

School Enrollment Sets New Record

Cheboygan County, laid out and named in 1840, was extended in 1853, to take in Wyandotte County, which was also laid out in 1840, immediately south of the former county, but was never organized, and lost its identity as stated above. It seems a pity that this latter name was not preserved in some county, as the Indians whose name it bears were an important element of our aboriginal population. The name Wyandotte is a corruption from Wendat, the name by which the Hurons who occupied the region in Canada around the foot of Georgian Bay called themselves. They occupied this region at the time of the coming of Champlain in 1615 and were closely related to the Hurons, but were even then at deadly enmity with them. Lacking, however, the fierce and persistent fighting qualities of the latter, they were defeated and nearly exterminated in 1649. A portion of them fled to the island of St. Joseph, the Michilimackinac, then to Manitowlin Island, then, still pursued by the Iroquois, to Green Bay, then about 1657, a few leagues further west, to the Pottawatomies and a few months later still further west to the Mississippi. From there they migrated to St. Ignace in 1660, then came to the region of Black River, Wisconsin, a little later joined the Ottawas at Chequamegon Bay, and about 1670, moved back to St. Ignace, and not long after, down to Detroit, Sandwich, and Sandusky, where they lived under the protection of the French and became known as Wyandots, uniting with the Chippewas, Ottawas and other Indians in their treaties with the United States.

Traffic violation tickets issued during the month of August were cut to half of last month's toll of 68, according to Police Chief Vaughan Smith, who reported a total of 33 tickets issued for the month of August at the city commission Tuesday night. A marked decrease was shown in the number of tickets issued for speeding, there being 15 in August as compared with 25 during July. There were no speeding tickets issued for failure to stop at stop streets in August as against 11 in the previous month. Five reckless driving charges were made during August, three tickets issued for operating without drivers' licenses, two for operating on parking, and one for ignoring light signals. The total of fines collected for traffic violations in August was $168.

Aliens Start Registration

Fourteen persons have completed alien registration in the first four days of the program at the city hall, according to Postmaster Frank K. Learned. Nearly 200 specimen applications for registration have been issued, 150 of which have been delivered to the Detroit House of Correction where special interviewers will complete registration. A staff of three interviewers including Postmaster Frank K. Learned, Mrs. Schultz, and Donald Herrick, have been registering aliens since the program began. Registration will continue until December 26, 1940, requires 30 minutes per applicant, according to the local authorities. Alien registration is being conducted in compliance with an act of Congress which determines how many aliens there are who they are, and where they are in the United States. Registration of all foreign-born persons who have not become citizens of the United States, including those who have citizenship papers, is compulsory. Application blanks may be secured at the regular post office windows, and registration and fingerprinting is conducted in the inspector's room in the basement.

The Jewish nation was charged to pay tribute for the crop, said Rev. Edgar H. Becke, pastor of the church, citing the Lord's injunction to the Israelites in Deuteronomy 26: 1-11, to "hear of the first fruit of the earth in a basket and take it to the place which the Lord shall choose. And the priest shall take the basket and set it down before the altar of the Lord. And thou shalt rejoice in every good thing which the Lord thy God hath given unto thee."

Home Building Shows Decline

The number of building permits issued during the month of August remained steady with 22 permits approved as compared with 21 in July. The fact that the total valuation of the month's building took a marked swing downward is explained by the decrease in the number of new homes being constructed during the early fall and by the number of small alterations and furnace installation jobs for which permits were taken out. The valuation for August was only $19,770 while it was $35,075 during July. Six new homes were applied for in July.

City Studies Street Lighting Improvement

A report of a study of street lighting in the downtown business district of Plymouth, conducted by the Detroit Edison company at the request of City Manager C. H. Elliott, was given before the city commission at its meeting Tuesday night. The report reveals that there are 15 lights in operation with 600 candle power in the district between Ann Arbor Trail and Fralick street and on Penniman avenue between Main street and the theatre. There are 13 other lights which have been disconnected since the depression. The lamps were termed as an old design, considered the last word in street lighting 30 years ago, and their efficiency was estimated at about 45 per cent. The proposal under consideration by the city commission is to replace the present lamps with the new "luminaires" lights would result in the delivery of four to five times as much light for the same power having an 18-foot mounting which throws the light down upon the pavement instead of reflecting upward toward the buildings. Edison engineers reported that the new "luminaires" lights would result in the delivery of four to five times as much light for the same power having an 18-foot mounting which throws the light down upon the pavement instead of reflecting upward toward the buildings.

His record in public service includes nine consecutive years as constable, three years with the Wayne county road commission, two years as an employe in the county clerk's office and three years with the Wayne county bureau of investigation. "Because I have been a taxpayer of Livonia township for several years and because I have a clean record in township and county office, I solicit your vote," the candidate declares. Survey Reports Inefficient Lamps in Business Area

One of the considerations will be a suggested change in meeting day from the second Monday in the month to the first Wednesday to avoid a conflict with Monday night bowling by the JCC teams. President John MasLachlan announces that the organization plans to sponsor two dances this year, and to work on the second annual Christmas Merchandise Mart with local merchants. With the slogan, "Patronize Your Local Merchants," the Junior Chamber of Commerce last November sponsored an exhibit of 20 booths displaying the wares of local stores as a preview for Christmas shoppers. This same program to stimulate home trade was repeated last year, and because of the excellent results for many merchants last year, it is expected many more booths will be set up. A pre-election project of significance in the community is the "Vote" program to be sponsored by the young business men. The drive for new members will be renewed by Lionel Coffin and Frank Walsh, in charge of membership, this fall. The present membership is about thirty.

Police Docket Reveals "Little Crime Wave" Over Labor Day

Maybe Monday was a day of rest from law for most of us, but not for the police station, for the week-end included an attempted suicide, a stabbing, disturbance of the peace, passing of bad checks, and reckless driving. "Woman troubles" led one man to a 22-rifle on himself early Monday, but his aim was bad, and instead of hitting the heart the bullet went into the abdomen. With the aid of two local physicians and a little surgery, he is expected to recover his health if not his love. Another holiday party from below the Mason-Dixon line carried their "feudin'" into a bar Sunday night where one aggressive man pulled a knife on one of his kinfolk and slashed his neck. The derly man who palmed off two bad checks here was also wanted in Lapeer. When the day of reckoning came Tuesday for these disturbers and two other young men incarcerated for reckless driving and disturbing the peace, no judge could be found to take the offenders to trial. Finally, a judge from Northville was secured to dispose of the "holiday traffic."

Dowling Reviews Prosecutions

The review of a newspaper "morgue" reveals a brilliant record for William E. Dowling, who recently announced his candidacy for prosecuting attorney on the Democratic ticket at the September primary. From the minute Dowling was named assistant prosecutor in January, 1935, he began writing opinions for civil division as requested by county boards, officers, and officials. His first major case of importance was the robbery of the Scott and Dillon Tobacco company on West Fort street, in which three men were convicted of shooting a night watchman. Bitterly contested, Dowling's conviction was upheld by the Michigan supreme court. Dowling's most recent accomplishment was the prosecution of the John Kasan and John Kurzawa murder-for-profit ring, who finally confessed killing Philip Loist and Dorsey Bowman to get two automobiles to sell for cash. After persistent questioning, Kasan told police he would confess only to Dowling. As a result to the case, police uncovered seven other men connected with Kasan and Kurzawa, whose cases are still pending.

