

Charles Lindbergh said the other night in a speech out in Des Moines that the Jews hold "large ownership and influence in motion pictures, OUR PRESS, our radio and our government."

Years and years ago there was a merchant in Kalamazoo named Sam Folz.

He conducted a men's large clothing store at the corner of Main and Portage streets.

It was from Sam Folz that the mother of the writer bought our suit with long pants.

It was a fairly good sized clothing store for those times but Sam Folz was not so busy that he couldn't take the time that important day to walk to the back of the store and help the clerk make the right sort of a pair of the awkward lad from the village of Galesburg.

"Sam" seemed to take an unusual interest in this youngster that day—a kindly, friendly interest that was never forgotten.

It was this purchase of a boy's suit of clothing which enabled the writer as a youngster to know Sam Folz and for Sam Folz to know the writer, who in later years left the country field of journalism in Galesburg and went to work on Kalamazoo newspapers.

Sam Folz was a most successful, and a mighty busy merchant. But his mercantile activities did not prevent him from taking a most energetic interest in the civic affairs of Kalamazoo.

Everybody, it seemed, liked Sam Folz. He was regarded as a candidate for mayor. He was overwhelmingly elected, to the joy of the youngsters of years previous whose first pair of long pants had been sold to him by Mayor Folz.

Kalamazoo, no other city, ever had a better mayor than Sam Folz. He took a keen interest in every problem that came to his office. He was never too busy to hear the complaints and the requests of the citizens of Kalamazoo, no matter how humble was the individual or how trifling was the protest.

He was a great worker in the Elks lodge. He told the writer one day that he liked this fraternal organization especially well because of the vast amount of charity work it did.

Then when Woodrow Wilson became President, Mr. Folz was made postmaster of Kalamazoo.

Local Plants Aid Boys in Service

Ex-Service Men Form Canteen Fund

Plymouth factories are leading the way in the Ex-Service Men's club campaign to send canteen packages to local boys in service.

The Hon. F. J. Conboy, mayor of Toronto, Canada, explained that the city has offered a basic course for civilians consisting of eight lessons in six nights on conduct during air raids and civilian defense. Toronto has staged two black-outs of 15 minutes each for civilian practice.

The city's oversubscription by 50 per cent of victory bond sales is evidence of its high civilian morale.

A panel discussion on Home Rule rights revealed several recent legislative infringements, including the firemen's hour act, police salaries, parallel parking on state trunk lines within municipalities, burden of proof on cities for the use of scavenger lands before sold by the state, a blanket increase on personal and real property exemptions reducing municipal sources of taxation and the separation of certain acreage areas within a city from the municipality.

City Officials Study Role in Defense Efforts

Municipal Leaders Of State Confer to Gird for Defense

Girding for defense officials from municipalities throughout Michigan met last week at Traverse City for the annual conference of the Michigan Municipal League. Plymouth's delegation included Mrs. Ruth H. Whipple, mayor, C. H. Elliott, city manager, George Robinson and Robert Underhill, commissioners, Stanford Bessey, city engineer, Charles Garlett, city treasurer, Arno Thompson, city assessor and Harry Deyo, city attorney.

Glenn A. Richards, secretary of the department of public works in Detroit, addressed the convention reporting "England's War Defenses" from his observations as one of a party of six civilians sent abroad recently by the U. S. Guardia, director of civilian defense.

England's civilian defense organization includes one half million civilian volunteers, the morale of the English people, the speaker emphasized the great need for sugar among critically lacking foodstuffs. There is no appreciable need for either tea or soap, he related.

Plymouth, England, our "namesake town," has been the hardest hit of any city in England, Mr. Richards declared. There have been 46,000 "incidents" or bombing attacks in Plymouth and every single building in the city has been damaged at some time. Mr. Richards has promised to appear here in October for a speaking engagement under the sponsorship of the Namesake Town Committee of Plymouth to report directly his observations from the English coastal town.

The role of "Local Governments in National Defense" was further explained by Roy Owsley, assistant director of the American Municipal Association in Washington, D. C. Mr. Owsley called for greater cooperation between municipalities and the federal government, particularly in understanding the demands of the national priorities program. Cities must make a choice between the purchase of zinc garbage cans or reserving zinc for defense purposes, Mr. Owsley explained as an exemplary illustration. Until recently, two-thirds of the nation's copper has been imported from Chile, but now the government is reopening copper mines in northern Michigan to relieve the critical need, he reported. There are 300 items on the government's "critical" list and 20 items under inventory control. Because of vital defense needs, municipalities should not plan projects which would interfere with defense, he advised.

The Hon. F. J. Conboy, mayor of Toronto, Canada, explained that the city has offered a basic course for civilians consisting of eight lessons in six nights on conduct during air raids and civilian defense. Toronto has staged two black-outs of 15 minutes each for civilian practice.

The city's oversubscription by 50 per cent of victory bond sales is evidence of its high civilian morale.

A panel discussion on Home Rule rights revealed several recent legislative infringements, including the firemen's hour act, police salaries, parallel parking on state trunk lines within municipalities, burden of proof on cities for the use of scavenger lands before sold by the state, a blanket increase on personal and real property exemptions reducing municipal sources of taxation and the separation of certain acreage areas within a city from the municipality.

At the business session of the Michigan Municipal League, City Manager Elliott served on the nominating committee and Mrs. Whipple was elected vice-president of the league's board of trustees.

Lutheran Pastors Plan Conference

Rev. George Ehnis to Deliver Sermon Here

A pastoral conference of 30 representatives of the South-eastern Michigan district of the Lutheran church will be held at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church here next Tuesday and Wednesday, September 23 and 24.

A special service with the celebration of holy communion will be held at the church Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at which a former pastor, the Rev. George Ehnis of Monroe, will deliver the sermon. Reverend Ehnis served as pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church for 18 years from 1891 to 1909.

The Rev. Henry Richter of Detroit will preside as chairman at the series of four conference meetings which will include reports from the convention of the Lutheran Synod at Saginaw. A mission festival service on Sunday morning, September 28, will climax the month of missions at the local Lutheran church.

Proclamation

To the citizens of Plymouth: WHEREAS, the city manager and the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce have invited the Michigan State Fire Prevention association to come to Plymouth, September 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 1941, to bring a corps of 50 representatives to inspect the city.

WHEREAS, this is the first time in many years that the state association has visited any city of less than 50,000 population.

WHEREAS, in these times fire prevention is of special importance because we need to conserve all of our resources.

As mayor of the city of Plymouth, I proclaim Wednesday, September 24, 1941, as Fire Prevention Day.

Signed, RUTH H. WHIPPLE, Mayor.

Inside Story Of "Big Capture" Real Thriller

Cass Hough Writes To Plymouth Friend Of Army Games

Here's hot news direct from the "battle-line" down in Louisiana where Uncle Sam's big army forces are playing at war—patriotic news too—from Cass S. Hough, a Plymouth flyer who is taking part in the maneuvers of the newly created army.

"Maybe somebody's face will be red," when they read about this inside story that didn't get out until he writes to Sterling Eaton, "but it's too good to keep a secret any longer," he says.

His letter tells the story better than any one else can write it—so here it is:

"We are part of the Red (2nd) Army. The 2nd Air Task Command is located here in Natchitoches—it commands all the air power at the disposal of the 2nd Army, just in case of an attack, and observation and reconnaissance. The sixth Wing is acting as the intercept command for the 2nd Air Task Force. Sixth Wing headquarters are running the intercept boards, on which are told all the movements of enemy aviation as soon as they show up in our 'Red' territory. The intercept officers then send out our pursuit, etc. to intercept the enemy aviation. This sixth Wing headquarters is located in the army here, and my squadron is located about a mile away in some woods at the rear of the Normal school campus. In other words the nerve center of the entire Red Air Force is located in the army, and our pursuit aviation, including my squadron, is located at the airport here at Natchitoches.

"This morning at about three o'clock, the driver of my mess panel truck woke me (I had just gone to bed at midnight after being out for a long time).

City Drills Test Hole for Water

Machine Drives Well On Northwest Site

Work was started Monday on the drilling of a test-hole to locate an auxiliary source of water supply on city property at Blanche and Karmada streets near Adams and Farmer streets. The well machine has now driven more than 65 feet deep. The machine is equipped with a 20-foot iron stem, about 1,200 pounds in weight, which drives into the ground and a borer which removes mud from the test-hole.

The site of the potential source of water supply was selected after surveys by geologists of the Michigan Department of Conservation. It is planned to run the test-hole to a possible depth of 200 feet within the next week or more. A yield of 500 gallons of water per minute is the minimum capacity desired. If a sufficient water supply is found, new 12-inch water lines will be installed to deliver the northwest section of the city where the problem of water distribution has become acute.

The plan to drill a test-hole for water represents a $1,000 wager at the most to save an expenditure of about $150,000 for the re-building of the city's existing water lines, it is explained by City Manager C. H. Elliott. The advantages of locating another source of water supply include savings in pumping costs, reduction in the distribution problem and the added safety valve of having two separate sources of water in the event of an emergency.

Miss Gerald Swan, formerly Mrs. Gwendolyn Inge, will be the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower tonight (Friday) to be given by Mrs. Nellie Bird June Jewell, Mrs. Howard Rajala and Vaun Campbell, in the home of Mrs. Bird, when the grade teachers of Central school will be guests. Mr. and Mrs. Swan were married on August 22 in Grand Rapids, the bride's home. Mr. Swan is from Milford.

School, Church Leaders Organize Youth Program

"University of Life" Program to Start Here on October 26

A "University of Life" has been organized by school and church leaders of the community for young people of high school age and above in Plymouth and surrounding vicinity. The University of Life is a three-hour Sunday evening program for youth fellowship and discussion of young people's interests.

Claude J. Dykhouse will direct the program as dean of the University of Life and the committee members include Miss Neva Lovewell, high school teacher in charge of worship services, Rev. John Forsyth of Rosedale Gardens, Rev. G. H. Enns, Rev. S. S. Closson and Rev. Walter Nichol of Plymouth churches, Mrs. Sidney D. Burton, Mrs. William Kaiser, Mrs. Howard Bowden and Mrs. William Henry. Other members will be added to the committee as the program progresses.

The Sunday evening program, to start October 26, will be divided into four periods, beginning with a fellowship supper at six o'clock to be followed by a song-fest period of group singing, a worship service open to townspeople as well as young people from 7 to 8 o'clock. All meetings will be held at the First Methodist church in Plymouth.

The program of "guest" sessions to be held by out-of-town discussion leaders will be completed at a final committee meeting Monday afternoon, September 29, at the Methodist church. Preliminary program plans include a course in the new Testament, After High School, What? Christian Living in the World Today; Vocations and the Use of Leisure Time. Early registrations will be taken before the first group meeting at a date to be announced later.

The University of Life movement began in a large Minneapolis church in 1934 and has spread since then to many cities, towns and country places. The program has proved very successful in providing interest to youth in Royal Oak. The local program will be open to students in the seventh to twelfth grades of school and to young college, business and adult groups in the community.

State Offers Lots For Public Sale

Auction Includes 53 Local Parcels

An opportunity for private citizens to purchase property, owned by the state as a result of tax delinquency, is offered by the State Land Office, which announces a semi-private auction sale to be opened September 26 and continued each day following for an indefinite period.

There are 53 parcels of land in Plymouth for sale either for building sites or for re-sale. Many of the local lots included in the sale are improved properties. Lots are located in the Auburn addition to Plymouth Heights, Fairground subdivision, Gravel Hill subdivision, Mary K. Hillmer's addition, Nash's Plymouth subdivision, Park subdivision No. 1, Plymouth Heights subdivision, Plymouth Virginia Park subdivision, Puritan Hill addition, Sunset addition and Sunshine Acres subdivision. Lists of parcels may be obtained by contacting prospective buyers on a map at the city hall in Plymouth.

Each parcel or combination of parcels will be sold at not less than the appraised value, to the purchaser making the highest offer, and offers will be received in the order in which they are made to the board excepting offers made on the first day of the sale. The auction will be held at the board's office on Washington boulevard in Detroit.

