Plymouth O. E. S. Entertains High Officers

Mrs. Carley Selected as Officer for Grand Rapids Meeting

Last week was an outstanding one for the Plymouth chapter of Eastern Star. For the first time in its history members had the honor of entertaining the Grand Officers of the Star when they celebrated the Plymouth Order's forty-fifth birthday last Tuesday evening.

Another important event was the selection of the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Ann Carley, as a Grand Page for the Grand Chapter meeting which is to be held in Grand Rapids in October. This also was the first time such an honor has been received by the Plymouth chapter.

Mrs. Floyd Eckles was in charge of the kitchen arrangements, Tuesday evening, and Mrs. Melvin Moles directed preparations for the dining room. Mrs. Carley presided, introducing the distinguished officers of the Grand Order of the Michigan Chapter after which the members went to the chapter room where Mrs. Florence Ryckman and her staff of Grand Officers took charge of the meeting.

Worthy Matron Carley was complimented for being able to bring the Grand Officers to Plymouth to exemplify the work. Friday evening the Eastern Star, under the direction of Mrs. Carley, prepared a banquet for the Masonic lodge at which time there was a large number present. A program was presented which was enjoyed by all.

Bowlers Given Another Trophy

Dr. John A. Ross announced yesterday that he will award a silver bowling pin to the man that scores the highest individual game during the bowling season in the new Parkview Recreation this year.

The trophy will be placed on display in The Plymouth Mail window sometime early next week and the award will be made to the fortunate high bowler at the bowling banquet by Dr. Ross next fall. League bowling is well under way in the new alleys and the only stipulation made by Dr. Ross is that the bowler who makes the high score must be a resident of Plymouth or its rural routes.

SANDWICHES MAINSTAYS OF SUMMER MENUS
(See Recipe Below)

'Make Mine a Ham on Rye'

Sandwiches in all their delightful variety are the mainstays of summer menus. Grilled sandwiches make a "one-dish meal" for lunch or supper; substantial sandwiches with hearty fillings make a satisfying picnic lunch; and dainty "tea sandwiches," served with a frosted beverage, are perfect for a party.

But it keeps a woman's wits working overtime to provide sandwiches that are new and different! And new and different they must be, if they're to retain the appetite appeal which makes them popular.

Success With Sandwiches.
1. Use bread that is a day old.
2. Cream the butter—don't melt it.
3. Whatever the filling, use plenty of it.
4. Keep sandwiches moist for several hours by wrapping them in wax paper or in a clean cloth wrung out of hot water.

5. Remember to use a variety in breads, as well as fillings—whole wheat, rye, graham, oatmeal, brown bread, raisin bread, nut bread and orange bread all make delicious sandwiches.
6. Use left-over sandwiches for next day's lunch or supper by "french toasting" them—merely dip the sandwiches in beaten egg, pan fry them on both sides, and serve hot with a garnish of watercress or sweet pickle.

Balsin Orange Filling for Sandwiches.
(Makes 8-10 sandwiches)
2 cups raisins
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
4 tablespoons orange juice
Grind the raisins, add orange rind and juice and blend well. Use with white or whole wheat bread.

Banana Butter Filling.
(Makes 1 cup filling)
1 ripe banana
1/2 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup dates (cut fine)
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Mash banana with a fork and thoroughly blend in remaining ingredients.

Mayonnaise Sandwich Loaf.
1 loaf bread
1 head lettuce
1/2 cup boned chicken
1/2 cup mayonnaise dressing
3 slices broiled bacon
1 medium sized tomato
1/2 package cream cheese
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Ripe olives,
Celery

Remove crusts and slice a medium sized loaf of bread lengthwise in three long slices. Place crisp lettuce leaves on the slice and add a layer of boned chicken. Spread a second slice of bread with mayonnaise dressing and place dressing side down, on the chicken. Add crisp broiled bacon and thin sliced tomatoes as the sandwich filling on this second layer. Spread tomatoes with mayonnaise dressing and top with third long slice of bread. Mix 3 to 4 packages softened cream cheese with one tablespoon prepared mustard and frost the loaf. Garnish with ripe olives and parsley. Slice as for any ordinary loaf of bread. Serve on individual plates.

Hot Peanut Butter Sandwiches.
Toast 5 slices of bread on one side only. Then spread untoasted side with 1/2 cup peanut butter, and then with 1/4 cup chili sauce. Top with slices of bacon and broil slowly until bacon is slightly browned and crisp. Serve with gherkin pickle fans.

Sandwich Spread.
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup milk
2 eggs (slightly beaten)
1/2 cup vinegar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
6 tablespoons soft butter
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
1/4 cup pimiento (chopped)
1/2 cup olives (chopped)
2 tablespoons pickle (chopped)
1 tablespoon green pepper (chopped)

In a double boiler place the mustard, sugar, salt and milk. Blend in eggs and vinegar, and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from flame, and add remaining ingredients. Store in refrigerator until using.

Savory Sandwich Filling.
1 pound American cheese
1/2 pound dried beef
1 cup condensed tomato soup
Run cheese and beef through food chopper, then moisten with the tomato soup. You will find that this filling will keep indefinitely if stored in the refrigerator.

WORTH REMEMBERING

Brown paper moistened in vinegar will polish tins until they shine like silver.

Save all paraffin as you remove it from your preserves and jelly.

A man's pipe cleaner makes an excellent device for cleaning the spout of the coffee or tea pot.

Emptying a cream whipper and bowl is wasteful unless one takes time to scrape them carefully.

To prevent sugar from forming in preserves or jam, add a teaspoon of corn sirup to the contents of each pint.