Dr. Linwood Snow of Northville Is Seeking Nomination for Coroner

Nearby Resident Has Strong Support About Plymouth

DR. LINWOOD W. SNOW

Dr. Linwood W. Snow, Northville physician and surgeon, well known in Plymouth, who has practiced in Wayne county for 20 years and who is candidate for coroner on the Republican ticket, is a strong advocate of a change in the Michigan state law governing the administration of the coroner's office, which would bring about a tremendous increase in the service and efficiency of the office at no additional cost to the taxpayers of Wayne county.

The present law, enacted many years ago when Wayne county's population was much smaller, is wholly inadequate to care for the needs of the county with its more than 2,000,000 people, according to Dr. Snow's ideas.

"Under the present law," says Dr. Snow, "the two coroners of Wayne county are empowered to appoint only one deputy coroner each. With the extraordinary industrial growth of Wayne county in the past two decades, to the point where it now contains, according to the last available census estimates, approximately two-fifths of the population of the state of Michigan, it is obvious that two coroners and two assistants cannot possibly handle the tremendous burden of emergency work which falls daily upon that office."

"When tragedy strikes along our streets, highways, lakes and rivers, or when people are stricken in their homes under circumstances that require the attention of the coroner, it is not unusual under present conditions for many hours to elapse before the arrival of a coroner or his deputy. It is often necessary for bodies to lie in the open, unguarded for many long a time to be consistent with either sympathetic or humanitarian requirements, or any reasonable standard of efficiency of the coroner's office."

"Even though the people of Wayne county have great reason to complain of this inadequacy imposed by a law which has long since been outgrown by Wayne county, it will be impossible to supply a remedy until a change can be brought about in the law. The present law was gauged to fit counties of an average of 250,000 population, Wayne county, having ten times that number of people within its confines, must suffer until our law makers realize the handicap under which the Wayne county coroner's office labors."

Dr. Snow has declared that if elected to the office of coroner, he will continue his efforts to secure the enactment of a new law, or an amendment to the old one, which will make possible an efficient functioning of the office.

Dr. Snow is a native of Michigan, having been born at Jackson in 1896. He was graduated from the University of Michigan medical college in 1919, since which time he has practiced in Wayne county. He is a member of the Michigan State Medical society and the Wayne County Medical society. Dr. Snow is married and has two children, 12 and 13 years of age.

1941 Dodge Has New Fluid Drive

Recent rumors and new-model guesses associating the 1941 Dodge with "a revolutionary new driving feature" now crystallize into the definite information that the newest models of this popular automobile will feature the "Fluid Drive," reports Earl Mastick, Dodge dealer.

"The 'Fluid Drive,' as employed by Dodge and described by Mr. Mastick, whose agency is at 210 An Arbor road, "has been in development for the past eight years; it is without question the most vital improvement in motor car operation since the introduction of hydraulic four-wheel brakes.

"Exceedingly simple as the 'fluid drive' is mechanically, it accomplishes a surprising number of improvements in driving results," says your local Dodge dealer. "The flexibility of this new fluid-power coupling is such that it reduces gear changing to a point where the driver, when he wishes, may do entirely without shifting. While the cars, in the Dodge installation, remain equipped with a transmission giving three forward speeds, the 'fluid drive' provides, in addition, an almost infinite variety of in-between speeds which go into operation automatically and therefore call for no judgment or attention on the part of the driver.

"Our 'fluid drive' is mounted between the crankshaft and the clutch, where it takes the place of the conventional flywheel. The installation consists of only two working parts—two bowl-shaped shells of steel into which a series of evenly spaced blades or fins are welded. The two fluid drive parts, impeller and runner, are surrounded by a tightly sealed steel housing—and this housing is filled with two gallons of oil. Oil is the medium to carry driving energy from one section of the unit to the other.

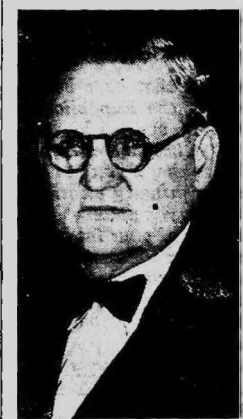

"The 'fluid drive' enables even the inexperienced driver to perform, with perfect safety, such feats as ascending a hill in 'high' at speeds as slow as one or two miles an hour, stopping on the hill, then starting again—without gear shifting, without in the least straining the engine, and without danger of stalling."

"The fact that these improvements in automobile operation are brought about through a liquid coupling of such extreme simplicity that it consists of but two moving parts surrounded by two gallons of closely confined oil marks an automotive achievement of the first magnitude.

"An important detail in connection with the Dodge 'fluid drive'—which has been established in many hundreds of thousands of miles of test driving under every conceivable condition—is that it calls for no service attention, adjustment or periodic oil changes. The oil, acting in the most flexible power transmission ever employed, retains its working qualities indefinitely in varying temperatures.

"The prediction is that this new 'fluid drive' will lead our motorist through an entirely new appreciation of the continuous efforts of automobile engineering to increase the safety and comforts of those who drive and ride."

Gullen Relates Platform Views

GEORGE E. GULLEN

Running on a platform advocating parity of prices for the farmer, voluntary retirement of the aged with a national pension plan, cooperation between labor and industry for greater production and more wages, and adequate preparation, George E. Gullen is seeking the Republican nomination for Congress in the September 10 primary.

"I am opposed to peacetime conscription and believe that the first step in adequate preparation is to put men to work. I am ready and anxious to assist employes and employer in a program that will provide more goods manufactured and sold, with more wages earned," said Gullen, who favors a close association of all the republics in the New World and a stern goodwill toward all the rest of the world.

Residing for 21 years in Montana, Gullen is the son of the late 17th district, part of the time in Oakland county. Gullen is a graduate of the Detroit College of Law and is a practicing attorney in Detroit.

Mrs. W. Simpson Tours to Western Coast

Mrs. William Simpson, wife of the proprietor of Simpson's cafe at 455 South Main street, returned Monday with her two sons, Stanley and Robert, and Miss Jeanette Stempian, from a three weeks' trip throughout the west, travelling through 19 states.

Leaving here August 10, they drove the northern route through North Dakota, and Montana, stopping at Yellowstone and Glacier National Park enroute to San Francisco. Mrs. Simpson reports catching a 15-pound salmon in the Columbia river near Portland, Oregon. They arrived at the San Francisco fair the day of the $350,000 fire which destroyed all the California state exhibits.

Mrs. Simpson and family returned via the southern route through Santa Fe, the Grand Canyon, Reno, and Pike's Peak. The outstanding features of the trip, says Mrs. Simpson, were the salt beds near Salt Lake City, Utah, and the wild animals. They reported seeing dozens of chinchillas, moose, bears, mountain lions, antelope, and a herd of buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Shaw and Martha Frances Shaw, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Hamilton.

Upper Peninsula State Fair Rich in Legendary Background

The thirteenth annual Upper Peninsula streamlined state fair will be held at Escanaba, September 11 to 14, and the thirteenth will be Paul Bunyan Day, it is announced by H. J. Lindsay, secretary, Upper Michigan has contributed much to the lore of American sagas with those of Hiawatha and Paul Bunyan.

Many tall tales of Paul Bunyan, the greatest logger of all time, center around the Tahquamenon Falls, in a beautiful state park reached only by water. Paul is said to have first met his parents on the old McNeerney farm near the falls.