A buyer may pay cash for any purchase and a buyer must pay cash for all purchases of $100 or less. A buyer may buy land on contract if the purchase price is over $100 with a down payment of 20 per cent or more of the purchase price but in no case less than $100 and the balance shall be payable in successive monthly installments of $1.46 or more per hundred dollars of the balance with interest at 6 per cent per annum.

Dr. Brisbois' Parents Mark Golden Wedding

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Brisbois and son and Mrs. Christine Van Poppelin attended a family gathering in celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Brisbois, parents of Dr. Brisbois, in Detroit Monday.

Eight of the couple's children, and families and 17 grandchildren attended the celebration. Seventeen guests were present who attended the wedding 50 years ago. Following a morning church service at Visitation church in Detroit, the guests enjoyed a family dinner and reception in the evening.

L. R. Von Stein is a patient in University hospital.

Guest Speaker

"SMOKEY" ROGERS

Harry "Smokey" Rogers, a former fire chief in a mid-western city, who has acquired a fund of practical experience in combating fire, will speak before a public luncheon meeting, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, at the Hotel Mayflower Wednesday, in conjunction with Plymouth Fire Prevention Day.

Mr. Rogers is honorary chief of the Chicago Fire department, and repeatedly serves as an instructor in numerous state and regional training schools and conferences throughout the country.

The night school program offered by the Plymouth board of education will start with a general registration meeting of all classes in the auditorium of Plymouth high school on Monday evening, September 29, at 7 o'clock. It was announced this week by Claude J. Dykhouse, director of night school.

It is expected that additional courses will be added to the night school curriculum, but the preliminary schedule includes 13 courses of study. Four new courses have been organized for this winter including parliamentary law, business English and credit courses for high school graduation. Mrs. Ruth Whipple has been obtained to teach parliamentary law. Miss Irene Waldorf will instruct the course in business English, Miss Evelyn Fry will direct art study and James Latture will instruct several credit courses for high school graduation. The credit courses will be held at least twice a week, will offer an opportunity to persons who wish to complete necessary credits for high school graduation.

Courses in dressmaking and tailoring will be offered by Mrs. Humphries and Miss Ingeborg Lundin will direct a class in food specialties. In the commercial department, Harry Fountain will instruct typing and shorthand, and Miss M. Land will teach bookkeeping.

A study class in current books will be offered by Mrs. Anthony Matulis, Michael J. Huber will direct badminton classes and William Campbell will instruct machine shop classes which promises to draw many pupils interested in defense skills. Additional courses will be organized for 15 or more persons.

Speaker Tells of Holland Invasion

Relates Experiences At D.A.R. Meeting

The gasoline problem is not one of supply but of transportation, it was declared by J. M. McCollough, district manager of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, in a talk before the Plymouth Kiwanis club Tuesday evening. The shortage is most acute in the eastern states which are far removed from the gas and oil sources of supply in Texas and Oklahoma.

The government has taken over 50 large tanker boats formerly used for the transport of gasoline for shipments to England during the war emergency. Measures adopted to relieve the transportation problem include the installing of large storage tanks at the retail gas stations by some of the large oil companies including Socony, and the reduction of railroad rates by the government for transport of gasoline and oil. In the interest of national defense, the speaker urged cooperation of all drivers in the program to reduce driving speeds to conserve fuel.

Next week, the Northwest Kiwanis club of Detroit will stage the program for the local club. Plans are also in the making for the annual Kiwanis "night-club" party, details of which will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sinta and son, Leroy, have moved into their new home on Gove Road.

City Observes Fire Prevention Day Wednesday

School Children to Inspect Homes for Fire Safety Survey

The program for fire prevention education, to be staged by the Michigan Fire Prevention association, and the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with Plymouth Fire Prevention Day next Wednesday, will reach virtually everyone in the city through the schools, inspection of buildings and a noon luncheon for the service clubs.

Assemblies will be held at Plymouth high school and each of the grade schools for children in the fourth to ninth grades. Harry K. Rogers of Kansas, best known to several millions of school children throughout the country as "Smokey," the fire clown, will entertain and instruct Plymouth school children in the fundamentals of fire safety.

Home inspection blanks will be distributed to all grade school children for the examination of possible fire hazards in their homes. The cooperation of parents is requested in assisting children in making the inspection and filling out a report to be returned to the school. The information on the home inspection blanks will remain confidential and the blanks will be destroyed after the state association completes a survey of fire safety conditions in all Plymouth homes.

The purpose of the home inspection program is to instruct children in potential fire hazards and give suggestions for safety in the home. Attention is directed toward such hazards as rubbish piles, chimney defects, roofing and electrical wiring in the inspection questionnaires.

A corps of 50 field representatives from various stock insurance companies in the Michigan Fire Prevention association will inspect all business, public and semi-public places during the forenoon Wednesday.

Fire Prevention Day will be climaxed with a public luncheon to be given by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel Mayflower Wednesday noon. Members of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, Boy Scout

Ball Studio Plans State Convention

Photographers Meet Here Sept. 28-29

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Ball will be hosts to members of the Michigan Photographers' society at an annual meeting to be held at the Ball Studio and the Mayflower hotel on Sunday and Monday, September 28 and 29.

Registration for the convention will open at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. A lecture will be presented through the courtesy of Eastman Kodak company by Wilfred E. Smith on "Panochromatic versus Orthochromatic Materials." Ralph Fallert will also discuss new printing methods and ideas through the courtesy of the Eastman concern. A highlight of the meeting will be the annual banquet in the Crystal room of the hotel Sunday evening, with an address of welcome by Mayor Whipple.

Following a business session Monday morning, the association will participate in a round table discussion. In the afternoon, Mrs. Ball will entertain the ladies at a luncheon and visit through the Detroit House of Correction. The convention will close with a print analysis and award of ribbons for photo exhibits. Photo exhibits from members throughout the state will be on display in a window of the Blunk and Thatcher furniture store next week.

Children Accident Victims Recovering

The three Plymouth youngsters who have been injured by automobiles in the past two weeks are all reported recovering. Little Billy Wellbaum, 11 years old, who was struck by two autos in front of his home on Plymouth road, is now fully conscious and has been removed from the "critical list," but will be confined to University hospital in Ann Arbor for some time.

Bruce Stewart of Auburndale avenue, Rosedale Gardens, is also recovering in University hospital. The 14-year-old boy, a student at Plymouth high school, received a compound fracture of the left leg when struck by a car. Three-year-old Robert Allen who was also hit by an automobile, is completely recovered.

Did You Know That

The annual Past Matrons' luncheon and yard party will be held Friday, September 26, at the Masonic temple, 1 o'clock. Everyone is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sinta and son, Leroy, have moved into their new home on Gove Road.

Beyer Family to Conduct Store

Plymouth residents were pleased to learn from the advertisement that appeared in last week's Mail, that members of the Beyer family intend to continue the successful drug store business that the late Otto Beyer conducted over a quarter of a century on Liberty street.

Fortunate, indeed, is the fact that two of the daughters have assisted their father in the store and know well the needs of the customers.

The Beyer Pharmacy has been one of Plymouth's progressive and substantial business institutions for years and it is good news to Plymouth to know that it will continue to be operated under the direction of the Beyer family.

City Issues Annual Report

Booklet Lists Needs And Accomplishments

That Plymouth is a progressive and efficiently-governed city is indicated in the list of accomplishments contained in the city's thirteenth annual report which was distributed this week. The report is well prepared in booklet form with an attractive view of Plymouth road featuring the cover page and pictures of the city and its functions throughout the book.

Heading the list of municipal accomplishments and improvements is the acquisition of property for a city parking lot which became a reality this week with the completion of the parking lot development, the widening of the Arbor Trail, several charter amendments, an amendment to the zoning ordinance and the gift of the Louise Markham park. Street improvement projects include the installation of many new curbs and gutters, sidewalks, water mains, storm and sanitary sewers, paving and mixed-in-place black topping.

In the state land sale, the city acquired several lots which will be of value for street extensions, municipal parks and neighborhood playgrounds. It is also possible, the city manager reports that this land may be used sometime in the future for a housing project if that becomes necessary. Another important project initiated during the past year was the improvement of the water supply and distribution which is still underway. An important measure passed by the city commission was the adoption of a trailer ordinance. It became apparent, due to the large employment in defense industries in the vicinity of Plymouth, that property valuations would be endangered by having vacant lots used for trailer purposes, wisely the commission acted before the influx.

Among the list of future needs of the city is the continuation of the ten-year program to improve the water distribution system in order that more even pressures are obtained in various districts of the city and that all users are assured of adequate supply during the dry season.

"It is becoming more apparent from month to month that the city is greatly in need of more adequate hospital facilities. This project is placed high on the list of the future needs of the city. A suitable library building would also be of material benefit to the people of the community. One piece of equipment which would cut operating costs tremendously is a street sweeping machine. No project creates a problem too large to solve. It is necessary, however, that the community act as a unit in order that the more urgent problems may find an early solution," declares City Manager Elliott in the city's report to the people.

William Tuck Wins Commission

Becomes Second Lieut. in Air Corps

William Tuck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Tuck, Plymouth road, graduates from the Air Corp Technical School of the United States Army on Saturday, September 20 at Chanute Field, Illinois.

Mr. Tuck will be commissioned Second Lieutenant of the Air Corp.

He was a member of the Plymouth high school graduating class of 1933 and later graduated from Tri-State Engineering college, Angola, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuck, accompanied by their five daughters, Mrs. Alfred Ward, Mrs. William Meier, Mrs. Raymond Coon, Mrs. Clayton Monacell and Miss Jeanne Tuck, are spending a few days in Illinois to be present at the commencement.

Sunday afternoon and evening visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Chambers were the following relatives: Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Vosburgh and little daughter, Connie Kay of Penton; Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Churchman; Mr. and Mrs. Emory Holmes and daughters, Kathryn and Barbara Jean, of Detroit.

Defense Bond Sales Reach New High in Plymouth

Retail Stores This Week Push Sale Of Defense Stamps

September is going to prove the all-high month in Plymouth for purchases of defense bonds and stamps, according to figures released yesterday by Acting Postmaster Harry Irwin.

To date, so far this month, there has been sold in Plymouth a total of $9,112.50 worth of bonds and $112.65 worth of defense stamps.

These figures are for the first two weeks in September, with half a month yet to go. The total for the purchase by local citizens of both stamps and bonds for the first two weeks in September exceeds the total for any other month since the sale was started in May.

The total bond sale in August was $252,150. In July the total was $370,000. In June it was only $106,875 and in May—the total was $487,350.

The stamp sale has run as follows: To date in September $112.65; in August $402.50; in July $468.05 in June $370.95 and in May $295.10.

The total for the defense bonds so far in Plymouth's campaign is $23,231.25. Stamp sales have reached a total of $2667.25.

With an exception here and there, it is believed that few cities the size of Plymouth anywhere in the country have made such a favorable record in the purchase of defense bonds and stamps.

Farmers to Vote AAA Delegates

Election Places for September 24 Voting

The annual community election meetings at which AAA community committeemen and county convention delegates are elected will be held on Wednesday evening, September 24, at 8 p.m., according to Fred C. Ernest, chairman of the Wayne County AAA committee, at the following places:

Brownstown—South road school.
Canton—Canton township hall.
Dearborn—Inkster township hall.
Ecorse—Sand Hill school.
Griatiot—
Huron—Willow school.
Livonia—Township hall.
Monacaugon—Sand Hill school.
Nankin—At office.
Northville—City hall at Plymouth.

Plymouth—City hall.
Redford—Inkster township hall.
Romulus—Romulus township hall.
Sumpter—Martinsville school.
Taylor—Sand Hill school.
Van Buren—Bellville high school.

