

Rosedale Gardens Flower Show Huge Success

Annual Exhibit Features Field of 151 Entries

The flower show sponsored by the members of the Rosedale Gardens unit of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association and the Civic association of the Gardens attracted a large group of flower-lovers at the Rosedale club house Saturday evening.

There were many more flower arrangements this year and not so many specimen blooms as exhibited last year. The gaily decorated Parisienne push-cart laden with nosegay bouquets was sold out in a short time, and the club treasurer reported the show a financial success. A total of 151 entries were displayed in both the adult and junior classifications.

Music was furnished by the WPA orchestra and the Spiritual Singers during the evening. Tables were set on the lawn where jack-o'-lanterns were strung for lighting, and the guests enjoyed dancing and ice cream.

The judges for the show were Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brannigan of Newburg road and Mrs. McBryde of Detroit.

Button, Button, Who Has A Button for These Collectors?

Mrs. J. H. Todd, 890 South Main street, and Mrs. Ada Murray, librarian at the Plymouth branch of the Wayne county library, both have the unusual hobby of collecting buttons—a hobby that both came by in a second-hand way.

Mrs. Todd's button collecting began about three years ago when she inherited an old sewing machine with drawers full of buttons. Her mother also made a bequest of a "charm string" of buttons dating back to 1865. Mrs. Todd explains that in her mother's day, girls began collecting buttons for their "charm strings" when very young. Each time a girl sewed a new dress, she would give her friends a button from it for their collections. In this way they added to their strings until they got the coveted 999. The charm lay in the legend that when she struck her thousandth button on the cord, she would meet the man she was to marry.

It was a little more than a year ago that Mrs. Murray was in a Saginaw antique shop looking for pressed glass dishes which she was collecting at the time. She found the piece she wanted and paid the proprietor. It happened that the shop owner didn't have the few dollars she had come with, so he suggested that Mrs. Murray buy some small articles for the change.

An old spice box caught her eye, but it was filled with buttons. She couldn't get the box without the buttons, so she took both home with her. The more she looked over the old buttons, the more they caught her fancy.

Points West

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Millross and family and Mrs. John Shackleton, of Plymouth, spent Sunday at Put-in-Bay.

Mrs. Leonard Millross attended the wedding of her sister, Mrs. Raymond Armitage, in Battle Creek, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leemon were in Dayton and Cleveland, Ohio, the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root Sr. left Monday morning for Castle Park, to visit their sister-in-law, Mrs. Edgar Belden, at her summer home on Lake Michigan.

Mrs. Charles Root Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root Jr. attended the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "Patience" at the Lydia Mendelssohn theatre at Ann Arbor on Saturday evening.

The Roy Leemons, with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Leemon, of Rosedale Gardens, left today for Munising, for a week-end of deep sea fishing on Lake Superior.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Root have as their guests this week, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Root, their son Edwin and daughter, Lois, from Long Mountain, Colorado.

Mrs. Harlow Ingall and Martha visited Mrs. Ingall's mother, Mrs. Charles Gallup in Ann Arbor on Tuesday.

The 4-H club met at the Fred Van Dykes on Tuesday evening. Exhibitions for the Washtenaw county fair were discussed.

Arriving last Saturday, Mrs. Wendell Mercer, of Janesville, Wisconsin, is visiting her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Grammel, Mrs. Grammel's mother, Mrs. Robert Douglas returned with her, after a stay of several months at the Wendell home.

Mrs. Cleo T. Aldrich and daughters, Lois Ann, Patricia, Joyce and Nancy, of Clayton, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John F. Root this week.

Mrs. J. P. Turner and son, of Lincoln, Nebraska, are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Henry Dunson for several days this week.

Expenditures for national defense during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940, were $1,500,000,000. Comparatively little of this sum went into actual increase of armament.

Now she considers the old spice box just a container in which to keep part of her collection of between seven and eight thousand buttons.

