

139 Receive Diplomas at Commencement

Graduates and Friends Hear University Man, Dr. Howard McClusky

The solemn services of Commencement were performed Thursday evening, at the high school auditorium, at which 139 seniors, the largest graduating class in the history of Plymouth public schools, were given their diplomas by Superintendent George A. Smith.

Hundreds of friends and relatives of the graduates attended the fifty-ninth annual commencement which was conducted true to a time-established precedent of Plymouth high school. As Vera Enns played the pre-cessional, the audience stood as a mark of respect to the seniors as they marched two by two, led by their president and other class officers. Rev. Walter Nichol said the invocation, which was followed by the salutatory address by Ellis Brandt, entitled "Unemployment in the High School." It was a subject of timely importance and of which there are many discussions pro and con. It was interesting as it presented the student's viewpoint to the question "What will we do now that we have been given to the world?"

Carol Campbell, a member of the graduating class, played Schuber's "Impromptu in B-flat Major."

Veronica Marti, valedictorian, delivered her address, "Democracy's Need." Miss Marti stressed the fact that in order for democracy to live in America, every citizen must take an active part in it.

Dr. Howard Y. McClusky of the University School of Education gave the commencement address, "The Essentials of a Well-Rounded Personality." Dr. McClusky's talk was especially interesting because of work in the psychology department and work in the field of vocational guidance at the university. He is associate professor of educational psychology, mental measurements and statistics, and assistant to the vice president in charge of University relations in the field of adult education.

Being appointed to direct the organization of adult education centers last week throughout the state, and through his radio

Alumni Reply to Questions

Questionnaires asking graduates as to the benefits or lack of benefits of school social affairs, vocational training, extra-curricular activities, etc. were sent to members of the Plymouth High School Alumni association. Of the first 80 replies, four were from those who were graduated before 1900.

The replies, grouped in the 10-year period following favored 100 percent the tendency to vocational and trades to the boys and girls. Nearly 100 percent felt they had been materially helped by the social training (parties, plays, banquets, etc.) enjoyed during high school. More than 50 percent felt that their work in high school had directly helped them in choosing a vocation. About 80 percent felt they had received a thrill in being an American from their study of United States history in high school.

For those who graduated before 1900, respect for authority, punctuality, etc. were the outstanding services rendered from high school. They recommended that all types of curricular and extra-curricular work be continued.

Learning to work with others was the outstanding service rendered to those who were graduated from 1900 to 1909. The replies indicated that these graduates recommended that the school continue all instruction, especially vocational work.

During the period from 1910 to 1919 the outstanding service rendered by the high school was the general aid in preparation for advancement. The need for public speaking, salesmanship and vocational training was stressed.

Those who graduated from 1920 to 1929 thought the outstanding service rendered by the high school was their preparation for college, training in public speaking and the personal influences of the teachers. They recommended that vocational training, salesmanship and public speaking be continued as did the classes of 10 years previous to their time.

From 1930 to 1939, the graduates recommended that the present courses be continued and that extra opportunity be given for social contacts between pupil and teacher. They indicated that extra curricular activities gave them opportunity for self-expression and discovery of abilities. Next of importance was the making of friendships and learning to cooperate.

Mrs. Oliver Martin Taken by Death

Following an illness of many weeks, Mrs. Oliver P. Martin, one of the best known and highly respected residents of this vicinity, died at her home at 8370 West Ann Arbor road early Friday morning, June 23.

While her many friends in Plymouth knew of her illness, her death proved a shock to the community.

It was in March 1911 when Mr. and Mrs. Martin moved to Plymouth and entered into the dry goods business which they conducted for over 10 years. During this period Mrs. Martin became active in various organizations of the city. Numerous times, because of her interest and devotion to the work of the lodge, she was elected commander of the G. W. M. C. She also served as president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ex-Servicemen's club. It was not until she became ill that she was forced to give up her work in these and other organizations.

Mrs. Oliver Martin was born August 12, 1890 near Tipp City, Ohio. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Karns, who came from Ohio to be with their daughter before her death. The father is 83 years of age and Mrs. Karns is 75. They have three children, Mr. and Mrs. Karns. With the passing of Mrs. Martin, all have been taken by death.

Mr. Martin, the parents, three nieces and three nephews survive.

The funeral, held Sunday at 3:00 p.m. at the Schrader-Haggerty funeral home, was largely attended. The mass of flowers attested to the esteem and devotion in which Mrs. Martin was held by her sorrowing friends. Two beautiful hymns were sung by Mrs. J. T. Chapman. The Rev. Stanford S. Closson, minister of the First Methodist church, officiated. Interment was in Riverside cemetery.

Mrs. Florian Von Nostitz, of Toledo, Ohio, is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Gayle.

William Conner, Pioneer Business Man, Dies Thursday Noon

Plymouth residents will regret to learn that William Conner, lifelong resident and pioneer business man of Plymouth died Thursday noon at his home on Penniman avenue, Mr. Conner, who was a patient during the winter at Harper hospital in Detroit, returned home early in the spring feeling somewhat improved. He was able to be about for several weeks, but some two months ago he was forced to give up his activities and since has been confined to his bed. During the last two or three weeks his condition has gradually become worse and news of his death came just as The Mail was going to press. The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian church with the Rev. Walter Nichol officiating. A detailed account of Mr. Conner's life will be printed in next week's issue of The Plymouth Mail.

Saturday Last Day to Get Fido's License

Penalty Fee to be Added After Saturday

Today and tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, are the last days in which you can get your dog licensed for $1.00 for the ensuing year.

"All dogs must be licensed before Saturday or they will be considered as stray dogs and dealt with accordingly," Police Chief Smith said yesterday.

The $1.00 fee may be paid to City Treasurer Charles Garrett, whose office is in the city hall, or if not paid before July 1, the fee has an additional 50-cent penalty added to it.

Dogs must be confined to the owner's premises during the months of July and August if vaccinated, and those that are not, should be kept home at all times, says Chief Smith.

There were 425 licenses applied for last year and to date there have been 155 tags issued this season.

The city will not tolerate dogs running at large, declares the chief, and the police department will appreciate calls at any time concerning them.

School Children Benefit From Dental Clinic

Under Direction of Board and Local Committee

Furnished by the Couzens fund and under the direction of the board of education, the first dental clinic for children of school and pre-school age is made possible this summer. This is the first time in many years that such a service has been rendered in Plymouth. Opening Monday, June 26, the clinic will continue for eight weeks.

Without the aid and cooperation of the following committee, the dental project would be impossible. Committee members include: Mrs. Nellie Bird, Mrs. Jewell Bell, Dr. B. E. Champe, Mrs. Edward Campbell, Mrs. Frank Pierce, Mrs. George Farwell, Mrs. Lawrence Burgett, Mrs. Roy A. Procter, Mrs. Ann Squires, Mrs. Hugh E. Law and Mrs. Edward Wilson.

The work in the clinic is under the direction of Dr. William Zakrapski, assisted by Rose Niedzial, with Mrs. Mary Strasen, public health nurse, supervising the program for the board of education.

Response of the public to this clinic has been very cooperative during the first week and before the eight weeks assigned to Plymouth are gone, many school and girls will have dental defects eliminated and repaired in order that their school work in the coming year will be happier and more successful.

Back From Boston Convention

Edwin Schrader, lieutenant governor of this important Kiwanis club district, and George Burr, former president of the Plymouth club and delegate to the International Kiwanis convention at Boston, have just returned from the largest convention ever held in the history of the organization.

A detailed report of the convention will be made by Mr. Burr at a future Kiwanis meeting.

Mr. Schrader attended numerous conferences of lieutenant governors from all over the country at which the prevention of conditions which bring about the underprivileged child problem were discussed. It is the aim of Kiwanians to start a campaign to eliminate as far as possible the conditions which are held responsible for this social problem.

In addition to attending the convention, Mr. Schrader spent considerable time in visiting numerous historic spots in and about Boston.

Annual Picnic Of D. A. R. Held

The home of Mrs. E. J. Cutler was the scene, on Monday, of the annual picnic of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter of the D. A. R. The tables were spread under the friendly arms of the gracious hostess, Mrs. E. J. Cutler, at the same time, hostess to the Ezra Parker chapter of Royal Oak, the Piety Hill of Birmingham and the General Richardson of Pontiac. Seventy-five daughters partook of the potluck lunch.

After lunch the guests were free to roam through the house and the studio, with its canvases and statuettes, which were of interest to many.

The chaplain, Mrs. E. J. Cutler, opened the meeting, after it had been called to order by Mrs. J. Merle Bennett, regent of the Plymouth chapter, and spoke of "Abundant Living." She closed her remarks with an original poem of the same title.

After a short business session, the visiting regents were introduced by Mrs. Bennett. The meeting was then given over to Mrs. Allan Buckley, who is program chairman for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Buckley introduced Miss Mabel Spicer who is chairman of the committee in charge of the Junior American Citizens, an organization sponsored by the D.A.R. The president, vice president and a member of the color guard of the club in Starkweather school were presented to the group by Miss Spicer. They gave a short program. Great credit is due to Miss Ruth Hadley, who is in active charge of these groups.

The meeting then adjourned to the house and Mrs. Charles Garrett, upon request, repeated a program that she had given early in the fall. She related the history of music in the United States and illustrated her talk with several selections on the piano by composers about whom she was talking. Mrs. E. M. Cutler, of Detroit, sang a group of three songs, all of them written by American composers. She was accompanied by Mrs. J. R. Cutler.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Cutler and her committee, Mrs. Charles Root, Mrs. Robert K. Leary, Mrs. Walter Nichol, Mrs. Charles Blackburn and Mrs. Irving Blunk. After a most instructive and delightful afternoon, a motion was then in order for adjournment.

Lightning Tears Large Hole in Roof

During the brief, but beneficial, downpour that swept over Plymouth and vicinity late Wednesday afternoon, lightning struck a large elm tree near the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Eaton, and jumped over to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Henderson, tearing open the roof of an alcove on the house besides the damage to the roof, other damage in the house was not great.

