Babson Claims Neither More Taxes Nor More Debt Is Needed

(By Roger W. Babson)
 Babson Park, Mass., June 27—This week I am writing on probably the most important subject I have ever covered in my column during its 21 years of continuous publication. After a thorough statistical study of the cost of crime, carefully checked with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other Government authorities, I make this statement. If crime committed in this country could be eliminated and Government peace-time appropriations cut to what they were ten years ago, we could pay for our entire defense program with no increase in taxes and without the issuance of any additional government bonds. Naturally, this terrific annual crime expense of over $15,000,000,000 could not be cut immediately; but enough of it could now be eliminated to go a long way in accomplishing the desired purpose.

Billions Spent For Insurance
 Crime places a tremendous economic burden upon every community in which it strikes. There are both direct and indirect losses incurred from crime committed which must be considered in estimating any cost of crime. The most tangible cost is the private losses in income due to annual premiums paid for insurance against criminal acts. This would include burglary, robbery, forgeries, auto thefts, and all other types of theft insurance. There would also be fidelity insurance which would include premiums paid on fidelity policies insuring banks, commercial firms, and private individuals against embezzlements, forgeries, and other defractions by employees. Riot insurance would also come under this heading.

In the case of losses not covered by insurance, we must consider the direct losses suffered by private citizens from crimes against property which would include arson, malicious mischief, theft and robberies from railroads, express, and similar companies, which carry their own insurance.

Loss In Human Values
 Losses due to crimes against the person, such as homicides and wounding and sex offenses, form a large item in any tabulated cost of crime. In homicides, there is a direct loss to the community of the victim's services as a human asset and to the victim's family there is a loss of income. In wounding and mayhem, there is a resultant economic loss to the victim and cost of hospitalization, together with the loss of earning power to his family and to the community at large.

