Plymouth's third annual Milk Fund ball, sponsored by the two local Parent-Teacher associations, will be held Friday, November 8 in the auditorium of the high school.

Voters Have Only One Week to Register

Deadline October 26 for General Election; Amendments Listed
Voters who were not registered for the primary election have only one week in which to register for the general election November 5, City Manager C. H. Elliott announced this week.

Under the direction of Mrs. Jesse Hines, president of the Starkweather P.T.A., and Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel, president of the Central P.T.A., members hope that the ball will enable them to raise enough money to carry on their program of giving milk to needy and undernourished school children throughout the year.

Applications are now being received for absentee voter ballots for the general election. This year, a record vote is expected. A total of 1201 ballots was cast in the primary election September 10.

School Board Studies Plans for New Building

Recent Election Gives Rise to Discussion of Future Additions

The Board of Education devoted most of its meeting Monday night to a study of the types of buildings which might be built in units. The discussion of possible plans for future school buildings grew out of the election held last week on the question of furnishing bus transportation for students in subdivisions outside the city limits.

It is said to be the aim of the board to have plans ready for new school units whenever the community feels and expresses the need for school additions, for the board recognizes that the election vote leaves the problem of those living in outlying sections, and especially in the Robinson subdivision, unsolved. It is the future hope of the Board of Education that no child will have to walk more than a mile to school, and to this end the board is surveying plans for three-room units capable of accommodating additions, as increased enrollment warrants.

It is evident from the vote in the recent school bus election that while, possibly, the cost of transportation is impractical in comparison with the possible building of future schools, there is a definite need for a new school building, particularly in the Robinson subdivision section. The Board of Education also reports continued study on the purchase of possible school sites.

Mayor Whipple Elected Municipal League Officer
Mayor Ruth Huston Whipple was elected trustee of the Michigan Municipal League for a term of two years at the league's convention in Jackson last Thursday. Mrs. Whipple is one of a new four-member board elected following the re-organization of the league's constitution.

Reporting that 38 persons have registered since the last primary election, City Manager Elliott warned against a last-minute rush to register. This year, a record vote is expected. A total of 1201 ballots was cast in the primary election September 10.

Detroit House of Correction Opens Traffic School October 28

The first traffic school in a penal institution in the state and probably in the United States has been established at the Detroit House of Correction and will be officially opened Monday, October 28.

Mayor Edward J. Jeffries Jr. of Detroit, and law enforcement officers from all over Michigan and several other states will attend the opening ceremonies when the first class of inmates is held a week from Monday.

This traffic school represents the fruition of the work of A. Blake Gillies, superintendent of the House of Correction, in progressive education for penal institutions.

A large dormitory room in the institution, 180 by 50 feet with a seating capacity of 350, has been fitted as the traffic school-room. Samples of the new auto license plates are displayed in Detroit and on the highways of Michigan line the room for study and inspection by the inmate "students."

Every inmate and employee of the institution will attend the first class meeting Monday, October 28 at seven o'clock, at which time a law enforcement expert from Detroit will lecture to the class.

On Wednesday and Thursday of each week, Dr. M. Floch, psychologist of the Detroit House of Correction, will conduct classes for actual traffic offenders from Detroit. The sentencing judge in these cases will be furnished with psychiatric reports and medical reports as well as notice on the progress made by the offender in traffic school.

Mr. Gillies has received word that traffic experts and students will be present at the opening ceremonies from several other large cities which hope to establish similar schools in penal institutions. Police departments from other nearby cities have requested to attend the school as well as many truck drivers from Wayne county and general civilians.

This program for education in traffic and driving represents another step in the progressive developments of the education work at the Detroit House of Correction. Only six months ago, an experimental alcoholic clinic still in the experimental stages was established for the treatment of some of the inmates.

The Detroit House of Correction was the first penal institution in Michigan to employ a psychiatric department in the corrective treatment of inmates. Two of the alumnae of the psychology department there are now trained psychologists at Ford Reformatory for Boys and at the Jackson State Prison.

'41 Auto Plates Now on Sale

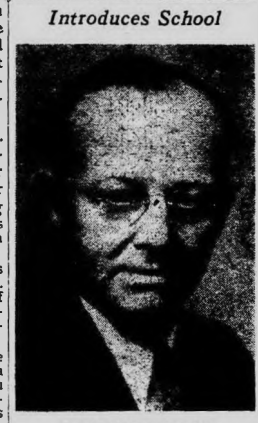

Auto license plates for 1941 are now on sale in all branch offices of the secretary of state, according to Frank Hamby, manager of the Plymouth office.

To stimulate the sale of new cars, Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, authorized issuance of the new plates to coincide with the display of new models at the Detroit auto show.

The plates are the same size as those of 1939 and the uniform letter and numeral system (two letters and four numerals) is retained.

The color scheme for 1941 is white letters and numerals on a maroon background, this combination having been recommended by auto engineers, traffic experts, police, auto club officials, and other interested parties after a series of visibility tests at the General Motors Proving grounds, at Midland.

The new plates were placed on sale eight days earlier than in 1939 to correspond with the earlier date of the auto show this year.

Murray D. Van Wagoner to Be City's Guest on Wednesday, October 30

Everyone Invited to Noonday Luncheon at The Mayflower
Announcement was made yesterday that Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democratic candidate for Governor, accompanied probably by Raymond D. Starr, candidate on the same ticket for attorney general, will be guests at a noon luncheon at the Mayflower hotel at 12:15 on Wednesday, October 30.

Every citizen of Plymouth and vicinity is invited to attend the luncheon and to meet Mr. Van Wagoner and hear him discuss some of the state problems. He will arrive in Plymouth shortly after 12 o'clock and will remain here until 1:30, allowing him plenty of time to meet Plymouth citizens and discuss issues of the campaign. Mr. Van Wagoner has been spending the last few days in the Upper Peninsula and his visit to Plymouth will be made on the final swing of his campaign through the metropolitan section.