Claude Henderson has been visiting relatives in Canada for the week. He expects to return to his home in Mt. Vernon, Washington, over the weekend.

Rev. Stanford S. Closson Again Assigned to Plymouth Church

Plymouth Methodists are highly pleased over the fact that the Methodist conference has just returned Rev. Stanford S. Closson to this city for his third year as pastor of the First Methodist church. During his two years of ministry in Plymouth, he has done much to advance the work of the church in this city and locality.

He will resume his duties for the coming year, Sunday, July 2.

The Methodist conference was held at Adrian from June 20 to June 25. Ministers were assigned throughout the district for the year.

There will be a change in pastors at the Newburg Methodist church, Rev. Clifton G. Hoffman being replaced by Rev. Robert Trenary who has been a student at the Garrett Biblical Institute. Rev. Hoffman will take the Methodist pastorate at Willis, near Monroe.

No Celebration of Fourth Here

Plymouth residents are ready to observe the Fourth of July in a quiet way, by spending the day at parks, lakes or resorts that border the city, or at the celebration at Northville.

Correspondents and advertisers are requested to have copy for next week's paper in early as the plant of The Plymouth Mail will be closed all day Tuesday.

The police department wishes motorists to cooperate with them in advocating safe driving conditions over the holiday. Every year there are numerous traffic fatalities, which can be omitted with a little common sense and responsibility on the part of the "other fellow" which can just as well be you, says Chief Smith.

Annual High Alumni Banquet Well Attended

250 Welcome New Members Into Organization

Coming back once more to welcome the year's graduating class into their organization, 250 alumni and friends were present at the annual banquet held Friday evening in the high school auditorium.

The tables were arranged insofar as possible to have class members sitting together with the speakers' table along the west side of the room. Each table was colorfully decorated with flowers, colored napkins and other favors.

Rev. Walter Nichol said the invocation. After the dinner, which was prepared and served by the Presbyterian ladies, Herald Hamill, president of the association, introduced the toastmaster, Glen Haseley, 15, who was an ideal master of ceremonies with an anecdote at the right time in a manner so that they were applicable and kept the program moving.

As a dinner settler, those present joined in community singing led by Mrs. Nellie Huser and accompanied by Miss Catrina Penney, Linnea Vickstrom and Keith Jolliffe sang "God Bless America."

Mr. Wisely introduced Evered Jolliffe, 03, who welcomed the class of 1939 into the Plymouth High School Alumni association. (Continued on Page 5)

REV. STANFORD S. CLOSSON

Couldn't Swim, Salem Boy Drowns in Murray Lake

Oscar Sulkowski Walks Into a Deep Hole

Oscar H. Sulkowski, Jr., 17, of Salem, was drowned in Murray lake on the Fishback farm, Plymouth road, 12 miles west of Plymouth Tuesday evening about 8:30 o'clock.

Sulkowski, with four companions, Ernest Elserman, Lloyd Carson, Sidney Stroud, and Cleo Lellis, went to the lake from the William Elserman farm on Plymouth road where young Sulkowski had been working.

The five boys waded into the water together. Only one of them was a good swimmer. Stroud was walking with Sulkowski when suddenly Sulkowski went down into a deep hole. As he came up he grabbed Stroud, pulling him down with him. Stroud managed to get himself loose from Sulkowski and not being a good enough swimmer to rescue him, swam to shore for help. The boys dived in vain attempt to save him.

Mr. Elserman was called, who notified the sheriff's department at Ann Arbor.

After two and one-half hours of dragging the lake for the body, it was found in about 20 feet of water, 100 feet from shore by Deputy Sheriff Floyd A. Mattis, Harlow Hills and Maynard Pleson. It is thought that the boy became entangled in the weeds on the bottom of the lake.

Artificial respiration was administered for an hour with no avail and as a final attempt to save the boy's life the policemen applied the resuscitator-inhalator.

The youth is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sulkowski, Sr., of Salem, and 10 brothers and sisters.

Funeral services will be held at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon (Friday) at the Ray J. Castlerine funeral home at Northville, Rev. Harry Lord of the Northville Methodist church officiating. Interment will take place in Rural Hill cemetery at Northville.

Ray Norton, who talked on the subject of "Citizenship." Miss Edith Mettetal sang a number of songs, accompanied by Carol Campbell.

Riley Lynch, who has accepted a position in the Bangor schools, will leave Plymouth but plans to transfer his membership to the club in that place. He has been chairman of the agricultural committee and has been teaching agriculture in the Plymouth public schools.

Bob Jolliffe won a leather and wool jacket in the Kiwanis golf tournament at Birch Hill Country club where there was an inter-club meeting, Monday, June 19. Clubs from East Dearborn, Wayne and Plymouth attended the meeting.

The meeting, July 5, will be the annual "Open Night." Suggestions and "gripes" may be presented for consideration.

Strasen Studio Presents Recital

Miss Hanna Strasen presented a group of her pupils in a recital of piano and music Tuesday evening, June 27, at 8:00 o'clock in the Crystal room of the Hotel Mayflower.

Twenty-two pupils played 37 numbers before an appreciable audience which numbered 135. There were solos, duets, and two-piano numbers. Keith Jolliffe, brilliant young Plymouth baritone, sang two solos, "I Heard a Forest Praying," by Peter DeRose, and Scott's "The Old Road." He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Strasen.

Miss Strasen's pupils have developed a wonderful sense of expression in their playing and in the recent recital each participant, from the one with the least experience to oldest, played their individual numbers well.

The Hanna Strasen piano studio has been in operation for the last six years. Each year the recitals have been well executed, but this year's tops the list.

Those who took part in the recital in order of their appearance are:

Zoning Ordinance Back in Hands of Planning Body

Requests Heard Monday Evening at Meeting

The city planning commission met Monday evening for a regular meeting after they received a communication from the city requesting them to reconsider the zoning ordinance and map due to the fact that when the zoning ordinance came before the city commission Charles Guston, Roy Pursell and Kenneth Corey objected to the present commercial-business area.

The three men requested before the city commission that the area be extended to Ann Arbor road.

Monday evening, 10 property owners, mostly all who have property on South Main street appeared before the planning commission and requested a similar action.

The planning commission heard their arguments. One property owner requested that the business-commercial area be extended on West Ann Arbor Trail and South Harvey street. This was taken under advisement.

Another citizen requested that Section 4, sub-section A, be amended to include Swedish massages along with professions; and another requested that the business-professional area be extended on Maple avenue east of Main street to Deer street.

Two letters were received, one asking that the business area be extended on South Main and the other requesting contractors' plant, storage warehouses or storage yard be permitted in commercial areas.

The planning commission will meet on Monday, July 10, to consider the various requests. "It is likely that the planning commission will call other public hearings in order that everyone will have opportunity to express himself. The planning commission is in no hurry to return the zoning ordinance and map to the city commission and wants the people whose property may be located in the various districts to be well satisfied before the ordinance and map are returned to the city commission." City Manager C. H. Elliott said.

An invitation is extended to anyone with band playing experience to join the Plymouth summer band.

Strange Malady Takes Life of Mrs. Charles Huber

When Rev. Cora Pennell, pastor of the Salem Federated church conducted the marriage ceremony of attractive Miss Evelyn Elliott, 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. George Elliott, and Charles H. Huber, of Napier road, at her church Saturday afternoon, June 17, little did she realize that within a week she would be conducting the funeral services of the happy young bride.

It was the day after her marriage when Mrs. Huber was taken suddenly ill and hurried to Plymouth hospital for examination.

Her condition rapidly became worse and late Monday doctors performed an operation in an effort to find out definitely what her ailment was. They were amazed to discover that the young girl was suffering from what has sometimes been called a "wild cancer" and that there was but little chance for her recovery. Physicians term this kind of a cancer as an exceedingly rare type and one that spreads with great rapidity through a person's body. The young bride died the following day, with her mother and husband of but four days at her bedside.

Guests at the wedding were among the mourners at the funeral held last Thursday in the Salem Federated church, where the wedding had also taken place.

The passing of the young bride leaves Mrs. Elliott without members of her immediate family, Mr. Elliott having died in October, 1929.

Mrs. Huber was born here December 18, 1922. She attended both the Plymouth and Birmingham public schools, the family for a time having resided in Birmingham. She had a host of friends both in Plymouth and Salem, who were shocked at her sudden death. At no time had the young lady, previous to her last illness, felt ill or had required the attention of a physician. She was stricken suddenly and notwithstanding the efforts of local physicians and specialists from Detroit, there was nothing that could be done to save her. Mrs. Van Bonn, mother of Mrs. Elliott, of Northville, is at the Elliott home on Napier home for the present.

Rain Retards Tonquish Work

Work on the Tonquish creek re-routing project, under contract by the Powell construction company, was delayed Thursday when five feet of water set in at the trench as a result of the heavy rain Wednesday night.

Progress has been rapid and the forms are laid nearly to the Wing street intersection where the new tube will connect the old one.

When the connection is ready to be made at Wing and Main streets, work will revert to west Ann Arbor Trail and the construction will continue to south Harvey street.

The construction is more than half completed and it is expected that work will be finished by August 1.

The trench is being dug by a power shovel. About 50 feet of earth on the north and 40 feet at the bottom of the trench are being removed each day.

It is possible to lay a 40-foot section of reinforced cement tube each day, twelve inches thick at the bottom and seven inches through the top.

In hot weather residents and passersby realize the advantages of this construction as sewage and other waste empties into the creek. It will aid Plymouth as this land, which formerly was cut through by a creek, will be desirable in the near future for the city construction or as a business site.

Plymouth Boys Report on Boys' State

Hear Prominent Men Speak About Timely Subjects

(By Jim Stevens and George Blyden)

On behalf of the fellows who attended Wolverine Boys' State from Plymouth, we wish to thank our sponsors, the American Legion of the Newburg Post, Earl Merriman, Keith Sproot and ourselves, left Plymouth for Wolverine Boys' State in East Lansing. Upon our arrival we were assigned to our county, city and political party.

