City Studies Plan For Construction Of Warehouse

Commission Awards Contracts for Building Of Comfort Station

Plans were submitted to the city commission Monday evening for the construction of a municipal garage and warehouse, to be located at Arthur and Goldsmith avenues, and bids will be received for the project on October 27.

The plans for the garage, submitted by Architect Thomas Moss, provide a building, 121x42 feet, of cinder block construction to include a repair shop for city trucks and other equipment, storage rooms and a loading platform for construction materials.

It is the city's plan to build through structure and roof this fall but the equipping and interior finishing is not to be undertaken at this time, according to City Manager Clarence H. Elliott.

The plans for the proposed new comfort station on the municipal parking lot site were approved by the city commission Monday night and the contract was awarded to Daniel S. Mills who submitted the lowest bid at $7330.

The city is calling for a public hearing October 20 on the proposed to utilize two city-owned lots at the northeast corner of North Harvey and Farmer streets as a neighborhood playground, as recommended by the planning commission.

The word comes from an abbreviation of Penniman, a family name that has for more than three generations been closely linked with the development of this splendid city.

The other theatre operated by Mr. Lush will remain as the Penniman-Allen Theatre, its name, too, being in honor of two of the early citizens who did so much for Plymouth in the early days.

The Mothers' club of the Central grade school Parent-Teacher association will meet Friday (today) at 2 o'clock in the auditorium of Central grade school to complete plans for the organization's concerted membership drive and the milk fund project for this year.

Traffic Offenses Reach New High

Increased Traffic Brings More Arrests

The number of traffic accidents and traffic tickets issued particularly for speeding offenses, during the month of September reached a new high in comparison with the same month last year and also with the previous month of August, according to a police report submitted to the city commission Monday evening.

September's total of traffic tickets issued for violations was 83, as compared with 19 for the same period last year and 63 for August of this year. There were 14 traffic accidents in September, twice as many as last year, and one more than in August. A total of $340 was collected in fines by the municipal court for traffic offenses.

The offenses for which tickets were issued are as follows: Reckless driving, 7; drunk driving, 2; illegal parking, 12; overtime parking, 6; speeding, 27 and failure to observe stop-signs, 11.

The increase in traffic violations is viewed as an indication of general prosperity as much as increased lawlessness. That more people are driving cars is indicated by the increasing number of drivers' licenses being issued by local police: more than 260 new licenses were issued in September. The number of loggers at the local police station has also declined more than a third in the last year, indicating improved conditions generally.

Michigan Manufacturing Leader To Speak Here Tuesday Evening At Chamber Of Commerce Banquet

Expect Capacity Crowd to Hear John L. Lovett

When the annual fall banquet of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce takes place at the Mayflower hotel Tuesday evening, October 14, it is expected that practically every business man and manufacturer in Plymouth will be present.

Both the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs have indicated that they will be in attendance with nearly a one hundred percent membership.

President Earl Russell states that the banquet will begin promptly at 7 o'clock. He adds that he is sure there will be a capacity attendance to hear John L. Lovett, secretary-manager of the Michigan Manufacturers' Association who will be the speaker. The subject of his address will be "What's Ahead."

No one in Michigan is more alert to what is happening in Washington as it pertains to business than Mr. Lovett. There is not the slightest doubt but what he will have intensely interesting information to give to those present at the meeting.

President Russell has appointed as members of the ticket committee, John Blyton, chairman, Fred Schrader, William Rose, Sterling Eaton, Lisle Alexander, Jack Taylor and Ralph Lorenz.

A number of women members of the Chamber of Commerce have been appointed as members of the committee on table arrangements. They are Mrs. F. M. Parrott, chairman, Mrs. Norma Cassidy and Mrs. Nellie T. Curry.

Chauncey Rauch and Frank Terry will have charge of the musical program. President Russell will preside. Following Mr. Lovett's address, Mr. Rauch will make a brief report pertaining to the activities of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce during the last year. The speaker will be introduced by Elton R. Eaton.

Attendance at the banquet is not restricted to Chamber of Commerce membership. Any one interested is welcome to be present.

Bankers Pledge Defense Support

Convention Endorses Administration

Full cooperation to the administration in its defense effort and measures to pave the way for future financial stability were advocated and unanimously endorsed at the annual convention of the American Bankers' association in Chicago last week.

Russell Daane, vice-president of the Plymouth United Savings bank, attended the convention as a member of the savings division and real estate and mortgage loan committees.

If there is any wise counsel we can give to the American people, it is that we must give more authority to our executive in Washington. Whether we like the administration or not, it is our administration, under our laws and under our constitution. They must look out for us; no one else can. We owe them all our loyalty at this critical time," declared Douglas Miller, author of the book, "You Can't Do Business With Hitler," and a former commercial attaché of the American Embassy in Berlin for 15 years including six years under the Hitler regime.