Three community committeemen and two alternate committeemen and a delegate and alternate delegate to the county convention will be elected at each community election meeting by farmers eligible to vote. Mr. Ernest pointed out that any farmer who is participating or cooperating in any program administered through the Agricultural Adjustment Administration during the current calendar year and who has received or will receive a payment for compliance with such program shall be eligible to vote in the elections.

The delegates elected at the community election meetings will meet on the following day, September 25, at 10:00 p.m. at Wayne county office, 3901 Newberry street, Wayne, to elect a chairman, vice chairman, third member and two alternate members of the county AAA committee to serve during the 1942 AAA program year.

A notice of the place, time and date of the community election meetings will be mailed at least five days prior to the meeting to all farmers who are eligible to cooperate on farms in the community in any of the programs administered by the Wayne County AAA. Mr. Ernest said.

Ensign H. C. Fischer And Family Visit Here

Ensign and Mrs. H. C. Fischer, with their new son, H. C. Fischer, Jr., are visiting their friends and relatives in Plymouth for the next two or three weeks. Ensign Fischer is on duty at the office of the naval inspector of ordnance, York Safe and Lock company of York, Pennsylvania, in connection with work being undertaken by the Navy.

Submit Plans for Comfort Station

Construction Will Start After Oct. 6

Final plans and specifications for the construction of the new comfort station building to be located in the municipal parking lot adjoining the alley at the rear of the Main street business district were submitted to the city commission by Architect Thomas Moss at its meeting Monday night. Bids will be called in October 6 for construction contracts and work will start immediately thereafter.

The approved plan calls for a solid brick building, 16x28 feet, with glazed brick walls on the interior and terrazzo floors. The heating plant, with forced air heat and oil burner, will be located in the center of the building. The plan provides for side entrances with walks on either side from the alley and from the parking lot. The building is to be completed by late November.

Carelessness is the mother of catastrophe.

Flowering Crab Tree Bears Fruit

This is a year of unusual crops, there is no question about that. Some of them are record breakers, too.

The other day R. T. Willoughby brought to The Plymouth Mail office a branch taken from a flowering crab tree in his yard that contained 56 ripe crab apples. The branch was barely two feet long and some of the apples had fallen off.

It is unusual that a flowering crab tree will bear such a tremendous amount of fruit. Some of them do not bear at all. In addition to this interesting tree, Mr. Willoughby has a date tree and a fig tree in his yard that seem to stand the Michigan weather.

Bomber Highways To Cost Millions

Highway Workers Preparing Plans

The Plymouth office of the state highway department is a mighty busy place these days, working out details for State Highway Commissioner Kennedy of the roadway system that will be necessary to construct around the new Ford bomber plant located just east of Ypsilanti. Tentative figures show that something like five and a quarter million dollars will be required to put in sufficient roadways and grade separations to care for highway traffic to and from what will soon be the world's biggest bomber plant.

Bids will be opened next Tuesday for the construction of about five miles of non-skid paving on M-17 between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. Bids for grading off the hill and making more safe the intersection on M-16 just west of Farmington will also be opened.

City Parking Lot Is Now Lighted

City Boasts of One Of State's Best

With the installation by Stanley Corbett of flood lights on the new Municipal parking lot, Plymouth can now boast of having one of the finest public parking districts in Michigan.

That the public appreciates the efforts of the city in providing such an ideal parking place is evident from the immediate use of it by large numbers of car owners.

The entire section has been covered with cinders and each car space has been marked off in such a way that there can be no traffic tangles.

City officials will soon take bids for the erection of a comfort station and as soon as it is ready for use, they will construct a walk from the parking lot direct to Main street, utilizing the opening that will result from the removal of the comfort station.

My Michigan

He served in this important federal position with the same high type courtesy and attention that he gave to his municipal duties when mayor of the city. He was interested in the work of the Kalamazoo County Humane Society. In fact, if memory serves correctly, he was for a considerable period, president of the organization. Back in those days there was plenty of need for such an organization, and it never failed to do its duty.

Sam Folz died a number of years ago—he died before his allotted three score and ten—but in his intensely busy years he was one of Kalamazoo's most useful and influential citizens—exceptionally influential because of the good things he was always doing.

Sam Folz was a Jew—the first one the writer ever knew. We had an intense admiration for him because of his patriotism, because of what he did for his friends, associates and his community—a progressive city overwhelmingly Gentile. He was truly an outstanding American citizen.

Maybe our mind has been somewhat warped on the subject because of our admiration for the first Jew we ever knew, and because of the long years of association with him in public and civic affairs.

Maybe it is for this reason, or maybe it is because of our firm conviction that America is a country for ALL PEOPLE—a country where race, creed, religion or political views should make no difference in our pursuit of happiness, in our common defense, in the promotion of our general welfare and in the blessings of liberty—that we just do not like the things Lindbergh said the other night out in Des Moines.

His spirit was wrong and his facts were wrong. A Jew has just as much right to own a newspaper as does a Protestant, a Catholic or a Mohammedan.

Lindbergh says the Jews have "large ownership and influence," of "our press."

But do they own "our press"? In Michigan there is but one newspaper that is owned and controlled by Jews, and that paper is more or less of a sectarian publication.

There was one other newspaper, a weekly, in Michigan owned by a Jew, but he is no longer its owner or its publisher, although he has just as much a right to own it and edit it as any man under the sun. There are some 425 newspapers printed in Michigan.

So Lindbergh, as far as Michigan is concerned, is one hundred percent wrong in his statement about newspaper ownership and control.

Of the many hundreds of great metropolitan papers published throughout the land, those that are owned and controlled by Jews can be counted on one's fingers, they are so few.

In nearly half a century of newspaper work never once has a Jew ever asked the writer to keep anything out of a paper or requested that an "editorial slant" be injected into any news event. Probably nearly every one of the 12,000 or 15,000 newspaper editors in America can honestly make the same statement.

We believe in freedom of speech and we believe in freedom of the press—but we do not believe in the circulation of untruthful statements, no matter what the issue.

Townsend Club Holds Founders' Day Rally

The Founders' Day rally of the Townsend club held last Monday night was an interesting and successful affair. The local club will hold its next meeting on Monday evening, September 22, at 8 o'clock in the Grange hall. Reports will be given from the Townsend Flash Bulletin with latest news of activity on the Townsend bill in Washington.

Mrs. Henry Reddeman and Mrs. William Martin attended the funeral services of Mrs. Michael Geiger, Thursday, at the St. John's Lutheran church, at Northfield.

Plymouthites See The New Buicks

Carl Shear, Jack Taylor, Sterling Eaton, Paul Ramsdell and Charles Steinhebel spent last Friday in Flint where they were present at the first showing of the 1942 Buick automobiles.

In presenting the new line of cars to the 1,500 dealers and guests in attendance, Buick President "Red" Curtiss made clear that there were no ersatz materials in the Buick for 1942. He stressed the fact that Buick production for 1942 had been out 54 percent by the O.P.M. and that he had no intimation what the future held for their industry beyond that point.

The new cars are beautifully streamlined and present an entirely different appearance from the cars of 1941. New features include an improved dual carburetor system, vent-heater and step-on parking brake. Dealers expect new models on their floors within the next week or so.

BOWLING LEAGUE STANDINGS

Parkview Recreation League opened its 1941-42 season with a very warm start. With the temperature hovering around 85 Bill Choffin started them off with the first ball down the alley. From then on all the bowlers settled in their old groove and the pins were clicking loud and merrily and with lots of splits which were blamed on the heat, wet towels and slippery hands. Last year's champions, Simpson's, lost two to a newcomer Farm. Tractors; Stroth's took two from the Daisy; Bill Choffin with a 507 score, helped his team, Cavalcade Inn take two from the Mayflower Hotel, and the much talked of Wild & Co. team lost two to Goldstein's, one game by only five pins.

Standings	W	L	Pct.
Cavalcade Inn	2	1	.666
Farmall Tractors	2	1	.666
Goldstein's	2	1	.666
Stroth's	2	1	.666
Wild & Co.	1	2	.333
Simpson's	1	2	.333
Daisy	1	2	.333
Mayflower Hotel	1	2	.333

High scores: C. Levy 215; Butler 208; Lefevre 233; Rousseau 200; H. Burley 219; G. Baker 209; Johnson 200; Strasen 221; McAllister 200; Krizman 228.

City Observes

(Continued from page 1) troops and city officials will attend the luncheon as special guests. "Smoky" Rogers will be the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting, introduced by the Mayor, Earl Russell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will preside as chairman.

The work to be carried on in Plymouth Wednesday by the Michigan State Fire Prevention association is a part of a country-wide plan, sponsored by the chambers of commerce, civic and service clubs, business men's associations and other organizations with the purpose in view of reducing the fire waste of the nation, a large portion of which is due to carelessness, according to surveys. Investigations covering a number of years shows that more than 80 per cent of all the fires occurring in the United States year after year are either due to carelessness or could be averted by simple preventative measures.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Simmons and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Woodworth were guests, Sunday, for the day, of Dr. and Mrs. Edwain Rice, at their lodge on Sugden lake.

Husk 50 to 60 Bushels per Hour Shred and Store the Valuable Fodder... ALL IN ONE OPERATION

NEW IDEA SIX ROLL HUSKER-SHREDDER

Unexcelled for large farm and custom work, the New Idea Six Roll Husker-Shredder quickly husks the corn and delivers it to the crib while the valuable fodder is shredded and stored. Rigid steel construction and many convenient operation features guarantee low cost operation and unequalled efficiency. The New Idea Six Roll Husker-Shredder eliminates waste by storing the shredded husks and the machine husks clean. Soon pays for itself on your farm and is a real profit producer when used on custom work.

Youth Graduates From Navy School

Frederick Kepka Is Supply Corps Officer

Frederick Kepka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kepka, was graduated from the Naval Supply Corps school at Cambridge, Massachusetts, recently, upon completion of a three-months summer training course. Young Kepka is a graduate of the University of Michigan, 1938, and took the L.L.B. degree in 1941.

At the graduation ceremonies, held at Harvard University, new location of the Supply Corps school, Under Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal presented certificates to a total of 376 ensigns of the Supply Corps, U. S. Navy Reserve, the largest single class of Supply Corps officers in Navy history.

All the men are being ordered to active duty and will augment the present force of 2,000 Supply Corps officers with the fleets and at shore stations, charged with the Navy business of disbursement of funds, payrolls, procurement and custody of provisions and other supplies, issue of supplies and accounting.

The ensigns, most of them only two or three years out of college, have been stationed at the school since June, following a rigorous schedule of classroom lectures, military drill and evening study hours, designed to prepare them in the shortest possible time for their new duties. The school battalion represents 39 of the United States and also Hawaii and the District of Columbia. They are from 90 different American colleges.

Under Captain K. C. McIntosh, Supply Corps, U.S.N., the officer-in-charge, the Supply Corps school will continue to meet in the Harvard buildings this winter, opening a six-months session September 22 for an expected class of 200 ensigns of the reserve corps, and some 50 officers of the regular Navy.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our father and grandfather, Fred Schiffe, who passed away three years ago, on September 16, 1938. God saw the rugged pathway. We were getting hard to climb. So He closed the weary eyelids. And whispered "Be at peace." Children and Grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our thanks and sincere appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for the beautiful flowers and many acts of kindness during our recent bereavement; also we thank Wilbur G. Holdsworth C.S. of the Christian Science church of Plymouth for his comforting words; also the personnel of the Schrader Funeral home. Mr. and Mrs. James Cavis Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tremain

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank all the friends, neighbors and county employees for their kind expression of sympathy. John Kahrl.

Society News

Mrs. Charles Neal, a recent bride, was the honored guest, recently, at a miscellaneous shower and buffet luncheon given by Mrs. George Atkinson, of Novi and Mrs. Nellie Bird of Plymouth, held in the latter's home on Ann street. Twelve guests enjoyed an evening of bridge which was followed by the presentation of several lovely gifts to Mrs. Neal. For the lunch each guest was asked to make her own salad from fruits provided by the hostesses and the one who made the most attractive one was awarded a prize. Those present were Mrs. Neal, her daughter, Mrs. Lester Herter, Mrs. Alice Towne, Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel, Mrs. Charles Root, Sr., Mrs. Gladys Ebersole, Mrs. Swartz, Mrs. George Strasen, Mrs. N. Lockwood of this city, and Mrs. Arthur Miller, of Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. George Howell have invited the members of their "500" club to gather at their home at Bass lake Saturday evening for a steak roast. The guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blunk, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Blunk, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Woods, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jewell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mummy, of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Frederick, of Farmington.

