

Woman's Club Will Celebrate 47th Anniversary

Mrs. Thomas Moss and Mrs. William Morgan Arrange Program

The forty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the Plymouth Woman's club will be observed when the club meets next week, Friday afternoon, March 1. At this time the club will also be host to the members of five out-of-town organizations, Northville Woman's club, Redford Woman's club, Redford Child Study club, Aerie club of Wayne and Wayne ladies' literary club. The meeting will be held at the Masonic Temple at 2:15 o'clock. There will be a business meeting at 1:30 preceding the program.

Gertrude James, well known actress and entertainer from Detroit, comes again to Plymouth with another of her delightful readings. For this occasion, she has chosen to present a "one woman play," Miss James is a talented actress and a delightful reader of plays and she has been very active in the Little Theatre and in the Bonstelle Club Theatre. At present she is conducting a school of dramatics in Detroit.

At the conclusion of the program, tea will be served from tables decorated in the club's colors, green and white, and centered with beautifully decorated birthday cakes.

Mrs. Thomas Moss is the program hostess and Mrs. William Morgan is the hostess for this meeting. Assisting hostesses are: Mrs. William Kaiser, Mrs. Francis Lockwood, Mrs. R. J. Lorenz, Mrs. William F. Shaw, Mrs. Louis Truesdell, Mrs. F. A. Vollbrecht, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, Mrs. Warren Worth and honorary member, Mrs. Kate Allen.

Mrs. Jessie Croft Ellis of Ann Arbor exhibited a large, interesting collection of fascinating dolls in conjunction with her talk, "Neighbors Around the World," at the meeting of the club last Friday afternoon.

Following a program exclusively in this country, as well as abroad, she has a very complete collection of dolls, all beautifully dressed in costumes typical of their particular countries. Always thinking of her dolls as people, she took her audience on an interesting trip abroad, also through the United States. As she introduced the peoples of each land, she told, briefly, the history of their costumes. The "trip" delighted everyone present and all agreed that it had been a pleasure to meet her "neighbors around the world."

Seniors Present "Annie Laurie"

Fifteen seniors will take part in the senior play, "Annie Laurie," to be presented Thursday and Friday, March 7 and 8. This play was written by Walt Spence, who also wrote "Jane Eyre," produced by the junior class recently. The ballad, "Annie Laurie," was written by William Scott and set to music by Lady Scott. Both of these persons are characters in the play.

In the play, Annie Laurie falls in love with William Douglas in spite of the fact that she is engaged to Lord Ferguson. Lady Scott becomes her confidant and sympathizes with her, since Lady Scott, herself, had already felt the pangs of unrequited love. The Crimean War breaks out, and both seniors are active in fighting. William is reported killed in battle, so Annie agrees to her father's persuasions to marry Lord Ferguson.

Last minute events bring a surprising denouement.

Every performance of "Annie Laurie" has been successful. It is classified as a romantic, sentimental play and truly reaches the emotions.

Mrs. Orville Dunson spent Wednesday with friends in Detroit.

Michigan Bell Telephone Company Will Start $10,000 Expansion Program Here at Once

Plans for a $9,900 expansion project at the Plymouth exchange of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company were announced today by L. R. MacLachlan, local manager for the company.

The project provides for the installation of additional central office equipment because of the growth of Plymouth and the consequent increasing call for telephone service, both local and long distance. The company must provide facilities ahead of demand, the telephone manager pointed out.

Installation of the new equipment is expected to start about the first of next month, the manager continued, and to be completed about the middle of May. The work will be done by representatives of the Western Electric company, manufacturing and supply division of the Bell Telephone System.

MacLachlan said that there are now more than 1,530 telephones in service here, a gain of approximately 150 during the past year.

MANAGER J. R. MACLACHLAN

Style Show Will Be Staged at Local Theatre

Early Interest Points to Unusually Large Attendance

Final arrangements have been completed for Taylor & Blyton's first annual style show to be staged here on Wednesday, March 6. The Penningman-Allen theatre will be the scene for the big event, and all Plymouth ladies and their friends are invited to be the guests of Taylor and Blyton at 2:00 p.m. on March 6 to view the show.

Introduction of Marina Manning dresses to this locality will be one of the features of the show and the Martha Manning company of Chicago is sending Miss Bernice Meyers, their stylist, to act as commentator for the afternoon program.

Another feature of the show that should prove interesting is the showing of California sport wear which also will be seen in Plymouth for the first time.

John Blyton stated yesterday that because of the unusual amount of interest in the show the levels of this locality will be in the theatre so that every one may be better accommodated. A loud-speaking system will be installed so that everyone in the audience will be able to hear all of the commentator's remarks.

For those who will be unable to attend the afternoon show, another complete program will be held in the Taylor & Blyton store on the same evening at 7:00 p.m.

Several tables in attendance at the show will be set up to display and sell the new spring dresses as compliments of the Taylor and Blyton store, Mr. Blyton said.

To Stage Unique Concert Thursday

One week from last night, on Thursday, February 29, the Band Parents club, in cooperation with the Plymouth high school band, will present Vera Richardson, therein artist and Lillian Beall Hicks, coloratura soprano, in a concert at the high school auditorium. The proceeds are to go toward the fulfillment of the pledge which the band made to the uniform fund last year.

Leopold Stokowski, famous conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra, recently, in conjunction with the unique thermionic instrument, "We are in the midst of a great change in music, probably the greatest in the entire history of music. The advent of the electrical instrument must be regarded as the greatest event in contemporary music."

Perhaps the most unusual of the several types of electrical instruments played today is the thermionic. Its uniqueness is expressed in a mechanical or manual means by the total absence of any form of mechanical or manual means to play the instrument. It has no keys, strings, reeds, stops or pedals as are found on other instruments to produce a tone. It is played by moving the hands in space.

The musical scale of the thermionic instrument is as follows:

Perfection Laundry Makes Free Offer

According to a large advertisement elsewhere in this week's Plymouth Mail, the Perfection Laundry and Dry Cleaners announce a special cleaning service to Plymouth residents. The announcement has to do with the purchase of one dollar's worth of dry cleaning, for which the Perfection Laundry will clean and block one hat free of charge or press one skirt or pair of trousers. For further particulars concerning the offer, see the advertisement on page four.

City Residents to Vote on Charter Changes

Special Committee Reports Findings to City Commission

A committee appointed by Mayor L. E. Wilson to review the Plymouth charter reported at the city commission meeting Monday night that there are three important changes that should be made in bringing the city laws up to date. Because amendments to the city charter have to be approved by Plymouth voters, the changes as proposed by the investigating committee will be presented at the general spring election, April 1.

At a recent meeting of the city commission, Mayor Wilson appointed a committee of three to review the charter because it was thought many of the city laws had become obsolete as a result of state legislation. The mayor appointed Commissioners Harry George Robinson and City Manager Clarence Elliott as members of the special committee.

The committee recommended to city commissioners that Section 19, chapter seven be changed which will permit the city manager to purchase goods up to the amount of $500, without the sanction of the city commission, providing money is available in the budget.

At the present time the city manager has authority to purchase merchandise up to the amount of $300. However, there are several items which the city can save money on by buying in carload lots or larger quantities. It is necessary for the city manager to obtain bids, as well as certain other items, coming from in order to purchase goods. Other cities in the state have raised the amount which city managers may use for the purchase of material without the consent of the city commission. It is reported that other cities have set at $1,000. According to the report $500 should be an ample amount to put at the disposal of Plymouth city managers for several years to come.

Another change proposed by the committee has to do with the qualifications for a municipal judge. The city charter as it now reads conflicts with state law which says that an attorney must handle cases which involve amounts of $500 or more. The city charter provides that a municipal judge be a qualified attorney. The proposed change will include that the municipal judge be an attorney, admitted to practice in the state of Michigan and a legal resident of the city of Plymouth for at least five years. Other qualifications will conform with state law.

At the last session of the state legislature, it was ruled that county primary elections be held the third Monday in February. This city charter provides for the election of the first Monday in March. The committee advised that the charter be amended to conform with the state legislation.

It was pointed out that if this change were not made in years with a general county and city elections are held, it would be necessary to have two separate election days which would involve twice as much expense to the city of Plymouth.

The changes as proposed by the investigating committee will be presented to Plymouth voters at the spring election, April 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Milan Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wagenschutz and family, Mrs. Howard Wilkie, of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graham and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Secord and Dolores of Northville; and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shotka, of Milford, spent last Friday evening with Mrs. John Shotka and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Courtade, of West Highland.

Norton's Market Installs New Pattie Machine

Local Inventor Makes Modern Sausage Making Machine

Plymouth is continually making its contribution in the advancement of new and better things. Today the writer witnessed a demonstration of a new machine that manufactures ground meat products in a highly sanitary manner recently developed by a resident of Plymouth.

This new machine, according to the inventor, is readily adaptable for use in making sausage, beef, hamburger, veal and other patties. No human hands touch the meat from the time it goes into the machine, comes out in form in size, freshly made before your very eyes and wrapped ready for use in minutes.

The machine is an ingenious device which packs the ground meat into metal or glass tubes and is then forced out of the tubes and cut into slices.

A machine of this type adds greatly to general health conditions as everyone appreciates the importance of clean, wholesome food.

Many advancements have been made in recent years in the sanitation of food-producing plants due to the mechanical devices that have been installed. The old method of mixing products with the hands has been strictly tabooed by the medical profession and we are reasonably sure that everything we buy from our local stores has to pass a rigid government inspection and the factories in which the products are made are strictly sanitary. This new equipment developed in Plymouth is another step in this direction.

Norton's Meat Market is one of the first to install a machine of this kind and will manufacture what will be known as "Parsley Brand" sausage patties as well as other meat patties and from their tastiness and wholesomeness, they have a fair chance of becoming a nationally known product.

Housewives who desire to add variety to their meals will thrill to a tasty "Parsley Brand" sausage or meat cake made from this new machinery in such an attractive, tidy-to-serve manner. The machine will be known as "The Sani-Pattie Machine" and the products therefrom as "Parsley Brand."

Tax Collections Above Average

According to a report made to the city commission Monday night by City Treasurer Charles Garlett, city tax collections to date are nearly five per cent higher than they were at this time last year. Ninety-one per cent of city taxes have been collected. Mr. Garlett advised city commissioners, while last year 86.2 per cent had been turned in.

"This very favorable report of the city treasurer is an indication that Plymouth residents are civic conscious and appreciate the advantages offered in the city," declared Mayor L. E. Wilson, Tuesday morning. "During the past year the city of Plymouth has raised because of the fact that about 50 new homes and commercial buildings were constructed. Every week, more and more people are moving to the city to enjoy the advantages offered in this city. It is also convenient for individuals who are employed in Detroit to make their homes here because of its nearness to the larger city, while still retaining the advantages of a small city."

The city treasurer also reported that 85 per cent of county and school taxes have been paid. Last year in February, only 83.1 per cent of the county taxes and 82.6 per cent of the school taxes had been collected.

It was also said that the city treasurer may receive city, county and school taxes until March 1. At that date, according to state law, the city treasurer must send a report of unpaid taxes to the county treasurer. After March 1, the taxes are collected by and paid to the county treasurer.

"In order to eliminate ourselves much inconvenience and red tape," City Treasurer Garlett advised Plymouth taxpayers, "it will be well to take care of your taxes while they are still in our hands. There are also certain penalties attached to the taxes when they are turned over for county collection."