In view of the fact that his home is in Pontiac and that he lived in Oakland county all of his life before being elected state highway commissioner, he has many friends and acquaintances in this locality who will be pleased to attend the luncheon to renew old friendships. Tickets will be on sale at the Mayflower hotel early next week, and probably at both banks, but definite announcement of all arrangements will be worked out for publication in the next issue.

Jewell Displays Rock Collection

Rotarians were provided with an interesting program last Friday night when the president, Glenn Jewell, made an exhibit of his rock collection to the meeting and discussed the interesting features of his hobby.

He has collected stones from all over the United States and spends much time classifying them after cutting and polishing them on his work bench in the basement of his home.

David Mather was presented with a two-year perfect attendance pin in recognition of two years' attendance without missing a meeting.

715 Men in Plymouth Register For Selective Service Training

Total Number Exceeds All Expectations; First in Line at 5 A. M.
"Young America" marched through city, village, and township halls from 7:00 in the morning until 9:00 at night all day Wednesday, October 16, to file their names for the first peacetime conscription in the history of the country.

A total of 715 young men between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, registered at the city hall in Plymouth, and 204 from Plymouth township at the Grange hall, a total figure nearly twice as much as was expected. There were 1168 registered in Livonia township, and 265 in Canton township.

A line of 125 registrants stood waiting at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning for the Plymouth city hall to open and registration to begin.

Milan Frank, city fireman, was reported the first in line taking his place at 5 o'clock as one might for bleacher tickets at a World Series. The irony of his long wait was that he had to return to register a second time when it was discovered he had printed his signature instead of writing it at the bottom of the registration card.

Jack Gillies and Rusing Cutler, both of whom served as volunteer registrars, were among the first registered at the city hall.

A number of comments were heard about the city hall commencing the selection evening which National Registration Day was handled locally. A clerk in the front hall typed the name, age, and address of each registrant before he proceeded to the registration desks in the city commission chambers upstairs. This expedited the registrars' work saving much spelling of names.

Registration complete, the selective service and training program now awaits the drawing of the national numbers which will call up the first men for the 400,000 quota to be classified by the local draft boards.

Every registrant must apply to the local board for permission to leave the country even for a short period of time, and must also notify the local board of any change of address or status," Walter Harms advises on instructions from the Wayne county office of the selective service.

Members of the local board attended a meeting to receive instructions in procedure Thursday, October 10, at the Detroit branch office in the Cadillac Square building.

This "Kiwanis Knite Klub" is one of the projects of the Plymouth club to raise money this year for its underprivileged children's welfare fund.

143 Aliens Registered at Local Post Office

Postmaster Sets Wednesday as Alien Registration Day
Reporting that 143 aliens have registered to date at the Plymouth post office, Postmaster Frank K. Leonard announced this Wednesday of each week has been designated as Alien Registration Day.

"Provision has been made for extra help to take care of registration on Wednesdays so that both the time of the patron and the business of registration will be expedited. Will you kindly call at the post office or telephone and make an appointment for the hour which will be most convenient for you to register. In that way there will be no waiting," said the Postmaster in asking the cooperation of all who expect to register as aliens.

Postmaster Leonard is also urging that aliens register within the next few weeks if possible to avoid confusion with the Christmas mailing rush. Otherwise, he points out, both alien registrants and Christmas mailers are going to be greatly inconvenienced.

Flames Destroy Travis Residence

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Travis of Bedford road was completely destroyed by fire last Friday morning, October 11. Mrs. Travis discovered the fire at about 3 o'clock, it is reported, and she immediately grabbed her two children, Dennis, age 2, and Judith, age 3, carrying them to safety as the house burned to the ground. The flames spread so rapidly that it was impossible to save any of the household furniture.

The Travis family moved to the new farm home which was located between Warren and Ford road two years ago. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Survey of June Graduates Reveals Placement in Jobs, Army, or College

A survey of the graduating class of June 1940, made by C. J. Dykhouse, high school principal, and Mr. Bentley, coordinator of apprentice training, reveals that out of a class of 114, 31 per cent of the graduates are continuing their school enrollment and that half percent are gainfully employed with only four graduates unemployed at the present time. This computation does not include those who have recently joined national defense forces.

Twenty-six graduates are now attending colleges and universities with the enrollment divided as follows: University of Michigan, 4; Wayne University, 2; Ohio Wesleyan, 1; Michigan Normal, 4; Albion, 3; Detroit Business University, 3; Cleary college, 4; Michigan State, 2; General Motors Institute, Detroit, 1; Ford's School of Home Nursing, Detroit, 2.

The nine apprentices who were graduated last year and are working in local industrial plants or places of business full time are attending night school four hours a week to complete their apprenticeships. One girl is taking post-graduate studies at Plymouth high school.

Millions Spent On Football Games, No Money To Aid Crippled Children

(The following remarkable editorial by Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, pertaining to the crippled and afflicted child problem in Michigan, is of more than passing interest. Mr. Brown, who has proven himself the most outstanding auditor general Michigan ever had, has for years been interested in humanitarian problems. His views are, therefore, of more than special interest.)

(By Vernon J. Brown)

Something is wrong with this thing we call government and the methods by which the things which government undertakes are supported through taxation and imposts.

Never was this more plainly demonstrated than last Saturday in Michigan.

For more than 10 years, Michigan by statutory law has not only recognized its obligations to the handicapped—it has actually year after year made substantial appropriations to pay for surgical and medical aids and hospital treatment for crippled and afflicted children. The 1939 legislature probably erred when it criticized too freely the greed of certain hospital groups and certain surgeons who appeared to be reaping rich harvests off the state's generosity. Too little was appropriated. In consequence, some of the afflicted children have been neglected and in many instances crippled and deformed children are known to be lacking proper attention to assure them of a normal life.

