

Local Legislator Would Give People Right To Nominate All Candidates For State Offices

Plymouth Member Advances Proposal For Change

If a proposal made by State Representative E. R. Eaton of this district should be approved, the people of Michigan will nominate all state officials instead of just the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor.

Following his return from the Grand Rapids state convention of the Republican party when Republicans from the out-county section of Wayne who believed and were advised that they had been elected delegates to the state convention, were denied the right to vote, Representative Eaton declared:

"If I should be fortunate enough to be re-elected to the state legislature, I will regard it as my duty to immediately introduce a joint resolution providing for the submission to the people of Michigan a constitutional amendment which will provide for the direct nomination by the people of all state officials.

"The electors at present are entrusted with the responsibility of nominating the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor. Why should not the same electors have the right to nominate the candidates for attorney general, secretary of state, state treasurer and auditor general?"

"As far as I can see there is not the slightest reason why this should not be done. The voters under the present system are deprived of a right that belongs to them.

"Certainly it is not a fair thing to the entire state of Michigan to permit a condition to exist whereby two or three big counties can join together and defeat the will of all the rest of the state. Real Republicanism stands for representative government. We will be taking a long step forward if we will give to the voters a right to which they are entitled. The present system is a relic of a time when the state was a mere collection of small, unorganized communities."

"I had prepared a legislative resolution during the last session for this very purpose but under conditions prevailing at that time I regarded it as a waste of time to try and do it. Conditions are such now that I believe the legislature will approve it. If it does not, then I will initiate it by petition of the people."

New Auto Plates To Be Larger

Larger and more legible license plates are to be made for the year 1940, according to Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, who has recently approved of the new design. The 1940 plates are to be wider and the length varying with the size of the numbers stamped on it. The style of the numerals will also be changed, making the plates more readable. This has been advocated by the State Police and the Police and Sheriff's Department for several years.

The new plates will be so punched that when affixed to the license bracket of a car, there will be a more firm contact and eliminate rattles and the number of lost plates.

The old dies, now stamping out license plates, are nearly worn out, have been in service for eight years and have stamped nearly 18 million pairs of license plates. The new dies will also allow a different spacing of the numerals.

The auto license plant of the Michigan State Industries is able to turn out 18,000 complete sets of license plates every eight hour working day.

Free Horse Show Sunday Afternoon

Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock there will take place a free horse show, given by members of the Third Squadron of the 106th Cavalry in the Cavalry bowl, corner of Joy and Lasher roads, states First Lieutenant C. J. Kershaw, who resides just east of Plymouth on Wayne road.

Dr. Kershaw, as he is best known to his many Plymouth friends, declares that the free horse show Sunday will be a most interesting one as the troop plan a series of events that will be spectacular.

Steeple chases, a relay race, mounted tug of war and a machine gun demonstration are among the feasts planned.

City Laundry Ends 10 Years Of Service

Staff Increases From 3 to 20 As Firm Grows

Kenneth Corey, owner of Plymouth Perfection Laundry, the city's only laundry and cleaning service, this week celebrated the end of a decade of service to the city.

In 1928 Mr. Corey came to Plymouth from Ann Arbor, purchased a building and established the laundry here. At that time he had three employees, while at the present time his force includes 20 workers.

The most modern cleaning and laundering machinery is in daily use on the 14,000 square feet of floor space occupied by the business, and the firm is capable of handling a production of 2,000 pounds of laundry daily.

In recent years Mr. Corey has increased the scope of his business by adding facilities for a modern dry cleaning plant, machinery and skilled workers to handle all types of curtains and install equipment for cleaning collars.

Five complete services are now available at the Perfection Laundry with the addition within the last year of a linen supply service, providing professional offices, barber shops and other patrons with supplies of freshly laundered linens and other necessities.

The business has expanded constantly in the last 10 years with new machinery and employees being added as required. At present Mr. Corey is altering the building he owns on Wing street to provide offices in the center of the establishment.

Plymouth residents have found in the last 10 years that the Perfection laundry, only city owned and operated laundry in Plymouth, has equaled or bettered the work of competitors from outside of town.

As a result the business has taken an increasingly wide range of work so that the laundry caters not only to city residents now but to residents of outlying areas and neighboring communities as well with an adequate delivery system.

Mr. Corey begins his eleventh year in business here with the pledge that he will continue the service that has nourished a thriving firm and will enlarge on his plant, machinery and staff whenever necessary to provide first-rate production.

STATE MAGAZINE SHOWS PICTURES OF PLYMOUTH

"The Sprinkler," a magazine published by the Michigan Apparel Club, Inc. in its fall holiday-merchandise fair edition, carried two pictures taken in Plymouth.

One was of the Plymouth Rock Memorial to the city's war dead and was carried on the front cover.

The other picture, carried on the back cover, showed the display windows of Wild and company's men's wear, which the editors believed was an excellent exhibit.

Policemen Receive Bright New Badges

A policeman's lot may not be a happy one, but Plymouth officers felt a little more dressed up this week after they received shiny new badges to wear on their chests and caps.

The new badges also lent a little more authority to their position. They're big city cops now, because the badges say so. The badges they discarded authorized them as enforcers of the law in the "village" of Plymouth, although Plymouth became a city years ago.

City Not To Borrow To Aid County Board

Points Out That Budget Cares For Allotments

On the orders of the city commission, City Manager Clarence H. Elliott sent a letter to the Wayne County Emergency Relief commission this week informing the agency that the City of Plymouth has budgeted $3,500 for relief for the fiscal year ending next July and refuses to borrow any amount for relief or any other purpose.

The letter was in response to a request from the relief commission for the city to certify the amount of money available for relief until April, 1939, and the amount which the city is able to borrow for that purpose.

"An amount was allotted for relief when the city budget was laid out," Mr. Elliott said, "and the city commissioners refuse to go beyond the budget. The sum, which amounts to $3,500, will be sent to the county relief commission in 12 monthly payments. The commissioners are firm in their policy of maintaining a strictly pay-as-you-go plan. Every known need has been allowed for in the budget and the contingency fund takes care of anything else. The commissioners refuse to go over the budget. This means that no additional funds will be allotted for relief, except in the case of an extreme emergency, of course."

"It has been the city's experience in dealing with bond issues since 1890 that for every dollar borrowed the taxpayers have had to pay back $1.68."

Two Dances Set For Hallowe'en

Two Hallowe'en dancing parties for Plymouth young people are scheduled for Friday and Saturday, October 28 and 29. No one will be admitted unless in costume. Prizes will be awarded for costumes each night.

In addition there will be an amateur program and a regular weekly dance held last Friday night, and an amateur program was another feature. Seventh, eighth and ninth graders are invited to attend the dances which are over 15.

Persons desiring to participate in the amateur program on either night are requested to get in touch with Miss Ruth Hadley so that their act may be entered in the programs.

Attempts to execute the Lament Walk by a large number of young couples featured the regular weekly dance held last Friday night, and an amateur program was another feature. Seventh, eighth and ninth graders are invited to attend the dances which are over 15.

There will be no advance in admission prices for the special Hallowe'en dancing parties.

Cars Crack Up, Drivers Unhurt

Although thousands of automobiles passed through Plymouth last Saturday enroute to or from the Michigan-Michigan State football game at Ann Arbor, there was only one traffic accident reported, and neither of the cars involved were going to the game, Chief of Police V. R. Smith said.

The accident happened at Penniman avenue and Sheldon road when one of the drivers went through a stop sign without stopping, Chief Smith said.

