Nearly all of the great states of the nation have developed as the result of individual efforts within the states. They are great because the states have made themselves great. As we look about Michigan, it is difficult to find any important development ever made by the federal government...

Tax Rate to Drop 80 Cents in Plymouth

Submits Budget to Commission Last Monday

Total Expenditure Decreases $3,972.86 Over Last Year

Plymouth property owners will experience a relief in their tax burden during 1940-41, it has been revealed following a report of the budget committee to the city commission.

The budget committee, composed of Mayor L. E. Wilson and City Manager C. H. Elliott, has just submitted their balanced budget for 1940-41 to the city commission.

Parts of the city budget for the next fiscal year, starting July 1, will be published in weekly installments in The Plymouth Mail beginning next week.

Never in the past for Plymouth has so complete a comparison between the present year and the city has been taken into consideration and a complete table of expenditures has been made.

Expect Work to Start Soon on New Post Office for Northville

New Milk Law of Little Benefit, Say Farmers

Hearing Held on Measure in Lansing Last Week

Is the new milk marketing law proving of any benefit to the farmers of Michigan? The law was passed by the last session of the legislature for the sole purpose of helping the dairy farmers as well as the consumers.

But is the new law working out that way? Many farmers in the vicinity of Plymouth say emphatically NO.

That fact became evident last week when a delegation of milk producing farmers left their work long enough to go to Lansing to present a protest to the state milk control board against the operations of the present law.

They demanded a hearing sometime ago, and it was finally held last week. The milk producers made an effort to show to the board that they were no better off under the new law than they were before, in fact, no quite so well off.

Well, if the new milk law is no good and if it has not accomplished its purpose, it should be kicked out by the next session of the legislature.

While the law has not been in effect only a short time, it certainly, declare these farmers, has proven of no benefit so far. Possibly the time is a little short maybe a trial of a few months.

They also charge that just previous to the enactment of this law that "base" milk prices were forced down to a low level, that after the milk control board was established, prices for "base" milk went up a little, but that the demand for "base" milk decreased and the "surplus" amount was increased.

Plans Complete for Banquet

Arrangements are complete for the banquet planned for Thursday evening, April 18, at which a University club will be organized in Plymouth.

All Michigan alumni are cordially invited to attend the banquet. Tickets for the affair will be on sale soon.

On Friday evening at the same hour they will give a musical program at the local Methodist church. There will be no admission charge and everybody is invited to attend.

Did You Know That The Townsend club is having a quilt party at Grange hall, Monday evening, April 15, dancing with Herman Scheel's orchestra. Free lunch.

To Elect Officers

MRS. JESS HINES President Starkweather Parent-Teachers' association

The regular meeting of the Starkweather P.T.A. will be held Thursday evening, April 18, at the Starkweather school.

In addition to the election of officers next Thursday night County Agricultural Agent E. I. Besemer, will give an illustrated lecture on gardening.

Free Lecture on Cancer, April 18

As a featured part of the drive against cancer sponsored in this city by the Plymouth branch of the Women's Field Army for the Control of Cancer, headed by Mrs. Cass Hough, there will be a special program put on for the public at the Penman-Allen theater Thursday afternoon, April 18, starting at 2:00 o'clock.

The speaker is president of the Michigan Obstetrical and Gynecological society. He is gynecologist-in-chief and senior attending obstetrician at Women's Hospital in Detroit.

Club Has Annual Luncheon Meeting

The annual luncheon meeting of the Plymouth Woman's Club will be held next week Friday, April 19, at the Mayflower hotel.

Following the luncheon, the business meeting will be held, at which time all annual reports will be heard.

Salvation Army Official Coming

Plymouth Leads in Aid to Crippled Children

Tops All Cities of Its Size in Purchase of Seals

Plymouth will again this year top the entire nation for cities of its size in the purchase of crippled children seals, according to the report now being prepared by Russell Daane, treasurer of the Wayne Out-County Crippled Children's committee.

The total this year will far exceed $500.00. In fact, at no time, has the amount collected from the seal purchase been lower than $500. It was during one of the worst depression years when Plymouth established its first record in the purchase of these seals.

More than 500 persons visited the first showing of a model house planned and constructed on Wayne road by Byron Becker of Plymouth, last week. And in spite of the rainy weather Sunday, there were more than 300 visitors that day.

500 Persons See Model Home

Because of the many requests to see the model house, Mr. Becker announces that the cottage-type of residence, which has been open for inspection during the last week, will be open to-night (Friday) for the last time.

Dr. Brisbois to Speak at Legion Meeting

Dr. Harold Brisbois, Plymouth physician, will be a guest of the Myron H. Beals post of the American Legion at a regular meeting next Friday, April 19, at their hall at Newburg.

Ruth Ash Named Valedictorian and Richard Strong Salutatorian of High School Graduating Class of 1940

Principal Claude J. Dykhouse, of the high school, this week announced that Ruth Ash, daughter of Charles Ash, of Castor avenue, has been named valedictorian of the high school graduating class. Richard Strong is salutatorian.

Richard Strong, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney D. Strong, of Auburn avenue, made 24 A's and four B's for his high school record. He has been a member of the high school band and student council for the last four years.

City Wins Paving Tax Case in High Court

Has Been in Litigation for Over Four Years

Saves Large Amount of Money for City; Emery Handles Case

A law suit against the entire city of Plymouth with property holders along Mill street as plaintiffs was won by the city in the state supreme court last week. The suit was for the reimbursement of alleged over-assessment of the paving tax levied in 1928.

"I personally feel that this decision is an important victory for the city," Mr. Emery stated yesterday. "Only $14,000 was involved in this suit but had the court adopted the plaintiffs' claims, the decision would have meant controlling over claims of other taxpayers totaling over $150,000."

Mr. Emery further stated that had the court reached a decision against the city, the amount involved would have been assessed against the taxpayers of the entire city.

The bill of complaint as it was filed in circuit court set forth the fact that the village charter of Plymouth which was in effect at the time the street was paved clearly stated no property could be assessed for more than 25 percent of its assessed valuation for special assessments.

In the suit, Mill street property owners asked that the difference between the legal assessment of 25 percent of the assessed valuation of the property and the difference between what has been paid in or in part be returned to each property holder.

It was also pointed out in the bill of complaint that these alleged claims were filed with the city June 1, 1935, but that the city commission at that time refused to consider them. The commission by resolution "declined to consider the merits of any such petition not executed by the claimant, personally, or by someone in his behalf thereunto authorized in writing, filed with such petition," read the record.

The suit was carried from the circuit courts of Wayne county to the state supreme court by the city when the circuit court decided in favor of the plaintiffs. This case was brought up in the January, 1940, term of supreme court and was filed April 1, 1940.

In Mr. Emery's declaration, it stated, "Had the suit been timely commenced, it is conceded there were irregularities which might have proved fatal to the assessment, especially on the part of the city in its failure to assess beyond the charter limits. But the plaintiffs did not act. More than six years elapsed after the taxes became a lien upon the land. During this time the work was allowed to progress without objection on the part of all the complaining parties. They profited from the provisions of the law, knew their lands were so situated with reference to the improvement that any assessment, whether on the basis of benefits or frontage upon the street, would be assessed beyond and yet they allowed the improvement to proceed and reap the benefit of the same. Under such circumstances, they may not maintain a suit in equity." Mr. Emery proved his point specifically, stated the supreme court opinion.

In part, Mr. Emery's summary stated, "There is no question but that had the persons assessed acted promptly if there was any irregularity in the assessment, they might have had relief. But, had they waited until the 30 days provided for by the charter, but nearly seven years, before instituting any proceeding, the irregularity in the assessment cannot now be urged in a court of equity by reason of the delay. Their suits are barred now from so doing."

Attorneys for the property holders contended in their suit that the legal assessment per foot for the paving that could be levied under the charter was about $1.84 but that the assessment as levied amounted to $7.39 per foot. They asked that the city pay back to the property holders the difference between the legal assessment and the amount which was assessed. The difference would have been about $100 in the case of one lot, but because of the fact that there are other instances of the same problem in the city, had judgment been given the plaintiffs, other cases would have arisen for which it would have cost the city about $164,000.