Rosedale Couple Celebrates 55th Wedding Anniversary

In observance of their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary, 44 persons, comprising four generations, feted Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McKinney, of Merriman road, at dinner at the Pen-Mar cafe in Rosedale Gardens yesterday (Thursday). Moving the dinner relative went to the McKinney home for a family get-together.

City Commission To Put Problem of Grade Separation Up To Voters At Next Election

"Hunchback of Notre Dame" Here March 3

Charles Laughton's newest picture, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," will be shown at the Penningman-Allen theatre in Plymouth on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 3, 4 and 5, according to Manager Harry Lush.

The picture has received some of the finest press comments from all over the country and is considered Mr. Laughton's best so far but because of the star's make-up and because of some of the gruesome scenes in it, the local theatre management advises parents that the picture is not really for young children. Adults, who are liable to be horrified by the picture are also warned of these features.

Few Contests Feature Livonia, Northville Voting

Supervisors in Both Townships Lead Their Tickets

Only 349 Livonia township voters went to the polls last Monday to cast their ballots in the Republican primary that featured contests only in the offices of constable and highway commissioner. Charles S. Wolf from present highway commissioner, was opposed by Rockwood J. Gravelle and the former received 249 votes against his opponent's 68. Out of the six candidates for constable the four to be nominated were, Ray Owens with 254 votes; Charles H. Whitehead with 216 votes; John W. Whitehead with 190 votes; and Miles Helm with 118 votes. Norman Wiederhold received 97 votes and Horace J. Gravelle received 61.

Jesse Ziegler, supervisor, led the ticket with 301 votes. Clerk Harry E. Wolfe was a close second with 298 votes and Treasurer Arthur Trapp received 294 votes. Leo Nye was nominated again for his office of full term justice with 263 votes and Albert Necker as a member of the board of review with 216 votes. C. H. Buzzard, secretary; George S. Burr, treasurer; and George E. Fischer and Russell A. Kirkpatrick, trustees, unanimously selected Mrs. Strong as the new board member.

It has been a resident of the city of Plymouth for 20 years and during that time has been active and useful as a member of various civic and social organizations. She is the mother of five children, three of whom are graduates of Plymouth high school and a fourth is a member of this year's graduating class. She has for many years been a member of the Plymouth Parent Teachers' association and Band Mothers' association. Mrs. Strong was recent of the Plymouth Board of Education. In 1937 when the Plymouth Civic committee was organized, Mrs. Strong was made chairman of the Christmas activities committee.

In higher education she received a bachelor of arts degree from the Kalamazoo college and a master's degree from the University of Chicago. For several years she taught in the Kalamazoo public schools.

Mrs. Strong's influence with the D.A.R. is what has kept the organization interested in school children and their welfare. In recent years the organization has sponsored either an essay contest or one based on general excellence in American history.

Mr. Hamill, the retiring member of the board of education. It is reported that the board will meet to reorganize next month.

Commissioners Approve Electrical Ordinance

A proposed amendment to the city electrical ordinance passed the third and final reading at the city commission meeting Monday night. The ordinance as it was originally adopted in April 1936, then conforming with a state act which was declared unconstitutional last November. Because of that fact, it became necessary for the city to amend certain parts of the local ordinance to conform with the present state law.

Another change in electrical license fees, required of all electric contractors, are to be paid to the city instead of the state. Another revision of the ordinance is that the fee which was formerly $25 each year for a license, is now $15.

Start Removal of Old House on Theatre Site

Expect to Start Basement Construction Within Few Days

Work was started Thursday on the removal of the Voorhies homestead which will be taken away to make room for the erection of Plymouth's new theatre at 764 Penningman avenue. Under the direction of George White, the large house will be moved to South Pine street, where it will be remodeled into two small houses.

Both tenants in the house have moved. The offices of Attorney John S. Dutton are now located in the Penningman-Allen theatre building in Suite 207.

It is expected that the moving of the house will take about three or four days, after which time workmen will start work on the foundation for the new building.

The basement of the theatre will be under the front part of the building where the heating and air conditioning equipment will be located. The builders hope to have the theatre open and operating sometime during the summer months.

Fill Vacancy on School Board

At a special meeting of the Plymouth board of education Monday night, Mrs. Sidney D. Strong was elected to fill a vacancy made by Herald F. Hamill when he moved to his recently constructed home west of the city.

A school law provides that a vacancy on the board occurs as soon as one of its members moves outside the district. Further provisions are that it is the privilege and duty of the remaining board members to select an individual to fill the vacancy within 20 days.

In connection with the law, the board members of the Plymouth board of education, C. H. Buzzard, secretary; George S. Burr, treasurer; and George E. Fischer and Russell A. Kirkpatrick, trustees, unanimously selected Mrs. Strong as the new board member.

It has been a resident of the city of Plymouth for 20 years and during that time has been active and useful as a member of various civic and social organizations. She is the mother of five children, three of whom are graduates of Plymouth high school and a fourth is a member of this year's graduating class. She has for many years been a member of the Plymouth Parent Teachers' association and Band Mothers' association. Mrs. Strong was recent of the Plymouth Board of Education. In 1937 when the Plymouth Civic committee was organized, Mrs. Strong was made chairman of the Christmas activities committee.

In higher education she received a bachelor of arts degree from the Kalamazoo college and a master's degree from the University of Chicago. For several years she taught in the Kalamazoo public schools.

Mrs. Strong's influence with the D.A.R. is what has kept the organization interested in school children and their welfare. In recent years the organization has sponsored either an essay contest or one based on general excellence in American history.

Mr. Hamill, the retiring member of the board of education. It is reported that the board will meet to reorganize next month.

The ordinance, as it was passed, appears in another part of The Plymouth Mail. It will take effect March 12, 1940.

Evangelistic Services Start at Church of God

Rev. E. E. Watts

REV. E. E. WATTS

Rev. E. E. Watts from Lester, West Virginia will be holding a series of special evangelistic services each evening at 7:30 from February 25 to March 10 at the Church of God, 831 Penningman avenue. Rev. Watts is a nationally known evangelist who has traveled through the United States and Canada, preaching at camp meetings and holding revivals. Rev. Watts is especially glad to be in this section of the country because it will afford him opportunity to visit his son, Rev. Ivan Watts, who, despite his youth, is also a preacher and the pastor of the Dexter Midland Church of God in Detroit.

The church extends a warm welcome to all who have attended its revivals in the past and to all who have not as yet attended. Rev. Watts is an old-fashioned evangelist who delivers a soul-winning and heart-warming sermon.

Add New Device to Service Equipment

Announcement was made this week by Earl Fluelling, owner of the Fluelling One-Stop Service station at 275 South Main street, that a Motor Hi-Klonie has recently been added to his automobile service equipment.

Commission OK's Petition Last Monday Night

Committee Proposes Four Locations for Construction

According to City Manager Clarence Elliott, local voters will be given the opportunity at the next election to decide whether or not they think it is necessary to construct a grade separation in Plymouth. This decision was made after city commissioners approved a petition, presented by a committee at the commission meeting Monday night. The committee, appointed by Mayor L. E. Wilson, was composed of the city manager and Commissioners Henry Hondorp and George Robinson.

The grade separation question at its location will be put before the general public because the commission feels that every qualified Plymouth voter should have a part in deciding whether or not such a construction is necessary and if so, where.

Members of the special committee proposed four possible places for the construction. They are at the Farmer street, Blanchester street, North Main street, and East Ann Arbor Trail railroad crossings.

City officials have no desire to influence Plymouth residents as to a possible location for the grade separation. Articles will appear in The Plymouth Mail from time to time during the next few weeks, before the election, April 1, showing the relative advantages and disadvantages and the cost of such a construction at each of the four locations. Figures on construction costs and other information have been obtained by city officials and are on file at the city hall.

Mr. Elliott said that a resolution was presented to the city commissioners Monday night read as follows: "Resolved, that at the next general election to be held on Monday, April 1, 1940, there be submitted to the electors of the city of Plymouth the following proposition: 'Do you wish the city commission to seek a grade separation at this time?'"

"If a grade separation were built in the city of Plymouth, what location do you favor?"

Rotary Observes 35th Anniversary

Plymouth Rotarians are this week observing along with other Rotary clubs all over the world, the thirty-fifth anniversary of its founding in 1905. Today when the Plymouth club meets at the Mayflower hotel for its luncheon meeting at 12:30 p.m., a special program, which has been planned by the club's service committee, headed by Glenn Jewell, will be given, featuring an outline of the local club history and its possible future projects.

The Rotary Club of Plymouth was organized in 1905, 1924. At first the club held its weekly meetings in the basement of the Penningman-Allen building and various other public places in the city until the Mayflower hotel was constructed in 1927.

Officers of the club when organized were as follows: President, George A. Smith; vice-president, Edward Hough; secretary, William Wood; treasurer, Sidney D. Strong; and sergeant-at-arms, Frank Ranbo. Other charter members include Fred Schradler, Edward Bennett, Fred Lubbo, Charles Mather, Otto Beyer, Jesse Hake, Carl Shear, Harry Lee, Calvin Whipple, Dr. Edward Cooper, Roy Parrott, Dr. B. F. Champe, Lawrence Samsen, Paul Wiedman, Harry Lush, John Dayton, Harry Robinson and William Pettigall.

Since Rotary was organized in Plymouth, 16 years ago, the following individuals have been presidents of the organization: George Smith, Edward Hough, Dr. B. F. Champe, William Wood, Carl Shear, Allen Horton (deceased), Edward Gayde (deceased), Rev. Walter Nichol, Charles Bennett, Cass Hough, Lynn Felton, Fr. Frank Lefevre, Fred Salom, John Blickenstaff and Andrew Dunn.

Present officers of Rotary in Plymouth are: Floyd Eckles, president; Glenn Jewell, vice-president; Russell Daane, secretary; and Otto Beyer, treasurer.

Mrs. Cora Whitlaker, of Anderson, Indiana, passed away at the home of her son, Clyde, Thursday morning. Funeral services will be held at 2:00 p.m. at the Schrader Funeral home.

Choose Delegates to State Meeting

The Sarah Ann Cochran chapter of the D.A.R. met Monday afternoon at the home of Earl Mastick. Delegates for the state conference to be held in the latter part of March were chosen. Mrs. J. Morley Bennett, Mrs. Henry Baker, Mrs. Sidney King and Mrs. Kenneth Kitman were selected to represent the chapter. Mrs. David Matner, Mrs. Irving Blunk, Mrs. Allen Buckley and Mrs. Del Hahn are alternate delegates.

Mrs. J. Morley Bennett and Mrs. Dwight Randall were elected as delegates to the National Congress in Washington to be held in April in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Edward J. Cutler and Mrs. Nelson Schrader were chosen as alternate delegates.

The chapter was entertained by a program from Plymouth High school under the direction of Miss Ford and the girls' double quartet. The girls sang "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer and "God Bless America."

The vocal speaking choir gave several patriotic poems. So well were they directed that as the poem, "The Flag is Passing By" was given, one could feel the stirring rhythm. Great credit is due Miss Ford for her excellent direction. The choir also spoke in Flanders Field, "Oh Captain, My Captain," and "America for Me." Miss Dorothy Bowles, a member of the choir, recited "I Have a Rendezvous with Death."

A one-act comedy, entitled "His First Girl" was then presented by a cast of five. The members of the cast took their parts very well.

Mrs. J. Morley Bennett officiated at the tea table where refreshments were carried out in celebration of Washington's birthday. Mrs. S. N. Thoms and Mrs. Glenn Jewell assisted Mrs. Mastick.

Announce Vacancies With U. S. Civil Service Commission

Applications for several positions with the United States Civil Service Commission will be taken from Mrs. Beatrice Schultz, local secretary of the commission, she announced yesterday.

