

Upper Peninsula Opens Low Priced Camps to Tourists for Forest Outings

Groups of 40 to 100 people can now enjoy the time of their lives in the cool national forests of Michigan's Upper Peninsula, by chartering at low cost one of the completely equipped camps in the Ottawa or Hiawatha forests, says the Upper Peninsula Development bureau, Marquette, Michigan.

The camps are equipped with electric lights, water and sewage systems, improved lake beaches, diving floats, docks, boats and everything necessary for a royal outing. The main buildings are supplemented with administration, dining, kitchen and recreational facilities. Comfortable cabins have metal cots and clothes lockers for eight persons each.

The principal purpose of the camps, with their nominal rental charges, is to extend the recreational opportunities of the cool northern woods to groups who incomes might otherwise prohibit exceptional vacations in a fine forest environment.

The forests are well filled with wild life and there are no poisonous snakes or insects. Pure running water and springs are everywhere, and the camps are easily accessible over good state and forest roads. Many inland lakes abound in several varieties of freshwater game fish. Boat forests extend from Lake Superior outward through the Upper Peninsula boundaries.

The camps are located at Clear Lake, Hiawatha national forest near highway M-94 between Manistique and Munising, in northern Schoellkopf county, and at Nesbit Lake, Ottawa national forest, near highway M-27 and Sidaun, in southern Houghton county. Inquiries and applications should be sent to the Hiawatha national forest headquarters at Escanaba, Michigan, or to the Ottawa national forest headquarters at Ironwood, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gerst entertained at a family dinner, Sunday, in honor of their cousin, William Alexander, who has been visiting relatives in Plymouth the last three weeks. Mr. Alexander makes his home in the Massena home in Alma.

Grand Traverse region is subdued and soft—sometimes picturesque, always beautiful, in some instances exquisitely so. Viewed from some suitable eminence, the landscape presents an undulating sea of verdure, originally founded on the coast of Lake Superior, and the methods of securing and working them.

A very clever writer, John R. St. John, in a small work published in 1846, gives quite a detailed account of the lake Superior country, and of the coasting and trading about it, though it will be borne in mind that at that time the Sault canal was not in existence, and there were but few vessels on the lake, and no railroads in the vicinity. The tonnage is thus summarized in the work mentioned: "A steamboat, large, staunch, commodious, and safe; a propeller with all these qualities also, and a number of very convenient schooners, as will be seen by the list of vessels on lake Superior." The writer says, "The traveler for pleasure, let me say a few words. When you will have read the round upon which I have taken the coaster, you will probably shrink from the toils of following the shore, and wish to go direct and quick, from place to place, or hurry a time at one place and then go to another—in either case there will be ample provision next season."

If you are in pursuit of pleasure, whether lady or gentleman, you can find it in the lake Superior region, provided you can be pleased with grand scenery, waterfalls, lakes and mountains. You can ramble in search of agates and carnelians, in which, of all I have seen engaged, I have never known one to tire of the amusement. Or, tired of this, you can wander away with hook and line, to the bright and beautiful lakes that lie among the hills; or take your gun, for

Wins Lawsuit in Ohio Courts

A lawsuit which involved a Plymouth woman ended in Toledo, Ohio, courts Tuesday when Mrs. Emma Froelich was granted $3300 for injuries received two years ago.

On July 9, 1938, Mrs. Froelich, who was employed at the Calvin Whipple home on Penniman avenue, was struck by a falling awning in front of a store building owned by Cora Rea, of Canton, Ohio. Mrs. Froelich sustained a fractured back and other injuries. She was confined in a full-length cast in the University hospital at Ann Arbor for three months, followed by a period of eight months during which she had to wear a brace.

Mrs. Froelich has been employed at the Whipple home for the last four years, excluding the time she spent in hospitals as a result of the injuries from which she has now fully recovered. It is stated that the case will be appealed.

Kiwanians See Film Of Industry

A unique program of sound motion pictures was presented to Plymouth Kiwanians Tuesday night by Charles Bentley, a member of the organization and director of vocational education at Plymouth high school. The pictures were obtained through the courtesy of the National Association of Manufacturers and had to do with the importance of machines in the present industrial set-up.

