Carol Campbell, Mrs. (Continued on Page Six)

Golf Tournament Ends In Tie

Plymouth's first professional-amateur golf tournament was termed a complete success this week by Bill Rambo, manager of the Plymouth Country Club.

He announced that the matches ended in a tie for first place with the team of Chuck and Emery Kocis standing off the team of John and Woody Mallory with a best ball of 62.

The home team of Bill Fishlock and Harry Fitzpatrick took third place with a 63. Five other teams tied for remaining places with a score of 66.

The teams were composed of "Gobby" Lorenz and John Lock, Bill and Jim Lock, Eddie Kirk and Doug Orr, Ed Matheson and Ted Powers, and Cliff McGrew and Stan Hancock.

Following the tournament it was voted to make the exhibition an annual affair. Twenty-six persons competed in the matches which were held last Sunday. A large crowd followed the players about the course.

To Seek Clothing For Children

Through the activities of the Plymouth Ex-Service Men's club, residents of this city and vicinity will be given an opportunity to aid needy school children with clothing. It has been found that there are many children attending school who are greatly in need of shoes and clothing. Some are not even attending school because of lack of clothing. Commander Howard Eckles of the club states that full details of the drive will appear in next week's issue of The Plymouth Mail. But now is the time to look around and see if there is any clothing in your possession that you will be able to donate to the little boys and girls who need it.

Dog Quarantine Is Lifted After Storm Of Protest

Wayne Hunters Cheer Action As Season Nears

When an irresistible protest meets a situation declared for weeks to be unchangeable, what happens? Plymouth sportsmen chortled this week that the situation takes a quick about-face.

Such proved to be the case with the Wayne county dog quarantine, which John B. Strange, commissioner of agriculture, said two weeks ago was impossible to lift.

Plymouth hunters joined with thousands of others in protesting that there might just as well not be a bird hunting season this year if hunting dogs were not to be permitted to leave their kennels.

Mr. Strange capitulated to the popular demand a week ago Wednesday and admitted that the quarantines could be lifted if there was a demand for the action. On Tuesday of this week the quarantine was lifted from Wayne county.

Previously quarantines had been lifted for about six others of the 17 counties under the ban. It appeared that most of the quarantines would be lifted where there was any demand for such action on the part of the public.

With the ban on hunting dogs removed, sportsmen prepared to greet the opening of the bird season tomorrow in the Upper Peninsula and on October 15 in this area.

Kiwanis Club Will Sponsor Charity Shoot

Firing To Start Monday, October 10, Officials Announce

"Shoot for charity" is the battle cry of Plymouth Kiwanis these days of the annual charity shoot. The Kiwanians who are arranging details for the annual battle of the sharpshooters for best marksmen in the city.

Proceeds of the matches will go into the organization's fund to help underprivileged children in Plymouth and for other humanitarian projects in the district.

The gun shoot will be held this year at the Sharpshooters' club, 641 Main street. The opening of targets will start Monday, October 10, which has been designated as open or practice night.

On the following four nights, city target experts will attempt to wrest the individual shooting championship from Lon Brockelhurst.

Brockelhurst has won The Plymouth Mail silver loving cup, symbolic of Plymouth's championship marksman, for two consecutive years. Consensus of opinion is that he will retain the honors again this season.

Kiwanians anticipate that interest in the shoot will be higher this year than last, when about 350 persons participated in the shoot.

Attend Meeting Of Business Girls' Club

Miss Jean Jason and Miss Mildred Stoddard, members of the Business & Professional Girls' club of the Y.W.C.A., attended the open house dinner last Thursday evening with Mrs. Paul J. Stoddard as their guest.

Miss Jason and Miss Stoddard have been active in Y.W.C.A. work and Miss Stoddard held the office of president of the Business & Professional Girls club council until just recently when she resigned taking permanent residence in Plymouth.

Miss Jason and Miss Stoddard expect to attend meetings as often as possible on Thursday nights and hope to attend some of the weekly Friday night dances sponsored by the club department.

Welfare Problem Discussed By Wm. J. Norton

Out-County Supervisors Here For Meeting

William J. Norton, chairman of the Michigan Emergency Relief commission and for many years one of Michigan's outstanding social leaders, spoke in Plymouth last Thursday night before supervisors from the various townships and cities of Wayne county outside the city of Detroit, upon the proposed welfare re-organization bills that will be on the election ballot this fall.

Regarded as one of the best informed public officials upon matters pertaining to a problem that has come to be one of the major issues of the present day, the 15 or more township supervisors and city officials were especially interested in his version of the welfare situation.

County Auditor Edward H. Williams, Mayor John Carey of Dearborn and State Representative E. R. Eaton of Plymouth were among others asked by Chairman William Van Moll for a brief discussion of the problem.

Mr. Norton interestingly reviewed the beginning of the care of the indigent and of the need for an entirely different system than has prevailed in past years, especially since "business recessions" have thrown such vast numbers of people out of employment.

Mr. Norton thought that the so-called welfare re-organization bills were a step in the right direction. He stated that needed corrections could be made at the forthcoming session of the legislature, providing they were approved by the voters.

County Auditor Williams and Representative Eaton briefly discussed the taxation problems confronting Wayne county. The informal talks were followed by a general discussion. The meeting took place in the Presbyterian church, where dinner was served to the visitors.

Renews Subscription To Plymouth Mail For The 46th Time

Wednesday morning Frank Sieting, well known farmer residing on the Schoolcraft road, renewed the family's subscription to The Plymouth Mail for the 46th year. It was back the days when Editor Steers, founder of the paper more than half a century ago, was publishing The Mail when the Sieting family first started to take the "home paper." Not an issue has been missed since that date.

"It's just one thing we can't get along without. We like all the news about our friends and we like to know what is going on about here. The best of all I like it's 'for sale' column. There I have anything to sell, that's one place where I know I can find a buyer," stated Mr. Sieting.

D. A. R. Discuss Plans For Year

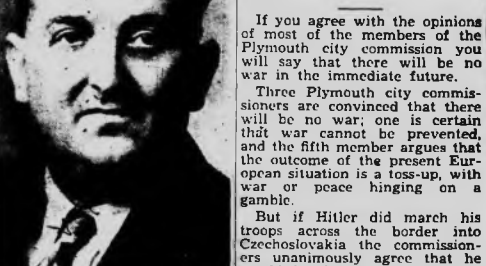

The first regular meeting of the season of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter, D.A.R., was held on Monday, September 19, at the home of Mrs. L. Brant Warner, North Harvey street. The attendance was good and those present were well repaid for coming.

The paper by Russell Kirk on "Jeffersonian Democracy" presented an exceptionally clear picture of the Democracy of Thomas Jefferson's dreams, and a graphic comparison of that ideal with the current ideas of Democracy in this country, with a course in various events and influences which, through the years, caused complications and changes.

Commissioners Unworried By War Clouds; Majority Say Peace Will Triumph Even If Demands Are Refused

"Ben" Dinkgrave Dies Suddenly

No War, Say Three; Another Disagrees; One On Fence

BERNARD DINKGRAVE

Following an illness of but three weeks, Bernard Dinkgrave, founder and owner of the Pennington Market on Pennington avenue, died early Thursday morning in Ford hospital in Detroit from a heart ailment. His death came as a surprise to his host of friends in Plymouth as it had been reported that he was on the road to recovery.

He was 45 years of age. Most of his life had been spent in the grocery business. He came to Plymouth some ten years ago as manager of the Wolf store and two years ago he took over his own place of business.

His only son, William, will continue the store. The funeral will be held Monday from the home, 15400 Cruse avenue, just east of Fenkel. The Pennington Market will be closed all day Monday.

During his career in Plymouth Mr. Dinkgrave made a host of warm friends. He was intensely interested in the grocery retail business and was regarded as one of the state's best known grocers. Burial will take place in Westlawn cemetery. Besides the son, a widow survives.