Mrs. Murray's collection includes many Goodyear buttons made when the rubber inventor was experimenting with his new product in 1851; about 60 unduplicated calico buttons of the kind which used to be sewed on undergarments; two "charm strings" given her by an 80-year-old woman; and many old English sports buttons depicting hunting scenes and representing different clubs.

Almost everyone knows that there are also three and five-hole buttons? Mrs. Murray has one of the buttons with five holes, but has been unable to find the uncommon three-hole ones.

Probably because of her long interest in pressed glass dishes, pressed glass buttons are Mrs. Murray's favorites. Because of the revitalized interest in button collecting, prices on fine buttons are soaring, says Mrs. Murray.

"But as long as there are grandmothers' attics, and storerooms, there always will be old buttons for collectors who will not have to buy their stock from dealers," adds Mrs. Murray.

All of the buttons in Mrs. Todd's collection have shanks or brass fasteners at the back. Her varied collection includes buttons cast in mythological, floral, and animal classifications, and of hard rubber, jet, pearl, brass, china and glass materials.

Her "charm string" arranged in chronological order spells an interesting history of button fashions. The string begins with huge, heavy buttons of hard rubber, brass and pewter. Gradually the daintier pearl, glass, and jet buttons predominate for a long period, and the end of the chain shows a return to the larger style of button.

"These old buttons of intricate and ornate design and decoration were made of finer materials than are our present day buttons," Mrs. Todd pointed out.

Mrs. Todd gathers buttons from friends and from auction sales of old trunks and boxes containing rare buttons.

That button collecting is gathering many new adherents is shown by Hobby Magazine, devoting a section to the hobby, and by the formation, last spring, of the Michigan Button Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norgrove, of Plymouth road, left Friday for the West coast. They will visit Mrs. Norgrove's mother, Mrs. Lora Weiler, of Los Angeles, a former resident of Plymouth. They will also visit friends in Oregon before they return home.

Miss Helen Roe Enjoys Central American Trip

After a 12-day motor trip up into the mountains of Guatemala, she sailed to Havana, Cuba, and Panama, for a few days' visit. Miss Roe reported wearing corsages of four and five orchids or gardenias all the while and considered a luxury here, are so expensive there.

Name Speakers for University Lecture Series

Journalists Thompson, Howe, Warden Lawes Headlight Program

Dorothy Thompson, Warden Lewis E. Lawes, Leland Stowe, and Admiral Harry E. Yarnell head the brilliant array of speakers to highlight the 1940-1941 oratorical series at the University of Michigan.

Ruth Draper, noted monologist and author of dramatic sketches, will open the series on October 29 with "Character Sketches." Leland Stowe, journalist who uncovered the news of Norway's betrayal in his hands, will speak on "Over Europe."

On November 5, Warden Lawes, of Sing Sing Prison, will discuss the American prison system the following week, November 11. Miss Thompson, who will speak on November 19, has chosen the topic on which she writes daily, "Current Problems."

Fifth in the series is Julian Bryan who will show his movies on Brazil and the Argentinians on December 2. A month later, Wendell Chapman will appear here with a lecture and motion pictures on animal life in the Rocky mountains.

Dr. William Beebe, scientist and naturalist, will present a lecture on his underwater explorations entitled "Five Hundred Fathoms Down."

Completing the series will be Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, late commander of the Navy's Pacific fleet. On March 11, he will discuss the Far Eastern problem. Admiral Yarnell was given a free hand by the State Department to carry out America's diplomatic policy in the Far East, and was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal for his work.

Many Plymouth residents are expected to attend these lectures in the neighboring university community. A new law prohibits disposal of naval or military weapons, ships, aircraft or supplies, unless the responsible official certifies that such articles or supplies are not essential to national defense. All transactions must be reported to Congress.

Girl Scouts Promote Pan-American Ties

Girl Scouts and Girl Guides from 15 countries in the Western Hemisphere attended an international encampment at Camp Andree, New York, for two weeks beginning August 14. The encampment was designed as a gesture of inter-American friendship. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, as honorary president of the group has attended many girl scout events in former years.