Orchestra Has Director of Unusual Talent

To Appear Here With 40-Piece Normal College Symphony

Marius Fossenkemper, conductor of the Michigan State Normal College symphony orchestra, which is booked to appear in a concert at Plymouth, Thursday evening, April 25, at the high school auditorium, is one of the foremost clarinetists of the United States today. The concert is being arranged by members of a music committee appointed by the Plymouth Civic committee. It is being given in this city as a spring concert of classical music at a price for which Plymouth residents cannot afford to miss. The orchestra is recognized as one of the best amateur organizations of its kind in the United States. The purpose of the concert is to better acquaint Plymouth residents with the music of well-known composers and their works. It is being put on in connection with the music appreciation movement recently instituted in Detroit. The orchestra is composed of 40 students attending the State Normal college at Ypsilanti. Director Fossenkemper is well-known in musical circles over the entire country for his work as the principal clarinetist with the Detroit Symphony orchestra and also in the same capacity with the Ford Symphony which is composed of the most talented musicians in the Detroit Symphony and appears every Sunday evening over a national broadcasting hook-up on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour. Mr. Fossenkemper has conducted the Arcade Theatre orchestra in Ann Arbor. From 1936 to 1939 he directed the Lansing Symphony. Now he is known as developing one of the finest college orchestras in America, that of the Michigan State Normal college. The work of this orchestra, which is one of Mr. Fossenkemper's major triumphs, was attested to in a recent radio discussion of orchestras by John Erskine, president of the Juilliard Foundation. He is head of the instrument department at Ypsilanti. In 1928 he became a professor of woodwind instruments at both Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti and the Michigan State college at Lansing. Mr. Fossenkemper was born in Richmond, Indiana, in 1902. As a child he showed exceptional talent when he began his musical career with the study of the clarinet. After his graduation from Cincinnati Conservatory of Music to continue his musical education his graduation at Cincinnati was succeeded by a year's work at Earlham college. He then entered the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor where he took a pre-law course finishing with an A.B. degree. This gifted clarinetist began to play professionally at the age of 13. When he was 19, he became a member of the Detroit Symphony orchestra and in 1931 was advanced to the first chair of the clarinet section, which position he still holds. He has the distinction of being a member of the first radio orchestra ever to be organized for broadcasting purposes. He has been associated with the Detroit News radio station, WWJ, since he came to Detroit in 1922. Tickets for the Plymouth concert may be obtained at the Community, Dodge or Boyer Pharmacies; Taylor and Blyden department store, the city hall or from any member of the Civic or Music committee. Members of the committee making arrangements for the concert are, Miss Marion Beyer, chairman; Mrs. Edna O'Connor, Mrs. Dora Hondorp, Alfred Smith and Edwin Campbell.

Softball Games Start Next Week

The Plymouth softball season has begun. Next Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, two teams from the Central league will meet in the first game of the season at the Central playground. The Starkweather league will begin play until one week later, on April 23, because all eight teams of their league have not been organized.

The Plymouth Hardware and Super Shell teams will meet Tuesday evening, followed on Wednesday by Daisy Sutherland. Thursday's schedule calls for The Plymouth Mail and Perfection teams and on Friday, Schrader and Dunbar Davis will play. Games are starting two weeks ahead of last year so as to have both the softball and recreation programs over at the same time. Team managers met with Anthony S. Matulis, director of the summer program, Monday night. At that time the teams registered and a tentative schedule was made.

Managers were requested to hand in a list of their team players. High school boys were reminded that they are not permitted to play on any city league team until school is dismissed for the summer. Teams entered to play in the Central league this year are Daisy, Super Shell, Sutherland, Plymouth Mail, Plymouth Hardware, Perfection, Schrader and Dunbar Davis. New teams in the Starkweather league will include those from the Wall Wire company and one representing the Lutheran church. Full particulars concerning the Starkweather league and teams that appear in this week's issue of The Plymouth Mail. Announcement was made by Ray Gilder manager of the Plymouth Hardware team, that there will be a team practice Friday afternoon, starting at 6:15 o'clock at the Central playground. All players are requested to be present.

New Milk Law of Little Benefit

(Continued from page 1) from the farmer at any old price he is willing to pay—generally a price so low that some farmers think that it is just as well dump the "surplus" in the sewer as to sell it for the price offered for "surplus." One farmer the other day pointed out how the "base" system would work out if applied to the buying of a bushel of potatoes. If a potato buyer went out in the country to buy some potatoes, and followed the "base" and "surplus" milk rule, he could say to the farmer that this bushel of potatoes is worth 80 cents per bushel, but that bushel of potatoes is "surplus" and as a result is only worth 40 cents a bushel—although the potatoes are of exactly the same grade and quality. He will pay 80 cents for the "base" potatoes and 40 cents for the "surplus" potatoes. Then he could take the potatoes to market and do just as he pleased with them, selling both the "base" and "surplus" potatoes for exactly the same price that he gets for the "base" potatoes. Of course milk distributors, say these farmers, are not supposed to use "surplus" milk for distribution to milk consumers. "Surplus" milk is supposed to be used entirely for making dairy products.

But is it? And how does anybody know? These questions asked by some farmers hereabouts. They also ask how can there be any surplus milk when there is an actual shortage of milk to supply the needs in Detroit right now? And still the "surplus" division is higher than ever before, they declare. Unless there is a decided change in prevailing milk prices, the producers getting more for their work and effort and the consumer getting milk at a lower price, present prospects are that the new milk law will be thrown out entirely or so amended that it will accomplish the purposes for which it was enacted.

There is a feeling that possibly the time has been so short to see just how it is going to work out, but certainly "progress" has apparently been downward instead of upward so far—that seems to be the general sentiment among farmers about here. Agitation for a "milk management" law was started during the administration of former Governor Frank Murphy. He pointed out that 17 different states had adopted a milk marketing law and he directed Mrs. Burr Lincoln of the department of agriculture to draft such a law for presentation to the last session. Notwithstanding the change of administration the proposal was presented and after months of consideration, a milk bill such as recommended by the farmer committee of the legislature was passed.

There is a decided feeling that unless it works out during the remainder of this year much more satisfactorily to the producer as well as the consumer than it has during the last eight months, there will be no milk marketing board in Michigan when the next legislature gets through with the problem. If the statute should be retained, there isn't much question but what the demand of the objecting milk producers for important changes will be made.

Dr. Butz Taking Special Medical Course on Days Off

Dr. Paul W. Butz has, since last October 1, been attending once a week, the Continuation School of Medicine of the Wayne County Medical society. Dr. Butz and Dr. Pinkert of Dearborn, are students of Dr. R. M. Johnson, medical director at Eloise, in bedside teaching. There are 2200 patients in this hospital to study which gives the students a wide scope in learning.

There are 1800 members of this society, the first of its kind in the United States, but only 300 doctors took advantage of this opportunity.

The purpose of the school is to develop the vast teaching and clinical material of Wayne county to the end that the doctor of medicine may keep constantly abreast of every development in the science of medicine, in the laboratory and at the bedside, in addition to the physicians' own reading and experience.

All that is necessary to the development of a great medical center lies within the borders of Wayne county. Its hospitals, Wayne University college of medicine and the Wayne County Medical society, in concerted effort, are now launched for this purpose. When fully developed it is hoped that the continuation school may be opened to the profession at large, thus increasing further contribution to the high American standards of health service.

Dr. Johnson has been invited by Dr. Butz to speak before the Rotary club of Plymouth on "Modern Medicine" on Friday, April 19.

MICHIGAN, MICHIGAN

(Continued from Page 1) set up a "merit" system in 1937 under which all local employees were to be hired and graded. This includes not only those of the central headquarters staff, but those of the county groups in each of the 36 counties of the state—probably upward of 600 in all.

The commission met the demands of the 1937 merit system and in the last three years has built up an experienced personnel without regard to patronage demands from any source. Now the Washington bureau insists upon an entirely new merit system, requiring new examinations all down the line. The central commission, all the county commissions, strenuously objected on the ground that the procedure was disruptive of greater cost, of less efficiency, red-tape bound, and cumbersome. They were told to toe the mark or federal funds would be withdrawn. Friday the commission met and capitulated, because it can't meet assistance payments without the federal contributions.

That is not the whole story. Already Washington bureaucrats are commencing to tell state agencies using federal funds how and when to disburse not only the federal but the state moneys jointly used or else the federal money will fly back home. "Nor does this touch the fact that a major portion of the state is in federal forest reserve, national parks, wildlife reservations or what not; that Washington bureaus more and more are taking control of the fish and game, of land and water, of forest and stream, even of the air above, out of the hands of supposedly sovereign states."

That other day down in Detroit, a local concern had to go into court in an effort to secure justice from what it termed unjust federal control and taxation. The news item said: "Constitutionality of the Fair Labor Standards Act and its applicability to firms whose participation in interstate commerce may be questionable were attacked in a suit filed Friday in Federal Court against the local Wage-Hour Administration by the owners of the Citrin-Kulb Oil Co. of 14455 Linwood.

Plaintiffs in the case are Jacob A. Citrin, Barney Citrin, Nathan Kolb and Mollie Kolb. They ask a declaration by the court as to the constitutionality of the act and an order restraining local officials from enforcing an order issued against them. A hearing on the restraining order will be held April 22 before Federal Judge Ernest A. O'Brien.

"Named with Wage-Hour Administration officials as defendants are a number of employees and former employees of the oil company, to whom the wage-hour officials have declared $391 in overtime wages is due."

A Washington writer some time ago said the Wage-Hour Administration told Congress that complaints of wage-hour law violations were pouring in at the rate of 1,000 a week, and that it was confronted with a task far beyond its resources in trying to investigate the 15,547 already received.

Summing up the enforcement situation in its first annual report the agency said that 73.4 per cent of the valid complaints had not yet been taken up by field inspectors. Congress apparently provided the money for the other day the Wage-Hour Division announced that henceforth it would inspect firms for possible violation of the minimum-wage provision whether or not a complaint had been received.

Col. Philip B. Fleming, administrator, said that up to now inspections had been made only when there was a complaint that the law was being violated.

"Now that our field force is growing," Fleming said, "we will carry out a policy of protecting the complying employer whether or not he wishes to make a complaint against his competitors." Just where do we go from here?

