

Cash Stamp Sales And Volume Of Outgoing Small Mail For Christmas Climb To New Peak in Plymouth

Sales Up $500 In 5-Day Christmas Period

The Plymouth postoffice marked a banner year for unprecedentedly heavy Christmas mail in 1938. It was reported this week after figures on outgoing mail were compiled.

Both figures for window stamp sales and cancellation of all small letter-size pieces of mail hung up new records for volume in the five day period directly preceding Christmas.

Each year the volume of letter-size pieces of mail is counted by the canceling machine at the postoffice. The figure for this year, which does not include parcel post, other bulky mail or any incoming mail, was 119,088 pieces of mail in five days.

This figure tops the highest previous volume by nearly 30,000 pieces of mail. The comparative figures for the last several years are: 1933—43,845; 1934—53,653; 1935—64,279; 1936—75,515; 1937—91,263; 1938—119,088.

For the same five-day period the money volume of stamps sold through the postoffice window soared nearly $500 over last year's figure. The comparative figures on the window stamp sale, which does not include a large volume of business mail which is handled wholesale or through metered postage, are as follows:

1936—$966.98; 1937—$1,244.22; 1938—$1,705.55.

The volume of outgoing mail, as indicated by these figures, indicates a larger measure of real prosperity than has been evident in recent years. The mail statistics are a fairly reliable barometer of business conditions as the upward trend of mail, a large part of it in the form of greeting cards, follows in the wake of better business conditions.

Magazine Tells Of Home Rejuvenation

Work Of Thomas Moss Featured In American Home

Readers of The American Home, a magazine of nationwide circulation, in the January issue of that publication, learned much about Plymouth, Michigan, and what its well-known architect, Thomas W. Moss did to rejuvenate a 60-year-old home.

Appearing with the article are views of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Bolton on Penniman avenue, covering almost an entire page of the magazine. The writer writes of the improvement of this attractive residence in The American Home follows:

Before it was altered this was a nondescript old eight-room house. It was built about 40 years ago and it probably lost the best of its original lines when the front porch, the gable at the front, the rear wing and the slender chimney stack which served the heating plant were added. The house had a beautiful setting, however; it was situated about 50 feet from the sidewalk in one of the best residential districts in the town of Plymouth, Michigan, on a lot approximately one and a half acres with trees in various stages of growth—oaks, horse-chestnuts, sycamores and black walnuts, apples, plums, cherries, and others. The setting was obscured, however, by the addition of an unattractive house which seemed utterly out of place at first sight. But closer inspection revealed that the floor and wall construction were sound throughout and in good repair and that the floor joists and radding were of oak. When it was discovered that the whole property, on this excellent corner, within an eight-minute walk from the heart of town and forty-five minutes from the center of Detroit, was available at $3,500, the decision to buy was made.

New Firm Opens Manufacturing Plant Here

Will Employ 25 People When Open In Next Two Weeks

The former Mastick garage on Ann Arbor road is the scene of the activity this week while workmen are remodeling the building and installing new machinery to accommodate Plymouth's newest industry. The new firm, according to its president, G. A. Roberts, of Detroit, is engaged in the manufacture of visors for several large auto and truck companies and must reach a production in the Plymouth plant of 5,000 completed pieces a day within the next two weeks.

The machinery consists mainly of large commercial sewing machines of which 10 are now under erection and will be in operation by the 15th of this month. Mr. Roberts stated that the plant will immediately employ about 20 women and five or six men. He also added that they are particularly interested in employing local women who are experienced on commercial sewing machines.

The company is changing its name and as yet it has not been definitely decided. Mr. Roberts stated that they selected Plymouth as their future home because of the fine advantages the locality offered and because they liked the general appearance of the community.

99 Car Crashes, One Fatality, Listed For 1938

Injuries Result In 11 Cases, Police Report

There were 99 automobile accidents within the city limits of Plymouth last year and one fatality was killed, Police Chief Vaughan Smith reported this week.

Included in this number were 11 accidents in which motorists or pedestrians were injured. Property damage was the extent of the collisions in the other 87 cases.

The victim of the city's only fatal accident was Owen E. McQuirk, of Detroit, who was killed January 17 when his automobile was struck by a train at the Pere Marquette railroad crossing on Mill street.

Other traffic deaths which Chief Smith listed as occurring near Plymouth but not within the city limits were those of John Thompson and Jimmy Livingston. The record for the year of 1938 ended that of 1937, when two traffic deaths were reported within the city limits, he said.

In addition to the 99 reported accidents, Chief Smith said that there were known to be a number of others, but that they were not reported to police.

However, he said, the growing number of accident reports in the police files indicate, not a larger number of accidents, but a willingness on the part of the motorist public to co-operate with law enforcement agencies by reporting accidents more readily.

There were just as many accidents years ago, Chief Smith said, but people didn't take the trouble to report them, as now is required by law.

People are learning that one of the best ways officers can help to prevent accidents is to learn how accidents happen, and the only way this information is available is through the drivers involved in the mishaps.

He pointed out that in the month of December there were three arrests for reckless driving, just three more than there were in December, 1937. There was a large number of property damage accidents reported in December, also, he said, many of them caused by skidding on icy streets. No one was injured to any extent in the accidents.