In a report from the commission it was declared that open competitive examinations will be held for the positions of educational and technical expert in design and distribution of educational publications in the office of education, Federal Security agency.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Schultz at the Plymouth postoffice.

The concert is produced by the fingers of the right hand in a series of very definite intervals toward and away from the instrument. The left hand, by its position with relation to the instrument, controls the volume. It is the only musical instrument played with no physical contact between the performer and the instrument.

"Strange as it seems," or "Believe it or not," the thremmin produces the sound of many of the instruments in an orchestra with extreme accuracy, from the deep tones of the bass viol to the high resonant tones of the violin. It is used as a solo instrument and can be played in ensemble, with one or more organs when heard the first time, the music emanating from the thremmin seems almost incredible, but it is a very real, amazing and delightful reality.

Miss Richardson is one of the few artists in the country to have studied the thremmin seriously. Because of the extreme sensitivity and since there is nothing tangible on which to place the fingers, a perfect sense of pitch and tone intervals is imperative. Twice during the past year, Miss Richardson was in New York City studying the development of the instrument as well as its technique. At present she is on the staff of radio station WJL at Detroit, and is frequently heard on programs playing the nova chord. The thremmin, however, must not be compared with any of the electric organs known to-day. The principle of operation is decidedly different and has never been played on any radio program.

Also on the program is Miss Lillian Hicks, soprano, who is well-known musically in and about Detroit. She has appeared as guest artist on many programs and is also on the staff at WJL.

Opening the concert on that evening, the band will play several selections. Miss Richardson and Miss Hicks have prepared a program of selections, known to all. They will appear individually as well as together during the evening.

Miss Richardson is in such demand that in order to secure her for this concert, it is necessary to start the program at 7:30 p.m. sharp to enable her to return to Detroit for another engagement. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the high school band, or any Band Parent mother. Arrangements have also been made to have them on sale at the Blunk & Thatcher furniture store or at the high school that evening.

More than 2,100 gold medals and certificates have been awarded to Boy Scouts for life saving and heroism.

Official Proceedings Of The Commission

Plymouth, Michigan

February 19, 1940
A regular meeting of the City Commission held in the City Hall on Monday, February 19, 1940, at 7:30 p.m.

Present: Mayor Wilson, Commissioners Handorp, Robinson, Whipple and Worth.

Absent: None.

The minutes of the regular meeting of February 5, the adjourned meeting of February 8 and the special meeting of February 12, 1940 were approved as read.

It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Comm. Handorp that bills in the amount of $2,750.28 be approved.

Ayes: Mayor Wilson, Commissioners Handorp, Robinson, Whipple and Worth.

Nays: None.

The Treasurer's report as of February 17, 1940 was presented. The report showed that 91 per cent of the City taxes for 1939 has been paid and that 85 per cent of the County and School tax has been paid.

It was moved by Comm. Handorp and supported by Comm. Robinson that this report be accepted and placed on file. Carried.

The City Manager presented recommendations concerning maximum bids for properties wanted by the City of Plymouth at the Scavenger Land Sale, February 24, 1940.

RESOLVED, that a proposal to amend the Charter of the City of Plymouth be submitted to the electors of the City at the next regular election to be held April 1, 1940, as follows:

"Shall Section 19 of Chapter 7 of the Charter of the City of Plymouth be amended to read as follows:

Hundreds Attend Townsend Program

Several Hundred Plymouth residents became better acquainted with the Townsend Plan and its workings when they met at the Central grade school auditorium Monday night. The program was sponsored by the Plymouth club and featured the appearance of Rev. Sarah Green, a colored member of the clergy, who informed her audience on various phases of the plan. Another feature of the program was the first showing in Plymouth of "Visual Education in Sound Pictures," which was an illustrated lecture by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, by means of electrical transcription.

Clarence E. Pankow, president of the local organization, made arrangements for the program which was well received by those present.

The next regular meeting of the club will be Monday night at the Plymouth Grange hall.

I have ever deemed it more honorable and more profitable, too, to set a good example than to follow a bad one.—Thomas Jefferson.

Pilots Find Gliding Ideal Winter Sport

Much Week-end Activity Seen at Triangle Glider Port

(By Skysailor)

Airport hops were made again on the past two week-ends. No soaring flights were accomplished, however. In order to claim credit for a soaring flight, a pilot must gain altitude after he releases from the tow line, or he must find some rising air in which he can stay up longer than the best sailplane could under conditions of no lift. Sometimes when the flying is being done in front of a ridge against which the wind is blowing, the release may be made too high. The pilot may lose altitude for a time but then succeed in finding a region down near the top of the ridge where there is rising air due to the wind lifting to get over the ridge, and he may succeed in flying back and forth for several hours. Such flying would be distinguished from an ordinary airport hop and is known as ridge soaring.

At Triangle Gliderport there is no ridge. All soaring must be done on other types of rising air. Sometimes lift has been found over Newburg Lake and this has often reminded the pilots of ridge lift. The edge of the lake has at times marked the area of lift just as the face of a cliff or ridge marks the area of lift. Individual thermal up-currents have been the most common source of lift. These quite commonly form large cumulus clouds on summer days. A few times cloud streets have formed and continuous lift has been found underneath the shiny edge of the street. A glider pilot applies the name cloud street to a row of clouds stretching across the sky. Usually the individual clouds in the row are of the cumulus type.

On one occasion a soaring flight was made from Triangle in front of a squall line. Thunder showers were prevalent and a row of thunder showers advanced steadily near to a pilot who was soaring in a strong thermal. The pilot left the thermal when the top of it was almost reached and flew back and forth in front of the squall line. Thunder showers for better than half an hour, reaching 4,000 feet in a ship which has a four gliding angle.

Attempts have been made to soar in cold fronts. These have appeared to break up just before passing Triangle. When the weather man has predicted a "cold wave" this sometimes comes true in the form of a black cloud which rolls up from the northwest. The cloud may be almost a straight black line entirely across the sky from northeast to southwest. Just before the storm hits there will be a calm or lull. Sometimes the wind has been blowing directly against the approaching cloud before it approaches close. As the cloud goes overhead usually a strong wind springs up which is at least partially out of the direction of approach of the storm. It sometimes becomes suddenly colder. Soaring pilots in other parts of the world have sometimes been able to fly back and forth just ahead of the storm and then at the approach of dusk fly out ahead far enough to land at a suitable airport and store the ship before the heavy winds came along. Some day, no doubt, one of the Triangle pilots will be lucky enough to get into the lift ahead of such a storm and fly to Cleveland or beyond.

At this time of the year the days when soaring is possible are not so frequent. It would be rather hasty to say that you couldn't soar in this part of the winter, because no sooner would you make the statement than some lucky pilot would probably turn in an excellent soaring flight.

But simple airport hops have been the rule for several weeks now at Triangle. Twenty-two winch tows were made on Saturday, February 3; Sunday 53 flights were made from winch tow. On Sunday, February 11

Strong Wins Essay Contest

Richard Strong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney D. Strong, of Auburn avenue, submitted the prize-winning essay in a contest sponsored by the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce recently. The contest theme was "Abraham Lincoln" or anything concerning the man and his life. Richard's paper, "Lincoln, The Immortal," was considered by the judges. Rev. Walter Nichol, City Manager C. H. Elliott and Sterling Eaton, to be the best from a standpoint of originality, subject matter and the manner in which it was written. For a prize, he was presented with a silver trophy cup at the annual father and son banquet, sponsored jointly by Troop two, Plymouth Boy Scouts and the Ex-Service Men's club, Tuesday evening, February 13.

The contest was open to high school students of American history. The essays considered by the judges to warrant highest honors, follows:

Lincoln, The Immortal. No man needs a memorial who has forever enshrined himself in the hearts and minds of a people to whose service he has given himself unselfishly. This, then, cannot be a memorial to Lincoln but must be an earnest expression of a genuine admiration for a great man who is with us yet, in spirit.

Even in this day of extreme realism the popular conception of Lincoln is apt to be rather restricted. It is true that the biographies of Lincoln all accept him as a really great man. However, omitted from many and deeply buried in a few is the particular clue to Lincoln's greatness.

Lincoln's words are the usual reasons for being righteous. He was not honest because honesty was accepted as the best policy in his day; nor was he kind and considerate because he thought it was the right thing to do at some particular time; he was not friendly, straightforward, and loyal because he thought being that would gain him anything. Not all these things were all natural to Lincoln. He was a person who took his own honesty for granted and he was surprised if he did not find the same quality in those with whom he dealt. It was natural for him to be open and frank in his way.

Matching the straightforwardness of Lincoln's character was the clearness of his speech; reading was his means to this end. He read widely—he often walked miles while borrowing and returning books. He developed a habit of writing things down—passages from books that he especially liked, essays about his own opinions of subjects that interested him, and sometimes even poetry. Even the cheapest paper of the day was almost beyond the reach of a boy as poor as Lincoln and the best scratch paper he could find was a broken piece of slate. Since this was true, he had to conserve space as well as he could in order to be able to write all he wanted. His method was to shorten and simplify his sentence and from this practice he learned how to say just what he wanted and have it understood, and at the same time be brief. Many of his statements rival in their compactness some of Daniel Webster's best.

Abraham Lincoln was a devout believer in justice. As a lawyer he would not accept a client whom he believed was wrong in his assertions. He would not accept a criminal case unless he was thoroughly convinced of his client's innocence. However, once convinced, he became an eloquent crusader for right until his client was freed. More than once, when suddenly persuaded during a trial that he was wrong, he abandoned a case. It may seem strange to us that he should surrender without more of a fight, but to him it was almost a question of honor. No matter what his position about Lincoln was always so sincere that his simplest statement seemed important.

Lincoln's sociability is in strange contrast with his other stricter aspects. It would seem that a man of Lincoln's origin might be unfriendly to certain classes of people. However, those who knew of his well-defined principles just could not seem to understand why Lincoln seemed to know everyone; he seemed to be friendly with everyone, be his position high or low. Some of his associates were not exactly acceptable to his White House friends. This did not bother him.

This is the Lincoln we remember today. A hundred years from today we shall probably still celebrate his birthday each year. The quality of Lincoln's character, his courage, his belief in justice, his ability to make himself clear, his friendliness—these are the qualities of a great man; they enabled Lincoln to remain steadfast in the worst crisis of our Union. Let us be thankful that we are receiving better thanks for what he did today than in his own time. In this present time of international crisis, it is to Lincoln that we must turn for advice—the immortal Lincoln who will always be with us in spirit whenever we need him.

Miller Tells of Studebaker Style

"Gingerbread" houses and "gingerbread" cars sound like something out of a fairy tale or a Walt Disney picture, but to Raymond Miller, Studebaker designer, they recall the fancy designs that were so much the vogue many years ago. "Gingerbread" design meant fancy gables, little balconies and often elaborate towers and peaks on houses, all of which had no real use. It meant the same in automobiles.

Today's automobile and house designers get down to essentials, says Mr. Miller. They eliminate the useless. They leave out of the home or the car those things that have no useful function to perform.

This "functional" design, as it is called, has been applied in a most practical manner to the new 1940 Studebaker. Mr. Miller points out:

Raymond Loewy, world-famed industrial designer, has eliminated all protuberances that mar the exterior appearance of the car and set up wind resistance. Trunk hinges have disappeared. Headlamps have been faired into the fenders. Door hinges have been concealed and even door handles are now being made a part of the belt line.