When the faucets in your bathroom need polishing take a soft cloth wet in kerosene and it will brighten them instantly without injury.

Instead of peeling whole apples, first cut them in half, then in quarters, cut out the core and then peel. This is a great time saver.

Instead of peeling potatoes or scraping carrots, scrub same with a chore ball, and skins will come off easily without waste.

For a Brighter Effect
Interior decorators have now decided that the use of a deep color on ceilings raises them, instead of lowers, as has been usually thought. A new trick is to carry the side wall paper up onto the ceiling about 10 inches, instead of dropping the "relief" color down on the sides. This creates an optical illusion of greater height.

Night School to Begin Monday

nesday evening from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock. A series of 10 lessons may be chosen from one or more of the following topics: Meal planning and preparing, home nursing aids, how to get the most for your dollar, clothing selection, feeding the young child and planning and furnishing the home.

Mrs. Anthony Matulis will teach a course in current book appreciation each Wednesday night from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock. The newest fiction and non-fiction books will be reviewed and discussed. She has planned that the course will be for discussion rather than for the reviewing of these books. Mrs. Matulis has had much experience in high school and college teaching. She also has taught evening school work.

Students who are not in school at the present time but would like to continue their high school work toward credit for graduation will be particularly interested in a course in American history which is to be given by James Latture.

Carvel Bentley will teach a course in social problems for the apprentice students who are out of school but have not completed their apprentice training course. This class will meet Wednesday nights.

Requests for additional courses should be made not later than Wednesday night, October 4, announced Principal Dykhouse. He stated that the fee will be the same as last year; that is, $2.50 per 10-week course.

Religion School to Convene Monday, October 2

Plymouth to Be Host to Students From 16 Communities

Starting October 2, the fifth annual School of Religion will convene for six Monday evenings from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock through November 8, at the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth. The school is interdenominational for the churches of Plymouth, Northville, Newburg, Novi, Rose-dale Gardens, Salem, Dixboro, Garden City, Farmington, South Lyon, New Hudson and the surrounding countryside. Training for Christian service and Christian living is the purpose of the school which is to be open with a Rally Fellowship supper and the first night of the session. The supper will begin at 6:30 and at 7:30 there will be a 45-minute period of worship. At 7:45 a representative from each church will be asked to tell of some outstanding or unique experience during the last year in the spirit of sharing for mutual advantage. The faculty will then be introduced and will explain their courses.

There are four courses offered by the school. A student may take any one of them. A course will be offered in Personal Religious Living, led by Rev. Howard Chapman, pastor of the Northville Baptist church and formerly director of Baptist student work at the University of Michigan.

The Use of Music in Christian Education is a course that is to be taught by Nellie Beatrice Huger, president of the Detroit Guild of Church Musicians, Detroit Council of Churches, and Aileen Smith, department of Sacra-mental Music, Detroit Guild of Church Musicians. The purpose of this course is to help leaders in making music contribute to Christian growth, considering principles for the selection and use of music, and instrumental music, its adaptation to different types of groups, and the qualifications of leaders.

Della Green, Children's Director of the Michigan Baptist convention and Lottie Livingstone, of Northville, who is experienced in children's work, will teach a course in Guiding Children in Christian Growth. This course deals with the best methods to be used by teachers of classes and others who are responsible for guiding the Christian growth of children on the basis of an understanding of how learning takes place.

Building and Administering a Total Youth Program, led by the Rev. Delmer C. Stubbs, pastor of the Farmington Methodist church, will answer the following questions: What goals to have and how to determine them; what steps to take in building a youth program; what leaders to have and what their functions should be; what materials to use and what records to keep.

Rev. Stanford S. Closson, pastor of the Plymouth Methodist church, is dean of the school and Mrs. Mildred Barnes is registrar.

Can Yankees Capture World Series Once More?

"Residents of Bad Mergentheim were the first we encountered who seemed to voice their disapproval of Hitler and his ideals. All the men there were serving military duty and the women and older people had to do the farming. One hundred acres of land is considered a large farm in Germany."

Mrs. Ruehr's birthplace is at Bad Mergentheim. She visited her mother and relatives there for two days. On August 9, she used to be the mayor of the town and asked the whereabouts of her brother who is in the German army. The mayor, on learning of Mrs. Ruehr's German nationality, tried to force her to stay there and help with the work on the farm.

Mrs. Ruehr's brother was with the army at Aldenburg, it was learned, and he made arrangements to take them to the boat. "We noticed that the stewards were uneasy the first day out from Hamburg," the Plymouth woman said, "but we were so glad to be started for America that we didn't think much about the peculiar action. We were assigned regular tables at which to eat. The third morning out when we came down to breakfast one of the boys noticed that the table seemed to be on the wrong side of the boat, but later we learned that it appeared so because during the night the boat had been ordered back to port as the war had begun with Poland."

All members and friends of the church are urged to attend this celebration of the Lord's supper, which is of unusual meaning because the observance is world-wide in Protestant churches on this one day of the year.

requent trips to the city where he and his sister could make plans for her exodus from the country. It was doubly difficult for her to get out because of her German birth.

"I decided to consult the American consulate and he advised that I write home for money. This was just before Labor day so we had to wait a few days before the money could be sent."

The port town from which the Ruehrs sailed from Holland was Flissegem. From Rotterdam they had to take a train to that city. There were 1100 persons on the train, all of whom were planning to get out of Europe. Many of these people were American students who were vacationing and studying there. The Ruehrs booked passage on the Volvendam.

"So crowded was the boat that many beds were made up in the salon and dining room," Mrs. Ruehr said. During the first two nights out the boat stopped for fear mines were planted in the waters between Holland and England.