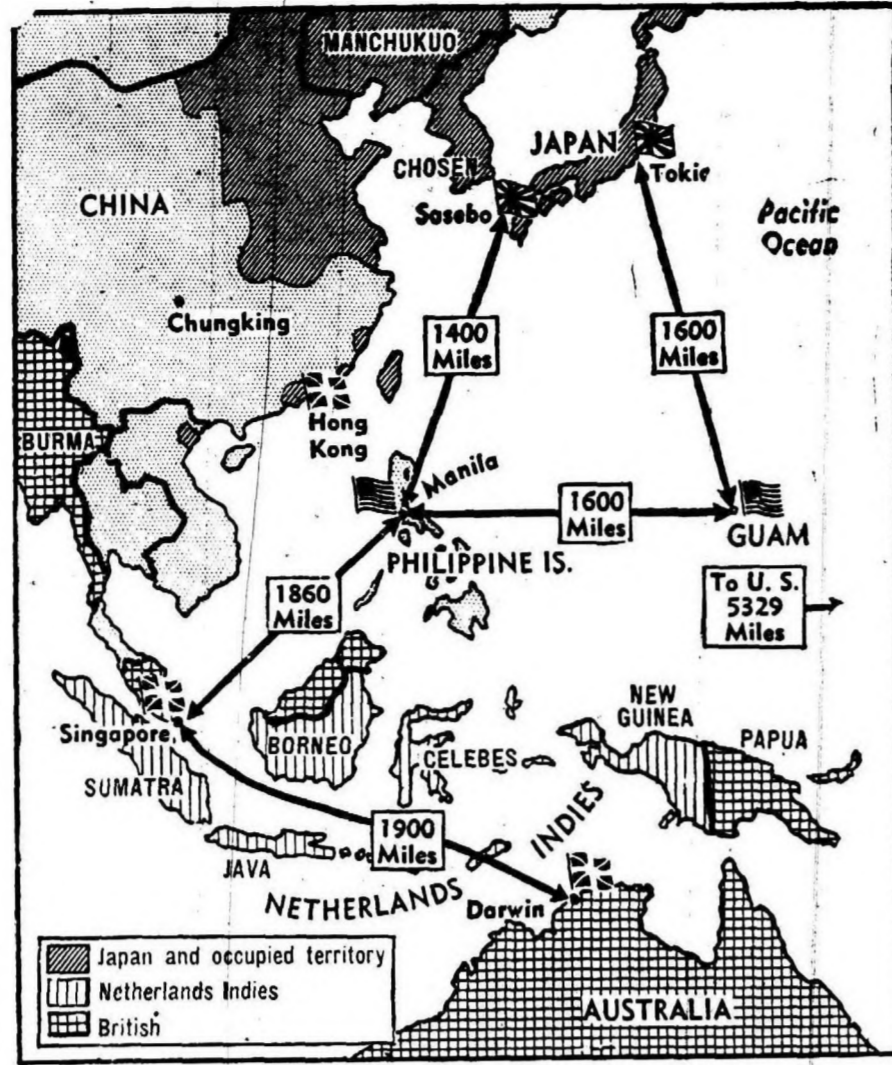

Under sex offenses would come prostitutes. Although it is quite possible to estimate the actual loss that might be incurred, still there is bound to be an economic loss to the family of the prostitute as the earning power of the family is decreased thereby. Commercialized fraud, organized extortion, and racketeering losses due to the use of mails to defraud cover a tremendous amount of the tribute paid by society annually in these phases of criminal activity.

35% of Administration Taxes
 The cost of administration of criminal justice is a large item in the cost of crime. This, of course, would include Federal, State, county, and city courts. The salaries of officials, guards, and other employees of penal institutions, plus the upkeep of the prisons, correctional institutions, reformatories, and asylums must also be taken into consideration and this, of course, would include Federal, State, county, city and private. All of these costs are paid by citizens and amount to about 35 percent of our state taxes.

Private expenditures for protection against crime, such as most commercial companies have found necessary, must be considered in the cost of crime. This would include their own investigators, detectives and guards, armored car service for the transportation of money and valuables to and from banks and commercial houses, also certain auditors, bookkeepers and overhead.

Private citizens suffer heavy losses as victims of gambling or other illegal enterprises, through the bribery of public officials and police officers. These crimes cause alliances to grow up between crooked politicians and organized racketeers and it is the citizen who must pay through taxes for any graft practiced by unethical office-holders and public servants. Another large loss is suffered by honest commercial

Logs of Michigan white pine on their way to the sawmill. Trees of this size are rare today.

The wooded half of Michigan

MIGHTIEST of all Michigan's resources was once its virgin timber. In Southern Michigan the hardwood was cut to clear farms. And to the north, the vast pine woods were turned into lumber for building the nation's cities.

Today, under wise methods of reforestation, the woods are growing up again. About 20,000,000 acres — over half Michigan's land area — are wooded. By scientific cutting, these forests produce more than 400,000,000 board feet of lumber a year, besides firewood, pulpwood for paper, tanbark, veneers and other products.

Legend has it that when the mythical Paul Bunyan was lumbering Michigan, his shout could be heard from Menominee to Saginaw if the wind was right. Modern lumbermen and forest rangers don't have such voices. But by telephone they keep in touch with woods operations, market their products, and control forest fires, far more efficiently than the old-timers ever could.

Rapid Growth of Hilltop Farm Camp Necessitates Building Addition

The growth of the Hilltop farm camp for children on Beck road has necessitated the building of an addition to one of the cottages and other building improvements. The new addition, 20x20 feet, now under construction will accommodate a large dormitory with bay windows and a playroom. A new well is being drilled on the camp site to increase the supply of spring-fed well water.

There are 30 children at the farm camp which is operated by Mrs. Evered Jolliffe. Located two miles from Plymouth directly opposite Hilltop Country club, the camp which includes 120 rolling and wooded acres is one of the highest points in Wayne county.

Hilltop cottage now being enlarged houses the youngest children. Hilltop lodge, located on the edge of Hilltop woods, has a large screened-in porch which constitutes the dining hall. In addition to these two buildings, there is a little house built in the trees, big and sturdy enough for two boys to sleep in. A swimming pool in which youngsters may learn to swim is enclosed with a white picket-fence.

Here many city-bred children see and become acquainted with cows and other animals for the first time in their lives. Hilltop farm has just purchased a new horse which the older boys may ride. For the little children there is a pony and cart. The children are particularly fond of the rabbits and they delight in feeding the pet lambs with a bottle. An added attraction this year is a pair of beautiful peacocks and their two babies.

Children come to Hilltop farm from as far away as California. Two little girls, four and ten years old, arrived there Tuesday from Ontario, California. Pat and Mike DeYoung of Chicago are perennial visitors at Hilltop, coming there when the camp first opened six years ago and returning each summer. One of the camp's alumni is a little boy who has played with the Detroit Symphony orchestra and last year went from the Hilltop camp to the famous Interlochen music camp for talented young musicians.

