

Business Men Meet With City Commission

Discuss New Sign Ordinance; Postpone Passage

Several Plymouth merchants attended the Monday meeting of the city commission at the city hall to discuss the sign ordinance as proposed for adoption by the commission.

The greatest criticism was that of the time element involved in taking down the signs which disagree with the proposed ordinance. Some believed that from three to five years should be allowed. An answer concerning this question was not given by commissioners as they are also dissatisfied with parts of the proposed ordinance as it now stands. It is, at the present time, in the hands of City Attorney Arlo Emery, who is checking it from a legal angle, before returning it to City Manager C. H. Elliott for re-drafting.

Commissioners agreed to postpone further consideration of the ordinance until the city manager has made changes which have been requested and approved by the merchants. It was agreed Monday night that the matter would be dropped from commission proceedings until the regular meeting, August 19.

Irving Blunk, a local merchant, suggested that a V-type sign be permitted with a 24-inch height. This will be considered along with suggestions from several sign companies who have been consulted concerning various parts of the proposed ordinance.

Much opposition has arisen concerning the proposed ordinance as it is currently drafted. It outlawed all signs which projected more than 12 inches from the face of a building over public property, and also would cause merchants to take the signs down within 60 days. It is now generally believed that some regulation which would have a tendency to increase the population, he laid out a new county, carving it from Macomb, and called it Oakland. Its limits included the present county, and also Livingston, the east part of Ingham, and part of Shiawassee, and Genesee counties. In spite of the large area, by the census of the following year, 1820, it had a population of but 330. It was gradually reduced in size by the formation of new counties, until in 1835 it was left in its present form. The name was taken from the numerous openings in that section, and was a very appropriate descriptive name. Bela Hubbard, in his Memorials of a Half Century, speaks of the character of the "openings" as that of "a majestic orchard of oaks and hickories, varied by small, prairie, grassy lawns."

The governor of the Territory of Michigan was by law the Superintendent of Indian Affairs within its limits and in 1819 Governor Cass, who had acted for the government in prior treaties with the Indians to the complete satisfaction of all parties, negotiated with the Chippewas at Saeinaw a treaty, by which they relinquished claims to about six million acres of land in the lower peninsula. This left free for settlement and development a large portion of the central part of the state north of Thunder Bay river.

On March 29, 1820 Governor Cass acted upon a petition presented to him in the summer of 1819, by the inhabitants of Macomb county living along the upper end of Lake St. Clair and St. Clair river, issued his proclamation setting off and naming the county of St. Clair. It was created from the county of Macomb, reducing that county to substantially its present limits, and included a large part of what is now Sanilac county as well as Lapeer, Genesee and Shiawassee counties. The name was undoubtedly given to it in consequence of the fact that it was a township of that name first laid out by Governor Cass in January, 1819, as a part of Wayne county at the request of the Court of General Quarter Sessions of the Peace of that county. The township, beginning at Huron (now Clinton) river, and extending in a narrow strip along the water to Lake Huron, and in April of the same year, after the creation of the county of Macomb the governor again laid out the township of St. Clair, this time beginning at the mouth of Swan Creek and including all of that county north of that line so that when the new county of St. Clair came to be laid out and named, the name of the township which included all the area of the new county was used.

The name of the original township may have been taken from the lake and river of that name along which the township extended, or from General Armand St. Clair, the first governor of the Northwest Territory. Before the division of that Territory through the creation of Ohio as a State there were the townships in what is now Michigan, of Sargent and St. Clair. The name taken from the lake is in its present form, a hybrid. On August 12, 1878, LaSalle and his company, on their memorable trip to the Niagara river in the "Griffin" entered Lake St. Clair, and as that name was the festival day of Santa Clara, the French form, Sainte Claire, he gave her name to the lake. If it were properly Anglicized, the name would appear as Saint

Middle Belt Golfer Wins State Title

Zygmund Zawadzki is first public links winner in history of event.

Zygmund Zawadzki, player for the Middle Belt public golf course, won the state Amateur championship when he beat Fred Kammer, of Detroit, 2 and 1 in the 18-hole final over the Belvedere Country club course at Charlevoix Sunday.

This was the first time in the history of the event that a public links golfer has won. Zawadzki is a 26-year-old Hamtramck Junior High swimming instructor. His fine putting enabled him to score five birdies and an eagle in the 17 holes the match lasted. In the morning he eliminated Defending Champion Bill Barclay, of Flint, 3 and 2.

Zawadzki's birdie barrage started on the third when he rapped in a 10-foot putt for three and again on the 542-yard fifth hole when he played a fine third shot from the edge of the woods and dropped a four-foot putt.

A 15-foot putt gave the Middle Belt golfer another bird on the seventh. He got the eagle on the 64-yard ninth. His drive was long and had a good second, the ball stopping five feet short of the pin. He sunk the putt, beating his opponent's birdie. Other birds were scored on the tenth and fifteenth.

Zawadzki also holds the Michigan Public Links championship which he won at Bob O'Link course, near Novi, last fall. He shot the course in six under par. The new Michigan amateur champ started playing golf 12 years ago when he became a caddy at the Knollwood Country club. There he won three caddie championships. He also held the Highland Park Open Amateur championship twice.

He is a graduate of Hamtramck high school. There he swam the back-stroke and freestyle vents and was also a member of the Wayne University swimming team in 1935. Plans are that he will complete his college training at Wayne starting in September.

Other members of the Middle Belt Michigan Golf association league team who competed in the Michigan Open were Ronny Nicolls, Ronny Williams and Jack Ross. Ross two weeks ago won the Junior District golf association tournament held at the Detroit golf club.

Rev. Strasen Came Here 25 Years Ago

It was just 25 years ago next Sunday when Rev. Charles Strasen came to Plymouth to take charge of the St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church. Although now living in retirement, Rev. Strasen looks back over his many years of successful ministerial work in this city with much satisfaction.

He first entered the ministry in Toledo 52 years ago, and until the time of his retirement a few years ago, his entire life has been devoted to the work of the church.

Community Picnic to Be Held August 14 in Plymouth-Riverside Park

Plans are under way for Plymouth's annual community picnic. Although the date is tentative the affair will probably take place on Wednesday afternoon, August 14, in Plymouth Riverside park.

A schedule of games and entertainment is being prepared by William Rose, J. D. McLaren and Anthony Matulis, and after a general committee meeting the early part of next week, complete details will be announced.

Local merchants will be solicited by the Chamber of Commerce for funds with which to buy prizes and refreshments for the boys and girls of the city who will be guests of honor on that occasion. If other individuals in the city wish to make contributions to this worthy undertaking they may do so at the Chamber of Commerce office. Complete details concerning the picnic will appear in next week's issue of The Mail.

Plymouth United Savings Bank Becomes Member of Federal Reserve

The Plymouth United Savings bank has become a Federal Reserve bank and its charter as such has already been granted, stated President Charles H. Bennett, yesterday. The charter was accepted at a meeting of the directors of the bank held last week, and the institution is now operating under the Federal bank system, added Mr. Bennett.

"We are highly pleased with the excellent showing indicated by the examination made by the federal examiners, and we believe that our many patrons will be pleased at the action we have taken in accepting the charter extended us by the Federal Reserve," Mr. Bennett said.

The bank will remain as a state bank even though it operates as a member of the Federal Reserve.

Hail Storm Causes Heavy Damage to Many Farmers Along Ridge Road

One of the most severe hail storms that has swept this part of southeastern Michigan in years, late Tuesday afternoon, practically destroyed all growing crops on farms located along Ridge road between Geddes and Ford roads.

Elmer Schultz and Henry Hawk are probably the worst sufferers. Their corn, wheat and oat fields look as though they had been invaded by an army of grasshoppers which had stripped the stalks of all leaves, and then tramped the growing grain into the ground.

There was not a single farm in the vicinity of Cherry Hill along Ridge road that did not suffer damage. The loss will run into thousands of dollars, and few of the farmers carried hail storm insurance.

While hail fell in other localities, the storm was not severe enough to cause much damage. The hail came during the heavy rain storm that swept this part of the state Tuesday afternoon.

Voters Are Urged to Protect Ballot Rights by Re-Registering Now

City officials say that local voters are not re-registering at the rate they should. They are urging that every one take immediate steps to protect their votes in the forthcoming primary and final election.

Because of the fact that Plymouth has become a city of more than 5,000 population, it is essential that EVERY voter must register AGAIN before being able to vote this fall.

City Manager Elliott says a few hundred have come in and placed their names on the voting list, but the vast majority of voters have not done so, and he requests that every voter take immediate steps to protect his vote this fall by re-registering NOW.

