Mrs. Claude J. Dykhouse Prefers Old Favorites and Simple Standbys

Mrs. Claude J. Dykhouse with her sons, Larry and Charles

Simple standbys are the favorite recipes of Mrs. Claude J. Dykhouse, Ann street, who presents a variety of easy-to-make dishes which require little time in preparation:

Casserole of Chops and Noodles
2 cups egg noodles
4-6 pork chops, end cut
1/2 teaspoonful salt
1 small onion
1/2 cup tomato ketchup
1 1/4 cups water bread crumbs

"Cook noodles in boiling salted water for about eight minutes; drain. Fry chops until browned and nearly done, and then salt lightly. Mince onion; combine with noodles, ketchup and water. Put chops in greased casserole, cover with noodle mixture and sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate) for 30 to 40 minutes," directs Mrs. Dykhouse.

six, and should be brought to the table, very hot.

24-Hour Salad
3 egg yolks
1/2 cup cream
1 tablespoonful sugar
juice of 1 lemon
2 tablespoonful flour
1 can white cherries
1 can crushed pineapple
1/2 pound pecans
1/2 pound marshmallows, cut
1/2 pint whipping cream

"Cook the egg yolks, cream, flour and sugar until it forms a thick custard. Add lemon juice, mix fruit, nuts, and marshmallows and fold into the custard. Last fold in the whipping cream."

Grapenut Bread
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup Grapenuts
1 teaspoonful soda
1 1/4 cups sour milk
2 cups flour
2 tablespoonful melted fat
1 teaspoonful salt

"Mix the ingredients and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 to 40 minutes."

Chocolate Chip Mousse
1/2 pound chocolate molasses chips
1 tablespoonful gelatin
3 tablespoonful cold water
2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoonful salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoonful vanilla
2 cups heavy cream

"Crush chocolate chips. Soak gelatin in cold water. Heat the milk, salt and sugar and pour over the gelatin. Chill this mixture and then add the flavoring and heavy cream whipped until stiff. Add crushed candy salt. Freeze rapidly. Makes about one and one-half quarts."

IN LINCOLN'S DAY, when people needed hot water, they had to cut wood and build fires, and pump and carry and lift the water, and wait.

Now to get hot water they just turn the faucet. Electricity does the heating and pumping and carrying without the slightest attention.

Today, in city homes and on farms, people are enjoying the convenience of plenty of hot water always on tap. The automatic electric water heater is now your newest obedient servant. Put it to work now, in your home or on your farm.

Drop Game, 29-30

The Plymouth Rocks dropped a heart-breaking game to the Ypsilanti Braves last Friday evening, February 14, at home court.

The Rocks took the lead at the opening of the game when Hoffman's field goal was followed by Ypsilanti's second shot.

In the second quarter the Rocks forced a turnover and scored three points. The Braves then threw a long pass to Gorton.

The final score was one of many times in the history of the game. Both teams were awarded two points each for technical fouls.

Home Ec Tea

The girls of Homemaking III entertained the high school teachers at a tea last Wednesday evening. The purpose was for the girls to come in contact with the teachers socially.

Another social event was connected with the tea. The girls were given a very old and interesting lesson in the history of the United States.

The girls of the high school band will enter solo and ensemble musical competition for the first time this Saturday.

The seventh grade and its first lesson in Earth Science was given on January 24.

Honor Roll

Girls in Plymouth high school still receive better marks than boys. Of the 149 students on the semester honor roll 114 were girls and the remaining 35 were boys.

This honor roll breaks the law of averages because usually the upper 10 per cent of a school receives all A's and B's. However in Plymouth with an enrollment of nearly 1,000, about 15 per cent of its students were registered on the honor list.

As usual, there were more A's than B's on the honor roll but the 422 A's were close to the 438 B's. In the seventh grade there were 80 A's and 71 B's in the eighth grade, 104 A's and 34 B's; ninth grade, 31 A's and 139 B's; tenth grade, 81 A's and 50 B's; eleventh grade, 35 A's and 45 B's and in the twelfth grade there were 81 A's and 83 B's.

