

All Previous Records Broken In Sale Of Automobile License Plates At Plymouth Office, Say Officials

Total So Far This Year Exceeds Last Year By 229—Highest Since Office Established Here

Reports made at a meeting of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce membership Monday noon at the Mayflower hotel showed that a total of 3941 automobile license plates had been issued at the local sales office of the state's office this year between February 15 and March 5.

This is 229 more than was issued during the same period last year. Of the number, according to Secretary Frank Rambo, 1543 were half-year passenger plates. This is a smaller number of half-year plates than were issued last year.

President Stanley Corbett and other officials of the club look upon the report as indicating an improved business condition in this locality. Not only does it indicate better business, but the Chamber of Commerce officials also declare that the large increase this year over all other previous years is definite proof of the consistent population growth of Plymouth and vicinity.

Patterson Gets Big King Fish

When John Patterson goes fishing, he goes fishing. Not only does he go fishing, but he gets the fish. Then after he gets the fish, he sends proof of the fact that he really does catch them.

Monday noon, Frank Rambo received an express package from Fort Lauderdale, Florida. When he opened it, he uncovered five big king fish packed in ice. They had been shipped to him by Mr. Patterson who is spending the winter at Fort Lauderdale.

News and Views About Michigan, My Michigan

By Elton R. Eaton
The state legislature is heading directly into one of the busiest periods it has ever experienced. Unlike previous sessions, there has been no delay in getting the work started early. Two years ago the members of the legislature marked time while the former governor lolled around down in Florida or at White Sulphur Springs. Probably Frank Murphy spent less time in Lansing during the regular session of the legislature than any other governor Michigan ever had. But things are different this year and both house and senate committees are right up to their necks in work.

For nearly 20 years the writer has been in pretty close touch with legislative matters, chiefly as a newspaper writer and editor. At no time during those 20 years has any chairman of a legislative committee worked longer hours, granted more hearings and tread more diligently on the subject of a bill before his committee than has Chairman Walter G. Brick, of the house labor committee. Mr. Herrick is a Montclair county farmer. He knows what it is to work hard for a living. He stands well among his neighbors up in the central part of the state and when he was selected chairman of this important committee, members of the house knew he would be fair and endeavor to get out a good labor bill. He was given the Governor's labor bill very early in the session. In fact, it was about the first important piece of legislation introduced into the legislature. The labor committee went right to work. It has granted practically every request for hearings from both representatives of labor and industry. Frequently the committee has met three times a day, mornings before the house session, afternoons after the session and evenings.

It is not a reflection upon any one to say that the bill as introduced will probably be materially changed in committee before it is reported out. The good say that a bill opposed by both labor and industry must be a good bill, generally true.

The experiences of the nation with the Wagner labor act has provided sufficient proof of the fact that any legislative body should move slowly in enacting laws that might prove a handicap to labor relations instead of a benefit. That is why Chairman Herrick has been so patient and so cautious in his work. That is why the bill has been so carefully considered. It may be reported out by the

Dr. Earl V. Moore Northville Host To Garden Club

When the Plymouth Woman's club and neighboring clubs visited in Northville in November they were pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Edith Rhets Tilton, lecturer in the Detroit Symphony organization, who spoke on the emotional appeal of symphony music. Last Friday these clubs continued their education along this line as guests of the Plymouth Woman's club, with a most interesting and instructive talk by Dr. Earl V. Moore, musical director of the school of music of the University of Michigan, who was introduced by Mrs. Albert Curry, program chairman. His was an intellectual approach and he sought, by illustrating with phonograph records, to show how symphonies are built upon ingenious repetition and variation of simple melodies—sometimes only four notes long—and how they are developed by different composers. This was brought out in the playing of portions of the Schubert "Introduction to Symphony No. 7," Tchaikovsky's "Symphony Pathetic," and "Caesar's March" of the minor "Symphony," Strauss' "Death and Transfiguration," a symphonic poem.

By understanding this one rudimentary principle the ladies should listen to symphony music in the future more intelligently and with greater enjoyment, said Dr. Moore. He pointed out that music is a growing art. One might think that with only 12 tones and a few different rhythms to work with that all possible effects would have been achieved by the masters of the past, but this is not so. As short a time ago as 1912, Stravinski's "Le Sacre du Printemps" caused a major musical revolution. Audiences shouted it down and got up and left in groves wherever it was played because they didn't like it and said it wasn't music. But our ears have become used to dissonance and more complicated rhythm and all the music that has been written since that time shows the influence of that work. Inspiration

The Plymouth branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association will join the Northville Garden Club at its annual luncheon meeting, on Monday, March 13, the luncheon to be held at 1:00 p.m. in the parlors of the Presbyterian church with the ladies of that church serving. A musical tour will be given by Mrs. Elsie Baker, Hewitt, of Jackson, Mich., will tell of the gardens of various countries abroad and play music from those same countries. All reservations for the luncheon must be in by Saturday. Those who wish to make reservations are asked to call Mrs. J. Merle Bennett, Mrs. John T. Neale Jr., Mrs. Ralph Lorenz, Mrs. O. F. Beyer or Mrs. Arthur White, luncheon committee. Mrs. Paul Wiedman has on hand tickets for the Detroit Flower Show to be held from March 25 to April 2 in Convention hall.

M. E. Jamboree This Week-end

The Sunday school of the First Methodist Episcopal church is sponsoring a jamboree on Friday and Saturday nights of this week in the church gym. Under the direction of Clyde Upton, superintendent of the Sunday school, it is designed to furnish all those who attend a lot of entertainment and fun. There will be moving pictures, fortune telling, silhouettes, novelty dancing, refreshments and refreshment booths for the benefit of the patrons. It is planned to have a country store where baked goods and other food items will be sold. There will also be exhibition booths of special interest to both boys and girls which will consist of beadwork, hobbies, antiques, and curiosities. The object of the jamboree is to raise funds for articles needed by the Sunday school department. Everyone is invited to attend, as either or both of these

Union Service To Present Traveler

REV. SIDNEY D. EVA

This Sunday night's union service at the First Baptist church, North Mill street, at 7:30 o'clock will be of interest to every one. The Reverend Sidney D. Eva of Detroit, area secretary of the Methodist Episcopal church, will speak on his recent travels in central Europe. He has visited Germany, Belgium, France, Italy and England and has made a careful study of the religious conditions in those countries. The title of his lecture is, "The Last Line of Defense." The three churches co-operating in these union services are the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist. The general public is cordially invited.

Local Youth Saves Life Of Woman In Lake

Hero Disappears After Saving Woman And Dogs

Somewhere in or around Plymouth is a young man between 10 and 15 years old who is partly responsible for saving the life of Mrs. Hugh Peters who resides at 1424 Northville road and Mrs. Peters is more than anxious to find him. It all happened last Saturday afternoon when some one knocked at Mrs. Peters' front door and informed her that her two Scottie dogs had broken through the ice in Wilcox pond across from the ice shanty that stands on the south side of the lake. Mrs. Peters donned a coat and picked up a broom and hurried to the pond in hopes of fishing them out before they drowned. In an effort to reach them she also broke through the ice but being a capable swimmer she was able to swim to the edge of the ice where she managed to hold on and call for help. A young man, hearing her cries for help, secured a life-saver from the skating shanty and crawled out on the ice far enough to throw it to her so that she might stay afloat until other help came. Another young chap ran to Jimmie's Cleaners and had there secured a ladder from Herbert Norgrave and the two of them pushed it out on the thin ice to the unknown hero where he, in turn, helped Mrs. Peters back to safety. After Mrs. Peters was safe this chap managed, with the help of the ladder, to descend the ice and bring them to shore. During the excitement that followed the unknown hero of the afternoon disappeared and despite all of Mrs. Peters searching since the affair, he remains unidentified. Mrs. Peters told The Mail yesterday that she was more than interested in finding the young man so that she might reward him and thank him for his brave deed.