The two drivers were Augustus Julius, 40 years old, of Route 3, Dearborn, and George Ewing, 46, of Route 2, Berwin. Their cars collided about noon and were damaged badly. However, neither of the drivers was injured.

WATER PETITION TABLED

A petition for permission to tap the water main at Penniman avenue and Phoenix road in order to provide three homes with water was tabled by the city commission at a meeting Monday night. It will be discussed further at the next meeting. The proposal calls for a two-inch tap off the main.

Registration Deadline Set For Oct. 29; Residents Urged To Avoid Rush By Checking Claim To Vote Now

Election Nov. 8 Expected To Draw Large Turnout

October 29 is the deadline set for acceptance of registrations for voting in the state and county elections to be held November 8, Clarence H. Elliott, in his capacity as city clerk, announced this week.

He said that he would be in his office daily for the purpose of receiving registrations and that on October 19 and October 29 he would remain in the office until 8:00 p.m. to accommodate voters.

Anyone who has registered before under the address where he is now living need not re-register, Mr. Elliott said. However, he added, anyone who has moved since voting in the election two years ago or who has changed her name through marriage should come in and make the change of address or name on the registration rolls.

"It is believed that there is a large number of persons qualified to vote who have not registered," he said. "To avoid any last minute rushes these persons should look into the matter at their earliest convenience."

Some persons who failed to register because of illness or due to the fact that they have been out of town, will be able to swear in their vote at the polls.

And some who have changed their names or addresses will be able to vote, but they probably will have to get a transfer from one precinct to another, which will take a considerably longer period of time than it would take them to cast their ballot if they were properly registered.

Such persons should make a point of taking care of such corrections early and avoid a delay on election day, the city clerk stressed.

Mr. Elliott reminded voters that they can vote in the election November 8 regardless of whether they voted in the primary.

The innovation of the new secret ballot at the primary did not have the effect of bringing out a larger number of voters, as has been anticipated, he commented. Some persons possibly were hesitant about using the new form, believing that there might be a catch to it somewhere.

On the other hand, although some confusion was expected over the use of the new ballots, there was very little trouble, he said. Most persons appeared to be well informed on the way to vote due to the publicity given the matter by the newspapers and radio.

"There will be about 2,800 voters registered in Plymouth for the election," Mr. Elliott commented. "There should be about 1,800 to 1,900 voters cast. There are no city elections or other issues to be paired with the state and county elections here."

35 Teams Enter Charity Shoot

At least 35 teams have been lined up for the Kiwanis Club charity shoot which will get underway with a practice session Monday. Fifty teams are expected to compete in the tournament, Warren Worth, general chairman of the affair, announced.

Teams already lined up, with 10 members each, include four from the Kiwanis Club, an American Legion team, an aggregation of the City Hall, two teams from the Wayne County Good Roads and several from Northville, South Lyon, Wayne, Ann Arbor and other neighboring towns.

The general committeemen working with Mr. Worth to make the contest a success are Carvel Bentley, who is in charge of tickets and teams; Ray Danol, advertising; Russell Roe, target arrangements; and Clifford Tait, prizes.

The gun shoot, proceeds from which will be given over to charitable projects in which the Kiwanis Club is interested or which it sponsors, will be held at the Sharpshooters' Club, 637 Main street.

The shoot will start with a practice session Monday and continue on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Prizes will be awarded for individual and team high scores daily and for the tournament.

Engineer Exhibits Three Huge Squashes

Displayed in the window of The Plymouth Mail this week were three giant cushaw squashes, the biggest one weighing 44 pounds and the next largest 40 pounds. Either one would make quite a meal for any man's family, passersby agreed.

The squashes were grown by Paul B. Houchins, of 8654 Canton Center road. Mr. Houchins, an engineer for the Pere Marquette railroad, cultivates a garden at his home as a hobby and has had some notable successes, of which the squashes were an example.

Hunting Area Of 4,000 Acres To Be Controlled

Williamston Plan Is Set Up In Plymouth Area

Nearly 4,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Plymouth will be posted under terms of the Williamston Plan by farmers who own the land in co-operation with the Western Wayne County Wildlife association, Dr. B. E. Champe, president of the association, announced. The hunting season opens October 15, at which time all the territory will be posted.

There are two areas working under the plan here. According to Frank Rambo, who has charge of the area, that section is bounded by Beck road, Napier road, Territorial road and Joy road. The section includes about 2,000 acres. About 25 farmers already have signed up for the plan and more are expected to do so before the season opens.

The other section, north of Plymouth, is bounded by Six Mile road, Beck road, Seven Mile road and Napier road, according to Lisle Alexander, who is in charge of that section. This area includes 1,280 acres and, in addition, a 428-acre farm bordering Six Mile road.

Signs announcing the provisions under which hunters must guide themselves will be posted. The signs read, "Game Management Area, State Conservation Department."

They provide that hunters must park their cars in the yard; forbear from shooting near buildings or stock; close gates and climb fences at the posts; ask permission to hunt; wear the ticket of permission plainly in sight; obey all rules of conservation department, and return (Continued on Page Six)

Woman's Club To Meet Today

The Woman's Club of Plymouth will have its first meeting of the fall season today (Friday) which will open with a luncheon in the Hotel Mayflower at 1:00 p.m. and the regular meeting at 2:15. The guest speaker is to be Mrs. Christine G. Chambers of Shanghai, China, who at present is taking a post-graduate course in the University of Michigan. Mrs. Chambers will have for her subject, "The Present Situation in China in the Light of 25 Years of Progress." Doris Hamill and Czarina Penney will furnish the musical part of the program. Committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Cass Hough, Mrs. Mark J. Chaffee and Mrs. Carvel Bentley.

Victim Of New England Storm, Former Plymouthite, Tells Story

Something of the terror that struck the inhabitants of storm-tossed New England recently was described in a letter from Harold W. McLaren, former resident of Plymouth, to his mother, Mrs. Cora McLaren, also a former Plymouth resident who now resides at 2619 Montgomery avenue, Detroit.

Mr. McLaren has lived for the last six years on his 45-acre farm near Durham, Connecticut, about midway between New Haven and Hartford.

On September 21 he started home at 2:00 p.m. from Springfield, Mass. He didn't arrive until 12:30 a.m. He had reached a place within 10 miles of his home when the tropical storm lashed out, felling trees about him and damaging homes and crops.

After waiting out the storm, he was forced to drive around trees and over lawns to reach his home. Meanwhile his wife, at home with their youngest child, had no word of her husband or their little girl, who had just started her first year at school.

Not until 8:00 p.m. did she receive any information concerning the safety of her child. At that time a man stopped at the farm home and told her that the little girl was safe but would have to spend the night in Durham as she could not get home. Her husband arrived four hours later.

Garden Club To Meet Monday, October 10th

The Plymouth branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association will meet with Mrs. Paul Wiedman on Monday, October 10, at 2:00 p.m. The subject for the day is "Bulbs and Mulching" and each member is asked to answer roll call with something useful and interesting pertaining to the subject for discussion. Members will please note the change of meeting place.

Parent-Teacher Groups Will Sponsor Dance To Provide Milk Fund For School Children This Winter

Ex-Service Men Seek To Clothe Poor Children

Ask Donations To Send Pupils To School

New fall fashions are the principal subject of conversation at the Ex-Service Men's Club, which this week are appealing to the residents of Plymouth to collect old clothing and articles which they intend to replace with new clothing for their children this year and donate them to the club, which will see that children who need them most are assisted.