Rocks Lose

Ypsilanti's Reserves defeated the locals on the home court last Thursday, by the score of 27-24. This was one of those games in which fouls played a prominent part.

In the second quarter Dougan, Donahue and Ebersole brought Plymouth's total to 18 points, while Mayer, Smith and Berger scored seven points.

Seniors Triumph Only three games were needed to determine the champion girls basketball team of the school. The play was in the form of an elimination contest.

Inspirations At a time when the very principles upon which our world is founded seem to be tottering, it may be foolish to gripe about the ASCAP-EMI affair.

Editorial Brevities

An interested group of students and faculty members dismembered the monitor system used in Plymouth halls last semester and deleted and molded and mended it into its present bettered form.

The change this semester in the afternoon schedule has not benefited out-of-town residents who ride buses to and from school.

America still has preserved its distinguishing and individual character. On the one hand its leaders debate on the war and harangue malicious propaganda they know is creeping through America.

Lately the newspapers have ceased their page one, block headline, hair raiser on "Nazis Attack England" and "R.A.F. Retaliates Roughly."

Plymouth's first and second team are not the only basketball teams that Plymouth high school can produce this year.

Traffic School to Give Exams

Examinations for driver's licenses may soon be given at the traffic training center at the Detroit House of Correction if plans now in progress meet with approval of the office of the secretary of state. Classes are so complete that students passing the present examinations are fully qualified to drive. Officers Smith and Wisner of the license bureau visited the school Monday evening and both expressed satisfaction with the method of instruction and the results of examinations given to date.

Officers Taylor and Lizard of the Safety Division conducted the classes this week. Prizes were awarded the students presenting the best essays and posters on safety.

Sixteen members of the federal grand jury of Detroit visited the traffic school Sunday where they heard a safety talk and were given a short period of the regular class work.

ATTACK ON AMERICA

By General ARED WHITE

"Kelly field in flames."

INSTALLMENT FIVE
 THE STORY SO FAR: Colonel Flagwill, acting chief of G-2, U. S. military intelligence department, estimated there were 200,000 European troops in Mexico preparing for an attack on the United States. Posing as Bromlitz, an American traitor captured in Paris, intelligence officer Benning went to Mexico City where he was unsuspectingly accepted as an officer by Van Hassek, leader of the foreign armed forces in Mexico. Flacke, another enemy officer,

"I read a news flash on the President's ultimatum in the San Antonio papers last night before I took off for Washington, sir," Benning said. "If my opinion is worth anything, Colonel, Ruiz will merely stall around in a play for time. He's controlled wholly by Van Hassek."

"We're getting ready to mobilize the army and National Guard, Benning," Flagwill rubbed a tormented hand across his brow. "Gad, what a headache if it finally comes to that!"

"We'll be lucky if we get anything mobilized before Van Hassek hits us," Benning predicted. "I mean if we wait much longer."
 "Wait? Wait? What else can we do but wait? The people just simply refuse to believe we're vulnerable, Benning. Late yesterday a prominent senator dressed down the President for sending an ultimatum to Ruiz. Said the present troubled time is not one to rock the boat—intimated the President was playing politics. The press gave that statesman almost as much space as it gave the ultimatum. But now you get busy and type out your report in detail, Benning. General Hague has called a General Staff conference for eight o'clock. Hague has been at his desk constantly since your report came in yesterday—no one around here has had any sleep. I'll be back as soon as possible."

Benning dictated to a confidential clerk his report covering his movements and observations from the day of his arrival in Paris.

This done, he reproduced from memory the Van Hassek operations map with its numerous sinister red arrows indicating points of possible invasion of the United States by a major land force supported by warships and aircraft.

Colonel Flagwill came in from staff conference, his face gravely tense.
 "What's fretting the President is his next move. G-2 has canvassed public opinion throughout our nine corps areas and finds the public isn't very much excited over the Mexican situation. The President's ultimatum stirred up more curiosity than alarm in the country. Too many newspapers treat the matter apathetically, or question the vigor and finality with which the President went after Ruiz."