Former Plymouth Resident Celebrates 94th Birthday

Anna Mason Charnock Honored By Organizations Out In The Golden State

More than half a century ago Anna Mason was a little school girl in Plymouth. She was a pupil of Mr. Friesbie, who served so many years as one of the early instructors in the school of this fine little village growing up in the woods of western Wayne county.

After she had left school, Anna Mason went West. A few of the older residents kept in touch with her, but as new generations came on, Anna Mason was forgotten to most people in and about Plymouth.

But the former Plymouth school girl during all of those years was winning a place for herself high up in missionary work in China.

The other day in her home at 1880 Montia Vista avenue in Pasadena, California, Anna Mason Charnock celebrated her 94th birthday, happily surrounded by fellow-members of the Daughters of the American Revolution and Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Appearing in the November 30 issue of The Los Angeles Times was the following article pertaining to the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Charnock:

"I always did say that work is the main thing to keep people out of mischief. It's the only key to success. If I could be outdoors to hoe weeds I'd be perfectly happy."

"That's the way Mrs. Annie Charnock, founder of the Terminal Island postoffice and its postmistress from 1897 to 1899, looked upon life today as she observed her 94th birthday."

"Mrs. Charnock, who for 29 years was a missionary in China, was surrounded by fellow-members of the Daughters of the American Revolution and Women's Christian Temperance Union at a reception at her home in Pasadena."

"Hampered by a hip injury suffered in a fall a year ago, she chafed at the handicap. 'I know most of the pioneers around here,' she said, 'and I guess I could almost write a history of Southern California.'"

"The late Henry Virgil Van Dusen, postmaster of Los Angeles, was a husband of Mrs. Charnock. She later married Edward Flemming Charnock, who died in 1918."

"She feels sorry for the younger generation because of the depression and because 'too many of them are running around naked. I'm in favor of a return to the old-fashioned clothes and styles,' she said."

"Mrs. Charnock expressed a dislike for the radio, asserting it offered nothing but 'hunks. It's too bad,' she said, 'motion pictures and the radio have not been used to educate children in the proper path of life.'"

In her brief letter to The Plymouth Mail, Mrs. Charnock enclosed a souvenir booklet issued about Plymouth in 1898, showing views of the village that were taken some 41 or 42 years ago. Her father will be remembered by some of the older residents as Nelson A. Mason, and moved to Plymouth in 1850 from Washtenaw county. He was the village blacksmith here from 1850 to 1861 when the Civil War broke out.

"The house built in 1862, it was the home built by the first minister, referred to in his notes as 'Uncle William B. Grow.' (It will be recalled that he was one of the pioneer ministers of this city.)"

It was in 1887 when the family located in California and for the last 22 years Mrs. Charnock has resided in Pasadena.

Savings & Loan Pays Its Biggest Dividend

On January 1, 1939, the local Federal Savings and Loan association paid the largest amount in dividend which has been paid since the local association was chartered by the Federal government.

A statement of condition of the association as of December 31, 1938, has been published in this paper and reflects the unusual growth of savings in this community.

The local association now has the largest amount loaned on residential loans of any loaning agency operating in this community. At the close of 1938 the association had completed 31 residential loans for the year. Due to the fact that all the mortgages held by the local association are on the monthly payment plan, each year finds a larger number of local residents with their homes paid for. During 1938 seven loans were fully paid out.

In commenting on the substantial growth of the local Federal Savings and Loan association, it was the opinion of the officers that the local residents are becoming aware of the fact that they do not need to invest their savings outside of the community to secure a desirable return on their investment possible, consistent with safety. The fact that the local association pays 3 percent per annum and that each investor is insured to $5,000 also greatly assisted in the growth.

1938-39 Week-End Unmarred By Traffic Crashes

Many Home Parties Held In City New Year's Eve

Plymouth started the new year without a blot on the traffic record. No party-goers were reported over the three-day holiday weekend, and there was only one report of a traffic violation, that of a Detroit driver traveling 35 miles an hour through the city streets early New Year's day, police said.

More home parties to usher in the new year were reported this year than in any other season in recent years. However, large numbers of residents attended public New Year's eve celebrations in Plymouth, Ann Arbor, Northville, other neighboring communities and Detroit.

Hillsdale reported that all reservations for a special New Year's eve party there were filled, and a well-rounded number of party-goers attended the celebration held at the Mayflower hotel. Both parties continued through the early morning hours.

Although there were rumors of about one good resolution per capita for the year, The Plymouth Mail conducted no survey of them and likewise refuses to count the number broken within the next few weeks.

Reports of good resolutions successfully kept for a year or more, if any, will be received gladly, however.

Police Chief Vaughan Smith credited icy pavements in part for the successful traffic record of last week-end. The record for the city and surrounding area surpassed that of last year when one motorist was killed in a New Year's day accident near Plymouth and several collisions were reported. Chief Smith also praised thoughtfulness on the part of drivers in the crashless week-end.