M. S. C. Pioneers With Ice Cream

Have you ever tried an ice cream flavored with root beer? That was an experiment included in a series which the dairy department at Michigan State college has been conducting over a period of 12 years.

Frankly, the first test was a failure, admits P. S. Lucas, of the college dairy department. When the trial batch was tried out on students in one of the college dormitories he nearly had to leave town temporarily because the product tasted more like cough syrup than like root beer. The remedy was a different flavoring with less sassafras.

Scores of experiments with ice cream flavorings have been attempted and many of these have been adopted by the ice cream industry.

Some of the successful and popular recipes have included coconut cream, gooseberry, peanut butter, Brazil nuts and caramel, pumpkin and taffy.

In general any fruit eaten normally with cream makes a good flavoring for ice cream, but the more sour flavorings are not suitable except for use in ice sherbets, concludes Professor Lucas. One of the problems as yet unsolved has been to get a satisfactory peach flavor. The oil carrying the flavor is largely in the skin. Lucas has put as much as three gallons of peaches in five gallons of ice cream mix and still the flavor has failed him. In another attempt he tried graded peaches but that failed to score.

Ice cream usually is eaten in bites which are at a temperature of 15 degrees Fahrenheit or 15 above zero. This desensitizes partially the taste buds in the mouth and adds to the perplexing problem of incorporating a pleasing and recognizable flavor.

Dondero on Job in Washington

Recent notices have been printed in some newspapers of the seventeenth district which give the impression that Representative George A. Dondero is speaking at various places in the district. Such is not the case as Representative Dondero is in Washington and will remain there throughout the present session of Congress. Whoever is responsible for supplying the foregoing notices to the newspapers apparently is entirely ignorant of the fact that Congress is now in session and that Representative Dondero is in Washington.

Representative George A. Dondero, in a statement issued today, declared he would not vote for the adjournment of Congress during the present crisis or put personal considerations above his duty to remain on the job in Washington.

His statement is as follows: "In order that there may be no doubt as to my position with reference to the adjournment of Congress, I wish to state that I will not vote for adjournment during the present war crisis nor will I put personal considerations above my duty to the people and the country."

The above statement has no element of surprise to those who are familiar with Representative Dondero's record for they know that he has an enviable record for attention to duty in the United States house of representatives. In the first session of the seventy-sixth Congress his record for attendance surpassed that of any other member of the Michigan delegation, a delegation which ranked high among all others.

The fiscal year 1940 ended June 30 with a deficit of $3,741,245.136. Treasury spending for the year was $9,666,085,539, the largest peace-time total in the history of the United States.

"It Was An Ol' Lazy Day" - - - But Private Innis Finds Adventure

"It was one of those lazy Alabama days when work was slack, and most of us fellows were sitting around doing nothing and yet wanting to do something."

The narrator from whom the editor received a letter this week is Richard C. Innis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Innis of 344 East Ann Arbor trail, who is stationed with the 24th bombardment squadron of the United States Air Corps at Maxwell Field, Alabama.

"One of the lieutenants was to fly a smoke screen mission," young Innis continues, "and he asked me if I wanted to go along. Being in the frame of mind that I was, I agreed immediately without thinking of what was in store for me. If I had thought, I would have remembered that laying a smoke screen is one of the most ticklish jobs that there is in the Air Corps—where one mis-move means a crack-up."

"When the smoke bombs had been put in the racks, the lieutenant and I took off to the 'war zone' about 200 miles away. We were to lay a smoke screen for the infantry of the National Guard so they could advance on the blue army and capture some strategic position.