Many are suffering for the greed of a few.

Unless the state abandons its long continued interest in helping the crippled child to avoid a lifetime of suffering and malformation, the little public expense saved now will be more than offset by increasing costs in the future. It is a well known fact that in helping the crippled, a few dollars spent during childhood goes farther than many dollars spent later in life.

The state had... the... of the upper... than 250 victims of this... in the... of that... of the state or who would be benefitted if hospital facilities could be made available. The funds of the Crippled Children's... have become exhausted. There is dire need of... hospital beds, better convalescent care and home visitation. The commission is pleading for help. Helpless parents and frantic communities are crying out for means to combat the emergency. A meager $50,000 would work miracles, they claim. Yet all the money appropriated by the legislature has been expended, and all the emergency funds available to the so-called "Little League" have been allocated. "There is no more," the budget director insists.

So now we come back to last Saturday.

On that day more than 65,000 paid to see the Michigan-Michigan State football game. And on that day more than 55,000 paid to see the Detroit Tigers play ball with Cincinnati. And later that evening another 25,000 are reported to have paid their money to watch two teams of professional football players match drawn on a Detroit field. Of course a lot of other less important games were played that same day, but a conservative estimate of what 150,000 paid admissions to the three major Saturday attractions amounts to will run the figures well toward three-quarters of a million dollars. Travel and other expense would run the totals to well toward a million. The figures would easily pass a million if the minor Michigan sports events of last Saturday all were counted in.

The legislature appropriated only $800,000 for crippled and afflicted children. Another $800,000 would have done a good job. A mere $50,000 is urgently needed right now—not next year, but today!

And so we return to the opening statement.

Something is wrong with this thing we call government. Someday a wiser generation will devise better methods of spreading taxes. Then money for worthwhile enterprises will be available.

Certainly none can argue that when the public on a single day can dig up a million dollars for entertainment on the field of sports, that a million a year for saving manhood and womanhood for useful living is impossible.

Modern society needs a better perspective and a better balance to its spending.

MICHIGAN, My MICHIGAN

By Elton R. Eaton

Munising? That's a pleasant sounding name for a city—and what about the place called Munising?

Were you ever there? If not, plan now to either visit it within the next few weeks or put it down for one of your early 1947 summer vacation trips.

It will be well worth your while to drive 435 miles from Plymouth to visit this interesting little city up on the south shores of Lake Superior. Munising is not directly on the shores of Lake Superior. It is at the southern end of Grand Island and the mainland, affording it a setting that rivals anything in the Middle West.

A dozen or so miles east of Munising are the beautiful Pictured Rocks, regarded as one of the most interesting tourist sights of the country. Here the waves of Lake Superior crash against the strangely formed ledges and towering rock walls with a constant roar that at times can be heard for long distances.

Except in the most severe weather, one can visit the Pictured Rocks in small power boats that operate out of Munising—and what a grand sight the great rock walls make as one cruises along the shore line!

As one approaches Munising from the main thoroughfare of the Upper Peninsula, there is little to indicate that at the foot of the... there lies an active community of more than 6,000 people. For any person, whether a business traveler, a paper and pulp mill, or acres of pulp logs in the arm of the bay, is... interesting sight one sees...

The last summer has provided tourists with one of the best tourist seasons it has ever had.

That is easily explained because Munising provides a visitor with as many, if not more interesting places to see than most any other place in the north lands. Not only are there beautiful scenic drives, but within a short distance of the city are waterfalls worth any one's time to visit.

Then too, fishing, bathing and all forms of summer sports are available. If one has never visited Munising and its surrounding territory, that place should be marked down now on the "No. 1" vacation trip for 1947.

Chief Issues Warning an Unlicensed Dog

A warning was issued to dog owners this week by Police Chief Vaughan Smith that although the state dog quarantine has been lifted since October 1, the city ordinance prohibits dogs running at large without vaccination licenses.

A house to house canvass will be conducted this month to check on all unlicensed dogs. The police department reserves the right, according to the city ordinance, to impound all unlicensed dogs running at large.

Society for Crippled Children Reports Work; Seeks Kiddie Wagons

The report of the Wayne County chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children reveals that throughout rural Wayne county there are 245 cases of crippled children requiring hospital care, physical checkups, physiotherapy, and corrective appliances including braces, shoes, artificial limb, or wheel chairs.

Local officers of the chapter are Russell Deane of the Plymouth United Savings bank, who is treasurer, and Mrs. Norma Taylor of Livonia township, who is secretary and field worker.

The work of the society is financed by the sale of Easter seals for crippled children. During the past nine months 2,280 miles were travelled by the field worker in making 299 home calls. Home tutors are furnished a few children who, because of their severe condition are unable to attend school. The proceeds from the sale of Easter seals also provided summer camp experience for two children last summer at Grace Bentley camp on the shores of Lake Huron.

Transportation is another service for which funds must be provided. Regular transportation has been furnished to seven children to and from the hospital or school in the past year. Three X-rays have been provided for diagnostic purposes and to insure a definite program of treatment for orthopedic children, and 17 special medical examinations have been arranged and provided at recognized clinics and, as a result, hospitalization services followed.

Because funds are limited, a special appeal is often made as in the following case in which the society seeks help:

"The family of Mr. and Mrs.

Laundry Marks 12th Anniversary

The Perfection Laundry and Dry Cleaners is celebrating 12 years of active laundry and dry cleaning service to residents of Plymouth this week, states Kenneth Corey, proprietor.