Bakery Adds New Fried Cake Fryer

If you like fried cakes, there is no reason why you can't have as you wish, according to Frank Terry, of the Sanitary Bakery. It seems that the bakers in his growing bake shop were never quite able to keep up with the growing demand for "sinkers" during the last few months so to lighten their burden (and to please his many customers) he announces the installation of a new Anets Fryer, which he says is the finest piece of equipment in the world when it comes to making fried cakes.

It not only makes them faster and fries a lot more at a time but it now insures the customers, and the bakers, of a uniform color and uniform texture. So, once more the "Happy Plymouth Bakers" can look their customers straight in the eyes and say, "Yes, we have fried cakes."

Action On City Auditorium, Hospital And Library Impossible Financially For Next Three Years, Manager Says

Plymouth's hopes for a city hospital, library and auditorium as described under a sixteen-point program for the future needs of the city which was prepared for the city's annual report cannot be given serious consideration until after July, 1942, and then only if business conditions continue in an upward trend, City Manager Clarence H. Elliott said this week.

Richwine Appointed To State Committee By Loan League

Perry W. Richwine, Secretary-Treasurer of the Plymouth Federal Savings and Loan Association

Perry W. Richwine, secretary-treasurer of the Plymouth Federal Savings and Loan association, has just been appointed a member of the Michigan Building and Loan League's committee on Fidelity Bonds and Insurance, according to an announcement received here today from James H. Jerome, Saginaw, president of the league.

This committee, which consists of five savings, building and loan executives, will study the usage of Michigan associations as to protective bonds covering the associations risks. They will report to the next state convention.

The Michigan League is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year, having been organized in Saginaw on December 27, 1889. It is an organization comprising the leading associations in the state and has had important influence in the promotion of thrift and home financing in Michigan.

Plymouth Will Be Busy Paying Bond Indebtedness

Realization of that phase of the program for the future will be impossible until late 1942 or early 1943, he said, because until then it will be necessary for the city to retire a good part of its general obligation bonds.

In 1942 and 1943, however, the amount of money needed for retiring the city's debts will become greatly reduced, and the city may be able to consider an expansion of its much needed civic facilities.

Furniture Men To See Latest Home Fashions

Buyers Will Attend Furniture Mart January 9-21

When the home furnishings fashions for 1939 make their debut at the industry's great national market at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago, among those on hand for the event will be Horace Thatcher of Blunk Brothers department store.

The big home furnishings show opens January 9 and will continue for two weeks. Yesterday Blunk Brothers announced that its buyer will be among the 10,000 or so furniture men from all parts of the country, who will attend the exhibition.

To attend the national markets primarily to see the new merchandise, get a line on what the leading factories are doing, and insure that we obtain the best value for our customers," Mr. Thatcher explained. "However the shows are helpful to us in many ways. Model rooms reflect the current trend in interior decoration; other exhibits provide new ideas for store arrangement, window displays and special promotions; contacts at Chicago with furniture men from other cities often develop new merchandising ideas. Market attendance helps keep us up-to-date with the industry and provides us with last minute information on new things for the home which we can pass on to our customers."

Mastick Will Build Soon

Announcement was made Wednesday that plans were under way by the Red Indian Oil company to construct a beautiful display room, service station and garage on the northeast corner of the intersection of Ann Arbor road and Main street within the next few weeks.

The show room and garage will be used by Earl S. Mastick for Dodge and Plymouth sales. The building will be modern in every detail and will be of modernistic design. It will house a complete lubrication office, etc. Complete details of the building will be announced at a later date in The Plymouth Mail.

In 1942 and 1943, however, the amount of money needed for retiring the city's debts will become greatly reduced, and the city may be able to consider an expansion of its much needed civic facilities.

The City Planning Commission, he said, now has under consideration the plans for a city hospital and auditorium and already is giving special attention to the needs for library development.

"Plans for the hospital, library and auditorium are pretty much in a visionary state at present," Mr. Elliott said, "but there is no doubt about the needs for them."

The city now has no adequate place of assembly for the residents of the community, he said. He added that the acoustics are very poor in the present available space for community gatherings.

With the new attitude which has developed toward adult recreation in the last few years, he pointed out, the facilities for such activities are poor in Plymouth.

It is true that the high school gymnasium is used for gatherings and for adult basketball competition and the school may have a new and larger gymnasium within the next few years, but even then, Plymouth has no swimming pool, no place for skating and little space for dances, especially for the younger people, he said.

The city hall, he said, is now being used every night except Sundays for dances and other projects, and nearly every week some of the reading rooms are permitted to use city hall space for their activities for the simple reason that there isn't enough space for all. A civic auditorium would solve many of these problems the city manager said.

Space, for example, would be provided for recreational and athletic activities, for dances, for community meetings, for clubs with civic and semi-civic programs to be presented, and other projects, all of them a benefit to the community.

A city library, he said, has been needed for a long time. There is insufficient space provided in the Plymouth Branch of the Wayne County Library, he said, without even room enough for reading rooms.

It is possible that the city may get help in the city library project from the Wayne County Library Commission. It is desirable in a way to have the facilities of the Wayne library, Mr. Elliott said, because there are fewer books per capita and yet there are many books available through transfers from the various branches.

In the matter of a city hospital, Mr. Elliott pointed out that the city should have a hospital to which residents would rather go than the hospitals in Detroit and Ann Arbor.