"Functional design both enhances the beauty of the car and contributes to efficiency," Mr. Miller says. "Such small things as the gas tank filler cap on the new Studebaker come in for this sound style trend. It has been recessed under a door flush with the fender on President and Commander models. This contributes to greater beauty and also prevents spilling of fuel on the car's finish."

"The trend as paced by Studebaker is away from the ornate to the more pleasing, more useful design."

U. S. Government Wants Radio Inspectors

According to information received by the local secretary of the United States Civil Service Commission, Assistant Postmaster Beatrice M. Schultz, open competitive examinations will be given for the positions of radio inspector, and assistant radio inspector in various government departments. Applications must be on file at the commission's office in Washington, D. C., not later than March 4.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Schultz at the Plymouth postoffice.

Few Contests Feature Voting

John Litsenberger by a vote of 298 to 272. The Democratic nominee for this office is A. C. Balden who received 15 votes.

Mollie Lawrence, present township treasurer, won her nomination with 371 votes to her rivals, Iva Baumann, 117 votes, and Louise A. Safford's 95 votes. E. B. Cavell Jr. was the Democratic nominee with 14 votes.

Supervisor Willard A. Ely was again nominated with 518 votes and his Democratic rival, A. W. Sheppard, recorded 20 votes. Alton Peters was nominated for the Republican justice of the peace candidate with 459 votes. Roy C. Rew received the fewest votes for the office of constable and was eliminated from that office. The constables nominated were Daniel Draper, Stary Herrick, Ward Masters and Ulie Tibbits on the Republican ticket; and Clifford Grey and Claude Riley on the Democratic ticket. Charles E. Dubuar is the Republican nominee for the board of review, receiving 437 votes.

Salem Republicans held a closely contested primary in which a total vote of 434 was recorded. Albert Rider defeated Harlow D. Ingall in the race for supervisor by a vote of 260 to 162. Floyd Perkins was nominated with 258 votes for the office of clerk over his opponent, Cora E. Blunk, who polled 154 votes.

A. E. Van Arken was nominated treasurer, defeating H. F. Smith, 212 votes to 204. Grant Power polled 235 votes against Charles J. Carter's 159 in the race for justice of the peace. In the closest contest of the election

Teachers Attend County Institute

Teachers from Plymouth public schools yesterday (Thursday) afternoon and evening attended the annual Wayne county teachers' institute held at Romulus for public school teachers of Wayne county cities and schools. Last year it convened here and about 350 attended.

Plymouth schools closed yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to enable teachers to get to the southern Wayne county village in time for the 4:00 o'clock session. Group meetings were held wherein teachers of a particular subject met to discuss any problems or new ideas that may have arisen. A dinner was served at 6:00 o'clock after which the teachers, among other things, heard Dr. Whitehead, dean of Wayne University, who was the main speaker of the institute.

Fuel "Bargains" MAY BE ...

FOOLHARDY

Every heating plant, like the human body, needs the right fuel. The cheapest solid fuel isn't always the least expensive. Bad fuel, like bad food or drink, causes many a "headache."

The real value of fuel is learned from burning it, not from its first cost. We will assist you in making the selection best suited to your needs. The proof is in the heating.

Club Opposes New Dog Bounty

The Western Wayne County Conservation association went on record at its last meeting to the effect that it is opposed to a bill that is to be proposed at the next session of the state legislature in regard to establishing a $5 bounty on dogs.

If such a bill is passed, it was said, it will legalize the killing of dogs. It is thought by association members that there will be a wholesale slaughter of the animals. The bill provides for the legal killing of dogs for a bounty if they are suspected of killing farmers' livestock. The club was of the opinion that any dog could be "suspected" without being an actual killer.

As a result of a bounty being placed on dogs, it was the consensus of opinion that some people would actually go into the dog killing business.

In connection with the dog topic, William Rumba, acting president of the club in the absence of President E. E. Champe, appointed John Bailey as chairman of a committee to work in conjunction with local authorities and the state department of conservation whereby rabid dogs in the city would be amply taken care of. Upon the first signs of the disease, Mr. Bailey's committee will also work in conjunction with the state department in dog identification.

Under the identification plan, each dog has a number tattooed on its ear. The numbers are filed with the state department and serves as protection against loss of the animal either by theft or straying.

Cage League Ends Next Week

When the Community Basketball league season ends next week 52 nights of games will have been completed. Each night there have been two games, making a total of over 100 games played so far this season. Play-offs for both men's and girls' teams start Monday evening, March 4, at 7:00 o'clock. The four top-ranking teams in the men's division and the girls' teams whose percentages are over .500 are privileged to participate in the play-offs. Other than March 4, the games will be played on March 6, 11 and 13. On March 4 and 6, the boys will play all games. Other nights, there will be both a girls' and a men's game.

Next week Monday, Daisy will meet the Perfection team and the Platers and Dunbar Davis teams will tangle. Wednesday, Blunk and Thatcher and Perfection will play. The second game that night will feature the playing of Daisy and Plating. Daisy will have their last chance to break Plating's perfect record for the season.

The Independent girls' team was eliminated from the play-offs Monday night when it was defeated by Cloverdale. The losers had been putting on a final drive to hit the 500 mark, but were stopped short by the milkmaids. Dunbar Davis' team also was dislodged from the running when it was defeated by Blunk and Thatcher the same night.

Last week's scores were as follows: Cloverdale 44, Independents 14; Blunk and Thatcher 22, Dunbar Davis 18; and Daisy 32, Hi-Speed 6.

The standings follow:
Men's Division W. L. Pct.
Plating 14 0 1.000
Daisy 14 2 .875
Schrader 9 8 .529
Blunk & Thatcher 7 10 .412
Dunbar Davis 5 12 .294
Perfection 0 14 .000
Girls' Division W. L. Pct.
Daisy 14 0 1.000
Hi-Speed 6 6 .500
Independents 6 8 .430
Hi-Speed 0 14 .000

New President of Michigan Press Favors Clean Advertising

Would Drive Quacks From the Business Field

As a means of seeking strict enforcement of the state false-advertising law and of affording a review of complaints as to misrepresentation in the advertising services in retail advertising, the Michigan Press association, of which this newspaper is a member, advocates the formation of a retailer-consumer committee in Michigan communities.

Action followed adoption of resolutions at the recent sixty-fifth annual convention of newspaper publishers at Michigan State college.

According to a bulletin received this week from Floyd J. Miller, Royal Oak publisher who is president of the state association, the local community committee would comprise representative retailers and representative women consumers.

Newspapers and their advertisers have long assumed that the function of advertising, states Mr. Miller, "is now to find that many consumers lack an understanding of its economic value. They do not know that advertising costs less than two per cent of the consumer dollar, according to the United States department of commerce, and is only one-fourteenth of the total distribution cost."

Furthermore, Michigan newspapers want the consumer to know of the protection afforded by the state's false-advertising law. Newspapers seek to strengthen this act by sponsoring amendments which would include buyers of goods as well as sellers of goods. These amendments were compiled in cooperation with the Better Business Bureau of Detroit.

"We feel that the consumer is best served by free and unhampered access to true information regarding merchandise and services. Likewise, we oppose attempts of special groups during legislative sessions at Lansing to deprive the consumer of the right to receive such advertising even though advertisers are subject to prosecution and court action under the state false-advertising act."

"Here is a consumer problem. The Michigan Press association wants to assist the consumer movement in a constructive way. It feels that a local retailer-consumer committee offers an agency for the promotion of both retailer and consumer interests."

W. A. Gwin, hardware merchant of Lapeer, and Emery E. Freeman, manager of the J. C. Peony company store in Mt. Pleasant, addressed the newspaper publishers during the recent convention. Both men told how newspaper advertising could be utilized profitably to increase and to maintain retail sales.

Following an address by W. S. Gilmore, editor of the Detroit News, the association was urged to "take every precaution against the publication of war propaganda without the same being plainly indicated to the reader as being an official statement of the government."

Editors also pledged their full support to an united effort to maintain our present national neutrality and thus to assist in keeping the United States out of the present conflict."

Vacation Study to Be Made

In order to obtain information relative to school education and manual labor history, a study of Plymouth and vicinity is being made by a group of enumerators for the state of Michigan. The project is called the Michigan Youth Vocational study. It is being made to determine whether or not, and if so, how much additional vocational study is needed in local schools to better provide students for their life work.

The survey will be started in Plymouth this week. Recently the enumerators have been in the surrounding territory. "We have received splendid cooperation for the short time we have been near Plymouth," declared G. W. MacTavart, supervisor of the project here, "and we hope Plymouth residents will show us the same courtesy when we get into the city proper."

Two years ago a similar survey was conducted in the state of Michigan and results were such that it was begun in this state. The vocational study is sponsored by the state division of Vocational Education, University of Michigan School of Education, Michigan Child Guidance Institute, State Board of Control for Vocational Education, Divisions of the Detroit Public School Vocational divisions and other similar organizations.

Electrical Ordinance

Ordinance No. 109
THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDINANCES
SECTION 1. That Section 2 of Ordinance No. 98, adopted April 26, 1936, be amended to read as follows:

Section 2. A schedule of fees shall be established by resolution of the City Commission. Fees shall be charged for inspection of electrical installations, devices, apparatus and equipment in the City of Plymouth.

The money so received shall be paid into the Treasury as part of the general receipts of the municipality, and such part as may be necessary used to pay the expenses of the inspections herein authorized.

SECTION 2. That Sections 6, 7, 8 and 9 be repealed and that the following new section be substituted and added:

Section 6. Re-inspection. The City Manager, or the Electrical Inspector, shall make periodically a thorough reinspection of the installation in buildings of all electric wiring, electric devices and electric material now installed or that may hereafter be installed, within the City of Plymouth, and when the installation of any such wiring, devices, and material is found to be in a dangerous or unsafe condition the person, firm or corporation owning, using or operating the same shall be notified and shall make the necessary repairs or changes required to place such wiring, devices and material in a safe condition and have such work completed within fifteen days, or any longer period specified by the electrical inspector in said notice. The City Manager, or the Electrical Inspector, is hereby empowered to disconnect or order the disconnection of electrical service to such wiring, devices and material so found to be defectively installed until the installation of such wiring, devices and material has been made safe as directed by the City Manager, or the Electrical Inspector.

Section 7. Construction Requirements and Approved Materials. A. No certificate of inspection shall be issued unless the electrical installation is in strict conformity with the provisions of this ordinance, the statutes of the State of Michigan, the rules and regulations issued by the Michigan Public Utilities Commission under authority of the state statutes, and unless they are in conformity with approved methods of construction for safety to person and property. The National Electrical Code with the uniform rules shall be adopted as a part of this Electrical Ordinance.

B. It shall be unlawful to install or use any electrical device, apparatus, or equipment designed for attachment to, or installation on any electrical circuit, or system for heat, light or power that is not of good design and construction, and safe and adequate for its intended use. The City Manager, or the Electrical Inspector, shall have power to disapprove the use or installation of devices not fulfilling these requirements.

It shall be the duty of the City Manager, or the Electrical Inspector, from time to time to inspect devices, apparatus and equipment offered to the public for use in installation to see that such items conform to the above requirements.

Section 8. Records and Review. The City Manager, or the Electrical Inspector, shall keep complete records of all permits issued and inspections made and other official work performed under the provisions of this ordinance.

When the Electrical Inspector condemns all or part of any electrical installation, the owner or contractor may, within five days after receiving written notice from the electrical inspector, file a petition in writing for review of said action with the Board of Examiners, upon receipt of which the said Board of Examiners shall at once proceed to determine whether said electrical installation complies with this Ordinance, and within three days shall make a decision in accordance with its findings.

