GET $125 TO $225 MORE FOR YOUR CAR!

On a New DE SOTO or PLYMOUTH

We mean business . . . and we'll give you the best deal in town to get yours. Drive in and drive the car whose record sales have made this great proposition possible!

It's true! We are ready to give you as much as $225 more than the "book" on your present car in trade on a new 1941 De Soto with or without Fluid Drive—and up to $125 more toward a new Plymouth! This means that if your present car is in average condition, it will probably cover, or more than cover, the down payment on the De Soto or Plymouth of your choice—and you can put one of these beauties in your garage without putting up a penny!

Obviously, however, such an unusual offer (which is made to get volume rather than profit) cannot be maintained indefinitely. We cannot guarantee that it will remain in force for any specified time. So we urge you to take advantage of it immediately. Even if you are only firting with the idea of getting a new car, come in now! Don't pass up this unusual inducement to see and try the MOST POPULAR DE SOTO AND PLYMOUTH EVER BUILT. You may not have another opportunity like this for years!

NEW DE SOTO prices start at only $898! Our huge special allowance for your car may not only cover down payment, but substantially reduce your monthly payments!

NEW PLYMOUTH prices start at only $685! Think how easy to own "The ONE for '41" when you get as much as $125 extra for your present car!

WE OFFER UNUSUAL SERVICE FACILITIES

Our service facilities, operated by the well known firm of George Collins & Son, include, among many other items, such important units as (1) Electric Motor Analyzer for engine tune-up; (2) Wheel Balancer, for correcting caster, camber and balance of all wheels; (3) Valve Seat Grinder, a machine usually found only in the largest metropolitan service departments; (4) Automatic Battery Tester; and (5) High Pressure Lubrication Rack. Much of this equipment is unusual in a town of this size—but THAT is a big reason why we can give you better service quicker and at a lower cost!

Poppy Day Sale Proves Success

The annual Poppy Day sale, sponsored by the American Legion and the Ex-Service Men's club and their auxiliaries, last Saturday was a decided success with the supply of poppies being exhausted early Saturday afternoon. Usually the sale is carried on until late Saturday evening.

A total of $425 was raised for the veterans' air fund through the sale of poppies this year. The American Legion reported the sale of 2,500 poppies with proceeds totaling $200 and the Ex-Service Men's club announced a quota of 2,000 poppies sold for a fund of $225.

Disabled war veterans in government hospitals receive three cents for each poppy and the proceeds of the sale are distributed for community welfare work, for indigent veterans in this locality and for the aid of the billeted and Other Lake for undernourished and underprivileged children of veterans.

A happy group gathered Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White for their annual potluck dinner when five birthdays were celebrated. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Loree, Mr. and Mrs. Roy French, Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Wier, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Williams, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Allison of Plymouth. Croquet and other outdoor games were played during the afternoon.

Local Postoffice Announces Exam

The Plymouth postoffice announces an open competitive civil service examination for a classified laborer to fill the position of janitor at 50 cents an hour. The examination will be for a permanent position with retirement fund benefits, and the position will require five hours' work a day for six days a week. Any persons qualifying for this position may fill vacancies in other related jobs in this territory if not selected as janitor for the Plymouth postoffice.

Requirements will be based upon a physical examination and experience rather than upon a written examination. All applications must be on file with the manager of the seventh U. S. Civil Service district, at the postoffice building in Chicago on or before June 9. Application blanks and full information may be obtained from Mrs. Beatrice M. Schultz, assistant postmaster of the Plymouth postoffice.

Plymouth Sends Message of Cheer and Promise to Plymouth, England

Namesake Town Group Sends Trans-Atlantic Broadcast to Britain

A message from Plymouth, Michigan, was broadcast directly to Plymouth, England last Monday afternoon at 3:30 from the studios of the Columbia Broadcasting system in New York to the British Broadcasting system in England. The trans-Atlantic broadcast was sponsored by the Namesake Towns Committee, Inc., of which Plymouth is a member, and the message was delivered by Cass Hough of the Daisy Manufacturing company.

The text of the message, prepared by Mayor Ruth Huston Whipple, honorary chairman of the local committee, follows:

"Our little city of 5,000 people is located in Wayne County, Michigan, just 22 miles from Detroit's city hall and 25 miles from Windsor, Ontario in Canada. Our city was founded in 1825 and was named after Plymouth, Massachusetts which, of course, was named after Plymouth, England.