Among Paul's famous camp helpers were his woods foreman, Chris Crosshaul; the camp bookkeeper, Johnny Inkslinger; Sourdoosh Sam, the Moose Carver; and Joe Kadunk, the second cook, inventor of blueberry pie; One-Eye LaRue, the barn boss; Big Ole, the blacksmith; the Three Hundred Cooks or cooks' helpers; Babe, the Big Blue Ox; Elmer, the Moose Tamer; and thousands of fighting, rip-roaring lumberjacks whose yarns delight the cool north country's summer visitors.

Longfellow's poem, "The Song of Hiawatha," was inspired by the writings of Henry Rowe Schoolcraft, Territorial Indian agent at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan in the early days of the 19th century. Schoolcraft married the grand-daughter of an Ojibway Indian chief, and he is a leading authority on the customs and traditions of the northern Indians, about 3,000 of whom still live in the Upper Peninsula. The poet gleaned much material from Schoolcraft's works, accounting for the fact that so many upper Michigan place-names appear in the epic.

Among these localities are the Tahquamenon river, the Pictured Rocks, the Grand Marais sand dunes, Pauwating or Sault Ste. Marie, the Escanaba river, Ontonagon, and Gitchee Gumeo or Lake Superior, the Big-Sea-water of the Ojibways. One may read in "Hiawatha" how the hero built his first birch bark canoe on the banks of the Tahquamenon and how, after a fierce fight with the otters, his friend, Kwaswing, was drowned in the stream.

John Blytons Journey 7,400 Miles Through Northern Canadian Parks

Mr. and Mrs. John Blyton and son, George, returned Friday, August 30, from a three weeks' trip which took them 7,400 miles through northern Canada and the western parks of the United States. Mrs. William Merritt of London, Ontario accompanied them on their trip and Mrs. William Fraser of Nanton, Alberta went on part of the trip.

The Blyton family journeyed to Winnipeg, Manitoba and through Moosejaw, Saskatchewan, and Lethbridge, Alberta to Calgary and the national park at Banff and famous Lake Louise. They drove along the new super highway from Banff to Jasper Park, taking a side trip to Lake Maline where the elevation of the narrow mountain roads was 9600 feet.

From Edmonton they drove back through Yellowstone National park and the Dakota. They reported seeing wild deer on the roads in the Canadian north, and spanning part of the Athabaster glacier which is two and a half square miles of ice formation.

Straits Bridge Seen to Boost Tourist Trade

Engineering Professor Says Traffic Volume Warrants Construction

Tourist trade in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan would be greatly stimulated by the construction of the proposed Mackinac Straits bridge, by increasing accessibility to the scenic and vacation areas of the peninsula, according to James H. Cissel, professor of structural engineering at the University of Michigan.

Time spent in crossing the straits would be reduced from the present ferry time of an hour and a half to 20 minutes needed to drive across the bridge. Professor Cissel stated in an interview.

Tourist traffic has reached sufficient volume, Professor Cissel believes, to warrant construction of the 26-million dollar bridge on a self-liquidating bond basis.

When built, the bridge would experience a high initial volume of traffic, predicted Professor Cissel, since the bridge would include the longest suspension span in the world. Following this spurt, he foresees a slump for a few years, during which the bridge might even operate at a loss.

Soon, however, Professor Cissel predicts, the traffic volume would build up steadily to the maximum limit and the people of Michigan and bordering states become aware of the increased accessibility of the upper peninsula.

Feasibility of the bridge from the construction standpoint has long been accepted by Professor Cissel, who was formerly secretary and engineering consultant to the Straits Bridge Authority, and by engineers engaged by the authority to report on the project.

Ex-Service Men Sponsor Two Donkey Ball Games September 17-18

The Ex-Service Men's club of Plymouth will sponsor two donkey baseball games at the Central grade school playground Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, September 17 and 18, between the Studebaker Champions and the Schrader Champions, and between the Ex-Service Men's team and the City of Plymouth All-Stars.

The Studebaker Champion team has won three games in the last year on the strength of which they claim they will lounce the Schrader novices whose retort is that horsemanship or "donkeyship" tops baseball ability.

Commander Algire of the Ex-Service Men announces that he expects every man to do his duty and he threatens to pick his squad from the cavalry and air service units of the club. The All-Stars claim a few tricks of its own to match the Ex-Service Men in the second contest.

con hawk," and the name of a chief from the Sault, referred to in the Treaty of 1826. Clare was another of the Irish names substituted in 1943, and was taken from a county in the western part of Ireland.

Crawford County, which must not be confused with the Crawford County of 1818, was originally named Shawono, from a noted Chippewa chief who lived many years at the Sault, was doubtless personally known to Schoolcraft, and who in behalf of his people signed several of the treaties with the United States, or possibly from a Pottawatomie chief of the same name who was a party to several of the Indian treaties with the United States. The word Shawono means southerner, and the same word is found in the name applied by others—not themselves—to the tribe known as Shawnees. To the legislature of 1843 which made these changes in the names, there was presented a memorial by Jonathan Lamb, of Washtenaw County, praying that if changes in name were made, one of the counties should receive the name of Crawford, and the petition was granted. The former Crawford County, by the Act of Congress, establishing the Territory of Wisconsin in 1834, had ceased to be a part of Michigan, and whether the new county was intended to restore the same name or to perpetuate the name of Colonel William Crawford, who was captured by the Indians and burned at the stake near Upper Sandusky in 1782, is now rather difficult to determine. The original petition has not been preserved, but evidence based upon family tradition seems to render it reasonably certain that Mr. Lamb's desire was to commemorate the Colonel Crawford, of tragic fate.

Emmett County, still another of the changes to Irish names, was originally named Tonedagana for an Ottawa chief who was evidently well known and of some importance as he signed several of the treaties with the United States affecting lands in Michigan. In the treaties, his name is always followed by the words, "the dog," as if they were the translation, but doubt is now thrown upon that meaning. The name Emmett was given in honor of the Irish patriot, Robert Emmett.

The Get-Together club met with Mrs. John Waterman on August 29, with 21 present. The next meeting will be with Helen Bowling on Thursday, September 12. There will be a miscellaneous shower for Marian Kleinschmidt, Wednesday evening, September 4 at 8:00 o'clock at the home of Carrie Dickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root Sr. were honored on their thirtieth wedding anniversary by a surprise party given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root Jr. at the Maple Lane Farm last Friday evening. Following an evening of games enjoyed by friends and neighbors, a midnight lunch was served. In the center of the table was a three-tier wedding cake made by Mrs. Charles Root Jr. topped with a miniature bride and groom and decorated with candied rosebuds and love birds. The couple was presented with a set of silver as a gift from those present, who extended wishes for continued happiness.

Mrs. Clara Young and daughter, Clara Mae, and son, Roy, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Sauer and family. Last week Mrs. Young, Clara Mae, and Roy, with Sophie and Emily Sauer, visited the Detroit zoo, the Shrine of the Little Flower, and a Detroit theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. William Calver, of Pontiac, were dinner guests, Wednesday evening, of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stever. On Tuesday evening their nephew, James Calver, was their guest before leaving on Wednesday for Wichita, Kansas, where he is a professor in the college.

Theresa Murphy, who has been the guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Webber, returned to her home in Flint on Sunday evening. She was accompanied by her cousin, Laura Ewing, who will return to Plymouth Sunday after a brief visit.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Summerfield, of Rockford, Illinois, were visitors over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lomas. Mrs. Summerfield is the sister of W. Lomas.

Miss Grace Henderson was the guest of honor at a bridge party, Thursday evening, given by Marian Boyer, as a farewell to her, she having planned to leave Saturday for Toledo, Ohio to resume her duties as an instructress in the Toledo schools. The guests were Mrs. Walter Harms, Mrs. L. H. Goddard, Mrs. Sterling Eaton, Mrs. George M. Chute, Mrs. Charles Garlett and Mrs. Floyd Burgett.