Any clothing, especially children's clothing, underwear and shoes, which are needed badly, may be delivered to the city hall and left with City Manager Clarence Elliott or with Police Chief Vaughn Smith.

Or, if it is more convenient, donors may call the city hall and leave their address and Ex-Service men will arrange to call and pick up the bundles.

On Wednesday night the club will make a city-wide collection of clothing, at which time bundles will be picked up at the homes of any persons who call the city hall and mention that they have something to give to the club.

The campaign, assisted by school children is being directed by Howard Eckles, commander of the club. Assisting him are Harry Mumby, Melvin Alguire and Lee Sackett.

The committee members said this week that four or five children are unable to attend school because they have insufficient clothing or lack shoes and other necessities. Many others are now attending school, but they would be healthier and happier if they had better clothing and more solid shoes.

The club obtained shoes for a number of children last week so that they would not have to stay out of school. The conditions of the needy children are accurately known to the committee, which is keeping in close contact with the city nurse, Mrs. Mary Strasen and with city officials for that purpose.

The committee members made a special plea to residents that everyone make an effort to assist in this charitable undertaking.

Wayne County PTA To Meet October 11

The first regular meeting of Wayne County Council of Parent Teacher associations, will be held at the Gibraltar school on Tuesday, October 11. Conference for all historians will be held at 5:00 o'clock; business meeting at 5:30; community supper at 6:30; and program at 8:00 o'clock. Dr. Fred L. Strickroot will speak on "Glandular Disorders of Childhood."

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Heishetter, Mrs. Bette of Grand Rapids, and Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Mason of Pontiac were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. George Cramer, in their home on North Park street.

Starkweather And Central To Hold Ticket Sale Contest

Central Parent-Teachers' association will sponsor a public dance at the Masonic Temple Friday, October 21, for the purpose of raising funds to provide milk for Plymouth school children whose parents are unable to afford the expense, it was announced this week by Mrs. Dorothy Campbell, president of the organization.

In connection with the Milk Fund Ball, the Central group has invited the Starkweather Parent-Teachers' association to hold a ticket-selling contest in an attempt to swell the funds.

Yellow tickets will be sold by the Central group and blue tickets by the Starkweather group, which will be in charge of Mrs. Frank Pierce, who is president of the Starkweather Parent-Teachers' association.

The two organizations will share expenses and the gate receipts, but each will retain the funds realized from the separate sales of their tickets to buy milk for the children at the two schools.

The tickets will cost 50 cents each. Mrs. Campbell emphasized the fact that Plymouth residents are urged to buy tickets whether they are able to attend the dance or not.

Anyone who wishes to make separate donations without buying a ticket or in addition to buying one or more tickets is requested to call Mrs. Campbell at 178-R.

All funds realized from sales of tickets, donations and from the sale of refreshments at the dance will be turned over for the milk fund after expenses of the dance are met.

Younger Plymouth school children drink milk at daily recesses, a health practice in general acceptance with American grammar schools. However, some children, who, perhaps, need the milk more than the others, would have to go without it except for the milk fund, as their parents are financially unable to afford the expense.

The fund last year was swelled considerably by a Republican banquet which was held in Plymouth, with all proceeds turned over to the fund.

The Central committee working with Mrs. Campbell in charge of the Milk Fund Ball is composed of Mrs. Nellie Bird, principal of Central grade school; Mrs. Hugh Law, vice president of the Central Parent-Teachers' association; Miss Dorothy Sly, Miss Marian Weatherhead, and Mrs. Lature is in charge of the Central ticket sales. Before the contest with Starkweather was arranged, Mrs. Lature issued a note to all parents of Central school children through the pupils asking them to co-operate in the drive for milk money.

He mentioned in the letters that the "milk fund is used to furnish milk to the children in Plymouth whose health requires this necessity added to their diet and whose parents cannot afford to provide it for them."

He explained that parents desiring to do so could have their children obtain tickets to the Milk Fund Ball from the principal of the school. Tickets also are on sale at Lodge Drug store, Community Pharmacy and Bever Pharmacy.

Entertainment to be provided at the dance was being arranged this week and the details were expected to be announced next week. It was explained that while the dance is expected to be an enjoyable entertainment, persons who do not wish to attend are invited to buy tickets anyway in order to provide more money to furnish milk for the undernourished children this winter.

Old Unmentionables Will Be Shown In Blunk Windows

Milady's nether garments of 20 to 100 years ago went on display in the windows of Blunk Brothers' department store on Thursday to remain for one week to show Plymouthites what the well-dressed woman of no so long ago tugged herself into to get the pleasing shape.

Some of the very expensive originals, modern corsets will be shown to offer contrast. In addition, there will be some display cards about 50 years old, manufacturer's hand-painted sketches illustrating the styles of the day.

Some of the old corsets are decked with satin and lace, with ribbon ties and everything that the young female heart could yearn for in the way of a sturdy foundation.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Mau of Niles were week-end guests at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Frank Taylor of Phoenix Park.

ONE NEVER KNOWS.

The news of the death of Bernard Dinkgrave, owner of the Penman Market last week following an illness of but a few brief days was a shock to his friends in and about Plymouth. While it was known that he was confined to a hospital, reports received here were of a nature which indicated that he would be about in a few days. His passing is not only regretted by his immediate friends, but by the entire community. In middle life, his most beneficial years of service were still ahead of him. Not only is his passing most regrettable but it is a distinct loss to our community. His untimely death serves to remind one that we never know what the future holds.

THERE IS HOPE FOR THE FUTURE.

With their backs to the wall, the hundreds of thousands of small business men have been fighting desperately during the past five or six years to prevent complete ruin. Up and down the main streets of the nation these retailers, small manufacturers and operators of minor industries, have been crowded not only by the giant industries of the land but by legislative regulations that have been used with terrific advantage against the class of citizens who make up the vast army of the nation's taxpayers.

"Purely on the law of action and reaction, the day of the little businessman again will dawn," is the hopeful declaration of Roger W. Babson, economist and author, in the current Rotarian magazine. "Already various forces are emerging. If capitalized, these should help to re-establish little businesses along a broadening industrial and commercial front."

If Little Business—the backbone of the American economic system—is to meet Big Business on equal grounds, the economist asserts, co-operation among small businessmen is absolutely essential. Mutual groups are already operating for co-operative purchasing, he points out, and such joint efforts should be extended to advertising and to sharing brands with one another.

By capitalizing its advantages, Babson maintains, Little Business can offset such disadvantages as the cost of advertising, difficulty in securing capital, inability to support independent research organizations and laboratories, and purchasing handicaps involved in obtaining raw materials in small quantities.

Little Business has five unusual advantages, he says—namely, (1) smaller overhead costs—this is fundamental; (2) ability quickly to change—this applies both to policies and to products; (3) less frequent labor troubles—and usually a lower wage rate; (4) management in the hands of owners—this is always an advantage; (5) public sympathy and local co-operation—this is especially valuable to prevent unfavorable legislation.

Formation of various permanent organizations to sponsor the interest of Little Business indicates that small businessmen are recognizing their place in the economic system, contends Babson. Similarly there is recognition of the fact every Big Business was once a Little Business.

"I expect that we will again enter an era when employers will be honored and encouraged; when labor will be more

Me and Touse Head

We're the first uns out of bed—
 Me and little Touse Head.
 She's alert and happy-eyed—
 As for me, I'm petrified!
 She is laughing, full of play,
 Life to her is very gay—
 Full of sunshine, birds and flowers,
 Gay and glad some are her hours.

