

Agreement Is Reached As Terms Of New Dance Ordinance At Special Commission Meeting

Deadline Is Set At 1 a.m.; Sunday Dances Barred

In a special meeting Monday, members of the city commission agreed on a draft for an ordinance to regulate dances and dance schools in the city of Plymouth, City Manager Clarence H. Elliott announced this week.

The draft will go to a first and second reading on October 17 and possibly will receive a final reading on November 7.

Some opposition to features of a draft mapped earlier have been ironed out with objectionable features removed, Mr. Elliott said. As the ordinance cannot go into effect until 21 days after passage by the city commission the earliest date on which the ordinance can become a law will be November 28, he added.

The details of the ordinance were gone over thoroughly at the special meeting so it is not expected that there will be any delay over passage of the rule.

Salient features of the legislation would require all dances to end at 1:00 a.m., the prohibition of dances on Sundays, prohibition of marathon dancing, running or walking contests, or any other such form of endurance contest. Penalties are a fine not to exceed $100 or not more than 90 days imprisonment or both in discretion of the court.

The type of dances which the city will restrict are any dances at which the public or any part of the general public may gain admission.

Permits would be required for conduct of any public dance or for any dance school. Charges for permits would be 50 cents for each dance and $2 a year for dance schools.

The proposed ordinance specifies that all public dance places must conform with all rules and regulations pertaining to fires, sanitation and public morals.

The ordinance forbids smoking while dancing, drinking of alcoholic liquors at dances and indecent acts or disorders of any kind. The sponsor of the dance is made responsible and is subject to the penalties if the rules are violated.

Principal changes in the dance ordinance are employment of floormen, leaving and returning to dances and discrimination between sexes as to admission prices.

In an earlier draft of the ordinance the sponsor of a public dance was held responsible for the responsibility of providing a floorman to see that all rules were observed by dancers. This is not required in the new draft.

The former draft also stated that it would be unlawful for a person to leave the dance hall and be re-admitted without the original admission charge being made. The old proposal also would have made it a breach of law for sponsors to charge different admission prices for men than for women. Both of these items fell by the wayside when the new draft was prepared.

As a matter of word-trimming, it was not stated in the new proposal that fraternal organizations, churches, chartered clubs and schools do not have to obtain a permit when they sponsor dances for their own membership. This rule still holds.

Miss Alice Walker And Claude Gebhardt Have Church Wedding

The wedding of Alice Mastro Walker, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam W. Walker, of Bay City, and Claude Earl Gebhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gebhardt of this city, took place at high noon, Wednesday, October 12, in St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church with Rev. Edgar Hoenecke officiating. Mr. Gebhardt played Lohengrin's wedding march, while the wedding party took their places.

The bride wore a gown of white moire with a tiny hat of ostrich feathers. She carried a bouquet of white roses and bouvardia.

Charlotte L. Walker was her sister's only attendant. She wore a gown of aquamarine taffeta with dubonnet accessories. She carried dark red roses tied with aquamarine ribbon.

Following the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served in the Crystal room of the Mayflower hotel. The table was centered by a tiered wedding cake with bowls of roses at either side.

Mr. and Mrs. Gebhardt left by motor for Chicago. Mrs. Gebhardt chose a green monotone wool tweed for traveling with which she wore grey accessories.

Guests were present from Detroit, Walled Lake, Monroe, Bay City, Gladwin and Plymouth.

The young couple have many friends in and about Plymouth who wish them every success and happiness in the future years.

Ex-Service Men Will Sponsor Armistice Ball

Harry Hunter Named Head Of Committee

Plymouth Ex-Service Men's Club will sponsor the fifteenth annual Armistice Ball on Friday, November 11, it was announced this week. The ball will take on a special significance as it will mark the twentieth anniversary of the end of the World War.

Highlighting the special program at the ball will be an entertainment at 11:00 p.m. of a tableau exemplifying the end of the war and the "farewell" being given the living soldier and his dead comrade left on the battlefield of France.

Memories of 20 years ago will be the theme of the ball, but the sponsors will undertake in connection with the dance a project looking to the future.

The entire proceeds, it was announced, will be used to purchase shoes and rubbers to enable underprivileged Plymouth children to attend school in the winter months.

Harry Hunter has been selected as general chairman of the affair and he is busy selecting committees to assist him in the project.

Phoenix Lake Being Filled

Construction of the sewer line across the bottom of Phoenix lake has been completed and this week the out-let was closed and the lake is being filled. It will probably be some two weeks before the lake is back to its usual level.

If by chance there should be heavy rains for a number of days, Ford officials say it will probably take about 10 days to bring both Newburg and Phoenix lakes up to their former levels.

The lakes were drained during the summer to permit the construction of the sewer line that will serve Plymouth, Northville and the various county and city institutions about here.

The Lafo-Lou club will meet Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. William Rengert for a pot-luck supper and evening of cards. They met with Mr. and Mrs. George Gorton, October 1 for their first meeting of the season.

Legion Auxiliary Installs Officers

The American Legion Auxiliary held installation rites Tuesday evening at the new Legion hall. The ceremony was attended by 125 persons.

The newly installed officers are Mrs. Norman Peterson, second vice president; Mrs. Edward Ayers, secretary; Mrs. Harold Anderson, treasurer; Mrs. Jessie Thomas, chaplain; Mrs. Don Ryder, historian, and Mrs. Leon Merriam, sergeant at arms.

The gavel of office and flowers were presented to the new president, and eight little girls presented corsages to members of the installing team.

Entertainment followed, with an address by Harold Owen, commander of the Legion post. The tap dance by Jean and Joan McCullough, and a piano solo by Howard Walbridge.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP FRANCHISE IS APPROVED LIGHT VOTE

Plymouth township electors in a special election Tuesday confirmed issuance of a franchise to the Detroit Edison company by a vote of 11 to 2.

The election, first of its kind in 30 years or more, aroused little interest and resulted in the lowest turnout in a township election in about the same period of time.

The franchise approved in the election was passed by the Plymouth township board September 6 and permits the Detroit Edison to erect poles, lay conduits and maintain this and other equipment for distributing electricity for public and private use.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Trucks have as their guests their cousins Mr. and Mrs. Herman Luehmann and two sons, Fred and Gunter, from a province of Hanover in Germany. They came for the silver wedding celebration of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Luehmann, of Detroit, which will be held on Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Max Trucks will also attend the wedding anniversary party.

City Red Cross Will Start Annual Drive

Seeks To Maintain Record As Best In The Nation

Seeking to maintain a record which the city has held consistently for several years as the leading contributor to the Red Cross for its size in Michigan and in the nation as well, the Plymouth Red Cross committee will open a two-week membership drive beginning Monday, October 17.

The ladies of the Red Cross are asking all Plymouth residents to renew or to apply for memberships in the organization this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bennett, who have been leaders in the campaign to increase the membership total in Plymouth, commented that "there is possibly no time in the last 10 years when the work of the Red Cross is of such vital need and value throughout the entire world as at the very time."

Every time you read of some disaster sweeping any section of the world, and it might be nearer next time, it is certain that the Red Cross is bringing material aid and comfort to the victims.

Just in the last year, ended June 30, for example, the Red Cross expended $6,634,810.46 in giving food, clothing, shelter and medical aid and in rehabilitating homes for 420,000 persons who were victims of disasters in the United States alone.

What do these disasters amount to? Everyone probably read forgotten at the time and have points out it might have been harder to forget except that aid was rendered quickly and efficiently.

These disasters—in this county alone for one year—consisted of nine typhoid epidemics, five epidemics of diphtheria, 43 floods, one forest fire, five hailstorms, one mine explosion, three refugee relief cases, one school bus accident, one shipwreck, one snowstorm, one temporary emergency relief case, 35 tornadoes, two typhoons and four wind storms.

Most of the disasters are the type in which everyone might suddenly be in dire need of assistance. That assistance is given quickly, adequately and courageously, the Red Cross points out, through the generosity of American people who play their part in helping those in sudden distress by becoming a member of the organization and paying the annual fees.

The drive for memberships in Plymouth will last two weeks. In the first week booths will be set up in local banks to assist city residents in joining.

In the second week there will be a house-to-house canvass for memberships.

The missionary society of the Lutheran church will meet on Tuesday, October 18, at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Howard Last, west of Plymouth, Mrs. Last will be assisted by Mrs. Paul Groth, Mrs. Oliver Goldsmith, Mrs. William Ash, Mrs. Joseph Schultz and Miss Amelia Gayde. Ladies please bring own dishes.

Plymouth Woman Forced To Cut Short Tour Of Europe Due To War Scare

Mrs. Steven Horvath, of 990 Brush street, who recently returned from a trip to Central Europe, was a war refugee and didn't know it, she said this week.

She marvelled at the fact that all the time she was in Berlin, Hungary and Czechoslovakia, although she and other members of her party read the newspapers daily, there was no hint that Europe and the world were on the brink of war.

"There were lots of stories about the Chinese-Japanese war," she said, "but the newspapers did not mention the fact that war was much closer to home than that. They were headlines on floods, which I saw myself, and other news, but nothing was said about the important events that were happening in Europe.

"Not until I received word from the American consul at Budapest, while I was visiting in Germany, that all American travelers were ordered to leave Europe did I know that war was so close.

"Of course the first day that we boarded the ocean liner to return home we saw American reports on the situation and realized—what we had already suspected from the sight of so many men in uniform—that Europe was mobilizing.

There was little war talk among the natives of the three European countries Mrs. Horvath visited, she said. However, in Czechoslovakia, where she visited relatives, some admitted to be that they feared war might break out any minute.

There were other notes of discord, too. When Mrs. Horvath was traveling in Czechoslovakia alone, after she left her party briefly, she said that twice she

Woman's Club Opens Season At Luncheon

Shanghai Resident Tells Of Events In New China

A large attendance opened the first fall luncheon meeting of the Woman's Club of Plymouth Friday in the Hotel Mayflower. About 70 guests and members were present. Following the luncheon they adjourned to the Crystal room where an interesting talk was presented by Mrs. Christine C. Chambers of Shanghai, on "The Present Situation in China in the Light of 25 Years of Progress."