Several new pieces of equipment have been installed during the last year in the already well-equipped plant at 875 Wing street. Three new American air-pressure presses for laundry, operated by automatic push-button control, were installed in July, and Mr. Corey announces that he plans to install new garment presses for dry cleaning the first of the year. One new truck has been added which will be used exclusively for picking up dry cleaning work.

The cleaning establishment is capable of handling a production of 2,000 pounds of laundry daily and modern cleaning and laundering machinery is in daily use on the 14,000 square feet of floor space occupied by the business.

In 1928, Mr. Corey came to Plymouth from Ann Arbor, purchasing a building and establishing the laundry with only three employees while at the present time his force includes more than 20 workers.

"White Magic" for Business:

HOW TO MAKE DOLLARS WITH LIGHT!

IN YOUR STORE: Selling merchandise with LIGHT is like pulling dollars out of a hat... it doesn't seem possible. But many alert, progressive business men are using this powerful selling tool every day to ring up extra cash sales and boost profits. These two facts have been definitely proved: (1) Good lighting in show windows will often DOUBLE their stopping power and attract more customers. (2) Clever "spot-lighting" and featured displays inside the store will frequently TRIPLE sales on specific items.

IN YOUR FACTORY: Increases in production of 10% to 35% have been achieved through improved lighting in industrial plants. Good lighting cuts down spoilage, makes accurate inspection possible, and is an important factor in promoting safety. Figure its cost—approximately three-tenths of one per cent of production cost—against a possible 10% or more INCREASE in production, plus 5% or more savings from fewer accidents and fewer errors and rejects... and there is only one conclusion: Good lighting pays dividends.

We will be glad to send one of our Lighting Staff to study your lighting problems and offer recommendations without charge. Phone your Detroit Edison office. The Detroit Edison Company.

OLD BILL says "Here's what I think—" "If I were a business man, I'd certainly remember the staggering debt of 60 billions spent in the past seven and a half years, the mounting burden of taxes, and the un-American inciting of class against class. Let's give business a chance!" "If I were a farmer, I'd think twice about today's low farm prices, our threatening national bankruptcy, and I'd support this next-door Hoosier just because it makes good horse sense. Here's a man who owns his own farms. You can't go wrong with Willkie." "If I were a mother, I'd surely want to know how far the Brain Trust has involved us down a costly and bloody road to war. Who and where are those 2,000,000 American boys going to fight, anyway—in France again, or Japan?" "If I were a laboring man, I'd want a steady job with good pay and reasonable hours. I can trust a man like Willkie, who rose humbly as a worker himself to responsibility as an employer of thousands of folks. He served even as legal counsel for labor unions, wants to preserve and extend our social security laws, and otherwise give the worker a real deal. I'd believe in a man who proved during the depression that it could be done—lowering consumer costs and putting more men to work, both at the same time! After all, you've got to have a job first before you can bargain with anyone." Political advertisement contributed by friends of Wendell L. Willkie

Elizabeth Spicer and Louis J. Norman Wed Saturday Evening The fireplace and mantle of her home, beautifully decorated with greens and a low arrangement of white chrysanthemums and peach colored gladioli between candleabra holding tall ivory candles, formed the setting for the ceremony Saturday evening when Elizabeth Spicer became the bride of Louis J. Norman.

Miss Spicer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Spicer and Mr. Norman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesses Norman, both of East Ann Arbor Trail.

The Rev. George T. Nevin, of Denton, read the service at 7:30 o'clock. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and for the occasion she chose a floor length gown of ivory satin with a V-shaped neckline set in a lace yoke. The sleeves were long and light fitted and there was a row of satin covered buttons to the waist line in the back. Her only ornament was a brooch of seed pearls. Miss Spicer wore a pointed crown formed of narrow bands of the ivory satin and several strands of seed pearls and from it fell the folds of her veil. Her shower bouquet was of gardenias, filled in with bows of ribbon.

Mrs. Jesse Tritton, the bride's sister, was her only attendant and she wore a floor length gown of delicate blue-grey crepe with long sleeves, sweetheart neckline, and the bodice embroidered in tiny gold nail heads and brilliants. Her arm bouquet was small yellow mums and tallisman roses tied with a large bow of gold colored ribbon.

William Norman served as his brother's best man. The bride's mother wore a gown of soldier blue crepe and her corsage was of pink roses, while the bridegroom's mother wore black crepe with shoulder bouquet of pink roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple received the members of their families and a few intimate friends. A number of friends came in later for the reception which followed.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Norman left by motor for a trip into the northern peninsula of Michigan, Wisconsin, and Illinois, the bride wearing for travel a soldier blue tailored suit and hat, and blouse of rose and blue. Her corsage was of gardenias and was arranged for that purpose as part of her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return the happy couple will begin housekeeping in their new home which is ready for them at 510 East Ann Arbor Trail.

Out-of-town guests were present from Springfield, Ohio; Kalamazoo, Hillsdale, Port Huron, Detroit, Highland Park, Carleton, Ann Arbor, Redford, Pontiac, Ypsilanti, Sheldon and Dearborn.

Mrs. Lester Taylor viewed "Land Below the Wind" by Agnes Newton Keith, and the speaker, Mrs. Carl Roden, parliamentarian of the Northwestern Mother's club and president of the Detroit Council for Industrial Peace, gave a most interesting talk about her work with the organization and the advantages of being affiliated with the Federation of Women's clubs.

Woman's Club Plans Bridge Party Nov. 1

The members of the Woman's Club of Plymouth will meet this Friday at 2:15 o'clock in the Crystal room of the Mayflower hotel.

The program committee for the day, with Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple as chairman, includes Mrs. S. S. Closson, Mrs. Albert Curry, Mrs. C. H. Elliott, Mrs. Lewis Evans, Mrs. R. J. Lorenz, Mrs. D. N. ### Hunters Warned as Season Opens

Safety and respect for private property were the two warnings issued to hunters this week as the small game season opened.