"When about 20 miles from the base, we called in and told them that we were coming and to be ready to advance when we layed the smoke screen. Getting an okay reply that they were ready, we dropped to an altitude of 50 feet and started to hedge hop. We flew just above the tree tops and many a time I felt that I could reach over the edge of the cockpit and grab a handful of leaves. We were that close to the ground. Almost immediately, it seemed, we were upon the battle field. We dropped lower and lower until I thought we were going to land, and then the lieutenant signalled me and I pulled the bomb release that permitted the smoke to escape from the bomb on one wing. Looking behind, I saw a huge cloud of smoke sinking to the ground and making it impossible to see the ground behind us. Looking ahead again, I saw that we were coming upon a clump of trees, but just before we were going to crash into them, we pulled up and away in the clear. I'll never forget how awfully close we came."

"We kept this up until all of our smoke was gone and each time that we streaked across the battle field I nearly died of heart failure. Finally we pulled up to about 6,000 and started back home—to sit undisturbed under a tree again—I thought. But then what happened—we ran into five of the enemy ships and we had to go back to hedge-hopping again to escape from them."

"Upon landing at our home field, the lieutenant asked me how I liked it and I guess I must have looked slightly green around the gills, because he hastily added, 'Oh, you'll get used to it.'"

"Maybe the lieutenant is right, but nevertheless I think that I will be satisfied to sit around on these slow days from now on and not get tangled up in somebody else's war."

And with that bit of philosophy, Richard ended his recital of his first smoke screen adventure.

Agriculture Termed Self-Sustaining

Commissioner Beamer Hails Michigan's Varied Resources

Speaking on Michigan's agricultural resources at the Diamond Jubilee of the Michigan Beekeepers' association at Frankfort, Mich., Commissioner of Agriculture Elmer A. Beamer said that Michigan's agriculture is secure in that it is more self-sustaining than the average state.

"The contribution," he said, "that Michigan's agricultural products make to her agricultural resources does not necessarily lie in the abundance or volume of such products any more than it does in the quality and palatability of such products. Michigan's lake breezes and many days of sunshine, her cool nights and her precipitation makes the color, flavor, and lusciousness in our products whether they be grain, fruit or vegetables.

"Michigan, with her 197,000 farms, comprising eighteen and a half million acres ranks eighth nationally among the states in the number of farms, twenty-sixth in the amount of land in farms and fourteenth in the value of farms. The value including buildings is 830 million dollars. The total cash income of Michigan farms for 1939 from the sale of all crops, livestock, and livestock products amounted to $216,173,000. Of this income 28 per cent came from dairy products, 21 per cent from meat animals, 11 per cent from poultry and eggs, and 40 per cent from all other crops including grain, potatoes, sugar beets, hay, fruits, seeds wool and miscellaneous truck crops.

"A special crop which I want to mention and the one which is particularly important to you is honey. The production of honey in Michigan has steadily grown until today Michigan ranks second as compared with other states. The average honey crop varies from ten to fourteen million pounds with a market value ranging from one to one and a half million dollars, and the quality of Michigan honey is the best and superior to that of most states.

"Please remember that agriculture in any state or country is the basic industry to which all other industries and business must look in contemplating its own security. Michigan's agricultural resources are varied and many and Michigan's agriculture is secure in that it is more self-sustaining than the average state and each individual farmer can more adequately serve his own needs."

Commission Approves Amelia Storm Sewer

The proposed construction of a 27-inch storm sewer on both sides of Amelia street between Mill and Blanche streets was approved at a special meeting of the city commission last Thursday afternoon, August 8. On the west side of Amelia the work will comprise all of the area lying east of the railroad between Mill and Blanche streets.

City Manager C. H. Elliott was authorized by the commission to submit application for a WPA project to provide for this work immediately upon completion of the scheduled sidewalk and gutter work already approved.

"They Shall Have Music" As Horses Go Round and Round

Horse enthusiasts were initiated to a new recreational pastime—musical riding—Thursday night when the Northville Hills stables on Sheldon road near Six Mile road introduced the feature.

Sixteen riders made formations in gym-drill style to the accompaniment of music, riding around the ring and down the center in twos, fours, and finally in eights, alternating right and left, and riding in figure eights across the ring. Elmer Wiedrick, leader, called out directions in the fashion of a square dance "caller." Mrs. James Ragsdale of Northville and Clarence Smart of Detroit rode in the lead position with the other riders following.