Well Known Methodist Minister Who Expects Retirement Soon, Is Prepared

Rev. Richards Has Built Little Home Near Northville

Because a hard-working, thoughtful, unaffected and unselfish small town Methodist minister who has devoted his life to the upbuilding of humanity, deprived himself of all of the little luxuries of life that even a country preacher is entitled to have and saved the few nickels and dimes that came to him. The Rev. William Richards, former pastor of the Northville Methodist church, now located at Belleville, will be able this summer to retire to a little farm on the Seven Mile road.

church says it is time for its minister to be superannuated. Yes, even a great church organization finds that it is essential to say to its ministers: "You are no longer able to carry the burden of a pastorate; you have completed your work in the cause of the church; you have reached the time in life when it is necessary for you to give way to younger men than you. Now, go your way and enjoy the blessings of life you have tried to inculcate in others."

For nine long years the members of the Methodist church at Northville induced the conference to permit Rev. Richards to remain in charge of the church in Plymouth's nearby neighborhood. It is customary for the conference to change ministers about every three or four years. Five years generally being the limit any minister is permitted to remain in one place. But the pleadings of the members of the Northville church were heeded and Rev. Richards filled the pulpit of the church longer than any other pastor who had ever served that church during its more than a century of existence.

Then he went over to Belleville, where he has endeared himself to the whole community. just as he did at Northville.

It was while he was pastor of the Northville church that Rev. Richards began to realize the years were encroaching upon him, and that it would not be long before the Methodist conference would say to him that his days of active ministerial services were at an end.

So the former English lad who had found his early life a real struggle for existence, began saving pennies, nickels and dimes. His salary, like that of most ministers, has never been large. Back a half mile or so off the Seven Mile road, there was a small acreage that could be purchased with a small payment down. He bought these few acres a dozen or so years ago and during his spare time he erected a small cabin. Frequently friends would give him small fruit trees to plant, as well as various kinds of berry bushes. As the years passed along, he made what improvements he could to the place and now when summer arrives and the Methodist church conference says to him, "Rev. Richards, you are no longer a superannuated minister, he will have a little shaded cottage surrounded by fruit trees, a garden and many beautiful rose bushes—a place Rev. and Mrs. Richards can call HOME.

He is not yet an "old" man, by any means, and his host of friends and admirers anticipate that he will during his "permanent vacation day" continue as frequently as opportunity and physical strength permits, his ministerial services to mankind.

Euchreites Have Two Matches Left

Canton Center-Cherry Hill Euchreites played games No. 21 and 22 last week and have only two more sessions to go before their schedule for the year is complete. The league leaders, Wagners and Waldeckers, are five games ahead of their nearest rivals, H. Guntow and O. Eichstadt, and have the title practically in the bag.

The leading combination was from A. West and J. Losey 9-4 and took F. Waldeck and Thesen by the same score in last week's play. H. Guntow and O. Eichstadt also won 9-4. Top-sid-d scores of 10-2 and 11-2 when they won from Yost and J. West and the Hood-Kuster combination.

Freddie and Buckner are still in the race. They took two games in last week's play-offs. One was from A. West and J. Losey and the other was from Murch and Gots. Both sessions were won by a 9-4 score.

Table with 2 columns: Name and Score. Includes Wagners, Waldeckers, Thesen, Guntow, Eichstadt, Buckner, Murch, Gots, Yost, West, Hood, Kuster, Freddie, and Aldrich.

Plymouth Teams Enter A.B.C.'s

Two Plymouth bowling teams were represented this week in the National A. B. C. Bowling tournament being held in Detroit. Plymouth's team, sponsored by M. Powell & Son and one sponsored by the Goldstein Department store, bowled Tuesday night and a doubles team from this city was in the tournament Wednesday afternoon.

Members of the Goldstein team are Don Lightfoot, Bill Lomas, Edward Klinski and Ray Gilder. Ray Wolfson, George Bratcher, Garnet Baker, Howard Johnston and Martin Strasen roll for Strain's.

Ray Gilder and Bill Lomas bowled the doubles. All teams in the tournament roll for a three-game total Tuesday. The Goldstein five had 2371 pins and Strain's rolled a combined 2548 Wednesday. Gilder has 500 and Lomas 450 for 950 in their doubles match. Lomas had 556 for his individual total when he bowled in the singles.

Back From Long Western Trip

Mr. and Mrs. William Bakhaus, their daughter, Leona, and Mr. and Mrs. George Travis have recently returned from a two-month automobile trip through the western states and along the Pacific coast. The trip to the West was made by the southern route. From Kentucky they drove down to Texas and followed the southern route to Los Angeles, where they spent most of their time.

They escaped the Sacramento floods by just a day. When they left that city, the water was almost up to the flooring of the bridges. The next day not only were most of the highways covered with water, but many of the bridges had been washed out.

But by that time we had covered considerable ground in our return trip home and we missed being tied up by the flood," said Mr. Bakhaus.

The return was made through Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska. In Wyoming they spent a couple of days on a 20,000-acre ranch.

"Nowhere did we see such good farming land as there is right around Plymouth," declared Mr. Bakhaus yesterday. The Bakhaus farm is located at the corner of Sheldon and Warren roads. Travis farm is on Canton Center road.

Eyeglass Frames Swamp Offices

As a result of radio publicity given the Dowling Foundation offices of Dr. John A. Ross, Plymouth optometrist, are literally swamped with used spectacle frames. Says radio personalities C. C. Brainer, Jimmy Stevenson and Jack King, news commentators, and Kate Smith, radio songstress, have during the past few weeks sent out a plea to persons all over the nation to send in the used frames.

The Foundation was founded by William E. Dowling, chief of assistant prosecutor of Wayne county, who through his foresight and desire to help the poor, has made it possible already for hundreds to receive optometric adjustment and eyeglasses free of charge. At present the work is handled through the offices of Dr. Ross here.

Needy persons who desire the free service may go to their church, the school nurse in the case of children, the Salvation Army, Red Cross or any other such organization, and upon their recommendation, the person needing eye care will be given the service free of charge at the Plymouth Dowling Foundation headquarters.

Dr. Ross' offices are located on Buchanan avenue near the Main Street intersection.

COW HAS TRIPLETS HART — Triplet calves, all heifers, said to be a rarity in the livestock world, were born recently to a five-year-old grade Jersey cow owned by Guy Gleason of Leavitt. Besides the triplets, two sets of twins and one single calf have been born to the mother.

J. C. C. Hears State Officer

Because this is the time of year that most men are thinking about fishing and getting their rods and creels ready for the opening day of the season, Howard Johnson, state conservation officer from the Walled Lake station, chose fishing as the subject of a talk which he gave at the Monday evening meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Mayflower hotel.

The conservation officer spoke specifically about smelt and the runs that are going on in Boyne City, Beulah and other localities in northern Michigan. The subject of pike was discussed as that is the species of fish being watched at Walled Lake. He told of the habits of the fish, their spawning and other activities.

"Pike will go up stream, when they spawn in the spring, the officer said, when a spilt in the stream is reached where the temperature is between 35 and 40 degrees, the spawn is laid. The fish then go back to the lake from which they started."

Mr. Johnson said the spawning habits of the pike are much unlike those of other fish, because pike leave their spawn whereas most other fish stay near the bed until the eggs are hatched.

Although the conservation department has nothing to do in the enforcement of the dog quarantine which recently went into effect, Mr. Johnson answered several questions and explained certain parts of the law.

Conservation in this locality was discussed and the officer answered several questions relative to the pheasant and rabbit situation near Plymouth. He explained why there were no better hunting conditions and told members of the young business men's group ways in which the conditions could be improved.

In connection with Mr. Johnson's talk, Bill Rambo, chairman of the local conservation committee, arranged for the showing of a film, "Fishing Across Canada," released through the courtesy of the Canadian National railroad.

More Honors for College Student

Miss Jewel Starkweather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Starkweather, was one of a group of Kalamazoo college students who attended the biennial national convention of Pi Kappa Delta, Knoxville, Tennessee, from March 25-29. Miss Starkweather is a junior at the college.

From among 760 students attending the convention from all over the United States, Miss Starkweather was one of the 76 delegates chosen to participate in the Model Unconquered Legislature conducted as a special activity of the convention. For her outstanding work as a member of the Independent party, Miss Starkweather was appointed by the President of the Legislature to act as chairman of the committee on Immigration. She was one of two women in the assembly to receive a committee chairmanship.

Under the leadership of Miss Starkweather, the Immigration Committee presented to the legislature a bill which was passed by that body to the effect that immigration quotas should be lifted if American guaranties for the financial independence of the aliens could be procured.

Miss Starkweather, who has been outstanding in forensic work throughout her college career at Kalamazoo, now holds the degree of Special Distinction in Pi Kappa Delta, the highest rank attainable in that organization, which is a national honorary forensic fraternity.

Helen McRoy, of Wayne, was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Dalton.

Speak Marriage Vows in Candlelight Service at Detroit, March 30

Of interest to many Plymouth residents was the candlelight service uniting Mary Louise Vivian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Vivian, of Detroit, and Henry D. Worden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lytle D. Worden, of this city, which took place Saturday evening, March 30, in the Strathmore Methodist church with Rev. Ellsworth Reiser officiating.

The altar was beautifully decorated with tall baskets of gladiolus and stock with a background of palms and lighted tapers in tall standards were placed on either side of the altar. Preceding the ceremony Norman Zimmerman, of Detroit, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

The bride was lovely in a wedding gown of faulle tulle with a headpiece of white tulle from which fell a fingertip veil. She carried an arm bouquet of red and gardenias.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas Lawry, of Detroit, wore a dress of pink marquisette over pale blue tulle. She carried yellow carnations.