A stenographer brought in Benning's complete report and Flagwill seized it avidly. His brows met as he came to the scene in Van Hassek's quarters at the Palacio Nacional.

"You say, Benning, you saw a black flag with crossed sabers with your own eyes—and all the officers saluted it?" he asked sharply.

"Yes, sir."

"You didn't tell me that in your verbal account. Man, that's vital information! That same flag has been showing up in Europe among the armies of the Coalition Powers. It's also been reported in Tokio and China. Reports have leaked out that the militarists are rallying behind that flag, hell-bent on taking matters in their own hands if necessary. Of course, that's a subterfuge for Coalition governments to maneuver behind while they keep up a pretense of peace negotiations. But the presence of that flag in Van Hassek's headquarters is highly significant. I'll take your report at once to General Hague."

Benning spent morning and afternoon checking over the G-2 reports on complications and developments the world over. Notes of ambassadors, consuls, army and navy attaches in foreign capitals, and summaries of press clippings all reflected the unrest and tension that gripped the world.

Europe continued a maelstrom of rumor. Germany, Italy, Spain, and their allied Balkan states were shut off by rigid censorship. On the plea of internal necessity they had closed their frontiers to foreigners, denied aliens all use of mails and wire communications. Similar action had been taken by Japan. Unverified reports came from China of heavy all lights cut off. Notify the flying fields of our information. Notify Eagle Pass and Fort Bliss."

He paused to receive another report from Bart.
 "Sir, Third Army Headquarters just called in from Atlanta. They've a report from Charleston of bombers flying high over that city at ten-seventeen o'clock, heading north by east."

Outside there was orderly commotion. Troops were pouring out of barracks and bivouac camps already, the first drivers were moving their trucks out of the fort.

Another report from Colonel Denn. The colonel's voice now crackled with intensity. One of his intelligence scouts, disguised as a Mexican peon, had the word from friendly Mexicans that a heavy motor column was moving north from the vicinity of Palo Blanco. Another column was reported moving by night through Tamaulipas toward Brownsville and a third was said to have passed Mesquite, in Coahuila, headed in the direction of Eagle Pass.

An hour later the Second Division's trucks, filled with men, were whirling out of the fort; rubber-tired artillery was shifting its light and medium cannon out of the zone of possible danger.

An aide, whom General Brill had sent out into the garrison to observe, burst into headquarters, breathless, his face stripped of color.

"Sir, airplanes!" he panted. "Flying high—but you can hear them coming!"

General Brill left his staff at their allotted jobs and went outside with his aide. The garrison was dark, headquarters worked behind drawn shades.

The roar of motors filled the air as trucks and artillery continued to roll out of the garrison. But above that he caught the sharp whine of higher-powered engines far overhead.

The 69th Anti-Aircraft Artillery had got its guns in position, but was withholding its searchlights pending development. Suddenly a small plane zoomed down over the garrison and dropped a flare that turned night into day.

Brill stood calmly observing. He knew that flare was the first violence of an invasion of the United States. He knew that in a few minutes the bombers would circle over their target of Fort Sam Houston and let drive. He knew, too, that there was nothing he could do to prevent what was to follow.

A hissing shriek caught his ears. Involuntarily he raised himself on his toes and placed his finger-tips at his ears. A savage flash of yellow flame leaped from the earth into the heavens. The ground under him shook with volcanic intensity from the savage wrath of a heavy bomb.

Long fingers of light leaped into the sky from the 69th's searchlights. A heavy demolition bomb detonated in the field from which the trucks were whirring. Brill caught, in the momentary flash of light, the grim tragedy of shattered men and material. Above the din he heard the cries of wounded men. Another bomb crashed and another. His anti-aircraft regiment began crackling, but his handful of guns were almost lost in the din of titanic thunder that crashed from the sky.