Business Men Call Meeting for Monday Night to Discuss Sign Question

Plymouth business and professional men have been especially invited to attend a meeting called for Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Mayflower hotel by the Chamber of Commerce to discuss the proposed sign ordinance that is now under consideration by the city commission. Merchants are especially anxious to have a large attendance so that all phases of the problem can be thoroughly discussed and thereby, at the next meeting of the city commission, the business men can have a uniform suggestion to present to the city officials. It is generally believed that a plan can be worked out that will be agreeable to all concerned and that the removal of the signs will be over a period of several years rather than a few weeks, with resultant heavy losses to some of the merchants.

Lidgard Buys Liberty Market

Announcement is made in this issue of The Plymouth Mail of the purchase of the Liberty Market on Liberty street by Robert Lidgard, former manager of the Kroger store on Main street.

Mr. Lidgard has been manager of the downtown Kroger store for a number of years and has many friends in this locality who will be pleased to know that he has gone into business for himself.

He assumed management of his new store today and expects to enlarge the grocery and produce departments immediately. Mr. Lidgard stated that he would inaugurate a special delivery service whereby customers could get delivery at any hour of the day. The store will also be open seven days a week from 7:00 in the morning until 9:00 in the evening.

You can have a Bendix Home Laundry placed in your basement on free trial by calling Plymouth Buick Sales - phone 263.

Mrs. Bessie Salow and son, Merle Weiner, have returned from a week's stay at Osego lake, with Mrs. Salow's brother, Asa Geigler and family.

Frigidaire uses the smallest amount of electric current and that Plymouth Buick Sales company will place one in your home on remarkably low terms.

Plymouth Has New Industry

The Ward Manufacturing company, established for 10 years in Detroit, has opened a branch factory in Plymouth which will manufacture fluorescent lighting fixtures. It is located at 639 South Main street and will be operated by W. M. Jones of this city and his father, J. H. Jones, who with his family, will reside here.

Fluorescent lighting, a revolutionary development, was perfected by the General Electric company. Considered as one of the better methods of lighting stores it is expected that many Plymouth stores and manufacturing plants will install the fixtures in the near future.

The new method of lighting is reported as being excellent for floral lighting, show windows, beauty parlors, color matching, cloth inspection, counter and work bench lighting and for high speed production jobs. Engineers also use the light for drafting tables. It is used wherever an abundance of true color lighting is desired.

Mr. Ward said that these fixtures, when they come off the production line at the Plymouth factory, are wired completely ready for installation. The company will make all installations necessary.

He said that the new-type lights use less current in relation to the amount of light that is given off, thus reducing electric bills.

The company also manufactures a complete line of household and industrial exhaust fans.

Closing Deals for Parking Lot Property

Expect Transactions to Be Made Within Next Two Weeks

Present indications are that construction on Plymouth's municipal parking lot will be started within the next two weeks. Deals are now being closed for the Nettie Dibble, John Bickenstaff, Henry Murray and August Meyers property and the Blunk estate located in that area designated for the park. It will be at the rear of the stores on Pennington avenue and Main street.

The city commission has authorized and set aside funds for the payment to those individuals who have consented to sell their property to the city for the lot. This will be paid as soon as warranty deeds and abstracts or title insurance can be secured and approved by the city attorney.

The properties in question and a few other pieces, had to be secured in order to make the parking space complete. Commissioners expect that within the next few weeks, all transactions will be made.

Plans are that the proposed lot will be operated much the same as similar parking areas in cities near here. It will be partially fenced in with separate entrance and exit rates. An attendant will be in charge of parking on nights when parking is expected to be congested. Orderly parking will be enforced at all times.

The lot when it is completed will have accommodations to park 175 automobiles which is almost as many as can be parked along streets in the downtown area. It will be a quadrangular area of 3300 square feet.

Paul Wood to Operate Southern Tourist Camp

Purchases Large Place Down in Tennessee

Paul Wood, for nearly 20 years well known and prominent Plymouth building contractor, will leave Plymouth with his family August 1 for Helenwood, Tennessee, where he has just purchased a large all-year tourist camp. He will devote his entire time to the management and development of the business.

There are now 18 cabins, completely equipped for both summer and winter service. The camp is located on U.S.-27, one of the main north and south highways, and is known to tourists as the "Glass House."

While all of the cabins are strictly modern in every way, Mr. Wood plans some improvements and to construct 18 or 20 more cabins during the forthcoming winter.

"Mrs. Wood and myself have been doing much traveling during the last year looking for such a site as we had been looking for down in Tennessee," stated Mr. Wood.

"The site is a beautiful one, well shaded and in a most attractive part of Tennessee. Besides the cabins, there are three houses on the place. About 40 acres of ground have been purchased surrounding the camp, which we hope to develop eventually into one of the finest tourist camps in this part of the country," said Mr. Wood.

"We regret greatly to leave Plymouth. I have lived here ever since I was 16 years of age, but for some time it has been our ambition to own such a place as I have purchased. I am turning over to Godwin Cramble all of my building contracts so that I can leave in the immediate future to take over the business," he added.

In addition to the 18 cabins and three houses in the camp, there is a large tourist restaurant, which at present employs 12 people, that is conducted in connection with the tourist camp.

Mr. Wood says he will be exceedingly pleased to have all of his Michigan friends when traveling south, plan to make the "Glass House" one of their stops on the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Pelt returned Tuesday evening from a two weeks' vacation at Cedarville, in Snow Island. They accompanied their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Galsterer and family of Frankmunth and friends.

Markham Homesite To Be A City Park

Graduates Hall Century Ago, Meets Classmates at Recent Reunion

Mrs. W. T. Smith, who resides on North Territorial road recently attended the fifth annual reunion of the high school graduating class of the West Branch high school. The visit to West Branch also proved to be the first she had made to her old home town in half a century.

"I certainly enjoyed the day spent among friends and schoolmates I had not seen for some time," she said. George McCallum who graduated from high school in the same class I did, is the same George McCallum, who is state senator from Ann Arbor. Unfortunately, he could not be present, but we had a nice letter from him," stated Mrs. Smith a few days ago when telling of her interesting experience.

Mrs. Smith states that there have been many changes in her old home town since she left there, shortly after her graduation from high school. Her class was also the first graduating class of the West Branch high school.

Schrader Gives Land to City

Gift Aids in Development of Civic Parking Space

Contributing to the efforts of the city in obtaining a large parking space for public use is the recent gift of a piece of property by Fred D. Schrader. The particular parcel is located back of his building on Penniman avenue and in the area which is planned for widening the alleyway. The store is now used by the Blunk and Thatcher furniture company.

"The city commission will formally express its appreciation to Mr. Schrader for this property," declared City Manager C. H. Elliott, "but I would at this time like to personally thank him. It is for things such as this, given of free will, that are truly appreciated."

The city manager said that there would be no difficulty at all in securing space for a municipal parking lot if some land owners in the designated areas would come to reasonable terms of sale with city officials.

Plans for the parking lot are progressing rapidly and it is thought within two weeks at the most, actual grading will begin. Final arrangements are yet to be made for a few remaining parcels.

Gardens Team Plays Night Game

For its first experience at playing softball under floodlights, the Plymouth Gardens team will meet the Floyd Foran team of Royal Oak at Hazel Park, Sunday evening, July 21.

The game will begin as soon as it is dark enough to make the floodlights effective. It is expected that the Gardens team will have a large following present at the ball park, which is located on Nine and One-Half Mile road, just off John R., in Hazel Park.

Fillmore-Wood Sell Gas-Service Station

Edward Laskey, this week announced that he had purchased the Standard Oil company's gas-oline-service station from the former owners, Wellman Fillmore and Kenneth Wood. Laskey has, for the last six years, been associated with the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, as a service manager with headquarters in the Detroit offices.

The station changed hands July 13, Mr. and Mrs. Laskey, with their two children, will move to Plymouth August 1. His wife is a member of the Order of Eastern Star and a past queen of Bethel No. 5, Order of Job's Daughters, of Chicago.

After the first of August, "Ed" will be on regular duty at the station, which is located at the corner of West Ann Arbor Trail and Main street. He will appreciate making new acquaintances here.

City Accepts Gift of Land

To Be Named After Its Donor, Miss Louise Markham

Another park has been added to the many beauty spots possessed by the city of Plymouth as the result of a gift made known Monday night at the meeting of the city commission.

Louise Markham, sister of Phil Markham, founder of the old Markham factory, who is now residing in the King's Daughters home in Detroit, turned over to the city a deed for the old Markham home site located on Holbrook avenue, between Starkweather and Plymouth road, which contains more than half an acre of ground. It extends from the street back to the Plymouth-Riverside parkway system.

Miss Markham, who will be 100 years old in October, now totally blind, has never lost her affection for the city where she was born and spent so many years of her life.