Mrs. Chambers said that China is one of the oldest civilized countries and not uncivilized as many consider it. That the people were contented, that years ago the great majority of the 400 million population were satisfied to let those who were educated rule them and that the least they had to do with the government was the better the longer it true, and China has become a modern nation, she said.

While China was working to become a republic, Japan was strengthening her army, getting ready for war, she added. China was absolutely unprepared for war but would not give up, she said.

China made great progress between the years 1932-37, built airlines, motor lines and, most significant, sought the right way to do things, she concluded.

Student Exhibit Of Art Oct. 18-20

Through the efforts of the art department of Plymouth high school an unusual free exhibition of student art is to be shown here on October 18, 19, and 20.

For the past 11 years the editor of the Scholastic magazine with the help of eminent American artists, have sponsored a competitive art contest for high school students. The total number of art pieces now on exhibit in the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh amounts to 140,000.

Of the usual two galleries to accommodate the pictures, eight large galleries are used for this purpose.

This exhibition is now on a tour of American museums and schools under the auspices of the American Federation of Art. It has already appeared among other places at the Chicago Fine Art Institute and the Smithsonian Institute.

This exhibit is sponsored by the American Crayon company.

Everyone who has ever seen these pictures is amazed at their fine quality and general excellence. These may be seen at the high school, October 18, 19, 20.

Name Committee For Christmas

At a meeting, Wednesday evening, October 12, at the city hall, the Civic committee appointed a Christmas committee to handle this year's community Christmas festival.

The festival for Christmas 1938 will be directed by a committee of seven as an executive committee, to be assisted by a score or more to be appointed by this executive committee.

A meeting of the full committee is scheduled to meet at the city hall Tuesday evening, October 18 at 7:00 p.m.

The executive committee appointed last Wednesday consists of Mrs. George Chute, Mrs. Otto Beyer, Mrs. George Strasen, Floyd Eckles, Henry Fisher, Mrs. Elton Eaton, vice-chairman and Mrs. A. B. Thompson, general chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Holmes and daughters Kathryn and Barbara Jean of Detroit and Mrs. Dewey Smith and daughter were Sunday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Chambers.

Youngsters Asked To Avoid Begging

Police Chief Vaughan Smith, co-operating with the Civic committee, which is sponsoring a city-wide party, issued a request this week that children refrain from house-to-house begging for cookies, candies and fruits the week before and on Halloween.

"Parents and others are contributing to a fund to provide refreshments and prizes for city children at a 'Halloween picture' and they should not have to pay out twice," he explained.

"Every child will be provided with something good to eat in addition to entertainment which will include a moving picture," he added, "and they should not expect to get this and plan to go out on begging tours as well."

The Friday night dance will be for young people who are in the seventh and eighth grades. The Saturday night dance will be devoted to ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth graders. Prizes will be awarded for costumes at both affairs.

Amateur entertainment programs will feature both of the social events. Anyone is eligible to participate in the contests.

Milk Fund Ball Entertainment Selected

Ticket Sales Are Mounting, Officers Report

Plymouth residents are going to see to it that the school children of this city who need milk are going to have plenty of it, it is the hope of the Milk Fund Ball on October 21 is any criterion. Mrs. Edwin Campbell, president of the Central Parent-Teachers' association, directing the ball, reports an excellent sale to date but that there is still a number of tickets to be sold. She said that one woman already had reported the sale of 70 tickets.

The tickets are 50 cents each and provide entrance to the public dance at the Masonic temple. Proceeds of the ticket sales, after expenses are met, will go to provide milk for underprivileged children at central and Starkweather schools.

So far, no results have been made available on the ticket-selling contest between the Central and Starkweather Parent-Teacher associations. However, both organizations are expected to have a good start on a fund for buying milk for the school children.

Mrs. Campbell urged residents this week to buy a ticket for the charitable dance even if they are unable to attend, as the money will go for a good purpose.

The entertainment as outlined this week will consist of tap dances by Lou Proctor, of the Terrace Garden Dancing school, Plymouth; singing by Betty Ridley, accompanied by Carol Campbell, and dances by Maxine Willard.

Mrs. Frank Pierce, president of the Starkweather P.T.A., announced this week that wide publicity would be given to the Milk Fund Ball by Sally Woodward, woman news commentator on the Michigan Radio Network.

In a letter to Mrs. Pierce, Miss Woodward said that she would broadcast an announcement of the dance, its purpose and of the persons directing the affair on her program at 8:45 a.m., Wednesday, October 19, over WXYZ.

"I will do my very best to announce the dance that is to be given by the P.T.A. of the Plymouth schools," Miss Woodward wrote. "I remember distinctly telling the radio audience about some of your other activities in past years, and it will give me a great deal of pleasure to help in any way I can to further your work."

Heads of the two parent-teacher organizations extended their drives to sell tickets this week. The Central group is selling yellow tickets and the Starkweather organization is selling blue tickets.

The two groups will share expenses and the costs of the dance, but each will keep for its own use the money they realized from sales of advance tickets.

However, each side argued that everyone buy a ticket, regardless of its color, as children who receive the daily and whose parents are unable to provide it are the ones who will benefit, not the organizations who are providing the dance.

MRS. DINKGRAVE AND SON TO OPERATE MARKET

Mrs. Benjamin Dinkgrave, whose husband died September 28, and her son, William, announced this week that they will continue to operate the Penniman Market, founded and operated by the late Mr. Dinkgrave.

They will be in the store daily to serve old friends and customers, they said, and hope for the continued patronage of those who were served regularly at the market.

Local Growers Get Big Crops

Crops are crops this year. There isn't much question about that.

Fred D. Schrader, a few days ago, threshed the oat crop at his farm out West Territorial road. When the job was finished he discovered that the oats had averaged 74 bushels per acre. He harvested nine acres.

Wesley Wilson, living west of the Detroit House of Correction on the Five Mile road has just dug one acre of his potato crop. It has produced 230 bushels of good sized potatoes. This total does not include the smaller spuds in the hills.

While digging potatoes on the Archibald Herrick place, known as the old Ebersole farm on Bradner road, Charles Paulger dug 22 good sized potatoes from one hill. 16 of the potatoes being exceptionally large size.

But this is not all. George Felton, living at 1450 Sheridan avenue in Plymouth, brought to The Plymouth Mail office the other day a peanut plant he had grown in his garden that had enough peanuts on it to fill a sack the size that one gets at Smitty's place for five cents.

The front window of The Plymouth Mail office has attracted more than ordinary attention with its number of garden and farm displays during the past few days.

Big List Of Prizes Is Promised For Children At Citywide Hallowe'en Party And Parade

Elected State Kiwanis Official

Sixty to 70 prizes for children participating in the Civic committee Hallowe'en party were promised this week as the committee in charge met again to work on the elaborate program. The prizes will be displayed in store windows in plenty of time for youngsters to see what they are like.

Plenty of refreshments also was made a must part of the program. A good movie will highlight the entertainment. And a special show for children up to and including the second grade will be arranged at the city hall at 6:30 p.m. Hallowe'en.

These younger children will move at the city hall and will join the line of march of the Hallowe'en parade at that point so that they will not be too tired by the time they arrive at the center of town where the paraders will disband.

The committee also announced, will be arranged so that it will end at an earlier hour than last year, one, that the younger children will not be tired out, and, second, so that the older children still will be free to attend private Hallowe'en parties of their own.

Boy and Girl Scouts are being asked to take an important part in the entire program in the way of helping to direct younger children.

C. A. R. Program Starts Activities

Fall activities of the Plymouth Corners society of the Children of the American Revolution were started Saturday when the first meeting of the year was held at the home of Mrs. D. F. Yerkes, of Northville.

The meeting was featured by a talk by Betty Ann Mastick, junior president, on her trip to Alaska. Following her talk she presented moving pictures of the scenes she visited.

A questionnaire on Alaska in which members participated was conducted by Jane Holden, vice president of the Plymouth Corners society and a granddaughter of the hostess.

The meeting was attended by Mrs. Robert K. Leary, of Northville, the new senior president. Mrs. Yerkes invited the chapter to be her guest at a pot-luck luncheon, after which the children entertained themselves on the spacious grounds of the home.

In addition to the members, the following honored guests were present at the meeting: Mrs. Frederick B. Sidway, D. Detroit, honorary life member of Plymouth Corners society; Mrs. Charles W. Horr, Jr., of Detroit, state recording secretary of the C.A.R.; Mrs. John Litsenberger, of Northville, state flag chairman, and Mrs. D. F. Yerkes, of Northville, president of the C.A.R. Cochrane chapter of the D.A.R.

Officials Ask Restraint Of Fires On Street

In this kind of weather leaves come tumbling down and tarvia and concrete come crumbling down when the leaves are burned on city streets. Plymouth officials commented this week.

They asked householders to refrain from burning piles of leaves on the streets, as the heat melts the tarvia and causes concrete to crumble and crack. Resultant damage not only ruins the streets but dents the public pocketbook as taxpayers have to pay for the repairs.

Former Plymouthite To Wed October 20

The many friends of Mrs. Berg Moore will be pleasantly surprised to know that an invitation to her approaching wedding are now in the mail. Mrs. Moore left Plymouth a few years ago to make her residence in Indianapolis, Indiana and she will be betrothed to Allan Powers of that city on the 20th of this month.

McAllister To Observe BUSINESS ANNIVERSARY

Roy McAllister, manager of the Cities Service filling station at 1722 Northville road, will observe the end of his first year of business at that address on Saturday, October 15.

"There won't be any celebration," he said, "but I am highly gratified at the success of the venture. It has been a pleasant year. Business has been much better than we anticipated."

Liberal patronage of old friends and new has helped to build up the business, Mr. McAllister said, and he expects on that basis that business will continue to be good throughout the coming year.

Suburban Bar Members Winners

The Suburban Bar association of Wayne county, which includes attorneys from Plymouth, Northville, Wayne and Belleville, attended the state convention of the State Bar association at Grand Rapids last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and were rendered the honor of presentation of a beautiful attendance trophy, a picture of which appears in this issue of The Plymouth Mail.