The Mission society of the Lutheran church was held Wednesday, at one o'clock at the summer home of Mrs. Fred Ballen at Walled Lake, having a potluck luncheon followed by the meeting. The election of officers was postponed one month in respect to Mrs. O. F. Beyer, president. Hostesses were Mrs. Gus Eschele, Mrs. Carl Rengert, Mrs. Charles Rengert, Mrs. Chris Drews, Mrs. Carolyn Kaiser, Mrs. Fred Gentz and Mrs. Amelia Esch.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ralph Miller, son, Keith, and niece, Joan Miller, were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne LaSeau, in Amherstburg, Ontario.

Dr. and Mrs. Luther Peck visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Lloyd, in Youngstown, Ohio, over the week-end.

Mrs. T. G. Russell of Detroit and Mrs. Robert Burgh of Wayne were entertained at luncheon on Wednesday, in the home of Mrs. John Dalton.

V. R. Smith to Pilot '42 Hardware Team

Sponsor William Rose feted his Plymouth Hardware softball team at Idyl Wyld Golf club on Five Mile road, Wednesday evening. Following a steak dinner, the business meeting was held. Vaughan R. Smith was elected manager for the 1942 season and Louis Straub, secretary.

A representative of the Plymouth Hardware team will advocate players wearing spikes at the league organization meeting next year in addition to requesting that the field be reconditioned.

Those who attended as members of the team were, Louis Straub, Edwin Schrader, John Gaffield, Ray Gilder, Al Crane, Bill Curtis, George Deitle, Paul Simons, Archie Pascoe, George Bowers and V. R. Smith. Edward Sinta was unable to be present.

Murphy-Underwood Vows Spoken Friday

A ceremony uniting Phyllis Ursula Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Russell of Plymouth and Ray E. Underwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora E. Underwood of Trenton, was performed by Rev. Robert North, Friday evening, September 12, at 7 o'clock in the Nazarene church of Plymouth.

Palms and pink gladioli were used in decorating the altar. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white net dress over taffeta, made with a very full skirt with lace inserts, which was made by her mother. A fitted jacket of lace with long sleeves and full length veil, worn by her aunt, Mrs. Arthur E. Shaw of Walpole, Massachusetts, eighteen years ago, completed her wedding ensemble. She carried white roses tied with wide satin ribbon.

The maid-of-honor, Dorothy Richards, of this city, was given in pink net over taffeta and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Doris Lee, cousin of the bridegroom and Betty Underwood, a sister, were bridesmaids, wearing yellow and blue net dresses respectively. Both carried roses. Romaine Lee, a cousin of the bridegroom and Frank Hartley of Gibraltar, an uncle, were attendants of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a light blue lace dress and Mrs. Underwood wore blue crepe. Both wore pink corsages.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony for 75 wedding guests in the home of the bride on North Main street, guests being present from Canada, Massachusetts, Ohio and Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Underwood spent the week-end in northern Michigan. They will reside in Gibraltar. For traveling Mrs. Underwood chose a soldier blue crepe dress with matching hat and accessories in brown.

Mrs. Murray O'Neil entertained her bridge club members at dessert and bridge, Thursday afternoon.

The Past Matrons' club was entertained at luncheon Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Fred Fehl.

Mrs. Annie Mathie of Detroit was the supper guest Sunday of Mrs. George Cramer.

Mrs. Harry Avors was the luncheon guest, Friday, of Mrs. Lillian Smith.

ISABELLE COMER
Miss Isabelle Comer, formerly a well known school teacher in this vicinity, died Tuesday at her home in Wayne after an illness of many months. Miss Comer graduated from the State Normal at Ypsilanti, and after completing her school work, became a teacher. She taught in the Kenyon district, at Cherry Hill and at Waterford. She had a large number of friends in this locality who will regret to learn of her death. A brother and a sister survive. The funeral was held Friday, burial taking place in Cherry Hill cemetery.

CORWIN O. DICKERSON
Funeral services for Corwin O. Dickerson were held Monday afternoon, September 15 in the McFarland Funeral home, Dearborn. Burial was in the family lot in Lapeer, Michigan. Mr. Dickerson, who passed away Friday evening, September 12, after a week's illness, was born in 1887, in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Surviving are his wife, Harriet T. Dickerson of Dearborn, three children by a former marriage, Mrs. C. L. Puryear, of Grand Rapids, Kingsley J. Dickerson of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Roland Rhead of Ann Arbor, one brother, Orlo Dickerson, of Redford, and one granddaughter.

MRS. KITTIE GEER
Mrs. Kittie A. Geer passed away last Thursday morning at her home in Ypsilanti after an illness of two months. She had lived in Ypsilanti since the year of 1903. She was born to Leasure and Jane Kimmell in Superior township March 5, 1862. She was a member of the First Methodist church and Home Missionary society in Ypsilanti. She became the wife of Milton W. Geer, September, 1883 and established a home on Plymouth road where they resided for some time, later moving to Ypsilanti. Mr. Geer passed away August 11, 1930. Hazel Geer, a daughter, of Royal Oak, and Roy Geer, a son, of Detroit, three grandchildren and one great grandchild, are the survivors. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the home. Burial was in Highland cemetery.

Tourists spend millions of dollars in Michigan every year, with more than 2,500,000 out-of-state automobiles coming into the Wolverine state annually.

Walter Graves Now At Dann's Tavern

Walter Graves, who for the past few years has been in charge of the kitchen at the Plymouth Country club, has just been engaged for similar services at Dann's Tavern, 34401 Plymouth road, "Jimmy" Mason, who is managing Dann's popular tavern, is delighted over the fact that he has secured Mr. Graves to conduct both the kitchen and dining room at the Tavern. Mr. Graves has won a mighty fine reputation among the hundreds of patrons of the Plymouth Golf club and in his new position he is sure to please the large number of friends and patrons of Dann's busy place.

Speaker Explains Fuel Problem

Gasoline Shortage Due To Transportation Lag

Monday afternoon, Miss Marion Paddock was hostess to members of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter of D.A.R. and their guest speaker, Miss Flora von Weiler of Royal Oak.

Chairmen are starting the year enthusiastically, feeling that the present world crisis makes even more important than usual their work for the Red Cross, their aid to the occupational therapy department on Ellis Island and their several approaches to the promotion of good citizenship.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Earl Mastick, the program chairman, introduced Miss von Weiler, who complimented the group for its salute to the flag and wished more groups might do this.

Miss von Weiler told a story of going to Holland to study music in the summer of 1939, intending to stay with her wealthy relatives near the Hague.

The next day after the German invasion she gave up her music. Her impressions were those of a fun-loving girl just out of high school. She told of dances where the girls refused to dance with the German soldiers, of the night she and her cousin spent in jail because the military police caught them out on their bicycles after twelve o'clock.

All citizens were obliged to stay off the streets between midnight and four in the morning, the speaker related.

But Miss von Weiler did not escape the inconveniences and horrors of war. Due to food rationing and nervous strain she became very thin. Her Dutch doctor recommended cod liver oil; she then went to a German doctor for a permit to buy the oil and he allowed her half the specified amount and only for a short period of time.

Butter was rationed out to the citizens, she reported, and all other oils and fats were unavailable. Tea was made from a mixture of equal parts of huckleberry, strawberry and raspberry leaves, dried, and coffee was made from roasted split peas, she explained.

The substitute for leather shoes became wooden heels and soles topped with pigskin.

Of the bombing of Rotterdam, she said, "Nothing is left in the business sections; the people walked with bowed heads."

Bicycles were the popular means of travel and tires were difficult to buy. All automobiles, she asserted, were taken by the Germans and the owners were given receipts for the same, payable after the war.

At two and at seven o'clock each afternoon when the English broadcast could be heard, Miss von Weiler said windows were tightly closed and people were shut in their homes listening for news, in spite of laws forbidding this. Penalties were fines and imprisonment of three months or more for violations.

The speaker related that the Dutch especially delighted in the excellent British intelligence service which made it possible for air fields to be bombed over and over again, just as they were made ready for use.

After repeated delays, Miss von Weiler left to return to the United States in May. She traveled by night train, shades tightly drawn, to Berlin, thence by air to Barcelona, Madrid, Lisbon and finally by Clipper to New York.

Olive Jean Compton Weds Robert Mettetal

Palms, tapers and white and peach gladioli decorated the altar of the Baptist church of Plymouth, Tuesday evening, for the wedding ceremony uniting Olive Jean Compton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Compton, of Mill street, and Robert Jerome Mettetal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Mettetal, which was performed at 7 o'clock by the Rev. G. H. Enns.

The bride wore an ensemble of cadet blue wool with matching accessories. Her corsage was gardenias. Her only attendant was Beatrice Eberly, who also wore a suit of blue and a corsage of yellow roses and pink gladioli.

Eli Mettetal attended his brother as best man and the ushers were Gordon Vetal and Lyndon Luker.

Mrs. Compton was gowned in black and Mrs. Mettetal in light blue lace. Both wore a corsage of tea roses and blue straw flowers.

A reception followed in the dining room of the church for 50 guests, where peach gladioli decorated the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Mettetal left that evening on a motor trip to St. Paul, Minnesota, where they are visiting relatives.

Both are graduates of Plymouth high school and the bridegroom took a short course in agriculture at the Michigan State college. They will reside on Lilley road.

They have the best wishes of a host of friends in and about Plymouth.

Mrs. Walter Hammond and Ann Donnelly were in Mt. Clemens, Tuesday attending the state convention of the League of Women Voters. On Wednesday, Mrs. Austin Whipple, Mrs. Maurice Woodworth, Mrs. James Sessions attended the meetings, as representatives from the Plymouth group.

Kroger Sales Show 22 Per Cent Gain

A 22 per cent gain in sales for the ninth four-week period of 1941 over sales for the same period in 1940 was reported here today by officials of the Kroger Grocery and Baking company.

Sales for the period which ended September 6 were $23,144,853 compared with sales of $18,979,975 for the corresponding period last year.

Cumulative sales for the first nine periods amounted to $201,429,050, a 15 per cent increase over sales of $175,758,140 for the same nine periods a year ago.

Average number of stores in operation during the period was 3,555 compared with an average of 3,803 stores in operation during the 1940 ninth period.

Inside Story

ing on patrol at 10,000 feet until that time. He told me that he was on his way back from the railroad, getting our daily rations, when he noticed a flock of armored cars encircling the armory. Investigation on his part showed them to be Blue Army L. got in the "Geep," together with Lt. Brown and Lt. Holtsberg, my administrative officers, and we made a stealthy reconnaissance of the armory. Sure enough the Blues had captured the whole Sixth Wing Staff, together with the mass of intricate radio and intercept equipment—the nerve center of the Red Air Force. Best of all, General Wash, commanding the Sixth Pursuit Wing, as well as the Intercept Command, was sleeping there and was captured along with the rest of the staff. All this time, Red armored regiments were pouring south through here, only three blocks from where this small Blue detachment had made this capture—between no Blue forces whatsoever within 15 miles or more to the south.