Those who wish to register for the series of free lectures may do so at 2:00 o'clock today at the J. L. Hudson company store.

Club Prepares For Early Golf Season

Spring was definitely in the air this week when William Rambo, manager of the Plymouth Country club announced that the golf course would open soon. He said that work is now in progress putting greens and fairways in shape so that the course can open on April 1. Few changes will be made in the club house he said. The counter will be remodeled and moved back closer to the wall to facilitate travel in the basement.

Calls Conference To Discuss Dance Problem

Youngsters Going To Beer Gardens, Is Report

Either Mayor Henry Honorp or City Manager Clarence Elliott will be invited to attend next Monday noon's meeting of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce to discuss with the local business men a question that has developed since the enactment of the new dance ordinance.

According to statements made Monday noon at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce numerous complaints have been received about Plymouth boys and girls leaving the city Saturday nights to attend dances in nearby beer gardens.

It was stated that the practice has become general during recent weeks. Just what can be done to remedy the situation was not stated, but some of the local business men believe that it should be discussed with officials to see if some plan can be worked out which will keep the young people of the city away from some of the questionable beer gardens that flourish this side of Detroit.

Banquet Proves Success For Ex-Service Men

Ticket Sellout For Sixth Annual Father-Son Fete

A ticket sell-out to a crowd twice as big as last year was the record made at the sixth annual father and son banquet last Friday evening in the high school auditorium. About 450 tickets were sold by the Ex-Service men to raise funds for Scout Troop 2 which they sponsor. Melvin Alvine, chairman of the banquet committee, estimated that more than half of the men and boys present at the banquet adopted dads and sons for the affair. City Manager C. E. Elliott, who acted as toastmaster, introduced Rev. Stanley S. Gossan, pastor of the First Methodist church, who delivered the invocation. Harold Jolliffe led the group in singing. Bayliss Erdelyi gave a toast to the fathers and George A. Smith responded to the sons. Walter Nichol spoke on the relationship of fathers and sons for the main address of the evening. With appeal for both ages, the entertainment included tap dancing by James Shettler, a ventriloquist act by Wayne J. McCall, of the safety bureau of the Detroit Police department and the presentation of Nosey De Cop by Albert Towle of the Wayne County Sheriff's office. Music for the event was provided by the high school orchestra under the direction of Miss Dora Gallimore.

Smelt Dinner Plans Under Way

The banquet is being held during the Detroit Wildlife week to commemorate the organization of the local group during the same week last year. President B. E. Champe and his committee are busy with preparations for the banquet but have not, as yet, decided on a speaker. Wildlife members are reminded that this annual party is not a regular meeting. The annual business meeting of the association will be held in April. On Monday of this week the group met in the American Legion hall of Northville to see a reel of bird dog pictures which Lisle Alexander procured for the club from the Field and Stream association and to discuss plans for the annual party.

Pancake Supper Is Big Success

The pancake supper and program held last Monday night in the Masonic temple by the Plymouth Townsend club was attended by approximately 200 people. After the supper, W. A. Barton, of Detroit, gave an interesting talk in connection with his display of relics handed down in his family since the time of the Revolutionary War. Musical entertainment was provided by Betty Ridley and Keith Jolliffe who sang several vocal solos accompanied by the piano by Carol Campbell. Miss Campbell also played "Prelude in G Minor" by Bachmanoff. Following the supper, the club held the undivided attention of the audience with a thorough explanation of the philosophy and mechanics of the Townsend recovery plan. The next meeting of the club will be held in the Grange hall and Clarence Pankow, president, reminded the public that all are invited to attend the meeting.

Miss Almeda Wheeler Succumbs Suddenly

The many friends of Miss Almeda Wheeler were shocked to learn of her sudden death early last Wednesday evening at her residence at 1103 Penniman avenue. She came to Plymouth a number of years ago as a nurse to Mary E. Conner and has made her home with Miss Conner ever since. Funeral services will be held Saturday, March 11, at 2:30 p.m. at the Penniman avenue residence with the Reverend Walter Nichol officiating. The body was taken to the Schrader Funeral home. Miss Wheeler is survived by a host of friends. Three brothers, Massey and John Wheeler, of Toronto, Ontario, Canada; Fred Wheeler, of Detroit; and a sister, Mrs. Elvora Susan, of Wilkes, Ontario, Canada, are among those who are expected to attend.

Select Speaker For Commencement

DR. HOWARD Y. McCLUSKY

Howard Yale McClusky, University of Michigan school of education, was announced today as speaker for Plymouth high school commencement exercises June 22.

Dr. McClusky will be especially interesting to seniors and their parents because of his work in the field of vocational guidance. He is associate professor of educational psychology, mental measurements and statistics; and assistant to the vice-president in charge of University relations in the field of adult education.

After attending Blackburn and Park colleges, Dr. McClusky received his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago in 1928. He is well known throughout the country for his articles in professional journals and for his lectures in Michigan and the midwest and radio talks.

Last fall Dr. McClusky was appointed to direct the organization of adult education centers in communities throughout the state. Besides teaching educational psychology, Dr. McClusky is a member of the Michigan Education association, the Michigan Academy of Science, the National Society for the Study of Education, the National Education association and of the American Psychology association. He is chairman of the committee on mental hygiene and a member of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers and Exchange club.

Mrs. Thos. Taylor Has Valuable Newspaper

Mrs. Thomas Taylor, of Stark-weather avenue, in reading last Friday's Plymouth Mail, came across a paragraph telling of a man in Grand Blanc who owns a paper 139 years old. She went to her box of old papers and found a copy of the identical newspaper. She also has a copy of the "Plymouth Mail," which was printed on January 4, 1800 and contains a story of the funeral of George Washington. She says that it has been in her husband's family for years.

Band Uniforms Campaign On

The ways and means committee of the Plymouth residents, which is working to provide the high school civic band with new uniforms, met with Bandmaster Lewis Evans recently to select the uniforms they are going to buy. Members of this committee have raised $800 by soliciting civic groups so far. Within the next few days letters will be sent out to all clubs in Plymouth asking their help. Leaders wish to make it understood that this is more than a high school project; the band is a civic organization too, because it plays at all summer concerts. American Legion members have pledged $60, including the donation and presentation of an American flag for parade purposes. "It is expected that the Ex-Service Men's club will present the band with the school colors," said Arno Thompson. The Maccabees are sponsoring a benefit card party in the Jewell and Blitch hall on Wednesday, March 15 to raise money for the cause and it has been suggested that every organization which cannot afford to pay money out of the treasury, raise funds for the band in a similar manner. Band members will put on a concert in April; the proceeds of which will be used toward their uniforms.