George and Keith went to the city of Adams, McClelland county. Earl and Jim went to Parsons, Madison city and Jim to Jefferson. After this we were given a physical examination; from here we went to our cities where we met our future roommates and held the first of our caucuses in which each party, Athenian and Trojan, nominated their candidates for city officers.

George was the only person among the Plymouth boys to receive a city job; he was elected Deputy Chief of Police of Adams. In the county elections Keith was elected corner of McClelland county and in the state election Jim acted as campaign manager for Edward Mennell of Jackson who was elected state treasurer, and due to this work, Jim was appointed deputy state treasurer. Later George received an appointment by Mennell as chief clerk so that two Plymouth boys worked together on state jobs.

Jim and George had an office with the Governor of Boys' State. A typical day's program would be as follows:

Reveille at 6:00; physical drill in mass form, 6:30; breakfast in cities at M.S.C. union, 7:00; running of all state, county and city offices, 9:30 to 11:00; lunch in cities, 11:30; baseball tennis, campus tours, etc., 1:00 to 5:00; dinner in cities, 5:30; assembly, 8:00 to 10:30; taps, 11:00.

We were addressed in our various assemblies by prominent people who talked on different subjects. We heard the following: Dr. Robert S. Shaw, president of Michigan State college, who talked on "The Michigan State College Campus"; Harold H. Reinecke, number 2 G-Man for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who spoke on "Workings of a G-Man"; Another speaker was the head of the Americanism plan in the United States. His talk was on "World Isms in America." Lastly, we heard Governor Luren D. Dickinson and Ex-Governor Wilbur Brucker, who talked of the qualities of Boys' State.

June 22, 1939, will long remain in the hearts of members of Boys' State for it was on this day that 800 boys walked up the capitol steps into the capitol and took over every job therein. Jim was the only one who had an office in the capitol from Plymouth.

outh, for the rest of the fellows from Plymouth had either county or city jobs. Jim went into the state capitol and looked around before going into the state treasurer's office with his boss, Edward Mennell. They were introduced to several of the staff of the state treasurer. They met him in person and he took them into a meeting of the loan board and they heard their conservation for about an hour.

Then after being dismissed, they proceeded to see all they could of the vault in which they cast their interested eyes on 146,501 one-dollar bills. After this they went into the big office to take over the business of the day. They sat in big chairs, dreaming and writing letters to folks back home. They were in the capitol from 2:00 to 4:30 o'clock that afternoon.

Friday morning, June 23, the Past Commander of the American Legion in the state of Michigan spoke at commencement exercises where the boys who had honorable discharges received diplomas and a Wolverine Boys' State pin. After this assembly each boy left with a better knowledge of his government and a better knowledge of his fellow men.

Few wanted to leave Boys' State, for living there for nine days with newly-made friends from all over Michigan did something to you. We left with the idea strongly in mind that there is only one form of government for the United States if it is to survive the ages, and that is to have "a government of the people, for the people, and by the people."

Scout Softball League Formed

An eight-team softball league has been organized by the Boy Scout troops of this region. The games will be called at 6:30 and older boys from the troops will act as umpires.

Boys on the teams are limited to 15 years of age. The recreational program is a project of the older boys' troop and will be conducted by them.

Plymouth patrols 1, 2, 3, and 4; Northville 1 and 7; Elm 1 and Newburg 1 are the teams slated to play one another to determine the winner. Play-offs will be on August 23 and 24, if needed.

The schedule is as follows:

June 29—P2 vs. P3; P4 vs. P1; N7 vs. N1; E1 vs. N1.

July 11—P2 vs. P4; P1 vs. P2; N1 vs. E1; N1 vs. N7.

July 19—P4 vs. N1; P2 vs. N1; E1 vs. P1; N7 vs. P3.

July 27—P1 vs. N7; P3 vs. E1; N1 vs. P4; N1 vs. P2.

August 4—N1 vs. P3; P1 vs. N1; E1 vs. P2; N7 vs. P4.

August 7—P3 vs. P1; E1 vs. N7; N1 vs. NBF; P2 vs. P4.

August 15—P4 vs. E1; N7 vs. P2; P3 vs. N1; N1 vs. P1.

Speakers Assail Payroll Tax

"All of the regular sources of income having proved inadequate to finance the huge pump-priming costs of the present administration, a way has at last been found to spend more and tax less by using the 'reserve' funds of the Social Security Taxpayers," said R. R. Pursell, president of the Citizens Legion, in introducing Russell Kirk at the mass meeting held at the school auditorium Tuesday night. "And the only way that these spent funds can be returned as direct benefits is by re-taxing the people all over again. If a banker spent trust funds like that he would go to jail," said Mr. Pursell.

Russell Kirk, heading the speaker's bureau, of the Citizens Legion spoke in part as follows:

"The payroll tax is the worst form of taxation yet devised because it hits the hardest on the class least able to pay it and the benefits are not in proportion to the high cost. Let's look at this chart a minute and see what the worker gets for his money:

42 years' work at $1,580 per year—Total old-age taxes paid, $3,463; Unemployment taxes, State, $2,031; Unemployment taxes, Federal, $225; 20% administration costs, $1,199; Taxes to replace "reserve," $2,205; approximate total, $9,124.

"The average man dies at 62, and in this case his estate would receive $2,205. Assuming that he would have received ALL of the unemployment money back in out-of-work benefits, his total would be $4,236. Is that efficient business? Under the new amendment, now going through Congress, that $2,205 benefit would be cut to only $305 in cases where a man left no children or his wife was under 65. This benefit is an insult after a tax of $3,463 had been paid on his wages.

"When labor wakes up to the facts of Social Security, I am sure that the entire law will be repealed," he concluded.

Any organization which would like a speaker is invited to phone 502.

Michigan Editors Find Grand Haven to be an Ideal Haven

Progressive West Coast City Host to Scribes
(By ELTON R. EATON)
Grand Haven! It is just that—just what its name means—a grand haven—an ideal haven.
Members of the Michigan Press association held their annual summer outing last week-end at Grand Haven, over on the shore of Lake Michigan where the Grand river, after winding its way from Jackson county, up through Eaton and Ingham counties, down through the cities of Lansing and Grand Rapids, empties into Lake Michigan and provides Grand Haven with one of the finest lake ports in all Michigan.
The big harbor, providing a grand haven, a safe haven for lake-vessels of all sizes and types, is but one of the many assets of Grand Haven. It truly is a port of commerce, recreation and interest.

Lake Michigan provides the city with one of the finest bathing beaches along the entire coast line. Coupled with these natural assets, Grand Haven has another claim to first place among Michigan's progressive municipalities—it is cordiality and friendliness to its visitors. Michigan newspaper editors found that out last week when they visited that city.
"Selling Michigan to Michigan" is one of the chief aims of the Michigan Press association—and at Grand Haven they found plenty to use in their good-will campaign.
Prevailing westerly winds in the summer give Grand Haven a remarkably refreshing and cool climate. In fact, official U. S. records over a 10-year period show that during that time Grand Haven had only 21 days over 90, and none over 95 degrees as compared with 118 days over 90 in Grand Rapids for the same decade.
This enviable climate, plus Michigan's most popular state park, the Oval beach, which attracts close to a million and a half persons during one season, has made Grand Haven a favorite of resorters for many years.
In the last ten years Grand Haven has demonstrated what an enterprising community can do to stabilize buying power through acquiring new industries. Thirty-two manufacturing concerns normally employing 3,000 persons, are located in this community of more than 10,000 people.
Grand Haven's fine harbor is due largely to the wide Grand River which enters the lake at this point. River currents keep the harbor free of ice in the winter. A few miles away is Spring Lake, seven miles in length and ideal for sailing and speedboats.
E. J. McCall, publisher of the Grand Haven Daily Tribune, was host chairman. It was one of the most enjoyable outings ever held by Michigan newspaper publishers.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Taylor were in Detroit Wednesday evening to attend the wedding of Eleanor Elizabeth Widman and Charles Henderson of that city held in St. Paul's Cathedral and reception afterward at the Detroit Golf club.
The mammoth, an extinct prehistoric animal larger than the elephant, once lived in what is now Michigan.

Radio Evangelist Now At Wayne

The Rev. Clifford Hollifield, pastor of the Fort Wayne Gospel Tabernacle, is speaking each night at 7:30, through July 4th, at the Gospel tent on Michigan avenue opposite the high school, Wayne, Rev. Hollifield will also speak Sunday morning in the First Baptist Church at 9:30 a.m. and in the tent Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m.
Rev. Hollifield is one of the outstanding radio evangelists of today and broadcasts daily over a network of stations.
There will be a special Youth Rally with services all day, July 4th, 10:00 a.m., 2:30 and 7:30 p.m., with groups of young people from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana planning to attend. Rev. Hollifield will be the principal speaker of the day. Rev. J. Elwood Evans, of Grand Haven, also will be heard on the program. Rev. Evans will continue the services in the tent through July 16th.