The bride's attendants, Margery Ryner, of Chicago; Harriet Nelson, Mrs. King Ruby and Helen Magee, of Detroit, wore dresses of pink marquisette over pale pink tulle. They carried carnations shading from a pale pink to a deeper shade. A shoulder length veil fell from their velvet bows in their hair in contrasting shades.

The bridegroom chose Kim Ruby for his best man and the ushers were Lawrence Spicer, Lloyd Vivian Jr., John La France and Thomas Lawry, of Detroit. Mrs. Vivian chose a gown of blue crepe for her daughter's wedding while Mrs. Worden, mother of the bridegroom, wore a rose lace. Each wore a corsage of gardenias. The 250 wedding guests gathered in the church vestry for a reception where similar flowers used for the wedding were used in the table decorations. Mr. Worden is an employee of the Detroit Edison company in Plymouth. His many friends extend best wishes to him and his bride. They will reside at 13805 Marlowe avenue in Detroit.

Clears Church of Back-Breaking Mortgage

Former Plymouth Teacher Performs the "Miracle"

Not so many years ago Ben J. Holcomb was a school teacher in Plymouth, coming to this city from the Charlotte schools. He was in charge of the agricultural course and was athletic director during the time he was not teaching students how to grow crops and perform other farm duties.

When he left Plymouth, he went to Chicago and attended a Divinity school and became a Methodist minister.

"Debt Free in 1940"

What would you say about a pastor of a church located in a Detroit suburb where the income of the church members and most of the good people of the community is in the smaller brackets, who was determined to clear his church of a debt burden in times like these?

If one didn't know the pastor, they might say, "that's just like some preachers."

But large numbers of Plymouth boys and girls who went to school to "Teacher" Holcomb would say—"that's just like Ben, and he'll do it, too."

Well, Ben DID DO IT!

The mortgage that has hung over the Methodist church of Brightmoor for more than a dozen years like a wet blanket is going to be lifted during 1940.

The "Debt Free in 1940" campaign of the Brightmoor Methodist church is a most interesting story, especially to Plymouth people who know the pastor of the church so well.

Back in 1923 when Brightmoor was established as one of the more economical subdivisions for people whose incomes are not in the thousands per year, the owner of the property gave a tabernacle type building and lot to the Methodists for a church. Its membership grew so rapidly that by 1928 it was necessary for the structure to be moved and enlarged. It was that year that a $10,000 mortgage was plastered on the church walls.

Then came along the upsurge in world economics and America went into a tailspin with the rest of the nation. Brightmoor, its population made up almost entirely of people who depend on factory payrolls for existence was hit especially hard.

Interest payments slipped by and when 1933 arrived there was $8000 having been paid on the principal. That was about the time that Rev. Holcomb was transferred from the Hartland Methodist church to Brightmoor.

It is needless to tell any one who has struggled with this patient, never-give-up, hard-workin' Methodist preacher went through during these last seven years of depression and hard times.

But he kept his church together—and it has grown, due to the loyalty of its membership and its enthusiastic pastor.

That debt, however, has been a constant worry to Rev. Holcomb and his church members.

They came to a realization that this cloud that darkened the skies for the church would have to be removed.

A few months ago they decided to do something about it.

They adopted the slogan "Debt Free in 1940" and went to work.

Persistently the pastor dogged the heels of the officials of a Ford dealer's fund and that fund could be tapped for a donation, for the church. Never did he take "no" for an answer.

A few days ago he was advised that if the church members could raise $3,500, the Foundation would donate a like amount.

Then it was that Rev. Holcomb called to his aid Dr. Walter Fruit, district superintendent of the Methodist Detroit conference.

Dr. Fruit had charge of the church services at Brightmoor last Sunday morning.

His performance of the almost unbelievable task of raising almost the entire balance at that one service.

Following, at the evening service.

What? Nickname for Used Cars?

The Ford dealers' used car nickname contest, which closed Thursday at midnight, has proved to be so popular that it is being repeated, according to D. D. Harris, chairman. The second contest will end at midnight, April 18, says Mr. Harris. As in the first contest, the ten best nicknames given by used car buyers to the cars they buy from Ford dealers, will each win $100 cash prizes. The judges will be the Honorable John L. Carey, mayor of Dearborn, Michigan; Gordon Kingsbury, director of advertising courses at Wayne University, Detroit; and G. D. Gettings, automobile editor of the Toledo Blade, Toledo, Ohio.

We were agreeably surprised at the cleverness of the nicknames submitted in our first contest," said Mr. Harris. "In fact, it seems the custom of car naming, so prevalent a few years ago, is being revived through the nickname contest. It was gratifying to note how few ordinary nicknames, such as "Bird," or "Bessie" were submitted. In any case we were practically forced to repeat our $1,000 contest because of the enthusiasm which Nickname aroused. Incidentally, the contest has served as a reminder that this is the best time of the year to make a used car purchase, when Ford dealers stocks offer a wide variety of makes, models and body types."

Parent Course Has Maximum Enrollment

Close Registrations After 35 Indicate Desire for the Course

Thirty-five persons have enrolled in the course in child psychology which is to be given under the auspices of the Starkweather and Central Parent-Teachers' associations. According to the announcement made by Principal Claude J. Dykhouse of the high school last week, 35 is the maximum number of persons that can be accommodated and because of that fact, as well as the fact that the course is to be taught by Mrs. H. S. Malloy of the University of Michigan Extension service, and will begin Thursday evening, April 12. Classes will be held in the high school library.

Mrs. Malloy's classes will deal primarily with discussion and lecture concerning child psychology. She is especially well-qualified to teach the course having had exceptionally extensive experience in that field. Aside from being a lecturer in parent education at the University of Michigan, she has been solving the social problems of children and adults for several years.

During the past 16 years she has been engaged in hospital psychiatric social work in Ann Arbor hospitals and for seven years she has written for The Detroit News upon the psychological and emotional development of children.

In addition to her work at the Michigan university and others in the United States, Mrs. Malloy has studied in England and with German professors.

Her understanding of the causes of maladjustment in both old and young is amazing. Mrs. Malloy's classes in Plymouth will feature personal interviews with those taking the course and discussions among members and their teacher.

There is no charge connected with taking the course, the full cost of which is taken over by the University Extension service and Federal education.

New Camera Club to Meet Monday

A meeting open to all interested amateur camera fans in Plymouth will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the rooms above Woodger's store on Main street. Definite plans will be made for the organization of a camera club in Plymouth and also the year's activities will be discussed.

Those interested in the club are requested to bring camera troubles or prints to the meeting so that they may be brought up for general discussion. Further details concerning the club may be obtained from Robert Wingard or by attendance at the meeting.

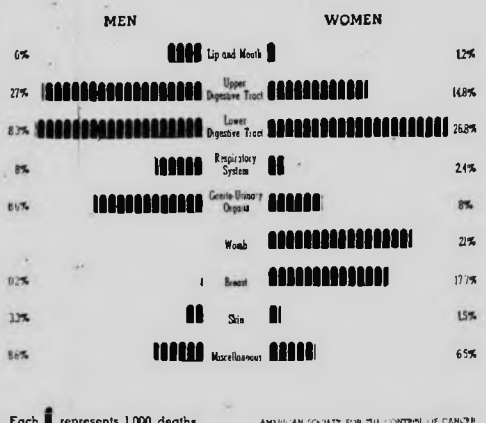

Kiwanians Hear Club Official

Plymouth Kiwanians were gathered this week at their Tuesday night meeting by a visit of the lieutenant governor of the sixth Kiwanis district, Clarence L. Lippell, of Ypsilanti. His address to local Kiwanis club members was "What Would My Club Be Like if All the Members Were Like You and Me?" Some beneficial information concerning the national organization and its activities was given.

Complete plans for next week's meeting have not been made. The program will be in charge of Cary Bentley, president of the club.

Where Cancer Develops

Deaths by Location of Cancer

Each bar represents 1000 deaths

Cancer which destroys nearly 150,000 men and women each year is second only to all types of heart trouble as a cause of death. This chart, prepared by the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, shows the significant difference in organs in men and women which are affected by cancer.

Mrs. Cass Hough is vice-commander for the Plymouth unit of the Field Army.

Men have considerably more cancer than women of the lip and mouth, the upper digestive tract, the respiratory system, the skin and of course the male genito-urinary organs. Cancers in the upper digestive tract which includes the esophagus, the stomach and the duodenum, are most frequently found in the stomach; in the respiratory system it is the lungs where the disease strikes with particular and increasing frequency, in the genito-urinary organs it is the prostate which is most likely to be affected, particularly in elderly men.

Women, on the other hand,

Police Department Holds Five Dogs

Since the dog quarantine went into effect in Wayne county and 46 other counties in lower Michigan April 1, Plymouth police have impounded five dogs and made one arrest. The dogs were found to be strayed, and according to law, dogs found outside the owner's premises without being on a leash or otherwise properly restrained, must be impounded.

One person was arrested when he failed to heed a warning by the police department relative to the confinement of his dog.