Presbyterians To Hear Dr. Lemon

Dr. W. P. Lemon of the First Presbyterian church of Ann Arbor will be the guest speaker at the Plymouth Presbyterian church Sunday morning at 11:00 a.m. Dr. Lemon is recognized as one of the outstanding preachers in America and it is almost impossible to hear him in his own country. Friday, March 10, a large number of the congregation packed his church to overflowed every Sunday. The public is invited to attend the service here every Sunday. The public is invited to attend the service here every Sunday. Miss Wheeler is survived by a host of friends. Pansies Blossom In Jewell Garden

Yes Sir, maybe it's muddy, maybe there are snowbanks here and there, maybe it's icy and maybe it's cold and disagreeable!

But spring is here—there is no question about that, when Roy Jewell can walk out in his garden and pick pansy blossoms.

That's what he did the other day. Saturday he brought to The Plymouth Mail office several pansy blossoms that he had picked during the morning out at his home on East Ann Arbor road.

After picking the pansy blossoms he walked over to his strawberry patch to see if he couldn't get some strawberries in blossom. He was disappointed and went back to his pansy garden.

Ask Voters To Decide On Street Problem

Many Would Have Main Street Made County Road

Chairman Howard Stark of a special Plymouth Chamber of Commerce committee appointed some time ago to circulate petitions asking that the city commission turn over to the county road commission the maintenance and care of Main street, has announced that petitions have been filed out and will be filed with the city clerk this week. There has been considerable discussion during recent years pertaining to the question of whether Main street should be made a part of the county road system, but nothing has ever come of the agitation. Recently Acting President Frank Rambo appointed a committee composed of Howard Stark as chairman, Harold Coolman and Rasmus Cutler, to file petitions with the city clerk asking that the question be submitted to a vote of the people at the spring election for their opinion on the question. It is probable that the question on the ballot will be framed in a form which will read something like this: "Shall the city request the county road commission to take over Main street as a part of the county road system?" The petitions that were circulated have been freely signed. It is probable, as a result, that the city commission will give the citizens of the city a right to express their opinion on the question.

Erecting New Gas Station On Old Bank Site

Construction started Monday morning on the new gas and automobile service station at the southeast corner of Main and Ann Arbor Trail. The new service station, being constructed by the Standard Oil company, will probably be ready for occupancy within 60 days. Its builders declare that the structure will be modernistic and in keeping with the better stations that are now being erected. The station will occupy one of the historic locations of Plymouth, the first bank building erected in Wayne county west of Detroit having stood on this same corner during the wildest banking days, the place was one of the busiest in this part of Michigan. Soon after the Civil War, the building became a sort of business block and in later years it was used as a residence. The structure was torn down last fall. In the attic was found an old political banner carried in the William Henry Harrison political campaign of 1841, where it had apparently been stored since that time.

Kiwians See Gallimore Movies

James Gallimore, who was program chairman for the Kiwanis club meeting last Tuesday night, entertained club members with moving pictures that he had taken from them and of his place of business during the last year. Guests were present from Hillsdale and Detroit to see the pictures and to hear the short talks given by Russell Roe and James Gallimore. Mr. Roe gave an informal talk on lumber and Mr. Gallimore discussed the making of taps at the Wilcox plant of the Ford Motor company. Recognition for five years or more perfect continuous attendance was given five Plymouth Kiwanians in the March issue of the Kiwanis magazine. Robert J. Jolliffe has attended every meeting for the last 13 years. Ernest J. Allison and George J. Hase both have a perfect 12-year record and Roy A. Fisher and Earl A. Mastick were recognized for their five-year record.

Waugh Will Speak At Club

Professor E. W. Waugh, of the political science department of the Michigan State Normal school, will be the guest speaker at the Plymouth Teachers' club next Tuesday afternoon. Although the subject of his speech has not yet been announced, he will probably talk on "The State of the Union" and "The National Window Shade company." We have given every Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

Light Vote Marks Primary Election In City Monday—All Township Officers Returned In Contest

Citizens Will Make Final Selections For City, County And State Officials On Monday, April 3

Wins In a Walk

With only 501 of Plymouth's citizens casting their ballots in one of this city's lightest primary election votes, Mrs. Nell Taylor Curry was eliminated from the list of seven candidates aspiring for places on the city commission. Commissioners Robinson and Wilson led the primary race, Robinson leading with 239 votes, Wilson next with 219, followed by Hoebel with 193, with 179, Anderson with 153, Fisher with 142 and Mrs. Curry with 134.

Table showing election results for various positions: Anderson 28, Curry 24, Fisher 27, Hoebel 30, Robinson 44, Wilson 32, Worth 32. Total 501.

The remaining six contestants will come up for election April 3 and three of them will be selected at that time to fill the three seats on the commission that will be vacant. The vote, according to city precincts, follows:

When the votes were all counted last Monday night it was found that Jack Cowan, candidate for the Republican nomination for county auditor, had won in a walk. His vote was one that any candidate could be proud of, even though a large number of electors did not go to the polls. If he maintains the same lead in the spring election as he did in the primary and in previous contests, there isn't much question as to what the outcome will be. In this part of Wayne county Auditor Cowan had his usual strong support.

Kroger Features Cooking School

A cooking demonstration will be held at the Kroger store at 264 South Main street, March 13 to March 18, inclusive. A practical and expert demonstration of how to cook the "waterless" way, saving vitamins, minerals and flavor of foods—also how to save about one-half your cooking fuel with this method of food preparation. Miss Eula Johnson will be in charge of the demonstration. An unusual feature of this demonstration will be the preparing and cooking over an electric light bulb. If you would like to avoid "pot watching" and stirring—and see how to bake and roast on top of the stove, the time-saving, time-money and work, visit the local Kroger food store any time next week.

Did You Know That

You can dress up your windows with Mobas Shades, new or repairs. Also Drapery Rods, Venetian Blinds, and Luncheon Curtains. Call Plymouth Window Shade company, National Window Shade company. We have given every Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

The dainty napkins and the cakes and sandwiches were in green and white carrying out the club colors.

end of this week, but it is doubtful if it will reach the floor of the house before next week.

It begins to look as though the days of "stooze" delegates of the jumping-jack variety in Wayne county are over. The house has passed without a dissenting vote a bill which seeks to terminate the disgraceful mob conventions that the Republicans of Wayne county have been conducting during the last few years. If the senate approves the bill and the Governor signs it, Wayne county political parties will hold six conventions for the purpose of electing delegates to the state conventions instead of one convention. Each district convention must be held within the congressional district and can be attended only by delegates living and elected within the district.

If this law had been in effect recently, those living within the 17th congressional district, which comprises Plymouth, Northville, Livonia, Redford, the 22nd ward of Detroit and Highland Park, would have held their own convention somewhere within the district and elected 44 residents of the district to the state convention at Flint. The residents of the 16th congressional district and all of the other congressional districts in the county would have done the same thing. That is what the bill that the writer introduced proposes to do.

As it was, the delegates to the recent Flint convention were selected by just one person and no one knew who the delegates were until a few minutes before the convention took place in Flint. In fact, no one knew at that time. One person filed with the credentials committee a list comprising 407 names and that one person voted 407 times for the delegates. Not one of the delegates had an opportunity to vote as he saw fit. The whole procedure smacked of the rottenest type of boss politics—and the 407 delegates, if they can be called such, sat there and permitted the thing to go on without protest.

They did so, most of them believing that to comply, meant a state job they are NOT going to get, even though all sorts of promises have been made.

The condition has brought all sorts of discredit upon the party, and it has been resented by delegates and citizens from all parts of Michigan.