Section 9. License for Electrical Work. A. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to engage as contractor in the installation, alteration or repair of electric wiring, equipment, apparatus or fixture for light, heat, power, medical or other purposes, where electro-motive force exceeds thirty (30) volts, in or about the buildings in the City of Plymouth without first having procured an electrical contractor's license.

B. A board of Examiners is hereby created which shall consist of the Electrical Inspector, a representative of the Company furnishing the electricity supply and a licensed electrical contractor. The two latter members of this Board shall be appointed by the City Commission for a term of one year, and shall hold office without receipt of remuneration from the City of Plymouth.

C. Any person, firm or corporation applying for an electrical contractor's license must have at least one individual duly qualified as a competent electrician, or competent lighting fixture man, as hereinafter provided. (Refer to Paragraph G), or must have one or more men permanently employed at all times with such qualifications.

D. Applications for an electrical contractor's license shall be made to the City Manager, and by him referred to the Board of Examiners. The Board shall consider the experience, training and qualifications of the applicant, and if satisfactory they shall approve the application for an electrical contractor's license of the class desired.

E. Class A. License shall include all electrical construction, alterations and repairs of apparatus for light, heat, power, medical and other purposes.

F. Class B. License shall be only for work pertaining to the manufacture and installation of electric lighting fixtures on wiring provided by others.

G. After approval by the Board of Examiners, the applicant shall pay to the treasury of the City of Plymouth a fee of $15.00 for said license for the current year, and thereafter a renewal fee of $15.00 for each calendar year. Renewals must be made before March 1st of each year. License must be displayed in applicant's place of business or shown upon request.

H. It shall be unlawful for any person to engage in the trade or occupation of qualified electrician or qualified lighting fixture man in the City of Plymouth without first having taken an examination and obtained a certificate of competency as herein provided. Applicants for certificates shall be twenty-one (21) years of age or over, and shall have had practical, trade or technical school experience acceptable to the Board. The Board of Examiners shall examine each applicant as such time, place, and in such manner as it may designate. The examination shall be of an elementary character, but sufficient to determine the qualifications of the applicant. Approval shall be by majority vote of the Board, who shall thereupon issue to applicant a certificate of competency, for which the applicant shall pay a fee of one ($1.00) dollar per annum to the treasury of the City of Plymouth. Renewals must be made before March 1 of each year and if not so made a new license must be secured. Certificates must be shown upon request.

I. Any electrical contractor's license or electrician's certificate may be revoked by the Commission of the City of Plymouth on the recommendation of the Electrical Inspector if licensee violates any ordinance or rules relating to the work he or they perform, or is responsible for work creating a hazard to person and/or property.

J. The Board of Examiners is hereby empowered and it shall be their duty to make such rules and regulations concerning electrical work in the City of Plymouth as may be required to properly provide for the situation therein. The rules and regulations shall become effective when approved by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth.

Section 10. A. Any person, firm or corporation who shall fail to comply with any of the provisions hereof, shall upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), together with the costs or by imprisonment of not more than 90 days, or both at the discretion of the court.

Section 11. Repeal of Conflicting Ordinances. A. All ordinances or parts of ordinances conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 12. A. This ordinance shall not be construed to relieve from or lessen the responsibility or liability of any party owning, operating, controlling or installing any electric wiring, electric devices and or electric material for damages to person or property caused by any defect therein nor shall the City of Plymouth be held as assuming any such liability by reason of the inspection authorized herein, or certificate of inspection issued as herein provided.

B. If any section of this ordinance be declared void by legal actions for any reason, all other sections shall continue to be in force, until specifically declared void through action of court.

Section 13. Enforcement of the Ordinance. A. This ordinance is declared to be one involving the public health and safety of the People of the City of Plymouth and shall take effect in twenty-one (21) days after its passage.

Give Auto Income Tax Deductions

Motorists May Deduct Operating Costs From Income

Of special interest to many Plymouth motorists are the facts concerning their automobile income tax deductions. According to the 1940 revision based on rulings by the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue the following information was received by Bartlett Rice, local agent for the American Automobile association.

First, the car owner may deduct from his gross income all sums paid during the calendar year in the form of registration fees, drivers' license fees, personal-property and municipal taxes.

Second, the gasoline tax may be deducted in all cases where it is a "consumers' tax" under the state law, but where it is specifically enacted as a "distributors' tax." If the taxes are added to or made a part of the business expense of the consumer, they cannot be deducted separately as a tax.

The Bureau has ruled that the gas tax is a consumers' tax in the following states: Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, Nevada, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin. In Ohio the three-cent motor vehicle fuel tax is deductible by the motorist but the one-cent liquid fuel tax is not.

Third, the interest of money borrowed for the purchase of an automobile is deductible, irrespective of whether the car is used for business purposes or for pleasure. If the taxpayer keeps his accounts on a cash basis, such interest will be deductible only for the year in which paid. If accounts are kept on an accrual basis, interest should be deducted as it accrues.

Fourth, if a passenger car is used wholly for business purposes, all expenses incident to maintenance, including depreciation, may be deducted. The Bureau fixes no definite rate of depreciation. Allowance is made for exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence of property and excludes any idea of mere reduction in market value not resulting from wear and tear. The burden of proof rests on the taxpayer to sustain the deduction, which is limited to such ratable amount as may reasonably be considered necessary to recover during the remaining useful life, the unrecovered cost or other basis. Where the car is used partly for business and partly for pleasure, only a proportionate part of the maintenance and depreciation may be deducted based on the extent to which the car is used in the taxpayer's pursuit of business.

Fifth, loss sustained by reason of damage to a passenger automobile while being used for pleasure is deductible. The loss, however, must be an actual loss to the person claiming the deduction in other words, if it is compensated for by insurance or otherwise, it is not deductible.

Sixth, the Bureau has ruled that where a motorist paid damages for injury to a pedestrian, such amount is deductible, provided at the time the injury occurred the car was being used for business. Since a fine paid by a motorist using a car for business purposes does not constitute an ordinary and necessary business expense, as that term is used in the Internal Revenue Code, no deduction may be taken for the amount so expended. Fines paid, or collateral forfeited in connection with charges of traffic violations, are not deductible for income tax purposes regardless of whether the car is used for business or pleasure purposes.

Seventh, loss sustained from the outright sale of an automobile used primarily for business purposes may be deducted in computing net income subject to the limitations contained in section 117 of the Internal Revenue Code relative to the treatment of capital gains and losses in the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation.

Eighth, the amount paid for insurance on automobiles used for business purposes may be deducted, but not the amount covering the premium on insurance to protect the finance company's interest.

Whether finance charges in connection with the purchase of an automobile should be treated as interest and therefore deductible or should be treated as a part of the cost of the automobile and therefore a capital expenditure is to be determined wherever possible by the provisions of the contract of sale. Amounts, even though specifically denominated as interest, are not deductible in situations where it is clear from an examination of the entire contract that such amounts were actually intended as a part of the purchase price. A premium paid for automobile liability insurance is within the category of expenses, and should be apportioned when an automobile is used partly for business and partly for pleasure. The portion applicable to business use is deductible for income tax purposes.

With reference to loss due to damage to a car maintained for pleasure the Bureau says: "A loss occasioned by damage to an automobile maintained for pleasure where such damage results from the faulty driving of the taxpayer but is not due to his willful act or negligence, may be deducted in the computation of the net income of the taxpayer. Where damage to a taxpayer's automobile results from the faulty driving of the operator of an automobile with which the automobile of the taxpayer collides, the loss occasioned to the taxpayer by such damage is likewise deductible. The amount of loss must, however, be reduced by the amount of any insurance or other compensation received and by the salvage value, if any, of the automobile."

The loss sustained from the outright sale of an automobile does not apply to cars traded in for new cars to be used in the business of the taxpayer. At this point, the Bureau of Internal Revenue said: "When an automobile used solely in the trade or business of a taxpayer is traded in as part payment on another automobile, no gain or loss is realized. In determining the basis for subsequent depreciation computations and the computation of gain or loss where exchanges of this kind occur, the purchase price of the new machine should be decreased or increased respectively according to whether the trade-in value of the old machine is greater or less than the depreciated cost of the old machine."

GIVE US A LEADER, LORD Give us, O Lord, a leader who can see Full well the hard-earned lessons of the past, Our long and bitter struggle 't to be free— The struggle, still, to hold that freedom fast: Who at the feet of Washington has sought his path, That something of his mind his own might be, And pondering on the life of Lincoln, caught The spark that causes such great minds to be.

Give us a man who sees beyond the years, That future generations have to pay For our mistakes, and with their blood and tears May solve the problems we create today. Give us, as citizens of this fair land, Clear judgment, knowledge and accord. Give us the wisdom to select a man— Our help give us a leader— Winifred Hyde Cutler.

Detroit's Mayor a Busy Official

(By Grace Hosenan) If any one would like to know all the answers to Professor Quiz's questions, or out-quiz Professor Quiz, let them spend a day in the waiting room of Mayor Jeffries' office in Detroit.

Genial Sergeant Barney Mulligan, who is detailed from the police department to the Mayor's office, is the man who can answer them. Barney has served from Mayor Couzen's regime on. He still keeps his sense of humor and as you listen you wonder how he does it.

He greets each caller, graciously. I say, "excuse me—because he is courteous to all—no matter how trying the situation. Some of the requests are along the following line: "I want a job as a night watchman at the city garage." "There are no vacancies at present." "Well, those working there have been on the job too long, let them go." "Yes, madam, in order to get a light at that particular place see the Public Lighting commission." "You probably did vote for the Mayor but he is very busy at present." (The Mayor was then and is now working on the budget, running into millions of dollars). "You didn't get the position after you had qualified—good Lord man—why didn't you tell me you were already getting a government pension—we are trying to get jobs for people who are practically starving to death." "You want a job in the fire department—a physical examination is necessary first, you took it and are too short, well, I am not a miracle man, I can't improve on nature." "You want a job on the D.S.R.—those jobs are under civil service—who put them under civil service—why the people voted—sorry, if you didn't vote for it, thousands did." "Thank you lady, for the invitation, but it is impossible for the Mayor to attend your afternoon affair—only take a few minutes—well, he is working so hard now he could play the lead in "The Thin Man". "Sorry, sir, see the city assessor for lower valuation on your property—you have—well, it isn't just done to let you place your own valuation, we have trained people to do that work." And so on and on.

Then as you move on into the executive offices, let me tell you there is no one "Hi-Falutin'" in there, and this writer has been around, but it is a place of perpetual motion, telephone ringing, typewriters going, and interviews being given and information being gathered.

As I listened to Mr. Zwolski, one of the Mayor's secretaries, talking to a man, and as he paused in the middle of his conversation the man said to the secretary, "You are an attorney, aren't you?" "Well, I think I am"—a modest reply—something to think about and follow suit. The other secretary, also an attorney, was giving his time to a young man who was trying to straighten out affairs for his mother. Although this didn't come under his line of duty, he took time out to help the young man and tell him how to proceed.

These are the things that help people remember him. Get this—the people associated with a leader, either help him go up or down.

And Mayor Jeffries in appealing to leaders of civic organizations to help him in his duties to achieve heights for Detroit and industry, was paying them a distinct honor, for "He who serves, serves not himself."

Thumme Attends Identification Meeting at Saginaw Saturday

As a representative of the Plymouth police department, Captain Charles J. Thumme attended a state identification meeting of the Michigan branch of the International Association of Chiefs of Police at the Bancroft hotel at Saginaw Saturday. Twenty identification specialists from cities in Michigan attended the all-day meeting of the group.