Maccabees Honor Older Members

Next regular meeting of the Plymouth hive of Maccabees will be held October 5, with the Junior Court called to order the same afternoon, at which time dancing lessons will be resumed by Maxine Willard.

Miss Willard presented two solo dances to entertain the roll call and get-together of 60 members of the order Wednesday evening, September 21.

The meeting was featured by a number of activities, following a banquet. The Guard team exemplified its drill.

Special honor was paid to several of the older members, including Anna McKeever, Ella Glympe, Jessie Terry, Anna Wright, Lena Willcutt and Carrie Hillmer in the form of a short play after which they were presented with corsages of roses. Two candidates also were inducted.

The comedy installation, in full regalia, of the newly elected officers of the Guards brought to a close the first meeting of the fall season.

The guards also will meet at 5:30 on October 5 with a pot-luck supper to which all members of the hive are invited to attend.

Chief of Police Vaughan Smith issued an appeal to Plymouth parents this week to have their children refrain from riding bicycles at night, especially in the downtown area.

He pointed out that the practice is a threefold menace, in that it is dangerous to pedestrians, motorists and the bicyclists themselves.

"Many of the bicycles have no lights," Chief Smith said, "and in the dusk they are not easily discernible to persons walking on the sidewalks or to motorists. And a bicycle pedaled by a husky youngster is as difficult for a person to dodge as an automobile."

"Last Saturday night there were 20 or more children riding bicycles in the downtown area. Many of them carried no lights and many of them were riding on the sidewalks, which is strictly against the law."

Do you think that the world will be plunged into war next week? Do you think that Hitler will carry out his threat to invade Czechoslovakia if his terms are not met before midnight Saturday? Or do you just believe that the German dictator is bluffing? If you agree with the opinions of most of the members of the Plymouth city commission you will say that there will be no war in the immediate future. Three Plymouth city commissioners are convinced that there will be no war; one is certain that war cannot be prevented, and the fifth member argues that the outcome of the present European situation is a toss-up, with war or peace hinging on a gamble. But if Hitler did march his troops across the border into Czechoslovakia the commissioners unanimously agree that he would be defeated by the tiny nation's allies although the struggle might be a long, drawn-out affair. Only slight sympathy was expressed with the opinion of Hitler's demands, although there was a feeling that his claim to the Sudeten territory had some merit. However, his methods of acquiring Germany's acquisition of the territory were condemned by the city's officials. Here is what Plymouth city commissioners have to say about the possibilities of war: Mayor Henry Honopry says: "I think that Hitler is bluffing. He is trying to scare the world and two years ago he wanted, but he won't go to the extreme of fighting for it. "I do not believe that there will be a war at the expiration of Hitler's deadline for acceptance of his terms for the surrender of the Sudeten land. "But if they do want to fight, let them fight over there; we don't want to be dragged into it." Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple says: "Hitler is not an enthusiastic position. He could have backed down a few weeks ago, but he used bad judgment for once in refusing to take what he could get. France, Great Britain, Russia and the United States have made a firm declaration of policy to the German dictator a month ago. Hitler would not have dared go this far. "Now, however, he could not win a war with the present line-up arrayed against him. He realizes this, but also knows that to back down on his demands would be to lose face with his people. "I believe that Benes, president of Czechoslovakia, is a man of indomitable will and sane judgment, but he also cannot determine yet whether Hitler is intelligent or whether he is ruled by a craze for power. "Whether he leads the world into war is a matter of his intelligence versus his desire to keep face with the German people." Arthur E. Blunk says, "There (Continued on Page Six)

SUPPORT FOR THE DIES INQUIRY

During the last session of congress there was created a committee to investigate the activities of disloyal groups flourishing within our boundaries. Recently some of these agencies have tried to discredit the important work of this congressional group.

The Plymouth Mail is one hundred per cent with the following resolutions recently passed by the Detroit Council of Catholic Organizations. The statement briefly points out one of the serious threats existing in our country.

Whereas, a concerted campaign is being conducted by anti-American groups, particularly Communists, to ridicule and disparage the work of the Dies committee which is investigating un-American activities by authority of the lower house of Congress;

Whereas, the hearings held by this committee have brought out considerable testimony, supported by documentary evidence, on widespread subversive activities aiming at the destruction of the American form of representative government;

Whereas, this committee is performing a patriotic service of the highest order in arousing the citizenry of the imminent dangers confronting our country and government;

Whereas, there is danger that the work of this committee will be hampered, if not frustrated, by the lack of funds supplied by Congress—

Therefore, be it resolved that the Detroit Council of Catholic Organizations wholeheartedly indorses the investigation of the Dies committee in bringing before the public the full extent of un-American and subversive activities, whether Communist or Fascist, and

Be it further resolved that the council considers it the duty of those who will represent Michigan in the new Congress to do everything in their power to have the work of this committee amply financed and brought to a successful conclusion and to see to it that a proper summary of its findings is given to Congress and to the general public.

WHAT IS A LIBERAL?

Democratic Senator Carter Glass who has represented the state of Virginia in the upper house of Congress over a long period, the other day defined a "liberal" as "a man who is willing to spend somebody else's money." With Frank Murphy setting himself up as Michigan's ace liberal, it looks very much as though the Southern Senator knew what he was talking about.

JUST THINKIN' 25 Years Ago

by Charles S. Kinnison

So Futile

A quarrel is a thing that's so futile, Especially one that is mean. And while we are snarling And bitterly quarreling, We poison ourselves with our spleen! And most of the quarrels we indulge in, Are mere Triviality's child— A thing that should shame us, And yet they inflame us To actions and words that are wild! And what is the good we accomplish? I haven't discovered it yet There's no one the gainer— And when we are saner How often our words we regret! The days are too precious to spoil them With bickering, quarreling and strife— For when we are scrapping And snarling and snapping— We also are shortening our life!

of Mr. Wallace's men will now concede privately they do not see how the situation can be worked out next year on the same basis." Another writer declares that this has been the unhappy experience of most farm acts of the past, no matter how sincerely inspired or efficiently administered. Time has again proven the old adage that "self-help is the best help," and that goes for the farmer as well as everyone else. If agriculture looks to political panaceas for permanent benefits, it will be doomed to disappointment. Real farm progress is coming from activities instigated and controlled by the farmers themselves, such as non-political farm marketing cooperatives which apply sound business principles to farm operation, declares a western writer.

ONE SUFFICIENT REASON.

The Communists of Michigan and the nation have endorsed Governor Murphy for re-election in this state. This one fact is sufficient reason for the overwhelming defeat of the Governor.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

SUCCESS

Success has rewarded a young man who lives near Mason. He has long wanted to be on the W.P.A. He landed the job, moved off the farm and on Monday morning drove his car to the rear of the city building where it was loaded with free groceries. He is now satisfied with life. He toils very little, gets more money than he has ever received before and gets his living thrown in. He calls it success, and perhaps he is right about it.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

DOES A PEACOCK LAY EGGS?

One of the favorite forms of pastimes in recent weeks has been the circulation of stories about the examinations given state employes to qualify them under the civil service system. "Does a peacock lay eggs?" is an absurd question which was widely reported to have been asked. Others equally absurd were reported by those wishing to discredit the system and those administering it.

Disturbed by these reports, we last week wrote Stuart H. Perry, of Adrian, former St. Johns publisher and now a member of the Civil Service Commission. Mr. Perry writes:

"The test questions are absolutely germane to the job involved, and there are no 'IQ' questions, trick questions or silly questions. The examinations are based on the questions which have been used for years in civil service examinations in other jurisdictions and EVERY LIST HAS BEEN EXAMINED AND APPROVED BY THE HEAD OF THE DEPARTMENT OR BUREAU IN QUESTION."

Coming from Mr. Perry, a lifelong Republican and a man of recognized ability and prestige, we are inclined to believe him and not the rumors which are emanating from people who have failed in their examinations or others who have a political axe to grind.