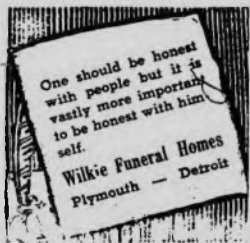

The local association took particular interest in the meeting due to widespread attention given by the State Bar association to a pending amendment which will require the appointment of judges rather than their election by the people. The president of the State Bar association, George E. Brand, is vigorously supporting this bill, and the State Bar association, under his supervision, is promoting passage.

The local Suburban Bar association had a special meeting in which the amendment was discussed, and two of the outstanding circuit court judges of the state were present, and their opinions were reviewed with reference to the advisability of the proposed amendment. It was the unanimous opinion of all the members present that the new amendment to the method of choosing judges was detrimental to the interest of the people of the state of Michigan. The opinion of the local bar association was made known to the State Bar association, and later, through the Detroit papers, the local bar association was somewhat criticized for their stand which they had taken against the majority opinion of the associations throughout the state.

All the members attending reported an unusually instructive convention. Two outstanding speakers were on the program, namely: Hon. Carl V. Weygant, chief justice of the supreme court of Ohio, who spoke on the inside executive problems of the supreme court; and the Hon. David H. Elton, K. C., mayor of Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, who delivered an unusual address as to the closeness of the British Empire and the United States with reference to all foreign matters. He even went so far as to advance the theory that the United States should unconditionally support England and the British Isles in the event of any type of war.

Little Robin Latus, who has lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Greer on South Main street for over two years left Tuesday with her mother for California where they will make their home with relatives.

Retired Plymouth Pastor And Wife Celebrate Golden Wedding Today

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES STRASEN

Fifty years ago today (Friday) the Rev. Charles Strasen, of Toledo, took as his bride Miss Christina Link, of Springfield, Illinois, and the Trinity German Evangelical Lutheran church, of which the bride's father was pastor, wasn't big enough to hold the crowd that came to see the ceremony.

Sunday, October 16, the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Strasen will hold a reception on their golden wedding day for all friends who wish to congratulate them in the Crystal room of the Hotel Mayflower. The reception will be held from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Strasen have lived in Plymouth many years, and Mr. Strasen formerly was pastor of the Lutheran church here.

During the years since 1915 when they came from Bay City to Plymouth to make their future home, the entire Strasen family has made a host of close friends, the children, as well as the parents, being held in the highest of esteem. The children are Esther Strasen, of Detroit; Hanna, George, Martin, Cordula, Mrs. E. C. Drews, Alfred and Theodore, all of Plymouth.

The occasion of their wedding 50 years ago was of such historical interest that the Illinois

Historical society had a photostatic copy made of the issue of the Illinois State Journal of that day in which an announcement of the wedding was made. The wedding was described as follows by the Journal on October 15, 1888:

"Trinity German Evangelical Lutheran church was not large enough Sunday evening to admit the immense crowd that came to witness the marriage of the pastor's eldest daughter, Miss Christina Link, to the Rev. Charles Strasen, pastor of a church of the same denomination in Toledo.

"The bridal party entered the church at 7 o'clock in the following order: Miss Josie Link, sister of the bride, accompanied by her cousin, Mr. Albert Meier, Miss Christiana Strasen, sister of the groom, accompanied by Mr. Carl Link, the bride's brother, Miss Alvina Lange, cousin of the bride, accompanied by Mr. Henry Strasen of St. Louis, the groom's brother; following came the bride and groom.

"The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. George Link, father of the bride, and the ceremony was very impressive, continuing about half an hour. After the service at the church a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, No. 119 Jefferson street, where the happy couple received the congratulations of hundreds of friends from 8:00 until 10:00 o'clock.

"There was some excellent singing by the Eiche octette of Concordia college, and the house and the grounds were brilliantly illuminated with Chinese lanterns. Mr. and Mrs. Strasen received many elegant and costly presents. The wedding was certainly an auspicious one and the wedded pair received the best wishes of an army of friends.

"Mr. Strasen and his bride will go to St. Louis tomorrow to visit the former's relatives for a few days, after which they will go to Toledo, Ohio, to reside."

Mr. and Mrs. William Greer entertained 20 of the Lily club members Tuesday night. The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Klitus in Romulus, November 8.

Fishing Is Best During Late Fall

If you are a hardy soul who likes fishing well enough to brave autumn's chill winds, this is the time of year when your chances are good for bringing in the best catches of the season. October is usually the best fishing month of the year, due chiefly to two factors. The lower temperatures which come during this month in a normal season stimulate activity in the fish world. The same fish which, like humans, are inclined to take it easy and loiter around a bit during the heat of the summer, get renewed pep as the water cools. They circulate around and are more inclined to show interest in bait dangled in their vicinity.

The other factor relates to the matter of appetite. Since many species of fish, and especially bass, grow sluggish during winter temperatures and feed lightly, it is natural for them to eat voraciously now to build themselves up for the period of comparative dormancy and abstinence.

In general, October usually offers the year's best angling because it offers temperatures which are neither too warm, as they frequently are in the summer, nor too cold, as they are likely to be in the winter.

Bass fishing often is the most productive, but catches of pike, bluegill and perch also are usually heavier in October than earlier in the season.

But It's True

THERE ARE MORE TYPES OF SNAKES IN IRELAND THAN THERE ARE IN ENGLAND

PATRICK J. MONAHAN - A MILWAUKEE CITY POLICEMAN, HAS BEEN SHOT THROUGH THE HEAD THREE TIMES - BUT HE IS WELL AND NORMAL TODAY...

EAMON DE VALERA
PREMIER OF THE IRISH FREE STATE
BREAKFASTS ON NOTHING BUT ORANGES.

According to James K. Clinton, in his book, "The Shamrock," real shamrocks grow only in three countries, and all of them are not in the Irish Free State. Although snakes are not common in Ireland as they are in the rural districts of the United States, there are a great number of varieties. According to H. P. Garland, snake authority of Cambridge University, there were known to be 78 different kinds of snakes in Erin in 1934. Two of the bullets went directly through Mr. Monahan's brain. They just didn't happen to touch vital points.

Townsend Club Plans Social

The Townsend social and pot-luck supper which is held once each month in some part of the 17th congressional district will be held on Tuesday evening, October 18 at 6:30 p.m. in the American Legion hall, corner Schoolcraft and Grand River avenue with Club No. 5 as host. Rev. George E. Gullen of Detroit and Dearborn will be the principal speaker, and the public is invited. Please bring some dish or sandwiches and your own silver. Our members are asked to meet at Kellogg park so that those who have cars can provide transportation for those who do not. The meeting time is 5:45 to 6:00 p.m.

Because of the above mentioned district social the local club decided not to have its meeting next Monday, October 17, but will resume meetings on Monday, October 24, at 8:00 p.m., in the Grange hall.

Big Lake Fishing Season Closes

Trolling for lake trout, which proved one of the most popular and productive kinds of fishing in Michigan this past summer, suspends in Lake Michigan next Monday, with the season remaining closed through Nov. 10.

The season closed previously on both Lake Huron and Lake Superior, the closing dates on both of those lakes extending from November comprise the period during which lake trout normally spawn.

Two other fish, whitefish and chubs, found in the Great Lakes also are given protection at this time, the closed season on whitefish extending from Nov. 1 through Dec. 1 in Lakes Huron and Superior, and from Nov. 5 through Dec. 10 in Lakes Michigan and Erie. Beginning Oct. 15 and through Nov. 20 chubs are protected on Lakes Huron, Superior and Michigan.

During the closed seasons no permits will be issued to anyone to fish for spawn, the department of conservation fish division has announced. It is expected, however, that some trout eggs may be secured after the season reopens, and possibly a few whitefish eggs in some localities before the season closes.

The Thompson hatchery has been designated to handle trout and whitefish eggs taken on Lake Michigan, while Harrisville will handle trout eggs taken from Lake Huron to the limit of its capacity. Any surplus will go to Thompson. In the event that the capacities of both the Thompson and Harrisville hatcheries should be exceeded, surplus eggs are to be sent to the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries station at Duluth if the number is sufficient to warrant shipping. In case of only a small surplus, the department advises that they be planted back.

Whitefish eggs taken in Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron are to be sent to the Thompson hatchery, while lake trout and whitefish eggs taken on Lake Superior are to be turned to the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries Duluth station.

First Phone Exchange Created 60 Years Ago — 1350 Patrons Here

Michigan To Observe Creation Of Service

He brought the first two telephones to Michigan, in 1877, helped organize Michigan's first telephone company and exchange at Detroit in 1878, and later himself, or through agents, established other exchanges in both the northern and southern peninsulas.

Telephone people in Plymouth and throughout Michigan are joining in an informal observance of the 60th anniversary of the founding of the state's first telephone exchange and the issuance of its first telephone directory, both of which occurred in Detroit in the early fall of 1878.

Sixty years ago there were less than 100 telephones in the state, all of them in Detroit; there were only a few hundred in the entire world, all of them in this country.

Today, there are over 1350 in

the Plymouth exchange, alone and over 139 in the Livonia exchange also served in Plymouth. Michigan today is served by three-quarters of a million telephones, of which the Michigan Bell Telephone company operates 660,000 in 252 towns and cities. The lines of the Michigan Bell and of the Bell System make available to every local telephone connections with 35,000,000 others in 70 countries.

Here, as at Detroit, the first telephones were thought of, perhaps, much as were the first crude radio sets of 20 years ago—an interesting experiment. Therefore, at first, telephone service was not much in demand and it was some time before many names were added to the lists of the venturesome first few subscribers. Among those, listed in the 1898 telephone directory here, possibly are some few of those connected with the local exchange upon its establishment. The first telephones were brought to Michigan in 1877 by W. A. Jackson, a telegraph operator. He and associates he had interested, secured what is said to have been the first license contract the Bell interests ever made to operate telephone service, and organized the Telephone & Telegraph Construction company, forerunner of the Michigan Bell company.

Activities of the company were confined, until the summer of 1878, to the construction of private telephone lines rather than exchanges. The two or three telephones on one line could not be connected with those on another. Single iron wires that extended over the roofs, or were attached to trees, were used. Messenger boys were employed as operators, but in 1880 were replaced by girls because of the latter's greater "patience and general adaptability." And the first telephone directories contained no numbers, calls being placed by the names of the called parties.