Incendiary bombs rained down, bringing an irresistible heat that ate its way into all combustible parts of barracks. General Brill turned back into his headquarters, sat down at his desk stricken by his utter helplessness, but maintaining his self-control.

His staff, their bloodless faces drawn and lined, worked coolly, outwardly oblivious to the danger. Information kept coming in, reports that had to be appraised until the whole picture of attack and disaster had been assembled and appraised as the basis for whatever later action was to be taken.

The wooden hangars at Kelly Field were in flames. Randolph Field was being hammered. San Antonio was in a mad panic which had got out of all police control. People were flooding the streets, rushing about in a mad frenzy in their efforts to escape the city. Roads were choked with passenger vehicles.

But the Van Hassek bombers were confining their major fury to Fort Sam Houston and the flying fields, which told General Brill that the attack presaged a crossing of the Rio Grande by mobile troops during the night or at daybreak.

From New Orleans and Galveston came reports of raids that were still in progress. Hundreds were killed in the streets. No other details.

Shortly after midnight the violence suddenly ceased, the bombers and their accompanying attack ships sailed off to the south. Colonel Denn called in again from Laredo. The head of a motorized column had halted at Nuevo Laredo just south of the Rio Grande. His intelligence patrols had verified this with their own eyes.

"All right, gentlemen," Brill told his staff. "Get the Second Division together as quickly as possible and start them moving south toward the Nueces River! Tell General Mole of the Second I'll meet him at Kirk in three hours with his orders for the defense of San Antonio. Get General Hague on the long-distance again while I report. We're going to do our best in a desperate situation, and I needn't tell you what we're up against! I'll be ready for your recommendations in an hour, gentlemen."

DOING A GOOD JOB

There is one thing that Uncle Sam always does, he takes good care of the boys who are in our defense ranks.

The other day The Plymouth Mail received from Fort Custer the menu served to the youthful soldiers who have been called for military training...

Breakfast: Oranges, dry cereals, fresh milk, scrambled eggs, fried bacon, hot toast, butter, coffee, sugar.

Dinner: Baked ham, candied sweet potatoes, green beans, mixed vegetable salad, apple pie, bread, butter, coffee, milk.

What better food can one ask than that indicated by the menus provided our young men at Fort Custer?

GEORGE WASHINGTON. (Contributed)

If Franklin be regarded as the great Educator of the American colonists who were to create a new nation...

A man of the wealthy class, he risked his life and his riches sacrificed the comfort and security of his fine mansion...

Always he placed the interests of the country above those of party. As President of the Constitutional Convention he used his powerful influence to reconcile the conflicting differences...

He had been unanimously elected President of the United States for two successive terms. But, when proffered a third, he declined the honor.

Even though the law of the United States enabled the people to change their President every four years, Washington felt that his eight years in office was enough.

A profound author declared: "The giving to others more than to oneself—self-sacrifice: such was the standard and abounding measure which marked so pre-eminently the greatest teachers and masters of humanity."

Our patriotic salute to George Washington!

NATIONAL LEGAL HOLIDAYS.

Frequently The Plymouth Mail has been requested to give information as to the national holidays of our country.

The so-called national holidays are not strictly national in the sense of being effectively established by act of Congress binding on the country as a whole.

However, Congress can legislate effectively regarding holidays for the District of Columbia; it can also regulate governmental activities and prescribe rules for Federal employees at large.

It has thus established holidays effective for purposes within Federal jurisdiction, as follows:

The Fourth of July and Sundays were excepted from a provision of law which required customs inspectors to attend to the delivery of cargo each day.

The President was requested to "recommend a day of thanksgiving, to be observed by the people of the United States," in a resolution of Congress at the close of the War of 1812.

New Year's Day, the Fourth of July, Christmas Day, February 22, and "any day appointed or recommended by the President of the United States as a day of public fast or thanksgiving" were declared to be holidays in the District of Columbia and to be treated as Sunday in the matter of payments on bank checks or other negotiable or commercial paper.

January 1, February 22, July 4, December 25, and any day designated by the President as "a day of public fast or thanksgiving" were declared legal holidays with pay for employees of the Government Printing Office.