139 Students Receive Diplomas

talks and articles in professional journals his fame has become nationwide.
Parts of the Commencement address follow:
"There is never a day in which so many classes of people get together: Different races, nationalities, with such a varied degree of education and wealth, as there is at a commencement program." Dr. McClusky said.
"Race makes no difference; nationality makes no difference; and it makes no difference if you are sitting beside someone with an eighth grade education, college education, or no education at all. There is nothing like this on any other continent in the world. There not only is no urge for education, but there is no need for it. The people are told what to do; they don't even think for themselves," Dr. McClusky added.
The assistant professor at the university said that statistics show that forty years ago a class in ratio, with the number of graduates there are here, 139, to the number of people who would have gone to high school and graduated then would be five. "Would it be fair to pick five people from these 139 who are assembled here to be given the privilege of receiving a high school diploma?" he asked.
"Some say that our democracy is doomed, and that we will soon be under a dictatorship, but," Dr. McClusky added, "by educating our people, we do not have to worry in fear of our democracy."
In a successful life, he said that personality is one of the prime virtues. Personality, outside of an economic depression, has more to do with getting and holding a job than any other one virtue. Personality is a key factor in our jobs; it makes and holds friends, also.
"Marriage for you," he said, directing his remarks to the graduates, "will be successful only if both halves of the marital agreement are suited to the other's personality. The reason why so many marriages fail is because so many failures marry."
Dr. McClusky said that people are prone, nowadays, to develop bad cases of spectatoritis, a rare but prevalent disease caused by just sitting. One should participate in business affairs and recreation.
"However, I do not mean that one should develop frivolity to a degree of frivolity. Play only enough to keep the soul alive.
"It has been proved that the heart, spirit and stomach go hand in hand. When a person is worried it affects his digestion. Food digests much better if one eats while in a good frame of mind. Quite often it occurs that you parents grouch at your children at mealtime, the only time they are home, and some of you have bad cases of indigestion. Now do you wonder why?"
Dr. McClusky advised everyone to acquire a hobby as it furnishes an avenue for the expression of personality. He said, "Put your psychological interest in more than one investment."
"Now, to you graduates, on the way of life, keep your course straight, but if you come to a bad place in the road, an obstacle, detour, and don't sit down and complain over your first set-back," the speaker said.
He added that the characteristic of a healthy personality is judged by a person's attitude toward himself and at the same time his willingness to help his neighbor.
"The characteristic of a successful life is judged by how much you have made life better for the other person."
"The only way to achieve immortality is to acquire self-forgetfulness. And you must do this to live even your normal life."
Dr. McClusky concluded with, "I hope you graduates really live all of your lives."
Principal Claude J. Dykhouse presented the class of 1939 to Superintendent George A. Smith who congratulated them and said that this is the first class to graduate students in the apprentice and vocational courses. He then presented diplomas to 139 seniors.
The class sang their song and then marched out of the auditorium in the same formation as they came in to the recessional music played by Vera Enns.

Annual High Alumni Banquet

He said, in part, "It is a privilege and a pleasure to honor you, the class of 1939, the largest of any organization to be admitted so far into the Alumni association. Your class is 10 times as large as my class of 1903 which was the largest class at that time. From time to time we have welcomed classes into our association which numbered the largest at that time, and we hope that we may take in many more who are as large or larger in number than you."
"Some of you will go on to school, receive degrees and meet new friends, but you will always remember the friends and cherish the memories of your short stay in Plymouth high school."
Mr. Jolliffe remarked concerning constructive criticism of the school and said, "Let's be builders-uppers and not tearer-downers." He suggested that members of the new addition to the Alumni association be put right to work on committees and then concluded by remarking that the class of 1939 stand and receive a vote of acceptance.
The president of the 1939 graduating class, Jack Ross, received the invitation into the association and said that they individually or as a class would do anything in their power to assist the Plymouth High School Alumni association.
There was a prize given to the class of 1889 who had the largest percentage of their living members present.
Mrs. Donohea Lombard-Lendrum traveled from Champaign, Illinois, to the banquet and received a gift for coming the longest distance.
Mrs. Mary Hough-Kimball of the class of 1885 was the oldest alumna present.
News casts were given concerning graduates of 50, 35 and 25 years ago.
Edward C. Hough of the class of 1889 told the whereabouts and whatabouts of some of the graduates of that time. He said, addressing his remarks to the newest addition to the association, "As you look ahead years, it seems like a very long time, but for us who have traveled the distance it seems incredibly short. So don't waste time. History has been made, and during the next 50 years it will also be made. You will be the history-makers."
A former principal and member of the school board, Mrs. Ella Chaffee, was presented with a bouquet of flowers by the Alumni association and friends. The presentation was done in a darkened auditorium. As appropriate music was played on the piano by Carol Campbell, her sister, Ruth, made the presentation walking from the side of the stage to the center of the auditorium under a spotlight to where Mrs. Chaffee was seated.
Paul W. Voorhies, a Detroit attorney and alumni member, made a few remarks concerning Mrs. Chaffee. He said, "Mrs. Chaffee, from 1875 to 1890 was a teacher in the high school at Plymouth; she was a teacher in every sense of the word. The Plymouth school had only two teachers at that time, one to instruct the first seven grades and the other for the remaining classes. Her service as a teacher in this school was appreciated while she was here and the impression she made still lasts. After she was through as a teacher, she became a member of the school board. As a mark of appreciation for your service, Mrs. Chaffee, as a teacher, member of the board and long resident of Plymouth, I present you with this small token from Plymouth and Plymouth high school."
Mrs. Flora Rathburn, '04, gave the news concerning the period 35 years ago. She said in part, "In the ten years that I am reporting about, there were 126 men and women graduated from the high school. That number looks comparatively small with respect to the class of 1939."
"During the last 35 years, 14 people from this group have passed away, and there have been three superintendents of schools."
The news cast of 25 years ago was given by Leo J. Spencer, '14. After telling about various classmates and persons who graduated during that time, he said, "In behalf of the Alumni association, may we all wish you Godspeed and good luck," addressing his remarks to the new graduates.

A very unique "Professor Quiz" program was presented. Bob Jolliffe of the class of 1906, was the professor, ably assisted by Harry Fisher.
There were teams of three women and three men; they were Mrs. Doris Fishlock-Day, Miss Janet Bowman, Miss Peggy Tuck, and the Messrs. Perry Richwine, Donald Sutherland and Nick Williams.
Four rounds of questions were asked by the capable professor and when the judges made their decision, Perry Richwine was proclaimed winner with Mrs. Day running a very close second.
The judges were Mrs. Ruth E. Huston - Whipple, Mrs. Flora Rathburn and Herbert Miller. David Mather was the official timekeeper.
Mrs. Day received first prize of $5.00 for turning in the best set of questions and answers for the contest. Leo Spencer sent the second best set, and Mrs. Stella Thompson-Nelson received third prize.
Following the contest was a brief business meeting conducted by President Herald Hamill. The minutes of last year's meeting were read by Helen Norgrove who also submitted her treasurer's report. The balance brought forward was $92.40; expenses, $125; receipts, $94; cash on hand, June 1, 1939, $63.88. The scholarship report is printed elsewhere in this issue of The Plymouth Mail.
The president asked for the report of the nominating committee. They nominated Perry Richwine for president for the coming year and Miss Hazel Rathburn to act as vice president. Annabel Brown was suggested as secretary-treasurer. It was moved and supported that the above nominations be approved and the persons declared elected. The motion carried.
The "Top Hatters" made up of high school boys, supplied music for dancing.

Girls' Clubs Plan Summer Outings

The Girls' clubs are entering into the summer with a full schedule which will include tennis, swimming, hikes and picnics. The officers of the four clubs, Mary Margaret Stout, president of the Jays; Mary Schomberger, president of the Cardinals; Marilyn Vershure, president of the Starkweather Junior American Citizens' club; and Jane Hood, president of the Central Junior American Citizens' club are planning on a very enjoyable vacation.

Next week the Junior American Citizens of Starkweather will not have a meeting as their regular meeting day is Tuesday but the following Tuesday, July 11, they will all go swimming at Walled Lake. The Central club will have a hike and picnic next Wednesday, meeting in front of the high school at 4:00 o'clock. The Jay club spent Thursday afternoon of this week at Walled Lake where they enjoyed swimming and the many attractions at the amusement park. The Cardinal club is having a Weiner roast this Friday, leaving the high school at 2:00 o'clock and hiking to Phoenix park.

Next week the Cardinal club will meet at 7:00 o'clock in the city hall for a special meeting. All members should attend. The Central Junior American Citizens' club, the largest club of all, is planning to go swimming in the near future. Swimming will be taught to as many of the girls as possible this summer. Transportation for the club is being provided by local business men.

Daisy Employees Enjoy Outing in Plymouth Riverside Park

Nearly 200 Enjoy Mock Wedding and Pot Luck Dinner

Employees of the Daisy Manufacturing company had their annual picnic commemorating Anniversary Day, Saturday, June 24, at Riverside park.

Nearly 200 people, employees and their families and friends, participated in foot races and games before 12:00 o'clock. A potluck dinner was served at noon. The high light of the afternoon's entertainment was a mock wedding.

To the tune of "Here Comes The Bride," played by Persis F. party on her saxophone, the bridal party approached, led by Flora Gerst who strewed the bride's pathway with lovely, fragrant onions, carrots, radishes and beets. The blushing bride, Edgar Woodard, arrayed in the newest Paris wedding gown and sheer curtain-lace veil met the tall, handsome bridegroom, Lucile Mining, accompanied by his father, Emma Jones. The impressive marriage ceremony was read from "Life" by the very dignified, white-haired preacher, Bessie Salow, immaculate in tails and high silk hat.

After the wedding a lively game of ball was the center of attraction.

As the picnic broke up many expressions were heard of the fun and good fellowship enjoyed by all.

Coach Company Makes Addition

When you first see the graceful lines of the new green and white Plymouth-Detroit bus, you will be looking at the latest addition to the Dearborn Coach company's bus fleet.

The new bus is one of the products of the Gar Wood Manufacturing company and is modern in every detail.

Replacing one of the older buses the new one will have the regular run from Detroit to Plymouth. There are two buses that are in service and during the day one departs from each end of the line every 45 minutes. At night one bus makes the run every one and a half hours.

Canton Center Girl Is Co. 4-H Health Champ.

One delegate from each division of the club from every county in the state is at the college and will compete for state championship honors there.

Graduates Help Graduates

Floyd A. Kehrl, treasurer of the Plymouth High School Alumni Scholarship fund has submitted the annual report to the president of the association, Herald Hamill.

The report indicates a considerable aid that is being extended to "worthy" students in high school and also to those who are going to colleges and universities.

At the present time there are outstanding loans to ten students totaling $395. This amount, together with the cash on hand of $351.11, makes the total resources $746.11.

The report follows:

Received payments on loans to students	285.00
Received interest on loans to students	28.25

Grand Total	$726.11

Disbursements
Loans to students during period from June 19, 1936 to June 23, 1939	$375.00

Townsend Club to Hear Delegates

Delegates from the Plymouth Townsend club who attended the national convention last week at Indianapolis will be present at the meeting Monday evening, July 3, to make a report on the events that took place at the convention. The meeting will be at Grange hall at 8:00 o'clock. There will be a discussion of the proposed national referendum on the Townsend amendment that was considered at the convention.