Subscribers on one line began to ask for connections with those on other lines, and the idea of an exchange was born. In the summer of 1878, a canvass was made for customers for exchange service, and a small switchboard was installed in a basement room. There were 73 subscribers, only 53 of whom had their lines connected with the central office.

The Telephone & Telegraph Construction company itself, or by sub-licensing local people, also was instrumental in establishing exchanges at other points in the state. Then came a natural demand for inter-city connections, and the state's first long distance line was built from Detroit to Port Huron, in 1881. At the time it was the longest long distance line in the world. Long distance lines connecting other points followed rapidly.

That, briefly, was the beginning of the development of the state's telephone system, the 60th anniversary of which is being noted quietly by Michigan telephone men and women. To them it is an important event, for they believe they are supplying their communities, and their state, with a necessary service, telephone service of a quality that is unequalled anywhere in the world.

Lecture Here On Christian Science

Many Hear West Coast Speaker

Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium a large audience heard Florence Middaugh, C. S. of Los Angeles, California, deliver an interesting lecture on Christian Science. The visitor is a member of the lecture board of the church. The speaker covered the following points in the lecture: Mary Baker Eddy, its Discoverer and Founder, was declared of invalidism and the results of a serious accident while reading an account of Jesus' healing ministry in the Gospel of Matthew. This following her many years of earnest study of the Bible, led to her discovery of the Science, or spiritual understanding, which enabled Jesus to perform his so-called miracles.

Jesus taught those who came to him that in order to do the works he did, they must have faith that God can do all things, and be willing to exchange a false concept of man for the true.

It was pointed out that there are two records of creation given in the first chapters of the book of Genesis, and that, inasmuch as they are contradictory, one of them must be false. Christian Science, it was declared, accepts the first record, the account of the spiritual creation, as the true. In this creation God made everything that was made, but He made everything good, not both good and evil, as some are inclined to believe. This is one of the fundamental differences between the teachings of Christian Science and other religions that also teach there is only one God. If this one God made everything good, then this eliminates a creation or existence of evil, and it is from this premise that Christian Science approaches the destruction of the false belief in sin, sickness, and death.

The kingdom of heaven, which Jesus taught is "within you," is not a far-off country, but a harmonious state of existence, or thinking, which can be gained and enjoyed right here and now. In the Beatitudes and the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus gives a code of morals and ethics, which, if obeyed, would transform the thinking and spiritualize consciousness and enable one to enter the kingdom of heaven.

Prayer, as taught by Christian Science, is drawing near to God through a spiritual understanding of Him, rather than a petition to Him to change His already perfect and complete creation. This spiritual understanding is just as efficacious in the healing of sickness as of sin, for both are brought about through a wrong process of reasoning. Christian Science teaches that there is only one Mind, divine Mind, and that mortal mind is a cellent health and do their share of the work about the farm each day.

In the last 15 years, Mr. Rowe has spent much of his time on experiments with crop irrigation and still can be seen most any day working on the ditches in his fields. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe have four sons, Alfred and Willis, of Belleville, and Otis and Asa, of Plymouth.

myth, a counterfeit of the one and only Mind, God, and that the material creation, mortal man and a material universe, is the false creation of this counterfeit mind, and has no legitimate claim to power or authority.

Christian Science treatment is not dependent upon either time or space, but only needs a transparency to the truth, a receptivity of thought to good, Jesus attributed seeming failure to lack of faith, or unbelief.

The problem of salvation from sin, sickness, and death is individual. Each one must work it out for himself through regeneration of thinking, through an exchange of a material viewpoint for spiritual comprehension. God works with each one, for God and man are inseparable.

Methodist Men Plan Big Event

Thursday, October 20, the Men's club and choir of the Methodist church are offering the people of this community something unique and especially enjoyable in the realm of entertainment.

The party will begin at 7:00 with a delicious Swiss steak dinner in the gymnasium of the church, cooked by that famed chef, James Latture, and his "cohort."

An amusing program has been planned, consisting of mountain music on accordion and guitar by Joe and Doris Schultz, and songs by a male quartette, Harold Joliffe, Austin Whipple, Lewis Evans and Alfred Smith.

The "hill-billy" theme will further prevail in a screamingly funny play, "Comin' Round the Mountain." The following well-known players constitute the cast: Maw Judkins, a typical mountain woman, Mrs. Anthony Kregger; Pap Judkins, her husband, Harry Fountain; Daisy Judkins, their daughter, Dorothy McCullough; Zeke Bemis, who tries to propose to Daisy, Marvin Partidge; Dynamite Ann, sheriff of Fish-hook county, Mary Lou Wright; Mrs. Hortense Belmont-Cliff, a society matron, Mrs. Frank Dicks; Millicent Lovell, her niece, Jean Hadley; Carey Newbold, a young northerner, Hal Horton.

Editors Plan U. of M. Forum

To Discuss Problems Of Nation

Weekly and small daily newspapers' interests will receive special attention in the twentieth annual convention of the University Press club of Michigan to be held in the Michigan Union in Ann Arbor October 27 to 29.

Headlining the program for rural area papers will be a Friday morning session devoted to discussion of farm markets under the leadership of representatives of the state board of agriculture and a University of Michigan economist. As in previous conventions the club, general discussion and questions from the floor will be the order of the day in all sessions.

Arthur W. Stace, editor of the Ann Arbor News, will start off the Thursday afternoon session with a discussion of Land Utilization in Michigan. Stuart H. Perry, publisher of the Adrian Telegram will deal with the relation of newspapers to court trials. Senator Prentiss M. Brown and Dr. George W. Crane, Northwestern university psychologist will probably also speak at this session.

The visiting newspapermen will be the guests of the University at the annual University dinner in the Michigan Union on Thursday evening. The Lawrence Tibbets concert later in the evening will be one of the added attractions which many of the visitors will want to attend.

In addition to the discussion of farm markets on Friday morning, two representatives of the University will lead a discussion on the relations of the press to the University. A pancake and sausage luncheon by courtesy of the Michigan Press association will follow this session.

Foreign relations will feature the Friday afternoon session. Discussion will be led by Associated Press and United Press representatives from New York, Mike Gorman, editor of the Flint Journal, who has just returned from Italy, and a representative from the American Institute of Public Opinion who will explain the Gallup system. Speakers at the Press Club banquet on Friday evening will be Grove Patterson of the Toledo Blade, and a representative of the Des Moines Register and Tribune who will speak on "A Better American Journalism." The banquet will be followed by a smoker.

Wives of the visiting editors will be entertained Friday afternoon at a tea sponsored by Mrs. Alexander G. Ruthven and wives of the members of the University's journalism faculty. The business meeting of the club on Saturday morning will be followed by a luncheon and the football game.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with a Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 21): "If Truth is overcoming error in your daily walk and conversation, you can finally say, 'I have fought the good fight, I have kept the faith, because you are a better man. ## Police Chiefs Meet In Plymouth Southeastern Michigan police chiefs were entertained at the Mayflower hotel, October 6 at a party tendered by Harold Robinson, of Detroit, former candidate for sheriff. The occasion was the regular monthly meeting of the association. The program, which was directed by Mr. Robinson, was highlighted by a speech by Judge Clyde I. Webster. Judge Webster discussed the foreign situation and especially the contrast between what the police mean to residents of the United States and what they mean to residents of Europe. Several items of entertainment, obtained from various Detroit theatres, also were presented. About 85 police chiefs and their wives attended the meeting. Police Chief William Rutledge, of Wyandotte, president of the Southeastern Michigan association, informed the members that he would be unable to attend the last two meetings of the year and that Chief Vaughan Smith, of Plymouth, vice president of the group would take over the executive duties.

My Flag!

(By Plymouth Boy Scouts)
My flag!—Whether floating proudly in the sunshine above the capitol at Washington, or fluttering from a stern battleship ready to protect our liberties, or borne in loyal peace in school, church or civic occasion—my flag! The flag of my America, of liberty, soil of opportunity, tower of power rightly used—my America!
The blue of my flag represents justice like the eternal blue of the star-filled heavens—its white is for purity, cleanness of purpose, of word, of deed—its red is the red life-blood of brave men and women ready to die or to worthily live for their country.
HATS OFF
Along the street there comes A blare of bugles, a ruffic of drums.
A flash of color beneath the sky; Hats off!
The flag is passing by! Blue and crimson and white it shines
O'er the steep-tipped, ordered lines
Hats off!
The colors before us fly; But more than the flag is passing by.
Sea fights and land fights, grim an' great,
Fought to make and to save the state;
Weary marches and sinking ships; Cheers of victory on dying lips;
Days of plenty and years of peace,
March of a strong land's swift increase;
Equal justice, right and law Stately honor and reverent awe
Sign of a nation, great and strong To ward her people from every wrong.
Pride and glory and honor, all Live in the colors to stand or fall.
Hats off!
Along the street there comes A blare of bugles, a ruffic of drums
And loyal hearts are beating high.
Hats off!
The flag is passing by!
(—H. H. Bennett)
This article along with several others to appear is to try to bring to the people a more complete understanding of the flag, its use and meaning; to try to lessen the misuse of the flag from improper displaying and incorrect saluting on all occasions; and to try and point out and correct these faults.

Something New For Mother To Bake For Hungry Boys and Girls

A thick slice cut from a freshly baked loaf of bread and spread with golden butter, a dish of cool apple sauce and a tall glass of milk all combine to make a perfect summertime luncheon. And now the bakers have found a way to put the apple sauce into the bread instead of into the dessert dish. They are using fresh apples, pared and cored and finely pulped or the new apple powders which are now available. Apple bread has a delicious flavor, and the texture is soft and the loaf keeps its freshness until the last slice is eaten.

An excellent recipe for Apple Bread which retail bakers recommend highly is given below:
1 qt. milk (lukewarm)
1 pint apple sauce (unsweetened)
2 ounces yeast
3 ounces shortening
4 lbs. flour (best grade, all purpose flour)
2 ounces sugar
1 ounce salt

Cook the apples, after peeling, and strain. It will not discolor the bread and will help to retain moisture in the loaf. Add yeast, sugar and salt to lukewarm milk; add apple sauce and then proceed in the usual way for making bread, adding one-half flour. Beat until smooth. Add balance of the flour, or enough to makes dough that can be handled. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl, cover and set in moderate warm place to rise until light. Shape into loaves, cover and let rise until double in bulk. This recipe makes 7½ lbs. of dough. To be at their best, apples are cooked with as little water as possible and not too long; they are seasoned sparingly with spices like cinnamon or nutmeg, so as not to cover up the delicate flavor of the apple itself. And the cook should add a few grains of salt to bring out all the sweetness stored within the fruit itself.