Such a hospital need not be a large one, he added. He commented that the present hospital was doing an exceptionally good job, but that a better building and better service was needed. Some arrangement would be made with the operators of the present hospital in Plymouth, he said.

These are three needs which the city administration is vitally interested to supply as soon as possible. However, the fulfillment of the needs may be termed the objectives of a long-range planning program, as even essential points have not been thought out yet.

When and as soon as the opportunity arises, the city will make more detailed progress toward attaining these particular objectives. That may be three, five, 10 years or longer, Mr. Elliott said.

Among the other points which will have to be settled will be whether the city wants to build structures for the uses planned or whether to adapt present buildings to the needs. The decisions will hinge on the financing arrangements, of course, and can not even be predicted at present.

 floor a full city block square.
 "Advance word from the Mart is that Swedish modern designs will again be featured this year," Mr. Thatcher said. "In styles which blend with period settings. Native peasant styles such as Swedish, Swiss, Danish, Mexican and French Provincial styles as well as Early American and Colonial patterns will also be popular. Eighteenth Century English suites will follow the simplified designs used by Sheraton, Hepplewhite, Duncan Phyfe and the Adam Brothers."
 Other style trends expected to be reflected at the Mart include:
 1. New kitchen furniture in new color combinations and space and time saving designs. Blue in combination with white, grey with white and yellow and pastel and pastel tones loom as important new color notes.
 2. Lamps are expected to show a complete departure from past models both in styling and types of materials used for shades and bases. Many of the new lamps are expected to be a major factor in tying together rooms of assorted period design blended with modern touches. In addition to wood bases, crystal, pottery, plastics, metal, china and glass are expected to be shown. New floor lamps, bridge and table lamps will stress improved lighting keyed to distinctive styling.
 3. Interchangeable patterns in figured carpeting which may be used with equal facility with contemporary or period designs are favored for first honors during the coming season. Tone-on-tone, with two and three colors

Over 1,350 Michigan people "went to college" by staying home last year when they took advantage of the correspondence courses offered by the Extension Service of the University of Michigan in cooperation with the W.P.A. In addition, 1,330 were enrolled in high school courses offered by the Extension Service.

Unlike much correspondence study, these courses are organized in groups. The students' work is directed by a supervisor who sends their completed lessons to the University for correction.
 Of the 2,683 students enrolled in these courses during 1936-37, 718 were in city study centers, 1,770 in CCC camps, and 196 studied alone. College credit was given to 153 students for work done in these courses during that year.

 possibilities of the house and the present design was created. The major changes to the exterior were the removal of the front porch, the center gable, and the three old chimneys. The first floor level was about thirty inches above the grade line, and "to bring the house down to the ground" the second story was projected six inches beyond the main wall face to give a strong horizontal line across the front. To give more light to the bedrooms on the second floor, we added three dormers. And this provided cross ventilation. One change made, which usually helps a house of this character, was the removal of the center walk to the main entrance. It was replaced with sod, creating a wide expanse of lawn from driveway to the service walk on the east side, which is used for the approach to the main entrance. The most pleasant and unobstructed view is southwest, and with this in mind we added a porch off the dining room, and a bay.
 The changes made on the interior comprised moving some of the partitions, moving the stair back about four feet, and building a new bathroom, toilet, and the necessary closets.

YOUR HEALTH THIS YEAR

(By O. F. Beyer, of Beyer Drugs)
 The New Year always promises much and it is human to look forward to increased possessions, success in work, travel, fun, happiness.

All of these are desirable and none of them are possible without the most precious of all possessions—health.

Planning your year ahead, budget for health. Arrange your schedule of work and play to allow for relaxation, rest, for protection against exhaustion. See your doctor whether you think you need or not. His advice will include the matter of proper rest. Follow his instructions.

And in one particular, follow his advice implicitly. Take all prescriptions to a qualified and reputable druggist. Desired effects of medicine follow only when compounding is perfect.

What About Price?
 Funerals cannot be sold in exactly the same manner as merchandise, since the chief item is the service. The family alone names the price, based entirely upon what they want to spend, what type of service and merchandise they want. However, we give positive assurance that when the family desires, we are equipped to furnish funerals as low in price, or lower, than any establishment which advertises price. More important, though, our service is more in every detail.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (1 Peter 5: 2): "Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 234): "Whatever inspires with wisdom, Truth, or Love—be it song, sermon, or Science—blesses the human family with crumbs of comfort from Christ's table, feeding the hungry and giving living waters to the thirsty."

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL church.—Harvey and Maple streets. Second Sunday after Christmas. Holy communion and sermon, 10:00 a.m.; church school, 11:15.