"We stopped in England where we saw and talked to survivors of an English boat, the Athena, which was sunk by a submarine in the first days of the war. "The present war in Europe is a terrible thing for the German people. They were just getting to a point where they could afford a few of the better things in life. Prices are very high now. An example of this is the enormous price of 20 cents each for eggs," she added.

"Germany is a changed country from what it was when I lived there. Now I wouldn't go back there to live for anything. It was good to see all my relatives and friends again and we would have a very pleasant memory of Europe, if it had not been for the war," she concluded.

Legislative Delegation of Authority to State Crippled Children Commission Is Strongly Defended

Van De Walker Points Out That Commission Never Had Control of Funds Until This Year

Hugh E. van de Walker, chairman of the Michigan Crippled Children commission, in a statement today made reply to criticisms regarding over drafts on appropriations for the care of crippled and afflicted children under the state law and pointed to savings amounting to millions of dollars resulting from the rehabilitation of crippled children, who might otherwise have continued as public charges.

"We have been criticized over a long period of time for the amount of money expended for the care of children," said Mr. van de Walker, "but that is the present time when we have utterly without control over those expenditures because the legislature, until this year, had seen fit not to confer upon us any authority for the commitment of these children nor any control over the length of time they were allowed to remain under treatment or in hospitals.

direct bid for overdrafts and trouble. In each county the probable judge could commit children when satisfied that the family of the patient could not bear the cost, and the cost of care then became a charge on the state or, in some cases, on the county. There was no centralized control.

"Under the new law commitments are to be cleared in advance of actual treatment through the commission at Lansing, where the outgo can be measured to the money available.

"I believe we can assure the people of Michigan that there will be no overdrafts against the appropriations this year, even though the persons have been allotted to counties so small that some counties will not be able to care for even one crippled child, unless the legislature provides further funds.

"For example, Oscoda county has a monthly allotment of $9.09 for the care of crippled children, a total of $109.08 for the year. The cost of the care of crippled children in that county for 1937-38 was $1,978.80. The situation is quite similar in Roscommon county, whose monthly allotment is $10.13, a total of $121.56 for the year. Expenses there in 1937-38 were $616.64. Montmorency county will receive $14.50 a month, a total of $174.00 for the year, and the total cost there for 1937-38 was $345.05.

"The average cost of care per case was approximately $155.00. Can you tell me how these counties are going to care for more than one child in a year? There is not one county in the state which will receive more than one-half of what was spent in that county during the last fiscal year."

Mr. van de Walker declared that during the life of the Michigan Crippled Children commission, 8,074 persons have been rehabilitated, that is, physical deficiencies have been corrected and the children have been given vocational training. The latest figures from the Michigan Department of Rehabilitation show that these persons are earning an average of $18.25 per week.

"Taking an even 8,000 rehabilitated persons as the basis of our figures, that would be a total earning for the group of $146,000 per week," continued Mr. van de Walker. "Multiply this by four and you will arrive at the total of $584,000 a month. Now again, multiply the $584,000 by 12 and you have a total income for these rehabilitated people of $7,008,000 a year.

"It is said that the average earning period of time in the life of a person is 40 years. I shall not attempt to figure this out, but you can readily see that it would run into a tremendous sum.

"It seems to me that with all the hullabaloo that has been made over the expense incurred incident to the operation of the Commission when these figures are taken into account the State must have made considerable financial gain by having these people taken out of the 'red' and made self-sustaining persons. In addition to this, many of them are married and are supporting families of their own—others who are unmarried are making contribution toward the support of their families, and in some instances are the sole support.

"It has been stated by an eminent hospital authority in this state that it costs approximately $385.00 per year to maintain an individual in one of the institutions of the state. If this is true, and even one-half of this eight thousand were public charges, as they were before they were found, rehabilitated, educated and taught a trade, the cost of their maintenance before this was done should also be added to their present earnings in order to get a true picture of their status so far as the state is concerned as of today."

New Law to Help Fishermen

Purchase of lands that will assure continued public access to Michigan's best-stocked lakes and streams will be brought a step nearer September 29 when the new inland fish bill, with seven other acts of the 1939 legislature regulating fishing, becomes law. Forty cents of each $1 general rod license which resident fishermen will earn after January 1 is earmarked for land purchase for improvement of lakes and streams and for fisheries research. Plans are now being developed for the purchase of such lands which will consider every section of the state.

The wife of the holder of the new resident's license may fish on her husband's license. But wives of non-resident anglers must secure 50-cent licenses in addition to the $2 season or $1 10-day licenses of their husbands. By a separate act and conservation commission action, non-residents are barred from ice fishing in Branch, Cass, Berrien, Van Buren and St. Joseph counties from January 1 to trout season opening.

Agents other than officers of the conservation department and persons who receive a regular salary from any political subdivision of the state will retain five cents of the fee for each license issued, under the new law. Wholesale minnow dealers will need a $25 license, though for retail minnow dealers the license continues at $3 as at present.

Among the specific changes which become effective January 1 is the fixing of the lake trout catch at five per day, the whitefish catch at seven. Creel limit on smallmouth bass will be raised from five to 10 when taken from the Great Lakes. Bluegills and sunfish may not be taken through the ice between 6 p.m. and 8 a.m. In the lower peninsula the closed season on pike lakes has been extended 15 days and the spearing season has been extended from a month to six weeks. Regulations governing the use of turtle traps have been tightened. Turtle trappers must have fishing licenses, must attach name tags to their traps and must inform the local conservation officer where they are placing them.

Spearing is banned on Houghton lake, Roscommon county.

This is the third in a series of six outstanding diagram plays by leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's new Football Guide.