Phone Girls Go To Aid Stricken

Twenty Michigan long distance operators and about 150 telephone construction men, cable splicers and others from various sections of the state, besides a large quantity of motor equipment and tools, are in the storm-ridden district of New England assisting with the work of restoring local and long distance telephone lines and service. The storm caused the largest number of service interruptions in the history of the Bell system, according to information received by Manager John MacLachlan, of the Plymouth office.

With 400,000 to 450,000 telephones out of service, and thousands of miles of circuits destroyed, it was impossible to reach many points by telephone following the storm and calls to the points that could be reached were subject to indefinite delay because of the very large volume made by anxious persons throughout the country. Similarly, there was an enormous overload of calls made out of the affected area, with the consequence that it was almost impossible to care for them. Operators were called into the region from all over the country. Operators were called into the region from all over the country. Similarly, there was an enormous overload of calls made out of the affected area, with the consequence that it was almost impossible to care for them. Operators were called into the region from all over the country.

Fifteen hundred telephone men from outside the storm area, including 180 line crews, of which 16 are from Michigan, and 150 splicing crews, with 16 from this state, are helping with the work of rehabilitating the lines. The Michigan men went from Detroit, Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Battle Creek, Flint, Pontiac, Port Huron and other districts. Hundreds of installers from the Bell system points also were rushed into the storm area to replace and service the hundreds of thousands of telephones and the millions of feet of "drop wires" that connected the telephones with the central office lines. Unprecedented quantities of telephone equipment and material were requisitioned from the Western Electric company for the work of restoration.

Within a few days, half of the telephones had been replaced in service and all of the important long distance cable lines had been restored, at least on a temporary basis. At some points the storm had carried upwards of 20 trees through as many spans of circuits within the distance of a mile, and the services of skilled lumberjacks, as well as of telephone line crews, were required in consequence.

Because of standard practices, plant, tools, framing and methods here and elsewhere throughout the Bell system, the operators and men loaned the eastern companies in the storm emergency needed no special instruction upon arrival at the eastern seaboard but went right to work. The first closed season on rabbits in Michigan was made in 1811.

Rocks Subdue Rochester 20-0

The Plymouth high eleven outran, out-passed, and over-powered a slightly heavier Rochester team on its home grounds last Friday, October 7, to bring home its second victory of the current season over the line of a 20-0 score. Sweeping end runs, long passes, and simple line bucks produced the three touchdowns that turned the trick.

Plymouth's first score came before the game was hardly six minutes old. After an exchange of punts Plymouth gained the ball on her own 30-yard line. Ross then plowed through the Rochester line for five yards, but further line plays gained little, and two plays later Leach booted the pigskin far down the field. Three Rocks jumped on a loose ball and paved the way for a brilliant run on the next play. Gettleson took the ball wide around left end and wound up deep in enemy territory on the second play. He was tackled, but his pass failed to make a first down. Hitt came in for Gettleson. Bobby calmly threw the prolate spheroid ten yards to Ross, who was not tackled until he had run over the line for a touchdown. The pass was not a point, but failed. The rest of the game was featured by three fumbles, which spoiled the Rock's scoring chances for the time. The period ended with Rochester holding the ball on its own 45-yard stripe.

The rest of the half was conspicuous for sparkling running plays by the Rocks, and the inability of the same team to punch the ball over the touch-down marker. After preliminary scrimmage, Ross broke through the Rochester defense. He had only the Rochester safety to pass when he slipped and fell. However, a 25-yard gain resulted. Two plays later, Ross again smashed through for a first down. On this play Swede Olson, who had missed up more than once in the first half, injured his ankle. A bad center netted a 15-yard loss at this time, but Leach was able to punt to Rochester's five. Here a Rochester back fumbled the ball and Gettleson took his own goal-line for an automatic safety. The Rocks total to eight points. Soon afterward there came in rapid succession a fine end run by Leach, another line smash by Ross, and a 15-yard gain around the other side. The Rocks never over the attack bogged down until the closing seconds of the half, when Prough plucked a 25-yard pass from Ross out of the air and was downed on Rochester's 10-yard stripe.

Starting the third quarter, Plymouth again scored very suddenly. The Rocks kicked off to Rochester's 27-yard line. On the next play Dunham, who had substituted for Curtiss at center, to start the second half, intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. The Rocks' point for point was no good. After Plymouth had again kicked off to the 25-yard line, Rochester made two first downs in seven plays but a few substitutions in the Rocks' team soon made the line invincible. The rest of the quarter both teams were satisfied with a punting duel with Leach kicking for Plymouth; but with time for only three more plays in this quarter, Rochester tried a pass which was intercepted by Ross on Rochester's 15-yard line. In the next two plays Ross and Hitt carried the ball to the 3-yard line, where the ball was when the quarter ended. On the second play of the fourth quarter Jolliffe scored for Plymouth on an end around end play. The kick for point was blocked. For the rest of the game Plymouth was satisfied to keep its lead and the game ended with score 20-0 in favor of the Rocks.

This game showed that the Rocks have a fine running back field with Gettleson, Leach and Darnell carrying the ball around the ends, and Ross carrying the burden through the line. The end around play and the reverse play were working to perfection. Although the Rochester back field was working fine for the first downs and the longest gain by Rochester was eight yards. As a whole Plymouth showed marked improvement over last week's game.

The line-up was as follows:

Rochester	Plymouth
G. Serrell	LE	Jolliffe
Gilmore	LT	Krumm
Guthrie	LG	Thams
I. Serrell	C	Curtiss
Sergeant	RG	Olson
Darnell	RE	Prough
Seed	Q	Ross
Anderson	LH	Gettleson
Bull	RT	Leach
Hurtado	RB	Baker

Substitutions: Rochester: Rosencranz; Smith; Plymouth, Hull; E. Lorenz; Dunham, Sessions, Birchall.

Referee, Janik. Head linesman, Zimmerman.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND LACKS UNIFORMS

If "clothes make the man" then "uniforms make the band." For the past three years the Plymouth high school band has been marching in Memorial day parades, Halloween parades, at football games and numerous other activities without uniforms. The thoughtless band usually brings to mind a picture of many musicians arrayed in colorful uniforms. Why can't this vision become a reality in our band?

Under the able leadership of Mr. Evans the following members began the season: Cornets—M. Curtis, E. McMullen, E. W. Norman, D. Vander Veer, J. Pennington, F. Bower, L. Clark, N. Snyder, and W. Upton. Clarinets—D. Mielbeck, G. Sallow, E. Kreeger, O. Gorton, J. Gorton, R. Virgo, B. Fulton, A. Fulton, H. Mills, R. Curtis, J. Curtis, J. Curtis, B. Baehedlor, R. Kenyon, and N. Herbert. Trombones—R. Lorenz, J. Jursky, G. Chute, and J. Arizgan. Bass—J. Schultz, L. Arnold, W. Thomas, M. Horvath, and W. Hoffman. Drums—J. Jordan, R. Curtis, J. Curtis, J. Curtis, and D. Schultz. Flutes—B. Heisele, and P. Harsha. Bassoon—E. Whitaker.

CLASS ACTIVITIES

Mr. Sutherland's classes are putting forth their several efforts in the making of a balanced aquarium. Thus far the aquarium's sole balance is one large turtle. Any contribution such as water plants, fish, etc. will be heartily appreciated. He is very sincere in his efforts to reach other and more interesting scenery. It is thought, however, he will be content with a few goldfish for eating purposes or otherwise.

Miss Allen's 12-B English classes have recently finished the study of Chaucer in the middle ages, and have continued into the Elizabethan period of literature. Any student who is desirous of an A for the semester mark is required to make a scrapbook of his own. The scrapbook is to be a collection of English literature, pictures of the prime minister and public characters, and clippings about customs pertaining to England. This scrapbook will be due at the end of this month.

Bang A chemistry student jumped at the result of igniting a bottle of hydrogen gas. He and his fellow students are well acquainted with the laboratory equipment by now because they have finished the work on oxygen.

If you were to peek in the door of a certain class room some third hour you would find them squinting at some minute scale or instrument as if their very lives depended upon an accurate reading. The physics class is learning to use a number of new technical instruments such as micrometers, vernier calipers, hydrometers and scales. The use of these is employed in finding volumes, specific gravity, and other types of problems concerning liquids.

Mr. Carbell's classes in metal work have initiated their new machines by manufacturing the different sizes of chuck arbors for lath and drill press from solid pieces of metal. This involves most kinds of cutting and drilling.

First hour English 10-B, conducted by Miss Waldorf, had a spellover on Friday, October 7. The teams were captained by Clayton Kelly known as the "Corrigans" and Robert Taylor known as the "Meatloafs." The winners were Raymond Harrison, the runner-up was Matilda Saner. Raymond conquered Matilda on the word "boundaries." The second word was "Shin." The winners were Doris Shinn of the "Shinnigans," who emerged victorious, and Paul Harsha of the "Floojees." Arthurd Rowland was stumped on the word "irresistible" but Doris Shinn, still a champion, went back and out. Betty Scheppelle was captain of the "Shinnigans." A member of her team, Johanna McGraw, spelling the word "fancier," to down Phyllis Campbell. The other team was called the "Cabbles" and was captained by Margery Morrison. Words used were from the 100 dictation words. On two occasions words were that unfamiliar had to be used.

There are 131 girls taking Home Economics in Junior high. The beginners of the "Rocks" with the care and repair of clothing, while the advanced clothing classes are constructing undergarments.

In high school, Home Economics I has just completed canvas and preservation of Miss Fiegl's American History classes have just finished the study of the period of colonization. They are beginning the American revolution.

CLASS NOTES

The addition to the girls' locker room is completed and the new lockers have arrived. This permitted the girls' gym classes to get under way Monday.

Miss Tyler's seventh grade classes are writing plays and dialogues and are dramatizing them in class. Almost all have proved very amusing.