"All dog owners are expected by the police department and required by law to confine dogs to their premises," Police Chief Vaughan R. Smith said yesterday. "Dogs may be removed from the premises only if held on a leash or otherwise directly restrained in a manner that will positively prevent the dog from attacking or biting any other animal or person." Transportation of a dog in an automobile is permitted, the chief said.

Several dogs have been disposed of during the last week by the department. According to the quarantine law, dogs found running at large are subject to capture by law enforcement officers and these dogs can be destroyed within 72 hours unless claimed by their owners.

Chief Smith said that the Plymouth police department will appropriate information relative to dogs running at large in the city.

"For the most part, Plymouth residents have cooperated with local and state authorities in confining their dogs," he declared.

Bicycle Club Elects Officers

Members of the Plymouth bicycle club, numbering nearly 150, had their first meeting and election of officers Monday afternoon at the city hall. Joseph Measle of 396 Ann street, was elected president of the organization.

The club members also elected Margaret K. Kautsch, home 357 Auburn avenue, as their vice-president and Jay Hanna, 552 Maple street, was elected secretary. The club treasurer is Ellen Smith of 1995 Roosevelt.

Included with the order of business at the meeting Monday was a suggestion by Police Chief V. R. Smith, police department representative, that the six-man jury, instead of being elected as planned, be appointed by members of the executive board. The suggestion met with favor and the jury men will be appointed at the next meeting of the club.

At that time, an editor of the club's news sheet will also be appointed. The paper will contain news of club activities in addition to items of interest to club members.

In order to gain membership to the Bicycle club, owners of bicycles have only to register at the police department at the city hall, present their bicycles for inspection and if they pass, licenses are issued. There is no charge whatsoever connected with the club.

The importance in organizing such a club is to band together all riders of bicycles in the city of Plymouth and impress upon them the importance of observing certain traffic rules and regulations. In many cases, bicyclists are required to observe the same rules as do motorists. The club will endeavor to stress courtesy on the road in addition to several other general practices.

Another feature of the club and bicycle registrations is the help the police department can be in recovering lost or stolen bicycles. The plan has worked out successfully in other cities in Michigan, and it is thought such an organization in Plymouth will attain the same purpose.

In general, the large stands of Michigan's primeval forests developed on the lighter soils, the sands and gravels, while the hardwoods grew on heavier lands like loams and clays, and swampland conditions flourish on a moist soil. Thus the pattern of the original forest was determined by soil patterns left by glaciation.

Interesting Books at Plymouth Library

Cornelia Ott Skinner is to be at the Cass theatre for her Detroit appearance the week of April 22 to 27, when she will give "Edna, His Wife" and some original sketches. Besides her dramatizations she has written two books of sketches which may be borrowed from the library.

"Dithers and Jitters" by Skinner. This book includes 16 humorous sketches on varying aspects of the daily scene. They range from children's parties to arranging flowers, or the antics of cat, nose, and throat specialists. Her humor is too light-hearted and gently malicious to provoke the hearty guffaw. But she says what she wants to say in a direct and delectable observation of the behavior of human beings, herself included. As in her acting, the inevitable Cornelia has a happy capacity for throwing herself wholeheartedly into a skit and conveying atmosphere in chunks to her audience.

"Excuse It, Please!" by Skinner. This book contains sketches that no one with a particle of sense of humor can afford to miss. Mr. Soglow's sketches, as always, interlarded the text admirably.

Numerous Activities Scheduled for "Know Michigan" Week

April 14 to 21 Designated as Booster Period

In addition to the meetings to be held in Detroit and the metropolitan area 25 meetings devoted to Know Michigan Tourist Week will be held in nine counties of southeastern Michigan, from April 14 to April 21. Tourist authorities will give talks before each of the meetings calculated to educate Michigan business men in the value of the state's second industry, which brings into Michigan $315,000,000 every year.

Don R. Westendorf, president of the Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity association, points out that advertising plans are now being made throughout all Michigan by the four state tourist associations to bring over 12,000,000 visitors into the state during 1940. "And to do this," he says, "we'll need as much cooperation from Michigan business and industry as we can get. The state conservation department and the state highway department and public officials around their share to make Michigan attractive and convenient for its visitors. Now, it is up to business men and the public to do the rest."

The campaign thus far has been especially active in Washtenaw county where eight booster meetings will be held next week and in Wayne county and Detroit where the percentage of all cancers developed in this period, there should be a complete physical examination covering all sites where cancer occurs, at least once a year. Women should have the B. P. (breast-pelvic) examination twice a year.

Stanley G. Waltz, of Ann Arbor, and Chester Manning, of Ypsilanti, who are co-chairmen for Know Michigan Tourist Week in Washtenaw county, feel highly elated over the manner in which the business men, public officials and service clubs of their district have carried out their assignments.

The Irish Hills society will hold a "Springboard" banquet at the Irish Hills Tavern on Monday, April 15, at 7:30 p.m., for the two-fold purpose of inaugurating Know Michigan Tourist Week and to honor Murray A. Van Wageningen, state highway commissioner. Among the speakers at the banquet will be J. Lee Barlett, vice president of the Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity association, and Ralph Thomas, president of the Automobile Club of Michigan, who will represent the touring groups. Sponsors of the banquet include 250 guests will attend.

During Know Michigan Tourist Week speakers will appear also in Mount Clemens before the High Tourist club, Kalamazoo and Lansing in New Haven before Rotary; in Monroe before the Kalamazoo and Exchange clubs; in Harbor Beach before Rotary; in Port Huron before the Exchange; in Casswell before Rotary; in Washtenaw county before the various clubs of Henry, Kalamazoo, Leans and Exchange in Ann Arbor; in Chelsea, Milan, Saline and Ypsilanti.

Council Considers Honor Banquet

Tonic for consideration at the recent meeting of the student council was the forthcoming honor banquet. Speakers and programs were discussed and although many names of speakers were mentioned such as Professor Blum, journalist of the University of Michigan, and Mr. Ravelli, director of the University of Michigan band, no conclusion was reached.

Virginia Rock and Phyllis Hawkins were appointed to the task of following the names of the students to be honored at the banquet and to cooperate with the program committee in making final arrangements for the entertainment.

Also discussed was a suggestion made by one of the students that a special dinner be given by Miss Ford. It has been noted that during the preceding year nights, the class sponsored by Miss Ford has come in either first or second place. This seemed to indicate that the classes were superior because of special dining and it was suggested that Miss Ford be allowed to coach all classes, that is, comment on the status after it has been prepared by the best of the students' ability. No decision was reached as to the status of this move, but it was considered a possible suggestion for next year.

A report on the varsity club meeting held Tuesday disclosed that insurance is being considered for the athletes of the school. By such an arrangement, any student hurt in school athletics would be eligible for compensation.

Plymouth Wins Ypsi. Play Day

(Continued from last week's issue.) Plymouth's basketball play day at Ypsilanti high school resulted in a clean sweep for the four local girls' teams on Wednesday, March 29. The girls representing the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades and Mrs. Miller traveled to Ypsilanti in two buses furnished by the Student Council. The time from 3:30 to 5:00 o'clock was given over to basketball. Two games were played simultaneously as there were two complete courts in the gymnasium. The freshman score was 24-14; the sophomore score was 17-14; the junior score was 13-11; and the senior score was 8-6, all of these in Plymouth's favor.

Afternoon basketball games, refreshments were served in the school cafeteria. Singing followed and then the girls adjourned to the gymnasium for dancing and games. An hour of swimming completed the program. Mrs. Lockman and the Ypsilanti girls did everything in their power to make this play day one of the most enjoyable Plymouth has ever had. Mrs. Miller wishes to thank the four captains, Marjorie Martin, Virginia Garrison, Lillian Fisher, and Betty Barlow; the officials, Eugene Fincham, Helen Lisul, Lillian Fisher, Velma Thatchler, Ruth Drows, Patsy Arnold, Jean Schol and Margaret Erdelyi for their efficiency and cooperation. The girls appreciate the efforts of Mr. Smith and the Student Council in providing safe and convenient transportation to and from Ypsilanti.

Council Sponsors Golf for Girls

For the first time in the history of Plymouth high school, girls will have an opportunity to play golf for a small fee, decided the council in one of its semi-monthly meetings. All girls who wish to play should come to the practice field six hours and after school on the school grounds. There they may learn the rudiments of golf before they go on to the links. Wednesday the girls began practice with the driver and brassie, learning the correct swing, and how to hold the club, keeping their eyes on the ball. After they have practiced for several weeks under Mrs. Miller's direction they will go to the Plymouth Country club, paying 10 cents each time. The council will pay the difference in the cost. A girls' who plan to play should bring their own balls and clubs inasmuch as the cost of the school would be too high to warrant the purchase of these for everyone.

Here and There

Doris Shinn entertained a group of friends at a vaudeville on March 28. Her guests were Thelma Gove, Bill McDermid, Lucille Graham and Johnny Barber of Novi, Thelma George, Harry George and Bob Parcels of Northville, Dorothy Bingham of Farmington and Art Richter of Milford.

The girls' double quartet sang at a meeting of the Home's club in the Mayflower hotel Friday, April 5. The selections they chose were "Valse Triste" and "Play, Gypsies, Dance, Gypsies."

Jack Gettleson and Cloriette Galloway attended the United Artists theatre in Detroit where they saw "Northwest Passage," featuring Spencer Tracy.