Peacocks do NOT lay eggs—if it makes any difference—but gossipers do gossip and liars continue to circulate evil and false rumors.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

GLORIOUS FALL

Michigan's marvelous autumn is about here. We know some people who think it is the most glorious season of the whole year. If we had the time and could afford to do it, we would drive to the northern part of the state just to see its marvelous colorings.—Richard Baldwin in The Northville Record.

A DRAG ON RECOVERY.

Many of us have often wondered why business does not improve as we might expect it to after these long nine years of depression, with all this pump-priming thrown in, but recently we ran across an incident that confirms us in our belief that it is greatly due to high taxes, for every time we pay a dollar in tax it is gone for good and we have left just one dollar less with which to buy the things we need, and the merchant loses a dollar sale, and the worker has a dollar's worth less, in employment, to make the articles left on the shelves.

While we were at the Soo last week, we were struck by the passing of four package freight and passenger steamers through the Canadian locks in one hour, while during the entire stay of three days we saw no such steamer pass through the American locks. Upon investigating and inquiring of a local agent of one of the American steamship companies, we were told that this company has had four large similar steamers, plying between Buffalo and Duluth, tied up at their moorings for the past two years, because the company lost less money having them idle than operating them.

The agent said that the taxes added when the ships were put into operation were about $200,000 greater than when the ships were out of business, which sum was very much greater than the net earnings of these ships could possibly be.

Of course, the company would certainly operate the boats if a profit was to be made in spite of the tax, but under the present conditions the company probably would rather die a slow death than be taxed to death. They may be hoping for a change.

Incidentally, this is only one instance in which many employees are without jobs because of prohibitive taxes, and the many similar cases certainly cause a material drag on recovery.—Adrian Van Kovering in The Zeeland Record.

EFFICIENT SEEING

A Baby's Hand In Yours

Recently there has appeared an advertisement with the chubby hand of a baby resting in the giant hand of an adult and most appealing it is.

More than the baby's hand rests in the mother's or father's—the baby's whole future rests with its parents. No one who has not been through the experience can realize how much parental backing conditions the success of a child in school. We must not forget that the arena of school life duplicates the economic and social demands of adult life.

A literate home, one in which the baby must talk up to its parents, rather than one in which parents talk down to the baby, one where the baby is treated like a human being and not like a lap dog, one where the baby early gains a good vocabulary of living words from the speech of its parents and from the stories that are read to the child—that is grand environment for any baby. Truly, if a normal baby is exposed to such an environment, the early grades of school will show the child has prepared itself normally and naturally to read in school.

We oldsters were taught "readin', ritin' and 'rithmetic" as ends in and of themselves. Today, educators know that the three "R's" are tools with which the child builds its education. No way has been found whereby the schools can educate a child who cannot read. Reading disability frequently starts in the home, but if the visual handicaps (and many times "glasses" have nothing to do with them) are there, it is your duty to know it and see that they are removed before the child has a chance to "fail" in school. Failure in school is too often the forerunner of more complete failure in later life.

The baby's life is in your hands—do take care. A budget plan of easy payments is available for those who desire to take advantage of it.

Plymouth Garden News

This will be the last notice in regard to the Improvement Association's meeting which will be held at Stark school Monday evening at 8:00 p.m. Everyone in Livonia district is welcome to attend this meeting. The candidates who won the last election will be present, so let's have a big turnout.

It seems that our Plymouth Mail item box, which is located on the cigar counter at the McKinney & Schaffer store at Plymouth road and Stark road, isn't meeting the co-operation that is expected of it. We want items of interest, such as short trips, vacations, visitors and evenings spent with friends or relatives outside of Plymouth Garden vicinity. If we don't get news we can't print our column in The Plymouth Mail, and I'm sure most of us would miss this bit of recognition given us by The Mail. Paper and pencil is furnished, it wouldn't take but a minute to write a note and fold it, and put it in the box. No names at the bottom of the items are necessary. Thank you for future co-operation.

Mrs. William Cassell was called back to Pittsburgh very suddenly last week, making her visit with Mrs. Ray Bowser, her sister, very brief. Her return to the East was due to the death of her father-in-law.

Mr. Morris of Stark road has now completed his steam heating plant. His friends and neighbors sincerely hope that he will have no mishaps.

Mrs. J. Sitarz has been spending most of her afternoons and evenings visiting friends and relatives in Detroit while Mr. Sitarz is on his afternoon shift.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Bohi and family spent an enjoyable evening with the Al Ziegler's at their home Wednesday evening.

Stark School News
Work on the new school is progressing nicely. The plastering is nearly complete and a start has been made on the exterior brick work.

Miss Wise and Mrs. Bowser are teaching in the temporary school which we used last year. Half-day sessions are still necessary in three rooms again this year until the new structure is completed.

Stark school is fortunate in having the athletic director that worked here through the summer, continue his services through the softball season this fall. Stark won its last two games, one with Livonia Center and the other with Pierson.

The first P.T.A. meeting of the school year will be held October 6, the first Thursday of the month at 8:00 p.m., Stark school. Let's have a good turn-out.

Motion pictures in color will be shown Friday evening, October 7 at St. Michael's hall, Rosedale Gardens. Rev. Fr. A. J. Sawkins from Toledo, Ohio, priest and world traveler will have charge of the pictures and talk on his travels in various parts of the world and especially Budapest and Palestine.

Rosedale Gardens

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Watts entertained their cousin, Norris Mahar and Ruth and Jean Marshall, of Newberry, Upper Peninsula, for several days last week. They returned home Saturday.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of the Woman's club of the Civic association, held Thursday of last week: Chairman, Mrs. John C. Calhoun; secretary, Mrs. Victor Smale; treasurer, Mrs. William King.

The first dancing party of the Civic association held Saturday evening in the club house, was well attended and according to reports was a complete success. Preceding the dance Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Baker entertained several guests at a cocktail party in their home on Hubbard avenue, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilken, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mitchell, of Rosedale Park and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Alban, of Grosse Pointe. Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Petschulat also were hosts to a group of friends at a similar affair preceding the dance.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Alger Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Cooper, of the Gardens. Milton E. Stover left Sunday, by plane, for New York City to attend the annual convention of Controllers' Institute of America. He returned home Thursday.

Mrs. Earl Rubert and son returned home from Harper hospital Monday.

There will be a rehearsal dinner this (Friday) evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hodson II, on Melrose avenue, for the wedding party of Pollyanna Wright and William Hodson, III, the wedding taking place on Saturday at 4:00 p.m. in the Hodson home.

The many friends of Mrs. J. Chambers of Wixom, formerly of the Gardens, will be sorry to learn that she is critically ill in the Detroit Osteopathic hospital.

Mrs. Robert Porteous, and daughter, Evelyn, Mrs. A. C. Burton and Mrs. Charles Marti attended the benefit luncheon bridge Wednesday of last week for the Cyrus chapter, Eastern Star, held in the McCurphy building in Detroit.

The various groups of the Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church met Wednesday for either luncheon or dessert-luncheon. Mrs. William Taylor's group was entertained at a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Ralph McDowell on Cranston avenue with Mrs. John Perkins, Mrs. E. J. Butlin, Mrs. Ernest Wooster as co-hostesses. Mrs. William Culbertson was hostess to her group at a dessert-luncheon; Mrs. Stafford Francis and Mrs. John E.

Forsyth at a dessert luncheon in the home of the latter on Melrose; Mrs. Russell entertained her group at a dessert luncheon in her home on Blackburn. A business meeting followed the luncheons. Mrs. H. H. Shierk and Mrs. Ralph E. Baker are to be co-hostesses today at a luncheon for the former's group, in the home of Mrs. Baker on Hubbard avenue, the first luncheon of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McDowell and two sons were dinner guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nelson, in Detroit.

Milton Stover and son, Jim, were guests of Charles Doty, of Detroit, at his fishing camp in northern Michigan, from Friday until Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Coon entertained 14 at a family supper party Sunday, guests coming from Redford, Grandale Gardens and Detroit.