"Every person who assumes to handle a gun in the vicinity of other persons or of animals is chargeable with the knowledge of at least the elementary precautions to be observed. The rule formulated by sportsmen and rooted in common sense is that the gun must first be put through the fence and laid on the ground before any climbing is done," said Dr. B. Champe, president of the Western Wayne County Conservation association.

Dr. Champe also explained that the Williamson plan for hunting as adopted by the local conservation group is intended to eliminate abuses such as owners of farm property reported last year. According to the Williamson plan, the hunter must secure permission to hunt on a farmer's property and must in turn leave the farmer reserves the right to inspect game bags and to report the name or license number of any hunter who has violated game laws or damaged his property in any way. Property on which hunting is permitted under the Williamson plan has been posted.

Willkie Signs Cover Southland

"Maybe signs do not mean anything, but if one is to judge how the election might go in the South by the signs one sees along the highways, it will be nothing but Willkie down there," stated William Roe yesterday after his return from an automobile trip through numerous southern states. The trip to the South was made by Mr. and Mrs. Roe and their son Elton and wife.

"We went to the southern tip of Florida, and there wasn't a city or village anywhere along the way that was not covered by Willkie signs. It seemed rather strange to come back up here in Michigan and see practically no advertising for him, when the so-called solid Democratic South is plastered with it. Folks down here say that there is a lot of Willkie sentiment," said Mr. Roe.

The trip was a most pleasant one, the weather in Florida was not exceedingly hot. In fact, stated Mr. Roe, it was always cool in the shade down along the coast.

Mrs. J. J. Stremich entertained her bridge club, Wednesday evening, in her home on Liberty street.

Abraham Lincoln's little grocery store in New Salem carried less than 100 items, but it set the standard for integrity and fair dealing. Comparison of his small store, above, with the modern grocery below shows the tremendous progress that has been made since Lincoln's day. This improvement will be marked by more than 200,000 independent grocers throughout the country October 21 to 26 when they celebrate the fifth Annual National Grocers' week. Herbert H. Sack, president of the National Association of Retail Grocers, is shown at the right.

Van Paassen to Discuss Crisis

Pierre Van Paassen, foreign correspondent and author of the best seller, "Days of Our Years," will be the Detroit Town Hall speaker in the Fisher theatre next Wednesday, October 23, at 11 a.m. His subject will be "The Crisis in Western Civilization."

What Van Paassen wrote about Hitler back in 1928, and what was then regarded as unimportant and "fantastic sensationalism" has turned out to be more than true. He was one of the first foreign correspondents to interview Mussolini and Hitler and to see in their rise an ominous threat to the future freedom and welfare of mankind. Freed at last from the shackles of foreign censorship, Van Paassen brings to his lecture audience the whole truth of what he has observed in roaming the news fronts of Europe, Africa and Asia.

Born in Holland of strict Calvinist parents, he spent his youth in Canada and soon after the outbreak of the World War, left a theological school to join the Canadian Army in France. He was wounded in action and was decorated several times for his bravery. His reportorial experience began on the Toronto Star after the Armistice and led him back to France, to Morocco, Spain, Italy, Syria, Palestine, Russia, the Balkans and Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McCormick have moved from Dewey street in Maplecrest to Ridge road.

Little Accessories Add Personal Touch to Home

It's the little things that make a home, and Draper's jewelry store abounds in attractive specialties to lend the personal touch to homemaking.

Comfortable evenings around the fireplace are in the offing for the approaching autumn season, and Draper's have just the thing to complete the picture. They are wicker hot bowls trimmed with natural tree bark around the outside and a set of nut picks and cruetts in a center holder.

The old-fashioned cookie jar is probably the traditional feature of the kitchen and this store features some new modern ones in gay colors with handpainted figures.

Candle dish holders with paraffin oranges and redwood cones containing incense make an attractive ornament for a table or mantle. These incense candles which give off the aromas of orange and redwood burn for 66 hours on the inside only leaving the outside form intact.

There are a host of other attractive items including glass relish dishes in chrome holders and matching chrome sandwich trays for Sunday night snacks or buffet luncheons, and miniature animals and bric-a-brac items for corner shelves and window seats.

Business Women Meet With Ypsilanti Chapter

"Miss America" and Court to Open High School Style Show Wednesday

As the high school orchestra plays "God Bless America," "Miss Americana," portrayed by Miss Ruth Granger, and her court of four attendants will march down a white staircase and onto the runway of the high school auditorium to open the style show being staged by the home economics department of the school Wednesday, October 23.

Two complete shows with 23 presentations will be presented under the direction of John Blyton of the Taylor and Blyton department store at 2:30 and at 8 o'clock. The 66 models will include high school girls, three-year-old tots, and several members of the Plymouth Woman's club. Groups of three models will parade and pivot to exhibit the style offerings on the all-white stage and runway platform all to musical accompaniment.

"Miss Americana" will wear a sequin crown, and a gown of ivory satin draped from the shoulders. The Stars and Stripes will be draped across the front of "Miss Americana" and the full sleeves of her gown will be gathered at the wrist.

Following an introduction by Miss Lesteen Sides, the page girl, Miss Phyllis Hawkins, will appear dressed in a black velvet costume and black tights to announce each number on the program.

The parade of fashions will open with two presentations, "Junior Clique" and "Glamour Girls," which promises to surprise the audience. Miss Three-Year-Old will find a selection of stylish and appropriate winter play-clothes in "Fun in the Snow."

The second half of the show will open with things "Pretty and Private" and "Intimate Apparel" which will feature slips, lounging pajamas, and gowns. The program includes pinaforecast showing of new, popular pinafore styles for all ages.