Charging that Hitler hates the three things that constitute the American way of life, Miller said, "Our American civilization is based upon three fundamentals: the ethics derived from Christianity and Greek philosophy; the principle of democratic government and freedom of the individual; and the right to hold private property and conduct a free economic society."

Approve Defense Training Courses

Federal Government Finances Program

The defense training program offered with the regular night school curriculum at Plymouth high school this year was approved by the government through the vocational education department of Michigan this week.

The board of education has spared no effort in planning these defense courses to meet the need of preparedness in Plymouth and surrounding communities and the federal government has recognized the need for such training and is financing the courses here, said George A. Smith, superintendent of schools.

There are two sections of machine shop training, meeting from 6 to 9 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday and Tuesday and Thursday. The enrollment in each class is 16 making it possible to train 32 in machine shop at one time. Applications received and not classified will be admitted as soon as those now in training leave school to take up preparatory work. Other courses are being offered as a part of the defense preparedness program in shop mathematics, drawing and blueprint reading from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings with a maximum of thirty.

Enlarges Hotel Liquor Store

Must Carry Over 400 Brands

Manager Ralph Lorenz of the Mayflower hotel has been busy this week building over the liquor store in the hotel in order to provide capacity for the 400 or 500 varieties of liquor each state liquor store in Michigan must carry from now on.

Recently the state liquor commission ruled that it would be necessary for every liquor store to carry at least two bottles of every variety of liquor the state handled, whether the public ever asked for it or not.

This order has necessitated the tripling of the shelving of the liquor store and it will also make necessary the carrying of numerous brands of liquors that are seldom if ever purchased by patrons of liquor stores.

The order was definite and made it necessary for the large investment if not complied with the state liquor commission said it would revoke liquor store licenses.

A Parish Dinner

Plymouth Priest Tells Why

(By Father V. J. Renaud)

It was Shakespeare who in one of his writings, stoutly insisted that a person was entitled to the right to enjoy his case at his meals—the parish-dinner affords a place to please the epicure. There really is an art in eating—in the older days the communion of souls took place during the eating hours. Then mind met mind in social ease. Wit, wisdom, humor and friendship blended with the food to create intellectual pleasure. Good cooking creates the seduction of social cheer, the elation of spirit where every moment is a lingering memory of delight. You come to the parish-dinner with your family and friends to enjoy just such a treat.

Ask any housewife which of her various duties she greeds most and the answer in most cases will be "cooking." Standing over a hot stove several times a day without ever missing a meal, she always awaits the opportunity to "eat out" once in a while. The change is good for her, and the husband who takes her out to a popular church-dinner is helping to make her many duties less burdensome. At our parish-dinner we serve an abundance of excellently cooked foods—everything is fresh right from the neighboring farms and the price of the meal is far less than what you would have to pay at any restaurant—often times for much inferior food. The dining room at the Masonic Temple is the largest and the best equipped in town. All our ladies try to give courteous and well mannered service and do all they can to please the customers and see to it that they enjoy their meals in the greatest of ease and comfort.

Menu—Turkey dinner with all the trimmings: Mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, vegetables, salad, pickles and relishes, apple or pumpkin pie, coffee or milk.

This dinner will be served by ladies of Our Lady of Good Counsel church Sunday, October 12, Columbus day, in the Masonic Temple.

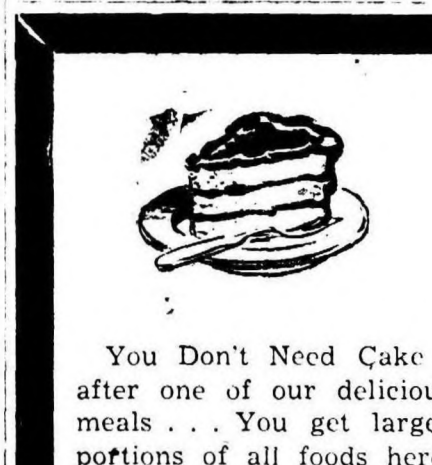

Garden Club Members To Hear About Birds

The members of the Plymouth, Northville and Farmington branches of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association, including their conservation committees, are to be guests Tuesday afternoon of the Rosedale Garden branch when the guest speaker will be Dr. Miles D. Pirnie, director of the W. K. Kellogg bird sanctuary near Battle Creek.

Dr. Pirnie, who came to Michigan from Cornell University, was at one time duck investigator for the department of conservation and is author of the book "Michigan Waterfowl Management."

Dr. Pirnie ranks today as one of the leading waterfowl experts in the United States and has recently returned from the duck marshes of Manitoba and has followed ducks from their nesting grounds to their wintering grounds in the South. Pictures in full color will be shown by Dr. Pirnie of birds far and near and he will accompany them with informative and interesting discussion, authoritative as only a man of his standing can make it.

My greatest ambition is to create employment for more and more men, at higher and higher wages.

The Nation's No. 1 Potato Patch

Digging a big crop of potatoes. The average yield per acre in Michigan is about 100 bushels, and on some farms it has reached 500 bushels per acre.