When she presented the deed to a representative of the city government, she declared that "I have always had a warm spot in my heart for the city of Plymouth, and it makes me very happy to be able to give this property to the citizens of Plymouth, for park purposes."

She inherited the property from her mother, a pioneer settler. She had been offered $2,000 several times for the property because of the gravel on the land but refused to sell. The gift to the city stipulated that the property should always be used for a park. This transaction was brought about with the help of Mrs. Maude Bennett, Mrs. Edward Lauffer and J. Merle Bennett.

Miss Markham was born on the site of the proposed park, and lived there until 13 years of age. A number of years ago she entered the Detroit home. Although nearly the century mark, her mind is keenly alert and she would enjoy having some of her old friends write her.

The commission passed a resolution thanking her in behalf of the city for the fine gift and decided to name the property, "Louise Markham Park."

Baptists Plan Dedication

Important improvements have been completed in the interior of the First Baptist church building which have greatly increased the usefulness of the auditorium.

The elevated baptistry has been constructed behind the pulpit and two dressing rooms, one on each side of it, which also serve as class rooms for the Sunday school and choir room at the morning service.

The organ has been lowered to clear the view and the choir is moved into the center. It is a decided improvement in both appearance and usefulness. This Sunday morning there will be a dedication service at 10:00 o'clock to which everyone is cordially invited, and in the evening at 7:30 p.m. the ordinance of baptism will be administered for the first time in the newly constructed baptistry. Guests are welcome. Rev. G. H. Enss will be officiating.

To Construct Storm Sewer

A report was made to the city commission at the meeting Monday night concerning the condition of a drain between South Main and South Harvey streets. The commission set August 5, as a date on which a public hearing on the proposed construction of a 12-inch storm sewer and assessment will be held.

Because of the condition involved, the city manager was authorized to start work on the project immediately which will include the construction of a 12-inch drain.

It was pointed out in the report that the present tile is filled with sand and is no longer of benefit. The city has unsuccessfully attempted to keep the drain open for some time.

The city manager said that it is planned that the drain will be completely installed this week.

Miss Mary Joyce, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, is spending the summer with her aunt, Mrs. Mattick.

Over 700 See Rotary-Kiwanis "Donkey" Game

Clear Over $50 for Recreation Program

Proving that Shakespeare was wrong and that there is something in a name, Dr. "Brick" Champe galloped (?) home Monday night with the winning and only run of the Rotary-Kiwanis donkey baseball game, making Rotary the winner in the five innings that were played before rain drove the crowd away.

About 700 spectators refused to be intimidated by rains which fell almost steadily during the afternoon and early evening, so that approximately $50 was cleared for the summer recreation program. The money is to be used to hire buses to transport Plymouth kiddies to Rouge swimming pool during the summer months. Last year such a project was paid for by donations from various Plymouth clubs, but the success of the donkey baseball game Monday insured the swimming trips for the 1940 season.

The contest was figuratively for the spectators and almost literally for the participants, side-splitting. The enthusiasm with which Floyd Eckles, Earl Mastick and Bob Willoughby hurled themselves on such fire-eaters as "Andy Gump," "Sally Rand," or "Kate Smith" was quickly squelched as the donkeys ducked their heads, sending their riders into the advertised "spill a minute." No one will soon forget the mental picture of Vaughan Smith astride his tiny mount, of Claude Dykhouse finding it impossible to get to first base, or of young Bob Sessions wandering nearly twice around the bases and finally landing back safely on third before the third baseman could pull his donkey toward the ball, lulling cozily in a mud puddle.

Dunbar Davis was first to bat for the Kiwanis, with Tony Matulis pitching and Floyd Eckles catching for the Rotarians. Davis got safely on first, Bob Sessions struck out, Herman Bakhaus failed to reach first before Vaughan Smith got the ball, and Davis was tagged out, vainly urging his donkey toward second. The Rotarian half of the first, Eckles and Matulis both failed to get on base, Vaughan Smith reached first safely and went to second while Rolfe Smith got on first. Russ Powell's mount failed to get him to first before Bakhaus got possession of the ball, ending the Kiwanis' No runs, one man reached base; Rotary: No runs, two men reached base.

In the Kiwanis half of the second, Earl Mastick got on first. Dykhouse failed to make it, Warren Worth got to first, but Mastick was tagged at second. Ernest Henry failed to reach base to end the inning. For Rotary, Champe got on first, but Ross Heilman, Jake Stremich and Bob Willoughby all lacked what it takes to talk to a mule. Kiwanis: No runs, two hits; Rotary: No runs, one hit.

Bill Norman, Gordon Robinson, and Dunbar Davis likewise lacked persuasive ability in the Kiwanis' third inning. Eckles, Matulis, and Dave Mastick showed out in vain in the Rotary half. Kiwanis: No runs, no hits; Rotary: No runs, no hits.

In the fourth the Kiwanis team provided a lot of excitement. Bob Sessions roamed at (the donkey's) will among the bases, followed by two and a three-months-old donkey, who kicked up their heels as they added to the general confusion. Bakhaus was an easy out. Mastick got safely on first, but was out at second on a double play. Smith to Mather, catching, Dykhouse out at first. After Rolfe Smith and Russ Powell were left lying on the ground by their mounts, "Brick" Champe circled the bases while Kiwanis basemen vainly tugged at their donkeys' tails to ride to the ball. This proved to be the run which won for Rotary. Heilman was unable to urge "Olive Oyl" into the first base circle. Kiwanis: No runs, two reached base; Rotary: One run, one hit.

Kiwanis threatened in the first half of the fifth, the last time either team came to bat. Worth got on first, but was tagged at second, Henry reaching first safely. He in turn was out at second, when Norman reached first. Robinson was out at first to end the game. Kiwanis: No runs, three reached base; Rotary: Summary: Kiwanis—No runs, eight hits; Rotary: One run, four hits. Errors? Well, what do you think? Batteries: Kiwanis—Davis, Worth and Session; Rotary—Matulis, Baker and Eckles.

Harry German to Play Ball Sunday

Old Timers on Cass Benton Diamond

The Country Oldtimers baseball team, managed by Harry German, will play at the Cass Benton park, Northville, Sunday at 1:00 o'clock against the Amazo team of the Inter-County league. The Oldtimers of baseball consists mostly of veteran players from 40 to 60 years of age, who have not yet laid down their gloves and mits. They still are active in the game and although have slowed down in their play, are still able to give most of the young teams of this generation a right smart good game of ball.

The Country Oldtimers have on their club well known players such as Miles Mains, Bobby Veach, Harry German Sr., Licht, Darling, K. r. e. m. e. r, Crittenden, Menosky, Dugray and other real players of yester-years.

German and Mains take their place on the pitcher's mound with Oliver and Crittenden behind the bat and it makes a century battery no difference in how you figure. These players won 15 games last season against young teams and although they are playing next Sunday against a regular minor league team it is stated by ball fans that the veterans will make it quite interesting for the Inter-County leaguers.

Obituary

MOLLIE L. DELOR
Mrs. Mollie L. Delor passed away at the King's Daughters home in Redford, at 9:25 p. m., July 9. Before entering the home, she resided on Schoolcraft road near Bradner road. Although her circle of friends was small, they knew her as a person of fine, loyal and just character.

MRS. EMMA MOORE
Mrs. Emma Moore, aged 85 years and mother of Mrs. George Collins, passed away suddenly at the Collins home Monday morning at 1:30 on Sunday Mrs. Moore had spent a very pleasant day with the Collins family at their cottage at Base lake, apparently in the best of spirits and health. She leaves to mourn her loss, two daughters, Mrs. George Collins of this city, and Mrs. Carl Alban, of Ypsilanti, in whose home she spent a part of her time; one sister, Mrs. Arba Anderson of Waukegan, Illinois; and two grandsons, Alvin Collins, of this city and Lloyd Alban, of Monroe. Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2:00 o'clock from the J. Moore funeral home in Ypsilanti. Burial was in Alban cemetery near Willis, Rev. Carey of the Friends church, conducted the services.

JAMES H. COOPER
James H. Cooper, who resided at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Irene Broegman, at 750 Arthur street, passed away suddenly early Saturday morning, July 13, at the age of 68 years. He was the husband of the late Lena Cooper. He is survived by three sons and two daughters, Lester Cooper of Wayne; Mrs. John Broegman and Mrs. Madeline McIntosh, both of Plymouth; James A. Cooper of New Ross; and Everett Cooper, of Detroit; also surviving are nine grandchildren, two brothers, Charles Cooper, of Tecumseh; Harry Cooper, of Commerce; and one sister, Mrs. Celia Deland, of Lexington. He came to Plymouth at the age of 10 and has resided here for 56 years. Mr. Cooper has been a member of the Plymouth Tonquish lodge No. 32, I. O. O. F. for 45 years. The body was brought to the Schrader Funeral home, Plymouth, and later taken to his home, from which place funeral services were held Tuesday, July 16, at 2:00 p. m. Two beautiful hymns were rendered by Mrs. Carrie Jewell and Mrs. Eva Gray. Rev. Lucia M. Stroh of Salem officiated. Interment was made in the Riverside cemetery.