Miss Allen received a letter from a young man, a volunteer of the class of '39 from Switzerland, where she is attending Berne university. In the letter she enclosed a Swiss calendar illustrated with picturesque scenes of the country.

Jessie Roberts, who attended P. H. S. last semester and is going to school in Ann Arbor at present, visited her Monday, April 8.

Mary Katherine Moon, Jim Stevens and Harold Leach of the class of '39 visited friends in P. H. S. last week. Agnes Schemberger entertained a group of friends at her home Saturday, April 6, at a scavenger hunt. Her guests were Virginia Rock, Lillian Fisher, Marie Elzerman, Dolores Dettling, Doris Elburna, Elburna Schrader and Helen Lisul. Betty Barlow entertained a group of friends at a roast at her home Sunday, April 7. Her guests were Iris Heck from Ypsilanti, who was Betty's guest Monday also. Eugene Bakewell, Marjorie Knowles, Joe Scarpulla and Finch Roberts. Afterwards they went to the Fox theatre, where they saw "Too Many Husbands" and "Viva Cisco Kid."

Report Cards Out April 17

The report cards for the second marking period will be given out Wednesday, April 17. The parents are requested to sign these and to be sure they are returned promptly because the final cards are marked from these reports.

Intra-School Track Meet Held Friday

The meet must go on! Even though the Rouge-Plymouth meet was postponed, Coaches Mathis and Ingram did not postpone track practice for one minute. In the place of the postponed meet, one between the last hour squad and the after school group was staged on April 5.

Scarpulla took first in the 120-yard high hurdles with Butler and Hunter taking second and third places respectively. Again Scarpulla, Butler, and Hunter finished in that order in the low hurdles. In the dashes Harsha won the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard run. Jim Avigan and Mike Kleinschmidt teamed up, so it seems for they tied in both dashes.

Victor in the 440 or quarter mile race was Claude Underhill with Eugene Nichols taking second. In the half mile Bob Marshall (of cross-country) took first place. Bob Daniel trailed behind to take second. In a close mile run Myers took first and Harold Wilson second.

Prough was easy winner in pole vaulting. Second was taken by Earl Wilson. Jack Baker won the shot-putting with Hoyt Mills second. High jumping was won by Prough. Joe Scarpulla and Pankow tied for second place.

Monday practice will continue as usual in preparation for the first meet of the year if that, too is not postponed.

Irene Niedospal Wins School Spelling Bee

Irene Niedospal was declared the winner in the seventh and eighth grade spelling bee on Friday, April 5. The spelling teams from each of these grades competed, and competition was keen. Miss Taylor, junior high English teacher, said that the spell down was one of the best in years with exceptionally good spellers in the contest.

The tension was high when Thelma Stevens, last year's winner, was spelled down on "heifer" leaving four classmates to battle for the championship. Dorothy Carley, Paula Bronckel, Margaret Wilson, and Irene were the four and they spelled around several times. Dorothy Carley misspelled "epidemic" thus narrowing the field to three. Paula and Margaret both went down on "alfalfa," leaving Irene to spell it correctly and win.

This is the first spelling bee Irene has won, but she will have another chance to win in the district contest to be held on April 26. The central grade winner, Marjorie Elliott, and the Starkweather winner, Barbara Stitt, will be in this contest as well as champions from neighboring schools.

It is interesting to note that all the Plymouth winners are girls. Irene Niedospal is an eighth grader while Marjorie Elliott and Barbara Stitt are sixth graders.

'Behind Closed Doors'

"Lights! Stage! Action! Such sayings might be heard from any empty room from 3:30 to 5:00 after school each night. The reason—this play contest we've heard so much about. The names of the plays are: "Pressed Pants," "The Necklace," "The Unicorn and the Fish" and "There's Always Tomorrow."

Both boys and girls take part in these one-act plays except in "The Necklace," which could be rightly called "The Women." Miss Ford, the faculty adviser, devotes 20 minutes each night to each class. When she isn't present, a student director from the Drama club leads the actors in practicing their parts. "Pressed Pants" proves to be a very amusing play and with amusing acting. One might say that Bill Thomas makes a very good crook in the play, that is, Love and Necks fill up the parts of "The Necklace." As for the other play, this columnist contends that the group keeps too much to itself. But it looks very successful and "time will only tell."

No book can be so good as to be profitable when negligently read.

Mother-Daughter Banquet May 7

Mrs. Gene Dunbar, a teacher who spoke at a meeting of the Plymouth faculty, will be principal speaker at the sixteenth annual mother and daughter banquet, sponsored by the Girl Reserve, at the Hotel Windsor, May 7. Mrs. Dunbar, who received her bachelor of arts degree from Northwestern University, is a graduate student of the University of Michigan and has taken a prominent part in plays produced at the university. Tickets for the banquet is "Save 'Old and New."

Play Contest to Be Postponed to April 26

A play contest among all high school grades will be sponsored by Student Council on April 26. The plays will begin at 8:00 o'clock in the evening and are for the general public. Ticket sales will begin soon.

A critic judge will be present at the contest. After the plays are over he or she will give his or her criticism to the actors. Then a party with ice cream and cake will be given for the players and student directors. The proceeds of the sale of tickets will be divided among the Student Council, Drama Club and the classes. A large amount of money is expected because of the low admission fee and the nature of the contest.

Plan Injury Benefit for State Athletes

The Michigan high school athletic association will begin a plan of athletic accident benefit next year which, it is hoped, will eventually encompass every high school in Michigan, according to an article in the association bulletin.

The plan will be similar to one which has been used with success in Wisconsin high schools for several years. Provisions of the plan which will be inaugurated with the 1940 football season require a payment of $150 for each high school athlete in football and $75 for all other 14 specified branches of athletics. The football change covers all other athletics in one school year.

The plan as set down in the association bulletin is "intended to aid in the assurance that student participants will receive at least the minimum of medical and dental attention due them in case of injury only after the school has met its obligations involving the commonly accepted safety standards and provisions."

The purpose of the athletic accident benefit plan is to provide for transportation between schools. An additional fee of 10 cents is asked for this protection. Among the medical benefits of the system are $100 for a broken leg, to $300 for sutures.

In addition to a provision for athletes in competition a clause of the new plan is expansion for transportation between schools. An additional fee of 10 cents is asked for this protection. Among the medical benefits of the system are $100 for a broken leg, to $300 for sutures.

Ruth Ash Attends D. A. R. Meet in Battle Creek

Ruth Ash, as Plymouth high school's best girl citizen, attended the Daughters of the American Revolution convention in Battle Creek on Saturday, March 30. There the state winner of the citizenship contest was announced to be Archelos Godwin. Archelos is the daughter of Armenian parents who immigrated here from that country. When she sent the questions back to the committee, she submitted a poem, "America, For Me," as her answer to the last question. This question sought the meaning of Mrs. Andrew Jackson's quotation to the contestant.

The convention began at the Battle Creek sanitarium. Here displays of fancy goods, weaving and other arts were shown. After this the girls entered a beautiful assembly hall in the sanitarium.

School Exhibit to Be May 9

Completion of annual custom of displaying the school's hobbies, and projects to the students, Plymouth high school will present a school exhibit on May 9. The exhibit will be held in the Central Grade exhibit room and will be open to the public.

Information About Classroom Activities

The girls' grade English classes, headed by Miss Lovell, are now studying names and programs for the different classes in the school. The girls are studying the different classes in the school.

Hitt Receives State Honors

Although the last basketball game of the season was played a month ago, awards are still coming. Plymouth's basketball captain, the latest award has come to Bob Hitt for his leadership and sportsmanship on the court. The awards made all over the state are the result of a survey of high school basketball held by the State Board of Education. Bob Hitt of Wayne is the only other recipient of this honor in the T.V.A.A.

During the past season it will be remembered that Bob played nine games in which he scored 43 points. His average of 5.3 was the second highest on the team. Already this year Hitt with Norman and Prough have received the attention from the league for playing ability.

Makin' the Rounds

In this auditorium Dr. Stuart McClellan, president of the Landon Memorial University of Tennessee provided for a very interesting speaker. According to Ruth, the most interesting part of his speech concerned a young teacher in Tennessee. She wrote an essay on "Why Do I Teach?" telling of the hardships in a mountain child's most ordinary life in order to receive an education. The conclusion of her paper stated that "if you saw a small child bringing a very grainy sweet potato to school, you wouldn't want to give up teaching either."

The rest of Dr. McClellan's speech concerned Tennessee education. The conclusion of her paper stated that "if you saw a small child bringing a very grainy sweet potato to school, you wouldn't want to give up teaching either."

After this the girls were taken to the Hart hotel in Battle Creek for a luncheon in which there were more speakers. The program along with a play presented by four high school girls, called "A Day of Tea," which brought in Americanism during George Washington's time.

All best girl citizens of their respective high schools then received certificates showing that they had been given this honor. This concluded the program.

Sometimes this spring a boy and girl will be chosen as prom seniors. Then, along with Ruth Ash, he will be present and acknowledged at the Honor Banquet held at the end of the school year.

Question of the Week: Could it be that we as pedestrians are just a little bit more than a little bit better than the cars?