What state of all the forty-eight has the biggest acreage in white potatoes? It's not Idaho, or Maine, but our own Michigan, with a yearly average of about a quarter-million acres planted to this staple crop. Three other states have a larger total yield. But fried, baked, mashed or boiled, Michigan's annual 22,000,000-bushel crop is a lot of potatoes!

The potato grower usually has to decide whether to sell his potatoes as soon as they are dug, or to hold them in storage, to sell in winter or spring. Weather conditions, the size of the nation's crop and other factors must be followed closely, and the telephone helps many potato farmers keep informed. By telephone, too, the wholesaler sells to retail stores, and the housewife places her weekly order of potatoes. What about some of those new, tender-skinned Michigan spuds for dinner?

Smooth, plump Michigan potatoes by telephone? Surely! Call your grocer.

FORD

"6" OR "8"

IN THESE UNUSUAL TIMES we invite you to inspect an unusual new car—new in its beauty, its comfort, its choice of two fine 90 horsepower engines, 6 cylinders or 8.

See it and you sense at once that here is new style that will stay good for years. On a lower, wider chassis, we have designed new long, low, wide and modern lines.

Interior treatment is entirely fresh, distinctive, pleasing. The beauty of this Ford will more than hold its own in any company.

Inside, the car is big—wide across the seats, generous in knee-room, leg-room, elbow-room.

On the road this year you find the "new Ford ride" still further advanced in its softness, quietness, steadiness and all-round comfort.

At the wheel, you will find driving easier than ever. Steering, gear-shifting, action of the big and sure hydraulic brakes have all been made smoother and easier.

In quality, the car is sound to the last detail. Defense requirements have all been met without a single reduction in the basic and lasting goodness of the Ford mechanically. Some new materials have replaced old ones, usually at a greater cost to us, but in every case the new is equal to or better than the old.

If your family needs a new car, go see and drive this Ford. For what it is today and for what it will be through the years ahead, we believe that you will find in it more and better transportation for your money than you have ever found before.

Kiwanis Is Grateful To The Newspapers of The United States and Canada

The observance of National Newspaper Week provides Kiwanis International with an opportunity to express its sincere appreciation to the daily and weekly press of two great nations.

In 3,180 communities Kiwanis clubs are carrying on worthy civic programs and welfare activities. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, leading business, professional and agricultural men are united for service to mankind and the safeguarding of Democracy.

Yet without newspaper cooperation, the fine Kiwanis record would fall short of full achievement. Ever since 1915, when Kiwanis was founded, newspapers have promoted and encouraged the service program of the organization.

Civic leadership in Kiwanis is conscious of the seriousness of the times. Freedom of the press has too long been taken for granted. Fortunately, the press of our two countries still prints the truth about men and events. Kiwanis sees in the vigilant service of today's newspapers a safeguard for the ideals of Democracy.

Miss Barbara Olsaver And Jay Walter Wed. In Martha Mary Chapel

The Martha Mary chapel of Greenfield Village, Dearborn, was decorated Saturday afternoon with bowls of white chrysanthemums for the wedding of Barbara Olsaver, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Olsaver, of this city, and Jay Richard Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Walter, of Wheaton, Illinois. Rev. Walter Nichol, of the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth, read the service at 2 o'clock in the presence of 100 guests.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a wedding gown of white satin made princess style with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves with points over the hands. Her finger-ring veil was caught to a cap of lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Mary Jane Olsaver, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a light blue velvet gown made with long torso and faille skirt. She wore a matching plume in her hair and chrysanthemums formed her bouquet.

The bridesmaids, Belva Barnes, Mary Kathryn Moon, of this city, Phyllis Barrows, of Grand Rapids, and Jeanne Marvin, of Beatrice, Nebraska, were gowned alike in burgundy velvet made on lines similar to that of the maid of honor. They wore matching plumes for a headdress. Their flowers were chrysanthemums.

The best man was Samuel Showalter, of Wheaton, Illinois, and the other attendants to the bridegroom were Robert Lindstrom, of Chicago, Charles Parsons, of Glen Ellyn, Illinois, Perten Rademacher, of Wheaton, Illinois, and John Fay of New Ulm, Minnesota.

Mrs. Olsaver was gowned in brown bengaline with corsage of talisman roses. Mrs. Walter chose a dressmaker's suit in grey with gardenia corsage.

A reception for members of the two families and a few friends was held in the bride's home on Maple avenue following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter are on a honeymoon trip through the Smoky Mountains and Washington, D. C. A dressmaker suit of cinnamon brown with dark brown accessories was worn by Mrs. Walter for traveling. They will reside on Coles avenue in Chicago after October 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bachelder of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bachelder of Berkeley attended an old-fashioned English tea meeting given by the United Church of Dover township at Chatham, Ontario Tuesday. The Raymond Bachelders are visiting at their former home in Chatham on the occasion of their eighteenth wedding anniversary.

go after that job with the AP or UP or the big town sheet.