May 29, 1880, was declared a day for which Government employees at Washington were entitled to pay (joint resolution of May 31, 1880, 21 Stat. 307, No. 38).

January 1, February 22, July 4, December 25, and "such days as may be designated by the President as days for national thanksgiving" are declared holidays with pay for employees of the navy yard, Government Printing Office, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and other Government per diem employees.

Memorial or Decoration Day and July 4 are declared holidays with pay for Government per diem employees "at Washington or elsewhere in the United States" (joint resolution of February 23, 1887, 24 Stat. 644, No. 6, U.S.C. 5-86).

Inauguration Day was added to the list of holidays for the District of Columbia (act of June 18, 1888, 25 Stat. 185, ch. 394; superseded by the District of Columbia Code of 1901).

Labor Day (or Labor's Holiday), the first Monday in September, is declared a "legal public holiday" on the same basis as Christmas, January 1, February 22, May 30, and July 4.

January 1, February 22, July 4, December 25, Inauguration Day, Memorial Day, Labor's Holiday, and any day designated by the President as "a day of public fast or thanksgiving" are designated as legal holidays with pay for Government Printing Office employees.

Christmas, July 4, February 22, and any day designated by the President "as a holiday or as a day of public fasting or thanks giving" were declared holidays under the Bankruptcy Act.

New Year's Day, Washington's Birthday, July 4, Decoration Day (May 30), Labor's Holiday, Christmas Day, every Saturday (afternoon), any day designated by the President as "a day of public fasting or thanksgiving" and Inauguration Day are declared to be holidays in the District of Columbia.

February 12, 1909, the centennial anniversary of Lincoln's birth, was declared "a special legal holiday in the District of Columbia and the Territories" (joint resolution of February 11, 1909, 35 Stat. 1164, No. 10; proclaimed by the President, February 11, 1909, 35 Stat. 2222).

New Year's Day, July 4, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day are designated as days on which seamen on vessel in a safe harbor must not be required to do unnecessary work.

New Year's Day, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Christmas, and days set apart by the President as "fast or Thanksgiving Days" are declared holidays in the Postal Service.

Any additional holidays set aside by the President to be observed throughout the United States are to be applicable in the Postal Service to the same extent as the executive departments.

November 11, 1921, was designated "a holiday" in connection with the burial of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington (proclamation of the President of November 4, 1921, 42 Stat. 2255, under authority of a joint resolution of the same date, 42 Stat. 211, ch. 117).

December 26, 1936, was declared a "legal holiday in the District of Columbia for all purposes" (joint resolution of June 20, 1936, 49 Stat. 156, ch. 688).

November 11 is declared "a legal public holiday to all intents and purposes" in the same manner as January 1, February 22, May 30, July 4, the first Monday in September, and Christmas Day.

New Year's Day, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day and other days declared holidays by Federal statute or Executive order are recognized as holidays for Government employees who are on a per diem, hourly, or piecework basis.

Note—There appears to be no act of Congress that has ever designated a particular day as Thanksgiving Day. The first Thanksgiving Day designated by a President was Thursday, November 28, 1789 (see 47 Stat. 2540). Other days so designated were February 19, 1795 (11 Stat. 754, No. 5; second Thursday in April 1815 (11 Stat. 764, No. 16); August 6, 1863 (13 Stat. 734 No. 6); first Thursday in December, 1865 (13 Stat. 773, No. 50). Beginning in 1886 (14 Stat. 817, No. 5), the last Thursday in November was regularly designated as Thanksgiving Day until 1939, when November 23 was designated (Proclamation No. 2373, 4 Fed. Reg. Do. L. 443).

President Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday in September 1861 as a day of "public humiliation, prayer, and fasting" (12 Stat. 1261, No. 8), and Thursday, April 30, 1863, as a day of "national humiliation, fasting and prayer" (12 Stat. 1270). The former of these proclamations had been recommended by Congress which asked that the day "be observed by the people of the United States with religious solemnity" (joint resolution of August 5, 1861, 12 Stat. 328, No. 3), but it was not designated as a holiday either by Congress or by the President.