High taxes have been a heavy factor in farm mortgage foreclosures during the last eight years.

Several to Run for Legislature

There are prospects of a number of candidates from this end of the Fifth legislative district entering the forthcoming primary contest.

Harry Irwin, well known Pere Marquette switchman, who resides on Joy road, states that he intends to file as a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Dr. Edward Fisher, of Dearborn, who served three terms in the house, states that he will become a candidate again and Livonia township will have a candidate in John T. Whitehead. Mr. Whitehead has been active in township and county affairs for many years and has a large number of friends in this locality.

Another sure starter is John B. Ambrose, active young Republican of Redford township. Mr. Ambrose was the first to definitely announce his candidacy and he has started an energetic campaign. It is stated that there will be other starters within the next three or four days. Tuesday is the final day for filing petitions.

However cute bears and cubs may appear, woods visitors are advised to view them from a safe distance.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hill and daughter, Carolyn, recently returned from a six weeks' tour of the west. They report a most interesting trip, having seen the top of Pike's Peak and the interior of Carlsbad Cavern. They enjoyed a tour of Mexico, crossing at El Paso, and saw the Grand Canyon, Zion Canyon and Boulder Dam. In Los Angeles and vicinity, the guide showed them over 40 homes of the most prominent motion picture stars and in the MGM studio they had the privilege of seeing and speaking to Mickey Rooney. They then went to San Diego and did a little deep sea fishing and up to see San Francisco sights, where they spent two days at the exposition. At this point they started east through Yosemite park, stopping at Reno's noted gambling places, the Great Salt Lake and Yellowstone park. Near Yellowstone they had the privilege of seeing and talking to Wallace Beery, at the location where he is now making the picture, "The Bad Man From Wyoming." They found the painted desert, petrified forest and Father Flannigan's Boys' Town very interesting. Many side trips were taken from these various points which added to their enjoyment. Mr. and Mrs. Hill have more than 80 colored pictures taken while away to remind them of their trip through years to come.

What the Detroit Papers Say

COMMENDABLE ACTION
(From The Detroit Free Press)
In withdrawing from the race for the Republican senatorial nomination and leaving a clear field to Senator Vandenberg, State Representative Elton R. Eaton, of Plymouth, has done a commendable thing. The patriotic statement of his reasons for withdrawal, which Mr. Eaton has sent to Mr. Vandenberg, is such as might be expected from a man of his sincerity and is in harmony with his record in public life up to this time.

Mr. Eaton now purposes becoming a candidate for the lieutenant-governorship nomination of his party. He should prove a strong contender.

A FINE SPIRIT.
(From The Detroit News)
Rep. Elton R. Eaton's withdrawal of his candidacy for the Republican senatorial nomination showed a fine spirit, which his party will do well to recognize. Eaton wrote Senator Vandenberg his belief that the latter should be unopposed for re-nomination "in these exceedingly grave times" and that the Senator's probable advancement to the post of Senate Republican leader was of "utmost importance to the nation."

An overwhelming majority of Michigan Republicans will agree with those statements. Senator Vandenberg is entitled to the nomination in recognition of his services, past and prospective. And still another reason for relieving him of the burden of a contest is that his duties in Washington almost certainly would prevent his making a primary campaign.

Rep. Eaton coupled the announcement of his withdrawal with a declaration of candidacy for the lieutenant-governorship. His qualifications for that office should commend him to Republican voters. A newspaperman and publisher of long experience, for four years executive secretary to former Governor Greenbeck and a legislator for four years, he is thoroughly conversant with state affairs.

His political record, however, is one of progressivism and independence and his bid for the nomination is based on "elimination of political bossism from the state." The rank and file of Republicans, sick of the McKay-McKeighan-Barnard combination, should find the Eaton candidacy to their liking.

Fight for Playoff Posts

Playoffs in the Central softball league will start Monday. July 23. The top four teams in league standings qualify to play. At the present time Plymouth Plating, Schrader's and Super Shell are certain of being in the playoffs. Three other teams, Plymouth Hardware, Daisy and Sutherland, are fighting for fourth position. All are within one or two wins of being in the position.

If a tie develops, a one-game elimination series will be played to determine fourth place holders. Managers of teams in the playoffs are requested to meet Monday evening 7:30 o'clock, at Central grade school.

The race for first division winners in the league this year has been exceptionally good. Plymouth Plating is only two games ahead of the others. Teams are evenly matched and a battle is expected in the playoffs.

Entries for the Novice Tennis tournament have been better than average, with the men's division already exceeding its quota. However, entrants in the women's division are needed. Entries will be accepted until 2:00 o'clock this (Friday) afternoon. Pairings will be made later this afternoon and participants will be notified immediately as to their opponents so that matches can be started as soon as possible.

Brackets will be posted at Smitty's restaurant downtown in Plymouth and also one will be on the bulletin board at the high school. Lester Daly, who is directing the play, said that the first round of the tournament should be played Monday. Results are to be given immediately to Mr. Daly upon completion of the three-set match.

Children are reminded of the trip to Briggs' stadium in Detroit, July 24, where they will be guests of Walter O. Briggs, Tiger owner. Lists of those who are to go are being made at the present time. Written permission must be granted by parents.

The story hour programs are meeting with unanimous approval by all children. Jewell Starkweather, assistant recreation program director, is in charge of the programs which are held each Tuesday and Thursday at 10:00 a.m. at Central grade school and at 3:00 p.m. on Wednesdays and Thursdays at Starkweather school.

Several hundred boys and girls are enjoying the regular weekly swimming trips to Rouge pool. Buses transport the children each Tuesday afternoon leaving promptly at 1:00 o'clock. The return trip is made before 5:00, allowing about three and one-half enjoyable hours at the pool.

The handball courts, located on one of the tennis courts at the rear of Central school, are now ready for use. This is a sport just introduced to Plymouth and it is hoped that much interest will result.

New material for the leathercraft classes, conducted by Mr. Welsh, has arrived so that students may now continue their activities. There was so much interest in the course, all the summer's supply of leather had been used, and officials were forced to order an additional amount.

In the Central Twilight league last week Sutherland squeezed a win from Davis 6-5 and Plymouth Hardware likewise defeated Sutherland 8-7. Perfection was again humbled 7-4 by Super Shell and Plymouth Plating more greatly insured their hold on first place by taking Schrader's, second place holders, 12-5.

Games next week will include: Monday, Davis vs. Daisy; Tuesday, Perfection vs. Daisy; Wednesday, Sutherland vs. Schrader; Thursday, Super Shell vs. Daisy; and Friday, Plymouth Hardware vs. Plymouth Plating. Umpires for the games will be supplied for days in order as follows: Sutherland, Super Shell, Perfection, Plymouth Hardware and Daisy.

Central league standings are as follows:

Plymouth Gardens Beats Shell Team

The Super Shell softball team of Plymouth was defeated by Plymouth Gardens, 8 to 7, Friday, June 28. Molik pitched exceptional ball, giving up only five hits. He walked four Plymouth batters and struck out eight. Super Shell players declared that Molik's fast ball completely baffled them at times. Although they were without the services of their manager, Bob Burly, they played good, clean softball. A return game is expected.

For another victory in their township league, the Gardens team turned back Livonia, 14 to 2, Wednesday evening, June 26. Monty hurled shut-out ball for five innings, giving up but one hit and striking out eight. Allen formed the receiving end of the battery. Tarbit and Hamilton replaced the starting battery in the sixth. Livonia pushed across their two runs, keeping Monty from getting credit for a shut-out.

Sunday, June 30, Plymouth Gardens was defeated by Roseville, 3 to 2. Although the local team played one of its best games so far this season, the game was lost in the last inning on a wild pitch. Molik held his opponents to two hits. Plymouth Gardens made six safeties, but they were scattered. Roseville will be out at the Plymouth Gardens diamond in three weeks to play the rubber game, each team having won one. The Gardens team won 9 to 7 in their first encounter.

In a game with the Floyd Foran team of Royal Oak, Sunday, July 7, Plymouth Gardens was defeated, 5 to 3. The game went nine innings, the score being 3-all at the end of the seventh.

They are now in second place, having lost but three games, one game behind the leaders.