City Cuts Weeds Along Streets

"The city will appreciate it if owners of vacant lots will cooperate with them in cutting weeds that may grow and deposit seeds and pollen," City Manager C. H. Elliott said yesterday.

Harry Stanley has been employed by the city to cut weeds between the curb line and sidewalk over most of the territory in the city residential district. He should complete the work this week.

The pollen from many of the common weeds causes much distress to asthma and hay fever sufferers and if the weeds are cut down it will be an addition to Plymouth not only from a health standpoint, but also from the beauty angle.

Pedestrian Struck Crossing Street

Henry Wittrick, of Northville, was struck by an automobile last Friday evening and slightly injured when he attempted to cross Starkweather avenue near the Perc Marquette railroad station. The car was driven by Raymond Martin of Pontiac.

The accident occurred when Wittrick ran into the street from behind parked cars, say the police. Martin saw the boy, he told police, but was unable to stop to avoid hitting him. The lad was treated for multiple cement burns and other minor injuries by a Plymouth physician and then taken to his home on Nine Mile road near Northville.

The police report shows that Martin was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

A Pittsburgher's dog, learning to caddy, found 35 golf balls the first day. His master declares him a "find."

Local Teams Meet Defeat

Hovey and Buers pitching for the Plymouth-Allen baseball team could not stop the slugging of Inkster in a game played at Riverside park Sunday resulting in a 14-4 win for the boys from Inkster.

Higgins formed the receiving end of the P-A battery while Lesell Sherwood and Coleman played the corresponding roles for the Inkster team.

Inkster hit the Plymouth team's pitchers early in the game but as it was the first appearance of many of the P-A boys, they got over their stage fright and settled down to play some good baseball as the innings wore on.

Sunday Plymouth-Allen will meet the Northville team at Riverside diamond at 3:00 o'clock.

Errors proved costly last Sunday when the Schrader-Haggerty team met defeat at Garden City by the score 6-1.

Scott pitched three-hit ball for Garden City and Hill went the entire distance behind the plate. Debozzy and Wolfe formed the Schrader-Haggerty battery. Schrader-Haggerty plays Amazo at Cass Benton park next Sunday. The game starts the second round of the league tournament. In the first round of play, Amazo defeated Schrader-Haggerty.

Both of the Plymouth teams have games scheduled for July 4. Plymouth-Allen will play the Ace of Clubs from Detroit at Riverside park. McCosky, a Detroit high school boy, will start catching and will alternate with P-A's regular catcher, McGarry. Schrader-Haggerty will meet Northville at Cass Benton park.

Baseball will be well represented at both of the parks close to Plymouth and a large crowd is expected at the games.

Lauds Pharmacy Applicants

Stewart Dodge, member of the state board of pharmacy, spent last week in Lansing assisting in the annual examinations of applicants for a right to enter into the drug business in Michigan.

Mr. Dodge, who has been active in the pharmacy business for over 35 years, declared that he as well as other members of the board, were most favorably impressed by the high type caliber of young people who took the examination.

"It would be difficult to pick out 40 or more young people who seemed to be more earnest and represent the right kind to enter into the drug business than were the applicants we had before the board for examination," declared Mr. Dodge. All did not secure passing marks, but these have a right to take an examination at a later date, he stated.

About 30,000 trappers' licenses are sold annually in Michigan.

On Tuesday, June 20, the school board of Stark school called a meeting of the entire school district to vote on two major issues concerning school property additions. It is a well known fact that when school begins again in September, the additional attendance load brought about by the population of Alden Village and also the normal increase in Plymouth Gardens and Joy Farms, will again cause a semi-crowded condition at Stark.

The local school board has anticipated this condition which is based on the 1939-40 census and current data on the new Alden section. After considerable discussion and a summary of the situation by J. Campbell, director, a motion was made to allow the board to make application for a new school building with the Wayne County Board of Auditors and the Wayne County School Commissioner. A vote was taken and the motion was passed with only one negative vote. There is a possibility therefore, of a new building project being started at Stark school. The cost share to be paid by the Federal Government, our participation to be paid from delinquent taxes.

As our present playground site is inadequate and has been for some time, Mr. Campbell explained the necessity of additional ground for baseball and other activities for the school and the entire district. Sufficient ground for play will be a deciding factor in the acceptance of our application for a new building. The school board has bids from Mr. Block and Mr. Stites of Laurel road on the property owned by them which adjoins the present school site. A vote was taken to permit the school board to purchase three and one-half acres adjoining the school property for playground purposes at a total cost of $160. The result of this vote was greatly in favor of the purchase. Only one negative ballot was cast.

With cooperation such as this from the people of our school district, Stark school will certainly progress—will always have the same high standards.

On Thursday, June 22, the school board met to close the books and records for the fiscal year in preparation for the annual meeting to be held July 10, 1939. Mr. Block and Mr. Stites, owners of property desired for playground purposes, were present to complete the sale of this property to the school. All necessary papers were signed and the transaction was definitely settled. Stark school has had a bond outstanding in the amount of $1000 which was due in 1931. Due to a sinking fund established for this purpose two years ago, the district is now able to recall the bond and considerably reduce our indebtedness.

Residents of Livonia School District No. 7, Fractional, are urged to attend the annual school meeting at Stark school, Monday evening, July 10, 1939, at 8 p. m. At this meeting the district will have the opportunity of bringing in any business pertaining to school activities; the financial report will be read for acceptance and a vote will be taken for the office of director of the board for a three-year term.

IT COULD BE YOU (By O. F. BEYER, of Beyer Drugs)

There is a man who can tell you whether or not you are the one out of every seven persons whose blood is feeding the deadly syphilis germ. That man is a medical doctor.

Think. How many groups of seven persons did you see today? An average of one person in each of those groups is afflicted with that most horrible of all blood diseases. Perhaps he, or she, does not know it. In its incipient stage the symptoms are not pronouncedly manifest.

Unless you know—beyond the shadow of a doubt—you are not a carrier of these germs, let a doctor make the test necessary to determine.

You are probably one of the other six, in which case the satisfaction of knowing you are not the SEVENTH will far offset the small amount of time and money expended.

The TONQUISH CREEK BREEZE

Published at Tonquish Creek, Michigan

The People's Watch Dog
Vol. 1 No. 1

Old Chief Tonquish come back to Tonquish Creek valley. He been up north visiting with Chippewa tribe. Chief Tonquish is madder than hellum. He go sharpen tomahawk and is on war path. Looking for Pale Face Matt Powell and his big papoose, Ruit Powell. Chief Tonquish say he is going to scalp 'em. He been down to Tonquish Creek and can't find it. He say no place to dump rotten cabbage and dead cats and dogs, creek all gone. Big Chief found out Matt Powell and his papoose been digging hole to put creek under ground. That's why he is on war path and is getting his scalping knife and tomahawk all sharpened up. Yes, sir, that's the big news in Tonquish Creek which has brought The Breeze back to life. There is prospect of something in the Creek mighty soon. The Breeze, like it always has been, is ready to be Johnny-on-the-spot to get the first-hand news of what is going on.

The Breeze reporter breezed in to see old Chief Tonquish yesterday to get a statement from him. What do you suppose The Breeze scribe found? There sat old Chief Tonquish with Creeker No. 1 Fred Schrader, Extractor Champ, Traveler Walt Harms, Trader Able Goldstein, Medicine Man Bulz, Hop and Skip Finlan and some other Creekers smoking a corn-cob pipe of peace with Chief Tonquish. "These my friends," said Chief Tonquish. "They don't want creek covered up. They madder than hellum, too. They going to help me scalp Pale Face Matt Powell and his big papoose. They want creek left alone. They like smell it in summer time. They say it is good for bad stomach to smell what comes from creek." When the Chief ended, his speech he again started whetting his tomahawk. "Me got to have it good and sharp. Me going to do good job and do it quick. Me going to end this foolishness about the creek business. Me going to keep creek open. What will white man do with tin cans and rotten tomatoes and dead horses? Big Chief mad, mad all over." Yes, sir, that's just what he said—and The Breeze is reporting the fact that the Old Chief has some strong backing. This monkey business about the creek when the Old Chief thought it was deadener than a door-nail has certainly got the Creek flats all messed up. Watch The Breeze for developments. Maybe there will be some big news in another week or two. If so, The Breeze will be revived to tell what has happened to Powell & Son. Meanwhile the Tonquish Creek constable is keeping an eye on Chief Tonquish's wigwam to see who goes in and who goes out. The Creek flats is pretty much divided on the issue and late reports say that Powell & Son have been importing some tough guys from a nearby settlement to deal with the Old Chief and his painted warriors.

First Plymouth Students Complete Apprentice Training Course at 1939 Commencement

11 Graduates
Will Step Into Full-Time Jobs

Summertime is not vacation-time for the boys who are enrolled in the apprentice training course in the high school. Their classes continue through the years until they are graduated from their apprenticeship and start out either for themselves or working full time for their employer. Twenty-three boys are enrolled in the course at the present time. Of these 23, 11 were graduated at the commencement program Thursday evening, and will begin full-time jobs in their particular fields. Out of the 11, 6 will complete their apprenticeship late this summer or early next fall by going to school 4 hours each week in the evening and the remaining 6 have a year or two remaining in their high school course.

The course started in June, 1937 with three boys enrolled, and since that time the enrollment has grown to twenty-three. Previous to the present time, girls were not admitted to the course, but now conditions are such that there will be four or five girls in the apprentice training course when school starts next fall. One has enrolled already and she began June 26 in the office training course.

Carvel Bently, instructor and supervisor of this course, aids boys in procuring positions. At the present time 15 different fields are open in the course, and there are boys in each of them: Meatcutting; floral growing and marketing; electric service and repair; dry cleaning; auto mechanics; draftsmanship; radio technician; shoe repairing; printing; grocery store management; variety store management; furniture store management; gasoline station management; and dairy products manufacturing.