The proposal is a long step in the direction of honest government. In fact, there has been no legislation in recent years which is of such vital concern to the state and which, if enacted will accomplish so much good.

There is an under-cover effort being made to sabotage the bill in the senate, but its opponents are finding out that the senate is just as much in favor of it as were the house members. It is generally believed that it will become a law before many weeks pass.

Civil service is bound to be another important question that will take much of the time of the legislature shortly. There are some members who are thoroughly disgusted with it because of what happened during its inception. The unfortunate part of it is that the civil service administration is being forced to bear the brunt of much of the criticism that rightly belongs to the former state officials and department heads. Friends of civil service can be assured of one thing. The legislature will not abolish the plan. Even though it should be somewhat curtailed, civil service HAS BECOME a permanent part of the state government and its opponents will sooner or later have to admit that fact. It should be added, however, at this point, that some of the strongest objections to the merit system have been made so entirely by what happened during the last two years. An effort is being made to convince them that under more favorable circumstances civil service can be made to function properly and to the benefit of the state.

Aides and Advisors—

It is not our purpose to reap unreasonable profits from our clients. Rather, we seek to provide them with a needed service properly priced according to their means and social station. When we are certain that a client is being needlessly extravagant, we promptly counsel moderation.

There is a wide range in the cost of funeral services at this establishment. And no matter what a client chooses to pay, he receives the same thorough, sympathetic, efficient attention. In every instance, we place our professional duty, as aides and advisors to those we serve, ahead of mere commercial functions.

Teams Fight For Fourth Place

The Canton Center-Cherry Hill Euchre club has played its fifteenth session and has five more before the end of the contest. Wagonshultz-R. Waldecker still lead in games. They defeated F. Waldecker-Theisen last Wednesday night with a score of 7-6. The Gotts-Blackmore team won another session 7-6 over Finnegan-Elliott. Zeigler-Johnson had a hard time defeating West-West by the same score. The P. Hix-J. Cash combination will have to work hard to get into fourth place where they can play the Livonia team, because they lost 8-5 to the low score team, Freedle-Buckner.

Some fellow got to believing something—placed some certain interpretation on one or more passages of scripture, became blessed and rather than give up or remain in the right attitude toward his brethren who differed, he pulled loose and started another "movement." This is the spirit of exclusion. It is the spirit of the "separatist." We invite you to worship with us where all God's people can serve him in unity.

NAZARENE CHURCH. Robert A. North, pastor. Holbrook and Pearl streets. Bible school, 10:00; morning worship, 11:15; young people, 6:30; evening service, 7:30; prayer and praise, Wednesday, 7:30. Next Sunday is again "Building Fund Sunday" in our Bible school. It is simply wonderful, the fine offerings that have been given month after month to help our church meet some of the expenses of completing the new building. But of course, the Sunday school in trying to help the church, is in reality helping itself. In fact, we are in harmony with a great spiritual law, in that while we strive to help others, we in turn are helping ourselves. The person who is bent on making others happy is always happy himself. The church that is giving liberally to foreign missions is the one receiving the most help at home. We believe this will be a fine offering next Sunday, because we have just lately adopted a fine motto in our Sunday school, which is "My Best for Christ." M. P. Clark—Sunday school superintendent.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST Scientist. Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00. "Substance" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 12. The Golden Text (Proverbs 3: 9) is: "Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Deuteronomy 33: 27): "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 275): "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love."

The pastor will speak on "The Results of Paul Being Filled with the Holy Spirit" at the 10:00 o'clock hour; and "The Dispensation of Authority" at 7:30 p.m. The evening message will be the third in a series upon the way God has tested man down through the ages. High School Girls In D. A. R. State Contest

Winner Will Go On Citizenship Pilgrimage

Dorothy Roe of Plymouth and Lucille Lapham of Northville, have been chosen to represent the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter in the Good Citizenship Pilgrimage contest of the D. A. R. to be held in Saginaw during the last three days of March.

The state winner of the final round of elimination will be announced at the close of the conference on April 1. Reward for the winner will be an expense-paid trip to Washington this spring. The Daughters of the American Revolution in each state choose one girl and pay for her trip to Washington as a member of the Good Citizenship Pilgrimage.

In the fall, senior girls in all state high schools, nominate three class mates which they feel are best qualified for the honor. D. A. R. requirements are that the girls chosen must have:

"Dependability, including truth, loyalty, and punctuality; service which includes cooperation, courtesy, and consideration of others; leadership, meaning personality, self-control and ability to lead and lastly patriotism, including unselfish consideration of the rights of others."

From this group of three girls the faculty of the high school selects the one girl to represent the school. In this district a representative of Plymouth and one of Northville high schools have been chosen.

On April 1, the name of the one girl, a senior in some Michigan high school will be announced as the winner of the expense-paid trip to Washington. She will join delegates from all other states as a member of a Good Citizenship pilgrimage.

State eliminations are conducted by means of questionnaires. These quizzes include questions on general information and the girl who, in the opinion of a D. A. R. committee, answers the most correctly will go on the pilgrimage as Michigan's delegate.

Angna Enters To Close Series

ANGNA ENTERS

Angna Enters, acclaimed almost unanimously by critics as the greatest feminine mime of our generation, will close the Detroit Town Hall series in the Fisher theatre next Wednesday, March 15, at 11:00 a. m. This brilliant creative genius of the theatre, who has been variously referred to as an actress, mime, and penetrating satirist, and who plays to packed houses and standing room in New York, will bring her unique talents to Detroit for the first time in four years, in a new program, "The Theatre of Angna Enters."

Celebrated on the stage, Miss Enters is almost as well known as an artist. Her Detroit visit will be unusually interesting because the Detroit Art Institute is sponsoring a two weeks exhibition of her paintings and sketches at Russell A. Alger House, Grasse Pointe, March 15, the day of her Town Hall performance.

Gifted with unique versatility, Angna Enters also designs her own costumes, composes the music for a number of her sketches, and is the author of a successful book, "First Person Plural," which has been a best-seller since it was published a year ago. She has been awarded two Guggenheim Fellowships that enabled her to do research work in Greece and Egypt for two summers. Her drawings and paintings have been exhibited in principal American galleries and art museums, including New York, Boston, Chicago, Detroit and San Francisco.

Tickets are available at Grinnell's Music store, Detroit.

Phillip Adler To Speak At Northville

Phillip Adler of The Detroit News will be the guest speaker at 8:00 p. m. Friday, March 10, in the Northville high school auditorium at a meeting open to the general public, sponsored by the Northville Woman's club.

"This is an opportunity to hear at first hand a man whose interesting articles are a feature of a great metropolitan paper," comments Mrs. E. M. Starkweather, president of the sponsoring organization. She says that members are urged to bring guests to this event.

School Heads Return From National Meet

Hear Leading Educators On 3 Point Program

"Foundations of American Education" was the theme of the Association of School Administrators convention in Cleveland, reported Superintendent G. A. Smith and Board Member Herald Hamill who returned from the convention last Thursday.

More than 13,500 educators and administrators, from all sections of the United States, gathered for the 69th annual convention in the Cleveland Municipal auditorium last week. Members of 55 other national educational societies such as the Council of Guidance, the Department of Adult Education, the Department of Elementary School Principals, the National Association of Deans of Women, the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and the National Association of School Secretaries also met during the convention.

In the meetings which the Plymouth representatives attended, the smaller community was the main topic of discussion; the name smaller community meaning one with a population between 2500 and 10,000.