NAZARENE CHURCH.—Robert A. North, pastor. Bible school, 10:00; morning worship, 11:15; young people, 6:30; evening service, 7:30; prayer meeting Wednesday, 7:30. Do you attend a good prayer meeting anywhere? If not, we feel sure you would enjoy a service where they really believe that God answers prayer. In this day of skepticism and unbelief many have lost faith in God, but we believe with the writer of the Hebrews that "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever." (Hebrews 13: 8) and that "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." (James 5: 16). If you are a slave to sin God will meet your need if you will fulfill the conditions, for after all, all the promises of God are conditional. In addition to prayer and testimony, we are studying the Book of Romans together. The seventh chapter will be taken up this coming Wednesday evening. A cordial welcome awaits you at this and all the services. You will be a stranger but once. Our Sunday evening services, too, are a great blessing to many. The pastor will be preaching on the "Parable of the Mustard Seed." Inspiring congregational singing along with some instrumental music make this service a profitable one. Our building is much more comfortable since the ceiling has been put in, so come Sunday night and enjoy a spiritual feast. Holbrook and Pearl.

Beautiful Riverside Mausoleum Nearing Completion

THE SIZE OF THE MAUSOLEUM is determined as to the number of compartments, and those available are limited in number. If you have not already made your reservation, do so now—delay will not work to your advantage.

A LITTLE THOUGHT will convince you that entombment in Riverside Mausoleum costs no more than a lot, monument, and other cemetery expenses.

A MODERN HEATING PLANT, lights, ventilation, permanency of construction and ready accessibility to every compartment are provided.

PERPETUAL CARE is assured from an endowment fund, the interest of which can be used for the care and maintenance of the building only.

Come out to the building and see for yourself the progress of construction. A request will bring full information with no obligation to buy.

The children who formerly attended the temporary school on Mr. Campbell's property will start the new year in their new school Monday morning, January 9, 1939.

Attention, property owners! There will be another Improvement association meeting on Friday evening at Stark school at 8:00 p.m., January 13, 1939.

Stark school ladies' auxiliary had its last meeting of the year the Wednesday before Christmas. The next meetings will go on as usual every Wednesday evening starting January 4, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome. There was a very short business meeting, followed by small gifts brought by the ladies and distributed according to number, then cards and bunco were played, and a very nice lunch followed. After the ladies began to go, baskets of groceries were made up by some of the ladies who volunteered to stay. The groceries which made up the baskets were donated by the ladies of the community, the meat for each basket was furnished by the auxiliary. These baskets went to the most needy families of Plymouth Gardens. They were distributed on the Saturday before Christmas by the president of the auxiliary and the president of the P.T.A.

Mr. Lewis, of Orangelawn avenue died the week before Christmas. Our sincere sympathy goes out to his family.

Al's "Discovery" Is Old News About Here

"Boys" Glad Sheriff Isn't Going To Be Harsh

Plymouth and Northville residents have been keenly interested in the "revelations" that have recently been made in Detroit newspapers pertaining to Al Wilson, chief investigator on the staff of Sheriff Wilcox of Wayne county. Apparently it has just been discovered in Detroit that Deputy Sheriff Al Wilson is the same Al Wilson who used to wet the whistles of the thirty boys with alley-made beer and bootleg whiskey in the days when run-running was a profitable business for Detroit crooks. Everybody else knew all about Al and the good old days when Al had a joint over at Northville until Editor E. E. Brown of the Record made it so hot for him that he had to move out into the township where his activities wouldn't be noticed so much.

The big shot deputy sheriff who passes upon applications for liquor licenses for that part of Wayne county outside the city of Detroit, according to Sheriff Wilcox, is his "ace man" in this respect. The boys out there think he ought to be because Al was a sort of popular guy among those who risked their lives drinking alley-booze and the sort of "imported" hooch that was peddled back in the days of prohibition, and he should know all of the former operators of bootleg joints as well as the star patrons of those places.

It is recalled that outside of the "dirty work" that was carried on by the former Northville editor who made it so hot for Al that he had to move his joint once, that his only other unpleasant experience was when some federal operators "knocked him off" and he had to pay Uncle Sam a pretty big fine for operating a business that both federal and state laws said was illegal.

After that experience, the boys recall, Al was somewhat of a different man.

But his days of gloom were soon to pass because when Sheriff Wilcox was elected to office, the former popular western Wayne county bootlegger landed a job with the sheriff chasing down crooks who violate the laws of the land.

Then Al grew in power and became chairman of the 17th congressional political committee that passes upon much of the political patronage that has flowed so freely in recent years. If any one wanted a white-collar job on the WPA they were very discreetly told that it was necessary to "see Al" and get a letter from him. If they could get a letter from Al, everything was hunky-dory. But apparently, if Al couldn't find where the applicant had at some time been in his social register, it was too bad for the applicant.

This rule that Al operates under has proven in some cases to be rather tough on some people. In fact, there is in Plymouth, one mighty fine, decent law abiding citizen who a year ago needed a job mightily bad. He even studied his efforts to qualify for relief in his efforts to get the kind of work he was physically able to do.

Finally, after going all through the routine of humiliation and kotowing required under the new fangled welfare and WPA set-up, it was gently suggested to him that a letter from the chairman of the congressional district in which he lived would do the trick and land him the badly needed job.

In his inquiry he found out that the chairman of the district was the jolly-good fellow Al Wilson, former bootlegger and distributor of holiday cheer in the days of aridity.

So he went to see Al. Al said he'd look him up a bit and write to him.

Apparently Al couldn't find the name of this job-seeker in his social register because the letter has never been received and the good citizen of Plymouth never got the job he needed so badly at that time.