During the school year, each student averages about 120 hours of work per month, and none of them receives less than 20 cents an hour with the wage scale going up as high as 60 cents.

When the boys are not at work they spend their time in careful study of their particular trades, making analyses and gathering supplementary material in order that they may gain a thorough knowledge of their subjects. In addition, each student must take a course in social and economic problems, which explains labor and capital relationships, money, unions, etc.; in English; and in work experience, in which the employer grades and comments upon their progress and abilities displayed.

Each student who is interested in the apprenticeship program must state his preference for a trade, but before he is allowed to enter into the study of this business the instructor makes sure he is qualified mentally and physically for it. Mr. Bently states that each apprentice is investigated for his seriousness of purpose, and every effort is made to find the correct placement of the individual.

At the completion of the apprenticeship training period, the student receives a certificate from the state board certifying that he is a full-fledged skilled worker, or journeyman, in the particular occupation for which he was trained. Previous to this, each apprentice must enter into agreement with the employer and school, and his training program must be approved by both parties. Upon official registration, each apprentice is given a record book which contains his picture, and space for records to be kept throughout his training period, so that upon completion of the course, he will have this record to show for all his accomplishments and it may serve as definite help to him in seeking employment.

The length of an apprenticeship varies with the occupation for which the training is given. In all cases a minimum period of 4,000 clock hours of combined school and work experience is necessary for graduation, and 144 hours of this must be spent in school each year.

It has been estimated that 75 per cent of the students graduating from the Plymouth high school do not go on to schools of higher learning after graduation, but expect to find their places in industry and business. Experience during the depression taught the young people just out of school that they were not fitted to fulfill the needs of the industry. The reason for this, it was found, was that there is an over-supply of unskilled labor, and a real demand for skilled workers. Hence, it is the aim of this apprentice system to correct that condition.

In 1931 the estimated kill of deer in Michigan was 23,510.

69, Enters Tourney

Jack White played in the fast-company British Open golf tournament for the first time in 1931. In 1934 he won the championship. Now 69, the veteran putt-and-pound artist will compete for the forty-eighth successive year in the tournament opening Monday, July 3. White, who is an uncle of Jimmy Thomson, another famous English golfer, looks forward to his fiftieth anniversary of tournament golf in 1941.

Chats with the Master Gardener

Roses
I never heard of a home gardener who didn't want to grow roses. . . and yet I know lots of folks who think they can't. But roses are not hard to grow; you yourself can have them in your own garden . . . easily!

Think about your garden for a minute. Have you a spot that gets sunshine about six or seven hours a day? A spot that's protected somewhat from strong north and west winds? Then that's the place for your roses. And you can grow them there, if you'll just follow these simple rules.

First of all, consider the soil. Roses prefer a bit of clay, but that's not absolutely necessary. But it must be fairly well drained. Make this easy test: dig a hole about a foot and a half deep and fill it with water. If the water is gone within a reasonable time, drainage is satisfactory. If the water stands for a long time, you'd better dig down a couple of feet and put in a six-inch layer of gravel, or better, cinders.

Now as to what varieties of roses you should try to grow, you'd better consult a reliable nurseryman in your own vicinity. Be sure he gives you hardy varieties; field-grown stock two years old is best.

You can plant roses either early in the fall or early in the spring, but I've had better luck with spring planting, myself. Only be sure it's really early—just as soon as the ground is workable and danger of frost is past. Dig holes plenty wide and deep enough to spread the roots out well. Cover the plants with soil to at least an inch above the first crotch, mix a complete plantfood into the soil around them, and water them thoroughly.

Pruning is most important with roses. When planting them, take a sharp knife and remove all bruised or decayed roots. Then, when the roses are in the ground, cut out all but five or six canes, and cut those five or six back to about six inches long. Cuts should be made slant wise, just above a bud. You have to be ruthless about pruning roses—it's removing the unnecessary wood that gives you larger blossoms and more of them.

As a rule, established roses do better if you cut them way back every spring. One exception to this rule is bush roses which only need to have some of the older wood thinned out. Rambler and climbing roses should be pruned in late summer, after they've finished blooming.

Caring for roses through the summer is no trick at all. Just cultivate them to keep weeds out, and when you water them give them a thorough soaking. Cut the flowers regularly, using a sloping cut. Don't take all the stem; leave about two inches. About keeping roses alive through the winter don't force them right up to the end of the season. Stop cultivating and don't water them so often. That way they'll slow down and become dormant before they freeze. Then cover them to keep them from freezing. Freezing and thawing is what kills roses—and other things, too!

One more thing you have to remember, if you're going to grow roses successfully. Roses are heavy feeders; they're constantly drawing quantities of food from the soil. Eleven different elements of food, and if even one of these eleven becomes exhausted, your roses will grow sickly, may even die. So be sure you feed them a complete plant food, one that supplies all of these vital elements in balanced proportions.

Norris Dam, first major project constructed by the TVA, cost 38 million dollars and now completed and in operation employs less than 20 persons. Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky is authority for the statement that the same amount of money invested in coal burning electric generating plants would give annual employment in their operation to 20,000 persons.

Phone Company to Make Appeal

George M. Welch, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, has announced that an appeal would be made to the Michigan supreme court from the decision of Ingham Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr in the intrastate toll rate case. Welch's statement follows:

"The Michigan Bell Telephone company will appeal from the decision of Judge Leland W. Carr of the Ingham circuit court upholding an order of the Michigan Public Service commission directing a reduction in intrastate rates to the present level of interstate charges.

"In pegging intrastate toll rates at the same level as interstate, a precedent is established that could upset the company's service development program.

"It is true that the court said its decision was not to be construed as necessarily requiring that intrastate rates conform to interstate rates. As a matter of practice, however, it would appear that the same procedure could take place with every change in interstate rates.

"Rate schedules for toll and exchange service should be—and are—designed to put the service within reach of as many people as economically possible. Both are integral parts of the revenue structure of the telephone business. If this precedent of making intrastate rates conform to interstate rates were followed, then all rates of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, including rates for residence and farm-line service, will be influenced by the rate requirements of the interstate toll service covering the whole country rather than by the policy of serving the greatest possible number of Michigan homes and businesses.

"The questions raised by the lower court's decision are of such importance to the development of the telephone business in Michigan that we have decided to appeal to the highest state court."

A MUDDY RAINSTORM

Iron River (MPA) — West siders thought it had rained mud when they awoke one morning and found windows, automobiles and buildings spattered with dusty drops. The official weather observer, however, explained the phenomena by declaring that rain had carried down with it a suspension of dust blown in from prairie states.

State Government Is Now Living From "Hand to Mouth"

Uses Daily Cash Income to Pay Obligations

(By Gene Allemen)

What happens when a state goes broke?

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown gives the answer in these words:

"It goes broke when its total cash on hand will not cover the total of checks drawn or to be drawn."

Just that has happened to the State of Michigan which has finally reached the end of its financial rope.

Therein is an interesting story of how the state government has gradually assumed, more and more, the financial responsibility of maintaining services in counties, school districts and cities, and how increased spending has drained dry the till. Auditor General Brown presents the picture frankly, comparing the state's budget needs with those of the average family which must stretch income to meet expenses or incur an embarrassing deficit and prospect of bankruptcy.

Once Self-Supporting "Back in 1933 the local units of government were self-supporting," the state official explains in an article prepared for the Ingham County News at Mason, of which he is the publisher.

"Perhaps these might also be called the uncles and aunts who came to live with Mr. and Mrs. Michigan. Or perhaps these local units of government might be the married children and their offspring coming to live with their parents. In any event, the total of all revenues collected by the state are distributed to counties, cities and school districts prior to 1932 did not exceed $40,000,000 a year.

"In 1938 almost exactly one-half of all the money the state of Michigan collected, more than a hundred million dollars, was earmarked and by law was merely collected for and turned over to counties, school districts, cities and townships to be spent by local officials for purposes which formerly were supported entirely from taxes spread locally by local officials or for new purposes conceived since the state at large became a Santa Claus.

"New school aids provided since 1933 consume more than $25,000,000 a year. Demands of county and city relief commissions, always before 1933 supported from local taxes alone, each year absorb nearly $40,000,000 of state cash. Another $30,- own affairs during recent years? What did they do about it? They cut expenses, or faced disaster. The enterprising business man who faced that condition either stimulated his business income or cut his expenses to what he took in. "The state has not done that. Faced with a suddenly reduced state income when the strikes aimed their deadly blows at business back in 1937, the state took on new and added obligations and spent more than ever. The legislature blithely appropriated an extra $100,000,000 for relief when its coffers were already empty. That was merely legalizing embezzlement because in order to pay the bills, trust funds were used.

"And that leads up to the next step in our study. "Michigan's constitution is very rigid in certain respects. It provides that receipts from certain specific taxes must be applied to certain specific purposes. For instance, railroad, telephone, utility and similar taxes go into the primary school interest fund to be divided between the school districts strictly in accordance with constitutional mandate. Motor, vehicle and gasoline taxes are very definitely earmarked for road maintenance and improvement and cannot be expended otherwise. They should not be even borrowed for general fund expenditures, but, unfortunately, they are.

"Borrowing From Peter "The last sentence in the foregoing paragraph shows how the state can get so far in the red and still pay. The state merely puts off the day when it must temporarily in its general fund and uses the money to pay its current bills whenever the revenues intended and provided for general fund expenses fall below its general fund expenses.

"But there finally comes a time in state management just as it will in private venture when this practice leads to grief.

It has happened in Michigan. Last January the general fund deficit stood in excess of $10,000,000. Expenses and demands upon the state since that day have each and every day exceeded daily receipts available for general fund purposes. On the last day of this present month of 1939 the general fund deficit will exceed $31,000,000. The deficit is unavoidable and unescapable.

"The state can do this because its total trust fund balances exceed this sum. Red ink is offset by black ink.