This is the modified Notre Dame box formation with key back about 5 1/2 to 6 yards back for running, passing and quick kicking. This maneuver has been very effective against aggressive defense linemen because of its passing semblance. The strong-side guard and tackle split on the guard and pick off the two defensive fullbacks, allowing the defensive guard to chase the quarterback who is faking a pass. The quarterback (No. 2) must start back with the snap of the ball and the key must fake giving him the ball as they pass each other. Weakside tackle traps alongside defensive guard; center and guard move weak-side guard and key back (No. 4) breaks to the right across the line of scrimmage, with two men down field for final block off. This fake pass and run up the middle is very useful as check play if your team is essentially a passing team.

New Traffic Law Regulations Soon Effective in Michigan

Following is the second of a series of articles pertaining to new traffic regulations in Michigan that has been prepared by Chief of Police Vaughan Smith:

Article II
Speed Limits

The legal speed limit under Michigan's new traffic law is 25 miles per hour in both business and residential districts. It was formerly 15 miles per hour in business districts and 20 miles per hour in residential districts.

Local authorities may establish higher speed limits in either business or residential districts. In no case may such limits be less than 25 miles per hour.

All highways on which the limit is set in excess of 25 miles an hour must be designated as through highways and adequate signs posted informing the motorist of the permissible speed. Entrances to such highways, Police Chief Vaughan Smith points out, must be posted with stop signs.

Within cities and villages the state highway commissioner may increase speed limits on state highways outside of business districts. Adequate signs will inform motorists of such limits in excess of 25 miles per hour.

Signs are not necessary in business or residential districts except where the limit is in excess of 25 miles per hour. Motorists driving on unmarked streets in either business or residential districts are subject to the 25 mile per hour limitation.

On the open road outside the limits of cities and villages, a safe and prudent speed is lawful. The new law, however, in the case of vehicles towing other vehicles or trailers, set a definite speed limit of 50 miles per hour. This applies especially to house trailers.

Speed Regulations of this act are based on recommendations of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, and puts Michigan in step with other states in a uniform traffic code.

Rotarians Hear of Flying Forces

Plymouth Rotarians heard Lieutenant J. Francis Taylor, an army flyer from Selfridge field, tell about the experiences that a youthful flyer must go through before he wins his place in the army's flying forces, at the meeting held in the Mayflower hotel last Friday noon.

The youthful speaker was the guest of Chairman Blake Gillies, who had charge of the last program of the club.

Of course Mr. Taylor could not tell anything of conditions in the army, but in his narrative of the experiences of a new recruit, he indicated pretty strongly that Uncle Sam's flying forces are superior to that of any other country, as far as this nation knows.

Robert Champe of Plymouth has recently enlisted for services in the flying forces of the United States.

Another examination will be given for statisticians.

Application for the positions announced must be on file with the commission at Washington, D. C., not later than October 16, for residents of this locality.

Full information may be obtained from Mrs. Beatrice Schultz, assistant postmaster, at the Plymouth postoffice.

City Has Nearly 1,500 Phones

At the first of this month there were 1473 telephones in service in the Plymouth exchange, a gain of 10 during the previous month, according to figures that became available today and were announced by J. R. MacLachlan, manager in this area for the Michigan Bell Telephone company.

The company as a whole had 716,190 telephones in service at the first of the month, a gain last month of 4,398, compared with 1,171 the previous month, and of 35,498 since the first of the year, compared with a loss of 1,362 the first eight months of 1938.

At the first of this month there were 272 telephones in service in the Livonia exchange, a gain of four during the previous month, states Mr. MacLachlan.

Suburban Home Burns Friday

The suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Livernois, 37810 Plymouth road near Newburg road, was destroyed by fire Friday morning which started from an overheated coal stove in the rear part of the house.

The Plymouth fire department answered the alarm and had the fire practically under control when the water in the 250-gallon tanks on the truck became exhausted. There are no hydrant connections in that vicinity and before more water could be obtained to fill the tanks, the fire started up again and could not be extinguished by the firemen who attempted to do so by carrying bucketsful from a well.

The Livernois' home was in the process of a complete remodeling. Furniture from downstairs was saved but everything on the second floor was a complete loss. There are several frame homes in the close vicinity but the fire was kept from spreading to them.

Plymouth Rocks Victorious Over Redford Union 13 - 0

Line backs and a constant aerial attack proved to be the two outstanding factors in last Friday's game with Redford Union in which the Plymouth fliers emerged on the long end of a 13-0 score.

Featured in the first quarter were line backs Baker and Prough, Norman and Getteson, along with a 12-yard lobe by Scarpulla that took the Rocks as far as the 13 yard marker but which failed to effect a score.

In the finishing minutes of the first half Jack Baker led the home eleven on a 60 yard touchdown march. Baker carried the ball through the line for six consecutive plays to gain 34 yards and the first down. On the first down after the 34 yard gain Baker took the ball for a yard but the play was called back because of off-sides and Plymouth was penalized five yards. On the next play Getteson cantered around the left end in a sweeping run to pick up nine yards. The next play netted Plymouth a first down by Baker's one-yard buck. Scarpulla promptly spread his wings and sped around left end to set the stage for the next three plays which resulted in a touchdown. Baker and Getteson picked up three yards, and then Baker kicked a pass to Bob Norman, who hauled it in and romped over for the first score of the game. Baker's kick for the point was wide. Plymouth had just kicked off when the half ended with the score 6-0 in her favor.