Plymouth Sends Message of Cheer and Promise to Plymouth, England

Since that time, the local committee has "adopted" one child and has sponsored benefit projects to raise $300 for the care of another 30 children in Plymouth, England. A benefit party to be given next week will provide funds for a mobile kitchen unit, according to present plans.

Other "namesake towns" throughout the United States are busily engaged in raising funds for aid of many bombed cities in England. Greenwich, Connecticut sent Greenwich, England $1,000 for its air-raid distress fund after a recent air onslaught on the British town which made hundreds temporarily homeless. Dover in Britain's "hell corner" came another $1,000 to help alleviate the distress caused by bomb raiders and long-range Nazi guns situated across the Strait of Dover from the famous chalk cliffs. The Rotary club of Lynn, Massachusetts takes up a weekly collection for the air-raid distress fund of King's Lynn in Norfolk. These and scores of other gifts of cash and material are being sent from more than 2,000 towns and cities in the United States, named for towns in Britain.

Individuals and organizations in Plymouth are urged to join in the efforts of the Namesake Town committee to help relieve human suffering among the civilian population of besieged Plymouth, England.

Then you seek out an open road where you can really try Compound Carburetion†—and press down your right toe!

Instantly there's a rush of power, as if an extra engine had gone to work.

Fact is—one has.

Under your bonnet a special, second carburetor has cut in, opening up a fresh reservoir of power not to be found in any other engine.

Thrilling? You bet. But by actual test and experience, also more thrifty—as much as 10% to 15% more thrifty than previous Buicks of like size.

Only Buick can give you Compound Carburetion—and even that is only one of Buick's many desirabilities.

There's great size—lush comfort—the smartest of style—solid Buick goodness—all at prices that spell an unmistakable bargain. Why not ask your Buick dealer, "How much?"

ATTACK ON AMERICA

THE STORY SO FAR: More than 200,000 foreign troops secretly assembled in Mexico by Van Hasek suddenly invaded the United States. Vastly superior in numbers and equipment to the American forces which opposed them, Van Hasek's troops pushed relentlessly forward. The U. S. army was not prepared for this sudden attack, and could only retreat in the face of overwhelming force. Expeditionary forces set sail from both the Mediterranean and the Far East. The U. S. Pacific fleet began the long trip around Cape Horn to protect the Atlantic seaboard when the Panama Canal was destroyed by dynamite-laden ships. Aided by a heavy fog, troops from the Orient established bridgeheads on the Pacific Coast. Intelligence Officer Benning was assigned the grim task of reporting developments to his superior, Colonel Flagwill, who was stationed in Washington.

Benning took off to the east in late afternoon. He decided on Boise as the point of vantage from which to observe final developments in the occupation of the Pacific coast. There he would find no difficulty in making his daily wire reports to Flagwill.

Enemy divisions had landed at the mouth of the Columbia River on the Oregon coast, taken the antiquated coast forts from the rear with a few platoons of infantry, and were proceeding up the river toward Portland. A submarine base was reported established at Tongue Point at the mouth of the Columbia.

Other invader divisions had landed on the undefended coast north of San Francisco and were marching into the Sacramento Valley. Van Hasek's Guaymas motorized columns had taken Los Angeles and were well north toward San Francisco to effect a junction with their Oriental allies. By tomorrow all coast naval bases would be in the hands of the enemy.

CHAPTER XXI

Each night for a week past, Benning had gone to sleep with a joyous, rhythmic throbbing in his brain, the echo of what to him was a glorious music. It was the music of marching feet and of rolling trains and caissons, music that conjured up visions of a great day yet to come.

What time he could find to himself away from his duties at GHQ of late afternoons, he spent on the roads at the edge of Salt Lake listening to that same refrain as it beat from the heavy field shoes of marching infantry on their way to the westward trains.

A beautiful sight were those bronzed, strong bodies of men who marched with slanted muskets or sat upright in trucks behind their rolling caissons. They showed their long hard months of training, these rugged youngsters; and their faces were gravely radiant with a soldier's high morale as they faced the west at last on the great adventure. Texas and the Pacific states had suffered unspeakable cruelties and hardships under the heavy heels of the invader. What wealth they had was stripped to the bone, what energies they had were harnessed against their own country to aid their armed oppressors.

There had been those months of a reign of terror when cities within range of the Atlantic were shelled. Bombers rained the country's great cities with death, carrying their assaults in the dark of the night far inland to such cities as Chicago and St. Louis, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Indianapolis.