Narration for the pictures was carried on by Lowell Thomas, widely known news analyst, world-wide traveler and author. The film portrayed the story of industrial progress in the United States during the past few decades, and showed the opportunity for employment in the future. Commentation said that geological frontiers in America have been overcome, but industrially, in chemistry and electricity, just the surface has been scratched.

Kiwanian club members were amazed at the industrial progress that this country has gone through during the last few years and even more astonished at the things that were predicted to come.

The pictures have been used in the high school in conjunction with Mr. Bentley's vocational classes.

Stark School News

Monday afternoon, April 15, the Stark school girls' team went to Patchen school to have the first baseball game of the year, under its new captain, Shirley Luttermoser. The game began at 3:50 p. m. Mr. McKinney was umpire. In the fifth inning, while running from third base to home, Stella Phillips, the Stark school's short-stop, collided with the Patchen pitcher and hurt her leg, but continued to play the last two innings. There were no home runs hit. Although Shirley Luttermoser and Stella Phillips had three-base hits. After seven innings of play, the score was 30 to 9, Stark winning their first game of the season.

The Stark school boys' ball team in a very good game defeated the Patchen club 7-2 Monday, April 15. The game was very exciting, much of the excitement being caused by the Patchen pitcher, Henry Schmaedecke, who struck out 16 opposing batsmen in the seven innings of play. Henry seems to be in better form than he was last year and with him the Stark boys hope to win the championship. Joe Drake, the captain, set a good example by scoring the winning run. Henry Schmaedecke also scored two runs.

Baseball
In spring a young man's fancy turns to baseball.—The bats and ball, the yells and calls.

That goes on until September falls, The strikes and hits and, of course, The arguments—that's baseball.

The boy, he hints for a catcher's mit. (He usually gets it) and a ball That he fellows can hit. On and on it goes until mother's call.

Comes peering to his ears, But he sees ma coming with a frown That makes him full of fear. And wonders how he was found.

As he goes home, the boys are sad. To see a "slugger" leave the game. But they are called, and also glad. 'Cause tomorrow there'll be more fame.

Entire American production of magnesium, a metal lighter than aluminum important in modern aircraft construction, comes from the plants of the Dow Chemical company at Midland, Michigan. There the metal is extracted, along with other chemicals, from natural brines pumped from wells about 1,400 feet deep. In 1938, a record year, production was 4,819,617 pounds, worth 30 cents a pound in pure ingots, in New York.

Tactics of an efficient "fish hound" are reported by conservation officer Robin L. Olmstead of Lenawee county. When the dog's master was spearing through the ice of Devils lake this winter, the cocker spaniel sat tensely watching the water. Sighting a fish, the dog pulled lustily at the fisherman's pant leg. In summer, the dog sits in the boat and watches the bobber, tugging sharply at the pant leg when the float goes under.

UNFORTUNATE.

There has been quite a number of people about Michigan outside the Democratic party who have been interested in the activities of Senator Brown down in Washington. While they have not agreed with all that he has said and done, still the predominance of opinion has seemingly been quite favorable to him.

It does not take much, however, for a person occupying a high legislative position to step over the border line and place himself in the class of just another ordinary political job-holding barn-stormer. That appears to have been the case with Senator Brown.

A careful reading of the Congressional Record's account of his statements pertaining to the civil service problem in Michigan can leave the reader with but one thought—the Senator in his attempt to smear the Republican party certainly did not confine himself as carefully to the facts as a member of a legislature or of congress should in a discussion of important public issues.

So incensed was State Representative Ellis Faulkner of Barry county over the Senator's attempt to unjustly blame the Republicans for the breakdown of civil service in Michigan, he wrote Senator Brown a scathing letter, pointing out to him some of the absurd and misleading statements he had made in his remarks in the senate.

The only trouble with Representative Faulkner's letter lies in the fact that he did not go into greater detail and really expose how deluding Senator Brown's statements were.

In brief, the Senator had declared that the last session of the Michigan legislature had penalized the University of Michigan by cutting its appropriation to the extent of a million dollars because some of its professors had advocated civil service for the state government.