To open the second half Baker kicked off to Redford Union's end zone and the ball was placed on the 20 yard line. After gaining eight yards in three downs, Redford Union kicked to Norman on the Plymouth 45, but Norman returned the oval to his own 48. After Scarpulla's one yard gain against Baker's pass to Prough was intercepted. On the next play Birchall burst through the charging opposition and brought down the fullback for a six yard loss. The remainder of the frame turned out to be a punt and a passing down with Plymouth turning a 10 yard pass to Norman and a 22 yard gainer to Prough. One player from each team was disqualified from the game for unsportsmanlike conduct.

The opening minutes of the fourth and final frame were composed of an interchange of punts yielding neither team anything. Getteson led by good interference, dashed around left end in a sweeping run that ate up 26 yards of terra firma for a first down. On the next play Plymouth fumbled the ball but Blyton was on his toes and smothered the oval to save much dissatisfaction. After Baker had advanced the ball six yards, Maxey followed by a seven yard line buck by Baker that set Plymouth on the 12 yard mark in scoring position, with four downs to accomplish this task. Baker, after throwing three incomplete passes found his aim and slung the ball at Birchall in the end zone who leaped above three opponents, picked the ball out of the air, and scored the spectacular touchdown. The point after touchdown was converted on a pass to Prough. The score stood 13-0. Baker kicked off to Redford Union and after Plymouth subs took the field she managed two first downs but to no avail as the game ended at this point.

The starting lineups are as follows: Plymouth position Redford Union

DRAMATICS CLASS STUDIES TECHNIQUE

Scene: Miss Ford's room.
Time: Every Tuesday and Thursday, sixth hour.

In spite of the short while school has been going on, there has been a great deal of action in the dramatics class. This is divided into two groups, those who have taken dramatics before and those who have not. Some rules of the technique of acting have been given and the advanced group gave short original plays to demonstrate these rules. The new group also gave some short plays to prove how much they have absorbed thus far.

SENIORS GIFT IS PRACTICAL

Seniors again left their high school to begin a new and thrilling experience out in the world. However, before they said goodbye to Plymouth they presented a gift to show their appreciation. This was obtained from the profits of the collections, dances, and from class dues. It consisted of an electric basket ball score to put up each score by hand.

STUDENTS AND COURSES—EDITORIAL

How many students in attendance at Plymouth high school are on the course for which they are best suited? If that question could be successfully answered, and if steps could be taken toward its furtherance, Plymouth would, indeed, be one of the best schools in the country.

Every fall nearly 200 freshmen enter the high school to pursue studies pertaining to their life work. Plymouth offers the beginner in its school system six courses which embrace widely varying subjects. A boy can train for a trade; he can follow an academic course of higher learning; or he can take the commercial and general courses. Home Economics is a separate course for girls.

Prior to his entering high school it is probable the freshman has thought very little upon his future vocation. Upon registering, school authorities do not have enough time to find the pupils' strong and weak points. Usually, if his parents are agreeable, he is placed on the academic or college course. If not he is named on the general or commercial courses from which, as a junior or senior, he may change studying to the apprentice or machine shop curriculum.

On that day and upon each succeeding Wednesday, Henry Ford furnishes instructors for three classes of Old Time American Dancing. Many students were present at the first class on second hour Wednesday. They filled over half the chairs arranged about the gymnasium. Only one factor barred the way to a successful dancing class. About 95 per cent of the interested students were girls.

The school management machine swung into effect to remedy this inequality of sexes. Coach Matulis recollects a gym class on Tuesdays and Thursdays which might be reached. He accordingly trickled to the library and had a brief talk with each of his charges. He gained several "recruits" to the cause, but in the main studying, even studying, appealed more to the girls than dancing without the class.

After Mr. Matulis had comprised his missionary work, the principal, Mr. Dykhouse, made another attempt to impress upon the library masculine element the importance of learning dancing. This plea elicited several more boys, but still the majority studied.

When Mr. Dykhouse had departed the would-be students heaved sighs of relief. Then came the calamity! With a military step Mr. Dykhouse again entered the library. He announced, "All boys taking gym second hour must go downstairs immediately."

Mr. Ford's dancing teachers hold a well founded hope of an equally matched group next Wednesday.

HAROLD SHULTY AND NORMA JEAN BAUMAN ELECTED 7TH AND 8TH GRADE PRESIDENTS

Norma Jean Bauman of the 8B class was elected president and Harold Shulty of the 7A class was elected to represent the eighth grade in student council. Joe McGarry, another member of the 8B class was elected secretary and treasurer. The elections were held in the home rooms where each group nominated three members for president, student council representative and secretary-treasurer. Then the nominees from all five home rooms were compiled and the elections were voted upon. The class chairman is Mr. Balden.

The result of the finals in the seventh grade was Harold Shulty of the 7A for president; Ralph Schneider for secretary-treasurer and Joe Butler, student council representative. The class chairman of the seventh grade is Miss Rathbun.

EARLY AMERICAN DANCING IS RESUMED

Many students were found forsaking books to trip the light fantastic in the gymnasium Wednesday, September 20, and they will continue this pursuit each Wednesday throughout the semester.

The classes are held the second, third and noon hours. Any boy or girl having physical training the second or third hour is required to take the course unless religion interferes. Those having library these hours may take the course if they wish. The noon hour class is for pupils unable to take the dancing in the morning.

T. V. A. DEBATE SCHEDULE ARRANGED

T. V. A. debaters will follow a schedule of the same nature as last year's, it was decided by a meeting of the association's debate coaches September 19. It was decided to hold five debates with each of the other schools in the league at intervals of one to two weeks. The victors will receive three points toward the league championship. On December 9 following the fifth debate a tournament will be held at which each school will meet all the others. This time they will debate the opposite side of the question. The winners of these debates will receive but one point. The school having the greatest number of points wins the league championship. As last year it will be necessary for each school to have two teams for the tournament.