Mrs. George E. Fisher and Mrs. John W. Smith, of Detroit, spent last week visiting in Toronto and Hamilton, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burton and son, Winston, spent the latter part of the week in Chicago, Illinois.

The first meeting of the Parent Teachers' association will be open house and will be held in the school on Wednesday evening, October 5, at 8:00 p.m. The business meeting will be followed by a program of music furnished by an accordion trio. A large attendance is desired.

Residents of Rosedale Gardens will find a collection of books in Mack's barber shop at 31435 Plymouth road, which may be borrowed free of charge. Below are the titles of the books listed: "America's Sixty Families," by Ferdinand Lundberg; the author discusses the effects of the domination of these families upon government and economic conditions of the country, and suggests remedies; "The Land of Wales," by Eiluned Lewis; this is a book to be unreservedly recommended to the traveler, the stay-at-home reader and the student of present-day sociology and economics in human terms. "Changing Governments," by the Foreign Policy association.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY And SUNDAY

Duck Hunting Starts Saturday

Thousands of duck hunters will begin their annual bombardment at 7:00 a.m., E.S.T., Saturday with expectations of enjoying one of the best as well as the longest season in several years.

The season this year runs 15 days longer than in the past, extending through November 14. New bag limits also offer opportunity for a larger kill.

Abundance of water in the Canada prairie provinces where the majority of the ducks which are shot in Michigan nest and breed has made prospects bright. Heavy precipitation in this region of the United States also has improved the outlook for good local hunting, since the birds will not find it necessary to concentrate on the larger bodies of water but will be scattered over a wider area.

Daily limits in Michigan are: 10 for ducks in the aggregate of all kinds of which not more than three of any one or more than three in the aggregate may be redheads, canvasbacks, buffleheads or ruddy ducks; 5 in the aggregate of all kinds of geese and brant; 10 coots; 10 rails and gallinules and 10 jacksnipe; four woodcock. Wood ducks may not be taken at all.

Possession limits are: A two days' bag limit for ducks, geese and brant; 20 coots; 15 rails and gallinules and 15 jacksnipe; four woodcock.

Shooting is restricted to from 7:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., E.S.T., for waterfowl and coots, and from 7:00 a.m. to sunset for snipe, rails, gallinules (other than coot) and woodcock.

Although redheads, canvasbacks, buffleheads and ruddy ducks, which previously have been protected, may be taken in limited number this year, waterfowl authorities point out that the daily limit is three and is granted largely to allow for hunters' "mistakes." These species have not become so plentiful as to warrant heavy hunting, but it is difficult for hunters to distinguish them in the air from other species.

Another change this year is the provision allowing a non-resident hunter shooting more than one day in the state to carry out of the state a two days' bag limit of ducks and geese and brant, combined, and one day's bag limit of other migratory game birds in one calendar week.

Issue Hunting Regulations

Plymouth sportsmen will be interested in knowing of some of the new regulations just issued by the state pertaining to Sunday hunting in this locality.

The Plymouth Mail has received from the state the following bulletin which will be of interest to all hunters:

Sunday hunting bans will restrict duck hunters in 15 counties this season, which opens Saturday. The Sunday hunting bans cannot be changed by the state conservation department although conservation officers are charged with the responsibility of enforcement.

Seven counties prohibit all kinds of hunting on Sundays. These are Branch, Hillsdale, Huron, Lenawee, Livingston, Monroe and Sanilac. Huron county includes state-owned marshes such as Wildfowl bay, and Attorney General Raymond Starr has ruled that these are included under the ban since the closing order makes no exceptions for them.

In four counties, only a land owner is permitted to hunt on Sunday but only on his own premises. He is not permitted to let others hunt on his land. These counties are Lapeer, Shiawassee, Tuscola and Washtenaw.

In four other counties, land owners may hunt on their own property and others may hunt, on Sundays, with the permission of the owner or lessee. These counties are Macomb, Oakland, St. Clair and the following townships in Wayne county: Greenfield, Redford, Plymouth, Gratiot, Hartmanck, Grosse Pointe, Livonia and Northville.

Gladiolus Society President Tells How To Care For Bulbs During Winter So That You Will Have Good Flowering Plants

What to do with your gladiolus bulbs during the winter so that you will surely have good flowers next season was the subject of a radio address made over WWJ by O. P. Starck of Plymouth, president of the Michigan Gladiolus society a few days ago.

There are so many flower lovers in and about Plymouth that The Mail believes his talk will be of interest to all our readers. It follows:

About this time of the year we commence to think of scraping up an acquaintance again with our "red flannels" and also at this time we have to give a thought to the harvesting of our Gladiolus corms in order that we may fill our gardens with beautiful blooms the next year.

Usually about six weeks after blooming, or about the time for the first killing frost the gladiolus is ready to dig. Ordinarily we like to wait until the foliage has begun to yellow, indicating that the plant is ready for its period of rest. Do not confuse the yellowing of disease with the yellowing of age.

If we have made a late planting it will usually be necessary to dig the corms and cormels while still quite green and by the same token, the early plantings might have to be lifted before the first killing frost.

We will deal only with the small plantings such as is found in the back yard gardens, as the large commercial growers have high production methods all their own and they know just what methods to follow in digging, curing, and storage of the corms. You will take the corms and go along the row of plants, thrusting the fork straight down into the soil the whole length of the fork tines and give a prying motion as though you were trying to pry the plants out of the ground. You will find that it will loosen the soil so that the whole plant with the cormels attached may be lifted and separated from the soil.

Be sure and save the cormels attached to the new bulb or corm, as from these you will be able to perpetuate the varieties which you now have. Many times, I have been told by the back-yard gardener, "Oh, yes, I have raised gladi, but I am troubled with them running out, or changing color." I ask them if they saved and plant the cormels which they found attached to the new corm and they say, "You mean those little things?—No, I couldn't be bothered with them—I just threw them away," and so I say again save the cormels if you wish to continue to have nice blooms true to color and variety. It requires from one to two years for the cormels to become good blooming size corms.

After the corms with the cormels attached have been separated from the soil, cut off the top with a good sharp knife, cutting so that only about a quarter of an inch of the stem is left attached to the corm.

When digging, great care should be exercised to prevent the varieties becoming mixed. If the corms are collected in baskets or boxes, the field label can be placed in the container with the corms. If collected in paper bags, the name of the variety should be plainly written on both sides of the bag.

After digging, it is best to leave them out in the open for a couple of days, providing there is no danger of frost. Should the weather be cold, or there is danger of frost, they should be moved at once into a well ventilated, frost-proof shed or building, there to be left for curing for about two weeks.

While talking with Professor Nelson of the Michigan State college the other day, he said that if the corms could be cured in a well ventilated room with artificial heat, with the temperature carried at from 80 to 85 degrees F., the curing process would be hastened and materially reduce the possibility of disease spreading while in storage.

These corms showing apparent disease should be destroyed at once. When the soil is dried, it is cleaned off, the long roots rubbed off, and the cormels removed. After the corms are thoroughly dried and cured, you may then easily remove the old, dried-up mother corm from the base of the new corm, along with any old roots still attached to the corm.

Do not remove the husk at this time as it serves as a protection to the corm in storage, and also retards evaporation of the natural moisture stored in the corm.

When only small quantities are to be stored, you may use paper sacks, or onion sacks, but if paper sacks are used, do not close them up tightly as the corm continually gives off a small quantity of moisture all during storage and if the sack be closed tightly they are apt to mold, and ruin the corm.

Never store them in deep bushel baskets, or closed cans, as they should be well aerated at all times.

Any cellar in which potatoes or fruit keeps well will do very well for the storage of gladiolus corms. They should never be allowed to freeze, nor should they be stored in the furnace room, where the temperature would be too high, and they would dry out too much. The storage cellar may be moderately humid, but it should never be damp. Best results are obtained if they can be stored where the temperature can be maintained from 35 to 40 degrees F., as this will keep the thrips in check.