Hilltop started about nine years ago when Mrs. Jolliffe, a former kindergarten teacher at Central grade school, formed a nursery school there for preschool age children. It was converted into a summer farm camp for children up to 12 years of age six years ago. The Jolliffers as the old Miller homestead. Built in 1904, it was for years the home of Harry Miller, father of Norman C. Miller, Plymouth township clerk.

Counselors at the farm camp are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Varnum of Ann Arbor, Miss Margaret Hadjesky of Birmingham and a student at the University of Michigan and Miss Eveline Johnson, a student at Michigan State normal college in Ypsilanti. Camp assistants are the Misses Doris Ramsdell and Uellen Mills of Plymouth.

New Skippers Look Aloft at Their Trim Craft

These sky-cleavers at Maxwell Field, Ala., will soon be skippered by young pilots who form part of the nation's new crop of 30,000 airmen. Flying cadets are, left to right: Carl T. Rauch, Jr., Cadillac, Mich.; Glenn J. Schaffer, Milwaukee, Wis.; and Walter L. Hurd, Jr., Stanhope, Iowa. They are students at Randolph Field, Texas, "West Point of the Air." The Army is seeking many more pilots for planes like these and for newer, bigger aircraft which is rapidly coming off production lines. Maxwell Field trains 10,000 pilots annually.

State Launches Safety Campaign

The most intensive campaign ever undertaken in Michigan to halt the ever-mounting toll of traffic deaths was started today, following Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner's proclamation designating the Independence Day week-end as "Michigan Safe Driving Days."

Heading the drive, aimed directly at curbing fatal accidents over the Fourth of July three-day holiday, are the Michigan state police, state highway re-arrangement, department of public instruction and department of state.

The departments participating are represented in the newly created State Safety commission which will start operating July 1. Forty-nine persons were killed on Michigan streets and highways over the recent Memorial Day holiday period. Unless drastic steps are taken, it is feared this number will be surpassed over the Fourth.

To prevent this from happening, and in a determined effort to save as many human lives as possible, every means at making Michigan's highways and streets safe will be taken, leaders of the campaign declared.

Michigan's motoring public was urged to cooperate in this drive so that there will not be a repetition of the 49 deaths that were recorded after our last national holiday.

DUSTS REQUIRED FOR BEAN BEETLE

Bean plants just can't take it, warns C. B. Dibble, extension specialist in insect control, Michigan State college. Therefore he suggests bean growers should not use calcium arsenate or arsenate of lead to fight Mexican bean beetle on beans. When the lace curtain effect appears on the beans, the best treatment is a dust of pyrethrum or rotenone. This controls the old beetles on the under side of the leaves. Dust when the air is quiet, but stay out of the bean patch when there is any dew or rain on the vines, Dibble warns growers.

Voters' League Holds Picnic

The current year of club activities of the League of Women Voters closed last Friday with its annual picnic held at the summer cottage of Mrs. Maurice Woodworth on Commerce lake. About 25 members and guests attended the picnic meeting. Following a delicious potluck luncheon, the guests enjoyed an afternoon of swimming.

At a short business session, Miss Anne Donnelly reported on a recent finance meeting of the league committees at Birmingham. Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple was appointed chairman of the league's "Battle of Production" campaign. A meeting of the program committee will be held in September and the league's first regular meeting of next season will be held early in October, according to Mrs. James Sessions, club president.

Women Bowlers Elect Officers

Lillian Kiernan was re-elected president of the Parkview Recreation Women's bowling league at its annual business meeting which followed a picnic in Riverside Park last Wednesday. Gladys Rheiner was elected vice-president and Rosemary Lyke was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

The rules and regulations of bowling were discussed thoroughly and a few changes were made which will be posted before the league starts bowling again. There will be a meeting held at a later date of all those wishing to be placed on teams as well as those already bowling in the league. Any girls who would like to be placed on a team for next year should contact either President Kiernan or Rosemary Lyke as soon as possible so that they may be informed of the date of the next meeting.

Independence Day for 1941 One of Gloom for U. S.

Babson Sees Critical Times Ahead for Our Country

Babson Park, Mass., July 4—Fast-moving events have led up to this year's crucial Independence Day and have made it a new landmark in our national history. Behind the headlines of battles won and lost, the War itself at the moment looms as a rough balance between Axis land power and British sea power. Into these wavering scales, America is beginning to cast her industrial might. How much? How soon? On the answers to those questions may depend our own independence and the independence of the rest of the world. July 4, 1941, is the most epochal July 4th since 1776.