She's a sprite of glad delight,
 But her Dad—oh, what a sight!
 He's as fresh and clear as mud—
 Hear his footsteps' gentie thud!
 She is like the morning dew
 Sparkling 'neath a sky of blue.
 Rosey-tinted is her cheek,
 But her Dad—oh, hear him creak!

We're the first uns out of bed,
 Me and little Touse Head.
 Hear our laughter, watch us run—
 Gee—we have a lot of fun!
 Eat our breakfast, laugh some more,
 Roll a minute on the floor,
 Leave the house and wave good-bye—
 What a lucky guy am I!

reasonable; when more men will move back to the soil and more women back to the home," concludes the economist. "Fair play, free markets, conservative thrift, clean politics, and co-operation will again be in the saddle. Then little businessmen will come to their own."

THE DESIRE TO OWN.

In a remarkable book entitled "The Desire to Own," J. A. Arnold, secretary-manager of the American Taxpayers League, points out this desire was largely the cause of man's long ascent up the ladder of civilization, writes an exchange editor. Back in the dark ages that precede written history by tens of thousands of years, early man settled himself and his family on a plot of ground. Little by little he began gathering together possessions, which he would defend with his life. And as the centuries passed, other, kindred desires and ambitions appeared in the awakening brain of man—the desire to earn, the desire to save, and the desire to transmit property to those of his blood who would follow him.

Today the desire to own—which has been the desire responsible for all material progress, for all industrial development, and for all the expansion of our vast industrial civilization—is opposed, curiously enough, by that agency which man created in order to protect himself in the ownership of what he lawfully possessed: that is, government. Through oppressive and excessive taxation we are making ownership of property of all kinds, whether it be money or real estate or securities or anything else, constantly more difficult. This is as true of the man of small means, who pays out a quarter of his income in hidden taxes to government, as it is of the man of large means whose income is practically confiscated by direct taxation. Federal and state governments possess unlimited power of taxation. They can, if they will, take all that any man or any business earns. It is coming perilously close to that point now. And thus, slowly but certainly, man's opportunity to acquire possessions—ownership of material things—is lessened or destroyed.

Mr. Arnold has a solution, and he repeats it in the same words a score of times in his book: "The power of government over the purse must be limited." Many other thoughtful students of history and government have come to the identical conclusion. Unless some definite check over the taxing power of government is established, the future of civilization and of individual ownership of property, will be destroyed.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT.

The war between the press and the radio has reached its crucial stage with the latter planning to broadcast newspapers. Of course they will be daily newspapers; and it is small wonder the big dailies are abandoning their radio columns. Looks as if they had brought up a crow to pick out their eyes. There's a little danger that the novelty will affect the country weekly very much. There's some advantage in being small, as Mr. Lilliput told Mr. Brobdingnag.—E. O. Gildart in the Utica Sentinel.

FORD'S VILLAGE SCHOOL

Last year, some half million people visited Henry Ford's enchanting Greenfield Village. Most of them thought of this 200-acre replica of early America as a unique museum—a wealthy man's hobby. Few realized they were actually seeing a school.

Ford's Greenfield Village schools are part of Dearborn's public school system; but they are unlike any public schools elsewhere. The village streets are dotted with the homes of famous Americans and with other historic structures—and the classes meet in these buildings. The 250 children come by bus from homes in Dearborn. Most of them were registered at birth for this opportunity for the applicant list is long.

"It isn't really necessary to TEACH children. All you need to do is let them learn," says Mr. Ford. He is wisely providing for them every conceivable facility for learning what they want to learn. They have nature study groups, painting classes, classes for radio broadcasting and classes in many of the village handicraft shops. The work which the students do in their shops is sold and they are paid for their work.

One of Mr. Ford's cardinal ideas in education is that earning should go hand in hand with learning. The earning process in the Village starts in the kindergarten, where children are encouraged to participate in the gardening project. In the Ford Experimental Laboratory, high school boys are building machines and engines. In the same building, high school girls are learning business office details, spending regular hours in filing, typing and other clerical work. The girls interested in home economics learn housekeeping by keeping house taking turns at actually living in a model home, planning meals, shopping for supplies, entertaining guests.

"My experience as an employer showed me long ago that there was not enough kinship between what a man knew and what he could do. We aim to restore that vital connection between knowing things and doing things." This sums up Mr. Ford's goal as a schoolmaster.—George O. St. Charles in The Dearborn Independent.

THE REASON.

Business in general appears to be slowly feeling its way toward increased operation since Congress adjourned. While business is not good, there are signs of an awakening, but business must go slowly and feel its way under the new laws and regulations passed by Congress at the urgency of the President. If business could have assurance that there would be no new attacks upon it by government for a whole year or possibly two years, we believe there would be a revival of trade and industry that would make it unnecessary to continue the pump priming program, which in turn would reduce taxes and again encourage business; but, neither business nor anyone else has any definite assurance that there will be no further attacks upon it by government, and there is a growing feeling that the administration favors pump priming because it keeps millions of voters under obligations to the administration for their living. This robs the voter of his independence—and that should never happen in a free country.—William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

CIVIL SERVICE? WELL, MAYBE!

No administrations have equalled those of President Roosevelt and Governor Murphy in professing great respect for civil service. No administrations have done more to exploit and circumvent it. For the 29-year period prior to Roosevelt's administration there was a total of 313,179 additions to the civil service rosters of the federal government.

During the four years of his first term in office there were only 64,801 persons added to those rosters, in spite of the fact that there never in the history of the United States has been so many additional persons placed on government payrolls.

The president says it was necessary because of an "emergency." Yet the Democratic administration of President Woodrow Wilson, with the World War on hand, more than doubled the civilian force of the executive branch during that war, placing 72 percent of those appointments under civil service, and selecting them for their jobs through civil service examinations. There is no justification of the present spools being substituted because of an "emergency."—The Grand Rapids Times.

HE SAYS IT CANNOT BE DONE.

The only trouble with looking impartially at both sides of a question is that both sides wallop you for being on the other.—Charles Seed in The Rochester Clarion.

THEY DO NOT PAY.

Do strikes pay? Look about and see if you can find one that has—for the employee, or anyone else. And we ask you—Has the Horner woolen mills strike in Eaton Rapids paid anyone?—Robert Gifford in The Eaton Rapids Journal.

EFFICIENT SEEING

Devoted to Eye Welfare for Everyone

THE EQUIVALENT OF PAIN

The body has two methods of handling undesirable conditions. The one we are all acquainted with is the feeling of pain—a warning that something is decidedly wrong!

When a tooth aches, we know a nerve has been exposed and that there is probably a cavity in the tooth. What we little realize is that nature has another method of dealing with undesirable conditions—psychological ones.

After toothache has developed, if you will note carefully, you will discover there is a shifting of the entire load away from that portion of the jaw. The subconscious mind must take this action, for we are unaware of the shift. If you have a blister on your heel or a shoe that hurts, you will discover the same compensation at work, so that you "favor" that spot. Right? In the seeing act—when difficulties develop, as a rule, there is no pain. Conjunctions may accompany, dysfunction but not always. Nature shifts the burden—she "favors" the difficult task or trouble by easing you away from the use of the function as much as she can. People troubled with "shortness of breath" which is not a painful matter usually, will rarely be found walking, especially up-stairs—but they will scarcely realize that they have avoided the task.