THE FIFTH WEEK

All students will agree that the fifth week of the marking period is the worst of them all. At 8:35 when the final bell rings, the first hour teacher says, "Take out pencil and paper and write the answers to these questions!" Then he—or she—proceeds to rattle off questions (unanswerable, it seems) for the rest of the hour. The same thing happens all over again at 9:35.

The next hour you have to libary when you can study for a fourth hour exam. By the time you have crammed for one complete hour, you need a rest and decide to skip the afternoon classes because you have two more tests, and you just can't take it!

When you get home for lunch you carefully explain to your mother that you have a headache. Always helpful, she says, "Yes, dear, you may stay home. I don't want you to go to school when you are ill."

Then, when morning comes, and you see your best friend, he says, "Miss—postponed the test one day because most of the students weren't ready for it."

You fade from the picture quickly and surely.

ON WRITING AN ESSAY

(Dedicated to the English teachers and students)

I heard the teacher's assignment and began to groan.

"You will write either a formal or an informal essay on any subject you wish, and I don't want any alibis," she warned.

"Huh," I remarked to my companion, "that certainly will be a job. She doesn't believe in making very hard assignments, not much."

As I walked home that night, I began to meditate on the subject matter of my essay. Opening the door at home, a sudden thought flashed across my mind. "I know what I'll do. I'll ask my mom." Without a moment's hesitation, I shouted, "Hey, mom, tell me what to write for an essay."

"Please be a bit more quiet, won't you?" she asked. "Let me see. Since you want to write an essay on something, why don't you use the Constitution as a subject, or the world's greatest inventions?"

"No, no, you don't understand. I don't want a dry, dull subject. I want to do something that you take a bite out of it, you get a mouthful of sawdust. I want to write something that has some life in it, you know what I mean—saw, juice—a—a—vi-tal-i-t-y." I don't want to write about all that sleep reading it. It has to be humorous. I won't write anything else because I don't like to and, anyway, I can't."

"Well, then, I really don't know how to help you. I think it is more becoming for a high school student to write on a subject that requires thought and intelligence," she answered.

"Really, if you don't think that THIS requires thought and intelligence, I just wish you'd try it."

"I haven't time for such nonsense. I've replied with great dignity and left me to my mental torture. Flinging my books upon the table, I tried to think of something that tickled my sense of humor. Let me see. Oh, I know. That time Johnny told me that baby was ugly, I'll put myself in his place. Here I go."

"Baby darling sent up a loud 'Wah!'"

"Sh—hush—" I said—"I gave vent to my despair with a loud 'Gosh, that won't do. I don't know any more. I don't know anything about babies and it doesn't seem very funny now, I'll start over, but just how to do it? Hum—"

"As I was trying to push the revolving doors that I had just revolved, I found the origin words of this disturbance. Glancing around I saw a very funny, fleshy man, in fact, too fleshy to be in such a position, trying to move the door in which he was tightly wedged."

Here I paused to read what I had written. I wrinkled the paper up in disgust. "That just doesn't seem to have the right knock," I thought to myself. "I'll have to think some more before I try to write about a man's name."

As I reduced the turmoil in my brain to constructive thoughts, sitting at the table, concentrating as I had never done before, I tried to think. Suddenly I had a brainstorm. I thought of a subject to write about. I laughed at myself for my blindness as to the stupidity in not discovering this before. Once I had a nucleus to work around, the rest was easy. I went to work with a will, putting upon paper all the trouble I had in writing the assignment.

"This ought to hit a bull's eye with every student who has written a composition," I thought, so I wrote:

MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN UNDER SUPERVISION OF CURTIS COMPANY

A magazine campaign, sponsored by Student Council, Girl Throves, and the Curtis Company, is in full swing for the last week and a half. The members of these three organizations have been getting subscriptions to magazines put out by the Curtis Publishing company and also some from the Curtis Company's own publications, the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies Home Journal, and The Country Gentleman, gave the groups 50 percent of the amounts each group received and the groups were allowed 30 percent of the amount received from the sale of magazines from the general list. The money made from this enterprise will be spent for new equipment for the school, to help the needy, and to carry on further work in these organizations.

STRASEN TO PLAY FOR JUNIOR DANCE

All Strasen will play for the Junior Dance in the gymnasium tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

This is the first dance of the season and a large attendance is hoped for.

WHAT'S IN A NICKNAME?

(Omitted from last week)

Nicknames are personalities. Each has an interesting history. Some evolve from an obvious source while others have quite complicated origins.

Dorothy "Spot" Waters got her nickname from shortening her first name to Dot. A dot is a spot, so her name became "Spot."

Lonabelle Rhode used to wear a hat that looked like a derby. Everyone who saw the hat called her "Derby."

Lillian Fisher's nickname was "Chickie." One day while she was reading the story about chickens and she came to the word "chickens." She had great difficulty in pronouncing it so she called them "chickies." "Chickie" is a name as well known as Lillian.

Pauline Taylor uses "Pet" for her nickname because her name, Pauline Elaine Taylor has the initials "P-E-T."

Virginia Brocklehurst's unusual nickname "Uni" had a very interesting history. While her brother Jean was in high school and took Latin he learned the word "uni" which means "one and only." Thereafter he called her "Uni" and she came to be known as "Uni" (My how boys' ideas do change).

Dorothy and Evelyn Bohl's nickname was the result of Evelyn. When she was a little girl she could not pronounce "Dorothy" and she called herself "Lillie and Dodo." The name still stands.

Mary Jane Olaver more commonly known as "Red" is called so because of her beautiful shade of red hair.

Jack Butz received his nickname "Donatello" from Miss Hearn in Latin class. She thought this would make him behave. (It does).

Call Jack Gettleson "Johnny" when you want him to do something and you probably won't get it done. His name came from the same source as Jack's name. He behaves because he dislikes this name extremely.

Students, don't do, wear, or say anything unusual if you don't want a nickname.

RAGS VISITS SCHOOL

When a small, dirty ragamuffin dog crept into school last Friday, he was followed by a pack of many armed and spoke to him while he stood wagging his tail hopefully.

Rags was the center of attraction, wagging his tail, racing from one person to the other, and demanding attention from all. He seemed to enjoy himself immensely. So many wanted to pet him and he wanted to be friends with so many that he was a constant hurling ball of fur.

Rags was not a gentleman nor very polite when the teachers began to arrive. He ran in front of one and nearly caused her to fall. He raced circles around another one's legs. One wonders why he wasn't dizzy and why he didn't fall from exhaustion.

At last the bell rang, and Rags pricked up his ears. Seeing every one ascending the stairs, he dashed up behind them. When they had gathered in the hallway, he raced circles around another one's legs. One wonders why he wasn't dizzy and why he didn't fall from exhaustion.

GIRLS' DOUBLE QUARTETTE SINGS FOR LADIES' AID

The girls' double quartet sang for the first time at the Methodist church Ladies' Aid meeting at Mrs. Fisher's home Tuesday, October 5. The selections were "A Brown Bird Singing" and "Pale Moon." The girls who have returned from last year are Jean Hamill, Veronica Marti, Dorothy Roe, and Isabelle Nairn. The new members are Linnea Vickstrom, Ingrid Ericsson, Dorothy McCullough, Mary Lou Wright, and Carol Campbell, accompanist.

NO NOISE CAMPAIGN INAUGURATED SUCCESSFULLY—EDITORIAL

Many plausible suggestions have been given in recent years pertaining to the subject of orderliness in the hall. Many schemes have been suggested for avoiding the noise and confusion which takes place at the passing of every class. Several of these ideas have succeeded for a short time, that is until they have been stopped short by lack of enforcement. When queried as to their opinion, several students expressed the idea that a student-monitor system such as is used in the Detroit schools, which are noted for their Cathedral-like stillness, would do away with the noise.

Many students admitted they made excessive noise and that much can be done by themselves for the furthering of a no-noise campaign.

As a result of recent complaints the student-council has made out a set of rules which lessen the noise considerably. The first day these rules went into effect such a decrease was noted that it seemed unreal.

The text of these rules embodies the following two simple activities: Three teachers, one on each floor are appointed weekly to supervise the halls and break up any talking jamborees; the pupils are instructed to go directly to their classroom as soon as they reach the school building or to stay at home until the class time period approaches.

The duty of every person in this building is to cooperate in order to remove the confusion. Although the building was originally intended for a school, it now holds 900; thus a double responsibility hinges on every person. As a protection against students who are always in a hurry with no place to go, the school has installed a double responsibility hinges on every person. As a protection against students who are always in a hurry with no place to go, the school has installed a double responsibility hinges on every person. ## SOPHOMORE WIN SCHOOL DEBATE CHAMPIONSHIP

When the Sophomores defeated the Juniors in a debate on Monday, both teams were bit surprised. Their success encouraged them to continue and to prepare for the school championship. The following Thursday they met the freshmen and were again victorious. Since there is only one debate in the school year, that is not enough to make a team, a challenge has been issued to the junior class to debate for the school championship. The challenge has not been accepted so the sophomores must be considered the school champions.

Those who composed the various teams were: Freshmen—Fern Bower, Nancy McLaren, and Marie Ann Miller. Sophomores—Virginia Rock, James Zuckerman, Robert Dugan, and Seniors—Doris Buzzard, James Schmitz, and Marvin Hauk.

These debates were not models to follow but they gave many students a chance to learn more about the question and the methods of debate.

TRIP TO NEW YORK IS LOCAL NEWSBOYS' PRIZE

Daniel Dugan, of 685 Harold street, an 8A student at Plymouth High, returned from a four day sojourn in New York last Sunday night a much happier boy. Danny had won the trip by soliciting more new customers for the Detroit Times, sponsors of the all-expense trip, than any other newsboy in the district of Plymouth, Clawson and Birmingham. The local lad, one of 52 who took the trip, garnered 40. Danny began the 15-hour trip to New York on a special train Thursday afternoon. After going through the Erie Canal to Niagara Falls Thursday night. In New York he stayed at the Paramount Hotel, half a block from the corner of Broadway and 46th.

On Friday the boys "did the town." Danny took his first elevated ride besides the trips on sightseeing buses. He saw a broadcast from the largest studio in the world in the R.C.A. building, and also went to the roof of the skyscraper. He visited the Empire State building, the Woolworth building, Central Park, Grant's Tomb and even had a glimpse of Chinatown. He saw moving pictures produced by the blinking of electric-light bulbs and saw the Washington bridge and Brooklyn bridge.