Hail to the Plymouth Soap Box Derby Winner

Congratulations and best wishes to all the Plymouth entrants in the Detroit News Derby. Hail off to the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, Allison Chevrolet Motor Sales, and to the merchants who sponsored the young drivers in the building of their machines.

To show our desire to join with the sponsors of the Plymouth Derby we are giving to the winner of the local race a handsome pair of field glasses.

Recently an article in the Readers Digest by W. S. Knudsen of General Motors pointed out that there is a great future for young men who are interested and capable of working on mechanical objects; men who have the ability to work out mechanical problems; men who can build machines with their hands.

Knudsen, Ford, Keller, Dodge, Kettering and many others started as young men working in machine shops who through their ability, ingenuity and perseverance rose to the top in their field.

Less emphasis on white collar jobs and more attention to the training for machine work is needed today in our country, point out leaders as Knudsen and Ford.

The Soap Box Derby gives the boy just such an opportunity to plan and organize for himself the construction of his own machine. The finished product is an object of pride not only for son but also for father who has watched his boy's progress from day to day.

Much credit is due The Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Corporation for their fine example in giving the youth of this country the opportunity to think and plan for themselves the construction of their machines for the 1940 All-American Soap Box Derby.

Miss Huger to Direct School of Sacred Music

Many Famed Musicians Expected to Be Enrolled

Church musicians, including choir masters, organists, singers, pianists, and song leaders from nine midwestern states and Canada will assemble at Waldenwoods near Hartland, Michigan for the tenth annual session of the School of Sacred Music, July 22 to August 1. Nationally known teachers of organ, voice, composition, and conducting have been secured for class and private instruction.

The Waldenwoods School is planned to bring practical and inspirational training to the professional and untrained musician. The purpose of the school is the raising of church music standards through the proper training of the workers, according to Miss Nellie Beatrice Huger of Detroit, formerly of Plymouth, who is founder and director of the school.

Heading this year's faculty will be R. Deane Shure, M. B. nationally known composer and director of the choir school at Mt. Vernon Place Methodist Church, Washington, D. C.

Other teachers will include: Miss Huger, Mus. Mas., head of the sacred music department of the Detroit Institute of Musical Art and well-known voice teacher; Professor Arthur Croley, Mus. Mas., head of the organ and theory department of Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee; Dr. Kenneth Westerman, Mus. Bac., Sc. D., voice scientist of the Detroit Institute of Musical Art; and Evan Edwards, choir master and organist of the First Presbyterian Church, Rome, New York.

Courses include: General methods, conducting, choir organization and rehearsal methods, voice, organ, sacred music materials analysis and a model choir class. Private instructions will be offered in voice, organ, harmony, counterpoint, composition, and instrumentation.

The annual tea of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, the sponsoring organization of the school, will be held at the Waldenwoods School on July 25. Mrs. Christian Herrman, state president, hostess.

In its location in one of Michigan's most picturesque settings on M20, 50 miles northwest of Detroit, the School of Sacred Music provides an ideal vacation of recreation and education for church music lovers for ten days.

"Old John" Lives Again! Post-Humous Son Arrives at Schrader Ranch

Too bad for old John that he had to give up the ghost last February.

Yes, sir, it's sort of a shame that it had to happen—but when 800 hungry Republicans with an appetite almost as overwhelming as that of New Deal job seekers, decided that old John had to go into the stew pot to satisfy their hunger, well, there wasn't much that could be done about it.

But if that had not happened and if old John was alive today, he'd be a mighty proud old buffalo.

Out on the Schrader Buffalo ranch west of the city, there is running about in one of the big fields, the post-humous son of old John, born just a few days ago.

Never was there a finer looking buffalo calf ever seen running the plains of the far West than is this young son of old John. Its owner, Fred D. Schrader, says it will be about a year before its light brown coat will turn to the almost black hue of its father and mother.

Its mother, says Mr. Schrader, looks after the welfare of the buffalo calf with most devoted attention. This fine little buffalo calf is not the only addition to the Schrader Buffalo ranch. The other day, Mr. Schrader purchased a two-year-old buffalo bull out at Sterling, Colorado. He took the place of old John. Edwin Schrader brought the newly purchased buffalo to Plymouth in his father's horse trailer, making the entire trip without accident.

Youth, 17, Confesses to Plymouth Theft

State police, working in connection with the Plymouth police department, Friday obtained a confession from a 17-year-old Farmington youth who stole $50 from the home of Melvin Michaels of Ann street, July 4.

At the time of the theft, the boy was visiting the Michaels home, while on furlough from a CCC camp near Ludington. It was learned from a Northville automobile dealer that the youth had used $35 of the amount stolen for down payment on a used car. Police checked at the camp, where he readily confessed to the crime.

Because of his first offense and arrangements for restitution were made, he was released.

Jewell Lands Biggest Trout

When Glenn Jewell, Rotary president and all-around Plymouth live-wire booster, hears a fish flop out of water in a trout stream, he's rearing to go until he gets that trout right on the end of his line.

The other night while fishing in the Pere Marquette river up near Ludington, he heard a big trout jump up out of the water apparently after a fly that had fallen on the surface.

Glenn located the deep hole just about where he heard the fish jump, and cast the fly on the end of his line in the direction of where he thought the trout might be.

On the second cast, there was a splash so big that Glenn thought some one had fallen into the river—but it was not for long that he had any such notion. The trout plunged down stream with his line, then from one bank to the other.

When finally the fish was landed in the fisherman's creel, he discovered that he had caught a German brown trout just a trifle under 18 inches long and weighing a good two and one-half pounds. It was the largest German brown he had ever taken out of the stream. Six other good sized trout were caught on his night fishing trip, states Mr. Jewell.

Visit Historical Places in East

Winn B. Hubbell, daughter, Barbara and niece, Evelyn Thomas, have just returned from a vacation trip through the New England states.

On the way down they passed through the Adirondack Mountains, then went to Vermont and down through the Green Mountains, from there to Cape Cod, where they spent the week-end with friends.

Many interesting places were visited, including the Lexington battlefield, Concord bridge, the home of John Hancock with all the old household utensils and original uniforms worn by some of the soldiers of the Revolution on display.

Plymouth, Massachusetts, with its historic Plymouth Rock and old graves and houses, was especially interesting. Among the sights in old Plymouth is a large monument said to have cost more than $150,000. It has many wonderful statues surrounding the spire. Also some beautiful reliefs in white marble, depicting the Pilgrims leaving England, their arrival in America, their treaty with the Indians, and one showing the drawing up and signing of the so-called pact or rules which were to govern the new colony, were viewed.

On their way home they came through the Catskill Mountains. This is one of the most beautiful drives in the East.

Increase Pay for Highway Workers

The state highway department this week announced salary raises for 98 employees effective as of July 1.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner said that the total amount of the raises would be $1,170 a month which makes the average increase a little less than $12.00 a month.

"The number of raises which we approved for submission to the budget director was held to a very minimum," Van Wagoner said. "Our division heads recommended a total of 421 salary adjustments which was reduced to 98 of which 44 are hourly wage workers receiving an average increase of 5 cents an hour. No raises were awarded to employees receiving more than $2,400 annually."

City Parks Most Beautiful

Municipal parks in Plymouth are this year in the best condition and more beautiful than they have ever been, according to City Engineer S. L. Besse. He declared that this condition was due to the excessive rainfall and the extensive planting activity carried out this spring.

There are five parks scattered throughout the city. The largest is Kellogg park, located in the triangle formed by Penniman avenue, Main street and West Ann Arbor Trail. It is in the heart of Plymouth's main business district and in it are veterans' memorials, "Plymouth Rock" and other plaques and memorials.

Central park, located in front of the high school building has been well-kept this season. Recently, a memorial was dedicated there to the veterans from Plymouth who gave their lives in the World War.

This year, for the first time, residents of the north side of the city have been able to enjoy a new park. The triangular piece of ground near Wilcox lake was dedicated to the city by Henry Ford. It is located at the intersection of Holbrook street and Hardenberg avenue and Schoolcraft road.

Centennial park is located across from Starkweather school and Pioneer park is at the corner of Starkweather avenue and Liberty street.

Team Now in Third Place

Plymouth Country club's golf team in the Metropolitan Golf Association league jumped from fifth to third place in the West Section standings Sunday with a seven and one-half to four and one-half victory at Birch Hill. Hilltop is in seventh position having lost to Middle Belt, nine and one-half to four and one-half.

In winning for the Country club, Fitzpatrick carded an 80 to take two points from Anderson who shot an 84 and Jim Lock, with an 81, split three points with Vivian, his opponent, who shot an 80. John Locke held the number three man on the Birch Hill team. Ickes, to half a point and made two and one-half for himself. "Packy" McAllister broke even with Tempor.