"Not All Funds in Cash "But that does not explain how the state can go broke and not be able to meet its bills. Well, the explanation of this is the fact the state does not have all its funds in cash. The law provides that sinking funds can be used against outstanding state obligations—highway bonds voted back in 1921, war and soldier bonus bonds, etc.—must be invested in interest-bearing securities. This is indeed fortunate. Otherwise when the state funds fall behind and nothing from which to pay them and the people would thus be taxed a second time to pay the debts they represent.

"What happened last week, then, when the state went broke? Well, one morning there came into the hands of the auditor general with instructions to pay it out, all in strict accordance with law, a sum of more than $2,000,000. The auditor general naturally inquired of the treasurer how his liquid cash stood. The auditor general found that there was only $3,400,000 cash on deposit in all the banks of the state in which the state treasurer carries his deposits.

"How It Happened "The books of the auditor general showed that checks totaling more than $2,000,000 had already been sent out but had not yet been presented to the treasury for payment. You know

New York Exposition Outdoes Chicago's Century of Progress

Fair Visitors See This City on Display

(By ELTON R. EATON)

To visit "The World of Tomorrow Exposition" in New York and find the city of Plymouth highlighted in two of the most popular exhibits at the fair was the interesting experience of the writer a few days ago.

Probably the most prominently displayed features of the great Macy store exhibition are the products of the Daisy Manufacturing company of this city.

Indeed, it was a surprise when viewing the thousands and thousands of newly designed toys for boys and girls to discover in one of the most conspicuous places in the great exhibition hall, the words "Daisy Air Rifles" placed over an interesting exhibit of the products of the Daisy plant. All the various models of the Plymouth factory were featured—and are the boys, as well as their elders interested! It does one good to stand for a few minutes and see the youngsters of yesterday and today look over the display.

But the Daisy company was not the only one that saw to it that Plymouth "is on the map" at the New York exposition.

Henry Ford has also done his part in a big way. As one walks through the wonderful Ford exhibit, there will be discovered a perfect landscape reproduction of this part of Wayne county, showing the location of various Ford factories in Plymouth, Newburg, Waterford, Nankin, Northville and Phoenix.

Automatically every few seconds, there appears in front of the reproductions of the various Plymouth, Phoenix and other factories, a card showing the number of people employed in each one of the plants along the Rouge river.

Not only are the factory buildings perfectly reproduced in miniature, but Wilcox pond, Phoenix lake, Newburg lake, Waterford pond, and Rouge river are shown as one would see them from an aeroplane.

Along Plymouth road and other thoroughfares in this part of Wayne county, New York exposition visitors see miniature Ford trucks, touring cars, Lincoln Zephyrs and Mercurys traveling in every direction.

The reproduction is intended to reveal to the hundreds of thousands who view it each week what Mr. Ford has done towards decentralizing his industry and at the same time combining industrial and farming activities. Let it also be said that the Ford exhibit of which the above is but a small part, is by far one of the most interesting at the New York fair. General Motors and the DuPont displays are doubtless the other two highlights of the exposition.

Expenses? If any one knows anything about New York City, the question is a needless one. It is just a case of being careful and knowing in advance just what you are going to pay. It costs 75 cents to get in the fair gate. The 75 cents will provide one with plenty of sight-seeing for a day and night without another cent of expenditure. One can see all of the industrial exhibits without spending a penny. As a matter of fact if the industrial exhibitions were removed from the fair, there wouldn't be much left worth seeing. Mr. Ford, General Motors and the other major industries have made the fair what it is.

Did you visit the Century of Progress at Chicago? If so, you will have some idea of what the New York show is like. While the World of Tomorrow is a much greater undertaking, the efforts to make it appear something different than the Chicago exhibition have not been very successful. But errors of the Chicago exposition have not been duplicated. It will be recalled that it was with the greatest of difficulty that one could find a place to sit and rest at Chicago. New Yorkers have seen to it that the exposition grounds are filled with comfortable seats everywhere. Prices of meals on the grounds are not high. A fairly good lunch can be secured for 40 cents. One can buy much more if desired. Soft drinks sell for the same prices that prevail outside the grounds.

It would seem that the fair planners would deem it a good money making proposition to provide ten-cent transportation between various exhibits. Cruising fairgrounds taxis of some sort would eliminate a lot of complaint about distances to be covered. You will walk, walk, walk and do plenty of it.

Fountains, pools and waterfalls are everywhere to be found. Planners certainly used good judgment in the use of water and statuary for artistic purposes.

The Ford exhibit is holding first place in public interest. Figures published in New York newspapers a few days ago showed that up to June 15 the attendance at the Ford exhibit

A huge expansion of the United States army air corps will begin Saturday, July 1, when first enrollees will take entrance tests at Randolph Field, Texas, focal point of the program which will train about 4,000 new pilots in the next 18 months. A new class of 370 will enter training every six weeks. Photo shows Major J. M. Hargreaves, director of ophthalmology in the school of aviation medicine at Randolph Field, examining a new cadet in the Primeter test for measuring the visual field of form and color. Forty-five out of 50 rejections are caused by eye defects and high blood pressure.

was 2,060,512; General Motors, 1,375,000; Goodrich, 1,203,301; and the City of Light, 1,250,000.

Ladies will be especially interested in the DuPont exhibit. While it is impossible to show the process, there is a display of "silk" hosiery made from coal—yes, good old West Virginia lump soft coal—made into an attractive hosiery as is produced by genuine silk mills. So interested was the Madam that she brought back a piece of the thread that goes to make up the material. It will probably be fall or early winter before the hosiery made from lump coal will be on the retail market. The company, however, is right now producing tooth brushes, the bristles of which are made from soft lump coal. These are already on the market.

According to officials of the exposition, the attendance up to the present time has been twice that of the Century of Progress during its first few weeks of existence. While attendance records have not been up to expectations, they have been good.

The exposition is worth seeing—but know where you are going to stay and know what you are going to pay before you set foot inside New York.

Home Storage Space Essential

Richwine Tells of New Requirements

"Lack of adequate closet and storage space is one of the greatest contributing factors to making an otherwise good house obsolete and of low resale value," said Perry W. Richwine, secretary-treasurer of the Plymouth Federal Savings and Loan association.

A new standard of closet space requirements and arrangements for all homes under the savings and loan plan has been adopted by the Michigan League and the home financing institutions are cooperating in construction supervision of new homes to maintain the new standards throughout the state.

Mr. Richwine warns that the current trend toward economy houses may prove hazardous to the residential real estate market in years to come, in addition to being less serviceable than the prospective owner believes the home will be, unless the financing institutions and the contractors guard against the universal tendency to affect economies in floor space by the elimination of closets.

In many metropolitan areas throughout the state where the number of residential permits have almost doubled the 1938 records, far too many homes are going up which will eventually be a drag on the market, simply because $250 to $400 was dropped off the construction costs by eliminating needed closet space. The houses serve the original owner from the day he moves in, in a makeshift manner, and if the day ever comes when he wants to sell—the obvious lack of storage space will be even more obvious to prospective buyers.

A Michigan manufacturing concern has recently completed practical studies on the adequate and minimum closet space for a typical six-room house, and has determined that the house could be serviceable with 90 cubic feet on the first floor and 455 cubic feet on the second and third.

However, for an additional $250 or $300, these minimum spaces could be made adequate and the cubic space devoted to closets more than doubled. The following table of adequate storage space has been authorized by the Public Relations Committee of the Michigan Building and Loan League for recommendation by savings and loan associations to prospective home builders:

Adequate Closets—Typical 6-room house
Floor	Adequate	Cu. Ft.
First Floor	Hall or cloak closet	3'-6" x 3'-6" 110
	Cleaning closet	2'-6" x 3'-6" 79

GROWING.

There is no other branch of the government which provides quite such an accurate index of the development of a community as its postoffice. If the postal receipts and business of a local postoffice dwindle year after year, it is a sure sign that the business of the town or city is on the downgrade. If, on the other hand, the trend is constantly upward, that is sure proof that the city is growing.

Postmaster Frank Learned has just announced that the Plymouth postoffice will become a first class office July 1. That means that the business of Plymouth has grown to such an extent that this city will now have all of the advantages of a first class postoffice, with proper additional compensation for those who conduct this rapidly expanding business. Outside of Plymouth, there are only three other cities in Wayne county that have first class postoffices.

This city is growing, and growing rapidly—and it will continue to grow as the years roll on. Why? Because the city is made up of the right sort of people.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE?

An attempt has been made to raise considerable ado about the appointment of Dr. H. A. Moyer as state health commissioner to take the place of Dr. Don Gudakunst who was appointed by former Governor Frank Murphy.

Let's see, was there a vacancy in the position when Dr. Gudakunst was appointed?

No there was not. In order for the former governor to appoint Dr. Gudakunst, his personal friend, it was necessary for him to remove Dr. C. C. Slemmons, who had served the state for years as health commissioner. Dr. Slemmons won the reputation of being one of the best health commissioners in the United States. His services to Michigan in advanced health administration placed the state in first position among all the commonwealths of the Union.

If memory serves correctly the "groups" who are now making such a protest over the change made by Governor Dickinson, made no such objection when Dr. Slemmons was fired by Ex-Governor Murphy.

About the only thing characteristic of the administration of the retiring health commissioner has been his attempts to continue the work of Dr. Slemmons, of course with the credit going to Dr. Gudakunst instead of the man who really made the state health department such an outstanding branch of the state government.

In view of what happened to Dr. Slemmons two years ago the protests now being made pertaining to the Moyer appointment have a distinct tinge of just ordinary, everyday party politics.

ADVERTISING.

Information given in an address before the summer meeting of the Michigan Press Association at Grand Haven last week by Miles A. Nelson, director of the Bureau of Agriculture Industry of the Department of Agriculture, pertaining to the results of state advertising of predominant fruit and vegetable crops, is of more than ordinary interest.

Director Nelson's address was based upon Michigan's efforts to regain markets that have been lost to other states as the result of effective advertising. While Mr. Nelson is a new man on his job, he displayed a keen knowledge of the situation and apparently knows just what to do about it. Michigan, it will be recalled, has just made an appropriation for advertising to be used in an effort to help sell Michigan products.