Then had come the Van Hasek demand. President Tannard himself had insisted that Van Hasek be allowed to present to the whole country his terms of peace. Over all the networks, Van Hasek had spoken for the Coalition Powers. Peace could be had at the price of Alaska, Hawaii, the right of unrestricted immigration, renunciation of the Monroe Doctrine, internationalization of the Panama Canal.

Tannard's voice came ringing back now in Benning's memory. An answer to go down in history.

"The United States asks no terms. We mean to destroy the armies that have invaded our shores and then we will hold to an accounting those predatory powers that are responsible for international brigandage. That is our last word to our enemies, until you come before us on your knees in the humility of utter defeat!"

There had been glorious days as well, as the months drifted by. There had been that day of two months ago when the Third Army, reorganized, reinforced, and invincible, crashed down across Texas to drive the invader south of the Rio Grande.

Behind the passes of the Rockies there was formed this great army whose fighting reserves now marched into the west. Long, patient months this had taken, months that had tried the courage and resources of the country.

Benning turned from his reflections to the realities of headquarters. Dusk was falling, the skies were filling with planes, planes that pointed their noses to the west. The vast caravan of men and guns moved on in its endless rhythm as it emptied the huge training camps of the Salt Lake Valley of their half-million men.

At headquarters he checked his personal effects, musette bag, belt and pistol, map-case, field-glasses, raincoat, steel helmet. The buzzer from Flagwill's desk rang at eight o'clock. Flagwill was now a two-star general; with the assignment of chief of staff of the western group of field armies.

"Smells to me like a fresh note," Flagwill said, sniffing at a small linen envelope and handing it to Benning. "But since it came from Paris

Mr. and Mrs. Max Robertson entertained their club of Detroit friends, number nine ten, on Tuesday evening of last week, in their home on the Five Mile road.

pared for this sudden attack, and could only retreat in the face of overwhelming force. Expeditionary forces set sail from both the Mediterranean and the Far East. The U. S. Pacific fleet began the long trip around Cape Horn to protect the Atlantic seaboard when the Panama Canal was destroyed by dynamite-laden ships. Aided by a heavy fog, troops from the Orient established bridgeheads on the Pacific Coast. Intelligence Officer Benning was assigned the grim task of reporting developments to his superior, Colonel Flagwill, who was stationed in Washington.

Now continue with the story.

"Very good," he said. "This is just what I've been waiting for—my army is itching to jump off."

From the distance heavy artillery grumbled at the dawn, its vibrations tossed from mountain to mountain in a dull, ominous monotone of sound.

In front of them the invader held the superiority of strength in the present moment. But Van Hasek's air force no longer commanded the skies and his espionage system east of the Cascades and Rockies had been snuffed out by firing squads.

Benning worked feverishly to acquaint himself with the intimate details of enemy strength, morale, and dispositions. In five days a million men would be ready to attack. Behind that mighty cavalcade of trained fighting men, another half-million were in the final stages of seasoning for battle, and could be pushed forward when the need for them arrived.

The Fourth Army was shaping itself to attack to the south and west. Whatever the cost, it was to push its way past Sacramento and cut the Van Hasek forces in twain. Simultaneously the First, Second, and Fifth Armies would press forward with a vigor that would prevent Van Hasek from centering his reserves against the Fourth. Upon the advantages of the first few weeks of action would depend the final massed attacks that were aimed to sweep the invader into the Pacific.

Dawn of the day of attack came with a roar of artillery that shook the skies down a three-hundred-mile front. Old-timers vowed that not even the Argonne witnessed such volcanic wrath of artillery. Light, medium, and heavy artillery pounded the Van Hasek trenches for an hour and in its wake came the infantry waves pushing relentlessly ahead in the first red welter of the tortuous miles to the sea.

On a day, after crimson weeks, that Benning flew in reconnaissance over Sacramento, the first American waves were at last on the edge of the city. A heavy pall of smoke told that the invader had abandoned the city in flames, indication that he meant to hold farther to the west rather than trust here to counterattacks. That told Benning, too, that the Van Hasek lines to the north and south would be drawn back.

Benning's pulse surged as he viewed from the skies heavy enemy columns marching to the west from Sacramento to take up some new strategic disposition. The spectacle seemed to vitalize Hague's prophecy, bring nearer the day of fulfillment.

Dark months lay ahead; many, many men yet must die, and the country's stamina would be tested to the last fiber of its strength. But for Benning there were no doubts. The dawn would come, that glorious dawn of the day when he had vowed for himself a glorious adventure.

On that day he meant to wing his way to the north again whence had come those fierce shadows in the fog. There he would see their survivors as they melted back into the Pacific before the mighty vengeance of our massed valor.