But at heart he prefers the more spacious life of the old home town. He likes the familiar faces and knows he would be unhappy among crowds of strangers. Like another doughty warrior, he would rather be first in a little village in the Alps than second in Rome. His newspaper reflects the intimate life of his town more accurately than the New York Times' pages reflect New York's. His modest income probably buys him more solid satisfaction than Ray Clapper's, and his writings win him more intellectual integrity than Pegler's.

Probably he does not realize fully the high esteem and honor with which the title "small town editor" strikes the ear around the press clubs in Washington and New York. Nor how many high-priced correspondents and columnists, cornered in treadmills, wish they were small town editors.

He is something of an oracle along Main street, but he must perform accept on equal terms, if necessary, the opinions of the village idiot. If he ever cut loose and wrote all he really knows and thinks, some of the neighbors might be surprised. Sometimes he must even conceal his book-learning.

If anything, the small town editor is too modest, too humble. He gives as big a dollar's worth as any man in town, and plays as vital and indispensable a role in the town's life—as well as in the state's and nation's. But he must be mighty careful to give the bride her due in a wedding story.

When someone who inserts a $1 ad acts as if he were endorsing the paper, the editor can only look inscrutable. Sometimes he amuses himself by writing mentally a Winchlesque column—but only in fancy—about the 1000s of his neighbors, but it wouldn't do. Indeed not. Especially when he's apt to have coffee with 'em Friday morning at the cafe.

Secretly he has done a little writing on the side, and feels he has a good novel or biography in his system. But the only editor who's had time for that lately is an editor on Martha's Vineyard, where things are quieter than they are in Iowa town. At heart he's an impatient reformer and crusader, but he's close enough to nature to be patient.

His desk is cluttered with innumerable details which require his personal attention, but he mustn't say no to any civic demand. Somehow he manages to get a lot of reading done, though. I think a congress composed of 531 small town editors wouldn't do so badly by the country.

He's bombarded with a lot of propaganda, and often he wishes he could scrutinize the men behind it with his own eyes. But he must stay home to keep an eye on the printing press and see that the income equals the outgo.

Sometimes these smart-aleck big-town columnists give him a pain in the neck and he cuts loose at them trenchantly. It kinda relieves his feelings, at that. He aims to phone every one in the telephone directory at least once a month, but that's a lot of telephoning.

Occasionally he permits himself a little humorous or poetic flight under a set of initials or a pen name, and I'd like to see a good anthology of these literary adventures. He has become a pretty good orator because of the demand for his speeches, though he's still secretly nervous on his feet. But he's affectionately regarded by the townsfolk and even respected by those who slap him on the back, and he can say more truth in jest than an outsider could get away with in earnest. He survives as an idyllic life, maybe one of the last.

Mrs. Carl Striner will entertain a number of friends on Friday evening at her home in Ferndale. The occasion will honor Miss Flossie Rowland, a bride-elect, and will be a kitchen and bathroom shower. Guests will be present from Detroit, Highland Park, Wayne and Plymouth.

It is our desire to do our very best in these days of severe testing. More than ever we have need of divine guidance, let us seek it in all earnestness. They also call it a "hard time party."

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST Scientist, Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of 20 years. Wednesday evening testimony service 8:00. "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 12. The Golden Text (Jeremiah 17:14) is: "Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved; for thou art my praise." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalms 145:9, 10): "The Lord is good to all; and his tender mercies are over all his works. All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 286): "Sin, sickness, and death are comprised in human material belief, and belong not to the divine Mind. They are without a real origin or existence. They have neither Principle nor permanence, but belong, with all that is material and temporal, to the nothingness of error, which simulates the creations of Truth."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH. Holbrook and Hardinberg, Lynn B. Stout, pastor. Calvary church desires to thank every one who in any way contributed to the success of the services held in the high school auditorium last Sunday night. first amendments to the constitution.

He indicated that even Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, and publisher of a Chicago newspaper, had hinted a possible willingness to deprive citizens of this country of a right that should never be surrendered.

"We never prize that which we possess until it is gone," he said. "I was in Europe when the people were gradually abandoning their rights. It was amazing the way they gave them up without protest. Having witnessed what happened in Europe I am deeply concerned with the preservation of our own civil liberties."

Citizens of this country can freely discuss with members of their family the events of the day. They can grumble over taxes, if they desire. They can ride the street cars and buses without fear of some one eavesdropping and informing a secret police about what they say or do not say. They can vote a secret ballot without being compelled to vote a yes ballot. They can express their opinions freely with nothing taboo as to what they praise or condemn. A radio forum can be conducted and the listening audience can boo or cheer as it sees fit. These are just a few of the rights Americans possess, he said. "It is our duty to be informed," he added. "Without the possession of information there can be no enduring Democracy."

Miss Jean Konda of Detroit, a former resident of Plymouth, sang two very pleasing numbers. She was accompanied by Miss Linnea Vickstrom.