It is not always possible or convenient to maintain these low temperatures and in that event, it is wise to take precautions to kill any thrips which may have come into storage on the corms. The usual treatment is Naphthalene Flakes. Do not accept something "just as good" offered by your drug store, but insist on pure Naphthalene Flakes.

When the corms are completely cured, say about Christmas time, it is well to sprinkle Naphthalene Flakes over the corms at the rate of one ounce for each 100 corms, leaving them with this treatment for about four weeks. At the end of this time, it is well to shake them out removing the Naphthalene Flakes. They should never be allowed to remain in the Naphthalene Flakes treatment until they start to sprout, or until the root modules have started to grow as this would stunt their growth, or render them so that they would not come up after planting.

There is a certain amount of risk in using Naphthalene Flakes, especially if the treatment is continued too long, or if the corms are covered too closely during the fumigation.

With ordinary care you will come through the winter with good thrips free corms.

There is one more thing I might say regarding the type of container which may be used in which to store the corms. I have used for a number of years a very successful and inexpensive tray. If you will get some regular green-house flats, remove the bottom boards, and tack on regular galvanized window screen on the bottom, you will have a handy and very efficient tray. These can be stacked up in such a manner that they will permit free circulation of air around the corms and are light and easy to handle. If you have used for a sufficient quantity of these trays, you will find that you can buy them in a knocked down condition and packaged or bundled in. I believe 25 flats to the bundle. It is a very easy task to assemble

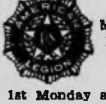

Local Residents Visit Kentucky Horse Farms

Fred D. Schrader and Perry Richwine left Sunday morning to go to Louisville, Kentucky where they expected to visit a number of stock farms in that locality as guests of the Huron and Halter club of Louisville. Mr. Schrader has been a member of this organization of well known horsemen for a number of years. In fact, because of his admiration and interest in horse raising, Mr. Schrader was, a number of years ago, appointed a "judge" by the Louisville club of horsemen to which he belongs. Both Mr. Schrader and Attorney Richwine are enthusiastic riders.

That Pittsburgh man who has just had his sight restored after eleven years says everything is beautiful. Has he heard about the national debt?—Wichita Eagle.

Both the Russians and Japanese claim to be acting on the defensive in Siberia. When most wars start both of the combatting parties can prove that they are fighting a war of defense. That's what makes an agreement to band together to "punish the aggressor" look so foolish.

Plymouth Girl In Women's Air Meet

Sunday was an exciting day for the thousands of spectators at Hartung airport, Gratiot and Ten and One-Half Mile road, when the "powder puff" flyers competed for the Joyce Hartung trophy.

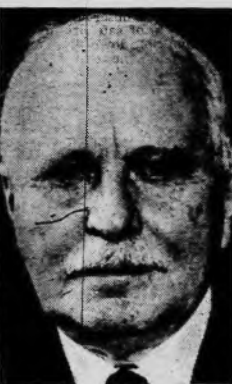

Jeanette Lempke, flying a Davis bi-plane, carried the trophy to Saginaw with only six points ahead of Helen Montgomery of Plymouth, who is located at the Triangle airport.

The girls tried their skill at bomb dropping, the bomb being a five-pound sack of flour aimed at a ground target; spot landing, using a "dead-stick" landing and ribbon cutting, the object being to cut a streamer (tossed from the plane) by the pilot into as many pieces as possible using the propeller or wing of the plane.

From an altitude of 4000 feet Helen Montgomery, the only contestant to enter the motorless craft event, staged an exhibition of acrobatics in her Franklin utility glider that drew an ovation from the crowd. On September 4, at the soaring meet held in Frankfort, Michigan, Helen Montgomery set a national glider endurance record for women of seven hours and 22 minutes.

With Miss Lempke leading and Miss Montgomery second, other contestants were Pauline Hutchins of Pontiac, Marion Weyant of Lansing, Leora Stroup of Detroit, Sandra Goralsky of Hamtramck and Eloise Smith of Kalamazoo.

Oregon Celebrates

Gov. Charles H. Martin's seventy-fifth birthday anniversary will be celebrated throughout Oregon Saturday, October 1 in festivities which will also mark dedication of the state's new $2,500,000 state capitol building at Salem.

Breaks Up Chicken Thief Ring

Pleas of guilty were entered recently by three men charged with grand larceny in having stolen several hundred chickens and turkeys from Washtenaw farmers during the past year. Sheriff Jacob B. Andres of Ann Arbor said these men operated one of the largest chicken stealing rings in this part of the country, operating in adjoining counties as well as Washtenaw.

The prisoners are Norbert Gorski, 27, Detroit; Leo Tartenello, 27, Wayne road, and Frank Delavare, 34, Detroit. Theft of 30 snow-white turkeys from Martin Fuoss' farm near Saline provided the clue by which Deputy Klavitter found Gorski. A merchant in northeast Detroit remembered Gorski had tried to sell him similar fowl this summer, and so stated when questioned by Detroit police who had been notified by teletype that the Washtenaw county sheriff's department believed that the thieves' outlets were in that city.

Gorski is Tartenello's brother-in-law, and acted as market "iron" for the ring. He was apprehended by Deputy Klavitter Friday night acting as a delivery boy for the "farm" delivering two crates of white chickens to a Davison street beer garden in Detroit.

Operations of the group were extensive as evidenced by the fact that back of Tartenello's Wayne road home was found a large area covered with chicken coops and completely surrounded by dense woods.

Tartenello was arrested at the county jail in Ann Arbor Saturday morning when he accompanied his wife, Gorski's sister, there to see why Gorski was being detained.

Redmen Told Of City's Advantages

Redmen who came to Plymouth Saturday for the tri-state convention of the organization thoroughly enjoyed a half day of Plymouth hospitality, heard much about their own organization and the city of Plymouth.

C. L. Van Buskirk, great sage of the Redmen from Indiana, and Fred B. Leslie of Toledo, Ohio, past grand sage of that state, delivered laudatory addresses pertaining to the work of their organization.

The visitors were briefly told of the many advantages of the city of Plymouth by E. R. Eaton, who appeared on the program in place of Mayor Henry Hondorp who found it impossible to be present. Rev. Stanifer S. Closson offered the invocation.

"No city in Michigan is more fortunately located than Plymouth, and no city can offer more advantageous conditions than this place," said Mr. Eaton. "Its school system, its city government and its parks outrank those of nearly every other place of its size in the midwest," he declared.

"The purest and best water supply in all Michigan is provided the homes of Plymouth. Nearly 30 miles of improved streets, with ten miles of paving, all within the city limits, eleven churches, a community hotel, six parks within the city limits besides a parkway system entirely surrounding the city on the north and east are civic attainments of which we are justly proud," he said.

While it had been announced that some 10,000 Redmen and their friends were expected to be here, Galen Cripe, master of ceremonies, stated that a previous convention just held in Indianapolis, kept the Plymouth attendance down. But those who did come enjoyed Plymouth hospitality, and the cash prizes donated by Plymouth merchants which were distributed during the parade, the funniest clown, best advertising display and to the driver of the Farmington school truck. The Farmington school band and the American Legion drum corps from Dearborn featured the parade, some 50 Redmen appeared in the dress of the early American Indians.

Commissioners Unworried By War

(Continued From Page One) will be no war, I believe that efforts to find the facts of the situation will be made and will result in a satisfactory solution. Hitler's position is partly a matter of bluffing, but on the other hand there is a situation in Czechoslovakia that has to be ironed out. It cannot continue as it is.

"Should there be a war, it certainly would be a long, drawn-out affair and the result possibly might be the same as in the last world war. The Germans would fight as long as the battleground was not their own land. "If Hitler does fight, he wants to fight on the other man's territory. As soon as the side turned against him, and the Rhineland itself was threatened, he would surrender so that no part of Germany would be destroyed.