The ladies of the Ready Service class of the Presbyterian church enjoyed an afternoon of games and tea Wednesday on the church lawn. The main prize of a lovely apron was presented to the lady with the largest waistline. Flowers were given to the tallest and shortest and the oldest and youngest members present. The flowers that decorated each table were given as table prizes to those winning the most games. Tea, dainty cakes and cookies were served in the dining room from a table centered with a lovely arrangement of cosmos, flanked with tall tapers.

Early History of Food Preservation

EARLY METHODS

The earliest world history records that the first use of frozen foods for human consumption was discovered by man accidentally. Wild animals unable to reach shelter during the severe storms were frozen to death and months later during the cold season, were found to be in a perfect preserved condition. It appears that man made some practical use of this discovery. He froze his entire winter's supply as soon as weather permitted and avoided the hardship of hunting game to obtain fresh meat during the stormy season.

SCIENTIFIC PRESERVATION

Some three thousand years passed before a scientific method of food preservation was discovered. Nicolas Appert in 1809 found a method of preserving food by sterilization by means of heat. The canning industry today is largely the result of Appert's discovery. Later Pasteur and Lister preserved foods in the middle of the nineteenth century by use of chemical preservative.

Freezing was probably the first known method of preserving foods. As previously pointed out man has known for centuries that foods could best be preserved by this method. Man's predicament was that he could not depend on the weather with enough certainty to make a general use of this method of preservation. The present day development and use of the freezing process for food preservation is accounted for by two main factors. First, man has perfected a low cost and controlled method of manufacturing low temperature. Second, scientific research has perfected the methods and process for preserving many foods by freezing.

A BOOST FOR William E. Dowling

Candidate for Prosecuting Attorney Wayne County - Democratic Ticket

DR. JOHN A. ROSS
OPTOMETRIST
PLYMOUTH

My personal contacts with Dr. George W. Crane, eminent columnist of the Detroit News has made somewhat of a detective out of me. I keep my eyes and ears open more than usual to the hum of events and the conversation of people. We find so much of the good in life, that we just can't help talking about it.

Our detective traits lead us to a firm belief in William E. Dowling, and suggest his careful consideration when you cast your vote in the coming democratic primary. We believe in Mr. Dowling, and recommend his nomination for prosecuting attorney for Wayne County for the following reasons;—

Orphaned and penniless at the age of eleven in Baltimore, Maryland, you were not discouraged but have courageously fought your way to a place of prominence in Wayne County.

Bravely you volunteered to fight in the World War at the age of fifteen and served 52 months, 48 of them being in the trenches of France. You fought in the battles of Ypres, Cambrai, the Somme and many others. You were gassed once, and buried alive under debris twice. Among 1,250 soldiers who went over the top, one night in the pitch black, you were one of nine who returned alive.

You worked five years in the foundry and on the assembly line of the Ford Motor Company. You know what it is to work; by elbow to elbow contact with the working man and his working conditions, you know his problems.

Extraordinary ability as an Assistant Prosecutor quickly advanced you in three years to the rank of Chief Assistant Prosecutor, where you served for three years. You convicted 44 Black Legionaires of murder and conspiracy to murder; you convicted the Dencik "knock-out drop" killers; you convicted the Dale Saunders "shot gun" gang, the "pay-check" killers, the Scotten Dillon killers; you, and only you, could secure confessions from John Kasap and John Kurzawa in the "murder for profit" ring. You assisted at the conviction of Mrs. Julia Barker, the grand jury inquiry into natural gas, and the trial connected with the Fire Department Training School explosion.

Your establishment of the Dowling Foundation in Plymouth, Michigan, which has graciously furnished hundreds of pairs of glasses to the worthy poor of the community.

Sincere, and clean, and decent, you are the man who dared to be honest. With your unquestioned ability, and unimpeachable integrity, there is a crying need for you in the office of Prosecutor of Wayne County.

Cordially and Sincerely,
JOHN A. ROSS

Here's A Case of the Second Best Man Being Declared Winner

Lionel Coffin Wins at Hilltop Sunday

"Casey" Partridge has often said, "You just can't win," but little did he realize it would some day apply to himself as certainly was the case out at Hilltop Golf course last Sunday when the postponed 27-hole medal tournament was played off. "Par" who owns the course, manages it and acts as the club pro, shot the best score of the day, but still he couldn't be declared the "king for a day." Casey had par golf for the circuit and handed in a card of 108—probably the best day of golf shot this year at the club—but Lionel Coffin, playing in the same foursoms, toured the course in 110. Lionel, known to his friends for some reason as "Pussy," had rounds of 37, 37, 38—110. Bill "You Know" Hunter was second best with a 117. Ivan Baldwin and Roy McAllister tied for third with 119's.

Other scores in the championship flight were, Elmer Horvath, 121 and Tom Lock 122. Bud Archer withdrew after two rounds of 40, 42 and George Todd also scratched after a 45 and 41.

"Mell" Clement, after taking a 45, decided it was just not his day, and went to the clubhouse to call a heart a heart. Bob Johnston bowed a tendon and pulled up lame after carding a first round 41. Paul Richards, the club's leading amateur, showed up too late and was barred from the day's play.

The handicap flight was won by C. D. Van VanVleck who scored a 43, 44—131. A handicap of 27 blows gave him a net of 104.

Next Saturday and Sunday matches start for the annual Plymouth championship. Three flights have been arranged with the following match play pairing:

Championship flight: Lionel Coffin vs. Bus Riffenburg; Bill Hunter vs. Paul Richards; Gordon Moe vs. Mel Clement; Elmer Horvath vs. Bob Johnston; Louie Campbell vs. Herb Burley; Bill Choffin vs. Bud Archer; Larry Moe vs. Ralph Lorenz, and Jack McAllister vs. Ivan Baldwin.

First flighters are: George Kenyon vs. H. W. Thatcher; Howard Dicks vs. Marvin Terry; Mike O'Conner vs. George Todd; Ray Danol vs. Joe Archer; Don Lightfoot vs. Al Strasen; Norm MacLeod vs. Charles Wolfe; Roy McAllister vs. Jake Schumacher; and Don Burleson vs. Leon Terry.

Champion of the second flight will be among the following match members: Jake Lyke vs. Homer Jewell; Earl Markham vs. Herb Norgrove; By Champion vs. Lon Brocklehurst; C. D. Van Vleck vs. Cliff Tait; John Gaffield vs. Austin Partridge; "Tiny" Fillmore vs. Roy Proctor; Bill Aluta vs. Stan Schieve; and Lynn Partridge vs. Pete Foster.

Sunday, October 6, has been set aside for Stag Day and there will be a 27-hole medal championship and handicap flight Sunday, September 22.

M. S. C. Conducts Water Tests

Michigan's drinking water is becoming safer each year with less and less typhoid and other waterborne diseases—a program in which water tests conducted by the bacteriology department of Michigan State college are playing an important part.

Before 1900, water was water if it quenched the thirst, comments Dr. W. L. Mallman, in charge of the present system of testing water samples. Typhoid was common and the Michigan death rate annually from that source was 37 per 100,000 persons.

By 1928 the typhoid rate in the state had dropped to less than two persons to 100,000 and today practically every public water supply has been tested and found safe or unfit. Some typhoid still is spread by private or semi-private water supplies.