"The program," said Mr. Smith, "was largely concerned with the three main factors: First, education which would perpetuate democracy; next, education which would offer opportunity in classical, vocational, and occupational lines to all children; and lastly, the relation of education to crime."

Perpetuation of democracy, the first factor, is important because as Mr. Hamill said, quoting one of the convention speakers, "Schools have leaned so far backward in trying to teach the 'isms' impartially, that they have forgotten to teach Democracy."

The last topic, as presented by J. A. Johnston, warden of Alcatraz prison, was timely since it showed that about 76 per cent of the nation's young criminals are those who have been unable to find instruction in school which was a challenge to their efforts. Because of inability to secure employment after dropping out of school, these young people have developed an embittered attitude toward society which leads them into crime.

Sectional meetings were held every afternoon so that administrators with similar problems and like interests could discuss their problems together. One sectional meeting, especially interesting to Mr. Hamill, was the study of the location and size of school sites as presented by Professor Moehlman of the University of Michigan. Mr. Hamill's interest in the subject was keen because he has been working on a plan whereby Plymouth can build several elementary schools within the next few years.

One school administrator from another state mentioned having heard about the Michigan officials who had allotted six million dollars to schools and had rescinded the allotment when they went out of office, leaving many schools in the state to borrow money or close their doors. He asked if Plymouth was one of the schools, but local representatives assured him that Plymouth had enough money to remain open until the close of the year.

City Will Levy Assessments For Recent Work

Taxes May Be Paid In Yearly Installments

City commissioners confirmed special assessment rolls 61-71 last Tuesday evening at their regular meeting. These rolls cover curb and gutter improvements, sidewalks and storm sewers, the Caster, Carol and Sutherland avenue water mains and the paving on Church street.

City Treasurer Charles Garlett will bill the people affected by the special assessments in order that they may pay within the 30-day limit if possible. All assessments paid in full before April 15 will be interest free.

A three-year limit was placed on the curb and gutter, sidewalks and storm sewer assessments, five years will be allowed on the water main assessments, and 10 years on the Church street paving. Six per cent interest on the unpaid balance will be charged. If the first installment is not paid before the next succeeding city tax roll is made, it is entered on the tax roll and becomes a lien on the property, the city treasurer said.

Scout Describes Week-end Hike

On Saturday, March 4, the Boy Scouts of Scout Troop P-1 left for an over-night hike at about 4:00 o'clock including six Scouts and Scoutmaster J. R. Cutler. They arrived about 5:15 at the Wayne County Training school cabin after passing through fields of mud. A fire was going; others boys came. After supper was devoured a few games were played. The Scoutmaster and one of three troublemakers left with him and two remained. About an hour later the assistant scoutmaster arrived with another scout. Wood had already been prepared for the night; so we started getting ready for bed. About an hour and a half later we were just getting settled for the night. The night went well, and the fire was kept going by anybody who got too cold. The next morning the weather was very bad, wet weather could scarcely dampen the spirits of the boys, however. Weather kept the boys inside for breakfast but all types of food could be seen and smelled. After breakfast we all started cleaning up the cabin, the duties were divided among the boys and everybody did their share. About noon the boys started preparing lunch and G. Blyton, attempted to pass his Cooking Merit badge outside in the rain. It was so cold out, however, that when E. Kirkpatrick, B. Elliott and R. Dailey attempted to eat it, it was mostly luke warm. God have mercy on their soul. The dishes were done up, the cabin straightened up and we left for home about 3:00 o'clock, R. Dailey and G. Blyton being the only ones to walk.

Hearings Set For Zoning Plan

Announcement was made today that the proposed zoning ordinance and map are now available for inspection in the city hall. Residents who wish to read the ordinance may call at the hall at any time and City Manager Elliott has offered to try to explain its technical wording.

T. Glenn Phillips and J. M. Bennett were present at the last city commissioner's meeting to request that the planning commission be permitted to hold two hearings, one on April 10 at the Starkweather school to present the bill to the people in the north end of the city and one on April 24 at the city hall for the rest of the town. The commission granted them the right to hold the hearings.

Blissfield Noses Out Plymouth Rocks 30-16

Falling before a high scoring combination, Horton and Reed, the Rocks dropped their last game to Blissfield 30-16, last Friday, March 3, and lost all hopes of competing in the regionals and state finals.

Reed and Horton of Blissfield shot the most points of the night by combining for 21. Horton, high score man of the game, put in 12 points, six of his being foul shots. Reed, runner-up, made nine. Bill McAllister sunk eight points for Plymouth.

In the first half McAllister, Hitt and Norman hooped all of the points. McAllister was the only one to sink a field goal. Of the other team, Malters, Horton, Reed and Bruce connected for their points.

Thus, the score at half time was 18-9 with Blissfield in the lead. Seven fouls were called on Plymouth during the first half. The bewildered Plymouth team started right out fighting in the second half again although they were unable to pull into the lead.

With Johnson in, in the second half, he made four points to add to our score the most points made by one man during the last half. McAllister and Aluia combined for three more points.

At the end of the third quarter Blissfield had risen its score to 28 against our 13.

When we started into the fourth, practically all hope was lost. Horton, Jones, Reed, Pagel and Hall all pouring through their points to complete the game. One of Plymouth's reasons for being run amuck was the noted absence at the last few games, of Jack Ross, "Butch" Krumm, Bill Darnell and Doug Prough.

The players and their respective scores are as follows:

LENT—WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO YOU? —EDITORIAL

Once more at this season of the year prior to Easter Sunday, Christians the world over are commemorating the period of Christ's life immediately before his crucifixion, by foregoing a luxury or pleasure to which they have become accustomed. This Lenten period as it is called is observed in its strictest form by the Catholics who give up the eating of meats and other pleasures as well. Although Christians of protestant religions do not make the observance of this practice an integral part of their doctrine, still a good many of them do feel that by giving up some pleasure—they are still masters of their own minds and that the pleasures are not their masters. Many people do not observe Lent—nor do they know its true meaning in everyone's life. To be able to sacrifice one's own selfish pleasures in order to cleanse not only body but mind certainly is not a worthless or rewardless project. Religion itself is inherent in every one and the desire to improve one's self should be. Furthermore, a combination of these two is a destiny well worth striving for. Every one should observe Lent and by doing so, make himself a finer individual—more able to combat life's problems, secure in his knowledge that he is master of himself and that his religion is a firm guide.

DRAMA NEEDS SUPPORT!—EDITORIAL

Support basketball; support football; support debate; support dances; support this and support that! All have needed your support at one time or another. Some have received it; others still wait. Nevertheless, one activity deserving of support and something called "school spirit" receives a portion only when the givers feel that the performance will be a very good one. What is the activity that you should support this time? Drama. You say, "But it does receive support. Perhaps more so than many of the others." True! It generally has more popular appeal than some of the others but still that support it receives is not too much or even enough. Preparing and presenting a play for public performance requires much more work and time than one supposes. Ask any who have tried it. It's hard work, worry and little reward. If the play gets an enthusiastic reception, that alone is the performer's reward. A half-hearted applause and lukewarm reception signifies failure and all the work expended was a waste of time. A half-filled auditorium also means a defeat. It means to the actor that the room is partially empty because the people thought so little of a performance that they didn't even bother to come. Give them a chance and hearing. See what they have to offer. True, there are probably no second Sarah Barnharts or glamorous Hollywood stars. The performers are just high school students, -dramatically inclined. Your reception and liking may start some on the road that leads to a dramatic success.