The idea of musical riding was brought to the Northville Hills Stables by the two Ragsdale brothers, Frank and Jim, and they will be held each Tuesday and Thursday night.

The club manager, Frank Ragsdale, plans to install an automatic phonograph in the club rooms with loud speaker broadcasting music for the ring riders. It was observed that musical riding in the ring has the advantage of teaching a rider better control of his horse.

It is planned that another stable will be built early in the fall at the side of the present building allowing 80 feet between for an enclosed inside ring.

The Sunday morning paper chases are attracting many riders who follow a trail marked with bits of paper for a two-hour ride. The paper is scattered along a trail laid by club managers the previous evening. The groups leave the stables at 7 o'clock Sunday mornings.

The stables houses 28 boarding horses from Northville and Detroit, many of which will show in the Northville Horse show at the fair. Riding horses are obtained from Hilltop stables nearby on Six Mile road.

Schraders Beat Inkster, 5-3

Schrader, Haggerty defeated Inkster Sunday by a score of 5-3, and "Georgia" Molnar shakled up his fourth pitching victory of the season.

Schrader's jumped off to a good start in the first inning for three runs on a single by Kubitsky, a sacrifice by H. Williams, and a single by Bassett sending home the first run of the game. A triple by J. Horvath drove home the second run. "Howdie" Schryer followed with another triple to drive in the third run of the inning. Harold Williams drove in the fourth run in the second inning after Hardesty who was declared safe on an error moved to second by a sacrifice by Molnar. His second in the game, Bassett batted in the fifth run in the fourth inning.

Schryer, who had a perfect day with three out of three, was leading hitter of the day. J. Horvath and Schryer are leading the hitters with a percentage of .404. Kubitsky is following close with .392.

Next Sunday's game is with the Northville Merchants at Cass Benton park. Panosian, who has won four games and lost one, is slated to pitch. The "slugging pitcher" has a batting average of .467.

Summer Recreation Handicraft Articles on Display at Bank

Handicraft articles made by the children in the summer recreational program are on exhibit this week in the window of the Plymouth United Savings bank.

The display includes purses, key rings and bill folds of hand-tooled leather bound with leather lacing; painted plastic plaques; hand woven baskets, and dog leashes and whistle straps fashioned from olefin fabrics. One fine camera bag made of cut-out leather locked in a chain strap is in the center of the display board.

Children are advised that they may secure their handicraft articles after the display is removed at the school Wednesday, August 21.

Eaton Tells How To Cut Expenses

He Knows Where to Find Leaks in State Spending

"I will never overlook a single opportunity to help reduce the costs of conducting public business," stated Elton R. Eaton, independent progressive candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor yesterday when discussing state problems with a committee of citizens who had called at his office in Plymouth to offer their assistance in his campaign.

"The state has certain obligations that must be met. It must provide for its institutions, its departments, and its afflicted and its unfortunates. But there is no obligation upon the part of the state to keep a single person on the payroll who is not of real value to the state," declared Mr. Eaton. "I know just how and where these useless job holders hide out and I know how to get rid of them from the state payroll, and I assure you that I will never miss an opportunity to save a tax dollar wherever it can be done."

"Some public job holders have the idea that the only thing they have to do to hold a public job is to live a life of luxury and ease at the expense of the taxpayers, eat up as many tax dollars as they can and do nothing in return for the money they get from the public treasury. I'm against that sort of business. A public job is more than a public trust. It is a golden opportunity for service to the public."

"I know where and how to look for the leaks in state spending, and the people of Michigan can be assured that I will do a real job in trying to prevent the waste of a single tax dollar."

"The legislature has made the lieutenant governor a member of the state administrative board. In this position one can be of untold value to the people if he will exercise the full responsibilities of the job, which I propose to do."