Offer to test without charge is repeated by Dr. Mallman as part of the Michigan State college statewide service. Both urban and rural dwellers continue to utilize this free service as new wells are drilled or springs are tapped. In the 12 months ending June 30, 1940, samples tested numbered 1,068. Of these 292 were for rural-urban supplies.

Some 390 were of the Michigan State college campus system of wells and 396 were for swimming pools.

Since the new year began July 1, water supply tests have numbered 201, plus another 52 samples of swimming pool water.

Heavy Rains Reduce Forest Fire Losses

Happiest men in Michigan over the heavy rains at this season of the year are the state's forest fire fighters. With the aid of wet weather, they held the forest fire loss in the nineteenth week of the fire season to three acres.

Generally wet weather has helped hold the forest fire loss in the 15 weeks since May 12 to 1,164 acres, in 274 fires burning a little more than four acres apiece. Nine times as much forest land—10,861 acres—was burned over in the first four weeks of the season, when 493 fires, averaging 22 acres per fire, swept through areas that were tinder-dry before the heavy spring rains arrived.

Bicycle Club Renews Work

The Plymouth Police Bicycle club, formed last January and sponsored by the police department, will be continued this year. Notice will be posted at school announcing court sessions, said Police Chief Vaughan Smith.

The present officers of the club, whose purpose is to aid in crime prevention and accidents through carelessness on the part of bicyclists are as follows: For Measle, president; Marian Kirkpatrick, vice president; Jay Hanna, secretary; and Ellen Smith, treasurer. The executive branch also includes a six-man jury of club members with foreman and one police officer. There are 218 members of the club.

There are no fees, for the city commission authorized funds for all licenses and form blanks.

When any case of negligence is brought to the attention of the club, president by any member of the club, or by a civilian, the offender is brought into "court," the case is heard, and the jury brings in its verdict. Penal discipline, such as removal of license tags or removal of bicycle from the street, is given according to the seriousness of the violation. The president of the organization acts as judge.

Application for membership must be signed by the parents. All bicycles are thoroughly inspected and approved before licenses are issued. License plates may be obtained through the aid of the state's prison. The license plate number is stamped on the operator's license, and all violations are recorded and kept on file.

This experiment has been conducted in other cities, where it has proven a good idea to give youngsters a measure of self-government and a club to interest them in safety.

Of a truth, men are mystically united; a mysterious bond of brotherhood makes all men one.—Carlyle.

Filing Deadline for Williamston Plan Hunting Co-Ops September 20

Farming communities wishing department of conservation assistance for Williamston plan hunting cooperatives this fall should file their applications by September 20, the department's game division announced this week.

Signs for posting cooperative units and permit tags that farmers issue to hunters using the areas are furnished by the conservation department. To qualify for department cooperation, the farming community must organize not more than 10,000 and not less than 640 acres on the Williamston plan, agree not to charge for hunting and not to restrict hunting to any special group. New this year is the additional requirement that the guest hunter be allowed on an area larger than the single farm.

Organized a few years ago to control trespass in heavily hunted areas of southern Michigan, Williamston plan cooperatives have grown by leaps and bounds. Last year those cooperating with the conservation department numbered 110, controlling half a million acres of farmland in 24 counties. For the 1940 season, applications from 25 communities covering 110,000 acres are already on file with the department.

By controlling "overhunting" of areas near large population centers, the cooperatives have served to protect the supply of game and in some localities to increase it, as cooperative members become interested in up-to-date game management practices. The hunter's car, parked in the farmer's yard when the ticket is obtained, is the farmer's security against the vandalism of a few hunters who have in earlier seasons damaged farm fences, buildings and livestock.

Wilcox School Children Exhibit Craft Work

A splendid exhibit was given by the children of Wilcox school last Thursday afternoon displaying the work done during the summer class in recreation program of arts and crafts. There were purses of leather, bracelets of leather lacing, copper pictures mounted on stained plywood, woodcraft painted and stained, and needlework of pillows, aprons, and pot holders.

Sixty children, many parents, and Mr. Hall, president of the Wilcox P. T. A. attended the exhibit. Accompanying this exhibit was a doll show representing different crafts and fairy book characters.

Mrs. Sterling, who has been leading the summer class at Wilcox school, will conduct similar classes in the Northville school in September, in addition to classes for women in knitting, crocheting, athletic and gymnastic work.

VOTE YOUR TICKET THIS WAY

Linwood W. Snow

Northville people hereby wish to express their appreciation for the years of service and leadership rendered to our community by our fellow-citizen, Dr. Linwood W. Snow. During the past 20 years he has served Northville and its people in many capacities: Mayor, councilman, member of the school board, and citizen extraordinary.

No task has been too small, no task too large to command a generous portion of his time and effort. Through the years, the progress and betterment of Northville has always been the goal of Dr. Snow's activities. A leader in civic progress, a friend of the friendless, and helper of the helpless, the generosity and assistance of Dr. Snow have been accorded every worthwhile activity. In county and state affairs, Dr. Snow has made an enviable record. His management of the Michigan State Fair has made him a national reputation. His ideas and suggestions for the conduct of the county coroner's office has brought him into the limelight of state government.

"The present law," says Dr. Snow, "permits each of two coroners in Wayne County to appoint one deputy coroner. Obviously, four men cannot handle the great burden of work now on the coroner's office."

"My plan is very simple. For no more money, in total, than would be paid two deputies under the present system, I would secure for the people of the county the services of deputy coroners in various strategic locations in the county. These physicians would be paid for their services on a fee basis.

"The result of the system which I advocate would be far more prompt in the disposition of the bodies of people who have, through natural causes or accident, been so unfortunate as to lose their lives."

Fenner Seeks Re-Election

Clyde V. Fenner, present Republican state senator of the eighteenth district, which includes Plymouth and the townships of Livonia and Northville, is a candidate for re-election. Senator Fenner states that he has no apologies to make for his record in office.

Senator Fenner points to his appointment as a member of the Senate committee to work out an agreement with the house of representatives during the debates on the highly controversial labor relations bill. A mediation law was devised, which has settled more than 200 labor controversies without a day's loss of pay or a moment of shut-down.

As a member of the judiciary committee, he says he was able to actively support the new law which has taken the racket out of automobile credit sales and furnished protection for the buyer.

The senator claims he was author of the new state boxing law, which has, he says, made boxing respectable in the state and has already brought one championship fight to Michigan.

Chief among the problems which Fenner hopes to settle if re-elected to office is the "elimination of unnecessary county offices of sheriff, coroner, drain commissioner, and register of deeds by constitutional amendment." Other concerns in which he claims to be interested are the restoration of the retail liquor business to taxing merchants, increased appropriations for crippled children, extension of old age assistance, and restriction of welfare money.

Chief Smith Attends Special F. B. I. Meeting

Police Chief Vaughn Smith attended a meeting of 40 law enforcement officers of Wayne county at Detroit last Thursday to hear a discussion by John S. Bugas, special agent for the F. B. I., on the best methods of detecting saboteurs and espionage agents, and of furnishing plant protection, particularly for key defense work.

The county's 5,000 officers will receive special instructions from the F. B. I. to aid local authorities in dealing with possible subversive activities.

DR. LLOYD K. BABCOCK

Dr. Lloyd K. Babcock who founded the first Republican club in the twenty-second ward 15 years ago has announced his candidacy for coroner, making his first bid for public office. Dr. Babcock who was the first president of the Northwest Republican club, is a member of the American Legion and the Masonic lodge, and has practiced medicine for 21 years.