Each year the association meets to discuss civil and criminal identification and the duties of the officers are also told of any new developments that may have come up during the preceding year.

In a few years Michigan lake trout will be naturalized South Americans. That assurance is embodied in a letter from Charles E. Jackson, acting commissioner of fisheries of the United States Department of the Interior, reporting safe arrival of trout eggs shipped to the Argentine republic from the Thompson hatchery near here during Christmas week. Loss of eggs was only 10 per cent. The young trout will be reared in a modern hatchery at Bariloche.

Upper peninsula game birds were found more free of parasitic and infectious diseases than in former years by S. C. Whitlock, pathologist of the conservation department, on his annual inspection trip. He examined 55 birds. Tapeworms were rather common in sharp-tailed grouse but were not present in sufficient numbers to do appreciable damage, he reports. He found eyeworms fewer this year and, oddly, roundworms totally absent in grouse. Ratio of young to mature birds ran as usual about 50-50.

Transformation of some of the farmlands of Rose Lake wildlife experiment station from standard checker-board pattern to the most modern design of strip cropping, contour planting, erosion control, cover plantings and fence row rearrangement is being recorded photographically. Camera "points" are being established for periodic picture taking that will show the change from old to new style farmland uses.

Michigan has 4,187 named inland lakes with an estimated 1,000 additional unnamed lakes, most of which are located in the wilderness area of the north. About 8,000 of Michigan's lakes are used for fishing, bathing or other recreation.

Peddling is prohibited in the state parks of Michigan, though farmers may freely sell their own farm produce there.

How shrubs and trees which grow on lands swept by forest fires affect game birds and animal numbers is the subject of a full-time study by Ben Jenkins, of the game division of the conservation department, in a project financed by Pittman-Robertson funds. Comparative value and effects of burning, the natural succession of plant growth in the wilderness area of the north, and shelter that game birds and animals make of vegetation that follows a fire will be studied at

New Non-Fiction Available at Plymouth Library

According to a report from Mrs. Ada Murray, librarian at the Plymouth branch of the Wayne county library, some of the best non-fiction in various fields of reading may now be found at the Plymouth library. Any book in the following list may be borrowed free of charge: "March of the Iron Men" by Roger B. Burdette; the place of invention in the shaping of our democracy; "The Hudson" by Carl Carmer; picturesque legends and stories capturing the imagination; "The World Was My Garden" by David Fairchild; far-flung adventures of a plant collector.

"The Little Foxes," by Lillian Hellman; a pitiless drama of predatory people; "Wind, Sand and Stars" by Antoine de St. Exupery; the transcendent experiences of hours in the air, by a French pilot; "Not Peace but a Sword" by Vincent Sheean; a vibrant chronicle of Europe in 1938; "A Puritan in Babylon," by William Allen White; engrossing study of Calvin Coolidge and the faded prosperous twenties.

*According to an announcement made by Frank Rambo at the Plymouth branch office of the secretary of state, Tuesday, more license plates were sold for the first 20 days of this month than were sold for the corresponding period in February last year. The sale of full-year plates is above last year's sale and less half-year plates have been sold than in previous years.

"Since the 1940 license plates were placed on sale in the state last October, fewer than 200,000 sets of license plates have been issued. This brings us to the tremendous task of issuing more than 1,400,000 sets of license plates between now and the first of March," the secretary of state said in a press release last week. "We want to urge all motorists to purchase their plates as early as possible. By so doing, they will not only benefit themselves by not having to stand in line, but will enable the department to operate without increasing the payroll," he continued.

"Delay on the part of the motorists in purchasing license plates in the past has resulted in a last minute rush, which made it necessary for our department to hire outside help. This additional payroll will be eliminated if the motorist will buy his license plates early," the secretary concluded.

According to the number of plates remaining to be sold in Plymouth and other parts of Wayne county, it is doubtful if all automobile owners who wait for the last few days of this month can be accommodated. The last day that 1939 plates may be used is February 29. The deadline is non-negotiable.

Daily inquiries reach the Plymouth branch office as to the possibility of an extension of time for the use of 1939 license plates. It is reported that the deadline cannot be changed because of an act of the 1937 state legislature which ruled that the deadline is March 1.

In order to take care of the expected demand for plates which will probably be experienced during the next two weeks, Plymouth's branch office of the secretary of state and others throughout Michigan will remain open until March 1. All branches of the department will be open for business on Washington's birthday, February 22.

License plate application blanks are available at all branch offices and all automobile salesmen, and all license plates will be issued without title of ownership. If a title cannot be found, the owner must make application for a duplicate title. Care should be taken that the motor and serial numbers on the application correspond with those on the car, and the signature of the applicant is the same as those on the former application, as these items are particularly checked, the Plymouth branch manager advised. Duplicate titles cost $1.00. The same original titles. Every duplicate title application must be accompanied by a statement as to what happened to the original.

The title certificate is a valuable document. Car owners are compelled to have it with them when making application for new license plates.

Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 5: 16

Hospitalization Plan Offered

Low cost protection against the high cost of hospital care is now available locally to family groups through the efforts of William Petz, well-known Plymouth resident. He represents the Michigan Hospital Benefit association, a co-operative, not-for-profit association organized under the insurance laws of the state of Michigan.

That the plan is of worth to all members of the community is proven by its phenomenal growth in Detroit and all over Michigan. Mr. Petz says, "the plan pays for up to 88 days of hospitalization for every member of the family insured under the family group. There are no illnesses or accidents exempted from payment of benefits; the certificate paying for contagious diseases, maternity cases, mental disorders and tuberculosis in any hospital of the members' choice, whether it is a general, osteopathic, contagious or government hospital.

"In addition to paying up to six dollars a day for a surgical case, members' fees for ambulance, operating room, and oxygen are provided for under this plan. If the member chooses less expensive accommodations then are provided in the contract he may take the difference in cash—to be used any way he desires.

"An outstanding board of directors, serving without pay have made this plan possible," according to Mr. Petz, "and the people of this community so far have been very receptive to the plan and its aims.

"Until a few months ago, only large employe groups were able to obtain this protection," Petz adds, "in a little more than a year over 700 firms, among them The Detroit Edison company, The Detroit News, Times, and Free Press have made it available to over 200,000 employes and their families. In response to an ever-growing demand from people who did not qualify for group coverage the family group plan was conceived," Mr. Petz concluded.

G-Man Hoover says he may marry if he finds the right girl. You'd think a G-Man could get his woman.

Include World War Relics With Ford Gift to City

In all the parks in the city of Plymouth there was not a relic of the World War until recently when Henry Ford gave a piece of land opposite the Ford Wilcox plant to the city to use for municipal purposes. It was learned from James Gallimore, one of the first employes at the Wilcox plant, that in order to keep automobiles from running across or parking on this triangular plot, it was necessary to set some posts around it. These posts are the World War relics.

Following the war, Henry Ford bought a number of ocean-going boats which he junked for scrap iron. The posts were salvaged from one of the boats.

Mr. Gallimore said that he did not know for sure just what the six-inch iron piping was used for on the boats, but he was of the opinion that they had to do with the steam system in some way.

When the piping was brought to Plymouth it was cut into six-foot strips, Mr. Gallimore says, and each pipe was set in the ground in three feet of concrete.

It was reported by city officials that the Ford property will be beautiful and made a municipal entrance park to the city from Schoolcraft road. It is a triangular piece of land bounded by Wilcox road, Holbrook and Hardenburg avenues, containing about one-half an acre. The Ford Motor company obtained the property when it was included in a purchase of land from the old Wilcox estate on which the Ford plant was constructed.

The commission at its meeting last week gratefully accepted the quitclaim deed from Mr. Ford and authorized that a letter of appreciation be sent to the Detroit motor car magnate.

Wildlife Club to Release Eggs

Plans are under way by the state bird rearing committee, headed by Dr. Paul W. Butz, of the Western Wayne County Conservation association to make possible the release of several thousand pheasant eggs in this locality this spring. D. D. Donet, member of the Western Wayne County Conservation association, was appointed chairman of a committee at its last meeting to induce 4H clubs and farmers in the vicinity to set out the eggs. Pheasant eggs will be provided by the state department of conservation. The only expense to the local club will be the cost of wire netting for pens in which to rear the young birds.

When the birds reach a certain age, they are to be released. The state department reports, according to previous experience with the birds, that when set free they will not stray far away from the locality in which they were raised.

Members of the Wildlife association see a distinct advantage for those who take the eggs. Not only will they be serving the state department but also they will be making for better hunting conditions in the vicinity of their own property.

Independents Two Games From Goal

In their final push to hit the 500 percent mark, the Independent girls' basketball team has won its last two starts and now stand within 083 of their goal. It is reported by Earl Gray, director of the league, that if they win their two remaining games they will be eligible to compete in the playoffs which start March 4, and continue on the sixth, eleventh and thirteenth.

Contesting teams in the men's division playoffs are determined by the first four place holders. At the present time the sought-for spots are held by Plating, Daisy, Schrader and the Blunk and Thatcher teams. Dunbar Davis' team is in fifth place, .063 behind their nearest rival.

During the past week Cloverdale beat 18-14 Blunk and Thatcher won from Perfection 58-34 and Daisy edged out Schrader's 36-30 after playing a three-minute overtime. The score at the end of the regular game was 28-all. Dunbar Davis won from Perfection 51-18.

Games scheduled for next week include the following: Monday, Independents vs. Cloverdale and Blunk and Thatcher vs. Dunbar Davis; Tuesday, Daisy vs. Hi-Speed and Schrader vs. Plating; Thursday, Perfection vs. Plating and Blunk and Thatcher vs. Daisy. Officials for these games will be James Williams, "Red" Foster and Clarence Levandowski.

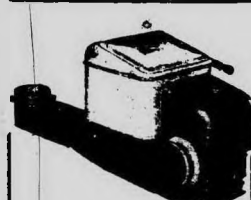

150 Enjoy O. E. S. Valentine Party Thursday

A delicious luncheon was enjoyed by about 150 ladies at the Eastern Star Valentine party on Thursday, February 15. On each card table was a cactus or a rubber plant which was the prize for the one with high score at that table.

Door prizes, donated by Bartlett & Kaiser, Cal Simon, Sanitary Bakery, D & C store, Plymouth Hardware and many of the members of the Eastern Star went to the following: Mrs. Ethel Grimmel, Mrs. Merle Rorabacher, Mrs. Flora Rathburn, Mrs. Mildred Jewell, Mrs. Manna Blunk, Mrs. Winifred Clark, of Detroit; Mrs. W. H. Canfield, Mrs. Crammet, Mrs. George Hills, Mrs. Lucille Dubee, Mrs. Beulah Flaherty, Mrs. Earl Taylor, of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Stella Allison, Mrs. Floyd Wilson, Mrs. Minnie Hines, Mrs. J. N. McLaughlin, Mrs. Joyce Bentley, Mrs. Dugan, of Northville; Mrs. J. Sugden, of Detroit; and Mrs. Hazel Schott, of Detroit. The needlepoint pillow was won by Mrs. George Farwell.

The committee in charge wishes to thank all who helped make this party a huge success.

There might be more friendliness in this world if people would give less advice to each other.

Euchre League Leaders in First Place by One Game

The Canton Center-Cherry Hill Euchre club played its sixteenth session this week with Wagenschultz and Waldecker still in first place by one game. They defeated F. Waldecker and Theisen 7-6 and have won seven matches without a defeat. For the second time this year a forfeit of 8-5 was claimed by H. Gumtow and O. Eichstadt over R. Hood and A. Keister.