GLEE CLUB STUDIES HISTORY OF MUSIC

The girls' glee club meets twice a week this year. Its members have been learning the history of music of many countries and then singing the songs of these countries. All the voices have been taught by many have been found very promising.

The northernmost palm belt is at Smith's island, North Carolina.

NEW COURSE IN STRING INSTRUMENTS

There is a new course in string instruments which can be taken by all. It is a course in violin, viola, cello and bass. These class lessons are available without cost. They can be taken three hours of every day taught by Miss Doris L. Hamill, former Detroit Conservatory violin instructor. The school heads are planning a first hour class. Ninth graders can take this course in preference to others and still receive credit for it.

THE ROCKETTES WRITE:

All who wish to contribute to this column please communicate with Miss Allen, Virginia Rock, or your English teacher. The following article was written by Jean R. Crandell, a student of Miss Lovewell's 9B English class: The story I enjoyed most, when a child was "Peter Rabbit." The poem I liked the best was "The Three Little Kittens."

I believe I liked "Peter Rabbit" because I have always liked animals. Also, when Mother read it to me, she made it seem so real that I could just see Peter during his various escapades. Mother said that when I heard the part where the farmer caught him the tears would roll down my cheeks. (Mother started to read to me when I was 19 months old.) However, I invariably brightened up when Peter escaped again.

There is something about "The Three Little Kittens" that I have always loved. I don't know just what it was but there was something. I have always liked kittens, (as we have always had a great variety of cats and kittens at home, sometimes as many as five at a time) but I don't believe that was the main reason. I had a "Bookhouse" book with a copy of the "Three Little Kittens" in it. I liked that book so well that, instead of a doll, I would take it to bed with me. I used to open the book so much that at a certain page (I guess you can guess which) and ask Mother to read a certain poem so much that the page got quite worn out and had to be replaced by another.

MY MAN

(By Doris Dubee)
Oh girls, you should see him, He's six feet two,
His hair is brown and his eyes are blue.
His car's not his own, still he doesn't drive slow,
He'll take me wherever I wish to go.
He just loves to dance and tries to sing,
To any old thing just so it's swing.
But girls (you should know) to keep you think it's a sin
To keep seven in tow and wear his pin!

FALL COMES FALLING

(By Constance Mills)
Trees are beginning to look bare
Nature has given them their share.
Because no more leaves they bear
They're bidding the earth farewell.

This means work for most of us
But it's all worth the time
Don't let your rake stand still and rust
Rake even your neighbor's lawn
for a dime.

MISS LICKLY VISITS NEW ZEALAND

The trip described in this article, the first of a series of the faculty's tours, was taken by Miss Sarah Lickly, an instructor of Plymouth Junior high, her sister, Miss Ruth Lickly, of Detroit, and a friend also from Detroit.

New Zealand, "The Scenic Playground of the Pacific," is a land of brilliant sunshine and natural wonders. To reach this land of charm and beauty, they traveled 23,000 miles, over half of which was on the Pacific ocean. The ocean voyage, one way alone, was 6,300 miles and took 18 days. They drove across the United States to Victoria, B. C. where they left the car. From here, they sailed for Auckland July 10 on the R.M.S. Manuara. Enroute they made stops at Honolulu and Suva, Fiji. They crossed the equator on July 16 and three days later when they crossed the International Date Line, there was no July 19. They arrived in Auckland July 24.

New Zealand is 1,200 miles from Australia. It is a separate dominion of the British Empire, and is a country of itself with its own government. While there, they rented a small English car and in their two weeks' stay they added 3,000 miles. The gasoline was expensive, often as high as 50 cents a gallon, but they averaged 40 miles to a gallon.

New Zealand consists of North Island, South Island, and Stewart Island. Looking at a map of New Zealand upside down, the chief part of the group is like a great boot with its sole turned toward the equator and the toes turned toward Australia. North Island is the foot of the boot, South Island is the leg, and little Stewart Island is the loop through which one puts his finger to pull the boot on. On these islands there are 17 ports with harbors deep enough to accommodate ocean-going vessels.

New Zealand is a land of lofty mountains, geysers, volcanoes, rivers, fjords, and glaciers. Like the Tasmanians, the New Zealanders call their country "the Switzerland of the Pacific," and the mountains of South Island are called the Southern Alps. They reach a height of more than 12,000 feet in Mt. Cook which the native Maoris call "Aorangi" or the "Cloud-piercer." It is nearly impossible to give an adequate description of the beauty of the bushlands. In their evergreen trees, lianas, and mosses, one may find every color and shade imaginable.

Of a population of 1,600,000, only 74,000 are native Maoris. The remainder are nearly all British-born subjects, more than half of whom were born in New Zealand. The remainder have come from England, Scotland, or Ireland. The New Zealanders speak English exceptionally well. One never hears the word "ain't" or an ungrammatical sentence. The houses are much like the English cottages, the business places are like the English shops and the coinage system, with pound, shillings, and pence is very similar to that of the English.

New Zealand has an ideal climate and the seasons are the opposite of ours. There are no extremes of heat and cold as experienced on the large continents. New Zealand is one of the leading sheep countries of the world and dairying is the second great industry of the dominion. Leaving Auckland, New Zealand on the R.M.S. "Aorangi" on the night of August 8, the teachers crossed the International Date Line four days later and consequently there were two August 19's to make up for the day lost on the trip down. The following day they crossed the equator. As on the voyage enroute to New Zealand, they stopped at Suva and Honolulu. They arrived in Victoria, August 22.

"We left New Zealand with a feeling of regret and a longing to return, not only because of the beauty of the country but also because of the hospitality and most natural friendliness of the people," concluded Miss Lickly.