Von Moll Seeks Auditor Office

William F. Von Moll of Trenton in announcing his candidacy for the office of county auditor on the Republican ticket in the primary election on September 10 points to his years of experience in public office as qualification for election.

He has served as clerk and postmaster in the village of Sibley, treasurer of Monguagon township, and supervisor for the last 12 years in his downriver area. He served as a member of the ways and means committee of the County Board of Supervisors for nine years, and as secretary of the Out-County Supervisors' association since its formation.

Von Moll was a member of the Wayne County Emergency Relief commission for three years and was chairman of the welfare body during 1939. He is the only Wayne county member of the executive committee of the State Association of Supervisors. In civic affairs, he is active as a Boy Scout leader and an officer of the Old Newsboys' association of Trenton.

License Fund Buys Game Land

Lands for the use of more hunters and fishermen, and for the game species that furnish them with sport, bought by the conservation commission with money from deer hunting and fishing license fees, will serve 10 projects scattered the length of Michigan.

Six parcels totaling 564 acres in Barry county have been acquired for a wildlife restoration area, with federal cooperation and assistance. With money from the deer hunting license land fund the commission has added 20,900 acres to Lake Superior state forest, 5,600 acres to the Cusino game area, and a total of 900 acres to Fife lake state forest and Norway and Munuskong game areas. The new Lake Superior forest tract includes one mile of frontage on Betsey river and two miles frontage on the south branch of the Betsey.

Using funds accumulated by earmarking 40 cents of each resident fishing license dollar, the commission has bought frontage of 180 feet on Fish lake, Cass county; 1,000 feet on Woodland lake, Livingston county; and 175 feet on Sand lake, Lenawee county, to insure the public access to these fishing grounds. With money from the same fund a tract of about 40 acres surrounding Dowagiac creek and Dowagiac drain has been acquired for a stream improvement demonstration area.

Candidate Would Amend Loan Law

A progressive young Republican in the person of Albert J. Lehman announces his candidacy for state representative from the fifth district. I propose to introduce legislation that will eliminate the small loan sharks and the vicious deficiency judgment law now in effect, to introduce a more adequate and liberal old-age pension and unemployment compensation law, and to use every effort to promote harmony between labor and industry," said Lehman.

Kirby Stands on Business Record

Ralph H. Kirby, candidate for the Republican nomination for county auditor in the primary election September 10, believes his record of 25 years as a successful business man is his best qualification for the office he seeks.

"The auditor's office is the head business office of the county of Wayne," he declared in an interview today. "Through it passes the major business affairs that affect all residents of Detroit and the other cities, villages and townships of the county. The people who foot the bills for the cost of county government should be as alert in seeing that their money is handled as wisely as that of any successful private business establishment."

Kirby has been engaged in real estate development, brokerage, leasing, property management, including several large estates, and the building business in Detroit and vicinity. He also has served as an appointee of the United States court, as receiver for several large corporations.

He served four terms as a member of the board of county supervisors.

Rotarians to Attend Tiger-Indian Game

FOR BEST MICHIGAN STATE GOVERNMENT

Best Officers Are Necessary

Elton R. Eaton

In order to have the best state government in Michigan, it is necessary to have honest, efficient, and energetic state officers; men who are independent of undue influence from special privilege groups, but aim at the best interest of the whole people. For that reason we recommend that you help to

NOMINATE

ELTON R. EATON

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

On the Republican Ticket

He has held many positions of responsibility and trust in the past and he is honored and respected by all his official, business and social acquaintances. He has held many local public offices, was three terms sheriff of Kalamazoo county, and was personal secretary to Ex-Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck, while governor, and he is at present a State Legislator from Plymouth (Wayne Co.) of several years experience, giving him definite qualifications for the office.

We have known Mr. Eaton for many years, and can vouch for his absolute honesty, faithfulness, and dependability in all he undertakes, in either civic, business, or political affairs, and know that he will acquire himself honorably. He has always been an ardent champion of justice and economy in state government, free from graft and boss control, and demanding aid for the aged and unfortunate. He is the militant editor of the Plymouth Mail, the progressive weekly newspaper of Plymouth, Michigan, and he has gained the reputation as the unceasing fighter for all that is good in state government. We, as fellow publishers in other parts of the state are glad to endorse his candidacy and pray for his nomination.

Health Dept. Sees Measles Cases Rising

Authorities Predict Periodic Outbreak During This Winter

Opening of school should cause parents to be on the watch for measles, which will strike Michigan with epidemic force during the coming winter, says the Michigan department of health. One case of measles may mean an exposure of all the children in a school room.

"The only outbreak of disease that we are able to predict is measles," says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, commissioner. "An outbreak is coming, such as we have every third year. Due to our warnings, more parents will obtain protection for young children after exposure to a case, for parents more generally understand that measles is a serious disease for babies and little children and one to be avoided or controlled.

In the last two measles epidemics, reported cases have been 80,000 compared with an off-year total of six or eight thousand cases. The monthly reports of measles are already higher than usual, but the peak is not expected until spring, when 25,000 or 30,000 cases may be reported a month.

If there is an exposure of a susceptible child to a case of measles, an attack is almost sure to follow, but the family physician can give a treatment which will control the attack and make it mild. The child will recover in two or three days instead of two weeks, and there will be little or no fever. The controlled attack, however, will give the child lifelong immunity against measles.

"It's the six-year-old who usually brings measles into the home," says Dr. Moyer, "and the protective treatment is especially valuable in those homes where there are babies or young children who should have protection. Half of all measles and 90 percent of the deaths occur in children under five."

Reid Stresses Sane Reform

CLARENCE A. REID
A practical and constructive platform for legislative reform is being offered by Clarence A. Reid, candidate for state senator from the eighteenth district on the Republican ticket, who is receiving favorable sentiment in his contact with voters in the west end of the district during the last week.

A graduate of the University of Michigan law school, a World War veteran, and a practicing attorney in Detroit for 20 years, Reid carries the endorsement of many leading citizens and civic and fraternal organizations.

As a home owner and taxpayer, Reid feels particularly qualified to represent the people of the eighteenth district which embraces Plymouth and the townships of Livonia, Northville and Plymouth.

Game Division Sees Good Crop for Hunters

A "good crop" is the estimate by the conservation department's game division men of the production of pheasants, grouse and other upland birds for the 1940 hunting season.

Despite heavy rains at hatching and brooding time, large broods of three-quarter grown birds have been observed at Prairie Farm, Rose Lake, and other stations by field men of the game division. Conservation officers in southern counties also report a good crop of pheasants.

Farley F. Tubbs, game division ornithologist, returning from a tour of northern Michigan, reports game area managers and conservation officers throughout the north county optimistic about the season's crop of upland birds.

In discounting the notion that the wet summer may have seriously reduced the crop of birds, hunting game men point out that some of the best years in the past have been good bird years. The birds are believed in little danger of depletion between now and the hunting season opening October 15.

Pilots Attend Soaring Contest

(By Skysailor)
Ten gliders were taken to the Third American Open Soaring contest from Triangle Gliderport. The hangars will be packed full again with their return.

While all of the 19 pilots from Triangle profited no doubt from the experience, no one from Triangle seemed to be able to walk away with first prizes.

Captain Shelley Charles of Atlanta, Georgia, won the meet with Stanley Corcoran of Joliet, Illinois, taking second, and John Robinson of San Diego, California, third.

The first seven days of the nine-day meet were almost completely ruined by rainfall. Very good performances were turned in, however, by a very few expert pilots especially during the last two days of the meet, Sunday and Monday, September 1 and 2.

to complete the term to which he was appointed.