In the same way, people with difficulties of visual fixation, of converging the two eyes toward an object of regard, will (without realizing it) do practically no reading and as little close work as possible. This accounts for the child who is all for games and sports and who hates books. It accounts for those who no longer read anything but the headlines in newspapers and for the popularity of the picture type of magazine. The equivalent of pain is a shift away from a difficult task. This is bad business for the individual. Favoring a sore joint in the foot is all right as a temporary expedient, but it would be a serious handicap to make a settled habit of some awkward or ridiculous gait. Favoring a visual system by giving up reading may do for a short time, but it is bad news for the individual for it cuts him off from valuable sources of information and deprives him of much pleasure. Let us heed these equivalents of pain, realizing that something can be done to make these concessions and compromises unnecessary.

A budget plan of easy payments is available for those who desire to take advantage of it.

Plymouth Produces New Onion King Who 'Knows His Onions'

Heil, Hitler? NO! It's Hell Price!

Champion onion grower of the city of Plymouth and all its environs! Maybe Lem L. Price is manager of the Consumers Power company's properties in Plymouth, Northville and Wayne. That's a job he does every day for a living, and there are probably other gas men just as good as he is, but when it comes to growing onions there's no one this side of the lazy folks down on the island of Bermuda who can hold a candle to him.

Last spring, when Plymouth's "gas magnate" turned his attention from jig-saws to gardening he planted a couple of short rows of Bermuda onions.

The other day he harvested his crop—and there wasn't an onion in the whole lot that weighed less than a pound!

"Some of 'em came near weighing more'n two pounds," he declared when he displayed one of his prizes at the office of The Plymouth Mail. (No, he didn't leave it he just brought it to the office for the editor to look at.) "They say onions are good for stomach aches, and head aches and chill blains, so I'm going to be prepared for the forthcoming political campaign as well as the winter," declared Onion King Price as he walked out of the office with his onion.

Miss Pollyanna Wright And William Hodson Wed October 1st

Pollyanna Wright, daughter of the late Mrs. Josephine Wright, and niece of Mrs. Claudia Housley, of Plymouth, spoke her marriage vows to William G. Hodson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hodson, Jr., of Rosedale Gardens, at 4:00 p.m., Saturday, October 1 in the home of the bridegroom on Melrose avenue, the wedding ring of the bride's mother being used in the service.

Rev. Walter Nichol, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth, performed the ceremony in candlelight before the fireplace in the living room, the mantle of which was decorated with white and white gladioli, asters and white tapers.

As the wedding march began Dorothy Hammond and Jennie Bassett formed an aisle carrying white satin ribbon from the stairway, where it was fastened to the mantle. They were followed down the stairway by Mary Lou Wright, sister of the bride, who wore an old fashioned dress of light blue taffeta made with long, full skirt and puffed sleeves. She carried a nosegay of pink and white roses.

The bride, who was lovely in her wedding robe of white satin, then descended and joined the wedding party. Her gown was made with long sleeves and long train. The full trail of tulle was caught on either side of her tulle and satin coronet with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of Madonna lilies. Elizabeth Vealey, of Plymouth, assisted the bride with her train.

John Newberry, of South Haven, acted as best man for his nephew, the bridegroom's only attendant.

Mrs. Hodson was charming in a gown of plum colored crepe blue transparent velvet trimmed as was Mrs. Housley in Persian in gold. Mrs. Josephine Newberry, of South Haven, grandmother of the bridegroom, chose black transparent velvet with a beautiful hand made collar of lace and Betty Housley, cousin of the bride, wore maroon velvet.

Among the guests were Mrs. Newberry and two sons, John and George of South Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Brown and daughter, Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Corey, of Chicago. Other guests were from Detroit, Plymouth and Rosedale Gardens.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home with covers laid for relatives and close friends numbering 36. The bridal table, which was covered with a beautiful lace cloth, was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and bridegroom, flanked by low narrow candle holders with white tapers and bowls of white baby mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodson left immediately on a ten day wedding trip to Chicago and South Haven after which they will reside in Lansing, where the bridegroom has a position in the Electro-Hygiene office. They are both well known here and have many friends who extend best wishes for a long, happy life together.

Rotarians Hear About Alaska

"To me, the most interesting thing about Alaska and one of the things that impressed me most, during my trip there last summer, were the beautiful flowers seen everywhere in that country," stated Mrs. Nellie Bird, principal of Central grade school, who was asked to give her impressions of that country to the club by George A. Smith.

The speaker told of the awe inspiring sights created by the glaciers and the mountains and informed Rotarians that they no longer need fear to eat canned salmon from Alaska because the canneries she inspected were spotlessly clean and only the choicest part of the fish was packed. She said that she was disappointed in the crops raised there and that the ones she saw were very poor. Oats grew so thin that peas were planted in the same field, she said.

She remarked about the excellent food that was served in almost every place they had a meal and noted that practically all restaurants served meals family style. Prices were considerably higher there than in this country and a shoe shine costs 50 cents, the speaker said. Mrs. Bird ended her remarks by saying that people who moved to Alaska seldom left there and as a whole she found them a most satisfied people living in a beautiful land.

GOLDEN SHELL

AN ENGINE THAT HASN'T ENOUGH oil in it is headed for the repair shop. And parts like pistons and bearings aren't cheap.

To help you skip repair costs, every Shell dealer listed below makes you this proposition for a limited time:

Drive into any one of our stations. If we don't check your oil without your telling us to, we will bring your oil level up to the full mark free.

We'll put in our Golden Shell, too, the oil that has been made especially for today's stop-and-go driving.

Maybe you never knew that stop and go calls for a certain kind of oil. Well, it does—and here's the reason why:

You average ten cold starts a day. If your oil is slow-flowing, one start can cause as much wear as 50 miles of steady running.

Golden Shell changes this. It's fast-flowing. The second you step on your starter, it coats each engine part with a tough oil film that doesn't break down... even under the heat of your steady running. In fact—

There's no finer oil at any price than Golden Shell.

Hatting Time Had By Hikers

Members of Unit I of the Detroit News Hikers had a perfect fall day Sunday, sunny and warm with trees painted in rich autumnal colors of red and yellow, but the excitement of the day was the killing of a rattlesnake in which the hikers stumbled about five miles from their starting point.

Angus Diack, leader of the unit, smashed the head of the snake with a club. The snake was 30 inches long and had five rattles, now in the possession of Hazel Lickfelt as a souvenir.

Ballet Caravan Opening Feature Of The Town Hall Series

Eugene Loring, whose choreography for "Yankee Clipper" was acclaimed by the New York press as the finest of the year, will dance the role of the restless farmer who joins up for a hard trip around the world on a clipper ship, when the Ballet Caravan, Lincoln Kirstein's celebrated New York company of 22, comes to Detroit next week. "Yankee Clipper" will be one of three ballets to be presented as the opening attraction of the Detroit Town Hall in the Fisher theatre Wednesday, October 12, at 11:00 a.m.

Music for "Yankee Clipper," written by Composer Paul Bowles, was played by the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra for the ballet's brilliant debut last year.

"Filling a Modern" the second ballet in the series, is an exciting theme based on an exciting day in the life of a gasoline station attendant.

The company boasts several well known dance artists. Marie Jeanne, premiere ballerina, at 17 is one of the youngest ballet stars in the world. Recently her picture adorned the cover of a popular American national magazine.

Service Costs 60 Cents Yearly

An appeal to Plymouth householders to assist garbage collectors in making collections was issued this week by City Manager Clarence H. Elliott.