"The trouble during the past seven or eight years has been that while most folks have been living on fried salt pork, corn bread, boiled potatoes and the like in order to exist, a lot of political job holders have splenored against anything except menus consisting chiefly of boneless squab and other rich foods."

"The time is here for public job holders to come down to earth and bring useless automobile, stop the state at the expense of the people, and devote the time, for the Michigan pays them, to the public jobs they hold."

"The field for state economy is a big one, and much more can be done to cut expenses down to the bone. That's what I propose to do if elected lieutenant governor," said Eaton.

It will be recalled that the famous Plymouth Lincoln day banquets of fried salt pork, corn meal mush, corn bread, boiled potatoes, and buffalo stew held during the past few years, were originated by Eaton as a rebuke to the $25 per plate banquets held by New Dealers in Detroit. Tickets for Eaton's famous Plymouth banquets never cost more than 50 cents each and as a result capacity crowds attend each year.

Eaton told the committee that his candidacy has met with favor among voters in all parts of the state and he is highly pleased by the encouragement that has been given him.

Small Fruits Need Fall Care

Canes of fruit bushes, such as raspberries, blackberries, and dewberries, need summer pruning, R. E. Loree, of the Michigan State college horticulture department reminds growers. Pruning not only induces sturdier cane growth, says Loree, but also increases the bearing surface of the canes.

Best time for pinching back the tips of the canes, says the horticulturist, is when they attain the desired height, varying from 18 inches to three feet, according to the kind and variety. Black raspberries should be closest pruned and purple raspberries and blackberries, longest. Pinching back the tips encourages growth of side branches, and consequent increase in fruiting. Another advantage of tip pinching is that the canes are sturdier and can more easily withstand storms, weight of snow, and weight of fruit.

Preferred time for removal of canes that have fruited is a disputed question, but Loree advises that for most varieties, immediately after fruiting has ceased is the best time to take out these canes. Roots of bramble fruits are perennials, while canes are biennial. Removal of the canes after fruiting permits a better growth of the first year canes, while burning of the old canes may, in addition, destroy injurious insects and diseases. The canes are not tough, and are easier to remove at that time, and at the same time, removal makes cultivation easier.

Prompt removal of old canes immediately after harvest is especially important where the cane blight, gray bark fungus, or the raspberry mite is present. The mites are often found in large numbers on the old canes, which in case of serious infestation should be removed and burned, in addition, destroy insects sprayed three times with a good grade of summer oil. This oil should be mixed one gallon of oil in 100 gallons of water, and applied five days apart.

Cane blight and gray bark are likely to attack Chief and Latham raspberries. Where these diseases are present the canes should be removed and burned. Cane blight cannot be controlled

An Open Letter of Appreciation To Henry Ford, The Sage of Dearborn

*"But if it's all the same to you,
Just give me, instead
The bouquets while I'm living and
The knocking when I'm dead."
—Thayer*

A dear old lady pressing through the throng at the wedding of your grandson spoke for millions of Americans when she exclaimed, "God Bless You, Sir!" Your kindly response, "Thank you so much, Madame," typified in word and conduct much that endears you to the heart of America.

Short weeks ago you jolted the imagination of a war-scared America when you offered to build a thousand planes a day. Rebuffed but unbowed, while politicians argued and Americans chafed, you went ahead with your plans. The administration may count you out, but we don't. Your rugged individualism directs your own program for forging an adequate defense for your homeland. We like it . . . and believe in you.

While we know little of the private life of you and yours, we know so much of what you are doing and have done for America that you merit our abundant admiration. A young man brimful of ideas, you saw your fortieth year before success came. With success, your inbred love of people loosed a new motivating power and your ideas became ideals. As a working man, you built for the working man. Race or creed mattered not . . . naught but character, worth, and citizenship.

You have devoted your genius to industry and transportation. Your life epitomizes the rise of a poor man to eminence on the basis of ideals, honesty, and the fundamental virtues found in the philosophy of hard work. It is interesting to know that in early days when short of funds, you entered the racing fraternity and for a short time held a world's record.