Max Evans, playing in No. 1 position for Middle Belt breezed around the Hilltop course in 71 blows, one under par, to win from Bud Archer who scored an 81. Other members of the Hilltop foursome were Bob Johnston, Ivan Baldwin and Gordon Moe. Johnston made the only points for the Plymouth team.

Walter O. Briggs, president of the Detroit Baseball company, is serving as host to the Cubs, Scouts, and Leaders of the Detroit Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, during three different games to be held the next couple of weeks. The membership of the local council is so large (over 19,000 boys and men including a few women in Cubbing) that three different dates have been scheduled, namely: Wednesday, July 24; Monday, July 29; and Friday, August 2.

The following districts have been assigned to the first date, July 24: Abraham Lincoln, Birmingham, Chandler Park, Dearborn, Dawn River, Fordson, Gross Pointe, Hamtramck, and Highland Park. The Cooley, Eastern, Plymouth, LaSalle, and North Central districts will attend on July 29. On August 2, the schedule includes the North-western, Parkway, Royal Oak, Southwestern and South Macomb districts.

Tickets for these games are now available at Scout headquarters, 51 West Warren, and each Pack and Troop is asked to send an adult leader or an official representative, in at once for their quota. Tickets will not be held after Monday, July 22. Only registered Cubs, Scouts, and Leaders are to be issued tickets. Adult leaders must accompany each group of boys to the stadium and remain with their boys through the game.

"Life" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 21. The Golden Text (John 17:3) is: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou has sent." Among the Bible citations in this passage (Ps. 119: 144): "The righteousness of thy testimonies is everlasting: give me understanding, and I shall live." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 427): "The tenor of the Word shows that we shall obtain the victory over death in proportion as we overcome it. The great difficulty lies in ignorance of what God is. God, Life, Truth, and Love make man unifying."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH. Holbrook and Hardinberg. Lynn E. Stout, pastor, 393 Starkweather avenue. The Value of a Smile. It costs nothing but creates much. It enriches those who receive it, without impoverishing those who give it. It happens in a flash and the memory sometimes lasts forever. It creates happiness in the home, fosters good will in business, and is the counter-sigh of friends. It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and nature's best antidote for trouble. It cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen, for it is something that is no earthly good to any one until it is given away. And if, in the hurry and rush of life, you meet some one who is too weary to give you a smile—leave one of yours. For no one needs a smile quite so much as he who has none left to give. Come to Calvary church Sunday. Call on the pastor in your hour of trouble. He will do his best to help you.

Congressman Dondero Points out Rapid Growth of National Public Debt

Compiles Data Showing Tremendous Costs of Government

HON. GEORGE A. DONDERO

The unprecedented growth in the public debt of the United States since 1933 has led me to inquire into the fiscal affairs of the other great powers of the world and the result of this inquiry has not reflected to the credit of the fiscal management of the United States. For the purpose of comparison I secured data as to the movement or trend of the public debt in Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Russia, and Japan at the years 1933 to 1937 in some instances, as of last years.

In 1933 but one country, Great Britain, had a public debt greater than that of the United States. Although the United States had in 1933 a public debt of twenty-two and a half billion dollars as compared to 38 billions for Great Britain, by 1937 the public debt of the United States had increased to 49 billion dollars, while that of Great Britain had increased from thirty-eight and a half billions in 1933 to thirty-six and a half billions in 1937. Since then the public debt of the United States has increased to such a point that the Congress, in this session, has found it necessary to increase the legal debt limit to 49 billion dollars. Now, by the end of the fiscal year which we are entering, it will exceed 45 billions, our former debt limit.

For your comparison I give the status of the public debts in the various countries.

United States:	1933	1934	1935	1936	1937	1938	1939	1940	1941
	$22,530,000,000	27,083,000,000	28,701,000,000	33,778,000,000	36,435,000,000	37,165,000,000	40,440,000,000	43,225,000,000	44,939,000,000

In the foregoing table the figures for 1940 and 1941 are budget estimates.

Great Britain:

1933	$38,251,000,000
1934	39,081,000,000
1935	39,750,000,000
1936	37,400,000,000
1937	38,495,000,000
1938	39,659,000,000

It will be noted that the public debt of Great Britain increased $1,408,000,000 from 1933 to 1937. The public debt of the United States increased $14,072,000,000 or ten times the figure of Great Britain, during the same period.

France:

1933	$15,000,000,000
1934	15,000,000,000
1935	22,092,000,000
1936	15,985,000,000

Germany:

1933	$ 3,057,000,000
1934	5,698,000,000
1935	5,749,000,000
1936	6,359,000,000
1937	6,835,000,000

While the public debt of Germany increased $3,778,000,000 during the period of 1933 to 1937, this increase undoubtedly is due to the huge armament expenditures of the German government since 1933. It also indicates that Germany purchased a great deal of armament in comparison to its expenditures. Armament appropriations of the United States in this session of Congress will exceed the increase in the German debt from 1933 to 1937.

Italy:

1933	$ 6,000,000,000
1934	8,000,000,000
1935	10,000,000,000

At the time this comparison was prepared later figures on the public debt of Italy were not available. It should also be remembered that Italy was deeply involved in the Old World armament race during the period and that armament costs undoubtedly constituted a substantial proportion of the $2,522,000,000 added public debt.

Russia:

1933	$ 7,000,000,000
1934	2,777,000,000
1935	not available
1936	3,781,000,000
1937	4,340,000,000

Japan:

1933	$ 1,965,000,000
1934	2,886,000,000
1935	2,996,000,000
1936	3,261,000,000
1937	3,514,000,000

Although Japan has been engaged in warfare with China almost constantly during the period the public debt of Japan has increased, as of 1937, but $1,549,000,000.

The following is a consolidation of the increases in the public debts of the various countries, 1933-1937:

United States	$13,886,000,000
Great Britain	243,000,000
France	7,092,000,000
Germany	3,778,000,000
Italy	2,522,000,000
Russia	2,597,000,000
Japan	1,549,000,000

a. Period 1933-1936; b. Decrease; c. Period 1933-1935.

The New Deal deficit for 1940 (exclusive of expenditures) is nearly as large as the total budget for 1933. The 1933 budget was $4,325,000,000 and the 1940 deficit is $4,032,000,000.

Government corporations sell their own obligations, guaranteed by the government, and the transactions are not backed by the treasury as is the public debt. In reality, the 1937 has been swelled by nearly $6,000,000,000 of these obligations.

The American Way

(Contributed)

The Republican party has fulfilled its obligation to the nation by nominating Wendell Willkie for president. It was a universal hope that this year the convention would be free of pressure groups, free of "back room" influence, and free of machine control. That hope has been fully realized. Mr. Willkie is that rare individual, a candidate without commitments. He refused to temper his views in the slightest to the political winds. He was completely frank as to his position on every issue, and never stooped to evasion or took refuge in silence. He was, in the best sense of the word, a people's candidate—a man whose support came from the average men and women of America, not from political bosses with their eyes fixed on jobs and power and patronage.

The record of Wendell Willkie is one of which every American, no matter what his partisan allegiance, can be proud. It is the typically American story of the man who, starting from humble beginnings, succeeds through his own work, his own abilities, his own gifts of mind and character and personality. Mr. Willkie, like so many of our industrial and governmental leaders, came up the hard way. He knows the real America—the America of modest homes, the America whose faith in democratic processes has never been shaken, the America which reverses our traditional liberties above all else.

The great principles for which Wendell Willkie stands are the principles of liberalism—the faith that is America. He has made many speeches and written many articles. And all of them, basically, deal with one issue. That issue is the American way of life. It is the age-long issue of man against the state—of liberty fighting for its life against some kind of collectivism. What Wendell Willkie abhors most is dictatorship—a man who, when it appears in, or what honest words are used to conceal its true meaning and intent. And he is one of the fortunate few with a personality which makes it possible for him to dramatize his convictions.

Mr. Willkie is a candidate in the finest American mould—a candidate with greatness of mind and heart and spirit.

A Little Play for Mr. Rathburn

All work and no play has been the rule for so many years for Supervisor Charles Rathburn of Plymouth township, that he has now decided to see if just a little play with a lot of work isn't best for a man after all.

To try out the new rule, he packed his automobile with such things one might need on a vacation and with Mrs. Rathburn, left for Avalon lake up near Alpena a few days ago to spend a couple of weeks.

Besides carrying on all the work of a busy supervisor of a big township, Mr. Rathburn has been doing nearly all the work on his farm, and in the summer, the summer of the city during the summer. So much work, even Mr. Rathburn has decided, may not be just the thing for one person to try and carry on, so he has left the farm for others to worry about while he gets a little much needed rest up on the shores of beautiful Avalon lake.