"I drove up and down the Red armored column until I found a Colonel who had some authority, and we diverted an entire armored regiment from the line of march, encircling the Blues, and capturing them, and finally setting the Wing Staff, including General Wash, free. But in the meantime, due to the complete paralysis of the Red Air Force nerve center (the armory), Blue aviation had bombed the town and our airport without as much as one of our ships getting off the ground. The airport bombing cost us five P-39's, and one of our two runways. However, the runway will be repaired by tomorrow morning, by the Twenty-first Engineers working all night, and fortunately the remaining good one was into the wind most of the day. The funniest sidelight on the capture of the General was his standing indignantly only partially dressed, telling a captain, dirty underwear, first lieutenant, in charge of the Blue forces that captured him, that they couldn't do that to him, that the Armory was neutral ground, and the lieutenant saying in a slow drawl, "Well, General, you show me the orders to that effect, and maybe I'll release you but if you don't produce those orders in 15 minutes I'll take the whole kit and caboodle of you to Third Army Headquarters for questioning." In the meantime, I'd brought up the Red Armored outfit, and the General was able to go back to bed. The upshot of the whole thing was that the Armory HAD been declared neutral ground, simply because it was poorly located strategically before the war started. We all had agreed that it was not subject to capture, but forgot to notify some of these rough and tough boys that make up these mechanized outfits. And, believe me, they are rough and tough. They don't bathe, or wash or sleep except standing up or rolling around in their armored cars or tanks. They eat corn willy in preference to decent food, and despise the other branches of the service because they are too sophisticated. If we had enough of these mechanized troops, we could lick the world with both hands tied behind our backs.

This is really rough and tough—I haven't had a dry bed for over three weeks. If it isn't soaked by rain, it's soaked by dew or the humidity. My clothes are all ruined as far as ever looking good again, but I've gotten past the point of caring. I go around caked with mud, greasy from the airplane, eating out of greasy mess kit, and sleeping if and when there's an opportunity. Fortunately, as you've heard me say dozens of times, I've the finest squadron in the whole Air Force, and the companionship of these boys, young as they are, has made life livable for me. However, I feel that I'm doing a definitely worthwhile job, if that's any consolation. When we'll get back north, if ever, I don't know—we don't know from one day to the next what is going to happen."

Mrs. W. C. Schoof entertained her Hook and Needle club on Thursday afternoon, at her home on Mill street.

HORSEPOWER ON THE HOOF A Michigan brood mare with her seventeenth foal. Most of the sires enrolled in the state are of the heavy draft breeds—Belgians and Percherons.

EVEN in motor-wise Michigan, the horse still has a big share in getting the day's work done. Automobiles and trucks have replaced him on the road. Tractors are taking away much of his heavy farm work. But there are plenty of jobs left for him to do, faithfully and profitably. Michigan's horse population is 340,000, in addition to which there are 7,000 mules in the state. Many farmers use the telephone to order hay and feed, to arrange for hiring out their teams on road work or on farm jobs for the neighbors, or to consult the veterinarian. Horse dealers call up their customers to make sales, and keep in touch with breeders and shippers by Long Distance. Today, good work teams are in demand, and there is increased interest in raising colts in Michigan. Horses have played a mighty part in developing our resources, and it looks as if they're here to stay. Duck Season Fast Approaching

Only 14 Days Left Before Opening

It won't be long now! Plymouth duck hunters who are counting the days, say that there are only 14 days left between this issue of The Plymouth Mail and the opening of the 1941 duck hunting season.

They are not only counting the days, before the season opens, but they have figured out that it will be 81 days between now and the time the season closes. The duck season this year lasts for 60 days, the longest hunting period given to duck hunters in years.

The fall influx of ducks and other migratory birds congregating in this part of the state preparatory to the annual flight to southern wintering grounds is already being observed by the conservation department officials.

Numerous gray and black ducks and a scattered few blue-wing teal and pintails have been observed among the ducks. When the southern flights begin within a few weeks, game farm-raised ducks will be unable to accompany the wild species, pinioned wings preventing flight.

Numerous cedar waxwings, small, delicately colored birds, also are congregating for their annual flights, which are erratic wanderings probably influenced by food supply. Waxwings often are present in Michigan in winter. Considered the poliest of bird species, waxwings here often are seen perched closely together, passing worms and choke or pin cherries from mouth to mouth.

Canvassacks and ruddy ducks, previously limited to three a day, have been removed from the restricted list in the new federal waterfowl hunting regulations. Redheads and buffleheads, however, remain on the restricted list, and only three of either, or three of the two species combined may be taken in a day and included in the total daily bag limit of 10, of all species.

Restrictions against use of bait or live decoys are continued this year, and a clause has been added forbidding the taking of waterfowl by using cattle, horses or mules as blinds.

Daily limit on geese and brant, except Ross's geese which are protected, is six a day. Of these, not more than three may be other than blue geese.

Twice the daily bag limit of ducks and geese may be had in possession.

Only other major change in federal regulations affecting the Michigan hunters is the closing of the season on Wilson snipe, or jacksnipe.

City Hall Given New Coat of Paint

Dewey Holloway has just completed the painting and decorating of the Plymouth city hall.

With its new coat of colonial white paint, the structure has a far better appearance than it has had in years.

It seems that every one in the city is pleased over the elimination of the unattractive yellow color that was placed on the building eight or ten years ago. A dark green has been used for the trim of the structure.

Rebekahs Attend District Meeting

Lodge Votes to Buy Defense Savings Bond

Twenty-three members of the Plymouth Rebekah lodge attended the visitation held last Wednesday at Garland Rebekah lodge in Detroit for all lodges in district eight. All members of the Plymouth lodge have been invited to attend a friendship party next Tuesday, September 23, at Milan, Michigan.

The local lodge will hold its regular birthday party for members whose birthdays are in July, August and September on September 26. This party is also to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the Rebekahs.

Members voted at the lodge's last meeting on Friday to purchase a defense bond and to join the "canteen" to send gifts at least once a month to members' sons who are in camp.

Board Receives Dental Ruling

Warns of Evasion by Extraction of Teeth

The local dental profession has been advised through its society and publications that whenever a draft registrant requires removal of teeth, the matter should be cleared through the local board, it is stated in a bulletin issued to local boards by Major Clarence Owen, medical coordinator of the Wayne county division of the selective service system.

"If a dentist requests permission from the local board to remove certain teeth from draft registrants, the local board should request the dentist to take X-ray pictures of the questionable teeth and to seek consultation with another dentist outside his own office. The reports of the dentist and consulting dentist and the X-ray examination should then be sent to the local board. If the local board so desires, it may then refer the matter to its own examining dentist and if in the judgment of the local board the removal of teeth is justified, permission should be granted," declares Major Owen.

"Should registrants fail to obtain permission from the local board for the removal of teeth, and an insufficient number of teeth remain to qualify for military service, the registrant should be inducted on waiver," the statement concludes.

Schrader's Win Championship

Receive Trophy for Inter-County Title

Schrader-Haggerty won the Inter-County League championship of the white division by defeating the Inkster Linderman team by the score of 11 to 4. After the game, the team was presented with a trophy donated by the Tool Shop of Detroit. In the evening, three of the heroes of the game were heard over the air on station WJBK at 11 o'clock.

The outstanding players were Ken DuBozy, pitcher, Warry Bassett and Harold Williams. Pitcher DuBozy gave up only five hits, walked none, got two hits and a walk and scored three of the runs. Bassett walked the first four times at bat and got a single the fifth time to drive in a run, his third of the game. The real hero was Harold Williams, who upon two occasions singled to drive in two runs after Bassett had been walked intentionally to get to Williams. He got three hits out of five trips to the plate and drove in five of the runs.

The leading hitter in the playoffs is Clarence Levandowski, with a batting average of .621. Next Sunday Schrader's start the Little World Series at Riverside park. They will play Belleville for the best two out of three games. The winners of this series will receive a large trophy donated by the league officials. The game Sunday at Riverside Park starts at 2:30 o'clock. George Molnar will be the starting pitcher for Schrader's.

Supervisor Ely Is Now Just 71

Northville Citizen Celebrates by Working

Seventy-one years ago last Tuesday was a great day for the folks who lived out around Free Church Corners, just beyond the Cherry Hill country.

For that was the day that Willard Ely, for more than 15 years supervisor of Northville township, made his appearance on this earth.

Yes, last Tuesday was his birthday and the Northville Rotary club duly observed the event.

Except for a few years spent in California, Mr. Ely's entire life has been lived in this part of Wayne county, where his friendships are legion.

His 15 years of service to Northville township as supervisor, interrupted but once by a change of administration in the township, has been outstanding because of the excellence of his administration. He is the only supervisor from this part of Wayne county to ever serve as chairman of the board.

Although "up in the years," Mr. Ely works continuously at his job with the Ford Motor company at its plant in this city.

He is enjoying the best of health and his many friends are wishing for him many more birthday anniversaries.

The golden rule in life is moderation in all things.—Terence.

Mrs. Elmer Reddeman Wins Flower Prizes

Mrs. Elmer J. Reddeman, first-year entrant in the Plymouth Flower show recently, received five prizes for her exhibits in various classifications, according to a final report of the judges.

Mrs. Reddeman's prize entries included first prizes for a patriotic display, a winter bouquet and Chinese forget-me-nots, a second prize for luncheon arrangement and a third prize for petunias in the specimen blooms.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Parmalee were hosts, Sunday, at dinner having the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Parmalee and daughter, Lou Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stanger, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Thomas, and her mother, Mrs. Dorman, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Goodmont, of Clinton. There were four generations represented in the group.

New Teachers at Plymouth High

Paul Goodman
 One of the new teachers at Plymouth high school this year is Paul Goodman, who graduated from Hillsdale college with a B.A. degree in 1938. He will be graduating from University of Michigan this summer with his Master's Degree. Mr. Goodman came here from South Lyon where he had taught three years of social science. At Plymouth he is teaching business arithmetic and geography.

Helen Margaret Hatcher
 Miss Helen Margaret Hatcher, who is doing her first teaching this year, is seventh grade mathematics teacher in Plymouth high school. She received two years of training at Highland Park Junior college before obtaining her B.A. degree at Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti. Miss Hatcher's hobbies are chiefly concerned with her particular enjoyment of outdoor sports of all kinds.

H. E. Reeves
 H. E. Reeves, a teacher, who is teaching his first year at the Plymouth Junior high school was born and received his early education at Belding, Michigan. He is head of the geography department in position formerly held by Paul Weatherhead, who resigned late in the summer to take a banking position. Mr. Reeves attended the Kalamazoo college for one year. Then after the World War he went to the University of Nebraska in 1927 and 1932. He was Graduate assistant at the University of Nebraska in 1937 and 1938 while finishing requirements for a Master's degree. He has been in school work for 18 years, teaching in the specialized field of geography and history.

Doug Lorenz Is Senior President

Miss Olmstead
 Miss Olmstead is taking Mrs. Miller's place in the physical education department. Besides teaching physical training she also teaches first aid, hygiene, and supervises the Leaders' club. Her home town is Saginaw. She was graduated from Michigan State Normal at Ypsilanti and taught at Harbor Springs and Central high at Ypsilanti before coming here. When asked what her reactions were in regard to this school she replied that she liked the pupils but "there are so many of them."

Miss Delaforce
 Miss Delaforce, new teacher in the commercial department, was graduated from Michigan State Normal college with a bachelor of Science degree. She is the typing instructor in Plymouth, the first school in which she has taught.

Clarence Luchman
 Mr. Luchman, Plymouth high school's new music instructor, is taking the place of Miss Hamill and Mr. Evans. After graduating from Michigan Normal and the University of Michigan, he taught at Romulus for five years. When he arrived there, he did not find any music department to speak of. This spring when he left, there were two bands, two orchestras, and a mixed chorus. He has directed an adult music education class at Lansing, teaching interested people how to carry on musical recreation programs in their own communities. This fall he is planning to complete his last semester towards a master's degree in music.

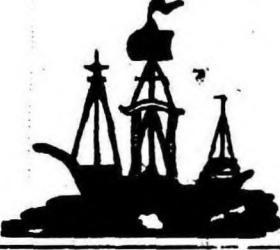

While working here he will be aided by Mr. Evans in making the band formations, drilling the majorettes, and distributing uniforms; and by Miss Hamill in violin instruction. Mr. Luchman wishes to organize bands in grade school and junior high, besides improving the present senior high band. The pre-grades band got a good start two years ago when the "tonette" classes were organized. One of Mr. Luchman's greatest ambitions is to organize a good boys' chorus. He remarked that a school of this size should have at least 80 boys out for the boys' chorus and the way things are progressing he will have a good percentage of this number in a short time. The girls' chorus is showing new signs of promise. The new director was quite pleased by the enthusiasm shown by the girls.