On Saturday the boys took the third game of the World Series at Yankee stadium. Danny, with the rest of his friends, rooted for the Cubs and was mildly disappointed. "The rest of it was very okay, though," said Danny. At the game and at other times the boys saw such celebrities as Mayor LaGuardia, Jack Dempsey, and Jimmy Braddock.

On Sunday the lads attended services at St. John's Cathedral, the huge masterpiece that has been under construction for 40 years, is still unfinished, and has cost 45 million dollars so far. The tunnels, known as "Little Church Around the Corner," as Danny said, there was nothing small about it. Leaving Sunday night, the boys, under the supervision of three men selected by the Times, returned through the same tunnels.

Danny enjoyed the trip immensely and said that it was well worth the time and trouble of getting those 40 subscriptions.

MACHINES REWIRED AS SAFETY MEASURE

Most of the machines in the general shop, under the direction of the Electric Department, were rewired this week to comply with the National Electric Code in so far as possible. Those included were grinders, jig saws, and lathes. "This will go far toward promoting the safety of the boys and will eliminate a dangerous fire hazard," said the Electric Department.

The plan now in effect in the shop is that all boys must draw up a plan sheet for every job done for which they expect credit. The plans are left on file and are issued on call by the boy who has been appointed tool clerk. A charging system is enforced under which the lads are given 25 days credit for the materials and supplies which they buy. At the end of the marking period unpaid-for material constitutes sufficient grounds for dropping the credit mark for that period.

Mr. Wallace says the boys must be given credit for going at their work in such a way as to get it done as soon as possible.

EDITORIAL: PEACE IS EXPENSIVE, BUT—

Opinion regarding the peaceful annexation of Sudeben and by Germany has split itself into two main classes. One group says the powers were entirely justified in according to Hitler's demands while the other, disputing the first, says that we will have war soon or later, and better now than later when Germany has prepared to defy the world. Which is right?

A recent editorial in the New York Times hit the nail on the head when it said "Let no man say that it would have been better to resist, and to fight to it, 'now' rather than later unless he himself would have given the order that would have sent young men marching into the dreary hell of war."

It is true that the price of peace was dear. Through the four-power accord at Munich, Hitler can and will boast of doing with an ultimatum what mighty armies failed to do. Land resources, and vital industries, will be added to the most dangerous, if not the strongest, of the European powers. What will become of Czechoslovakia no one knows. Hitler, on the basis of this success, may look forward to new conquests and make new threats.

Yes, peace is dear. Yet, though peace is expensive, how many times more so than the horrors—laying waste cities, bankrupting nations, destroying civilization, leaving a trail of mangled bodies of the best fruits of the nations. There is no doubt about it—we must have "peace at great price."

THE CHATTERBUG

Greetings and all that, my illustrious fellow class mates. How be'st thou? At this point we would like to announce that the director of student voluminousness, Miss Waldorf, the public speaking mistress, has taken for herself a new and colorful position in school life. She calls herself the "yellow line," and she is working in conjunction with the new hall regulations, so students will pass on the curves and take it easy on the straightaways or Miss Waldorf will get you if you don't watch out.

Of course we know that the alphabet blocks in the desk in the library are not the same. We did think that the student librarians were a little old for such things.

To that blond and witty senior, Arlene Soth, goes credit for having the first beer jacket in P.H.S. There may be fumes or more initials and names on it but where it would be hard to tell.

Shirley and Pat Mason also have a clever idea. They have names embroidered all over their blouses. Jean Anderson and Earline and are other advocates of the idea.

We wonder if that illustrious senior, Tom, will be "campion" on some other fair damsel's doorstep now. Remember your motto Tom, "Footloose and Fancy Free."

Oh by the way we've noticed that Fern Bower doesn't have to go "Farar" to get her man.

We suggest that Ray Martin, Ruth Kirkpatrick, Betty Korb and Doris Buzzard make up a group and call themselves the "Flat Foots."

Mr. Ingram has something new and clever in the way of extension vests. Two pieces of elastic are inserted in the back seam presumably for more freedom.

Clark says it seem to be Miss Jane Parmalee's favorite color.

We are amazed. Aren't there any advocates of the new up-sweep hair-dress in Plymouth high school? Winifred Voss is the one we've noticed so far. One male commented on the new arrangement by saying that some women look as if they were going to the opera with it while others look as if they were going to the shower.

Tough, the junior dance, the first gala event of the season, so brush up the old pilgrim polka boys and come to the dance, yes, come to the dance.

Mr. Fountain was heard to say in typing class for this day, "Is anyone here absent?"

For your convenience we will close now but in parting we'd like to say that if all the students sleeping in P.H.S. classes were placed end to end—they would be more comfortable.

Fare thee well.

TRIPPING TEACHERS SEE THE EAST

(Omitted from last week)

Miss Waldorf, Miss Fry, Miss Rathburn, and Miss Fiegel all traveled through the East this summer taking identical trips though they did not go in one party. Following are some of the highlights of their trips: Both parties took the scenic skline drive down through the Blue Ridge mountains. The trip has just been completed recently and is said to wind back and forth across the mountain tops in some places reaching a height of approximately 4000 feet. The drive is advertised as being 20 degrees cooler than it is at sea level.

From the skyline drive they went to Charlottesville where the University of Virginia is located, the college which Edgar Allan Poe attended for a short time. The buildings of the university were designed by Thomas Jefferson whose estate, called "Monticello" is also located there. On display there is the carriage in which Thomas Jefferson rode for 35 days on his journey from Charlottesville to Philadelphia to sign the Declaration of Independence. From Charlottesville they went on to Richmond, the home of Edgar Allan Poe and the capital building and the governor's mansion. Richmond is also one of the world's largest tobacco centers.

Southeast of there is the historic town of Williamsburg the seat of Williamsburg and the birthplace of George Washington, which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is restoring to the historic and quaintness it had in the year 1750. When the work is completed there will be from 25 to 30 buildings restored exactly as they were originally. The "Old Tavern" and the governor's palace are possibly the most interesting of these. In the Candlestick Tavern the meals are served by colored waiters dressed in the costume of that date. The furniture and articles of household even the recipes for the meals are those used in the olden times. People come from all over

SOCIAL NEWS

Miss Lundin and Miss Grey attended a high school home economics teachers' meeting and dinner at Ypsilanti State Normal college Wednesday evening.

Jack Gettleson entertained Charlotte Galloway, Miss Jane Olsvaver, Jack Butz, Betty Wilks, Floyd Clark, Jeanne Compton, Harry Frase, Pat Mason, Sam Virgo, Ruth Parmenter, and Orlyn Lewis at a dinner party after which they went to the theatre.

Velma Thatcher spent Sunday in Toledo, Ohio.

Virginia Shaw, Jacquelyn Hoof, Shirley Sorensen, Mary Jane Olsvaver, Bill Wernett, Jack Kriss, Orlyn Lewis and Miss Lovewell attended the rodeo at Olympia at various times during the week.

Miss Allen and Miss Cary attended the bridge opening in Port Huron Saturday and drove across the structure Sunday.

THE PALACE ALSO HAS VENETIAN BLINDS, WHICH CONTRARY TO MODERN BELIEF, HAVE BEEN USED FOR HUNDREDS OF YEARS AND ARE NOT RECENT INVENTIONS. ALSO IN THE PALACE IS LAFAYETTE'S BEDROOM. THIS ROOM IS SIGNIFICANT BECAUSE IT SHOWS NUMEROUS THINGS WHICH IT IS RATHER TO LIGHT THAT LAFAYETTE ALSO HAD A BEDROOM IN WASHINGTON'S HOME, LEE'S HOME, AND SIR WALTER RALEIGH'S TAVERN. LAFAYETTE MUST HAVE BEEN A VERY SOCIAL MINDED INDIVIDUAL.

Jamesstown was the next stop of the Stratonites travel. There they saw James River, the birth place of Virginia Dare, first white child born in America and the Jamestown pottery works.

Attempts to replace and rebuild structures of long ago have been difficult because the city has been burned four times. At Stratonites they saw the home of General Lee which is unique in the fact that it is built in the shape of an H. Every room is a corner room and each has a fireplace.

In Philadelphia the teachers visited the Independence Hall where they saw the Liberty Bell and the first printing office of Benjamin Franklin. This office has at the present grown into a very prosperous and flourishing newspaper.

There in Philadelphia is the grave of Franklin and the home of Betsy Ross where the first American flag was made. From Philadelphia the teachers toured Washington and then returned home.

Miss Gallimore took a two weeks' trip east this summer. She drove down the Mohawk Trail and through Connecticut where she spent a few days visiting friends. From there she went along the coast stopping at Cape Cod and Boston, and Henry Ford's restored "Wayside Inn" and also the school where the young physicist, Albert Einstein, had a Little Lamb originated in Hampshire she stopped at the capital, Concord and then went on up to Indian Head mountain.

In the White mountains she saw the "Old Man of the Mountain" an over-hanging ledge of rock which looks like the profile of a very old man. She went on into the Adirondacks she saw Lake Placid, the beautiful resort spot, thence she crossed Lake Champlain and went up to New York and Canada, for a few days stopping in Toronto.

Miss Lovewell spent part of the summer in "Old Town" Maine. While there she interviewed a family of Penobscot Indians and learned how to make sweet grass baskets from them. Altogether 14 states and two provinces were visited by Miss Lovewell this summer.

PLYMOUTH MEETS DUNDEE HERE TODAY—DUNDEE UNDEFEATED FOR 3 YEARS

The first meeting of the Rocks and Dundee gridders promises to be a good game. Mr. Jacobi is satisfied with the team when playing on defense, but the offensive game is not clicking as well as it might. The probable starting line-up for the Rocks is: Dunham at center; Olsvaver, Matts, Thams, or Lorenz at guard; Krumm, Darrell, Hull, or Erdelyi playing tackles; Prough, Jolliffe, Birchall or Sessions at ends; Ross or Norman at quarterback; and the backs are Scarpulla at halfback and Baker or Maxey at fullback. The passing players are Ross, Leach, and Hitt. The kickers are Leach, Hitt and Baker.