President John Blyton thanked Mr. White for coming to Plymouth and giving the members of the club and their guests such a fine talk. He expressed to Mr. Blair the appreciation of the club for arranging such an outstanding program.

Several members of the club who were attending the annual Kiwanis state convention in Grand Rapids, hurried home to be present at Tuesday night's meeting.

the present conflict abroad ends it will be able to meet any situation which may arise.

"The main function of banks during the emergency is to stimulate savings, to carefully scrutinize their loans, to investigate the soundness of loans and judge whether new buildings are needed in the present emergency or whether they will compete with the national defense efforts and to handle investments in such a manner as not to compete with government financing," declared Dr. Nadler.

The bankers advised the curtailment of all unnecessary expenditures both in public and government spending to direct all efforts toward national defense, and the encouragement of defense bond sales by banking institutions.

Duck Hunters Get Near Limit

Russell Powell and William Rambo Home

There will be no more "quacking" for some 19 ducks that Russell Powell and William Rambo brought home from Wildfowl bay up near Saginaw late last week.

President Rambo of the Western Wayne County Conservation club and Sportsman Powell decided to spend the opening days of the duck hunting season up in the country where ducks spend most of the year quacking and putting on extra fat for the opening of the hunting season. They brought home one less than the day's limit.

Here's a secret, sportsmen—in their game bags were some nine or ten "coots."

When asked how it happened that they brought home "coots," Russell Powell hastened to explain that Frank Rambo requested that if they saw any "coots," be sure and bring them back to him. That's the alibi.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Rav Gilder spent the week-end visiting in Grand Rapids.

Moss, Mrs. Kenneth Watkins, Mrs. William Arscott, Mrs. John Blyton, Mrs. Henry Baker and O. Houston. A special feature of the program will be dances by Cynthia and Betty Lou Baker and Sally and Patsy Zink.

At last Friday's meeting, members of the club enjoyed a talk by Mrs. S. E. Cranson, matron in the women's division of the Detroit House of Correction for the last ten years. Mrs. Cranson related facts about the administration and organization of the House of Correction which was built near Plymouth in 1929 and explained that the modern emphasis is placed upon rehabilitation instead of punishment for prison inmates. Mrs. William Pettigill was chairman of the afternoon program and Mrs. Sterling Eaton sang two selections. "At the Bend of the River" and "The Song of the Little Brown Thrush."

The Diamond Jubilee of the Grand Chapter of Michigan O.E.S. will be held in Grand Rapids from Tuesday until Thursday, October 14-16 inclusive. Mrs. John Henderson, worthy matron, and Mrs. Gus Lundquist, associate, plan to be present throughout the celebration. On Tuesday evening the following from the Plymouth chapter will attend the formal opening: Mrs. Oral Rathbun, Mrs. William Hartmann, Mrs. Ann Carley, Mrs. John A. Miller, Mrs. Alfred Innis, Mrs. William Henry and Mrs. Tremaine.

Women are usually cooler than men not only because of their lighter-weight clothing but also because of their lower metabolic rate and skin temperature. A recent series of scientific experiments reveals that, on the average, women's limbs are three degrees cooler, their arms four degrees cooler and their hands and feet five degrees cooler than those of men.

Football Results

When Plymouth defeated Wayne on her field Friday, October 9 she became an undefeated team in League competitions along with Dearborn who defeated Ecorse 6-0 and Birmingham who defeated Ypsilanti 13-0. With her victory Friday Birmingham became a team which is undefeated and has not been scored upon. Melvindale an out-League team defeated Ecorse 12-0 Friday. Northville, another out-League team is still undefeated beating Redford Union 7-0. Plymouth has stepped off to a fine start and from all appearances seems to be headed for a highly successful season.

High School Team Defeats Wayne

The Plymouth football team overpowered Wayne 13-6 at Wayne last Friday. Plymouth kicked off to Wayne in the first quarter. Four downs later the "Rocks" took possession of the ball to work their way by a series of running plays to a touchdown in the first few minutes of play. Baker, a few seconds later, kicked the extra point. The tussle continued with running plays by both sides during the rest of the quarter with no one scoring.

The teams struggled over the ball during the first of the quarter. When the "Rocks" took possession on their own twenty-yard line, Seguin took the ball down to Wayne's nine-yard line for the longest run of the game. Baker took the ball and plunged three yards through the line. Seguin then ran through for five more yards to the one-foot line. Then he forced it over for the touchdown. The ball went wide when Baker tried for the extra point. The rest of the half the teams tried running attacks with no score.

Piscopink of Wayne, slightly hurt in the third quarter, was the only player to be taken out because of injury in the whole game. In that quarter the teams tried passing attacks with the "Rocks" defending their own territory most of the time, but no one scored.

In the last quarter Wayne had the ball and worked up the field to a touchdown. There was no try for a conversion. The passing attacks continued on both sides until the final whistle with no one scoring.