The band is woefully lacking in instrumentation. Mr. Luchman is looking for students to play the oboe, baritone, drums, and trumpet. The school is ordering cellos and violas for the orchestra.

Senior Leaders' Club Elects Officers

Senior Leaders' club held its first meeting of the semester Monday, September 15. These officers were elected: President, Jane Lehman; vice-president, Virginia Garrison; secretary, Dorothy Fisher; treasurer, Ruth Drews; program committee chairman, Barbara Stover. One girl was chosen from each class to be on the committee. Chosen from the seniors was Phyllis Nichols; juniors, Janice Downing; sophomores, Lois Vetal. New members will be taken in later.

The annual report of George L. Leslie, M.D., medical superintendent of the Michigan State Sanatorium, shows that 683 patients were given treatment during the past year. The sanatorium was observed its thirty-fourth anniversary Sunday, September 7.

High School Band Plays at Fair

The Plymouth high school band marched from the high school under the direction of its new leader, Clarence Luchman, to make its first appearance of the season on Thursday afternoon, September 11 at the Northville-Wayne County fair.

The band rode in an open truck donated by the Eukles Coal and Supply Company and was escorted by a police car and a Plymouth fire truck which led the parade made up of more than 150 cars from Plymouth.

The band, led by drum major, Louise Carter, marched from the gate of the race track down to the grandstand where members took their places while the remainder of the parade drove around the track and parked their cars.

After witnessing some very thrilling trotting races and playing a series of "Gridiron Marches," the band was told that it could have its choice of a fine chicken dinner or the amount of $35.00. It was agreed by the entire band to take the money to help buy instruments and other necessities. This seems to indicate a fine start for this season. The band's next appearance will be on October 10, at the first home football game with Ypsilanti high school.

Martha Scott In Person

Believe it or not Martha Scott of Hollywood fame, who had the lead in "Three Cheers For Miss Bishop" presented at the local theatre recently, is personally known by two members of the high school faculty.

She attended a Christmas party after a Senior Prom here some years ago accompanied by Mrs. Nott, the former Miss Perkins who at one time taught the ninth grade English, and Miss Fry, our art teacher.

Miss Scott studied at the University of Michigan at the same time that Miss Ford was there. They lived next door to each other and were in the same drama class.

When Miss Ford and Miss Fry first knew Martha Scott she had not achieved success as yet but was known for her beautiful voice. She has struggled hard and long for the success she has won.

Football Team Shows Promise

The Plymouth high school football season for 1941-42 is now under way under the direction of Coach Anthony Matulis, assistant coach William Lamiman, and freshman coach, Melvin Blunk. From all appearances the football team should be very good because of the number of lettermen and veterans who are returning, and because of the splendid new material this year. The lettermen are Baker, Erdelyi, Folsom, Hunter, Petrowski, Seguin, Sessions. The boys who did not receive letters last year but who are hopeful this year are Donahue, Ebersole, Fisher, Kerney, Thams, and Wellman. Some of the new material includes Grimes, Herschler, Ribblet, Sheppard, Stevens, Wilkie, Williams and Dale Wisely. The importance of the football team is clearly indicated by the number of boys who were on the freshmen team last year and are trying for the varsity this year. They are Belter, Brose, Campbell, Hoyer, Nagel, Olson, Rutenbar, Schepele, Ward and Dick Wisely.

Of this number Belter, Campbell, Rutenbar, and Schepele show great promise. On Friday of last week the teams had a scrimmage with Farmington and at this time there were two games going on at the same time. In the first string scrimmage the teams used Sessions, Hunter, and Donahue at ends; Campbell, Erdelyi and Schepele at tackles; Folsom at center; and Thams, and Petrowski at guards. In the backfield were Wilkie, Seguin, Belter, Baker and Kearney. From this scrimmage and the practices so far Mr. Matulis says that the defense is good but needs a little polishing. The timing on running plays is not consistent; either they are too fast or too slow. "The boys are going to work hard this week," says Coach Matulis. Sheppard and Ribblet were both unable to go to Farmington, Sheppard being ill and Ribblet having been hurt outside of football.

This year's freshman team consists of 45 promising candidates. The team will learn new plays this week.

Getting Around

The popular pastime of this week seemed to be to attend a wienie roast before going to the Northville fair, Friday night. Beth Ann Hobeisel, Glen Frederick, Peggy Millard, Mike Kleinschmidt, Margaret Jean Nichol and Lincoln Hale tried their luck at roasting hot dogs before going to the fair. Saturday evening Murtle Schrader, Ed Curmi, Louise Newman, Gordon Ross, Elaine Waters, Bob Sessions, Nina Jean Lawson, Jim Sexton, Wilma Longsbury, Clarence Hoffman and Doris Langendam also had a roast before the fair.

Virginia Moss, Jack Baker, Joyce Tarnutzer, Jack Christensen, Janet Strachen, Larry Arnold, Signe Hogge, Bob Bachelder, Marion Parsons, Orlyn Lewis, Nina Jean Lawson, and Jim Sexton danced to the music of Bobby Byrns at Eastwood Gardens Friday night.

Fern Bower visited her grandmother in South Lyon for the week-end.

The Home Economics club will meet at the home of Beverly Eschels on Tuesday, September 16.

Miss Lundin, Mrs. Soule and Mrs. Hexoc will attend the group of Home Making teachers at picnic at Flat Rock on Monday, September 15.

Miss Lundin and Mrs. Soule attended State Vocational Home Economics Camp conference near Allegan in August. There were 135 Home Making teachers from various parts of Michigan enrolled at this conference.

Frosh Reception On September 19

It was decided the Annual Freshman Reception will be held September 19, from 3:30 until 5 o'clock in the large gym.

This event is given each fall by the senior class to welcome the incoming freshmen. The general chairman is Leslie Jean Ebert. The committee chairmen are these: Entertainment, Ruth Drews; refreshments, Virginia Garrison; host and hostess and invitations; Marie Ann Miller.

Sophomores to Have V Dance

In keeping with the trend of the times the sophomore class will hold a V for victory dance, September 26 in the high school gymnasium.

They hope to make it a double victory, for the Plymouth high school football team will play Trenton on that same day. So, pupils, celebrate one victory any way; one over Hitler and one over Trenton. But VICTORY is in the air.

Junior High Elects Officers

Amid discussion and confusion the seventh, eighth and ninth grades selected nominees for class officers and student council representatives Monday morning and elected them Friday. Those nominated and elected were, for the seventh grade, student council: David McTash and Barbara Green with Barbara winning; Marion Kirkpatrick defeated Douglas Blunk in the presidential race; in the secretarial race Razo Erickson defeated Joe Fulton; Pat Martin is treasurer after a close race with Ann Hopkins; Marion Fisher was elected vice president; over Maxine Martin. These elected were determined by 35 of the registered seventh graders.

Seventy-three of the 84 registered voters came to the poles for the eighth grade and elected Jacky Dalton president over the close competition of Vincent Simonetti and Barbara Sutt; Celia Clayton defeated Pauline Wiedman in the race for vice president; others elected were Ann Ray, secretary; Jean Sheppele, treasurer and Beth Laughlin student council representative. These defeated Barbara Davis, Marjorie Elliott, Caroline Goodale and Ruth Campbell respectively.

In the ninth grade Arnold Phillips won, Hugh Harsha and Eunice Meinzeiger tied, and Donna Day was defeated in the race for student council. Clarence Hoffman defeated Richard Erdelyi in the presidential race; the vice president is Russell Downing who defeated Hank Shultz; the treasurer's position was won by Bill Bauman who defeated George Waters; George Newton defeated Jack Labbe in the secretarial race. Ninety two of the 112 who registered voted in the ninth grade.

Bob Fisher Elected Mayor of School

The winning mayoral candidate was Bob Fisher. The council winners are as follows: For the seventh grade, Barbara Green; the ninth grade, Arnold Phillips; with a tie resulting between Hugh Harsha and Eunice Meinzeiger for the other representative. For the tenth grade Annabelle Heller and Wendell Johnson; the eleventh grade, Marion Goodman, Gordon Vetal and Dorothy Fisher; the twelfth grade, Marie Ann Miller, Nancy McLaren and Dudley Martin.

Teachers' Meeting Held Tuesday

The teachers enjoyed a social meeting held in the gymnasium Tuesday afternoon. Getting acquainted games were played for the benefit of the new teachers and later ice cream and cake furnished by Mr. Smith were served. No business was carried on, this meeting being strictly social.

Girls Complete Summer Home-Making Projects

Home Making Projects were worked out by 137 girls during the summer under the supervision of Miss Lundin and Mrs. Soule. Home projects move Home Economics class work into the home where a program of three points is emphasized including class work, consisting of units based on life problem of students, with related home practice work carried on within the home and home project work which may be carried on within the home or community. Home practice work consists simply in going home and trying one's hand at what one has seen demonstrated in class. A home project is application in a normal situation in daily living of principles stressed in home economics. It is the planning and carrying to completion in the home community the procedure which aims to answer some need or solve some problem of individual pupil, family or community.

New Enrollment All-Time High

Enrollment at Plymouth high school hit a new high this fall with 1118 students enrolled against 1094 at this time last year. Principal C. J. Dykhouse announced Wednesday.

The most notable change occurred in the tenth grade, where 280 pupils enrolled, compared with 205 last year. The ninth grade had 312 pupils enrolled last year and only 267 this fall. The senior class also dropped this year with 147 students against 166 last year. The seventh, eighth, and eleventh grades all showed small increases.

There are nine apprentices so far this year, while 1940 showed 14.

Ottawa county has the distinction of having 23 per cent of its farm income coming from the poultry and egg business, the highest percentage of any county in the state.

N.Y.A. Allots $66 A Month

The National Youth Administration will be continued in school this year. Mr. Dykhouse says that Lansing will allow Plymouth $66 a month a year for aid to the students.

This plan pays 20 cents an hour to those who help in the cafeteria, mend books in the library, do janitor work, and other jobs.

So far, however, only a few have applied for the jobs. In fact, Mrs. Partridge said that only two have come out to work in the cafeteria. She needs more help first and second hours. The girls work one period. For this they receive their lunch and four dollars a month.

GOOD LIGHTING HELPS THE FARMER AND HIS WIFE

IMAGINE the convenience and comfort good farmyard and barn lighting can bring you: As you step into the darkness to do the chores, you flip a switch and floodlight the yard. No more stumbling in the dark.

In the barns, in the workshop, in every building on the modern farm, plenty of light speeds up work, protects against thieves and accidents. Lights in the poultry house increase egg production at the season when egg prices are high.

In the home, good lighting is essential to good living. It makes household chores easier to do, saves time and strength, protects against dangerous eyestrain.

Go to your dealer or electric service company. You'll find that it's easy to have good farm and home lighting at low cost.

Back From North With Fish Story

Powell-Rambo Party Have Good Luck

What a fight! What a "knock down and drag out" affair it proved to be—that battle William Rambo, two hundred and fifty pounder, experienced the other day in Batchawana bay on the north side of Lake Superior, with a lake trout. Such a battle!

It required the combined power of "Bill," the motor on the boat, and the advice and cheers of his companions in the boat, to land THAT fish.

And what a fish THAT fish proved to be—a dinky little pound and a half trout!

To hear his companions tell about it, one would have thought that "Bill" had hooked as big a lunker as ever lunked in Lake Superior.

"Boy, I've got a BIG one," yelled "Bill" to his companions as he hooked the fish.

His pole twisted and bent. "Bill" twisted and bent with the pole. The operator of the power boat speeded up his motor in an effort to drown the fish. He really thought "Bill" had a whopper!