C. Blackmore and E. Wendland made it two in a row when they swamped J. Murdock and P. Gots 8-5. Yost and J. West played their postponed games Sunday, February 10, with A. West and J. Losey and won 7-6. They also beat Freddie and Buckner 7-6. Finnigan and M. Corwin came out of their slump and won from A. West and J. Losey 7-6.

Find Bodies of Detroit Couple Near Rosedale

Robert G. Taylor, 60 years old, and his wife, Emma, 55, disappeared from their home at 12611 Birchwood avenue in Detroit last Thursday, Monday the four-day mystery surrounding their disappearance was solved when Wayne county sheriff's officers found their bodies in a car parked in a barn near Rosedale Gardens on Merriman road, between Plymouth and Chicago roads.

Death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning. A section of rubber tubing had been placed to carry the car's exhaust into the interior.

The Taylors' disappearance was reported by Mrs. Taylor's sister, Miss Blanche Boivin, 2530 Second avenue, Detroit, after receiving a letter signed by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor containing insurance policies and giving directions that their bodies be cremated.

Mrs. Taylor suffered from a mental ailment about two years ago and was a patient at Eloise hospital for 18 months. Her condition improved and she returned home December 1. Taylor was a window washer.

With The Masons

We wish to remind all members of Plymouth Rock lodge No. 47, F. & A. M., and visiting brothers that this Friday, February 23, there will be served a turkey dinner at 6:30 o'clock in the dining room of the Temple. All brothers are urged to be present. Tickets may be purchased from any officer.

Brother George Ferguson, of Loyalty lodge will be speaker of the evening. We believe that his message will be of value to all.

Following the course of events in the dining room, there will be third degree work.

Fish "crops" will vary from one body of water to another as widely as terrestrial crops will vary from farm to farm, according to the suitability of the environment.

First in the Hearts of its Countrymen

YOU don't have to look farther than the nearest parking lot to see how the public has taken to this 1940 Buick.

Although it is not the largest seller, polls of public opinion mark it clearly as the car "first in the hearts of its countrymen."

On general appearance, for instance, Buick gets better than a 19% vote as best looking, to 11% for the Number Two car.

Its thrifty Dynaflex power plant, now balanced after assembly, gives it twice as many Best-of-the-Bunch votes as any other, as does its chassis construction.

With soft and easy coil springs all around it's only natural that some two and a half times as many people pick Buick as best for ride. And a two to one vote on room is understandable in view of the SUPER'S close-to-five-foot front seat.

But the really satisfying thing to us is the way people size up Buick's value.

Half again as many people pick Buick as best buy as pick any other. And three out of five who rate Buick No. 1 say it's the value that gives it the edge.

So it's not surprising when polls show more people wanting Buick than want any other car — and when Buick's midwinter sales hit new peaks.

And shouldn't that, in turn, logically suggest: better get yours now — and be sure of having it?

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up

The wedding of Barbara Hix and Robert Soth will take place Saturday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church with Rev. Walter Nichol officiating. Miss Hix has been the guest of honor during the last two weeks at various showers. The first was a linen shower when Paula and Pauline Gust were joint hostesses. In their home on Warren road. There were about 30 friends of the bride-to-be present. Friday evening Mrs. Cady Hix gave a dinner party and kitchen shower at which time she entertained the relatives of the bride-to-be. On Sunday afternoon a personal shower and tea were given by Margaret Tuck, of Northville and Ruth Ford, of Plymouth, in the home of Mrs. Carlos Truesdell on Haggerty highway. Yellow was the predominant color used in the table decorations at the latter affair and the honored guest was presented with a lovely corsage. Thursday evening of this week Mrs. Needham Lockwood entertained 16 guests at a miscellaneous shower in Miss Hix honor. Red, white and blue decorations were used. The following guests were present: Miss Hix, Mrs. Perry C. Hix, Marion Hix, Mrs. Arlo A. Soth, Mrs. Elvah Elzerman, of Detroit; Doris Lockwood, of Ypsilanti; Mrs. William Michael, Mrs. Kenneth Norris, Mrs. George Fischer, Mrs. Russell Morrill, Mrs. Lawrence Burgett, Mrs. Floyd Bur-

Myrilla Savery entertained several guests from Detroit and Plymouth Tuesday evening at a kitchen shower and dinner honoring Mrs. Dorothy Credit Farmer, of Detroit, a recent bride. The party was held in the home of Mrs. Effie Renwick, an aunt, where Miss Savery resides. Games were the pastime for the evening after which the guest of honor was presented with many useful gifts for the kitchen.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gates entertained 18 friends of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ross Gates, Thursday evening of last week, at a supper party in honor of her birthday. The decorations, carried out the Valentine Day theme, red and white flowers and place cards being used. The guests enjoyed playing various games, planned by their hosts.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ex-Service Men's club will have a potluck luncheon this Friday, in the home of Mrs. George Gottschalk on Lilley road. On Saturday evening, February 24, the Ex-Service Men's club members and their wives will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gardner on the Ann Arbor road for an evening of "500".

Mrs. Allen Horton and Mrs. Ernest L. Thrall have invited a large group of ladies to attend a series of dessert bridge parties to be given by them in the former's home during the coming week. The hostesses are planning to have about 12 each day, they entertain. Spring flowers, in the pastel shades, will be used in the decoration of the home.

Mrs. Harry Laible was pleasantly surprised Monday when a group of friends walked in on her and joined her in the celebration of her birthday. The afternoon was enjoyed in playing Chinese checkers. Later a dainty luncheon was served with red roses and red tulips as a centerpiece.

Doris Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cole, who is a member of the Redford Follies, took part in a program given Saturday night at a political rally in Redford, having a solo dancing part. Supper was served after the program with dancing following.

Mrs. Robert O. Wesley entertained 16 guests at a bridal shower, Saturday afternoon, in honor of Edith Collins, of Detroit. The table decorations were in silver and white with a miniature bride and bridegroom in the center of the table, encircled by white flowers.

Mrs. Joseph Lannon and son, Mickey, who have been visiting her aunt, Miss Nettie Pelham, since Thursday of last week, left Tuesday morning for their home in Chicago.

Mrs. William Jennings entertained the members of the Ambassador bridge group at a dessert and bridge, Thursday, in her home on Williams street.

Mrs. Effie Renwick, Mrs. Glenn Renwick, Mrs. Coda Savery, Mrs. Harvey Springer and daughter, Helen Jane, and Myrilla Savery plan to attend a luncheon and shower, Saturday, to be given by Mrs. George Schlemmer, of Detroit, for her cousin, Mrs. Albert J. Bradley, of Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lashmet and two sons, of Dallas, Texas, arrived in Plymouth last week to make their home here. They are residing in the John W. Johnson house on West Ann Arbor Trail. Mr. Lashmet is a nephew of Mrs. Orson Polley.

Dr. and Mrs. Luther Peck will have as their dinner guests Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Dean W. Meyers and daughter, Miss Dorothy, of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Quick, of Detroit; and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Michener, of Adrian.

The members of C.A.R. had their installation and third anniversary party, Saturday afternoon, in the home of Margery Merriam in Coventry Gardens. Mrs. J. Merle Bennett, regent of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter, D.A.R., was a special guest.

A very lovely party was given Wednesday by Mrs. Luther Peck when she entertained 18 guests at a 1:00 o'clock luncheon and contract bridge. The table decorations were appropriate to George Washington's birthday anniversary.

James Meyers Takes Ypsilanti Bride

A lovely wedding took place Friday evening, February 16, at 8:00 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Tripp, in Ypsilanti, when their daughter, Helen Margaret, became the bride of James Frederick Meyers, son of Mrs. Jennie Meyers, of Plymouth. The candlelight service uniting them was read by the Rev. Walter B. Heyler, of the First Methodist church in Ypsilanti. White flowers and ferns were used in decorating the fireplace in front of which the wedding party stood.

The bride wore a gown of powder blue crepe made with jacket and her corsage was of orchids. Her only attendant was Luella Meyers, sister of the bridegroom, who acted as bridesmaid. She wore a gown of pink crepe and a corsage of pink rosebuds and sweet peas.

Gerald Handorp, of Plymouth, attended the bridegroom as best man. Mrs. Tripp chose a gown of navy blue crepe for her daughter's wedding while Mrs. Meyers wore a duobonnet crepe gown. Each wore a corsage of gardenias.

A reception was held in the home for the immediate families and close friends, after which Mr. and Mrs. Meyers left on a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. They will reside on Ferris street in Ypsilanti.

The happy couple has the very best wishes of a host of friends in and about Plymouth.

For the fourth consecutive year, hunters in the Allegan area have bagged a coyote. Most recent kill was that credited to Guy Teed and Morris Martin of Allegan, a young female weighing 27 pounds.

Obituary

CHARLES F. BENNETT
Charles Forrest Bennett, a resident of this community for 83 years, passed away at his home at 659 West Ann Arbor street early Monday afternoon, at the age of 83 years. Mr. Bennett was a former clerk of the circuit court commissioners of Wayne county in Detroit for many years. He is survived by one nephew, Pierre S. Bennett, of Detroit, and a host of friends. Mr. Bennett was brought to the Schrader Funeral home, from which place funeral services were held Wednesday, February 21, at 2:00 p.m. Two beautiful hymns were sung by Mrs. W. S. McAllister, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. M. J. O'Conner. Rev. Stanford S. Closson officiated. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

there is no other teakettle with the unique features of this one. A pop-out plug guards against damaging the element if negligence allows the kettle to boil dry. The kettle plugs into any electric outlet, and a special high-speed element heats water FAST. Kettle holds nearly four quarts. $4.95 at any Detroit Edison office.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST Scientist. Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00. "Mind" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 25, 1940. The golden text (Psalms 147:5) is "Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite." Among the Bible citations is this passage (James 2:12): "So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 225): "The history of our country, like all history, illustrates the might of Mind, and shows human power to be proportionate to its embodiment of right thinking."

Mid-week service and prayer, Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. We extend a hearty welcome to all to come and worship at the church that has a hearty welcome for you and where the Word of God is preached and taught in the good "old-fashioned" way. Where nothing is added to the Word and nothing taken away. Rev. 22: 18 and 19: For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book. If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book. And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the Book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.

WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL

It is no accident that America's telephone service is the best and most widely used telephone service in the world. Instead, this is the result of a long-established policy of the Bell System... a policy that has always sought to provide the public with the best possible service at the lowest possible price. America endorses this policy by using the telephone about 70 million times a day... Guided by the same sense of responsibility to the public, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company strives to keep Michigan's telephone service good and cheap, and within the reach of all.

First and Second Grades
We had a Valentine party. Everybody brought us lunch. We had ice cream and cake. Some of the mothers made the Valentines. We had movies instead of games. There were five guests at our party.

Third and Fourth Grades
Rosalee Case's family is building a new house.

Marguerite Opper has a magic answer box. Now Marguerite answers all the questions anyone asks her.

Mr. Craven is taking some children from our room to the circus. They are Anna Cravens, Thelma Mahoney, Douglas Burkholder, and Bobbie Shelton. Orville Meining has been to the circus already. He enjoyed seeing the elephants do tricks.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
The fifth and sixth grades are drawing pictures to demonstrate the animals they are studying. We had our party on Valentine day and invited Mrs. Weatherhead. We danced, too.

Seventh and Eighth Grades
The Monthly Buzz is coming out at the end of this month.

Campfire News
We had a party last night. Mrs. Anderson, a sponsor, gave it to us. We had a lovely time. We played games, sang, etc. We are having a candy sale Friday at the school dance.