FRANK DAY SMITH, a pioneer resident of Wayne County, long a worker for community improvement, a man who ranks high in the legal profession, who was appointed by the Governor last year to fill a vacancy on the Wayne Circuit Bench, should be nominated to complete the term as Circuit Court Judge, on a non-partisan ballot.

He deserves the nomination. FRANK DAY SMITH is so outstanding in his profession that he was drafted by a former President of the United States to serve on a commission to revise and unify lien laws and make recommendations to the several states. Many of his recommendations have been enacted into law in Michigan and other states.

No better man is running for office on any ticket than he. If all candidates approached his calibre, we would not have throughout the land today, such dissatisfaction as is frequently heard against public officials.

FRANK DAY SMITH, because of his splendid record, both as a practicing attorney, and in his present capacity as Circuit Judge in Wayne County, should be retained in the office of Circuit Judge.

He has been a successful attorney in our State and Federal Courts with an enviable record.

He has sponsored laws that pertain to the small home-owner and the wage-earner.

He is sincere, dependable and trustworthy, and as Circuit Judge in Wayne County for more than a year, he has made an outstanding record by his courtesy, his meticulous fairness and consistent industry.

FRANK DAY SMITH should be retained as Circuit Judge in Wayne County because of his splendid record.

Judge Smith is a booster of sports; has cooperated in amateur baseball activities; is a lover of bowling and a golf fan; and is, in fact, an all around enthusiast of all clean sport.

Ambrose Urges Care at Polls

John B. Ambrose, justice of the peace in Redford township, in a talk Tuesday night before the club of Republican club of Taylor township, in connection with his candidacy for the state legislature as representative from the fifth district, urged the utmost care in casting any ballot in the coming primary election.

"With the probability of more and different taxes being levied on the face, and emergency measures, real or alleged, thrown at us from all directions," said Mr. Ambrose, "the sole means we have of protecting ourselves from hysterical, ill-considered, or politically inspired legislation is to elect representatives who are not just 'rubber stamps,' or 'fine fellows,' but men who can actually further your interests. A representative should be just that—your proxy in the government, acting for you and guarding against the taking away of any rights which you want protected."

"I happen to be a candidate for the state legislature," continued Mr. Ambrose, "but the same principle should control in electing candidates to all offices, local as well as state and national. Public officials can only be as good as you make them. If you vote just for an attractive name, or because some politician has painted a beautiful verbal picture of what he will do if elected, without considering who the man is, what his background is, and whether he is capable of accomplishing what you want done, your public officials probably will be incompetent, or worse. And that has been done in many cases in the past."

"If there ever was a time when your vote should count for something, it is now," Mr. Ambrose pointed out. "Bills affecting all of us in the most material way will be brought up with the tag 'defense measure' advanced as a reason for immediate passage without debate. I strongly urge that you elect men to all offices who cannot be stampeded, who will and can analyze the effect of a law, and who have minds of their own, and the character to use them."

Radio Field Units Protect State Forests

State Conservation Department Expands Communication System

Swiftly expanding its use of two-way radio communication begun in 1938, the state conservation department's field administration division has boosted its roster of radio operators licensed by the federal communications commission to 200 men.

Department radios serve the dual purposes of forest fire protection and law enforcement. One hundred of the sending and receiving sets are now in operation in towers of the forest fire detection system, which keep watch over seventeen and a half million acres of state and private forest land.

Twenty sets are mobile, installed in automobiles. The department now has a dozen portable units, which are on the job at the scene of every large forest fire, coordinating the work of separate fire fighting parties. Eight fixed stations now operate at district and regional conservation department headquarters.

Powered with as much as 50 watts, the sets permit two-way voice communication over a 10 to 50 mile range, depending upon terrain and atmospheric conditions. Because the sets operate on an ultra high frequency, their signals cannot be picked up by ordinary home radio receivers.

Additional radio units still needed are being assembled at the forest fire experiment station under the direction of Ralph Williams. Williams also coaches conservation officers and forest fire personnel in proper operation of the sets.

To qualify for the FCC license, conservation officers must not only pass a written examination testing their knowledge of how to operate the radio, distress signals, what to say, how to say it, and what not to say on the air. They must also present a photograph, fingerprints, birth certificate and life history.

On fire suppression work in the 1939 season, the department radios provided instantaneous communication and established a record of better than 99 per cent efficiency in completion of messages sent.

Southern Industrial Centers Harbor Most of Trout Anglers

Industrial southern Michigan harbors more trout fishermen than do the thinly settled counties of the trout country itself, creel census records kept for four of Michigan's principal trout streams indicate.

As compiled by the conservation department's institute for fisheries research, the census shows the counties containing Detroit, Grand Rapids and Flint furnish the most anglers for Michigan's better known trout streams.

Fishing on the Pine last season were 1,059 anglers from Kent county, 456 from Wexford county, 451 from Wayne, Ohio, with 66 representatives, led the out-state parade which included Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, Colorado, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, West Virginia and New York.

Wayne county furnished the most fishermen on the Pigeon river—585—while Genesee sent 155 and the home counties of Cheboygan, Oshtemo and Alpena furnished 152, 152 and 151 each. Ohio anglers again led the out-state delegation with 146, and besides the states represented on the Pine, there were fishermen also from California, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C., as well as from Canada and Germany.

The north branch of the AuSable drew 681 fishermen from Wayne county, 150 from Genesee, 122 from Saginaw, 96 from Jackson, 93 from Crawford, and adds Florida and Texas to the other states represented.

On the Little Manistee, Kent county supplied 131 of the anglers, Wayne 33, and Lake 32, with Indiana sending the most out-state men.

Creel census clerks contacted practically all anglers using the four streams.

Manual Lists State Agencies

Citizens of Michigan are provided with detailed information concerning the 95 agencies which make up the state's governmental structure in a manual just published by the bureau of government of the University of Michigan and the State Budget office.

The new publication, "A Manual of State Administrative Organization in Michigan," should prove to be a mine of information to persons whose business or civic interests give them frequent occasion to examine governmental make-up.

The manual represents an attempt to fill a gap in governmental information by making available, in a single bulletin, a concise and comprehensive description of all state agencies, according to Dr. Robert S. Ford, director of the bureau of government. Prepared originally by the state budget office, under the supervision of Administrative Assistant Grace Murray, for use in connection with the administration of appropriation bills, it has been expanded and rearranged with a view to providing a useful document for the public.

All the state's agencies, departments, and boards are described by presenting a summary or digest of their personnel, salaries, duties, and administrative organization, as well as the manner in which they are financed.

The agencies described consist of the executive office, the two branches of the legislature, the appellate and trial courts in the state judicial system, 17 departments, 30 commissions, and 43 boards.

For rough censusing of pheasants over a large area, as at Prairies farm near Saginaw, game men are testing the worth of listening for and counting cock crowsings, from a vantage point such as the top of a car.

New Sewage Treatment Plants Serve State

Eighty per cent of the state's population having sewerage systems is now also served by sewerage treatment plants, according to records of the Michigan Department of Health.

"During the last year and half, more plants have been constructed and more people have been given the advantages of sewerage treatment facilities than ever before in the state's history," said Dr. H. Allen Moyer, state health commissioner.

On July 1, 109 municipal and 36 resort association and institutional treatment plants were in operation in Michigan.

In Dr. Moyer's final summary of construction were included 31 new sewerage treatment plants built or under construction from January 1, 1939 to July 1, 1940. Additions and improvements were made to eight other plants.