"Germany doesn't want war any more than we do and a peaceful settlement of the situation is more likely than a plunge into widespread conflict. It's too bad we didn't clean up the situation when we were over there before."

George H. Robinson says, "I don't think that there will be a war. Hitler is bluffing. If he did enter into war he would be beaten. And I hope he would be beaten.

"However, if his deadline for surrender of the Sudeten territory expires and his demands are not met, Germany will get rid of a dictator who didn't carry out his threats.

"Roosevelt's appeal to Hitler had no effect, not because the note was not respected, but because we are too far away to put any fear into Hitler. Lloyd E. Wilson says, "I hope I'm wrong, but I am convinced that Hitler wants war and that no one can stop him. If his demands are not met by the time his deadline is reached, he will drive right across Czechoslovakia, banking on the surprise element.

"The world has an obstinate man to deal with, and he wants war. However, I feel that he will not win his war. I believe that he has over-estimated his power. "If there is no war it will be only because the German people, who have been wised up very recently on the true situation through foreign radio broadcasts, demand peace. On the other hand, Hitler has created a situation where most Germans are afraid to voice their opinion, and I believe that he is too strong for them to overthrow at present.

"Roosevelt's appeal to Hitler has had no effect, because Hitler knows that we are neutral and that our position would make no immediate difference anyhow."

Ed Refer of East Lansing, Albert Cona of Detroit and E. P. Butler of Rosedale Gardens played golf Saturday afternoon, returning to the Butlins for dinner. They were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Butlin from Lapeer.

State Aid For Schools Debated

The schools which depended upon the equalization fund (which is state aid distributed according to district needs rather than the number of pupils in the district and the payment of per capita of costs for tuition students) are those which are injured through the process of deducting $6,000,000 from the regular state aid.

Plymouth is not one of these school systems, so adversely affected by the present situation, Mr. Smith said.

"While the finances of the Plymouth public schools are not in as bad a shape as many in the state, the board of education finds great difficulty in making definite plans for the school year, however, due to the uncertainty which has been and still exists in regard to state policy as to the amount of funds which will be allowed public schools," he said.

It is hoped and expected by the school superintendents of the state that consideration for the school districts in the greatest difficulty will be given by the legislature when it meets in January and that injustices which now exist in the formula for distribution of state aid will be adjusted.

Obituary

JANIS A. GOODALE Janis A. Goodale, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Goodale, 795 Carpenter street, Northville, passed away last Friday in the University of Michigan hospital after an illness of but two weeks. She had previously been taken to a Detroit hospital but attending physicians hoped that special treatment for her illness could be found in the University hospital. All efforts failed. The little girl is survived by her mother and father, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cub Forshew of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. J. Goodale of Northville, six uncles, five aunts, and two great grandmothers, Mrs. Minnie Kellogg of Detroit; and Mrs. Julia Goodale of Plymouth. The funeral services were held from the Castenra funeral home in Northville Monday at 2:00 o'clock with burial in Riverside cemetery in Plymouth. Rev. William Richards, former Methodist pastor of Northville but now located in Belleville, officiated.

Former City Manager Stops For Visit Adolph Koenig, former city manager of Plymouth, stopped in this city Saturday while enroute from Wilmette, Illinois to Boston where he has gone to attend the national convention of city managers. Mr. Koenig was, for seven years, city manager of a Wisconsin city, having just recently resigned to accept a new position near Chicago. He stated that he was driving to the East and expected to be gone from his duties for some two weeks.

Invite Plymouth To Town Hall

An invitation to Plymouth residents to attend the special balcony rates for Detroit Town Hall in the Fisher theatre has been issued by Kathleen Snow Stringer, director. At the tax-free rate of only $8.00 for the season of 20 Wednesday morning events, a course in adult education may be had at less than the cost of a Detroit downtown movie.

When the special balcony rates were offered to a limited number of Detroit club women three years ago just before the fall opening, hundreds of women rushed to fill the quota. Today there are almost 500 women, representing about 85 club, sorority and church groups, librarians and students. Many of the organizations have formed Town Hall discussion groups as part of their seasonal program.

A limited number of balcony memberships are still available. A check mailed to the Detroit Town Hall office, 246 Hotel Steller, will insure a balcony membership card for the season of 20 events. The card will be mailed directly to the new patron. The balcony section begins with the fourth row and is unreserved. Reserved seats in the main floor and mezzanine remain at the former price, including tax.

Nine world activities on current events and three big entertainment attractions are included in the season's program. Latest developments in the Czechoslovakian crisis will be analyzed by Lillian T. Mowrer, political commentator and author of "Journalist's Wife," who comes direct from Paris. The problem of Palestine will be discussed by Sir Ronald Storrs, former governor of Palestine and commander-in-chief of Cyprus and Rhodes. Eugene Lyons, author of "Assignment in Utopia," and for six years chief correspondent for the United Press in Russia.

Stuart Chase will speak on Mexico and Ford Morley, editor of the Washington Post will discuss the role of propaganda in world affairs. A prophesy of Europe's future as revealed by its past will be offered by Stefan Zweig, eminent European biographer and historian. American Editor Dudley C. Brown will discuss and con by the Chicago Round Table, on its first platform tour. Participants will be Harry Tidmore, Paul H. Douglas and Walter H. C. Laves.

Other celebrities to come include Eugene O'Neil, Elsa Maxwell, Jim Tully, Willard Byrd on Phelps, Dr. Thomas Parran, Vicki Baum, Capt. John D. Craig, Capt. C. W. R. Knight, Gerald Wendt and Lyman Bryson. The series opens with the glamorous Ballet Caravan, October 12, presenting, "The Blue Danube," "Yankee Clipper," "Filling Station" and "Promenade." The Eva Jessye Choir, from the colored opera, "Porgy and Bess" are competing in January. Angna Enters, called the greatest mime of our generation, will close the series March 15 with "The Theatre of Angna Enters."

Praying Bandit Is Arrested

Calarco then admitted to Capt. Thumme that he had pretended to pray in the church and had taken the purse. He returned to his room, he said, changed his clothes and even his glasses so that he would not be recognized and then went back to the church. He said that he had hidden the purse, which was recovered as well as the money.

However, in spite of his change of costume, he was recognized by Mr. Fred, who had noted the man's appearance carefully. The man with whom Calarco was staying was detained briefly for questioning in connection with the case but was released when police became convinced that he had nothing to do with the theft.

Calarco and the Plymouthite met when they were working together in a night club owned by Calarco's father near Clayton, New York, they said. Calarco had been in Plymouth only one night before his arrest. Detroit police intended to question him regarding similar cases in the city in connection with which a mah and a woman already have been arrested.

That Dahlia Bouquet Was Grown By Gray

The beautiful basket of dahlias in the window of the office of The Plymouth Mail which attracted admiration of customers and passers-by this week was provided by Thomas Gray, of 1027 Dewey street, Plymouth.

The flowers came from the extensive flower garden at his home which visitors are welcome to inspect at any time, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Peabody entertained at dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schairer and family of Dexter and Mrs. Martha Welmann of Chelsea, mother of Mrs. Peabody.

Begins 25th Year

Marking the longest unbroken term in United States Supreme court history, Justice James C. McReynolds will complete his twenty-fourth year on the high bench Wednesday, October 12. The court will begin its new term October 3 and will review a heavy calendar of cases, including the Tennessee Valley authority.

Kiwanis Club Sponsors Shoot

There will be prizes awarded this year for individual and team high scores each night of the tournament in addition to the grand total high score awards. Proceeds of the tournament will go to help the sick and the poor in Plymouth, according to Carvel Bentley, who is general chairman in charge of the project.

In addition to the three activities which the Kiwanians sponsor directly in Plymouth, which include the Potato Club for high school children, the Cub Scouts and the Boys' Club, the organization contributes to the University of Michigan Hospital for Crippled Children, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

Other activities include packing Christmas baskets and presentation of toys and clothing to those who can't afford to buy them and in previous years a turkey dinner for the underprivileged on Thanksgiving day. In addition, the club now has tentative plans for sending several Plymouth boys to a Kiwanis summer camp next year.