There are certain rules and regulations concerning the collection of garbage and rubbish which must be observed if the service is to continue efficient, he said.

Residents are requested, he said, to place all garbage in regulation metal garbage cans and not to mix garbage with rubbish. As a means of protecting the city from claims for injuries which might prove expensive, the city has ordered garbage collectors not to lift heavy drums or other unwieldy containers filled with ashes or other weighty refuse. The garbage men also have been told to collect brush, Mr. Elliott said.

Co-operation with the workers in the garbage department will help to keep garbage collection rates at a low figure, he said. He asserted that Plymouth residents are paying only fifty cents per capita per month for the collection of garbage and rubbish.

In addition, he pointed out that, based on property valuation, if a house is assessed at $1,000 the cost for collection of garbage and rubbish amounts to only about 60 cents a year; on a $2,000 house, about $1.20 a year, and on a $3,000 house about $1.80 a year.

This amount, small when estimated on this individual basis, pays for two garbage and one rubbish collection in summer and one collection of each type in the winter time.

Kentucky Visitors Return Home

Fred D. Schrader and Perry Richwine returned early this week from Kentucky where they were nearly a week visiting some of the famous stock farms of that locality "just for the pleasure of looking at some of the finest horses we have ever seen," declared Mr. Schrader upon their return home.

Not only did the two visit many of the famous stables about Louisville and Lexington, but on the way down they stopped at a "buffalo ranch" where a riding contest was being staged for the benefit of a big crowd, and returned home with the "bacon."

Prizes were being offered to anyone who could ride one of the buffaloes, it was harnessed with bridle and strap.

As some of the daring riders approached the buffalo, it would stamp a bit, snort and take on a threatening attitude. That ended the efforts of those who would ride the buffalo.

When the two visitors from Plymouth showed up, little did they know that they were suspected that Mr. Schrader knew a whole lot about buffaloes and that he has a buffalo ranch of his own.

He took their dare to attempt to ride the buffalo, and started for the animal it began to stamp and snort, but knowing that that is just a natural trait of the buffalo, he mounted it, and the buffalo started off just as carefree as an old work horse. That ended the contest.

Hunting Area To Be Controlled

Under the terms of the plan, farmers are given permission by the Conservation department to search cars and game bags if they wish to ascertain that no illegal game is being taken and to demand keys of hunters' cars while they are hunting.

Each farmer signing up under the plan receives three tickets granting permission to hunt. The farmer may issue these tickets to anyone he desires. Persons wishing to hunt in the controlled area must get a ticket from the farmer before he can hunt.

The ticket permits the hunter to hunt anywhere in the controlled area. There is no charge for the tickets.

"There was some difference of opinion over this point," Dr. Champe pointed out. "Some persons believed that the ticket should permit the hunter to hunt only on the farm where the ticket was issued, while others believed that the ticket should be good anywhere on the controlled area, as is the case this year.

"However, this is only a trial. If the plan does not work as well as anticipated and the farmers desire to operate under the alternative plan, it will be changed next year.

"This hunting control plan is primarily for the protection of farmers, and they are the ones who must be pleased. Each farmer signing up with the association under the Williamson plan automatically becomes a member of the group, and of course, has a voice in any action the association takes."

In this respect, the Conservation department has promised to provide a game warden for the Plymouth hunting areas to see that the provisions of the plan are not violated. The department also accepted the association's request to use the plan this year even though the deadline had passed two weeks ago.

New Class Added To Night School

Third annual evening school sessions got under way Monday with about 60 persons enrolled in the five courses. Cleo Dykhouse, school principal announced.

The machine shop course proved so popular that it was necessary to add a new course to accommodate the number of persons who desired such instruction, he said.

One of the courses is in mechanical drawing. It will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays.

Persons who wish to do so still may enroll in the courses. Mr. Dykhouse said. He added that the landscaping class was not started Monday because there was an insufficient number of applicants. However, it was expected that more persons would enroll this week.

If a sufficient number of persons indicate an interest in taking the work the class will be started next Monday night, and will meet from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Monday nights.

The schedule of classes is as follows:

Home Furnishings	Mon. Wed.
History	7-9
Machine Shop	7-9
Mechanical Drawing	7-9
Shorthand	8-9
Typing	7-9

Named Members Of Committee

Charles H. Rathburn, Mrs. Clara Todd, Fred D. Schrader and Elton R. Eaton have been notified of their appointment as members of the Wayne county Republican committee for the next two years.

Their appointment follows the recent election of Matthew Bishop as the new Republican county chairman of Wayne county. Mr. Bishop, a former prosecuting attorney of this county, and regarded as one of the leading progressive Republicans in this part of Michigan, states that he is planning a most active campaign for this fall.

He is just perfecting his county organization and hopes to have a group, a working committee, that will truly represent the classes of people and accomplish success not only this fall but two years from now.

WE GO AHEAD and do things—it is easier to succeed than to explain why we failed.

Why Physicians Write Prescriptions
(By O. F. Beyer, of Beyer Drugs)
The following explanations of why physicians write prescriptions were made by a very busy and eminently successful doctor. "Because the patient's interests can best be served in that way. No individual doctor can afford to stock the many rare drugs indicated, from time to time, in the treatment of unusual cases."
"Few individual practitioners' offices are adequately equipped to do the laboratory work necessary at times to analyze the potency or freshness of drugs and chemicals, or to compound the drugs in the proper and scientific manner for the patient."
He might also have said that graduate pharmacists only are permitted by law to fill prescriptions.

Crossroads of Speech

then and now

Once upon a time the telephone switchboards of Michigan were like sleepy country crossroads. . . Today's switchboards are like the busy, well-regulated intersections of the most crowded motor highways, thronged with hurrying traffic day and night.

This traffic of speech has grown until now an average of 3,200,000 calls a day . . . about 2250 every minute . . . travel over Michigan Bell lines. It is the efficiency of the modern equipment developed by Bell System research and manufacturing skill . . . together with the work of highly trained telephone employees . . . that enables us to direct each message along the right road to its destination . . . without confusion and without delay — at reasonable cost.

You and The American Legion

Today, more than ever, this country of ours needs peace-time patriotic service. Strife and unrest are everywhere. One group would tempt us into unattractive, another group would lead down what we have already built and establish a rule of bloodshed and terror. A third group would have us believe that we must save the world by mixing in the bloody turmoil of Europe and the Far East.

You and other thinking Americans realize that our present form of government, backed by an adequate national defense, gives us individual freedom and the constitutional right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Washington freed us from Old World domination. Lincoln preserved the union through the tumult of the Civil War. Now, it is up to us to stand firm amidst the agitation of today, preserve the American principles of justice, freedom and democracy and maintain sufficient national defense to discourage envious, militaristic nations from attempts to capture this rich land of ours.

The Legion is working for the program of adequate national defense as a vital means of preserving peace.

And on the shoulders of Robert Nelson, commander, Royal Oak; Paul Dryer, vice-commander, Holly; Mark Hurley, general program, Milford; W. B. Gambee, publicity, Farmington; Herbert G. Hayes, child welfare, Royal Oak; H. C. Childress, Boy Scouts, Hazel Park; Frank Shoon, employment, Farmington; Edward Karow, national defense and aeronautics, Ferndale; Wylie Pearsall, bowling, Birmingham; McKinley Rogers, junior baseball, Hazel Park; Mark Huxley, Higgins Lake-Milford; Harold Owen, constitution and by-laws, Plymouth; rests the burden of carrying this program of Legion activities to completion.