Sewage system and sewage disposal plant construction is under the supervision of the department's bureau of engineering. During the last two years, 754 construction permits for sewerage system construction have been issued by the bureau.

Sewage disposal systems have been built by villages of 500 population and by the largest cities in the state. Detroit's system, costing $22,000,000, is one of the largest in the nation.

The generally accepted opinion that all elderly persons must cough, and that coughing is without danger to those about them is false. Elderly persons with a chronic cough should have an immediate physical examination, including a tuberculin test and X-ray if necessary.

U. P. Is Haven From Hay Fever

The annual hay fever pilgrimage to upper Michigan is under way, and the Lake Superior country will dry more hay fever tears than ever this season, says the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

The mighty lake, nearly 400 miles long, 150 miles wide and down to 1,000 feet deep, with waters surprisingly clear and cool and a world wonder in itself, is the efficient air-conditioner of the 15 upper Michigan counties. The average summer temperature is 65 degrees, a situation without parallel from coast to coast. The peninsula has one of the lowest pollen counts in the country and hay fever is unknown here.

Many late summer tourists are visiting Mackinac Island to enjoy the beauties of The Fairy Isle, outstanding in the great Northwest, the forest-clad plateaus, and the Indian and voyageur reminders of 300 eventful years.

American citizens planning visits to Canada are assured that they need not fear difficulties at the border on return by the Chamber of Commerce at Sault Ste. Marie.

"Reasonable identification, such as has been asked heretofore, is all that is required, and formal documents are not necessary. No American citizens have been detained at the St. Mary's river border. Aliens, of course, should provide themselves with proper entry or re-entry papers," says the bulletin.

A Canadian passport office where a U. S. consul is now stationed is located at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

For years, acclimatization societies were maintained in the United States, to further the establishment of English sparrows here.

Windstorm Losses Increase Annually

Experience of this company indicates that the number of windstorm losses in Michigan is increasing year by year. During the last thirteen years (from 1927 to 1939, inclusive) this company has adjusted and paid 80,417 losses (A yearly average of 6,185) — this is more than double the number of losses of the preceding thirteen years, from 1914 to 1926, inclusive, which has a yearly average of 2,446.

This company paid 9,100 losses in 1939, amounting to $306,020.72.

HOW MANY WINDSTORM LOSSES WILL THERE BE IN 1940?

It really makes little difference to our policyholders because we promptly pay their losses caused by windstorms. Do not delay—Get windstorm insurance from the nearest Michigan Mutual agent, or write the Home Office.

WHAT THE FACTS ARE.

Voters in this district will be interested in the following press release made Tuesday:

"Statements credited by newspapers to Herman Dignan, publicity agent for Felix Flynn, one of the candidates for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, that all but two Republican members of the senate had endorsed Flynn for nomination, are not only misleading but absolutely untrue, according to telegrams, statements and letters I have received from members of the senate," declared Elton R. Eaton, state representative from Plymouth, today. Eaton is a candidate for the same nomination.

"There are 31 members of the senate. Nine of these are Democrats and two of the Democrats are also candidates for this nomination. Thirteen of the 22 Republicans deny emphatically that they have endorsed Flynn. Four of these denials came from the eleven senators who were listed publicly as favoring Flynn," said Eaton.

"Dignan's statement also alleged that 90 present and former members of the legislature favored Flynn. From information I have received there is only an exceedingly minor fraction of the house members supporting him. I have not checked the several hundreds of former living members because if all the alleged 90 endorsements came from them it would still be an exceedingly small percentage of the total, and therefore unimportant.

"The wording of the publicity statement was apparently designed to deliberately mislead voters into believing that 90 members of the legislature favored one candidate. It worked, because some have already commented to me about it.

"This contemptible type of campaign propaganda is no surprise to me, however, because it typifies the elements that make up the clique of Lansing lobbyists representing certain powerful special interests and political fixers within the Republican party who are opposing me and supporting Flynn.

"Their aid to Flynn is the political pay-off of his part in the defeat during the last legislative session of my clean politics bill which would have taken gutter politics out of Wayne county political conventions and made impossible fixed state conventions. My measure, designed to remedy a serious political evil, passed the house of representatives with the unanimous support of both Republicans and Democrats.

"It was killed in the senate elections committee by one vote, and that was Flynn's vote. The bill was then re-introduced into the senate by Senator D. Hale Brake of Stanton who forced it to a vote on the floor of the senate. It was again the one vote of Senator Flynn, who was doing the bidding of Frank McKay and Eddie Barnard, that killed the bill for the second time. It will also be recalled that it was Flynn's publicity agent who after the defeat of the bill, wrote letters to the newspapers defending the system of fixed political conventions and the type of miserable politics that have disgraced Wayne county and the state of Michigan.

"Certain lobbyists are also opposed to me and supporting Flynn because they know that they will not be able to name members of the various senate committees if I am nominated and elected.

"The so-called 'drafting' of Senator Flynn as a candidate for this nomination, was done by one lobbyist of a powerful special interest who met in the Olds hotel with four state senators instead of eight as reported at the time.

"My candidacy for the lieutenant governorship is sponsored by the citizens of my legislative district who have heartily endorsed the things I have accomplished and attempted to accomplish at Lansing. But I am not so anxious to hold public office that I expect my friends to make deliberate misrepresentations to the voters in order to help me.

"I regard the Dignan-Flynn incident as a most unfortunate one, as it has placed many excellent members of the legislature 'on the spot,' so to speak. It was entirely unnecessary, but typical of the sort of politics that might be expected from political bosses who attempt to rule Republican politics and at the same time work to defeat worthy Republican candidates, as happened in the last Wayne county election.

"Eddie Barnard (alleged Republican) openly supported Democratic Tom Wilcox for sheriff. Governor Dickinson has been forced to remove Wilcox from office. Wilcox also faces trial on graft charges in Wayne county courts. 'Republican' Barnard also supported Democratic Prosecutor Duncan McCrea, who faces removal proceedings before the Governor as well as trial upon charges of graft in Wayne county courts. That is the sort of thing I have been fighting within the Republican party and attempted to curb through the legislative measure that Senator Flynn helped to kill at the behest of Barnard."

To the Voters of Plymouth and Western Wayne County

There are exactly 2,091 voters registered in the city of Plymouth. There are many more thousands registered in Plymouth township, Livonia, Canton, Nankin, and Northville townships.

I have bought this advertising space, and am paying for it at the regular rates of this paper for the benefit of one of our citizens who is entitled to every one of the 2,091 votes in Plymouth and all the other votes around here for the things he has done in Lansing and tried to do for the benefit of all of Michigan.

That Citizen is Elton R. Eaton Candidate for the Republican Nomination for Lieutenant-Governor.

Wouldn't it be a splendid thing, a big piece of advertising for Plymouth, if we could give to him every vote in this city!

He has always been loyal to our community and to all the things that we have tried to do. He has been loyal to our citizens. He has done what he could to help wherever possible. And no one has a better public record than he possesses.

I Know What They Say Outside.

If everyone in Plymouth knew how complimentary people outside speak of his work and his efforts, they, too, would feel like I do about helping him win this election.

I would like to be able to make this statement more emphatic than I am able to do. It is needless to review his work and his efforts. Most of us know what these have been.

The Important Thing to Do Is

Be sure and vote on Tuesday. Let's be loyal to him and show him what the united voters of such a progressive city as Plymouth can do when it comes to helping along a Plymouth candidate! Let's make it 2,091 votes in Plymouth for Elton R. Eaton!