The boys about here are sort of pleased to know that Sheriff Wilcox is not going to be very harsh with Al. In fact, the Sheriff says Al is too valuable a man to be torn to pieces by the coyotes who would get his job just because they have now found out that at sometime in the distant past he helped the boys relieve their thirst on cold, windy nights such as folks living in the rural sections suffer from during the winter.

What difference does it make if Al did get caught breaking the law—he's a good man, says the sheriff—to catch other law breakers and pass out WPA white collar jobs.

Then, too, the sheriff says he can't find Al's fingerprints in his file—so there!

RESOLUTIONS HERALD COMING YEAR

With the new year at hand, those individuals who follow the decrees of custom will once more cross their fingers and plunge themselves into utter servitude for a period of from one to 30 days—depending on how much they believe in ideals. It is safe to say that no one mortal can successfully keep his new year's resolutions for a period longer than that.

A glance at various report cards around school will confirm the idea of resolutions. Certainly a resolution or a revolution is needed to awaken their owners from the usual mid-semester slumber.

One dominant New Year's ideal voiced by boys and girls alike, is to forget the opposite sex and to plunge into the grind free from thoughts of Cupid—a "Hall Casanovas" in action will lend weight to this statement.

The teachers, too, ascribe to this practice. They are all agreed in one point: "To keep their papers corrected and up to date." The custom of turning over a new leaf at the beginning of every new year may be traced to the two-faced Roman God, Janus, whence comes our word for the month January. The Romans forward and looking backward named their first month Janus because he suggested looking forward and looking backward, much the same as we do on New Year's day.

As a guide for those students who are either too modest or too brazen to divulge their resolutions, there is here listed a tentative group of suggestions, garnered from many who were questioned on the subject, to be used by who deems them appropriate.

1. To make no resolutions because you always break them anyway.
2. To score as many points in history as you do in basketball.
3. To say "Haven't got none" instead of "Ain't got none."
4. To split infinitives only when absolutely necessary.
5. To chew gum only out of school.

In any case, the very appropriate adage will hold true: The less you make, the less you break!

LET'S RESOLVE TO MAKE FEWER RESOLUTIONS—EDITORIAL

"Let me see—resolution number one..." Thus numerous conversations have undoubtedly begun in the last few days. All of us do make lists with the best intentions of keeping them, but how many of us have actually adhered to previous lists with no deviation from our original plan. Very few people have the strength or will power to succeed for a little while. If this is true, one wonders why people persist in making useless New Year resolutions when they would know, if they remembered the past, that they are mentally or physically unable to keep them. Lists of 20 or even 10 resolutions are preposterous and ought to be abolished. However, one or two resolutions are most desirable inasmuch as there is more than a remote possibility of keeping those few. Pick out one resolution that you feel would strengthen your character and make your life a little better. Concentrate on carrying out this resolve, never giving up, never retreating, or giving in to your own foolish whimsies that may endanger your resolution. For, this resolution, once broken is broken countless times thereafter, and is consequently useless. Let us, therefore, make fewer resolutions, but make them better with the intention and determination to keep them.

The United States has the longest coastline of any naval power. The extent of the defensive coast lines of the principal naval powers are as follows: United States—3860; Great Britain—1800; Japan—1440; Italy—1330; France—1100 (this does not include possessions).

BIBLE STORY CONTEST

FIRST PRIZE $3—Second Prize $2—5 Third Prizes, each $1.

CHILDREN 13 YEARS old or under, attending Plymouth Public Schools are eligible.

NOTHING TO BUY, nothing to send in except a letter.

JUDGES: Rev. Stanford S. Closson, Methodist Minister. Mrs. Ada Murray, Librarian. George A. Smith, Superintendent of Schools.

Choose only one of the following subjects for your letter:

1. Just suppose I could go back thousands of years ago and live for a week in those days. If I could spend a week's vacation as a guest of any person in the Bible, Jesus excepted, whom would I choose and why? Examples: Sampson, David, Ruth, Queen Esther, etc.
2. Which Bible Story or Picture I like best and why?
3. Which Bible Story or Picture helps me most and how? Examples: helps me most to take hard knocks with a smile, to be fearless, cheerful, always busy about something worth while, etc.

Letters must not have more than 100 words, must be written with ink or a typewriter, must be postmarked not later than February second, must be mailed to Rev. Spafford Kelsey, 267 Blunk street, Plymouth, Michigan.

In most prize contests, 60 percent of the letters are thrown out, because rules have not been followed, for example, mailed too late. So watch out!

THE DECISION of the judges is final. No letters will be returned and all become the property of the sponsor of this contest. No queries will be answered by mail. This complete announcement appears only in this issue of The Plymouth Mail.

A child may get information from other people, but the judges will be favorably influenced by the child's own originality of thought, and the child's own words and thoughts. Prizes will be given for the best letters, the value of the thought itself will count for more than neatness, good English, etc.

LETTERS must contain the name of the child competing, also his or her street and number. The ten dollars for prizes has already been deposited with the Superintendent of Schools.

PLYMOUTH LOSES FIRST LEAGUE START

By dropping the first league game to Dearborn 27 to 12 the Rock quintet met their first defeat Thursday night in the local court. Mr. Jacobi says that the Plymouth boys were capable of beating Dearborn but their minds were not on the game. Probably they were thinking of how they would be occupied during the Christmas vacation.