Demonstrate New System

An instrumental demonstration for the purpose of explaining general music to interested parents was held on Tuesday, September 30 in the grade school gymnasium. The demonstration showed parents of students who are on the progressive system what instruments compose the well rounded band. The progressive system of music is that in which music begins in the kindergarten where children play tambourines, drums, and practice marching. The next step is the tonette classes in the third and fourth grades; then on in to the fifth and sixth grades where the grade school band is formed. In the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades there is a junior high school band, and then the high school band itself. Those who were interested in Tuesday night's demonstration were those who were just out of tonette classes and wish to start in on an instrument for grade school band. With this system those who start in the grade school should compose a high school band of a very high caliber.

Senior Camera Club Officers Elected

Bob Buchelder has been elected president and Dudley Martin vice-president and secretary of the senior camera club. Full details will be announced later. Next on the list is to clean out the dark room and to replenish the supplies. At this point the topic of enlargers was brought up and has been discussed at the meeting a few days ago.

So far, the club has been limited to boys but girls have also been interested in photography. Any that do want to learn more about this pastime are cordially invited to attend the meetings.

Teachers' Book Club

The teachers' "Book Club" has started again. Each one purchases a book which she leaves in the library where any other person may use it. Twenty-three members are using this plan to widen their reading material. The books purchased this year are "Treasury of Gilbert and Sullivan," "Country Schoolmarm," "The Wound and the Bow," "My Sister and I," "Doctor's Anonymous," "In This Our Life," "I Have Loved England," "Michigan Federal Guide," "Low Man on the Tote Pole," "Reconstruction of Europe," "My New Order," "Digest Reader," "Reading I've Liked," "Keys of the Kingdom," "Olive Wiswell," "Saratoga Trunk," "Berlin," "Captain from Connecticut," "Strictly Personal," "Managerial Revolution," "Looking for Trouble," and "Last Man Around the World."

Sympathy Honestly Felt

To us, each funeral we direct is a reverent ceremony—as much so as the formal service of an established church. We approach it with sincere sympathy for those bereaved, serving each family with kindness, courtesy and understanding.

This attitude is not adopted because we feel that it is required by our craft; a professional hypocrisy to be donned like a mask for a few hours, then put aside. Rather, it expresses a genuine desire to help those who need us.

We hope never to lose this spirit, never to sacrifice it for mere routine efficiency, nor continue it solely because we selfishly find it to be "good business."

In fact, the letter is to all of his many friends in and about Plymouth and he is writing it through his home town newspaper. His mailing address is, care Flight 18, School Squadron 28, Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, and he would be glad to hear from his Plymouth friends.

He likes the army and the way he is treated. His letter follows: "To the Editor: "Greetings from J. B. This is a splendid camp. We have every conceivable recreational facility and entertainment such as free shows, concerts, etc. galore. "I believe that no boy would be making a mistake by enlisting in the army and asking to be sent to Jefferson Barracks. Here the recruits get their basic training in military courtesy, army routine, elementary drill and some firearm instruction. Altogether, it has proved so far to be a very enjoyable life. "If you publish this letter, I hope my Plymouth friends will write. It is another of our pleasures in army life—receiving mail."

No Pheasant Hunting Before 7

But Duck Hunters Can Use Time Tables

While wildfowling taking ducks and other migratory birds must follow strictly the official weather bureau sunrise timetable to be sure they are not shooting too early on cloudy mornings, the upland game hunter can begin shooting any day of the season after 7 a. m., according to an assurance from the conservation department. In most cases, 7 a. m. will allow earlier shooting.

The 7 o'clock starting time is uniform throughout the season and governs shooting of ring-necked pheasants, rabbits, squirrels, ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed grouse and prairie chickens. Official starting time for shooting ducks, geese, brant, coots, rails, gallinules and woodcock varies from east to west across the state and is a few minutes later each week of the season. Hunters may follow sunrise timetables published in newspapers or consult conservation officers.

The Lutheran Women's club will meet Monday evening, October 6, at 7:30 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Carl Wagenschutz on the Five Mile road, first house west of Idyl Wyld golf club. At this time officers will be elected for the coming year. All members are urged to be present.

Likes Service at Canadian Base

Earl Russell Jr. in Flying Army Unit

Earl Russell Jr., president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and of the Wall Wire Products company, received a letter last week from his son, Earl Russell Jr., who is training for the Royal Canadian Air Force in Brandon, Manitoba. "I guess I don't write enough, but each week is but a day to me as I am so busy. I can hardly realize that I have been here nine weeks. Everything is going smoothly at this end of the line and I should go to Initial Training school shortly. I went out to the S. F. T. S. school the other day and went flying. It was great; I went in a bomber for a two-hour flight.

"As to insurance, no insurance at any price is available for me—the reason is clear. It snowed when we were on a route march (14 miles) the other day; it is really cold here now. The long winter underwear may look funny, but it is necessary. Two of my friends were killed out at the S. F. T. S. outside of Brandon the other day. They were both Americans; they crashed into a barn and burned to death. That is the first accident out there."