ROME ECONOMICS CLUB HOLDS RECOGNITION SERVICE

Their first meeting of the year to elect officers was held by The Home Economics club on Monday, September 18. Francis Dunn was elected president; Hazel Pankow, vice president; Ruth Granger, secretary; Ann Warren, treasurer; Elizabeth Heinz, service chairman; and Gladys Ritchie, reporter.

A dinner, toast and ceremonial was held at Riverside Park on Friday, September 22. As part of the initiation to the club, the new girls were requested to wear an apron and two different colored anklets one day this week.

FIRST HOME FOOTBALL GAME TODAY

Although the first game of the Plymouth eleven was held away from home, today marks the first home game of the season with the Birmingham football squad. Birmingham will have a very strong team this year since they have only lost three of their last year's team members. The probable starting line up for Plymouth is:

LIBRARIANS ELECT IVAN PACKARD PRESIDENT

Election of student librarians took place Monday, September 18, after school. This year's officers are president, Ivan Packard; vice president, Ruth Kirkpatrick; secretary-treasurer, Jean Anderson; Ruth Kirkpatrick is also social chairman.

CLASSES

Mr. Claves' industrial arts class is progressing very rapidly for the first of the year. Mr. Clave holds class in Shop 19, and teaches Shop I and Shop II as well as one eighth grade shop class. His course includes: Sheet metal, strap iron, woodwork and electrical work. Mr. Clave reports that the band saw and jointer are out of order. He has done away with the previous method of check-out of getting tools and now uses a semi-check-out system. The tools are now stationed about the room.

The fourteenth annual C. J. C. inauguration was held at the Plymouth high school last week Tuesday evening. Every officer from our entire school was present. Oena Ballen, Jean Ann Livernois, Alan Kidston and William Wood from our room presented an interesting interview called "Health and Citizenship." It told of our health activities in the rural schools of Wayne county.

Miss Reid, our school nurse, and Dr. Metzger, the school doctor, examined the little children before they enter kindergarten school and offer them toxoid to prevent diphtheria and vaccination to prevent smallpox.

Yes, all new pupils who enter our school system are offered a free physical examination and immunization from diphtheria and smallpox.

Children who have bad colds, or those who feel ill are excluded from school until they recover. In this way, communicable diseases which might be in their first stages are not spread to other pupils.

Each child should carry a clean handkerchief every day and cover his sneezes to prevent the spread of diphtheria germs.

Do many of the children take advantage of the health services, which are offered in the schools? Yes, Oena, a large percent of the children has taken advantage of them. Miss Reid gave us these numbers for all of the rural schools in Wayne county:

4866 children have been vaccinated; 3,707 have had the Schick test; 4,797 have taken toxoid; the tuberculin test has been given to 4,492; and 2,939 children have had a physical examination within the last three years.

William, what other activities do the children carry out in the school room?

We are weighed each month and keep a record of our growth. We keep "sleep charts" and try to form the habit of going to bed and getting up at a regular time.

The seventh and eighth grade boys and girls played a seven-inning baseball game with the Rosedale school Wednesday. The Rosedale girls were ahead 11-4.

In the fifth inning something happened to Stark. The "gals" really went to town by hitting that old apple. Stark won 13-11 and the girls were very excited. Carolyn Leurck was the winning pitcher.

Thursday, the seventh and eighth grades heard President F. D. Roosevelt's address to congress.

The eighth grade boys and girls are making a history time line, which will be very interesting when it's finished.

The boys' ball game was very exciting. Stark had an 8-1 lead on Rosedale. Suddenly Rosedale came to life. So many runs came across the plate "it wasn't funny." The final score was 10-8. Henry Schmaedake was the losing pitcher. Better luck next time.

WINGS for WORDS

Distance . . . once a barrier to spoken words . . . has lost its power to limit the human voice. Today words defy the intervening miles, and two friends with an ocean or a continent between them talk as if face to face. In thus extending the range of man's voice, the telephone performs a modern miracle. It is part of the miracle that this is done so swiftly, so easily and so cheaply.

Girl Scouts Are Guests of Club

On Tuesday evening the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's club, sponsor of Girl Scout Troop No. 2, entertained the troop at a weiner roast in Riverside park. The scouts and their leader, Hazel Lickfelt, went on a hike preceding the roast. Although it was a chilly evening, no one seemed to mind as the blazing fire and hot, delicious food kept everyone in high spirits.

After the roast the girls played games and then everyone gathered around the fire to sing songs. The girl scouts showed their appreciation by singing a "thank-you" song, and then hiked home, while the club members met at Hanna Strasen's studio for a business meeting and a short program. The question, "What Is Democracy?" was briefly discussed. This discussion was led by Hildur Carlson, who was elected president of the club at a special election following the resignation of Elizabeth Sutherland.

The club again voted to retain its membership in the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The program planned under the capable direction of Worshipful Master James Nairn proved to be one of the best ever presented by the lodge.

Special guests for the evening were the members of the Chrysler Motor company degree team who conferred the third degree on a member of their own organization. Arthur C. Read, soldier of fortune who served many years in China, gave those in attendance a most interesting talk about the present Japanese invasion of China. Mr. Read stated that whether Japan captured China or not its invasion of the country was going to prove a good thing for the Chinese because it would do much to raise their standard of living, which he claims is the main reason that country does not progress.

Dunes State Park Provides Example of Park Development About Here

Editor's note—Parks similar to those described in the following article could be developed to advantage in the Southeastern Michigan Metropolitan area if the proposed plan is favored by a sufficient number of votes.