All these activities will share in some degree the funds which are produced by participation in the gun shoot which starts a week from Monday.

C. of C. To Hear Christmas Plans

A spell of warm weather this week failed to faze Plymouth business men who are planning to light and decorate city parks for the Christmas season this year.

Stanley Corbett, president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, announced that a report on the arrangements was expected to be presented at the luncheon meeting Monday by Carl Caplin, chairman of the committee in charge of the program. A report had been anticipated last Monday but was postponed until next Monday so that arrangements could be worked out in greater detail.

A display of some type and permanent arrangements for decorating and lighting Kellogg, Continental and Library Parks are expected to be discussed.

The committee functioning in the matter under the leadership of Mr. Caplin is composed of Howard Stark, Frank Terry, William Rose, Harold Coolman and William Choffin.

Plymouth Ex-Coach At Western High

Kenneth Matheson, formerly coach of athletics at Plymouth high school, has joined the athletic department at Western high school, Detroit, it was announced this week by Wilbur Gunnerson, athletic director.

Matheson will handle the Western high track squad this winter in addition to instructing in physical education. He was one of Joe Gembs' assistants on the Wayne University football squad last fall and previously had taught in the Goodall school at Detroit.

Mr. Matheson was known to all Plymouth athletes in his coaching days here as "Beef." He taught hygiene, first aid and boys' physical training in both the high school and grade schools for nine years. He coached football, baseball, basketball and track.

Miss Mildred Stoddard of 346 Blunk street held unusual interest in the Women's Air Meet at Hartung Airport, September 25, when two of her friends, Miss Montgomery and Miss Stroup competed for the Joyce Hartung trophy. Mrs. and Mrs. Paul J. Wiedman and daughter, Pauline also attended the meet.

Doctor's Services And Prescriptions

A medical doctor can detect signs of bodily disorders before specific indications, discernible to you, have reached an acute stage—and prescribe the protective measures.

His prescriptions are more seriously written than is the Congressional Record and should be prepared by a pharmacist of high standing in his profession. This is the first of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each week. Copyright

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chris De Porter will be pleased to learn that they are now living in Bangor.

A Communication

Eloise, Michigan
September 28, 1938
Editor, Plymouth Mail,
Plymouth, Michigan.
Dear Sir:

Agent the statement of James G. Bryan, given to the Lansing correspondent of the Detroit News, Friday, September 23, and published on that date, that "several thousands" would be added to the old age assistance rolls, it was plain to be seen, by the way the statement was worded, that the correspondent did not believe it to be true, and that it was simply a smokescreen to help Mr. Murphy to a few more votes.

I am satisfied that the present governor has no intention of ever giving adequate old age pensions although he may add a few from the direct relief rolls, as such a move will save the state $16.09 per year and maintain the present average of old age assistance at $18.56 per month. It is not generally known but is an irrefutable fact that nearly all old age pensioners who had to have sponsors to take them in their homes at a stipulated amount per month for board and room, have received since April 1 this year, just $1.00 per month for wearing apparel and $1.50 per month for other expenses, making a total of $30.00 per year for all expenses. (This statement can be verified in Plymouth by calling George Mette at 794 York street.)

I am leaving it up to the public as to being an adequate allowance.

I have always been independent in politics and lived in this state during the period of "Mc-Kayism" but that period was much better than the present period of "Murphyism."

I think it is high time that the voters of this state get "hep" to themselves and elected a governor for all the people instead of the present one, who is governor only for the political parasites, business wreckers, and those who are too lazy to work on the W.P.A.

I suggest that the people make Mr. Murphy an ex-governor so that he will be in position to become the U. S. w. to weld the factions together.

With Mr. Murphy's appealing personality, and powerful persuasive powers this should be an easy task.

ALBERT R. MATZ,

New Zealand has the highest per capita foreign trade in the world.

Mrs. Bruce Woodbury was in Saginaw Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday attending the state convention of the League of Women Voters.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Whipple, their sons, Edson and Elmer, and Oscar Huston were Monday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Huston in Birmingham.

Mrs. Floyd Eckles and Mrs. M. M. Willett spent Thursday in Rochester and were accompanied home by Mrs. Ina Eckles, who has been visiting there for a week.

Iva Seeb, of Battle Creek will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz of South Harvey street for the week-end and the game in Ann Arbor Saturday.

Wins $400 Check But Can't Cash It

A check for $400 is hanging in a frame in the window of the Hi-Speed service station at Golden road and Main street. It testifies to the safe driving of Arthur Eckles, Plymouth, coil dealer.

But Mr. Eckles just heaves a sigh when he sees it; he can't cash the check. The reason is that he failed to have his Hi-Speed Safety Legion qualifying card punched the week that safety observers noticed his example of safe driving and recommended him for one of the firm's weekly cash awards.

These observers note some example of safe driving each week and jot down the license number of the driver and the circumstances. Mr. Eckles, for instance, was recommended for keeping a safe distance behind other cars and for making a double stop before coming out of an alley.

But the safe drivers are not eligible for the awards unless they have their qualifying card obtainable free from any Hi-Speed gas station, punched the week that they are noted for safe driving.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.—Rev. G. H. Enns, Th. D., pastor. Sunday morning service, 10:00 a.m.; Sunday Bible school, 11:15 a.m.; young people's meeting, 6:00 p.m.; Sunday evening service, 7:00 p.m.; Wednesday prayer meeting, 7:00 p.m. Our Sunday school attendance is increasing steadily, and the attendance at the worship services has doubled. Come, hear Dr. Enns in the morning speak on the important theme "In Remembrance of Me." This is our fellowship Sunday, and you are invited to join with us in joyous worship. In the evening Dr. Enns will speak on "Sin and Sorrow." The young people will assist in the evening service. On Friday, October 7, at 6:30 p.m. the Royal Daughters of the First Baptist church are giving our young people a free banquet to which the young folks may invite any of their friends whom they may consider as prospective members of our young people's union. The age is from 13 years up. There will be an appropriate program and the pastor will speak to the group on "Let's Go Fishing." We will have a glorious time. Whoever is invited, don't miss it. The girls' choir will meet for practice on Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. promptly.

THE SALVATION ARMY announces the following meetings for the coming week: Sunday school, 10:00; Holiness meeting, 11:15; young people's meeting, 6:15; open air meeting, 7:30; evangelistic meeting, 8:00; Tuesday, young people's band, 7:30; Wednesday, preparation class, 7:15; senior band practice, 8:15; Thursday, home league, 2:00; Corps Cadets, 4:00; Girl Guards parade, 7:00. FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST Scientist Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00.

"Unreality" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 2. The Golden Text (Job 15: 31) is: "Let not him that is deceived trust in vanity: for vanity shall be his recompense." Among the Bible citations in this passage (Isaiah 41: 11): "Behold, all they that were incensed against thee shall be ashamed and confounded; they shall be as nothing; and they that strive with thee shall perish." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the Golden Text, 480; "Where the spirit of God is, and there is no place where God is not, evil becomes nothing—the opposite of the something of Spirit."

FIRST METHODIST—Stanford S. Closson, pastor. Starting this Sunday, October 2, church service will be at 10:00 a.m. Sunday school following at 11:30, 10:00 a.m., public worship service; holy communion and reception of members. Nursery care for small children during service, 11:30, Sunday school. This service will be at 10:00 a.m. young and old, 6:30, Epworth League and youth, Monday, 8:00, official board at church. Regular October meeting, Wednesday, 12:30, Ladies' Aid progressive luncheon, course 1 at home of Mrs. George Burr, 1423 Sheridan course 2, church dining room; course 3 at home of Mrs. George Fischer, 1110 Plymouth road. Devotions and business session, Wednesday, 7:30, prayer meeting at the church, 8:15, Thursday, home league, 2:00; Corps Cadets, 4:00; Girl Guards parade, 7:00. Capt. E. Alder and Lieut. L. Gould, officers-in-charge.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST Sunday school will meet at 10:00 a.m. over Beyer's drug store.