Of course that statement is NOT correct. The writer of this editorial, a member of the Michigan state legislature, was chairman of the house conference committee that had under its jurisdiction the appropriation bill for the University of Michigan during the last session. Some reductions had been made in the bill on the floor of the house and the writer was one of a number of legislators who desired to see the appropriation restored as nearly as possible to the amount that had been requested by University officials.

During the long hours of debate on this subject, not one single Democratic member of the house gave aid to the writer's efforts to increase the appropriation to the point where the needs of the University could be properly met.

When it became necessary for the Speaker of the house to select members of a conference committee, he named the writer as its chairman, knowing full well of our favorable position towards the University in the matter. It is customary for the speaker to select members of both political parties on these committees. As the Democratic member he named a well known Detroit representative.

There was but one vote needed in the committee to raise

A taking feature of the Al-sonic movies at Northville is the piano playing by Mrs. E. L. Riggs of this village. Mrs. Riggs is not only an accomplished musician but she is also very clever at quickly changing her music to conform to the pictures.

George Wilski is having his tenant house moved to the rear of his lot in North village, and will erect a bungalow on the corner.

F. W. Hamill is driving a new Alter touring car.

Matt Powell has purchased a new Ford automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Brower and family of Romulus, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Orr Passage.

Dr. and Mrs. Luther Peck pleasantly entertained a company of friends at a six o'clock dinner last Tuesday evening. Later in the evening five hundred were enjoyed.

Frank Dunn was pleasantly surprised at his home on Maple avenue last Monday evening by about 15 of his friends and neighbors. The occasion was his birthday, cards were the entertainment, after which light refreshments were served. The evening was a pleasant one for all present.

The Alter Motor Car company is turning out five cars per day this week. Several new men were added to the party members to our great University. Such a thing would be much more in keeping with the responsibilities and traditions of the office than the unfortunate position the Junior Senator has assumed.

CONGRATULATIONS.

Governor Luren Dickinson this week celebrated his eighty-first birthday. He says he is in perfect health and that he is thoroughly enjoying life. In a brief talk Sunday he declared that his excellent physical condition is due entirely to the fact that he refuses to worry about anything and lives simply and carefully. One in good health is just naturally interested in all that is taking place. What better rules for good health can be found than those stressed by the Governor? It was good advice that he gave to the people of Michigan. May he live many, many more years to enjoy more of the life that has been so abundant in usefulness.

WITH EDITORS OF MICHIGAN

Their views about public problems and issues.

NEEDED FOR WELFARE

The five millions of people in Michigan spend $150,000,000 annually for liquor, according to a recent report. This of course does not include beer and wine, which would double the total. We should not have said the five millions, for less than 50 percent of the people of the state ever take a drink, according to reports. But figure it up. Each drinker spends, on an average, $75.00 a year without adding his beer and wine bill. And we talk about hard times, lack of money, too many people on welfare, etc. If half of this money was spent for welfare (in the right places) there would not be a lot of cold, half starved mothers and children worrying and wondering what was coming next. Paul McDonald in The Otsego County (Gaylord) Herald-Times.

JIMMY CROMWELL

The United States ambassador to Canada is James Cromwell, the rich boy who made himself richer by marrying Doris Duke, one of the world's richest women. With so much money it was not difficult for Mr. Cromwell to gain an ambassadorial appointment. That was why James Cromwell happened to be in a position to trip off with old "hands across the sea" address delivered in Canada.

Ambassador Cromwell apologized to Canadians for the neglect of Americans. If the issue were left with Ambassador Cromwell, Canadians inferred from the speech, American troops would now be in Europe fighting for Merry England and Sunny Britain.

The American Ambassador again proved that brains and money do not always run together. The incident serves to further prove that the United States policy of picking rich men for foreign posts is not only wrong, but is dangerous.

Ambassador Cromwell should be immediately severed from the position as ambassador to Canada. Such severance would help him first to enlist in the British army and might save some other less rich, but more valuable American from being forced to spend a European war to make the world safe for democracy. Nelson Brown in The Ingham (Mason) County News.