Question of the Week: Could it be that we as pedestrians are just a little bit more than a little bit better than the cars? We have a new "Pinky" in school. Ask a librarian in sixth hour. What's this, boys, about "round" stage? Well, go ahead, you want to but in advising? Well, Wm. W. certainly picks the right by Louis Hoffman. An old flame never dies, does it Bill (A)... Bob Norman announced, "We will begin girls' practice soon." Well, Norman... Oh for a moving picture in history every day... Don't show motion pictures in school. "Mus" be spring fever... "You're not a little restless... Those librarians really mean it, they say, much to the regret of some."

An open letter to student government officials... "Dear Sirs... The conditions in the halls are really not good. We suggest that something be done. Not only this noticed by the students, but remarks from outsiders are really growing... Why not put more pressure on our pedestrians, and cuts in the school to be found?"

The editor-in-chief asked a man to "had a garage," the reply was "I don't know. My son just got in to get the car... I wonder if he is a father of one of the boys in this school... Me, the my, was a mix-up for a double-time... eh, George and 'yd'... What was that crack about having more fun without your girl friend?"

Building in City Lag Behind Year Ago Record

Local Builders Expect Activity to Start Soon

Building in Plymouth for the first three months of the new year has decreased more than $40,000 over the record set in 1939 for the corresponding period. This year only $17,536 has been spent in the city for new buildings, alterations or repairs.

Commercial building alone for the first three months of last year for $15,500 while during the same period in 1939 it was $20,000. This year only $1,500 has been spent in the city for new buildings, alterations or repairs.

Rotarians Plan for Conference

The Rotary club of Plymouth has received a very cordial invitation from the District of the Rotarians to attend the 153rd International Rotary District to be held April 28, 29 and 30. The official hotel and conference headquarters will be at the Dearborn Inn, which is adjacent to Greenfield Village and the Edison Institute Museum.

Approximately 800 visitors are expected, some of whom will begin to arrive Sunday afternoon, April 28, so that they may attend the Colonial Fellowship reception at the Inn from 4:00 until 8:00, at which time District Governor Ernest Chapelle and International Representative Charles Cadwallader with their families will receive the guests.

How to Attract Song Birds to the Grounds Surrounding Your Home

Right Kind of Plants and Shrubs Will Help Much

Plymouth home owners wishing the songs, the brilliant plumage, the delicate form and graceful flight of birds about their houses, may attract them by discriminating selection in spring shrubbery plantings, as well as by providing nesting places and bird houses.

A thicket of raspberry or dewberry, elder and dogwood, grouped about some taller sumac, huckleberry and juniper, will supply fruit for birds throughout the year, ornithologists point out.

Mass plantings of a variety of shrubbery is recommended for the birds' safety and to supply a succession of flowers and fruits some of which should persist through the winter. For winter protection of birds, some evergreens are considered indispensable.

Seed producing shrubs will attract such birds as pine siskins, goldfinches and crossbills, while fruit producers like apple, bayberry and snowberry will attract such fruit eating birds as robins, cardinals and bluebirds.

Native species are to be preferred to introduced species in planting, Michigan conservationists warn, but by hunters with the department ornithologists observe, and birds prefer wild to cultivated fruits, or an abundance of wild fruits is a form of protection for domestic fruits. No-spraying can affect concerning local conditions.

A Communication

15492 Woodingham Drive
Detroit, Michigan,
March 30, 1940.

The Plymouth Mail,
Plymouth, Michigan.

Dear Editor:

In your issue of March 8, an article about the passing of Preston B. Whitbeck states that he was the oldest Master Mason living in Michigan. Hence, you would no doubt be interested in an article in the Masonic World of January, 1940. It tells of a banquet held on November 14, 1939 in honor of Dr. John McLellan, P. M., by Florida Lodge No. 308, F. & A. M., of Hartford, Michigan. Dr. McLellan was then 106 years old and he celebrated 70 years of membership in the Masonic order. You will note that this record exceeds by several years both Mr. Whitbeck's age of 94 years and his membership in Masonry of 63 years.

The Masonic World has expended some effort to locate the oldest Mason in Michigan and no doubt its findings are authentic. The same article tells of C. H. Snyder of Kilwinning Lodge No. 297 and August F. Chappel of Detroit Lodge No. 2, who have both been Masons for over 65 years.

I trust that you will be able to use this information in an additional news item in justice to Masonry without detracting from the splendid life story of Mr. Whitbeck.

Plymouth native and well-wisher.

Slightly Hurt in Auto Wreck

Sometimes when one does a good deed, he pays rather heavily for it. That's what happened Monday morning to Noel Donet, who was giving assistance to an automobile driver whose car had stalled on the highway.

Donet was driving towards Plymouth on the Ann Arbor Trail about three miles west of Plymouth when he stopped to give assistance to the automobile driver of the machine which was parked along side the paving. As he started to push the machine towards Plymouth, a fast approaching car from the west started to pass Donet and the machine he was showing.

The driver apparently discovered that he could not get by the machines without colliding head-on with another machine approaching from the east. He applied his brakes and because of the wet paving skidded into the rear end of the Donet car, damaging the Donet machine and slightly injuring Donet. The damage to the skidding car was considerable.

Jack Burk, one of the best students in Mr. Rossman's room and also one of the best baseball players on the team whose position is catcher, is sick in bed with the mumps. He has felt very badly about missing school because he has not missed school or been tardy since school began last September. He has been the only person in the room to keep such a record. We all naturally wish him a speedy recovery.

Thursday, the children of Stark school went to the Wayne County Training school to practice for the festival which will be held in May. They practiced their songs and dances.

From now on there will be a show every Monday night at 7:30 p.m. This week the picture was "He Couldn't Take It" starring Roy Walker, Virginia Cherrill and George E. Stone. There will be a comedy and selected short subjects. It only costs 10 cents and every one is welcome. The next picture will be advertised later.

The Social club hasn't had any meetings for the last four weeks because of the shows. However, there will be one Friday, April 12. Carolyn Leurck, Avis McKinney and Shirley Lutermoser were elected to plan the games.

Friday afternoon at 12:45 p.m. the spelling bee team, which was composed of the last ten children standing in each grade, held the school spelling bee. Mr. Rossman and Mr. Gordon, two of our teachers were the judges.

Richard Hoffman, the seventh grade champion, was the first person to go down, misspelling the word "engineer." Students and the word each one misspelled follow in order:

Donna Jean Campbell, "whether"; Richard Dayhoff, "neighborhood"; James Vaughn, "eight"; Joann Beck, "assembly"; Geraldine Savage, "orchestra"; George Lariviere, "examination"; Betty Roberts, "central"; Paul Leurck and Gerald Van Tassel, "sentence"; Fred Byrd and Betty Kettle, "command"; Charles Sabal, "mischief"; Emma Schrom, "scenery"; Ronald Phillips, "political"; Gerald Klump, "carefully"; Raymond Schmaldeke, "direction"; Owen Kruger, "finally".

The children had much difficulty with the word "straight." Audrey Morris was the first person to misspell it, followed by Margaret Jenkins, Irene Newman, Robert Snyder and Geraldine Van Etta. Richard Vaughn went down on "mischief," Robert Burk, "friendly," James Roberts, "sincerely." "Chocolate" also proved to be a difficult word as Madeline Simpson, Robert Grimm and Marion Lawson misspelled it. Marjorie Stokes missed on "business"; Betty Solberg, "attendance"; Jack Henry, "obedient"; Rosemary Davis, "citizen"; Donna Jean Swarbrick, "numerous"; Albert Ziegler, "especially"; Jack Burk, "occurred"; Virginia Savage misspelled "conferred," and that left only two girls standing. They were Lorraine Frenca and Stella Phillips. The two girls spelled for a while and then recess was called.

After recess the spelling continued. Lorraine stood up bravely as a sixth grader against an eighth grader, but presently Lorraine received the word "romantic" and omitted one "t." Stella corrected the spelling of the word and the spelling bee was over.

Stella Phillips has been the runner-up in the school spelling bee and finally in the eighth grade became a champion. She will compete in the district bee April 26.

If you happen to be over near Stark school Friday, April 12, you are invited to come in and enjoy the evening. There will be dancing and other events. There is an age limit of 16 years.

Friday, April 5, booklets were handed out about Michigan motor vehicle laws to the pupils either belonging to the Service Squad or the Safety Patrol. One day this week tests about the booklet will be given to the pupils.

The 4-H Handicraft boys went to the Wayne theatre Wednesday, April 3. Mr. Kruger and Mr. Van Tassel took the boys to the theatre. Both pictures, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and "Emergency Squad" were enjoyed by all the boys. The admission was paid with the money that was left in the treasury.

Following is a verse, written by Margaret Jenkins, a seventh grade girl:

That Wonderful Land
I'd like to go into a land
Where trees and mountains are
astand;
Where waterfalls and valleys
lay;
Where the bear and deer are set
astray;
Where birds sing merrily in the trees;
Where lakes give off a gentle breeze.

I'd like to go into a land
Where trees and mountains are
astand;
Where there is fishing every day;
Where every day is bright and gay;
When every day seems like May,
I'd like to visit that land some day.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winkler entertained at dinner and cards Saturday, having as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Mitchell, of Sherwood Forest; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Merker and Mr. and Mrs. George Schwarz.

Elizabeth Karns, winner of the Wilcox school spelling bee in the current eliminations for the Detroit News contest, will compete in the district school spelling bee to be held at the Plymouth high school, April 26. Good wishes from all in the Wilcox school and its district have been expressed for her success in this next step for the Detroit News prize.