Cooper Votes to Pay Tuition

The electors of Nankin school district No. 1 (Cooper school) voted at the annual school meeting, July 8, to pay the tuition at Plymouth high school for the children from Nankin district.

The vote was taken after a very heated discussion on the question but the results showed that the majority of the electors were in favor of paying the tuition.

Plymouth Followers of Isaac Walton Land Beauties 'Way up in the Rockies'

ROBERT O. WESLEY, NORVAL B. LANGWORTHY, CASS S. HOUGH

Enthusiastic trout fishermen get a real thrill when wading Michigan trout streams in the hopes of landing a few of the speckled beauties that live in the cold, swift running waters.

But what a thrill it must be to wade a 12-15 stream way up high in the mountains some 10,000 or more feet above sea level, and to feel the lunge of hungry mountain trout on the end of your trout line as they grab the phony fly you have offered them for bait!

Such was the rare and delightful experience the other day of Cass S. Hough, of the Daisy Manufacturing company, Robert Wesley, advertising manager of the Daisy and Norval B. Langworthy, vice-president of the L. B. Ramsey Advertising Agency of Chicago.

They were guests of Fred Harmon at his ranch at Pagosa Springs, Colorado. Mr. Harmon is the originator of the popular Red Ryder cartoons that appear in the comic sections of all of the better Sunday papers.

Did they have any luck? The above snapshot provides plenty of proof that fighting brook trout do thrive in cold mountain streams over 10,000 feet above sea level and that the fishermen from down on "Plymouth prairie" know how to catch these mountain beauties. Oh, yes, the "boys" will be surprised to see this photographic evidence of their mountain fishing luck in print.

Youngster Writes of Accident

It was "some" event in the life of little seven-year-old William Frederick Gayde, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Gayde, now residents of Newport, Rhode Island, when he ran in front of an automobile and was badly bruised a few days ago.

In fact, it was so important that the first thing he did after being returned to his home from the hospital where he was treated, was to write to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gayde, of this city, telling them all about his "accident."

He even enclosed a newspaper clipping of the accident. The youngster, according to the clipping, ran from back of an ice truck, directly in front of a passing automobile. Fortunately his injuries were not of a serious nature. His parents are both former residents of Plymouth who have many friends here.

Ernest Roe Is Back From East

Ernest Roe has returned from a two week visit at the home of his daughter, near New York City with a much different story than he brought back four years ago when he made a similar visit to the metropolis at this time of the year.

"Folks I talked with declared that Willkie was going to win by a big majority this year. When I was down east just before the last national election, everybody said there wasn't a chance to beat Roosevelt. But it's a different story this year. Everybody is not only predicting it, but they are betting on it," said Mr. Roe.

There isn't much difference between the fair this year and what it was last year. The crowds are about the same and while there are some changes, they are not what one might call outstanding. He added he took his little 9-year-old grandson, Allen Smith of Dearborn, on the trip with him to the east.

Death Cancels Plymouth Visit

Robert Wadlow, reputed to be the world's tallest man, who was to have appeared in Plymouth under the auspices of Willoughby's shoe store but was detained because of a foot infection, is dead. His death was caused from an infection received from the constant rubbing of a brace on one of his legs, which aided in holding up his nearly 500 pounds. He was eight feet, nine and one-half inches tall.

He died at a hospital in Manistee where he had been given numerous blood transfusions. Last week he was reported to be better, but later in the week he developed a high temperature and died early Monday morning. His parents' home is in Alton, Illinois.

Attend Meeting of Locker Association

David Galin, proprietor of the Purity Market and Carl Shear, local Buick and Frigidaire dealer, spent last Wednesday in Eaton Rapids where they attended the annual meeting of the Michigan Refrigerated Food Locker Association.

The program consisted mainly of talks on the operation of food locker plants ending with a banquet in the evening followed by a short entertainment. Mr. Galin has a storage locker under construction at his market on the Penniman avenue and Mr. Shear is installing the refrigeration.

MICHIGAN, MY MICHIGAN

Clare, (in Moll's map of the Northwest of 1720, the name appears in this form), but as early as the maps of Mitchell and Evans, in 1755, the lake appears under the name spelled as now. Prior to LaSalle, the lake had many names. Gallinee, in his account of his trip up through the lake and river in 1670, says "We entered a small lake ten leagues long, and almost as wide, called by M. Sanson, Lac des Eaux Salées (or salt waters), but we saw no indication of salt in this lake." M. Gallinee must have relied upon his memory which was slightly at fault, as the name upon the Sanson map of 1656 is Lac des Eaux de Mer, while Joliet's map of 1674 calls it Lac of the Neutral or Iroquois name of the lake, Otsiketa, or Otsiketo which means salt, and may have been derived from the presence of salt springs near the present line between Macomb and St. Clair counties.

About 1765 Patrick Sinclair, then captain, built the fort called Fort Sinclair, on the British, Fort South, where Pine river empties into the river St. Clair. Captain Sinclair obtained for the British government from the Indians their rights to a large tract, said to be about 4,000 acres, and subsequently obtained for himself the rights of the crown. He left the locality in 1768 to return to England, coming back in 1779 as lieutenant-governor and commandant at Fort Mackinac then on the southern peninsula, and Meldrum & Park, merchants of Sandwich and Detroit are said to have obtained his rights and subsequently made profit of the session and obtained patents from the United States to four private claims upon part of which the city of St. Clair is located. From the resemblance of the names, and the location of Fort Sinclair upon the river, considerable confusion has arisen, and in the early part of the last century, it was not uncommon to find the name of the lake and river spelled "Sinclair," and the inference adopted that they were named from the British officer.

Even so well informed as the river, considerable confusion has arisen, and in the early part of the last century, it was not uncommon to find the name of the lake and river spelled "Sinclair," and the inference adopted that they were named from the British officer.

Even so well informed as the late Judge Campbell, in the Supreme Court opinion which he wrote in the case of Osborne vs. Lindow, 78 Michigan 606, speaks erroneously of the original name of the township of St. Clair as being Sinclair. It was not until 1827 that the legislative council established the township of Sinclair, which included a part of the former township of St. Clair.

By the census of 1820, the entire Territory of Michigan had within the present limits of the state less than 9,000 population, but hopes were high and preparations were made to take care of the newcomers certain to flock in when the fine quality of its public lands were known. The surveys of the public lands in the Territory began in 1818, the price at first being $2.00 per acre. In 1820 the Government reduced the price of its lands to $1.25 an acre. Additional treaties were made with the Indians in 1821, so that all their rights south of Grand River, with the exception of a small area in Berrien county, were ceded to the United States.

On June 21, 1821, Governor Cass wrote to the secretary of the treasury, "There is a prospect of an immediate and considerable accession to the population of the Territory." The attention of these immigrants seemed to be directed to the country upon the Saginaw Bay and river, and the governor used the speedy survey and offering for sale of that

$15,000 Surplus in Wilcox School Fund

Students Will Have Free Textbooks Next Year

At the Wilcox school annual meeting, Monday night, July 8, it was announced that all bills are paid to date and there is a surplus of $15,000 in the school treasury, by Clifford E. Noble, school director. He reported that because of the extra money and progressive feeling of the board, it will be possible for the 260-odd students who attend the school to benefit by the use of free text books next year.

The report met with unanimous approval by the 50 residents of the district who attended the meeting.

Willis Woods was re-elected as school moderator for a term of three years.

The ways and means of transportation for high school students of the district; source of revenue toward school current expenses, and also the method of hiring teachers was discussed.

Schraders Win From Garden City

Errors in the ninth inning robbed Schrader-Hogarty from scoring a shut-out against Garden City Sunday in their game at Riverside park. DeBozzy, hurling for the local team, held the opponents to six scattered hits. The final score was 9 to 3. They remain at the top of the White division of the Inter-County League.

Kubitsky was the star of the game with flawless fielding and three hits out of five times to the plate. Schrader's had 11 hits and committed three errors while Garden City made six safeties and two misplays.

Harold Williams caught DeBozzy. Garden City's battery was Korotkowski, Stevens and Kachula.

Sunday, July 21, the Plymouth team will meet Dearborn B and A at Riverside park and the following Sunday they will play an exhibition game with the Beverly Volunteer Fire department at Royal Oak.

In this picture, Clifford Smith, director of the Firestone Exhibit and chairman of the Farm Week Committee, is discussing plans with Grange Lecturer, J. C. Farmer (seated), of the Farm Week Committee, and Fred L. Black, director of the Ford Guard's housing committee. Hundreds of thousands of farmers and their families will be honor guests during Farm Week, which begins August 12. For those who wish to leave their automobiles behind, railroads and bus companies plan special low round-trip fares. Mayor LaGuardia's housing committee is arranging to make available any number of clean and comfortable rooms, in private homes close to the 1,200-acre Fair, at a price of $1 a night. For full information about these low-priced, homelike accommodations, farmers are invited to write the Mayor's Official World's Fair Rooming Bureau, Chaslin Building, New York City.