Plymouth will tangle with Wayne on their courts January 6.

MR. MURPHY AND MR. VANDENBERG

It was not with any pleasure that the people of Michigan Sunday heard the announcement from Washington that President Roosevelt had appointed Frank Murphy as attorney general of the United States. While it has been known since Murphy's defeat that he has been seeking another public payroll opening somewhere in the nation's capitol, and his name has been mentioned in connection with a cabinet appointment, little did the people who know Murphy best think that he could induce the President to make the appointment. It is not so difficult however to understand how the President could make such an error, as it is not always possible for the chief executive to know all the facts about people pestering him for jobs.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg of this state when asked a few days ago if he would vote to confirm Murphy's appointment if the President made it, said that he would do so. While there is some explanation of the Presidential appointment, there is no excuse for the position taken by Senator Vandenberg. He knows Frank Murphy, and he knows his record of failure, maladministration and deception just as well as do the people of Michigan who felt relieved Saturday when he packed his bag and left the city of Lansing.

When the writer of this editorial went to Lansing as a member of the legislature at the same time Frank Murphy became Governor, there did not exist the slightest animosity against Mr. Murphy. In fact the writer possessed a sympathetic attitude towards him because of his professed interest in various humane problems confronting our state. We shared his alleged concern for the needy aged, of an immediate improvement in the housing facilities for the afflicted and of his loudly proclaimed policies that would benefit the underdog.

But it was not long before it was discovered that all of these claims on his part were mere sham, that his chief interest centered around Mr. Murphy's own welfare exclusively.

We would like to ask how it is possible for Senator Vandenberg to be willing to vote to approve Mr. Murphy's selection to a high cabinet post when it has been proven that Mr. Murphy deliberately deceived the voters of Michigan during the 1936 primary campaign. Murphy declared time after time that he was not on the payroll of the federal government when as a matter of fact he was receiving his check regularly from the government each month during that campaign. What confidence can the people of the nation have in Mr. Murphy, after the fact has been definitely established that he deliberately faked the people of his own state in such a matter as this?

The Plymouth Mail has frequently challenged Murphy to produce a tax receipt of any kind for any tax he has ever paid in his lifetime.

It is a notorious fact that he has NEVER paid to the city of his claimed residence, his county, his school district or his state one penny of tax money, notwithstanding that out of his public salaries and expense allowances he must have accumulated a fortune of between a quarter and half million dollars. He has never had a dependent to support and his political friends have always paid his campaign expenses, therefore his public "earnings" have been "velvet" to him.

He promised to give greater aid to the aged of the state, and declared that "it is inconceivable that aged persons depending upon old age relief should be left stranded or THROWN ON DIRECT RELIEF."

Under Mr. Murphy the pensions to the aged instead of being increased were cut down to such a low point that thousands and thousands of the old folks of the state are in dire distress. Within six months from the time he assumed office, his welfare department FORCED the old people to apply for DIRECT RELIEF, a policy that he has strongly condemned in his message to the legislature.

When holding a judgeship in Detroit this same Frank Murphy convicted some pawn brokers of violating a state law. After a group of their ilk had "put the heat on" so to speak, he set aside his own verdict and turned the pawn brokers he had convicted back into society as free citizens.

He urged the last legislature to pass what he called a model labor relations bill. The legislature passed it. He went on making speeches about the enactment of the "best labor relations bill in America." He came home from his speech making trip and VETOED his "model" bill.

Senator Vandenberg, is this the type of a high governmental advisor you are going to approve by your vote?

Of course Senator, you must know of the notorious raid made by higher-ups in Murphy's administration on the state liquor warehouse a year ago last Christmas and of his failure to institute criminal proceedings against those guilty of receiving property illegally taken from the state.

You must know too about the "hidden pay-roll" scheme whereby it was revealed that two employes in his office were on the payrolls of two different state departments, their names put there through the connivance of Frank Murphy.

It is needless to continue to review Murphy's maladministration as Governor of Michigan. You know these facts and you know it is not possible for the President to know them as you do. That is primarily why the appointment of cabinet positions requires senatorial approval. The framers of the law were well aware that a President might err in matters of this kind. They delegated to the senate the final word.

You must know too that the Communist party in Michigan this year failed to place a state ticket in the field and gave its wholehearted approval to the re-election of Frank Murphy as governor. What will happen to possible future legal proceedings that might grow out of the inquiry being made by the Dies committee with an attorney general of the United States under obligations for favors extended him by those that he might be called upon to proceed legally against.

Do you think it a proper thing for one in such a high public place as a member of the President's cabinet to have accepted a $10,000 fee for acting as an arbitrator in some gas rate dispute at the time he was serving as a judge in the same city which was involved in the dispute? You must recall that when the fact became known and Detroit newspapers pressed him for an explanation of it, he announced that he had accepted the money, but planned to give it to some Detroit charity. Do you, or any one else, know of any "charity" that ever received that $10,000 fee?