Congress is making the necessary appropriations without stint. The daily grist of corporation news tells of new plants erected and old facilities expanded. Some of this extra capacity is being constructed with government assistance, but much is being financed by the manufacturers themselves. No reader needs to be told of the progressive mobilization of manufacturing facilities. Few are the neighborhoods throughout the land which cannot bear personal witness to the expansion of our armed forces.

As the situation now stands, a critical factor in our defense effort is our labor forces. No question arises of the patriotism, loyalty, and cooperation of the rank and file of workers. Public opinion, together with the workers and their responsible leaders, has rallied squarely behind the Administration in resolute determination that no group shall be allowed to disrupt our progress. Our chief concern is not the noisy strike. We now know how to deal with such a threat. Today's enemies of American independence are the labor racketeers and the Communist leaders.

From them comes the short-sighted opposition to improved mechanical equipment that would raise the productivity of labor. Where a house has been painted by spray-gun, they demand that it be re-painted by brush. If contractors dare to accept pipe that has been threaded by machinery, they insist that it be cut off and re-threaded by hand. They fight prefabrication, which could cut building costs sharply. As a result, the volume of building is lessened and workers are saddled with higher rentals. I am confident that American workmen as a body long for their independence from dictatorship of that type.

Small business concerns, I know, crave independence from tyranny and exploitation by labor racketeers and others. Such raiding often is a body blow to the large organization, but to the little fellow it may be a death sentence. I have in mind those compelled to pay needless employees who act merely as spectators on the job; or those forced to abandon processes where cost could be cut and quality improved by their adoption. Some business concerns have been caught and crushed in conflicts between rival unions. The policy of our defense program is to decentralize and spread production among many sub-contractors of medium, or small size. Efficiency of such concerns will increase if they can be given their independence from the commands of ruthless labor dictators.

Champion Milk Producer

Three-year-old Carnation Homestead Madeap has topped all previous records of all breeds as the greatest milk and butter producer in history. In a 365-day test reported by the Holstein-Friesian Association the new champion produced 31,908.4 pounds of milk and 1520.6 pounds of butter. Betty McDonald of western Washington's Snohomish County dairy region is the admiring milkmaid.

American independence is not complete if an American worker, in order to get a job, must pay tribute sometimes running into four figures. Nor is our independence complete if consumers who want to buy milk in stores or in larger quantities are refused this opportunity. We all suffer from the un-American practice of blockading the products of one state from entering the borders of another. The public backs defense ungrudgingly. What seems intolerable is that in the midst of these heavy burdens we should bear the continued load of exploitation.

Believing in the intelligence and integrity of the overwhelming majority of the members of American labor unions, I recommend one way of ousting the predatory type of official. Set up and maintain the necessary measures to assure genuine elections of officials. In other words, be sure that democracy is installed in all our unions. If purity is essential when workers vote in industrial plants, it is even more important when they vote in their unions. Overthrow of racketeering and Communism would both speed up defense and improve general business prospects.

Two elements in this business outlook emerge like mountain top. In the first place, substitution is proceeding apace, with discussion of replacements for steel, tungsten, tin, natural rubber, and other commodities where supplies are in question. Necessity will compel change-over in products, jobs, markets, supplies, transportation, and other departments. In the second place, prepare for record-breaking production. I look for output far surpassing the peaks of our World War I and the highs of the post-war boom. Freed from the grasp of unprincipled union leaders, all able-bodied and right-minded workers should be employed at good wages and legitimate employers should secure a fair profit.

Although battles are decided by military powers, wars are decidated by spiritual powers. The democracies are looking to America for munitions. Equally vital is our contribution of intangibles; that is, unity of purpose, singleness of effort, and a demonstration of 100 per cent democracy. This Fourth of July is the day of days to re-affirm American independence in whatever quarter it is menaced, whether by aggression from without or by exploitation from within.

City Shows Good Financial Balance

The city of Plymouth ended its fiscal year Monday evening with a balance of $6,476.13 on hand. In view of the city's expenditures during the past year for the purchase of a library site and for the right-of-way for the city parking lot, it was particularly commendable that the city finished the year without borrowing any money.

As the city's earnings for the perpetual care of property in the Riverside cemetery, the city received a check for $1,827.45 from the Detroit Trust company.

Mill Street Citizens Protest Truck Traffic

A delegation of residents from Mill street appeared before the city commission at its meeting Monday evening to protest against heavy truck traffic on Mill street between Starkweather avenue and Main street. The commission voted authorization for the purchase of signs prohibiting through truck traffic on that street. The action will not interfere with regular delivery service by trucks.

Ash trays should be as large as tea plates, at least.