We are counting on your help.

Offside Costs Plymouth 6-0 Game

Over-eagerness on the part of Plymouth in the only good scoring chance they received, coupled with superlative defense work on the part of the "class B" Van Dyke team, resulted in the Rocks losing their second game, 6-0.

The fateful touchdown came in the last part of the fourth period. After Van Dyke booted from Plymouth's pass yard line, the ball was received by Jack Ross, Plymouth quarterback, who was dropped on his own 25-yard line. The Rocks resorted to the Hitt-Prough combination which failed completely when all alert enemy back snapped the spiral up before it could reach the intended receivers. This play was Plymouth's downfall for it resulted in the enemy's ball, first down, on the Plymouth twenty. A searing line plunge netted the opposing gridgers five more precious yards. The Plymouth backfield sensed the next play too late. It was a lumpy pass, barely over the players' heads. Van Dyke's end leaped high and fell over the Plymouth goal line with the ball clutched tightly against his chest. Van Dyke failed to place the ball between the uprights on the try for the extra point and the score remained 6-0.

The starting lineup follows:

Plymouth	Van Dyke
Prough	LE Babuick
Hull	LT Murk
Rutherford	LG Combs
Curtiss	C Gahn
Olson	RG Kelter
Thams	RT Poppa
Jolliffe	RE Turner
Ross	QB Fachtine
Gettleton	LB Puzelli
Leach	RH Pail
Baker	FB Stuble

Referees: M. Blatt, Detroit; William Van Vleet, Detroit; John La Blond, Detroit.

Substitutions: Hitt for Gettleton; W. Darnell for Leach; and Dunham for N. Curtiss.

JUNIOR PLAY TRY-OUTS DECIDE THE CAST

Twenty-nine Juniors turned out to prove their dramatic ability, when try-outs for the Junior play, "Our Children" by Louis M. Anspacher, were held Monday afternoon. Each person was asked to read a few lines of the character he wished to portray. Some of the parts, especially those of the boys, are in German dialect.

After the eliminations those who make up the cast are Betty Barlow, Jean Anderson, Margaret Erdelyi, Dorothy Bohl, Patricia Arnold, Ruth Ash, Patricia Braidel, Jane Springler, Martin Horvath, James Stevies, Roger McLain, Warren Perkins, Richard Strong and Eugene Bakewell. Practice, under the direction of Miss Ford, began this week. The Juniors will present the play at the high school auditorium on Thursday and Friday, December 1 and 2.

SENIOR GIRL RESERVES WELCOME TWENTY-TWO GIRLS INTO CLUB

Tall white tapers and small white candles lighted the way of 22 girls Wednesday night, September 28, when they entered the dim auditorium to be recognized by an impressive ceremony into the Senior Girl Reserve organization and take their places in the circle of light formed by the old members.

Dorothy Roe, the president, carried on the service and Annabel Brown, vice-president, led the new girls into the auditorium to repeat the Girl Reserve pledge and listen to the reading of the constitution by Gloria Hartling, the secretary. The girls then signed the roll and joined the circle of light with the old members. Shirley Mason read an interpretation of blue written by Arlene Soth and Dorothy Roe, and Arlene read an interpretation of white written by Phyllis Stewart, a former member of the Girl Reserves.

The code, slogan, and purpose were repeated in unison by the members and then after a prayer the girls marched out singing "Follow the Gleam." Music was furnished throughout the ceremony by Linnea Vikstrom.

Refreshments were served after the service to the mothers, advisers and the girls and then the remainder of the evening was spent in singing club songs. The new girls who were recognized were: Margery Merriam, Evelyn Ewery, Dorothy Bohl, Betty Brown, Barbara Robertson, Patricia Kinahan, Bernice Kinahan, Patricia Mason, Ardith Rowland, Betty Sheppie, Virginia Rock, Mary Goits, Pearl Denton, Helen Jones, Jeanette Welch, Doris Starkweather, Jane Bakewell, Jean Hamill, Elaine Thompson, Roberta Greenaway, Helen Jane Springer, and Margaret Brandt.

HI-Y ELECTS OFFICERS

Rocks Meet Rochester Today

Today, Plymouth will meet Rochester in battle on the gridiron at Rochester. In 1937 our team was victorious by the score of 25-0, but this year Coach Jacob predicts a much closer battle. He also states that Plymouth will have a much stronger team than against Van Dyke, when many who will be back today were on the injured list. The probable line-up for Plymouth will be either Curtiss or Dunham at center; Lorenz, Olson, Thams, or Rutherford at guard; Krumm, Darnell, Hull, or Jordan at tackle; Jolliffe, Birchall, Prough, or Sessions at ends; Ross or R. Norman at quarter-back; Hitt, Gettleton, Scarpulla, or Leach at the halves; and Baker or Macy at fullback.

WANTA BUY A HOT-DOG?

Well, the Senior Super-Sales women were at it again. Friday night's football game gave the sales women a chance to dispose of their wares.

We were off with a kettle of hot-dogs at 3:30. It didn't take long to sell them, except the last one. I don't know why, but no one seems to want the last in anything, even hot-dogs, but at last we succeeded and were back to the booth for more. This kept up until four kettles were sold. Then it was time to give someone else a turn.

"I'm broke," and "This is Friday," were two of the commonest excuses for not buying. "This is Friday," is the only one that we, the Super Sales women, considered valid.

Many people wouldn't buy until they had been coaxed, and some came back for more.

Beginning at 10 cents apiece we gradually worked down to five cents for our hot dogs (plus the bun). That was because of the sophomores' competition. When the game was over, we didn't even know who had won the game. That's what comes of selling hot-dogs and being interested in the occupation.

MR. LATTURE RECEIVES M. A. DEGREE

At long last, after seven years of hard work, Mr. Latture received his Master of Arts degree from the University of Michigan last week. In order to earn this degree Mr. Latture attended the university at night and during the summer. This degree can be earned in one year provided one has no outside work and attends classes every day, but it is a hard job, otherwise. Only A and B grades count toward such a degree.

IF'S AND ANDS

Harry F's definition of a trapezoid heard in sixth geometry class is, "A trapezoid is a triangle with the top cut off."

It all came about after an argument in third hour Latin class. Miss Hearn pointed to the door and told B. to leave unceremoniously. As he was leaving he said, "Haven't you changed your mind, I like it in here?"

If Jane S. hadn't been elected for the part of Sophy in the junior play she wouldn't be embarrassed and have to show her temper.

A new name has been acquired for students wearing the new crepe soled shoes. Miss Allen suggested that be called "people on noble platforms."

NEW PLAN EVOLVED FOR HALL DUTY, PUPILS PARTICIPATE—EDITORIAL

At a recent student council meeting a discussion took place concerning the crowded, untidy halls. A plan of closer overseeing on the part of the teachers seems to be taking care of the crowding in the halls. In place of all the teachers being more or less on hall duty, there are three teachers only who are on duty for work on each floor.

This is a duty for the students under the supervision of the teachers. There is also a duty for the students alone. This is the maintenance of our halls through the day. Several of the clubs of this school are to set an example for the remainder of the student body by picking up waste paper. The members of student council believe that there are sufficient waste-baskets placed conveniently. There is no reason for students not dropping their waste in a basket instead of on the floor. No one likes to live in a house that is untidy nor does he enjoy entering a lawn that is cluttered with paper. The same principle applies to the school where students spend so much time. A school lawn free of lunch papers and trash and a school building with clean halls and classrooms is a pleasant sight for visitors and students alike.