Preliminary aerial surveys in northern Canada have located a waterfowl-breeding ground of the first magnitude extending about 70 miles along the coast and back into a region rarely visited by white men.

Stark School News

Well, with spring here the girls and boys are out "socking that ball." We have some pretty rough teams. At our citizenship meeting we elected some captains for the seventh grade boys and girls, and eighth grade boys and girls. We have Carolyn Leurck and Robert Sabal but for the whole school when we play other schools we have Shirley Lutermoser and Joseph Drake. The seventh and eighth grade boys are going to have a practice game with Hicks school Thursday, April 11. The school has also ordered some new equipment.

Jack Burk, one of the best students in Mr. Rossman's room and also one of the best baseball players on the team whose position is catcher, is sick in bed with the mumps. He has felt very badly about missing school because he has not missed school or been tardy since school began last September. He has been the only person in the room to keep such a record. Want "in" on next year's "Big News" Now?

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU can figure it out for yourself from what you see in daily traffic and what you hear when the talk turns to automobiles.

Buick's pacing the pack. Has been for several years.

It called this year's style turn a year ago. It set current performance standards in '38 with its Dynaflash engine. It still leads the crowd for riding qualities with its Buick Coil Spring, now in its third year.

So where's a more logical place to look for next year's "big news" than in this year's big and roomy Buick?

It may be smoother engines. Buick is the only car that now balances power plants after assembly.

Coil springs all around may come. Buick's never need lubrication, are practically indestructible, and even cut down skid-risks.

Maybe it'll be heavier frames — Buick has the heaviest of any car of its price. Or maybe many of the "extra touches" Buick so freely applies — safety-latches on rear doors and Two-Way Direction Signals with automatic cut-off.

You get all of these things now in Buick.

Get them with the plus of Buick quality of materials and workmanship—get them at a price that suggests a six instead of an eight.

So it's easy to start enjoying future "new features" right now.

Just go try a Buick. Look it over, inside and out. And get the prices.

Even if you've been buying in the lowest-price field you'll find it takes less than you think to step up to a Buick. Prices begin at $895* delivered at Flint, Mich.; transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

$895*
for Business Coupe (Illustrated)

You get a "Good Deal" Two Ways from Your Buick Dealer

A good "deal" when it comes to old-car allowances—and a whole of a lot of automobile in your new Buick. See your dealer and find out for yourself.

THE "PROBE" AT THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

Newspaper dispatches said the other day that the state's chief executive had ordered an investigation of conditions at the Boys' Vocational School at Lansing.

The investigation is the result of some assertions made by two or three judges who have had occasion to deal with boys who have not made good after having spent two or three years or more at the institution.

Let it be said FIRST—that this failure of the boys who have left the institution, is NOT the fault of the management of the institution or of the institution itself.

The fault lies upon all of us, but chiefly upon the county officials who are making such a protest about the methods of training at the institution.

When the Vocational school releases a boy, what have many of the judges and the rest of us done to see to it that the released youngster did not go right back into the same environment and surroundings that led to his downfall in the first place?

What have we done to provide good jobs for these youngsters, jobs under right surroundings?

With the limited means at his command, Robert Marsh, director of the Boys' Vocational school and the board in charge have performed a splendid duty, notwithstanding all of the assertions of some of these critics of the school.

There has been instituted vocational training at the school and the boys have educational opportunities, which include even a high school course.

Youngsters are taught many trades that will lead to direct employment after they are released. The school maintains a radio shop where boys learn how to install and repair radios. They learn to bake bread, pies and cakes, to make and repair shoes, to do carpenter work, to run printing presses and set type, to operate boilers and heating plants, to carry on farm work. There are numerous other trades that they are taught.

In fact, the whole institution is carried on by the youngsters under the supervision of its officials.

No—the fault does NOT lie with the school so much as it DOES with judges and other public officials who should see to it that when these boys are released from the school, they secure STEADY employment under most favorable environmental conditions.

These judges can do a lot of good work in this respect. While their criticism has served to arouse public interest in the school, it is proper that their own responsibility in this respect be given some emphasis as well. It is their job and the public's job to pick up the responsibility of caring for these boys just the minute they are released from the school. Maybe if more attention was paid to this phase of the problem, a higher percentage of the boys would make good.

But It's True

LO. POOR EDITOR (Anonymous)

Consider the editor! A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in the town. The physician getteth 10 plunks. The editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that the child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. Yea, he lieth even as a centurion. And the proud father giveth him a Cremo.

Behold, the young one groweth up and graduateth. And the editor putteth into his paper a swell notice. Yea, a peach of a notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman and of her exceeding comeliness. Like unto the roses of Sharon is she and her gown is played up to beat the band. And the dressmaker getteth two score and four iron men. And the editor gets a note of thanks from the sweet girl graduate.

And the daughter goeth on a journey. And the editor throweth himself on the story of the farewell party. It runneth a column solid. And the fair one remembereth him from afar with a picture postal card that costeth six for a jitney.

Behold, she returneth, and the youth of the town fall down and worship. She picketh one and lo, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto the editor a bid to the wedding, and behold the bids are fashioned in a far city.

Flowery and long is the wedding notice which the editor printeth. The minister getteth 10 bones. The groom standeth the editor off for a 12-months' subscription.

All flesh is grass and in time the wife is gathered unto the soil. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head and the darned thing cometh out, "Gone to Her Last Roasting Place."

And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pulleth out their ads and cancelth their subs. and they swing the hammer even unto the third and fourth generations.

Canst thou beat it?

Rambling Around WITH EDITORS OF MICHIGAN

OUR SHRINKING VIOLET

In refusing to enter the primaries in Wisconsin and Nebraska, Senator Vandenberg of Grand Rapids wrote GOP champions that his official duties in Washington required his full attention there. Then he added: "Furthermore, I have persistently clung to the view that the Presidential election this year is too desperately important to be pursued in the interest of any personal aspiration. The choice of the convention should flow from the deliberate judgment of the American people and not from the transient impulse of a campaign tour."

The allusion to Mr. Dewey and Mr. Taft cannot be missed. To say nothing of Mr. Bridges and Mr. Gannett, Senator Vandenberg with the greatest public sounding board in the land—the United States senate—to air his personal views, is virtuously indignant that rival candidates should present themselves to the country via campaign tours while he is "busy" in Washington.

But suppose for a moment that the principal of letting the Presidential lightning strike where it may had been adopted as part of the American tradition. There was something of a national crisis in the late 1850's. Does Senator Vandenberg deplore the Lincoln-Douglas debates that gave the "Little Giant" the senatorial election but made Honest Abe President? If Lincoln had stayed at home waiting for the "deliberate judgment of the American people" to drag him out of obscurity, he never would have been nominated in 1860, and the history of this country may well have been far different.

There may be no Lincoln's in the 1940 crop of candidates but the right to broadcast one's view to the public is inalienable and he surely considers it duty on the part of those contending for high public office. Most of this talk about the office seeking man is public fiction and while in theory it may sound as if the people will run around and seek out some shrieking violet, as a matter of fact, things do not work that way. Senator Vandenberg appreciates the value of publicity as well as any candidate and he might as well add to his sincerity by admitting that along with the other candidates, he would like to attract the "deliberate judgment" of the American people so that it will be bent in his direction. In this he does not differ from other candidates seeking public office.—Philip T. Rich in The Midland News.

WE MUSTN'T TAKE IT LYING DOWN

A friend of ours who occupies a responsible position in a governmental agency recently told us that the rottenness in his department was appalling. Yet, he said, he was absolutely powerless to do a thing about it. In other words, the powers-that-be would crucify him if he should make any attempt to clean up the situation and at the same time, would unquestionably stymie his efforts!

What worries us is this: Must the voting and tax-paying public take this condition lying down? Or can they in some way throw out the political tyroes?

Two factors make for political corruption. First of all, a chance for it in administration; and second, indifference on the part of voters.

Weak men in office cannot be expected to reveal corruption.

A dinner supper will be given at the M. E. church, Friday evening, April 16.

At a meeting of the Northville village council held Monday evening, the council passed a dry ordinance without a dissenting voice.

On Friday evening, April 16, in the village hall, the Boy Scouts of Plymouth will give an exhibition of their work. At the first meeting of the village council under its new president, Mr. Hillmer, a committee was appointed to look after the removal of bodies from the old Presbyterian cemetery. They were instructed to make contact with someone for their removal and re-interment in Riverside cemetery.

Sage and Warner were given a contract to build cement crosswalks in the village for the ensuing year at 15 cents per square foot.

One of the most interesting meetings of the Woman's Literary club was held at Mrs. R. E. Cooper's home on Penniman avenue, last Friday afternoon. This was Pioneer Day and nearly every member brought some relic of olden times, a bit of hand-made lace, a rare piece of china, clothing, quilts and many other interesting articles. The president called the meeting to order. It was decided to vote to give ten dollars toward the children's playground; the order of business was suspended and the time was given over to the program of the afternoon. About 40 members responded to roll call, the response being. What year did your family come to Michigan? and also an explanation of the articles brought by the different members. The program was in charge of the first division, Mrs. Carman Root being chairman. "Our Grandfather's Way and Ours," by Mrs. R. E. Cooper was one of the interesting papers given. This paper contained many interesting facts concerning the pioneer life of Plymouth.