CATHOLIC CHURCH—Rev. F. C. Lefevre, Sunday—Mass at 8:00, 10:00 and 11:30. Confessions Saturday nights at 7:30, and before each mass. Societies—The Holy Name Society for all men and young men. Communion the second Sunday of the month. The Ladies' Altar Society receives Holy Communion the third Sunday of each month. All the ladies of the parish are to belong to this society. Children's Sunday—Every child of the parish should go to communion every fourth Sunday of the month. Instructions in religion conducted each Saturday morning at 10:00 by the Dominican Sisters. All children that have not completed their 8th grade, are obliged to attend these religious instructions.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH.—Holbrook and Harding, Lynn B. Stout, pastor, 615 North Mill street. Attention members of Calvary, friends of Calvary, and everyone who is interested in a Biblically sound and ecumenically free, fundamental testimony, there will be a congregational meeting at the 10:00 o'clock hour to decide whether we are to continue our wandering in the "wilderness" or to cross "Jordan" and inhabit the land, whether we go on somewhat as a mission or build a tabernacle for a great evangelistic and missionary center for this area. Come praying. Our God is able. Other services at the regular hours. Bulls-eye No. 5. Beauty of the home on the pillow case isn't "skin deep."

CHURCH OF GOD—221 Ferrisman, upstairs. Sunday services: Bible school, 9:45 a.m.; morning worship, 11:00 a.m.; young people's service, 6:30 p.m.; evangelistic service, 7:30 p.m.; week night services: Young people's meeting, Tuesday night, 7:30 p.m.; weekly prayer meeting, Thursday night, 7:30 p.m. Everybody welcome. Come and bring a friend. God has highly honored His followers in that He permits them to be His co-workers—"workers together with Him, in the greatest work that this world has ever known which is pointing sinners to Christ. The Lord might have planned to send some of the angels to earth to tell the story that Christ died to save sinners. But, for our part, we rejoice over the fact that He chose those that plan, but that He asked us to help Him, that He invites every Christian, both men and women, boys and girls to be His helpers in saving souls.

What City Pays In Hidden Taxes

Plymouth's tax load, based on the Michigan per capita load of $115.05, is $515,884.20, according to a survey by the National Consumers Tax commission.
More than 63 percent of that amount the report stated, is raised through hidden taxes in increased prices of food, clothing, rent and other necessities as well as luxuries.
The commission's campaign by the women of the nation against taxes that are depriving families of living essentials through higher prices is receiving great impetus from the militant support of hundreds of Michigan housewives.
Plans to form units in every city and town in Michigan have been announced through Mrs. W. R. Alvord, widely known Detroit clubwoman and Michigan member of the commission's national committee.
Residents of Plymouth contribute a major share of the city's tremendous tax burden without realizing they are doing it," the report said. "They pay in increased prices on practically everything they buy, prices that have to be raised to cover taxes levied on products from the producer to the store counter."
The report stated that local, state and national taxes have risen to a point where they are now equal to 25 percent of all salaries and wages paid in the nation.

Pin Feathers? Turks Too Young
Pin feathers have made many a pious farmer and many a pious housewife wonder why turkeys are considered so highly.
Yet the whole problem of pin feathers is simple, state poultrymen of Michigan State college, backed up in their statements by nationally known federal turkey experts.
Short pin feathers merely are an indication the young turkey isn't marketing age, says S. J. Marsden, turkey specialist with the United States Department of Agriculture. Grow them out, he advises.
Up at Lake City, the college experiment station staff used to try to market turkeys earlier by dressing the birds when they were 20 to 22 weeks along. Pin feathers made the job almost endless. The period from egg to market was lengthened until the staff finally found that 26 weeks was about the right age to begin getting away from pin feathers.
With a turkey crop in Michigan this year estimated as equal to the large number of turkeys of 1937, importance of marketing at the proper time is being stressed by the college poultry department.
In addition to age the flock being prepared for market needs proper feeding. Protein and minerals are required to finish out plump bodies and complete feather growth.
Dry mash and scratch grain are recommended, cafeteria style. Let the turkeys eat "as much as they want of both kinds of feed, is the advice. One of the signs of maturity of the birds will be that they begin to eat less and less mash and more and more scratch grain. Room to grow and freedom from disease and feather picking are included in recommendations.

Most Interesting Odd Advertisement

While rummaging through some old papers and books that had come to his store the other day, Harry Robinson found a supplement to The Northville Record which advertised an excursion from Plymouth and Northville to Petoskey, Mackinac Island, and Traverse City, the cost of the round trip from Plymouth amounting to only $5.00.

The date of the excursion was August 25, 1897, just a little over 41 years ago.

Two or three paragraphs taken from one of the two-page advertisements describes Petoskey as follows:

"The Pearl of the North," as it has been aptly called, derives its name from old Ne yas Pe-to-se-ga, the original owner of the land. He is commonly spoken of as "Chief Petoskey," and many of his descendants still reside in the vicinity. The name, which was Anglicized into Ignatius Petoskey, means "the break of day," when the sun touches the hill tops. It is very appropriate, for since it was first started 20 years ago, Petoskey has always been "up and dressed."

"From the deck of an approaching steamer the city presents a striking appearance. The arc water's edge to the crest of the encircling hills, two hundred and seventy feet above, gleam and flash through the darkness—a coronet of diamonds on the brow of night—and furnish a beacon for vessels far out upon the lake. By day one sees the main part of the town spread out upon the sides of a vast natural amphitheater in such a manner that its broad streets, parks and regular squares can be traced as though it were a map. As the tourist draws nearer he sees tall spires rising above the trees, handsome residences occupying every commanding point, and substantial business blocks attesting the thrift and prosperity of the place. The water front, instead of being the unsightly blight which it is in most cities, is a clean gravelly beach—the favorite resort of tourists watching with eager eyes for the coral and agates cast up by the restless waves. Immediately in front is a park, with flowers and fountains. At the left, a precipitous limestone cliff overhangs the railroad that winds along its base; and at the right, Bear River hurries down the narrow gorge it has worn through the hills, turning the wheels of a dozen busy factories, and still fretting and murmuring over its work as it rumbles into the blue waters of the bay.

"Petoskey sunsets are among the special attractions of this famous resort. Nearly every evening in July and August, upon the broad verandas of the hotels and the porches and piazzas of boarding houses and private residences, hundreds of people sit watching the wide, watery, luminous west. Nowhere are such responsive skies."

Who is the Veiled Prophet?

The "Veiled Prophet," whose identity has never been revealed, will rule over St. Louis' sixtieth annual Veiled Prophet ball Tuesday night, October 4, marking the opening of the city's social season. The "Veiled Prophet" is shown above, escorted by Thomas Dysart, prominent St. Louisian.

Health Editorials

Beginning this week O. F. Beyer of the Beyer Pharmacy will publish each week an editorial advertisement on the importance of the proper way to maintain good health, and how wise it is to consult a physician at the first sign of impaired health. Also, why physical examinations at regular intervals will prove advantageous.

In this series, Mr. Beyer will clearly set forth many reasons why self-medication is uncertain and oft-times leads to serious complications. Also that the propriety of ethical pharmacy will not permit a conscientious pharmacist to practice counter-prescribing.

First, because he has no license to prescribe. Second, because he does not presume to have the knowledge and training of a physician.

Mr. Beyer hopes that by making the public more conscious of the services of the medical profession a higher health rate may be maintained in the community. He will appreciate your comments regarding his statements.

 "Destroy the breeding grounds of any species," Darwin said, "and you have scoured the knell of that species."
 Using 3,000 trees per acre as a standard, and assuming that one beaver will cut about 200 trees per year, one acre will support one beaver for about 14 years or 14 beavers for one year.