Following a military pat dance by Miss Doris Cole, the show moves on to present blouse and skirt styles that are truly "Designed for Living." Styles for dress-up occasions when a girl wants to make an impression on HIM will be modeled in "It's a Date."

"You Don't Know the Half of It" will be devoted to those short of stature who find adjustments necessary in regular dress sizes and therefore need half-sizes.

The last three numbers on the style show program will include fall casuals for sportswear and an afternoon at the football game, smart afternoon styles for club afternoons, and styles for the teen-age girl.

MECHANIZED PREPAREDNESS

Mechanized and motorized forces are essential to telephone preparedness. In Michigan there are 1,275 telephone trucks and cars—most of them equipped with tools, power units and material. Their day-by-day work may not seem dramatic. But in time of emergency . . . flood, tornado, sleet storm . . . these mechanized forces can be mobilized like an army. For instance, following the 1938 hurricane in New England, Michigan's trucks and trained crews worked side by side in the storm area with others from as far west as Nebraska. Mechanized preparedness is but one of many reasons why this Company is ready to do its part in the program of national defense.

"Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 20. The Golden Text (Ephesians 5: 2) is: "Walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweet smelling savour." Among the Bible citations is this passage (II Corinthians 6: 1): "We, then, as workers together with him, beseech you also that ye receive not the grace of God in vain." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 25): "Though demonstrating his control over sin and disease, the great Teacher by no means relieved others from giving the requisite proofs of their own piety. We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us."

Game Men Find "Deer Driving" No Simple Task

Nine Deer Best Nineteen Drivers in 40-Acre Tract

Difficulties encountered in "driving" deer—a method often suggested to remove the animals from areas where they are causing crop damage—were vividly illustrated recently when 19 men set about removing nine deer from a field near Fairview in Oscoda county.

Fencing of a farmer's 40-acre field on part of which alfalfa is being grown had been three-fourths completed and game men of the conservation department enlisted aid of conservation officers and farmers to chase deer out of the field before the tract of land was completely enclosed.

The deer-proof fence also encloses a timber tract and the opening was on the side of the field which had been cleared. After several hours of effort, the 19 men had succeeded in driving two deer through the opening. A third animal was so exhausted that men were able to catch it and carry it from the field. All efforts to drive the remaining six deer from the field met with failure. One deer leaped over a man as it broke for the timber.

The 19 "drivers," breathing heavily, abandoned the effort for that day, more convinced than ever that a deer is a contrary creature. Also, they place little stock in the charge leveled by some hunters each fall that deer have been driven into refuges just before the season opens. The job, they say, just couldn't be done.

It is the temper of the highest hearts to strive most upwards when they are most burdened.—Sir Philip Sidney.

Wood Duck and Ross' Geese Are Rarest of Migratory Fowl

Wood duck and Ross' geese, it may be said, are the aristocrats among migratory waterfowl. The claim made for them can be supported on two counts: they are rare, and they are two migratory game birds that are specifically accorded federal protection.

It is unlikely that many Michigan hunters will see a wood duck during the approaching open season on waterfowl which, this year, extends over a 60-day period from October 1 to November 29, inclusive. And even more unlikely is the chance that a straying Ross' goose will sock the Michigan нырагs on his way south.

There is no mistaking a wood duck if he comes in close. He is the brightest colored, most beautiful duck in America, perhaps in the world. His crest is green, shading into a winy-purple. He wears an iridescent Joseph's coat. His throat is white and it is often visible when all the rest of the bright coloration is lost in the distance or confused by the sun's glare. When on the wing, the white underbody is sometimes quite distinctive, as this species seems to show more white than any other white-bellied duck.

The female is drab, compared with her resplendent mate. She may be recognized by the distinct ring of white around the eye.

The wood duck once faced extinction. It has been given federal and state protection for many years. It nests in hollow trees and stumps in the vicinity of quiet water, is distributed across the continent and its range extends barely into Canada.

Rare as the wood duck, the Ross' goose is an even less common traveler over Michigan's flyways. The Ross' goose is a long way from his accustomed haunts when he gets this far east. In spring he wings his way northward over the large lakes of Canada's Mackenzie district and vanishes. His nesting places are unknown. The principal southern migration of Ross' geese is across the prairies of western Canada and over the mountains of central Montana to California.

A Ross' goose can be confused only with the snow goose and such confusion is hardly excusable for Ross' geese are much smaller than snow geese; in fact, hardly larger than big mallards. They are white, with black wing tips.

Conservationists Study Changes in Fish Laws

Commission to Act on Recommendations at Lansing Oct. 10-11

The conservation commission at its next regular meeting in Lansing October 10 and 11 is expected to act on recommendations of the department's fish division concerning changes effective next January 1 in specially designated trout and pike lakes.

Such suggested changes are prompted by recommendations of the department's field personnel. Early action by the commission permits inclusion of changes in the 1941 fish law digest which is distributed with licenses that will go on sale about December 1.

Director P. J. Hoffmaster, as authorized by law, may act on fish division recommendations in designating waters that will be open for the taking of minnows for commercial purposes, the use of spears on trout streams, use of artificial light when spearing trout streams open to hook and line fishing throughout the year, lakes open to use of set-over nets for taking of suckers, and trout streams open to use of dipnets.

The fish division has on file a number of requests asking the closing of certain lakes to winter spearing or to all winter fishing and will submit its recommendations to the commission also.

The Army Carries On

(By Ruth Millett)
NEA Service Staff Writer

Today there flies over war-racked England, just as it has flown at thousands of other scenes of need and suffering, an international flag. It's the banner of The Salvation Army, whose work in the World War every doughboy remembers. And once again The Salvation Army is proving its right to its name.