It is reported that our senior senator declares that he is "bound by duty" to vote for Murphy because Murphy is a resident of Michigan. It is true that Murphy hails from this state, but his permanent home address is that of a hotel room in Detroit where he spends his time when in that city. He doesn't own a piece of real estate or personal property within the state—that is as far as any tax collector could ever find out.

Does the senator think that his judgment is better than that of 814,000 Michigan voters who had the courage last November to vote NO when Frank Murphy asked for a continuation of his term in high public office?

But what about the Senator's claim of being "duty bound" to vote for Murphy because he is from Michigan? Did not a Republican senate not so many years ago refuse to confirm an outstanding, clean, high-minded citizen of this state for a cabinet post because of objections raised by a Michigan senator? Mind you, there were none of the serious objections to him as a cabinet member as there are to our talkative ex-governor.

Was it not another Republican senate that let it be known that the resignation of a Michigan Republican senator, who had spent but a mere fraction of as much money to win a senatorial election as was spent in an effort to keep Murphy in as Governor of Michigan last fall, would be a welcome document? Only pennies were spent in that senatorial campaign as compared to the thousands upon thousands of dollars that flooded the state last fall in an effort to control the election for Frank Murphy.

Probably the most despicable part of the Murphy campaign was one of the methods used to extort money from the pockets of poorly paid, minor political job holders under his administration. They were told to contribute to his slush fund "or else", meaning of course that if they did not contribute money or sign a note with promise to pay that they would be fired!

The senate accepted the resignation of the former Michigan senator whose campaign methods were questioned because he had used funds for advertising, meetings and similar purposes; not one cent of the money however was raised as were funds for the Murphy campaign or from such sources as contributed to help the Governor.

Now the senior Senator from Michigan says he is willing to APPROVE as a member of the President's cabinet a candidate for public office who permitted the use of probably a thousand times more dollars than were used in the senatorial campaign in question!

How can he justify his position in view of all of these facts? He knows as well as any other person in Michigan, that Murphy is not entitled to a place in the President's cabinet, irrespective of his political ideas or his claim to Michigan citizenship.

We would like to see some one from Michigan in the President's cabinet, but why not select a citizen who will reflect credit upon our state, some one who HAS BEEN AND WILL BE HONEST WITH THE PEOPLE?

We regret exceedingly to take issue with Senator Vandenberg in this matter, but in view of our knowledge of Frank Murphy the writer cannot and will not approve of him for any public position of any kind.

THE FINISH

Last official acts of the outgoing Murphy administration was to cut the appropriations for old age pensions and public school aid. Unless the incoming administration takes immediate steps to remedy this situation, schools will be forced to close before the end of the present school year, poorly paid instructors will be required to go with reduced income and the aged people of the state will be forced to go hungry or beg for food and fuel. Michigan can thank the good Lord that the administration of "the great humanitarian governor" is at an end.

PROPER CREDIT

The Detroit Times in its Sunday issue declared that Editor Murl DeFoe of Charlotte had for years been the real power back of Governor Fitzgerald. What The Times said is true. It was Editor DeFoe who some twenty years ago started the "build-up" for Frank Fitzgerald. He did much to help secure for him high places in official Lansing, to elect him secretary of state and finally to launch him for the governorship. Editor DeFoe has been a firm believer in his neighbor and friend and that belief had an important part in creating among the newspaper editors of Michigan a support for Governor Fitzgerald that enabled him to win the high political place he now fills.

HE SPEAKS HIS MIND.

It is hinted that the incoming legislature will be asked to make a lot of important changes in our present conservation laws, among those changes being a law to make a one deer kill legal. It will sure be a lot of fun to throw monkey wrenches, nails, beer bottles, old rags and anything else we can get our hands on to gum up any kind of machinery geared to that end. That is a monstrous proposal that anything the New Dealers have ever devised, no matter whether they got the idea out of Pennsylvania, out of some hungry meat hunter's think tank, or out of a Chick Sales masterpiece. It's all screwy, and it won't work, and it will fog up every bit of other conservation legislation proposed.—Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer.

THE DOG-RACING BILL

It is difficult to believe, yet probably it is true that once again the state legislature will deliberate on a dog-racing bill, a measure to turn the state over to a big gambling racket and the loudest bunch of racketeers operating anywhere. Reports are current that the dog-racing bill lobbyists are now preparing to descend on Lansing with hopes that the legislature will legalize slot machines and dog racing.

Dog racing and playing slot machines are not sports. They are merely devices of racketeers to fleece the people. Of course, the people actually fleece themselves because no one is compelled to play the dogs or the slot machines. But if government is supposed to protect fools from their own follies then certainly dog-racing and slot machines should be barred.

Few of us can afford to gamble even when chances are somewhere near even. No one can afford to play slot machines or dog races because both games are dead set against the players and both games are operated by as hardened and ruthless a bunch of swindlers and thugs as can be found in the United States.

We hear lots these days about the benefits of tolerance and the evils of intolerance. Maybe we hear too much, because there are things that should not be tolerated; there are a lot of evils which wouldn't exist today if we were not so tolerant. Among those evils which we should not tolerate are dog-racing and slot machines. All that would need be done to successfully block those two measures would be for 10 intolerant people in every county to write letters to their representatives and senators.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.