Said Mr. Nelson, in part, in his timely and well prepared address:

"Michigan has shown a more rapid progress in marketing problems than has probably ever been shown by any state. While it is true that Washington, Maine, Idaho, California, Florida and New York have conducted extensive advertising campaigns, I would like to point out the start that these states have had on Michigan. These states were confronted years ago with problems of surpluses in certain products and recognized the necessity of boosting these particular products. They laid the ground work first with rigid inspections and then proceeded to ADVERTISE. Michigan was fortunate in having near-by markets and it has only been in recent years that the advertising of other states have gained apt taken away some of these markets of Michigan.

"When these out-state producers began to enter Michigan, the producers were prompt in recognizing that Michigan should put up a fight for these markets. The first thing necessary in the opinion of the Department of Agriculture was to prove that Michigan had an ample supply of first class merchandise and since the fall of 1937, over 38,000 cars of Michigan farm produce of first class graded quality has been shipped in and from this state. No other state has had such a volume of products inspected in the infancy of their programs. This demonstrates to the Department of Agriculture that the producers are whole-heartedly in favor of an intelligent marketing and inspection program and we feel that we have reached the point where it is a safe and sound program to advertise Michigan farm produce.

"The funds that are available are limited and we realize that coordination of every program will be necessary to bring about full value for every dollar spent. We must keep an educational program among the producers in Michigan and we must recapture Michigan's market for Michigan's farm products. We have studied various methods and we are fully acquainted with the efforts of Michigan editors to promote Michigan sugar. There was a real obstacle to overcome because of the housewives' prejudice against beet sugar for canning purposes.

"There is a similarity in our present problems to the problem faced by the beet industry and we feel that there is no better medium than the Michigan press to solve the problems of distribution of Michigan's farm produce within the state."

MICHIGAN IN FIRST PLACE!

There has been much said during the past five or six years about the alleged low wages paid workers by Michigan industries. In fact, if one were to believe all of the wild assertions that have been made by yowling politicians and would-be reformers, Michigan pays its workers about the smallest wage of any state in the nation.

These wild assertions have been constantly disputed, but notwithstanding the efforts to offset the statements, there are many who are willing and anxious to believe that which is not true.

From the press service of the Social Security Board in Washington, The Plymouth Mail this week received information which disputes all of the claims of low wages paid in this state and places Michigan in FIRST place as to the average wage paid industrial workers.

So interesting is this data that The Mail is publishing it in full, as follows:

Men below the age of 45, working in covered industry and commerce in the Great Lakes states received 72 percent of the more than six million dollars paid in wages to all male workers covered by old-age insurance in these five states in 1937, according to the Social Security Board's Bureau of Old-Age Insurance.

The old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act covers all employment except in certain industries excluded by the act, and levies taxes on all wages earned in such employment except those in excess of $3,000 from any one employer, and those earned by individuals over 65 years of age.

Citing statistics on Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin from a survey of old-age insurance wage records, John J. Corson, Director of the Bureau, pointed out that the proportion of total reported wages received by men under 45 ranged from 75 percent in Michigan to 70 percent in Illinois and Ohio, with Indiana showing 73 percent and Wisconsin 71 percent.

In covered employment in all five of these states, men from 40 to 45 received higher average wages as determined by these reports than those in any other 5-year age group. Michigan had the highest average, with covered workers between 40 and 45 earning average taxable wages of $1,585. Men of 40 to 45 in covered employment in Illinois were in second place with average taxable wages of $1,529. Ohio's $1,500 average for this age group held third place, and Wisconsin stood fourth with $1,494. The state in the group of five East North Central states with the lowest average taxable wages at 40 to 45 was Indiana, with men in this age group received $1,367 in covered employment.

In all age brackets up to the age of 45, men workers in covered employment in Michigan received the highest taxable wages. Between 45 and 50, male wage earners in covered employment in Illinois came to the front with an average of $1,506, with Michigan's average standing at $1,497. Thereafter, up to age 65, covered workers in Illinois had the highest average wages. Ohio's average taxable wages equalled the Michigan average—$1,427 for those between 50 and 55. From that age onward to 65 the downward trend in taxable wages was slightly less marked in both Ohio and Illinois than it was in Michigan. The average taxable wage paid to men between 60 and 65 in each of the five states was: Illinois $1,295; Ohio, $1,263; Michigan, $1,227; Wisconsin, $1,161; and Indiana, $1,098.

To young men in covered employment—those from 20 to 25 years old—the highest average taxable wages—$918—were paid in Michigan. Ohio's average for men in that age group—$795, was second. The lowest average for covered workers in that age group was $680, paid in Wisconsin. Between the Wisconsin and Ohio averages came those of Illinois and Indiana with $765 and $730, respectively.

PROPER CONSIDERATION.

The Plymouth Mail has so frequently commented with favor upon the various officials' acts of the city commission, that the practice is becoming more or less a habit. But the commission seems to have the public slant on most questions and therefore is entitled to this favorable comment. It would probably create more interest if comment was otherwise, but that is not in keeping with good public policy. The other night petitions were signed by some 186 residents on the north side of the city, protesting against the proposed opening of a dance hall in the neighborhood. Practically every person in the section, which is mostly residential, signed the petitions. Favorable action was based upon the petitions, it is stated. That is as it should be. Elective officials are supposed to act in accordance with the wishes of the people—and the right to petition is one of the methods of expressing public sentiment, providing the signers understand the question—and in this case they did.

YOUR DISPOSITION

An old Quaker was watering his cow at the town well one morning when the new neighbor drove his horse up to the trough.

"What kind of people live here?" asked the newcomer.

"What kind of people did they live amongst where they came from?" asked the Quaker.

"Oh it was a good place to get away from. The people were always taking advantage of me and were small and mean."

"I am sorry, neighbor. They will find the same here."

And the man did. He quarreled with all who would quarrel and soon moved on.

In a few months another family came to the same town. The Quaker met the new neighbor at the well. The same question was asked by the stranger. Again the Quaker asked his question.

"What kind of people did we have where we moved from?"

"The best and dearest people on the earth," was the reply. "We wept in sorrow to leave them."

"Be of good cheer! They will find just as good and beautiful people here," said the old man. And the new stranger did.

Man is largely the architect of his own fortunes. The disturbing elements we experience in life are largely in our own mind.

If we look on things with a sour eye, they are naturally going to appear sour to us. If we see things under bright colors, that brightness will be reflected back to us. We must first get a proper disposition for ourselves, then we shall find that we live in an atmosphere that fits such a happy disposition.

A SIGNIFICANT STATEMENT

For some time there has been speculation as to the identity of the person scheduled to receive the backing of the two bosses who dictate the Republican conventions, Miller Dunckel and Tom Read have been mentioned. So has Melville McPherson. Recently, however, a weekly journal backed financially by Frank McKay came across with a big boost for Howard Lawrence, former state treasurer and former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. Such a "plunk" may or may not indicate that Mr. Lawrence will be the next "McKay" candidate—but at least it appears to be highly significant. It will be interesting to watch developments. So far Mr. Lawrence's name has been mentioned in this one journal alone.—Richard Cook in The Hastings Banner.

HE SAYS SOMETHING

Our august body of legislators at Lansing is working hard for the interests of Mr. and Mrs. John Public. Three very important measures have passed or are seriously being considered in this body. The body has even forbidden the docking of horses tails; have forbidden dentists to advertise in other than the professional directories, and they cannot advertise prices, guaranteed satisfaction, etc. Now they are devoting their profound intelligence to make barbers remove the striped pole or sign used to call attention to their business, to advertise prices and otherwise dignify their profession. Meanwhile such silly things as budget balancing, labor legislation, social security, school legislation and other trivial matters are side-tracked until important matters are taken care of.—Paul McDonald in The Otsego County (Gaylord) Herald.

JOB SEEKERS

To dodge the job seekers members of the Civil Service Commission when in Lansing take rooms in hotels under different names to avoid the requests that come in from many departments and individuals. Last week while at my own newspaper office 37 people in the county called to see about jobs in both the unclassified and classified divisions, for many think the Civil Service department has the say who should work and who should not get state jobs. Personally we like to see many of the positions come to our own county and the Seventh district, but as a warning to job seekers, it is the duty of the commission to administer the law and not give jobs, only through the examination route.—William Irving in The Sandusky Republican-Tribune.

MOST PEOPLE ARE HONEST—SO BEWARE!

Likely 99 people out of 100 are honest. This is to say, they can be depended upon not to be swindlers, gyp artists, slickers or what have you. Because of this, the occasional crook has a rather easy time of it—until he is caught. Take a drive through several states, meet and talk with people. Most of them are like you and me—just common folks trying to make a living.

The crook knows this. He studies the habits and manner of speech of honest folks. He anticipates all the questions which he will be asked to prove his honesty. He has a plausible answer for every question. That's his business. He takes advantage of the widespread confidence that the average honest person has in humanity.

For several years there has been a dearth of good investments. It used to be easy to invest in safe securities which would yield 4 per cent to 5 per cent. Today these same securities, if they can be bought at all, are selling of a 2 per cent or a 2 1/2 per cent basis. The crook knows this. He knows that people who depend upon their investments for their incomes are having a hard time. He offers something that he promises will yield a greater return. Too frequently his intended victims are old people—more than frequently they are aged widows. Such people invariably have been honest, upright citizens for so many years that they are totally incapable of suspecting or detecting crookedness in another. It may sound unkind to say it . . . but the facts are they are just plain gullible.

There is one institution in every community which is better equipped to safeguard transfers, purchases and sales of negotiable securities than almost any other. We refer to your hometown bank. It is a pretty good test of the average stranger's honesty to invite him to complete his deal through the local bank. If he hesitates or is unwilling—if he offers a plausible excuse for not going to the bank—that is a pretty good time to call the sheriff and force the gentleman to prove his identity and provide references.

False pride of the victim is frequently another protection for the crook. Too often people who have been victimized and swindled are so ashamed of it that they refuse to take action against him. It is true that their chances for recovery of their losses are generally nil. There is one way that all this can be avoided, viz.