World War II finds the Army again serving soldiers and homeless civilians—as it did in the last war—with the effectiveness and efficiency that only a well-trained, well-organized and far-flung organization can manage.

At the outbreak of hostilities The Salvation Army—or the "Army of the Helping Hand," as it is also called and as the grateful people of Finland know it to be—was ready to play its part.

With the exception of Poland, the Army was long-established in the countries affected by the war. It was organized; it was ready; it was mobilized for instant action.

Right now, of course, its big job is in England.

But even before war came to England, it was helping thousands who were fleeing to places of safety. At railroad stations and bus terminals fear-driven people were helped with their baggage; places were found for old people and children; hot milk and coffee were served to the refugees.

When the war came, the Army moved into the evacuation camps. All of the Army's halls and buildings were thrown open to evacuees, where they obtained food, shelter, clothing, medical attention.

Tons of clothing and shipments of food were sent from neighboring Sweden—collected by the Army there. And help came from the Army in America.

While those Army members were operating in Finland another group, under Colonel William Booth Davey, had gone from England to France to serve the British Expeditionary Force.

The French Salvation Army—because most of its men were mobilized in the fighting forces—was made up mostly of women and old men, and friends of Salvation Army people who offered their services. From 50,000 to 60,000 men visited the canteens, managed by women and old men, each week.

In addition to serving the men in the army, The Salvation Army turned to assisting the thousands of refugees who fled from Belgium and northern France. Hundreds were bathed, bandaged, and provided with beds. Salvation Army officers met refugee trains at the Paris stations and gave every possible assistance to the stricken and homeless refugees. From 4,000 to 7,000 of these refugees were fed each day.

Now, in England, just as was done in France, centers have been established in available buildings, huts erected where no buildings are available, and mobile canteens sent wherever needed.

SMEARING PATRIOTIC CITIZENS.

High up Washington politicians, because of petty political protests, held up approval of the nominations made by Governor Dickinson for district draft boards throughout the state. The writer does not know all of those who have been selected by the Governor throughout Michigan, but we do happen to know every one of the members selected for this locality.

If the Governor has used the same excellent judgment in the selection of honest, competent, fair, sincere, patriotic citizens in other parts of the state as he did in this part of Wayne county, then the barrage of insinuating insults and charges sent to the Chief Executive by Senator Prentiss M. Brown is one of the most contemptible things that has ever happened in Michigan politics. Every act and every decision of the New Dealers are based upon politics. It is to be presumed, therefore, that appointees were "suspected" of being undesirable citizens because they were named by a Republican governor.

The three men appointed for service on the Western Wayne County draft board are Walter Harms of Plymouth, Charles Murphy of Northville and George Bentley of Livonia.

The Plymouth Mail does not know the politics of Walter Harms of Plymouth, who is chairman of the local draft board. Maybe he is a Republican and maybe he is a Democrat, as far as any one knows. Before he enlisted for the World War he was a resident of Missouri and most Missourians have been and are Democrats.

After the war Mr. Harms entered the insurance business and following a short residence in Kansas City and Detroit, he came to Plymouth. During the years he has been in this city he has taken absolutely no active part in the politics of any party. In fact, he was once invited by the writer to serve on a political committee and refused to do so.

But Mr. Harms has been and is a very patriotic and devoted American citizen. He is active in American Legion affairs. For a number of years he had charge of the Rotary club's Boy Scout activities. He has served on various committees that have been formed for civic betterment and improvement, especially committees that have to do with youth activities.

When the announcement was made of his selection, every one about here regarded it as an ideal appointment.

Charles Murphy of Northville is another member of the local board. Mr. Murphy has always been regarded as a Democrat by those who intimately know him, although from his activities, no one would have any reason to know what his politics are. Whether he has left the Democratic party to become a New Dealer, no one knows, but he is a citizen of patriotic ideals and his chief public interests have been in patriotic and national defense matters. He is a former Commander of the Northville American Legion post and he is one of Northville's outstanding citizens, interested in every activity that is for community benefit.

George Bentley of Livonia is the third member of the board. Mr. Bentley was for years a school teacher in the city of Detroit. Some years ago he moved to Livonia township and opened up a general store, which he still conducts. His chief interests have been in the school affairs of the district in which he lives. He is an active and a most capable member of the school board of the district. No one has ever heard of Mr. Bentley taking any active part in politics of any party.

Thomas Carrington of Northville is an alternate appointee for the board. Mr. Carrington is a Republican. He was for years employed by the Internal Revenue department as an auditor. He resigned this position a number of years ago when appointed postmaster of Northville. Since his retirement from the postal service he has been engaged in audit and insurance work. Mr. Carrington is a respected and good citizen of the community in which he lives. In recent years he has taken little active part in political affairs.

But suppose he has? Has a situation developed in our country where it has become high crime for any one to be a member of some other political party than the one represented by Senator Brown? Are all good, true, loyal citizens to be barred from any form of public service simply because they are not boot-lickers of those now in high political positions? Judging from the news from Washington, it looks very much that way—and God help America if such a condition is to long endure. We will not have to wait for the coming of Hitler. He is already here.

ARMISTICE DAY NOT A LEGAL HOLIDAY

Since the bill to make Armistice Day a legal holiday, introduced in the 1939 legislature, failed to pass, Armistice Day is not a legal holiday for Michigan public schools.

It is, however, entirely within the discretion of the board of each school district to determine whether or not children may be excused from school to attend or participate in commemorative exercises on Armistice Day.

It seems appropriate that as part of the school observance of Armistice Day, the attention of the community should be directed to the increased emphasis now being placed on the citizenship program in the public schools of Michigan.

PUBLIC DISHONESTY.