Food prices on the Fairgrounds have been carefully regulated. One huge restaurant, for example, serves an entire meal for thirty cents. Sandwich stands, where a dime buys either a generous hamburger or a cup of coffee, are scattered throughout the grounds, as are milk booths where children are served at five cents. There's a big supervised Fair playground where children may be parked for ten cents while their parents see the sights.

Monday, August 12, will be designated as Farm Press Day. One of its principal events will be a dinner given by the Ford Motor Company, in the Ford Exposition, for editors and publishers of all farm publications, together with their families.

Looking Forward!

Willkie Worked His Own Way to Top (By Franklyn Waltham)

Nomination of Wendell L. Willkie as the Republican candidate for the presidency has been variously hailed as a "miracle," as the "political phenomenon" of the twentieth century and as one of those inexplicable political developments which takes place only once in a generation.

The reason for such ejaculations of wonderment spring, of course, from the suddenness with which Mr. Willkie emerged as a major figure on the national political scene. Without previous political experience, only a few years distant from the Democratic party and without organized support, Mr. Willkie became the presidential nominee of a major party within 48 days after he formally launched his campaign.

It is no wonder the country is amazed and political observers bewildered. Nothing like it ever before has happened in this country. Some draw a parallel between the rise of the Willkie star and that of William Jennings Bryan in 1896.

But really the two events have little in common between them. Bryan had been in Congress before his nomination and many states conventions had instructed for him. The story about Bryan stampeding the 1896 Democratic National convention with the "Cross of Gold" speech contains more legend than fact.

The truth is that there is no precedent for the Willkie nomination, just as there never has been a session of a national convention like the one at which the Republican standard bearer was nominated.

But there is no secret or mystery regarding the forces which brought about the Willkie nomination. Mr. Willkie several weeks previously at the National Press club in Washington gave the "secret." He said that that success was meeting his efforts because he was "in front of a trend." What he meant was that he stood for the things which the American people had come to believe and to want in the last few years.

It has been obvious to most political observers that the American people had become wearied of emergency, continued unemployment and depression, experimentation, wasteful spending and incompetence in their federal government.

Mr. Willkie voiced their feeling and in doing so he displayed a pleasant, magnetic personality. This is the reason that once the Republican rank-and-file saw the emergence of a candidate like Willkie they forgot about the other Republican aspirants. It also is the reason why he will be elected in November, no matter who runs against him.

In selecting Wendell Lewis Willkie for the presidency and Senator Charles L. McNary for the vice presidency, the Republican National convention selected the strongest possible ticket—a fact attested by the widespread commendation of the ticket in the press of the country, both Democratic and Republican.

The New Dealers without doubt will undertake to smear this ticket. Every effort will be made to paint Mr. Willkie as a creature of Wall street—as a public utility magnate and to attribute to him all the sins ever committed in that quarter. Indeed, the New Dealers in their greed are even stooping to efforts to make it appear that Mr. Willkie in some way is sympathetic with Nazism.

But these efforts will fail because such charges are untrue. For seven years the New Deal has tried to besmirch and destroy Wendell Willkie. It has been failed and it will fail again.

The country knows that Wendell Willkie is not a Wall street tycoon—that he is not a rich playboy—that he worked his way by hard labor from the bottom to the top just as American boys in every generation do. It knows that he has earned his money and that he has played square with his associates and with the customers of his companies.

In brief, the country knows—and as the campaign goes on will know better—that in Wendell Lewis Willkie it has a man of character and common sense—and it is such a man that the country today wants in the White House.

TRUE PUBLIC SPIRIT.

Information given out at the city hall which reveals the fact that Fred D. Schrader had contributed land in the back of his store building on Penniman avenue to the city towards the development of a badly needed parking area in the business section of Plymouth, and that Miss Louise Markham, a former resident, had deeded the old Markham homestead to Plymouth for a city park, reflects a public spirit of the highest type. Acts of this kind do much to help in the progress and the building of a progressive, substantial city. The Plymouth Mail, in behalf of the entire community, expresses its appreciation and gratitude to these two citizens upon the commendable action they have taken in behalf of the community in which we live.

HISTORIC VIEWS ON THIRD TERM

Here is what national leaders have said of the third term: George Washington: (In a letter to Lafayette April 28, 1788): "Guarded so effectually as the proposed constitution is, in respect to the prevention of bribery and undue influence in the choice of president: I confess, I differ widely myself from Mr. Jefferson and you, as to the necessity or expediency of rotation in that appointment . . ."

"Under an extended view of this part of the subject, I can see no propriety in precluding ourselves from the services of any man, who on some great emergency, shall be deemed, universally, most capable of serving the public."

George Washington, in farewell address in September, 1796, said:

"It appears to me proper, especially as it may conduce to a more distinct expression of the public voice, that I should now apprise you of the resolution I have formed, to decline being considered among the number of those out of whom a choice is to be made."

Thomas Jefferson:
"If some termination to the services of the Chief Magistrate be not fixed by the Constitution or supplied by practice, his office, nominally for years, will in fact become for life, and history shows how easily that degenerates into an inheritance. I should unwillingly be the person who, disregarding the sound precedent set by an illustrious predecessor, should furnish the first example of prolongation beyond the second term of office."

House of Representatives (Dec. 15, 1875):
"Resolved, That in the opinion of this House, the precedent established by Washington and other Presidents of the United States, in retiring from the presidential office after their second term, has become, by universal concurrence, a part of our republican system of government, and that any departure from this time-honored custom would be unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions." (Yeas 234, nays 18).

United States Senate: (The Senate on February 10, 1928, adopted a resolution identical with that passed by the House in 1875, quoted above. The vote was: yeas 56, nays 26.)

William McKinley: There are now questions of the grave importance before the Administration and the country, and their just consideration should not be prejudiced in the public mind by even the suspicion of the thought of a third term.

Theodore Roosevelt: "The wise custom which limits the President to two terms, regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for and accept the nomination of another."

Their views about public problems and issues.

BERKEY IS RIGHT!
A lot of laughs have been going on up around Michigan the last few days because George R. Averill, editor of The Birmingham Eclectic, has been named as one of Michigan's Republican presidential electors.

Averill is deserving of such an honor, but it seemed an odd thing that he should be named for it by a state convention so completely controlled by the party bosses whom he has been lambasting on every possible occasion. That's just one of the queer things about politics.

By this time I presume he has received his official credentials. At any rate, he did not attend the convention and knew nothing about the honor until he arrived in Cheboygan in company with Rep. Elton R. Eaton of Plymouth and myself on our way to the Upper Peninsula. There, another Republican friend was the first to give him the laugh and inquire (with a smile, of course) if he had sold out to Frank McKay and Ed Barnard. You know how one pal likes to make another one squirm.

This sort of situation, though, is not unusual in politics, as Averill has since pointed out in his own newspaper. In discussing the matter frankly, he made it plain that he was just as opposed as ever to the boss situation in the Republican party. In fact, Averill is president of the Michigan Fourth Estate Group, composed principally of weekly and small daily publishers who are trying to let a little daylight into political life in Michigan.

It seemed to me that this act on the part of the bosses was a way of announcing that their control of the convention was so absolute that they could even name one of their foremost critics to an honorary position. If they thought they were going to embarrass Averill, though, they were mightily fooled, for he has announced again, and loudly, that he is just as determined as ever to hold out the McKay-Barnard machine. Having done that (and we all know it's the truth) he is going to fool them in turn by accepting the job.

It doesn't mean much, but it's a nice bit of political by-play. —Floyd Miller in The Royal Oak Tribune.

The Ford Motor band of 55 skilled musicians will leave for an extended tour to the Pacific coast July 20. The band will make the trip on practically a special train. A series of band concerts will be given wherever the Ford company operates branches and assembling plants. They will make stops at about 20 cities and the trip will cover a distance of nearly 5,000 miles. Arthur Cable, son of L. E. Cable, and a former Plymouth boy, is a member of the band and will make the trip.

The apportionment of the primary school fund has been made by Auditor General Fuller at the rate of $7.65 per pupil. The last school census of this district resulted in finding that there were 600 children of school age. This will make the amount of primary money that will be received $4,710.

By actual count there were 264 automobiles and other vehicles standing upon the streets last Saturday evening. A conservative estimate places the number of people who came in Plymouth last Saturday evening, outside of the townspeople who were upon the streets in the neighborhood of 1300. One automobile truck brought in 25 people and there were many automobiles that carried six or seven.