You opened wide wondrous portals to millions. Our thousands of miles of highways are tribute to your genius and perseverance. Every laborer and farmer behind a wheel is testimony of greater freedom and tolerance, a freedom and tolerance that removes sectionalism and knows not the prejudices of a generation ago. Truly this is a boon to national unity and a patriotic democracy.

You have kept transportation costs within the price range of the worker by spurning combination agreements, and you have built one of the world's greatest industries without government subsidy or high tariff. Ford products in world markets testify to your ideals in industry and business.

Today you are the champion of American traditions and the American way. Seeking first peace, you are a bulwark of defense in protecting that American way. You believe in not violating the admonition of Washington to refrain from involvement in European quarrels.

Having revolutionized transportation, introduced mass production and the assembly line, inaugurated the forty-hour week and raised wage levels during the past thirty-seven years, we note your comments on the occasion of your seventy-seventh birthday. "Years themselves do not count. It is what you do with them that adds up to success or failure. Our prosperity ahead depends upon youth and what we teach them. We must teach work and self reliance. There is no short cut to economic and social security." Suiting action to these words, you are today inculcating self reliance and community responsibility in hundreds of young men in your farm camps and trade schools. To those of us to whom it is given to suffer, the unbounded facilities of your own Ford Hospital reach out to heal.

Passing your seventy-seventh milestone, we feel you are a Titan belonging to an era of outstanding Americans. Perchance you have not sought so much of glamour or acclaim, but all too often you have been subjected to widespread criticism and lack of appreciation. We here seek to offer our words of praise while they may be heard. Your name will ever continue to be an inspiration to young Americans who wish to grasp opportunity and fight to the top with integrity and brains. You did this with these qualities, plus a liberal helping of elbow grease.

Kind Sir: Yours has been a life of usefulness, wherein the rugged virtues of a pioneering generation, individual integrity, sterling character and forceful thinking, have won an unchallenged place in American history. The admiration and thanks of a great people are yours. America needs you today more than ever before.

In the morning of your seventy-eighth year accept our personal congratulations and best wishes for your continued good health. May the years to come add further achievement to an already lustrous career.

Respectfully and sincerely,

A Few of the Many Outstanding Endorsements of Elton R. Eaton for Lieutenant Governor

HE HAS USED — AND GIVEN — OF HIS TALENTS
From a party standpoint, there is one candidate for Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor who is entitled to more than ordinary claims upon the Republicans of the state for support in his campaign.
That candidate is Elton R. Eaton of Plymouth. He has been right out in front on the firing line every minute during recent years.
Data and articles prepared by him on many state political subjects have been used in past Republican campaigns. Hundreds of thousands of copies of one article which he wrote, entitled "Murphy Gave up His Job, But Not His Salary," were used in the last campaign. Another article revealing the reduction by the previous administration in the number of aged people from state pension rolls while the number of job holders was increased, caused widespread comment about the state.
More than a dozen different articles prepared by him on various state governmental subjects have been used by the Republican organizations throughout Michigan during recent campaigns. All of these services and the printing were donated by Mr. Eaton to the Republican cause.
In addition to his outstanding services to the people of Michigan as a member of the legislature, he has more than ordinary claims upon the voters for the services he has given without personal reward of any kind. Republicans about here have commented upon this fact recently and have indicated their intentions of giving their support to the Plymouth candidate not only for what he has done for the party, but because of his outstanding public record at Lansing.—Jonesville (Hillsdale County) Independent.

DESERVES SUPPORT
Mr. Eaton deserves the support of every voter who desires honest, economic, clean state government, free from burdensome political domination.—The Zeeland Record.

A RURAL COUNTY VIEWPOINT!
As a representative in the state legislature he has made a splendid record for intelligent action. He knows what state business is all about. He is honest and he is not afraid; no politicians, no bosses or high office holders scare him. He has a background of experience that fits him for the service he seeks. He is a real, honest-to-goodness square shooter and fighter against graft and political bosses. Michigan would be helping itself by making Mr. Eaton its Lieutenant Governor.—The Cassopolis Vigilant.