Westbrook Pegler, one of the country's best known newspaper columnists and an ardent New Dealer up until recent months, a few days ago gave the reasons why he had deserted the Roosevelt forces. Pegler in his column briefly reviews his past interests in President Roosevelt, but in a tremendously effective few paragraphs sums up his reasons for deserting the President's party. In part, he says:

"I never heard President Roosevelt say a kind word for business—by which I mean private business—and have come to the conclusion that, if he ever did mean to try to achieve recovery through re-employment in private industry, he has abandoned the idea.

"I don't think he was totally against business in the beginning, but think he finally came to the conclusion that the state must become the great boss of us all.

"Give the government total control of business, discredit business men as a class, keep money out of private investment so that the government's bonds become the only investment, make business come to the government for orders and loans, and you have a system not much different from Adolf Hitler's.

"I want to see private business revive, because experience certainly shows that wherever the employers are only straw bosses working for the government, nobody has any liberties.

"Our labor leaders are very short-sighted, because they ought to realize that in such a situation their unions, like the German unions, would become government auxiliaries and soon lose their entity altogether.

"I certainly don't claim to know whether Mr. Willkie could revive private business and employment, but I am convinced that President Roosevelt either doesn't want to or thinks it is impossible and not worth the effort.

"Then, too, I have reached a belief that, after holding so much power so long, the New Deal crowd has lost its moral bearings and has become as cynical and downright dishonest on matters of graft, and patronage which often amounts to graft, that they are no better than the crooks whom they harassed with such pious fury 'way back in the early days.

"They seem not to know that wrong is wrong now."

HYER WAS FOR IT.

According to the newspapers Edward A. Hyer, once employed by the state as a personnel director, is heading up a committee to help defeat the civil service question at the forthcoming election.

During the inquiry into the reason for the breakdown of civil service under the Murphy administration, Hyer was one of the many witnesses before the legislative committee of inquiry.

He was asked this direct question: "From your observation and knowledge of civil service, if it could be entirely free from politics, as civil service was intended, would it be a good thing for the state of Michigan?"

Hyer's answer follows: "BEYOND ANY QUESTION."

It would be interesting to know how Mr. Hyer now justifies his position as opposed to civil service for state employees.

CAPTAIN, THEN MAYBE PRESIDENT!

Wendell Willkie has been making "home run" hits during the last few days by his assaults upon President Roosevelt's future plans. Mr. Willkie rightly asks if Mr. Roosevelt wins a third term, does he plan to ask for a fourth and a fifth and maybe a sixth term? Does he plan to keep the office for life, and then pass it on down to his son, "Captain" Roosevelt?

As we see it, this issue, so strongly raised by Mr. Willkie during the last few days, is the chief reason why Mr. Roosevelt should be overwhelmingly defeated. Long tenure in office, especially in the case of the President, is a most dangerous thing to American rights and liberties.

Other young men must work, drill and study long months and years before they can become captains in the army. Mr. Roosevelt's son, without any of this necessary training, was made a captain, "just like that." What is to prevent President Roosevelt, if he wins a third and possibly a fourth term, from making "Captain" Roosevelt the next President of these United States?

And what is to prevent Captain-President Roosevelt from making his sons and then their sons Presidents if the people of these United States should now approve the third term for Franklin Roosevelt? Mr. Willkie is doing his nation one of the outstanding services of these most troublesome times by hitting hard at the dangers of the third, fourth and fifth terms. He cannot emphasize too strongly the catastrophe that faces our country and our American system of life if advocates of the Third term should be successful in destroying the one safety-valve of our form of government.

C. H. Doerr of Berlin, Canada, and John C. Doerr of Detroit, called on their brother, H. S. Doerr Monday.

The regular meeting of the M. E. Ladies' Aid society will be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur White Wednesday, October 20 at 2:30 p.m.

There is one thing that Plymouth needs and that is a public rest room and toilet for the use of ladies. There is no place for the use of ladies coming here to trade without infringing upon private property. Plymouth aims to bring every woman within its territory here to trade and it should provide her with every comfort and convenience. A public rest room with modern conveniences could be provided for the ladies without a great expense and it should be. It is to be hoped that the council or merchants will take some action toward this end in the very near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Toncray have moved into their new bungalow in north village.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pettungill and Mrs. Ida Dunn were guests of Detroit friends last Sunday.

Ira Wilson and son, Charles, of Elm, made a business trip to Northville Sunday.

The "ghost" social will be held this Friday evening at Randolph Brown's instead of Albert Sockow's as stated last week.

Mrs. Elizabeth Safford and Miss Ada Safford of Plymouth, Hiram Murray and S. W. Spicer and family visited at A. J. Murray's in Ypsilanti Sunday.

The album quilt will be auctioned off the night of the bazaar with Harry Robinson of Plymouth as auctioneer.

Frank Everett of Willow Creek picked a quart of strawberries at Orson Westfall's Sunday. They were the second crop.

The good condition of the roads and the bright sunshine of last Sunday inspired everyone who had a place to go and a way to go to get out and enjoy the day.

John Baze and Fred Lee of Livonia Center are erecting milk houses. Nearly all the milk producers have put up buildings of this kind during the summer following the requirements of the milk inspectors.

Last Thursday was apple day at the Grange. A fine collection of different varieties of apples was displayed. In response to the roll call each member told something of interest on the subject of apples.

Mrs. George Everett and Mrs. James Gates sang "In The Shade of the Old Apple Tree." It had been discovered by apple growers present that no scale had been found on apples this year. The next meeting will be November 4 when the first and second degrees will be conferred.

A complete surprise took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cool last Friday afternoon when a company of friends and neighbors arrived all bringing parcels. The occasion was supposed to be Mrs. Cool's birthday but it had been the preceding day which caused much merriment as it was a surprise all around.