The players and Mr. Jacobi request that each and every fan stay a back of the benches. This will be helpful for the fans on the benches as well as the players.

NIEDOSPAL SENIOR LEADERS' CLUB PRESIDENT

In the senior Leaders' Club election last Monday, October 3, Rose Niedospal was elected president; Norma Coffin, vice-president; and Elaine Eifort, secretary-treasurer. The sports manager of the four upper classes is Dorothy Shinn, the club's assistant is Norma Coffin. Each grade has its own manager under the sports manager. The ninth grade manager is Beatrice Schulzkie, tenth grade, Ruth Wellman; eleventh grade, Dorothy Barnes; and twelfth grade, Jennie Bassett.

The number of girls in the club has increased from 12 to 18. The club is 12, but the large number of freshmen coming in from junior Leaders' Club did not permit this.

The new members in the club are: Beatrice Schulzkie, Felicia Armstrong, Marjorie Knowlton, and McQuiston, and Jennie Bassett. Definite plans for this coming year have not yet been made.

TEACHERS ENTERTAINED BY TRAVELOGUES

With interesting stories of their summer vacations Miss Lickly, Mrs. Holliday, Mrs. Bird, and Miss Jewell entertained the faculty Tuesday, October 4. They talked about their travels in the case of Miss Lickly, articles from Hawaii. Mrs. Bird and Mrs. Holliday visited the Arctic circle. An interesting point that Mrs. Bird explained about the settlers of the Manatouska Valley, Alaska was that although the vegetables grew unusually well, cereal crops such as oats and wheat were thin and sparse. This was due, no doubt to the short season. Miss Jewell visited the western part of the United States. Miss Lickly visited Hawaii on her vacation.

CONTRIBUTE!

Friday, evening, October 21, will take place the public dance, sponsored by the two groups of Parent-Teachers' organizations for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of milk for school children. We hope that the event will be an outstanding success and that there will be several hundreds of dollars raised. If it is impossible for you to attend, make your contribution anyway. No money you ever contributed will go for a better purpose.

This will be the first effort to raise money for the milk fund since the contribution made last February as the result of the Lincoln day charity dinner at the Mayflower hotel, sponsored by a number of Plymouth Republicans. At that time a sufficient amount of money was raised to buy all the milk needed until the close of the school year.

The money is gone. There is need immediately for a considerable amount.

Plymouth never does anything in a half-hearted way. Let's make the fund so large that it will last the entire year—with plenty of rich, fresh milk for all the school boys and girls who need it!

THE PUBLIC APPROVES.

From the flood of letters and telephone calls that have come to the editor of The Plymouth Mail since announcement of his proposal to ask for the nomination of all candidates for state offices by direct primary, it is apparent that the people of Michigan approve of the suggestion.

It should be stated that the question is not an issue of this campaign and no effort will be made by the Plymouth editor, who is a candidate for re-election to the state legislature, to inject the issue into this campaign.

No matter what the outcome might be in the forthcoming election, the one chief object of the writer will be to place on the ballot at the first state election after this fall, an amendment to the state constitution which will provide for the nomination by DIRECT VOTE OF THE PEOPLE of all candidates for state office.

Apparently, there is no other way to take the "political racket" out of conventions.

We have entrusted with the people the right to name the candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and our congressional delegation. The "politicians" gave this "half a loaf" to the voters some 30 years ago because a similar condition had developed in Michigan as that which prevails today in Wayne county.

The wishes of the people in the naming of candidates for important public responsibilities were being ignored.

A "selected few" of both political parties then as now, fixed up the "slates" of candidates.

Politicians and political fixers hate to give up anything they can control. That is why when there was a strong demand for the nomination of all candidates for high state offices years ago they gave the people a right to nominate a part of the ticket, but retained control over other nominations. They thought this concession would appease the people. It did for a time and it eliminated the fixing of state conventions until recent years.

But when a group of "fixers" who could not get enough

When I'm Away

When I've been away on a visit,
Whatever the pleasure and fun,
Or times, that I've had—
I find that I'm glad
The day that my visit is done.

However I may prize the friendship
Of friends that I meet as I roam,
I still must confess
That nevertheless
I'm eager and glad to go home.

Nor do I believe that you blame me
For feeling the way that I do.
For is it not so
That wherever you go,
Your home is still calling to you?

Yes, home is the place where my heart is,
However far from it I roam.
So that's why I say
That when I'm away
I look to the time to go home!

votes to elect themselves to the offices of dog catcher or scavenger wagon drivers have been able to regain control of state conventions and dominate the nomination of important candidates, the time is here for the complete elimination of the convention system.

The people are for it and there will be no let up in the fight until the victory is won.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

GOOD TIMES AHEAD.

As production is stepped up at the Ford Rouge plant with new models on the line, Dearborn has every right to feel encouraged at the outlook confronting the Ford company along with other manufacturers is the fact that dealers throughout the nation are far understocked and in a position to do a record business. The log-jam of used cars which has held up sales of new cars for the last few years is gone. The average dealer has only four cars on hand and is in a position to make good offers for used cars, in order to get the new business. Sales should be far greater than during this year and that means more production, more jobs and more business for local merchants.—William Klamsner in The Dearborn Press.

WHICH MASTER?

The Michigan Communist party by unanimous vote has given assurance to Governor Murphy that they will support him in the coming election. In accepting the hand-out where does it place the Governor in the eyes of his church, which for years has been making a determined fight against everything of a Communist nature?—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

MICHIGAN'S PROBLEM.

Looking ahead to November, we emphasize that Michigan's financial situation is critical. We have had unprecedented spending. We have a debt being piled up at Lansing which no one, inside or outside the present administration, seems to be able to accurately arrive at. The deficit estimates range from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000. The important fact, as we see it, is that there apparently is no accurate or positive statement of HOW MUCH Michigan is in the red. In this connection, we hold that it is important that a man of the honesty, efficiency, accuracy and moral courage of Vern J. Brown be put in charge of the auditor general's department so that we may KNOW where we are at. We have a RIGHT to know. We are the taxpayers—all of us—and it is our money that is being thrown right and left.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

A STATEMENT OF IDEALS.

I conceive it to be my duty as a citizen to serve the public if that public calls me. As a publisher I recognize my duty to be fair and impartial in the handling of news. I repeat, there is no conflict between my responsibilities as candidate and publisher. It should not be necessary to remind readers of the Ingham County News that as publisher I have not confined my comments and criticisms to any one party. As a legislator I have acted according to the dictates of my conscience, supporting measures I believed were good and opposing measures I conceived to be unsound, regardless of whether a democrat or a republican introduced the bills. As a publisher I have condemned the waste of public funds, extravagance, inefficiency and duplication in national, state and local governments, regardless of which party was in power. The independence of the Ingham County News will not be affected by my candidacy for state office. This newspaper will continue to be non-partisan.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

JUST FAKING. THAT'S ALL.

The Grand Rapids Herald recently contained a verbatim copy of a handbill, which was passed out to WPA workers in Grand Rapids, urging them to vote for certain candidates at the primary, whose names were listed on the handbill. The candidates printed in the list were all on the democratic ticket. Instead of letting the workers choose their own candidates if they wished to vote that ticket, the handbill selected the names that they were directed to vote for. All the names on the ticket were democrats. The handbills were said to have been first passed out by sub-officials of the WPA. The handbill concluded by stating that the present administration "has supported YOU with the WPA, PWA and the ERA, the Wagner Act and the Social Security Act." Concluding words were "to continue this type of legislation . . . YOU should vote for those pledged to a conference of them and other measures."—Dick Cook in The Hastings Banner.

Mother Bear Does Bit Of Cutting To Timid Cub Say Officers

The bears are evidently old fashioned mothers who subscribe wholeheartedly to the theory of discipline and education. "Spare the rod and spoil the child," as Conservation Officer L. C. Brown, Fire Warden R. Solberg and Towerman W. Carlson can testify.

While patrolling the Ford river near McAfee the three men saw a bear and two cubs a short distance ahead. On sighting the men, the mother bear stepped into the stream and swam across, followed by one of the cubs. On reaching the opposite shore, the mother reared up on her hind feet looking and waving her paws at the other cub which had refused to follow and was squealing and jumping around at the edge of the water. Long distance exhortation failing, the adult bear swam back across the stream, grabbed her hesitant youngster by the neck, shook him vigorously and administered a few sharp cuffs. After this bit of chastisement, she again entered the water, but still the youngster refused to follow. Obviously quite exasperated, the mother turned back, dealt out a few more cuffs, then tossed the cub into the water at her feet and set out for the opposite shore for a third try. This time the cub followed, grunting and squealing, and on climbing up on the other side was given another cuff, after which all three ambled off into the woods.

Farmers are very busy getting their potatoes out and all boys large enough to pick tubers are kept out of school.

The 1913 graduating class of the Plymouth high school was the largest class ever graduated from here at one time and the class received considerable attention from that fact. There were 32 graduates, 25 girls and seven boys. Since the time of graduation a series of misfortunes has occurred to a number of its members and the old superstition of the unlucky 13 is being revived. At the time of graduation Anna Linden's younger sister was seriously ill and grave doubts were entertained for her recovery, making it very hard for Anna to go on with her work. Clarence Wright was ill at commencement time and it was feared at first, that he would not be able to attend the exercises, however, when the time came he had recovered sufficiently to be present. On commencement day Avis Chilson was taken ill and later developed appendicitis which caused her death. Czarina Penney came down with scarlet fever the night of commencement and was ill for several weeks. A few weeks later Helen VanDeCar received a shock from lightning from which her nervous system has not yet fully recovered. Later, Clarence Wright's father contracted typhoid fever and was in Ann Arbor hospital for several weeks during the summer. A few weeks ago Leslie Mudd was called home from college on account of the sudden death of his father. Not long ago Darryle Downs cut his finger, blood poisoning developed and it was feared for a time that he would lose his hand, however, he is much better now. Two weeks ago Imogene Smith was operated on at Harper hospital for appendicitis and last Friday a mild attack of small pox developed. She is now confined in the Kiefer hospital, Detroit, but is rapidly improving. Such are the many misfortunes that have happened to the class of 1913 and the members are wondering what next.