FOR THE EVERY DAY MAN!
He knows his way about, he understands the give and take of everyday politics and is basically concerned in the problems of the every day man.—The Charlotte Republican-Tribune.

FROM THE UPPER PENINSULA!
Eaton has been one of the best and most consistent boosters that this part of the state (The Upper Peninsula) has ever had in Lansing. Many of his newspaper articles about the numerous attractions of the Upper Peninsula have been widely copied in other publications. He is a member of the Legislature and has voted for and worked for every piece of legislation that would in any way help the Upper Peninsula. This part of Michigan will watch with more than usual interest the progress of his candidacy.—The Ontonagon Herald.

We offer Mr. Eaton to the voters as the outstanding candidate for Lieutenant Governor and an officer whose experience and record fully qualify him to be next in succession to the Governor's chair.—The Wakefield News.

NEVER DODGES ISSUE!
In the 25 years we have known Elton R. Eaton, he has shown honesty, enterprise and that he is a fearless fighter. He will not dodge or straddle. Both by experience and temperament, he should make a good Lieutenant Governor.—The Midland News.

A METROPOLITAN VIEWPOINT!
He is a man of sincerity. He should prove a strong contender in the contest for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor.—The Detroit Free Press.

RECORD IS PROGRESSIVE!
His (Representative Eaton) political record is one of progressivism and independence and his bid for the nomination is based on elimination of political bossism from the state. The rank and file of Republicans . . . should find the Eaton candidacy to their liking.—The Detroit News.

WORKS ON THE JOB!
He has served his own county as a member of the State Legislature and has done a good job at Lansing. . . Having been in Lansing the last two years almost every week and a lot more times while the Legislature was in session, we always found Mr. Eaton on the job working hard for the entire state.—The Sandusky Republican-Tribune.

WINS OVER DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE!
Eaton was elected state representative from Wayne county in 1938 on the Republican ticket when the landslide in Wayne county swept away GOP footings. He is forceful, a clear thinker, honest, a hard worker, a fighter of the Groesbeck type and a leader back of whom the party could unite and carry on a forceful, effective campaign.—The Grandville Star.

A TASK FOR THE LEGION.
Ingham county has an Americanism committee on which serve men chosen by the several Legion posts. A similar plan is used in Berrien county. The Legion committee in Berrien county is rightfully as much concerned with protecting the innocent as exposing the guilty. We believe that the Legion organization in this county has a like concern.
In Berrien county slanderous statements had placed a resident in an unenviable position. The Legion committee undertook an investigation and subsequently publicly announced that he had been unjustly accused of disloyalty.

There is much loose talk about fifth column activities. Newspapers and radios are full of reports of so-called subversive activities. "Fifth columnists" or pro-Germans, pro-Italians, pro-Russians, pro-French or pro-British or pro-anything else should be summarily dealt with by authorities. Americans and aliens who live in America should have only one loyalty and that should be to this nation. Inasmuch as the United States is not at war with any nation its citizens have the right to divide their sympathies any way in which they see fit. However, loyalty to the United States should not be divided either in peacetime or in war.
During the World War there were many cases of unjust accusations against loyal Americans. Irreparable damage was done to reputations. That kind of thing should not again be tolerated. Under United States laws a man is innocent until he is proved guilty. We should not indulge in loose talk about anyone's alleged disloyalty. If we possess knowledge which leads us to suspect a person's loyalty that knowledge should be at once conveyed to the proper authorities. Unless we do have such knowledge we should not tear down a person's reputation.
The Legion Americanism committee, as we understand it, is in no sense a public body. It merely serves as a clearing house for investigating subversive charges and as a force for instilling loyalty. Rightly it should be as concerned over clearing persons of unjust accusations as it should be in dealing with persons found guilty of disloyalty.—Nelson Brown in The Ingham County News.