By HENRY S. CURTIS

Dinners Served

The Dunes State Park of Indiana represents very well the state parks of the future. It is the type of park that should be provided in all areas where people come to spend a day or more, because it provides the essentials for such a stay. The situation is very different in these outlying parks than it is in the neighborhood parks where the people who live near by come in for an hour or so, or merely observe the grass and trees and flowers as they drive by. If people are to spend the night, they must have a place to sleep. If they are cooking they will need groceries. If they are driving they need gas. All of these are provided at the Dunes.

Lake Frontage

The park is 44 miles from Chicago and situated between the cities of Gary and Michigan City. It contains 2,250 acres and has a frontage of something more than three miles on Lake Michigan. Judging from the license numbers a large majority of its patrons come from Chicago.

We visited the park Sunday a short time ago with some seven or eight thousand others. At the gate we each paid ten cents admission, and passed on toward the parking area, but were held up for a time by the jam of cars that were seeking the same haven. The large parking space was crowded but not uncomfortably. There was no fee.

Directly on the shore in the front were the park hotel, restaurant and bath house. At the attractive hotel, we were told there were no rooms at present and that every room had been reserved for the next two weeks. We were not surprised, as the prices were reasonable and the rooms might be had on either the American or the European plan. One half of them looked out on the lake and the other half looked out on the rolling and not much less beautiful dunes.

The restaurants and bath house were housed in a large building adjacent to the hotel. We had an excellent course dinner in the main restaurant for one dollar, but we might have had a plate lunch on the other side at a much lower rate or we might have had ice cream or a sandwich at their own proper counters. Then there was a room for films, postal cards and the curios which seem to have a universal appeal to the tourist. The bath house was on the second floor.

The beach is something more than three miles long and forty-four miles from Chicago, but it seemed to have a comfortable attendance over its entire length, a point for cities, who think a beach of a quarter of a mile adequate, to take notice of. The sand was the kind that one hopes for, but does not always find at a beach. Many of the bathers seemed also to find great pleasure in climbing the dunes.

Dune Creek enters the lake beside the bath house, where it forms a pond of about a quarter of an acre and a natural wading pool, much more attractive to the feet of childhood than the concrete pools usually furnished by park authorities.

Features Picnic Ground

Just at the left of the park entrance is the grocery store and gas station with a large picnic area in back, while to the right is the camp ground for tents and trailers, and further back in the wilderness the camp ground of the Boy Scouts of the city of Gary. The campers pay 25 cents per car per night with wood and water furnished.

Perhaps the most distinctive feature of the park are the ten hiking trails that wind about the dunes and through the dunes' unspoiled wilderness or climb some of the lofty ones, nearly 200 feet high, for a view of the lake and shore that extends to Michigan City on the one side and to Gary and, on clear days, to Chicago 35 miles away across the lake.

The Dunes area contains a great variety of birds, flowers and trees. In one section one is fairly impressed in a primeval forest of pines, cedars and hemlocks, many of them of great size and towering height. In another one will be among the basswoods, ashes and elms, and there are many swamp flowers as well as sand flowers.

But the great attraction of the trails are the three so called blow-outs. The blow-outs are places where the wind is carving the dunes into new forms, here burying a forest till only its top most branches appear above the sand and there uncovering a forest that has been buried by the same mighty grave digger centuries ago.

Park of Tomorrow
I have said the Dunes is the type of the outlying park of the future. I feel that this is true because it has the essentials that all tourists require. We have visited this summer many state parks in Wisconsin and Michigan. None of them are providing hotels, cottages, restaurants, groceries or gas but by the side of many of the larger ones are growing up private developments containing just these features.

None of the features at the Dunes is superfluous, none can be spared. The attendance shows that they are popular. When these necessities are furnished by the state, you feel sure that the drinking water will be safe, that conditions will be sanitary and you will not be overcharged conditions that you can never gamble on otherwise, and it is just these features that yield an income and take the parks off the tax list.

Stolen Car Found Near Plymouth

An automobile stolen from Dearborn Monday night was found by Joseph Thomas on Sheldon road near Joy road Tuesday morning.

About 10:30 Monday night the owner of the car, Thomas Thompson, of Garden City, discovered his car was gone and reported it to the Wayne county sheriff's department. The call went out on the police teletype and was received at the Plymouth police department.

Mr. Thomas reported to Plymouth police that as he was going to work Tuesday morning, he noticed the car partly concealed by bushes off to one side of Sheldon road. It was stripped of tires, wheels and all accessories.

This is the second time that Thomas has found stolen cars in the vicinity of Plymouth.

Back From Legion Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Terry, Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs and other Plymouth residents who attended the American Legion convention in Chicago, are returning home with plenty of news about the excitement and good times they enjoyed while in the Windy City.

"And you can tell everyone that when they nicknamed it the Windy City, they made no mistake. It was certainly windy and cold while we were there, said Mrs. Terry upon her return home.

With the Jacobs was Fred Kreimes, who enjoyed the various spontaneous celebrations and parades that took place at any time and everywhere. The Jacobs family was on the way back to Plymouth from Colorado where they had been enjoying a vacation trip, when they happened by chance to meet the Terrys in the big crowd near the Morrison hotel.

Chicago newspapers told of the traffic tie-up in the loop due to the Legion celebrations. "We were right in the middle of it, but so big was the crowd that no one knew much about the commotion that was being caused," said Mrs. Terry. After spending two hours watching the parade in the downtown section, the Plymouth visitors went to the Soldiers' field where they witnessed the various contests between bands and drum corps. "It was certainly a great convention and every one had the best sort of a time, in spite of the cold weather," declared the Plymouth convention visitors. Evidence tending to show that scarlet fever is caused by a virus—not by a streptococcus—was recently presented.