SOCIAL NEWS

Glady's Hammond spent the week-end in Detroit with friends. June Gardner entertained some friends at a hot dog roast Friday evening. Those present were: Martha Ingall, Dorothy Hammond, Gladys Ritchie, Betty Van Kalveren, Shirley Burnham, Betty Grammel, Beverly Eschels, Arlene Hesse, Gladys Salow, Gus Eschels, Bill Reeder, James Bonham, Charles Bonham, Guy Mudge, Bill Mudge, Bill Hogan, Luther Hogan, Bill Clark, David Ingall, and Bill Wilson.

A group of senior girls gave a dance at Rosedale Gardens Saturday night.

Ruth Ash spent Friday evening with her sister in Redford. Ruth Kirkpatrick was the overnight guest of Pat Braidel. Friday.

Helen Lisul and Elburna Shrader spent Sunday in Dearborn.

Celia Lewis, Arlene Soth, Doris Buzzard, Charlotte Jolliffe, Belva Barnes, Barbara Olaver, Mary Jane Olaver, Dick Dunlop, Miss Walldorf, Mr. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Evans, and Mr. Dykhouse were among those who saw Michigan win from Michigan State at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The many friends of Phyllis Barrows will be glad to know she was in town this week-end as the guest of Barbara Olaver. Miss Wells drove to her home at Niles, this week-end.

DRAMA CLASS USES DOUBLE TIME OF LAST YEAR

Miss Winnifred Ford, director of dramatics, has found the hour class for drama very useful. Instead of the usual club for this type of work, two hours a week are allotted Miss Ford. The aim of the course is to interest students in the technicalities of acting. Several plays are in the stages of production at the present time. Under this system it is possible for the actors to rehearse in front of their most critical audience—fellow actors—thus enabling them to become better acquainted with the most minute details of stage production. Many points such as stage business, walking on stage, position of actors in relation to speaking, ad-lib, or the gentle art of meaningless conversation have been studied.

INFORMATION ABOUT CLASS ROOM WORK

Mr. Sutherland's science classes, in an effort to further their understanding of nature's many processes, have made interesting experiments in various scientific undertakings. Bob Erdelyi in the eight B science class made working models of overshot and undershot wheels in a study of the practical usage of water.

The organisms present in the dust of our own homes was demonstrated by removing the dust from a vacuum cleaner, putting it on one piece of bread, and sealing the bread in a jar, while an identical piece of bread save for the dust was sealed in another jar. The bread molded first on which the dust had been placed.

These experiments are on inspection in Mr. Sutherland's room.

The commercial arithmetic classes under the direction of Principal Dykhouse and Miss Cary are using a new book called Business Mathematics. Principal Dykhouse states that this is a big improvement over the one used last year in being more closely connected with future business career or with further study in a business course.

Miss Walldorf's public speaking classes are composed of 80 per cent boys. They are working on Speeches of Information to be given in three minutes. The 10A section has read nine short stories from their literature books "Prose and Poetry for Appreciation." They will now turn to non-fiction. Correct usage and pronunciation has been the objective for the past few weeks of the 10B sections.

After reading the "Sire de Maletroit's Door," the eighth grade English class turned dramatic and presented the story in the form of a play. Each pupil wrote his own part and planned his own costume. The cast included: William Upton as Denis de Beaulieu; Dorothy Fisher as Blanche de Maletroit; Richard Virgo as Sire de Maletroit; Louise Powell as the Priest; and Gerald Shoemaker and Bill Donovan as soldiers.

A campaign to clean up the halls of Plymouth high and to rid them of paper, noise, and crowdedness has been started by the student council. The art classes are making posters to place around the halls and in the classrooms to further the work of the campaign.

Illustrating arithmetic problems provides a little variety from the regular day by day routine of the classroom the seventh grade mathematics classes maintain. Each pupil illustrates his own problems and the best papers receive distinction by being placed on the bulletin board.

TALENT TO BE PROUD OF

Plymouth students are probably not aware of the fact that there are many talented musicians in our orchestra. Some of the members who have been in the orchestra the longest and have studied the most years are Ellis Brandt, Donald Mielbeck, Neal Curtis, Robert Lorenz, and Neoma Snyder. Ellis has studied the violin for nine years; Donald, Neal, Robert, and Neoma have studied the clarinet, cornet, trombone, and violin, respectively, for six years. The personnel of the orchestra is: violins—E. Brandt, N. Snyder, O. Gorton, M. Krumm, A. Parmelee, D. Richards, and H. Stewart; clarinets, E. Kreger, J. Gorton, A. Fulton, and D. Mielbeck; saxophones, M. Horvath and P. Campbell; cornets, N. Curtis, B. Kenyon, and K. McMullen; trombones, R. Lorenz; drums, R. Strong; bassoon, E. Whitaker; piano, C. Campbell.

DELIGHTED BOYS ADOPT NEW MACHINE SHOP

It has become apparent after the first week of the fall school term that both Mr. Campbell, the teacher, and those boys who are taking metal work and related subjects have taken the new machine shop in which they are working straight to their hearts. Every one of the seventeen new machines are occupied every hour that the lads use the shop. Three more machines will soon be added, and it is almost a certainty that they will be humming steadily from the day they are installed.

The shop, to which odds and ends are still being added, was begun one and a half years ago. Construction was performed by WPA labor.

Mr. Wallace, who has charge of the old shop, has introduced a system whereby students are chosen to take care of checking out tools and doing the clerical work connected with the shop.

EDITORIAL

Will the United States Fight in the Next Foreign War?

In the World War we should have learned a lesson about leaving our shores to fight, but as yet we have no way of telling whether we have or not. Some organizations have tried to get the public's opinion on this question of our fighting in the Eastern Hemisphere, by sending out questionnaires, but after the recent downfall of a leading magazine over the presidential election it is evident that these public opinion questionnaires sometimes go entirely wrong. One thing the United States got out of the World War was the privilege of paying the biggest share of the debt. In this respect the war can be likened to a five course dinner in which four courses have been eaten; then a friend joins the diners in the fifth course. When the bill is to be paid the friend is found to be the only one with enough money to pay the bill.

In Plymouth, high school student opinion against United States fighting abroad is very strong, according to a census taken by the Pilgrim Prints. While the opinion here is very strong some of the pacifist unions, who started to keep the American youth from ever getting in a foreign war, are weakening because it is said when a bully suddenly appears even the most peaceful wish to get rid of him, and sometimes peace for all demands that he be squelched.

Masons Honor Fathers And Sons

Nearly 160 Masons gathered last Friday night at the Masonic Temple to pay tribute to the father and son members of the organization. It was the largest turnout of its kind to ever attend the lodge here.

John H. Muyskens, professor at the University of Michigan, entertained the guests at the banquet with an address entitled, "Hidden Meanings in Words."

After the banquet the Ford Rolling Mill degree team, consisting of 45 members, exemplified the third degree in long form for the members.

ROTARIANS GREET CHARTER MEMBERS BACK FROM HOSPITAL

Rotarians very enthusiastically greeted Otto Beyer and William Connet, two charter members, last week after their return to Rotary meetings following several weeks of hospital treatment. Both are entirely recovered and feeling the best. They have in many months, Mr. Beyer was a patient in Ford hospital and Mr. Conner in Harper hospital. Rotarians made it possible for both these enthusiastic and loyal club members to maintain 100 per cent attendance records by making official visits to the hospitals each week.