Finally the "catch" was landed in the boat.

"Why "Bill," that's only bait you've got on your hook," ridiculed Russell Powell as he saw the big one flop over the side of the craft.

"It isn't even bait," taunted Vernon Weed, who was in the boat. "It's a dwarf minnow," he sneered at "Bill's" big catch.

But others in this Canadian fishing party really did catch some fish (so they say) on their recent trip to the Batchawana country.

One was a 24-pound pike, and several trout, weighing from five to 20 pounds were landed.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. William Rambo, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Powell, Miss Marie Powell, Vernon Weed and Merritt Rorabacher.

P. S.—Rumor has it that "Bill" really did catch one of the big trout on another one of their fishing trips.

To the Supervisor of the Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan.

You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held Friday, September 5, 1941, decide and determine that the certain section of road described in the minutes of said Board, heretofore taken over as County Road, should be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as a public highway.

The minutes of said meeting fully describing said section of road is hereby made a part of this notice, and is as follows:

Minutes of the meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, held at 3800 Barlum Tower, Detroit, Michigan, at 10:00 A.M., Friday, September 5, 1941.

Present: Commissioners Wilson, O'Brien and Breining.

Commissioner O'Brien moved the adoption of the following resolution:

"WHEREAS, a public alley, 18 feet wide, in the rear of Lots 47 to 51, inclusive, of Sheldon Park Subdivision, of part of the southeast 1/4 of the northwest 1/4 of Section 34, Town 2 South, Range 8 East, south Michigan Avenue, Canton Township, Wayne County, Michigan, as recorded in Liber 43 of Plats, Page 96 of Wayne County Records, being 0.036 miles of alley, is a County road under the jurisdiction of this Board; and

"WHEREAS, there are no buildings of any character located on said alley; and

"WHEREAS, said alley is of no use or benefit to the public;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that said alley, as described above, be and the same is hereby abandoned and discontinued as a public highway.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Board believes it to be to the best interest of the public that said alley so abandoned and discontinued should be absolutely abandoned and discontinued.

The motion was supported by Commissioner Breining and carried by the following vote: Ayes, Commissioner Wilson, O'Brien and Breining. Nays, None."

THIS NOTICE IS GIVEN UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF ACT NO. 283 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1903, AS AMENDED.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit, this 12th day of September, A.D. 1941.

South Haven became a thriving summer resort town when a freeze wiped out its famous peach orchards about the turn of the century and threw the people into the "summer boarder" business as a principal means of livelihood. The orchards have been re-established and the town now holds a Peach Festival to celebrate the Harvest and entertain the tourists.

Newburg School Newburg News

Primary Room
We have 32 children in our room. We will have a fair at our school. We will bring pets. We made a health train. We each make a car for it. We want to ride on it. We must be clean.
Mrs. Schofield is our teacher.
Sixth, Seventh, Eighth Grades
Our room has an enrollment of 41 pupils, which is the largest in several years.

We have new desks and a new bulletin board was put up Saturday.

Our Citizens' Junior club has elected officers for the year. They are: Alan Kidston, president; Robert Clement, vice-president; Lois Bryan, secretary-treasurer; Juanita Norris, girls' health officer; Roy Bennett, boys' health officer; Robert Macintyre, safety patrol captain.

We are very proud to have four children on the dental honor roll already. Allen Christensen, Bruce Kidston, Joanne Bovec and Doris Ryder have brought their dental O.K. slips and several others have appointments.

The Newburg 4-H Variety club exhibited a basket of vegetables and a plate of quick breads, gladioli, asters, and chickens at the Northville fair. Jean Ann Livernois, Lois Bryan and Dolores Schultz exhibited their clothing which they made in clothing club last winter.

School was excused on Thursday afternoon in honor of Plymouth day. Wednesday, September third, was a happy morning for everybody at Newburg school for we had learned that we had won a set of Junior Britannica encyclopedias given by Sears Roebuck and Co. to several schools in the county who have shown the most improvement in health school buildings and citizenship. We owe our thanks to Mr. Thomas, our school custodian, to our school board and to our parents, as well as to our own efforts.

We are planning a special assembly for Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at which time Mr. Fred Fisher, our county superintendent, will present the encyclopedias. All of the rooms are planning a Children's Community Fair for Friday afternoon and evening to which the public is invited.

Lois Bryan, sec'y of C.J.C. Third, Fourth and Fifth Grades
We have 37 pupils enrolled in our room.

Our Citizenship club was organized on September 5. The following officers were elected: President, Leon Christensen; vice president, Nancy Schultz; secretary-treasurer, Joan Starnitz; girls' health officer, Irene Hunt; boys' health officer, Roger Kidston.

Our Citizenship constitution was adopted and signed on September 11.

We are happy to have a new bulletin board in our room.

We are making many plans for our school fair which is to be held on Friday afternoon. We have to have exhibitors' tickets before we can enter our exhibit.

Our room has been learning poems written by Rose Fyfe.

—Nancy Jean Schultz.

Mrs. William Young, of St. Petersburg, Florida, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Paul Bowman, was the guest of honor at several lovely affairs during last week. Mrs. Bowman entertained at luncheon at the Farm Cupboard for several guests. Mrs. Ford Henwood of Detroit, gave a luncheon on Thursday and Mrs. Robert Rankin, of Detroit, a luncheon on Friday. Mrs. Melvin Gutheier who is a cousin of Mrs. Young, was among the guests invited. Mr. and Mrs. James Smart of Dearborn, were guests for the day, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Currier.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lamb spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Ford, of Dearborn, at their summer home at Leamington, Ontario.

Rev. Stanford Closson of Plymouth preached a very fine sermon, Sunday, in the Newburg Methodist church. There were one hundred in Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Picher, of Nampa, Idaho, were guests last week of the former's sister, Mrs. E. S. Thurman. Other guests in the Thurman home last week were, Mrs. Myra Thurman, Sally Irene and Jean, of Narden, Massachusetts. Sally Irene is an accomplished pianist and was soloist and guest conductor with Dr. D. Annas' band at Niagara, on September 7.

The Edwards family is moving to Plymouth on Saturday, where they will reside. They will be greatly missed in Newburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mielbeck entertained at dinner Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. V. Davhoff, of Detroit.

The Grace Memorial church of Detroit, is planning to have a Retreat service, Saturday afternoon, in the Newburg church with dinner afterward being served by members of the Women's Society of Christian Service, of the Newburg church. They expect about 100 people.

Waterford News

Public Sentiment Will Control

He's a Dictator!
 Congress has surrendered its rights!
 He's a Tyrant!
 He's got us into war!
 Do these expressions sound familiar to you? How many times during the day do you hear them? Very frequently, of course, if you get around much.

That is what REPUBLICANS, and some Democrats, are saying today.

That is what DEMOCRATS, and some Republicans, said about Lincoln back in 1861, '62, '63 and '64.

If one thinks congress has abrogated its rights today, it should not forget that back in 1861 congress gave the President a right to have any man arrested, no matter whether he was a Governor of some state, a teamster, a newspaper editor or a brick layer. He had a right to put a man in jail and keep him there as long as he wanted to without filing charges against him or telling him why he had been arrested.

The President did cause the arrest of thousands of people. Army officers suppressed a Chicago newspaper and deprived its editors of their right to a free press.

President Lincoln during the Civil war had MORE POWER than has ever been given to ANY president, before or since his time.

But America was safe, because President Lincoln had none of the spirit of the dictator in his heart.

Our country today faces as grave a danger as it did in 1861. In view of the threat to our way of life, here is one newspaper editor who is willing to take our chances with the President of today who is being branded by his opponents as a Dictator, just as Lincoln's opponents called him a Dictator—willing to take the chance because American public sentiment today will never permit President Roosevelt or anyone else to abolish the first article of our Bill of Rights in the constitution.

Our View-Point Correct

Some weeks ago The Plymouth Mail expressed some criticism because of the fact that President Roosevelt had not called into consultation on his various war discussions some of the outstanding Republican leaders of congress. It was with considerable satisfaction that we read the other day that he did invite Speaker Martin of the house of representatives and Senator McNary to the White House to discuss with him some of the statements he was about to make in his last address upon America's future course in world events. As far as we know it was the President's first recognition of the fact that the problems growing out of Hitler's war are the problems of all America instead of one political party. It was a gesture of the right sort and we commend the President for his action.

Plymouth Did Its Part

Last week Thursday was "Plymouth day" at the Northville-Wayne County Fair. The event is one occasion during the year when this community can demonstrate to its progressive neighbor to the north that it is interested in its affairs and in anything which might advance the welfare of Northville.

And Plymouth did not fail this year. Nearly 175 automobiles, loaded with patrons, took part in the Plymouth parade to the Northville fair grounds. Hundreds of local citizens who could not get away in time to get into the parade drove over later to the fair, so that they could be counted "present" on Plymouth's day.

The Mail wishes to commend the fine public spirit manifested on this occasion. It not only enabled Plymouth to demonstrate its good will to Northville in its effort to keep in existence what has long been termed the "best little fair in Michigan," but it proved in a most conclusive way the fact that Plymouth citizens are willing to go more than half way to help boost along community projects of its neighbors. Again congratulations.

It Is Up to Hitler

There have been some who have suggested since the President's speech last week that he "declared war" on Hitler. The President cannot declare war. Only congress can declare war.

As we see it the only thing President Roosevelt did was to tell Hitler that America has a right to sail the seas, that we do not intend to surrender to his dictatorship any of the liberties we have enjoyed since the early years of our government, and that if he interferes with our freedom, something is going to happen.

President Roosevelt did the same thing two previous presidents did—he told foreign powers to keep their hands off America. John Quincy Adams and Thomas Jefferson when they warned hostile nations and pirates sailing the seas back some century and a half ago to mind their own business and leave America alone, they did not usurp any congressional authority to declare war. They simply acted under the authority of the presidential office—and they avoided war by the measures they took.

Let us hope that the same stern measures President Roosevelt has taken will also be successful in warding off a new war.

A Worthy Candidate

Dr. John A. Ross, who conducts an extensive optometrical business in Plymouth and western Wayne county, has filed as a candidate for the city council in Detroit. His many friends about here hope that he will be one of the winners. They hope so because he has the right outlook upon life, he has the right ideals, and he has the proper unselfish interest in the welfare of his neighbors, friends, and associates. One possessing these highly humane purposes could not help but give to the public the proper kind of service in a high public position. In addition to his high ideals, he is a tireless worker and Detroit citizens would profit by the elevation of one of his ability and driving force as a member of his highest administrative body. May good fortune come to Dr. Ross in his new endeavor.

Another "Bunk" Promise

When the Wagner labor act was passed, the chief argument used to induce its adoption was the promise that it would end industrial strife in this country—that there would be no more strikes.

Time has proved that the law did nothing of the kind. In fact, since its enactment, it has produced more strikes and more industrial strife than the country has ever before experienced—not only more strikes, but two and three times as many strikes.

What, in your judgment, should be done with a law that has failed so miserably to accomplish the purposes for which it was adopted?

The True, American Spirit

At the meeting of the Rotary club last Friday noon, the writer happened to sit at a table with a prominent Plymouth resident who has been one of the severest critics of President Roosevelt's Nudéal experimentation. Some years ago he declared that seemingly everything the President was doing seemed to be the wrong thing. Time has borne out the correctness of his assertions and the more recent failures of Nudéalism has only added to that hostility.

But! This Plymouth citizen happens to be an intensely loyal American citizen.

"No matter what we think of some of his politics and what he has done in the past, he is OUR president and in his stand against the Hitler threat of our nation I, for one, am with him one hundred percent. His policies are my policies. Our country, being a democracy, is like a big family. We may have fights and rows among ourselves, but when some big bully comes along with a chip on his shoulder, it is my idea that we should stop our family fights and get together to clean up the fellow who is out looking for a fight," was the general theme of his sentiments.

That is mighty good logic, it is good American logic—and it comes from a Republican who has thoroughly detested the crazy, bureaucratic Nudéal administration.