LINDEN DEFEATS PLYMOUTH IN THIRD DEBATE

To continue the third round of the state elimination debates, Plymouth met and was defeated by Linden, March 1 at Linden high school. The Plymouth affirmative team was Leo Schmitz, Bob Daniels, and Marvin Hauk; the Linden negative team was Joyce Graves, Don Vincent and Marjorie Ann Swingle. Dr. Hance, head of the speech department at Albion, was the single critic judge. The debate, he stated, was very close and it became necessary to award the decision on some very fine points. Both teams were even on ease and its analysis and also evidence. The affirmative were superior in delivery but the negative had the edge on attack and defense. On this basis he awarded the decision to the negative.

THE SCOOPSTER

Mary Lou's new theme song is "Three o'clock in the Morning."

Roger McClain is another person who is looking in the direction of Northville and seems to be trying to keep up with the Joneses.

What's going on here? It seems that a certain blonde senior told Mr. Dykhouse that Fern Bower forgot her dress but when we got down to brass-tacks we discovered that she was to bring some dresses for girls in the play—whew—what a relief.

Oh where, oh where did Don M. get that bee-autiful derby? It's really fetching and will keep your ears warm too.

Bill Rutherford is turning his eyes in the direction of Dearborn. There have been a lot of colds lately and Bill Darnell has done his share of "Coffin."

Will some one please make up Don McDonald's mind? Variety is said to be the spice of life but don't you think it can be carried too far?

If any one is thinking of using a slow, sure way of dying we even you can eat a dinner cooked by Jean A. most any time for a small sum. Don, Barb and Bob will join the party too.

Art Johnson is really getting up there! It seems he asked Kye for a date.

The small and the mighty go together or so it is in the case of Patsy Arnold and Jack Baker.

Well, my fine friends—don't forget to join the crowds in the rush to the senior play tonight! And adieu now.

Are You Breathless?

(By O. F. Beyer, of Beyer Drugs)

Many times a man or woman concludes that he or she has a heart condition because of breathlessness or difficulty in breathing particularly in evidence after climbing stairs or some unusual exertion.

And quite often such a condition has nothing to do with the heart at all, but is brought about by a chronic bronchial condition which makes breathing difficult.

There are treatments and remedies for bronchitis, relieving the condition and working towards a permanent cure. Only a qualified physician should prescribe for your difficulty—only he can decide. Do not accept the advice of friends—consult your doctor.

His first and best aid is a competent pharmacist. Submit prescriptions to a skilled druggist.

Hoffman Tells Of Jews' Plight As He Saw It

Deprived Of All Rights, They Try To Emigrate

"What it Means to be a non-Aryan in Germany Today," was the topic of Dr. Conrad Hoffman, Jr., the secretary of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions in New York when he spoke in the Presbyterian church here last Sunday morning. Dr. Hoffman, who spends part of each year in Germany as a representative of this board, also made striking comparisons in German and American anti-Semitism.

Although many citizens have protested that such a thing could not happen here, Dr. Hoffman pointed out that it is happening here. He reminded his listeners that in 1903 Germany protested the cruelty of the Russian massacres of Jews, and that 35 years later Germany was doing the persecuting.

"There are four and one-half million Jews in the United States at the present time," said Dr. Hoffman, "and a little propaganda could easily lead the mass of Americans into anti-Semitism."

In an attempt to show what such a movement would mean, he told the audience just what it means to be a non-Aryan in Germany today. No matter if a man be Christian or Jewish by faith, if he has 25 percent non-Aryan blood he is an outcast in that country.

First, he is a social outcast and legitimate prey of all kinds of degrading insults and humiliations. All public parks, buildings, restaurants and cafes are "for Aryans only" and Jews may only sit on yellow benches reserved for them in public parks. All marriages of Jews and Aryans are being broken up and for a Jew to seek marriage with an Aryan is a criminal offense. Jewish children are not allowed to attend schools, families are evicted from their homes, and all are subject to the cruelest forms of social humiliation.

Politically, the Jew is again an outcast, he declared. He has no voice in the government, and the threat of concentration camp prevents a Jew from saying anything against the German government.

Lastly, the non-Aryan is an economic outcast. It would be easiest for the government to exile all undesirables, he declared, but economic conditions in other countries makes it impossible for them to offer refuge to the Jews. And so Hitler, determined to cleanse Germany of all Jews, slowly annihilates these people, said the speaker.

He takes away their jobs, expels them from the civic service, and makes it impossible for shopkeepers to earn any money. Large signs are painted on the windows of Jewish shops proclaiming that the shop is in the process of being Aryanized. This is another way of saying that a Nazi brown-shirt has been put into the Jewish shopkeeper's business to learn how to run it. While he is there, the shopkeeper must pay him a percentage of the proceeds and as soon as the Nazi has learned enough about the business, the Jew is forced to sell out to him at a price which the government has set. Soon all Jews join the ranks of the unemployed, he said.

Dr. Hoffman told of being in Vienna last summer during the bargain sales. The Jewish shopkeepers were offering bargains just the same as the Aryan stores and many German women patronized the Jewish shops, not so much for the bargains as to protest Nazism. It is now a criminal offense to do this, he declared.

All Jews are anxious to leave Germany, but they find that this is much more difficult than it sounds. They are not even wanted in Palestine at this time, because of over-crowded conditions and lack of unemployment there.

"A passport," said Dr. Hoffman, "constitutes a German's citizenship papers and this is taken away from the Jew on the slightest pretext."

"For anyone to be found without a passport is cause enough for sending him to a concentration camp," he said. "Naturally, it is necessary to obtain a passport in order to leave the country and here again the German government holds the whiphand. To obtain a passport one must clear up all tax matters by paying seven or eight exorbitant taxes. If the Jew has no cash, stocks in foreign corporations are taken in lieu of cash and in this way the Nazis are gaining a controlling influence in many corporations outside of Germany. It would be foolish for the Jew to protest having every cent taken from him because he knows that to protest is to be exiled to a concentration camp."

"Getting a passport takes weeks or months because one million, five hundred thousand Jews are seeking them. Long lines of non-Aryans stand all night before the official buildings waiting for the office to open in the morning when it may be possible for one or three hundred people to be waited on. But even with a permit to leave Germany, the matter is far from solved.

"The Jew visits all the foreign consulates hoping to find some country which would be willing to let him enter. Very few countries wish to take in these refugees. The United States allows 27,370 a year and there are over 300,000 applicants for these visas.

"That, my friends, is what it means to be a non-Aryan in Germany today. We should thank God that we live in a land where freedom is the keynote of social, political and economic life," Dr. Hoffman concluded.

With the announcement that H. S. Doerr, for many years a farm implement dealer located at 447 South Harvey street, has sold his business to George Huebler & Sons who have already taken possession of the business, comes the information that on Friday, March 17, at the Grange hall on Union street, the new dealers plan to conduct an all day free motion picture show with a free lunch at noon.

Mr. Huebler is a well known farmer of Washtenaw county, living over near Frain's lake east of Dixboro on the Berry road. His son will spend most of his time here with his father, in operating the business.

Mr. Doerr plans to take things a bit easier in the future.

The big John Deere program that has been announced for Friday, March 17 at the Grange hall will be of especial interest to all the farmers.