Kindergarten
Gerald Jahn, Nancy Magee and Patricia Fuhrman have been absent a long time. We will welcome them back. We are ready to begin to learn to read now. We can make letters, too.

Music
This year we have a large instrumental group. Elaine Schultz has a banjo. Elaine Mahoney, Glen Johnson, Joe Eves, and Louise Christensen play guitars. Dorothy Cornett and Jack Wilson play saxophones. Ethel Mae Mahoney and Leland Kilgore are learning to play the mandolin. Homer Wixson and Leland Kilgore play violins and Jack Wixson has a fine set of drums. We have a nice group of harmonicas. When the weather is cold we dance during our recess periods.

Mr. Jensen is very ill in the University hospital at Ann Arbor. Mrs. Magee is still very ill. Mrs. Thomson is in Grace hospital in Detroit. She has appendicitis.

Rosedale Gardens

On Thursday afternoon of last week Mrs. Charles J. Smith opened her home on Melrose avenue for the Musical Tea given annually by the Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church. The program, with Mrs. Lester Bookout as chairman, consisted of piano numbers by Adele Sweeney, Barbara Butt, Alene Burns, Caroline Sayres, Barbara Stover and Arthur Segnitz, of the Gardens; a beautiful violin solo by Betty Jean Pettinger, of Flint; who was accompanied on the piano by her mother; a vocal solo by Miss Johnson, of the Foundation School of Music, of Detroit, accompanied by May Hofferbath, of that city; and a piano solo by George Ritchie, also of the Foundation School of Music. Each number was very well rendered and received hearty applause from the audience of about 60 ladies. Following the program Mrs. Smith, with her very able assistants, served tea, dainty sandwiches and cookies, from a lace covered table centered with a beautiful bouquet of calla lilies.

THE RESPONSIBILITY.

H. J. Richardson is the editor of the Democratic Augusta Beacon over in Kalamazoo county. He is a thoughtful editor and has long been in public service of a high type. In a recent editorial discussion of state finances he expresses some truths that are worthy of more than ordinary emphasis.

Following are the ideas of Editor Richardson pertaining to a problem that is of vital interest to every Michigan citizen:

"According to the records this state and our nation are going farther and farther into debt, and those in charge of finances are getting the blame. But the blame is not put where it belongs. Every candidate for office promises a reduction of taxes, but when elected they not only fail to reduce taxes but actually permit them to increase.

"The president and the governor have to bear much of the criticism, yet most every well informed person knows that one man alone is not responsible for raising money through taxation. They can recommend, but the congress and the legislature are the taxing bodies.

"But the real blame is not with these legislative bodies, but is largely with us, the general public. We want more expensive schools, more and better roads, more supervision of traffic, conservation, taxation, law enforcement and many other requirements that demand a constantly increasing supply of money. Added to all these is the staggering amount of money required for welfare, pensions, unemployment, social security, etc.

"And the public is demanding these, whether you call them improvements, luxuries or necessities, it makes no difference.

"A former governor is charged with leaving a deficit of $26,898,000 for his successor to reduce, which he promised to do. But instead of being reduced it is now reported to have increased to $30,000,000.

Neither governor should be charged with this deplorable condition of our finances.

"The legislature, the tax-levying body of the state, simply cannot, or dares not, ignore the demands of the public for more and better service, even though it means increased taxes. And right now the state officials are worried because they do not know how to meet present expenses without finding some new form of taxation.

"If we want to lower taxes we must be more modest in our demands upon the public treasury."

THE FARM PROBLEM.

Practical application of the "good neighbor" policy at home, as a solution of the common problems of labor, industry, and agriculture, was urged in Des Moines, Iowa, recently by farm leaders at the 21st annual convention of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation.

Viewing the progress of national and state farm bureau organizations from their modest beginnings to the present, when they occupy an important place in the Nation, the leaders agreed nevertheless that Governor Clifford E. Townsend of Indiana was right when he declared:

"We are now only about ready to begin the job of solving our problem."

Governor Townsend, a former "dirt farmer," asking that the farmer join hands with industry and labor toward adjustments which would benefit all, said:

"You talk about the farm problem, but there is no such thing. Maybe there used to be a farm problem, but today it is a problem which belongs to the Nation—it is a problem of importance to every man and woman in the country. It is a national problem.

"Whose problem is soil fertility? Whose problem is conservation of the land? Why, the president of the Chamber of Commerce is as interested in those problems as any of you farmers. Like labor's problems, it is a problem belonging to the great American family—one to be solved by family consultation and co-operation."

Referring to the growing realization that all phases of the Nation are inter-dependent, Governor Townsend asserted in "attempting to reconcile our differences we should all learn the meaning of that wonderful word, conciliation."

"With all our knotty problems," he declared, "there is not one which cannot be satisfactorily settled if the groups involved will sit down around the table and talk it over. We must all be willing to give as well as to take."

Urging an attitude of co-operation rather than of antagonism in seeking agricultural benefits, Governor Townsend concluded:

"Nothing was ever won by fighting. Not even in a war. But by conciliation things can be accomplished. All the farmers of America want today is a square deal and when you let these other groups know that you've won your point. Because as soon as they know that you seek no unfair advantage they will prove that they are just as fair as you are yourselves."

MONEY!

It's good to have money
And the things that money can buy.
But it's good, too, to check up once in a while
And make sure that you haven't lost that which money can't buy.

IT HELPED SOME, HURT OTHERS.

Both the Tennessee Valley Authority and the State of Tennessee have appealed to Congress through a hearing before the house of representatives Military Affairs committee for legislation to relieve the serious tax situation which has arisen through the taking of millions of dollars of property out of the reach of state and local levies through Federal ownership.

Prentice Cooper, Governor of Tennessee, told the committee that particularly since the acquisition by TVA of the Tennessee Electric Power company, probably 80 out of the 95 counties had sustained some tax loss by the taking of this property or of reservoir land off their assessment rolls. He named six counties in which the tax loss is anticipated to be from around 25 to more than 40 percent.

This, it was pointed out, would probably mean the closing of schools in many localities as an anomalous result of an effort at improved social welfare. A large part of the taxes involved are county revenues, used for school and county government purposes. However, remedial legislation is proposed in the Norris-Sparkman bill, supported by the TVA and by Governor Cooper.

This measure was explained by its sponsor, Representative John J. Sparkman (D) of Alabama, and by William C. Fitts, Jr., counsel for the TVA board. It would provide that 10 percent of the electric power gross revenue of TVA should be paid to the states or counties in lieu of taxes next year but that this should gradually be reduced to 5 percent in 1948. The original act provided for payment of 5 percent, but only to Alabama and Tennessee in the proportion of power generated.

Mr. Fitts pointed out that some tax compensation should be extended also to Georgia, North Carolina, Mississippi, and Kentucky, and that half of the distribution should be in accordance with sales of electricity rather than on a basis of production alone, which favors Alabama. This is provided in the new bill.

He estimated that the payments by TVA in lieu of taxes under the measure would be approximately $1,372,000 next year, as compared with $560,000.00 in the fiscal year 1940 without the readjustment, and with $243,000 in 1938-39 before the T. E. P. system was bought.

Both the counsel and the Governor emphasized that this proposed amount would take the place only of the ad valorem taxes now levied on property, mostly by the counties, and would not reimburse the state of Tennessee for between $600,000 and $700,000 of franchise or gross revenue taxes which it has been accustomed to collect from the private company.

Governor Cooper urged that an amendment be made so that the state would not lose more than half of this revenue, but Mr. Fitts argued that the State has received benefits worth several times this amount in the reduced rates for electricity and in the soil conservation or agricultural activities of TVA, and hence should find other sources from which to make up its loss.

Representative Charles R. Clason (R) of Massachusetts

asked why the difference of $800,000 which must come out of TVA revenues should not be returned to the Federal government to repay the investment it had made to subsidize low rates for electricity in the Valley. Mr. Fitts replied that this was only in proportion to the percentage of revenue paid in taxes by neighboring utility systems, and that the investment of the Federal government would be repaid above that amount, though in a longer time.

Later hearings, and particularly the cross-examination of Mr. Fitts, probably will go into the subject of whether the provision for taxes makes TVA an honest yardstick for comparison of other electric power rates. This question was raised only briefly by Representative Walter G. Andrews (R) of New York in the initial session.

A GOOD ACT

We believe that transfer of the state fire marshal's office to the state police department was a wise move and we congratulate the legislature upon having provided for this change. Fire marshals will no longer be by political appointment, thus bringing new and untrained men to the work too frequently, but the work will be carried on by state police trained for the work and who will remain on the job. Eight officers are now receiving special training for the work of inspection and fire prevention. The job of determining fire origins where there is suspicion of arson and of finding the arsonists is really a police job anyway.—William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

HELP FOR OLD AGE

The nation wide social security plan providing monthly old age and survivors benefits has gone into effect. This is realized an ideal for which social reformers have long been contending, that provision should be made for old people for whom the industrial machine has usually been able to do but little.

These benefits may be considered the result of the growing difficulty which the old people have had in finding work. In the simple life of old times, elderly people could usually find odd jobs which they could perform if physically able. With modern industry speeded up in a machine age, and demand for clock work efficiency, jobs for the old folks have dwindled. It has often been poor judgment to turn down these older people. They frequently constitute the best workers, but with conditions as they are it is hard for them to find work. The nation has generously come to their rescue.—R. J. Jefferies in The Lowell Ledger.

Interesting News of Days Gone By Taken From The Plymouth Mail Files

The people of the village of Plymouth want a manager of that place, and to get a good man and keep him they want the charter amended so that they can employ one at a salary not to exceed $200 a month. And they would save money at that.

The Tuesday Bridge club was entertained by Miss Rose Hawthorne this week.

Master Oscar Huston pleasantly entertained the boys of his Sunday school class from 8 to 8. at his home last Saturday evening.

Little Janette Whipple and Esther Estep were week-end visitors with Miss Gladys Cook at her home in Ypsilanti.

Fred Kaiser was agreeably surprised Tuesday evening when a company of friends gathered at his home to remind him that it was his birthday anniversary. Cards were the entertainment of the evening, after which dainty refreshments were served. At a late hour the guests returned to their homes wishing him many happy returns of the day.

A large crowd witnessed the home talent play, "Miss Fearless and Company," with specialties, presented at the opera house last week Thursday, under the auspices of the Walaismuha Camp Fire Girls. Each young lady took her part in a very credible manner and is worthy of great praise, as is also Harry Green, under whose direction the play was presented. The amount cleared by the girls was $62.50, a portion of which will be held in reserve for the maintenance of the society and the remainder of the money will be used for the school playground. Arrangements are being completed for the removal of the church to the little village of Newburg.

A Larkin "Club of Ten" was organized at the home of Mrs. Will Cort at Livonia Center Friday, with Mrs. Cort as secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bird and two daughters were entertained on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Heeney at Lapham's Corners. Mrs. Allie Nelson and son, Cordie, of Lapham's Corners, spent Saturday with the former's daughter, Mrs. Effie Howe, at her home near South Lyon.

The seating capacity of the village hall was taxed to its utmost last Friday afternoon by a large audience who had assembled to honor the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, the great emancipator. The exercises were under the auspices of Eddy Post, G.A.R., assisted by the public school and others. Superintendent C. F. Reebbs acted as chairman of the day. Thirty-five members of the G. A. R. occupied seats at the front of the house. The stage and entire building were profusely decorated with flags and bunting. On one side of the stage was a large portrait of Lincoln while on the opposite side there was a portrait of Washington, the two greatest men in the annals of American history.