Their Views About Public Problems and Issues

It is little wonder that Americans are confused over what Christians should do to relieve the suffering in Europe when groups of preachers are divided over the issue.

Other groups contend that Europe's hungry should be fed by Americans. Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle of Chicago declared, "To contend that the evil of Hitlerism can only be overcome with the evil of a food blockade is to fly in the face of history."

Let's not worry about the "how" of it, but let's worry about the "whether" of it. Let's not worry about the "how" of it, but let's worry about the "whether" of it.

We believe that Herbert Hoover or some other man who has had wide experience in relief should receive the backing of this government in a move to feed, clothe and nurse the innocent war victims of Europe.

Isn't it worth trying? Can we call ourselves Christians and do less?—Nelson Brown in The Ingham County News.

Plymouth Rock Lodge, F. & A. M. enjoyed a fine banquet last Friday evening following the conferring of the third degree upon three candidates.

The many friends here of Miss June Pelton will be interested in this article taken from the Sunday Tribune.

The last Sunday morning while Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Fisher were attending church, someone took the key from the hiding place on the front porch, and entered their house.

Among the nominations for new Michigan postmasters, in last Sunday morning's Detroit Free Press, there appeared the name of Howard Brown of Plymouth township.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Beyer pleasantly entertained at their home on Mill street 19 guests at a 6 o'clock dinner last Sunday evening.

There seems to be considerable petty thieving going on about here of late. A few nights ago thieves entered H. A. Spicer's barn on his farm just east of town and carried away his best single harness.

The O.E.S. will give a dance and card party this (Friday) evening. Dorothy Dodsley will dance the sailor's hornpipe at 9 o'clock.

A pleasant surprise was given Mrs. William A. Blunk at her home on Williams street last week Thursday by about twenty-five relatives.

The members of the adult Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church will have their monthly meeting and an ovener supper tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland.

Bowling seems to be a popular pastime in some of our neighboring towns. Even the ladies have organized bowling clubs. A bowling alley in Plymouth would undoubtedly pay well.

Mr. and Mrs. John Quartel, Jr., Miss Pierce and Glorin Jewell entertained the young people's five hundred club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Quartel last Tuesday evening.

Frank D. McKay of Grand Rapids and Edward N. Barnard of Detroit, that group of Republican newspaper editors joined together and determined that political bossism must go.

Since that time this group has been quietly active, although it was subjected to a great deal of ridicule by newspaper columnists, who held it up as a sponsoring group for pet candidates.

This group is not preaching to the world about its activities, but that it had ample grounds for its position was proved when the federal bureau of investigation caused indictments to be placed against Mr. McKay on three counts for using the mails to defraud the public.

The indictments for fraudulent use of the mails are a federal action which has no aim of penalizing for defrauding the state, city, or persons affected; but they may lead to positive evidence upon which additional criminal charges may be based.

We are not going to convict either McKay or the others with him, because we do not have the proof of their guilt; we are going to let the courts look after that.

The rejection of Governor Dickinson at the polls last November can partly be ascribed to his playing with McKay, and rejection of Felix Flynn for state treasurer completely to it.

It will be necessary to purge the party of all questionable leadership, that its better-minded adherents are not driven away. It is becoming evident that the federal government will put a crimp in the ideas of a certain group that they will either rule or ruin.—Adrian Van Koeveering in The Zeeland Record.

HARKING BACK TO OTHER DAYS If automobiles hadn't crowded out the sleighs, this would be good sleighing weather.

William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

Gilbert Brown, who has been working on the new Ypsilanti high school building with an Indiana construction company, is at home for a short time.

The C. A. R. and W. R. C. of Newburg will hold their quarterly dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Sackett in Plymouth Tuesday, February 8.

The Cautious Catering company will cater to the community of Newburg in the conservatory of the hall on Saturday evening, February 5, for a certain consideration which is 10 cents.