"The Tuttle Tugger," an all-Hollywood picture, will be the main feature of the all-day entertainment and educational meeting. Packed with one hearty laugh after another, this rollicking all-talking picture promises to be a real treat for everyone who sees it. In the cast of Hollywood actors are Arthur Lake, Judith Allen, Victor Potel, Greta Meyers, Agnes Ayres, Jack Rice, Allen Caven and many others.

The picture tells the story of a salesman and a saleslady who get their sample cases mixed up and what a mix-up it causes! Leroy Bagley, the new milking machine salesman for the Tuttle Tugger company, thinks he knows all about farming and tries to help the hired man. At the same time, he is trying to sell a milking machine. Every time he tries to help he causes trouble and plenty of it. It's a picture everyone will enjoy.

Four other brand-new, all-talking pictures will be shown in addition to the feature presentation. They include: "Around the Farm Clock"—an interesting educational picture showing up-to-date power farming methods and equipment; "The Mark of the Genuine"—an instructive picture that shows how to keep farm equipment working like new down through the years; "Mr. Sheppard Looks Inside"—an insipid story of the precision manufacturing of modern farm tractors and a short newsreel showing new developments in agricultural equipment.

In addition to the five talking pictures, the John Deere Day program will include several talks and demonstrations in which you will be interested.

Huebler & Sons cordially invite every farmer, every farmer's wife, every farm boy in this area to take part in this big day of entertainment and education.

MICHIGAN MOVES FORWARD!

Step by step, without fanfare and in an orderly and a legal way, Michigan Republicanism is moving forward in a purge, that if successful, will once more make the party a political organization really OF AND FOR THE PEOPLE.

It is a tremendously important move—one that is much deeper and of more grave concern to every person who calls Michigan home than the slight surface rumblings indicate. It is vital because of the fact that upon its outcome will depend whether Michigan Republicanism is to become a political party manipulated by greedy bosses and the rabble that follows along in the wake of the machine picking up the leavings just as do the vultures of the sea trailing a ship, or whether it will be a powerful force for the good of all the people.

It has met its first test in the legislature—and the PEOPLE WON by an overwhelming vote!

The PEOPLE won because the state has become aroused to this danger and what it will lead to if it is not killed now!

No political machine that has controlled party nominations as well as dominated the activities of public officials ever existed that was for the good of the state or nation. Maybe the leaders profess honesty and some remain honest, but certainly most of those that do their bidding do not. Simply turn the pages of your newspapers to recent reports of the scandals in New York and Kansas for present day proof of what machine politics accomplishes.

It is a putrid system. Any one who messes around with it is sure to be smeared. Michigan cannot afford to permit the continued growth of the brazen, slippery and undercover methods that characterize the manipulations of any sort of a political machine. And Michigan WILL NOT permit it.

THE SWING TOWARDS DECENCY.

When there is an important change in the public mind, when one notes a general interest in some important problem of concern to all, there is always an underlying reason for it.

Right now in our state there is a "swing" towards honesty and decency in politics.

What is bringing it about? Let us see.

From last week's issue of The Tuscola County Advertiser, one of the most influential papers published in the Thumb district of Michigan, we take the following comment made by Editor James Gallery about the recent boss-ridden Flint convention:

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

"Once upon a time, Michigan citizens voted the Republican ticket almost exclusively. It had become so much of a habit with them that they didn't even think much about the matter. They just looked for Lincoln's picture on the ballot, put their cross under it and their voting duty was done.

"Politicians knew this and thought it would continue forever. So, feeling that way, they got careless with the brand of governmental service they furnished, and with the advent of Mr. Roosevelt and his fresh outlook, Michigan voters flocked to the Democratic standard.

"This was most annoying to the Republicans, and very disconcerting. They couldn't understand what had happened.

"Last fall the Republicans put up a ticket, as usual, and won the election. After the election, there was pretty general agreement that the Republicans were put back in power not because they were such nice fellows, but because Michigan people didn't like Governor Murphy's policies.

"It was thought that the Republicans would wake up and try to do a good job in government, but late developments seem to indicate that they have forgotten why they took last fall. Now, it would appear, the Republicans feel that Michigan folks are again ready to vote their ticket, come hell or high water.

"Frankly, we can't feel that way about it.

"A week ago the Republicans held another state convention in Flint, to select nominees for the spring election, and reports have been printed saying with perfect frankness that the Republican convention was dominated by Frank D. McKay, Edward N. Barnard and Melville B. McPherson.

"Says one newspaper report of the convention, in part: 'They (McKay, Barnard and McPherson) were boldly demonstrating their complete control of party machinery. They were serving notice on Republicans that those who hoped for some kind of a new era in Republican politics were just foolish.'

"This newspaper believes in the principles of the Republican party, and that is written here in much more in sorrow than in anger. It seems too bad that Republicans can't learn that they must furnish good service in government if they plan to stay at the head of things.

"In one way, it appears that these Republican bosses are taking a Tammany method of running things. They plan to stay in power through patronage and by wire-pulling behind the scenes.

"May we remind them that that may possibly work for many years, but that there is an end to it sometimes, as witness the cleaning up of a stinking mess in New York state by District Attorney Deucey, The Democratic party in New York City and New York state will suffer for the misdeeds of James J. Hines, Tammany boss, and so it should.

"That same thing can happen, and probably will, in Michigan, unless the ways of the Republican party are changed."

From the Thumb district let us go over into Barry county, in southwestern Michigan where the population is also made up chiefly of hard-working farmers who keep themselves posted and know what is going on in Michigan and the nation. Dick Cook, another keenly alert editor who thinks much along the same lines as Editor Gallery, made the following comment in The Hastings Banner last week about the recent boss-ridden convention at Flint:

A BOLT FROM OLYMPIUS

"Once again Republicans met in convention and did the bidding of their bosses.

"Possibly the two 'Olympians,' the Furniture City 'Zeus' and the Motor City 'Vulcan,' who dominate these gatherings via the upper floor hotel room route can explain why it is that the process of being ousted from the position of football coach qualifies one to serve as university regent! Possibly they can explain why all other candidates were given the 'run around' in favor of one who can logically be suspected of harboring real or imagined grievance against one or more of those invested with the responsibility of guiding the affairs of the university!

"Probably most of the delegates to the convention expressed sincere, patriotic fervor to the effect that they were free born American citizens, not minions subject to the iron-clad regulations of a totalitarian state. Yet it is probably true that each individual delegate at Flint was just as powerless to oppose the wishes of the two 'Olympians' as a German is to run contrary to Adolph Hitler or an Italian to Benito Mussolini.

"Bosses can dominate conventions and name candidates as they please. This does not mean, however, that they can always force their tickets down the throat of the electorate.

"Fortunately there is always the split ticket.

What about the sentiment in other parts of the state, you ask?

Let us take a jump of a hundred miles or so up the west coast of Michigan to Fremont, where State Senator Don VanderWerp publishes the excellent Fremont Times-Indicator, and see what he has to say about political bosses' and their doings. In last week's issue of his paper Editor VanderWerp wrote, in part, as follows:

FLINT CONVENTION BOSS CONTROLLED

"The procedure at the Republican state convention at Flint must have been nauseating to many thousands of Republicans from the rural districts of Michigan. While there are also thousands in the urban centers to whom the conduct of the convention's affair was distasteful and humiliating, the people of the cities are more prone to accept the results as inevitable and therefore do not make their objections so articulate.