It typifies the kind of Americanism which has made this country the greatest and the most free in all the world.

What Next?

It has just been made known down in Washington that one of the motion pictures some of the "isolationists" have branded as "war propaganda" is the one entitled "The Dictator," which was shown recently in the Penniman-Allen theatre in Plymouth.

Well, if that picture is "propaganda" that should be prohibited, then we might as well give up all of our claims to freedom of the press and freedom of speech.

It is true that the picture ridiculed Europe's mad-slayer, Adolph Hitler. And the big crowd in the theatre hooted at some of the antics of the phoney dictator.

But why shouldn't Hitler be ridiculed? Why shouldn't the motion picture industry have a right to make fun of him and condemn him? He is a vicious character, an American hater—and a threat to our continued peace and progress.

We wonder if it can be possible that the "isolationists" have in mind the muzzling of motion pictures because of this indirect criticism of a vicious killer? And if they should be successful in placing the motion picture industry in jeopardy, what is to prevent them from going one step farther and saying to the newspapers of America that they cannot condemn the notorious European killer?

We hope that Wendell Willkie will be able to smoke out the elements that are back of this senate inquiry.

It is too dangerous a threat to our American way and our American rights to let it get away on a wild, smearing rampage, such as apparently certain elements have in mind.

And They Call It Freedom

Hitler recently kicked the Christian Science church organization out of his country. Mussolini a few days ago banned all foreign newspapers from Italy. Not since last July have Italians been permitted to read American newspapers. The Masonic lodges, the Rotary clubs and all other similar organizations were long ago kicked out of both Germany and Italy.

And still we hear that there are people in these free United States who are perfectly willing to have America become a German-Italian colony. It seems that it is about time for this powerful country of ours to RISE UP and tell the world that we have no intention of becoming a Hitler-Mussolini puppet nation, and that we commend the Commander-in-Chief of our army and navy for calling the bluff of the Dictators.

RAMBLING AROUND . . .
 With Prominent Michigan Editors

Their Views About Public Problems and Issues

LOCOS AT LARGE

Every so often, in history, a fellow outside of an insane asylum pops up who thinks he is Napoleon.—R. G. Jeffries in The Lowell Ledger.

A COMMON SENSE VIEWPOINT

I wonder if there aren't other parents of sons who are getting a bit tired, as I am, of the continual bickering by those who oppose practically everything the government does in its defense program.

Most parents certainly do not want their sons to go to war, if it can possibly be avoided. There are not many things worse than war; but there are some, as the enslaved nations of Europe are learning day by day.

One of the latest squawks to come to my attention concerning the activities of the Federal government is the protest of the New York Daily News (largest circulation in America) about the enforced cutting down of gasoline consumption in the east. This paper works oh-so-hard to show the tremendous effect that a lower gasoline consumption is going to have on New York's standards of living and ways of doing business.

An editorial sneeringly says, "It may be that a real gasoline shortage exists in this country." Then it gathers together all the rumors possible and reports that, "it is still talked around" that Britain has been given more United States tankers than it needs; that railway tank cars are available in abundance, but unused; that the public in the New York area actually has cut its gas purchases by 20 per cent, and so on.

It gives no evidence to back up these rumors, which are the kind that can develop in the minds of anybody who is against what the government does. On the other hand, it does think that Ralph K. Davies, assistant petroleum coordinator, should go into the greatest detail in denying that all these various things are true.

Personally, I will be tickled to death to go without gasoline if it will help fly planes or operate tanks that are used by British, Russian or Chinese soldiers instead of our own. I am much more anxious that we provide one more oil tanker to Britain than is absolutely needed rather than have us supply one less than is needed and have to make up the difference by sending soldiers.

We recently received in our office a blank to be filled out for the O.P.M. and O.P.A.C.S. to show how much of various metals we have on hand. It may be necessary to curtail the use of some of these. That's still okay with me, if we can provide metal instead of men.

My own feeling is that the President is much more convinced than the average American that it may be necessary for the United States to fight. But Mr. Roosevelt, you remember, was three times elected President of this country, because a majority of the people thought he could judge what they wanted better than anyone else available for them. No one realizes better than he what the phrase "all aid short of war" means. No one, I am convinced, is more desperately trying to carry out this policy.

No one understands better than the President what an advantage the United States will possess if we come to the eventual peace conference (and there will be one sometime) without having formally taken part in the war. For his country's sake and for his own reputation, Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly will like to be the most powerful single individual at that conference.

Consequently, he is doing everything possible today to provide all the oil, metal and weapons possible to those whose defeat of Hitler can keep us out of the war.

A lot of the same people who are shouting about their patriotism and their devotion to democracy are opposing practically every step suggested to aid the enemies of totalitarianism. They keep urging also that the President disclose in great detail just what he intends to do so that the public will be sure that he is not going to do the wrong thing. They overlook the fact that such a policy would also keep Mr. Hitler informed and enable him and his allies to block our every move.

When Mr. Roosevelt was fighting the Republicans and other Anti-New Dealers, there was a lot more sense in such a demand. We felt we were all Americans, equally eager for the best welfare of the country, and that we ought to know in the greatest possible detail where the various proposals might lead.

But today we are dealing with a ruthless crowd of international bandits. Their promises and declarations do not mean a thing except as they may serve to lull to sleep the next victim on a world conquest program. So the President is smart in keeping Germany, Italy and Japan guessing just as much as he can. His ability to make grand statements that may be either a threat or a promise comes in very handy.

As the curtailing of gasoline consumption, we may be pretty sure that the situation has been gone over in great detail and that there is a need for such a step. Let's not quibble about giving up a little gas today, if, by doing so, we may avoid giving up our sons tomorrow.—Floyd Miller in The Royal Oak Tribune.

A VICTIM OF QUACK REMEDIES

This country is in an ulcerated state, aggravated largely by the application of the many quack remedies of the New Deal.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

ROGER BABSON SAYS

Railway Employees Are Entitled to Pay Raise

Concord, New Hampshire, September 19—There will be no railroad strike! The railroad employees of the United States have asked for a 30 per cent increase with the hope of getting a 15 per cent increase. The general impression is that this increase will be 10 per cent. Employees are entitled to this increase for the duration of the war but, coupled with such an increase, arrangements should now be included for an automatic readjustment after the war is over.

Railroad earnings have always been a feast or a famine. Just now, they are a feast; but after World War II they will again suffer from a famine. Not only will they suffer from the general decline in business, but also from the fleets of airplanes and miles of pipe lines being constructed. Furthermore, railroads' rates are largely fixed and hard to get increased; while their expenses are constantly increasing.

sacrificed to the passenger business which is unprofitable to nearly all the railroads. I think that ultimately we shall have to come to the Prince Plan, and perhaps go even a step further. Efficiency may demand having the trunk lines and terminals leased by the government and all railroads operate over the same on a train-mile basis. This saving would be so large that wages could be increased, the rates could be reduced, and, at the same time, railroad bonds would have greater value.

Diesel engines and streamlined trains will not solve the railroads' problem. If the railroads could lose all the passenger business it would be a great blessing. Unfortunately, they will lose only enough to make them operate at a loss. Commercial passenger airplanes will be so common after World War II that they will get the high-class passenger business while the buses will get the low bracket business. I had much rather today buy the securities of the re-organized traction companies of our larger cities than any railroad securities. Certainly, airplanes cannot compete with city transportation systems!

Admittedly, these are a gamble. I think the shipbuilding companies have a better future than the coalbuilding and locomotive companies. Water transportation is the cheapest form of transportation. Shipping appears to be a long-pull industry, however successful ocean "clippers" may be. When it comes to buying stocks of operating shipping lines, I'm not so bullish. They suffer greatly from labor and other troubles. Besides, we do not know how much the government obligations, which the shipping companies are now receiving for their commandeered ships, will be worth after World War II.

There is a paradox in connection with this shipping situation. As good citizens, we are praying that the sinking of allied ships will be stopped, but if so, this may create a surplus of ships after the war. At the present time one new ship is being launched for each two old ones that are being sunk; but in 1942 about 100 new ships should be launched every quarter. At an average tonnage of 100,000 tons this would mean about 1,000,000 tons of new tonnage. This is about the rate at which the allied sinkings are now taking place. These sinkings, however, should materially be cut down as airplane scouting is further developed. As to airplane securities as an investment, I will write next week.

Transportation is a fundamental industry but its form is constantly changing—from ox-cart to stage-coach, from stage-coach to railroad, from railroad to trucks and buses, and hence to airplanes, later some entirely new form will develop. The tendency, however, has always been for the owners of each of these forms of transportation to stick their heads in the sand and refuse to acknowledge changing conditions. True security for management, stockholders and employees comes, not through pig-headedness, but through the recognition that change and evolution are the normal course of life. Any transportation company which is being run by a management or group of employees who are thinking mainly of themselves and ignoring fundamental changes is destined to be a poor investment.

The same principle applies to other industries including manufacturing and banking. Conservative interests are today applauding a certain New Jersey bank for liquidating because of government and other handicaps. I condemn such a liquidation as a cowardly policy. Banks which are willing to adapt themselves to new conditions have a good future. Certainly, our forefathers were not afraid of any handicaps. They did not need to face government restrictions, but they faced Indian tomahawks, severe starvation and fatal epidemics. Security comes only through activity, cooperation, change and courage. As Jesus—that great economist of 2,000 years ago—told the industrialists of Jerusalem, we have our lives and property only by being willing to lose such and share such.

The bus and truck companies are—as a rule—being operated by their owners. To a large extent this also applies to shipping. The railroads, however, are being run by lawyers, bankers and others who have very, very little financial ownership in their companies. These managements may be as much of a self-perpetuating "closed shop" as are the labor unions. I prefer to invest in companies in which the officers have a large stake.

25 YEARS AGO
 And 50 years ago news taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Travis leave today for their new home at Ann Arbor, where Dr. Travis goes to take up a professorship in the dental department of the University of Michigan. Dr. and Mrs. Travis have resided in Plymouth for the past 13 years and during that time have taken a prominent part in the social and church affairs of the village and will be greatly missed in these circles.

Miss Edith Gale, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gale of this place, and W. J. Elkington of Northville, were married in Detroit last week Wednesday noon by the Rev. E. King, former pastor of the M.E. church here, at the pastor's home. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Elkington will reside in Northville. The bride has been a resident of Plymouth nearly all her life and her friends here wish her happiness.

Robert Jolliffe is driving a new Chalmers car. Miss Marion Hood is assisting at Pinckney's Pharmacy.

Louis Reber is building a garage at the rear of his residence on Starkweather avenue. Mr. and Mrs. George Gittins and little son, Douglas, of Milford, visited Mrs. J. Nash last Sunday.

Frank Dunn is moving his family this week into the new house he is building on his land just west of town.

Ed Hinkley of Northville has leased the Edison theater of E. H. Tighe and expects to soon start a bowling alley here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bake left last Saturday for Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where they will attend the wedding of the latter's niece, Miss Veda Faye.

The members of the Larkins club met at the home of Mrs. M. M. Willett Thursday afternoon. A social afternoon was enjoyed and light refreshments were served.

Mrs. Kate E. Allen is preparing to have the house recently purchased from Dr. J. J. Travis moved from its present location to one of her lots on the south side of Penniman avenue.

The crowds keep getting larger at the Plymouth Gun club's weekly shoot. Last Sunday several members of the Westwood club of Detroit took part and gave a good account of themselves. You are welcome, come and bring the ladies as they are much in evidence, some taking part in the shoot.

A barn of H. H. Thompson, occupied by his son, John, about two and one-half miles east of town on the Plymouth road, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed by fire during the severe electrical storm last Thursday evening. About twenty tons of hay, a quantity of corn, rye, buckwheat and other grains were burned. The loss is only partially covered by insurance.

Last Tuesday evening, the many friends of George Fisher gathered at the home of his sister to help him celebrate his twenty-fifth birthday anniversary. His friends are all glad to see him out after being laid up with a broken leg for two months.