"The McKay-Barnard machine was well oiled and ruled the convention with a ruthless hand. Not only did this combination name its entire slate but it had the power to keep other candidates from having their names presented. These tactics made the gathering a ratification meeting and all the delegates did was to fulfill the legal requirements of the convention system.

"The amazing thing about an affair of this kind is that 1,500 delegates chosen by the Republicans of their counties to represent them as a group of citizens interested in good government, should travel to Flint merely to act as rubber stamps in ratifying the choice of two or three self-seeking politicians. If the personal gains to the bosses could be split 1,500 ways and each of the delegates yielding to boss domination could share with the bosses in the fruits of their victory, this might form the basis of an explanation. But the stooges who ratify the bosses' slate get nothing in return for stultifying themselves. And the people back home pay for all the bosses get through their political manipulation of public offices.

"There are of course excellent men on the ticket. Justices Howard West and Henry Butzel, who are candidates to succeed themselves on the same bench, should be re-elected. They are able jurists and their reputations for ability and integrity have been well established. Dr. Eugene Elliott should be again chosen Superintendent of Public Instruction. He has done a splendid job and should be retained as head of the state's educational system. The bosses would not have dared to dislodge these men even if they had been so inclined.

"Perhaps the time will come when the Republicans of Michigan will throw off the shackles with which they are now bound but this will only happen when they are aroused to the seriousness of the situation or when the party again suffers defeat."

What about the sentiment in the Upper Peninsula? The delegates to the Flint convention from some parts of Michigan's famous "Summer Roof Garden" had to travel between 700 and 800 miles to attend that convention. They came down as good citizens, to do what they thought was for the best interests of Republicanism and our state.

Suppose we go way over to the western end of the Upper Peninsula, up near the tip end of Lake Superior, where the winters are long and severe, but the summers glorious. It is not an easy matter to make a living there, but the residents never complain. They keep on working and boosting. What do these good people think about it all?

Harry Trexise came down to the convention from Wakefield, where he publishes and edits The Wakefield News, one of the important newspapers of the Upper Peninsula. Editor Trexise, like all the other editors mentioned, believes in clean, decent politics.

His comment on the convention follows in part: "Republicans returning from their state convention at Flint are more resolved than ever to put a stop to the shameful display of one-man rule, which was again shown by the chairman of the Wayne county delegation at the convention.

"The Detroit delegation to the convention is always a hand-picked group, herded together in a special train for the state conventions, wired and sniped, so it is illegal, at the expense of their chairman, who always makes himself prominent at these state conventions, promoting as he does the long convention train, which is a far top cost, which has almost as many party members as the owner itself. He is usually the only member of the delegation. Should any authorized speaker dare to take issue with him or oppose the well oiled machinery, he quickly sees that the man's name is removed from the gate list and another substitute made to halt any complications in his carefully devised plan to control his delegation.

"The nomination of McPherson to the state board of agriculture was not popular. But again the scheme to stuff the nomination down the throats of the convention was a part of somebody's plan in the pre-convention meetings.

"The upper peninsula delegation figured in all of these deliberations to the extent that its candidate for the regency would have failed of the nomination unless some trading was done with the Barnard and McKay factions. Joseph Herbert of Manistiquie was assured of the nomination only after the larger delegations from the southern peninsula agreed to support him in exchange for the 164 votes from the 11th and 12th districts of Michigan for the candidacies of McPherson and Kipke.

"The end of such political maneuvering is in sight. Several pieces of legislation have been introduced into the state legislature to halt this concentration of power in the hands of a few. One measure proposes to break up the Wayne county delegation into seven district groups, one from each congressional district in the county. This arrangement, it is argued, will prevent any one man from gaining control of the county's delegation at a state convention, provided of course all county or district conventions are held at the same time.

"Other plans proposed are the introduction of an Australian system of voting at the convention; the posting of candidates for office several days before the convention and the certification of delegates to the convention at least 24 hours before the convention convened."

Don't you think such comment as this has its influence on the state? Most assuredly it does.

In view of the general public attitude reflected by these editorials, Michigan citizens, and especially those who call themselves Republicans, can look hopefully forward to a complete elimination of the undesirable elements that are of no benefit to any city, county, or state.

MORE ABOUT CIVIL SERVICE

Civil service in Michigan's government will never be an accredited fact until several State administrations have come and gone. Such a desirable law goes counter to the selfish interests of every politician, no matter how much lip service they give it during and after campaigns. But each administration is bound to make it more and more effective—for no party will even suggest that Civil Service be removed from the law.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

AND THE WEEK AFTER, THE GOVERNOR PARDONED HIM!

Congratulations are in order for A. J. Wilkowski, former state senator still serving time in Jackson prison for his part in the 1934 election frauds. On Saturday Wilkowski (shall we say the Hon.) was elected to the democratic state central committee.—Nelson Brown in The Ingham County News.

TO BE EXPECTED

Anthony J. Wilkowski, while a State Senator, sacrificed principles for the sake of his party in the Detroit recount vote fraud and is still serving time in Jackson prison for doing so, but stranger than his fall, his conviction and his sentence is the fact that, although in prison, until pardoned a few days ago by Governor Fitzgerald, he was elected a member of the Democratic State Central Committee from the First District. Whether the committee will meet with him in prison or if he will be represented at committee meetings by proxy remains to be seen, but in any event he must still be a power in his party councils or he wouldn't rate a place on the State Central Committee.—William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

EFFICIENT SEEING

The Cheap, But Costly Stenographer

The girl was really a fine person, neat, pleasant and willing—she looked like a bargain at $18 a week, which was all she asked. In fact, the firm wondered if Miss Fidge, who had been with them four years and was getting $22 a week, was paid too much.

Of course, Miss Fidge turned out twice the work, but the firm thought it was because the new girl was not yet used to the office. At the end of six months, however, the new girl was still getting out about half the work that Miss Fidge ate up. Then they began some figuring. "Half of Fidge was $11. But we are paying Miss New $16. Looks like $5 too much."

The partners watched Miss New at work. She was slow. She stopped and erased. She threw half-written letters in the waste basket (which accounted for the extra printing bill!). She squinted and pondered her notes. One partner got an inspiration. He sent Miss New to an optometrist and the mystery was solved.

She was a slow reader and she had "a rather small correction." She admitted she had known of this lens need but thought that, because it was "small" she could manage without it (vanity again!).

She got her "small correction" and some sound training in visual skills (the name of this training is "orthoptics") and, by jimmie, she began to get out as much work as Miss Fidge—and the firm had to raise her pay instead of letting her go.

We mustn't get the idea that "slow readers" are all school children. Many a man and woman in business is held back from promotion by an unsuspected lack of certain visual skills. It makes them seem slow and "dumb" when they're not—just handicapped. Some day, try a reading-comprehension test and learn how your own skills are.

The average price of electricity really toboggans as you add appliances! The more electricity you use, the cheaper it becomes. Suppose, for example, you are now using 10 units per month at the regular residence rate:

10 units per month cost	$1c
But the next 10 cost only	34c
If you are now using 50 units per month—
50 units per month cost	$2.38
But the next 50 cost only	1.15c
If you are now using 100 units per month—
100 units per month cost	$3.38
But the next 100 cost only	2.35c

This "sliding scale" of electric costs means that you can make free and unwanted use of lighting and household appliances and not add much to your bill. Prices average down rapidly as use goes up.

Electricity is cheap! The liberal use of electric appliances is wise economy. Prove this to yourself by using all the electricity you need.