Explaining that the highest third of each class is commissioned, young Russell wrote, "I understand if the United States declares war, we can transfer and we will be moved up one rank, so if I am only a sergeant pilot, I will be a second lieutenant. But I don't think I would transfer because I like it here, and, after all, Canada gave me a chance to get in the service. Outside of being a little homesick, I am healthy and happy here," concluded young Russell.

Father LeFevre Celebrates

Now 52 Years of Age—Health Good

In last Saturday's issue of The Detroit Free Press, was the following splendid mention of Father Frank LeFevre, former well known and popular Catholic priest of this city:

Rev. Frank C. LeFevre, who has been a priest in the Detroit area for more than 26 years was born here in 1889. He will celebrate his fifty-second birthday anniversary Saturday by going about his usual duties in connection with St. Margaret and Mary Church and School.

Father LeFevre is probably best known in connection with his work at Plymouth, where he was pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel parish for 18 years. While there, he was the first chaplain at the House of Correction, the William H. Maybury Sanitarium, the Wayne County Training school and the Felician Convent at Five Mile and Newburg roads. At the same time he was active in civic affairs.

He likes golf and bowling, but for real relaxation his pipe, a magazine and classical music on the radio suit him best.

Detroit's second bishop, the late Rev. Peter Paul LeFevre, was his great-great uncle and he has other relatives in ecclesiastical work.

U. S. Senators Pay Tribute to America's Weekly Newspapers

From the October 2nd issue of The Congressional Record, is taken the following tributes paid to American weekly newspapers by Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas and a number of his associates in the world's highest and most important legislative body, the United States Senate:

MR. CAPPER: Mr. President, this week, October 1 to October 8, the United States, the one Nation with a free press left in the world, is observing newspaper week. Twenty-six American newspaper associations are sponsoring the program. I take advantage of the occasion to pay a brief tribute to the small country weeklies and the small-town daily newspapers, and their editors.

Without disparaging in the least the huge metropolitan dailies, with circulations running into the hundreds of thousands and occasionally into the millions—and I say they are the best daily newspapers in the world—it is to the weekly newspapers and the small-town daily newspapers that I, myself, turn for information, guidance and inspiration, especially in the case of problems and questions affecting the public welfare.

Sometimes I think that the editors of these small newspapers have a wider grasp of fundamentals, greater knowledge of things worth while, and a better understanding of the people for whom they write, than have their more sophisticated cousins on the metropolitan dailies. The small-town editor knows John Smith and Bill Jones and writes for and about John Jones and Bill Smith. To the small-town daily and weekly editor, John Jones and Bill Smith are flesh-and-blood persons, human individuals.

But the editors of a huge metropolitan daily, writing for a mass circulation, cannot write for John Smith and Bill Jones. They generally do not know John Smith or Bill Jones—at least not as subscribers. They write for John Doe and Richard Roe—not flesh-and-blood, individual persons at all, but a sort of composite per capita unit of mass production, or mass imagination. One deals with men and women as such; the other deals with the mob that is mass circulation.

The editor of a small-town daily or a country weekly cannot write from an ivory tower, nor from a cloistered sanctum. He does not live in an ivory tower; nor does he work in seclusion, insulated from his readers. He lives their lives; he feels their feelings; their problems are his problems; they are human beings, and he has to be a human being himself to get along with them.

So, Mr. President, if you want to know what America thinks, how America feels, what America does, keep in touch with the small-town dailies and the country weeklies that carry on through good times and bad, through booms and depressions, throughout the land. These newspapers constitute the real free press of America; their editors the real and realistic voice of America. These newspapers, these editors, are the permanent expression of the lives of a free people. I am proud to pay them this tribute today, while the Nation is observing newspaper week.

In this connection, I ask unanimous consent to have printed as a part of my remarks an article from the Eunice (Louisiana) New Era, which includes statements by a number of Members of this body commenting favorably upon the services and value of the country newspaper editors.

THE ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore: Without objection, it is so ordered.

The article referred to is as follows:
(From the Eunice (Louisiana) New Era of September 9, 1941.)

In recent years there has been unceasing efforts to belittle the worth of the weekly and semiweekly newspapers of America and their editorial page. This has been especially true wherever and whenever "the country weekly" has pursued a fearless editorial policy. In view of the hostile attitude which has been manifested toward weekly and semiweekly newspapers whose editors have "guts" and a backbone instead of wishbone, we here reprint the views expressed by a number of our United States Senators in Washington, D. C., as follows:

Senator Charles L. McNary, of Oregon: "Bring together the men who publish the papers for the small town, read their editorials, and you will know what America thinks and wants."

Senator Prentiss M. Brown, of Michigan: "It has been truly said that he 'who does not know America's small-town newspaper does not know rural America.'"

Senator Alexander Wiley, of Wisconsin: "The still small voice of the country newspaper editor in his tree-shaded office swells into the articulate voice of an informed public opinion throughout the country."

Senator D. Worth Clark, of Idaho: "The independence and integrity of the small-town newspaper has been a vital factor in preserving our democracy."

Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland: "I believe the editorials in the small town and city newspapers have more influence, as a rule, than do the editorials in many of the larger papers of the Nation."

Senator Albert B. Chandler, of Kentucky: "The small newspapers of the country more correctly express the opinion of the average American than any other medium of expression which the people possess."

Senator Guy M. Gillette, of Iowa: "The coming year will bring to the small-town newspaper field its greatest opportunity for real national service."

Senator John Thomas, of Idaho: "No section of the press is more important in the upholding of the American way of life than the thousands of small country papers."

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana: "The weekly newspaper guides sentiment and its editorials express the views and philosophies of America."

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas: "Without the small-town newspapers the high standards of civilization we know could not be maintained."

Senator Hugh Butler, of Nebraska: "The small-town and country newspapers are the formulators of public thought and action for over 18,000,000 families."

Senator James M. Tunnell, of Delaware: "Take from America its local newspapers and you remove one of the greatest aids to education and refinement as well as to national business solidity."

The Day of Reckoning

Imposition of the new tax law upon our country has brought forth various comments. While the vast majority of people have accepted this new burden without protest, there have been some who have protested.

We agree with those who protest when tax dollars are wasted. We do not agree that there should be the slightest protest against taxes that are USED for the preparation of America for the most serious emergency it has faced since its birth as a nation.

There are critical days ahead, there is no question about that. The Plymouth Mail for nearly two years has frequently, through its editorial columns, pointed out the seriousness of the situation as it has existed.

Our present day world crisis did not develop over night. It has been forming and festering for years. Some of our country's officials saw it coming years ago and started to prepare for it then, but a democracy at peace and with the rest of the world at peace, was hard to arouse.

Our government is one of the people. Yet one of the greatest problems of our Government is to get its people to take an active, intelligent, informed interest in it.

But the day has arrived for Americans to awake to the seriousness of the situation. Our government has directed its policies in one way. We have reached the stage where there can be no turning back—and there should be no turning back.

It is right to protest against the wasting of a single penny of tax money. It is not right to complain against paying tax dollars that are rightfully and properly used in preparing our country for that which lies ahead of it.

We should not only pay our taxes willingly but we should spend every extra dollar we can get in buying Defense bonds.

Plymouth has done well so far in its purchases of defense bonds and stamps—but we MUST do more. There is no safer place or better place we can invest our money than in these INTEREST paying government securities—money that will be used to protect our homes and to protect the future homes and well being of our children and their children. The Treasury department has made it emphatic that these purchases MUST be on a VOLUNTARY basis. That puts it squarely up to every American citizen.

Plymouth has, through its entire existence, been one of the country's most patriotic cities. During Civil War days while most of the men of the community were fighting on southern battlefields, women and children at home made garments, tended the growing crops and cared for the stock.

Its record during the Spanish-American War and the World War is as outstanding as was its loyalty to the Union during the Civil War.

Let's stop kicking about paying taxes and do a little investing in our country.

Why not make Plymouth the LEADER of the entire nation for a city of some 6,000 souls in the ownership of Defense bonds and stamps?

What do you say?

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the full exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people to peaceably assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."
 —Article I, American Bill of Rights.

Honking Horns

The sins of the average automobile driver may be many, and some of them serious. But probably the most obnoxious offense is that of horn tooting. Older drivers—except the impatient ones—are not usually the offenders. The "tootin'" group is made up chiefly of youngsters who always seem in a hurry to get from nowhere to nowhere. Unnecessary automobile horn tooting is a violation of the traffic laws. Maybe just a few cases in court would end some of the useless noise created by thoughtlessness on the part of some automobile drivers.

America—leave it or love it!

Cheating Labor

The Plymouth Mail has frequently expressed its high regard for the opinions of David Lawrence, editor and publisher of the famed United States News of Washington. Numerous times editorials from his outstanding publication have been re-printed in The Mail.

Once again we regard of so much importance an editorial in a recent issue of The United States News, dealing with the administration's deceptive labor policies, that we are passing it on to readers of The Plymouth Mail.

The editorial follows in full:
 (By David Lawrence)
 The New Deal is supposedly the friend of the laboring man. The politicians have boasted that they have attained for labor a "bill of rights" and that even in war-time, labor's "social gains" must be preserved.

Behind this smokescreen of demagoguery, the truth at last is coming out. It is that the workingman is having his real wages diminished while the Roosevelt Administration is refusing to do anything about it except to issue bigger and bigger headlines about taxing profits and about so-called price control.

But headlines do not buy eggs or milk or bread or clothing. The tragic fact is that the worker is beginning to be cheated and doesn't know it yet. He has listened to false prophets too long for his own good.

Included among those false prophets are the union labor leaders who without regard to the economics of an emergency situation have forced increases in money wages and have thus started the spiral of inflation.

Out of 45,000,000 persons gainfully employed in America today, approximately 8,000,000 are unionized. Inside the ranks of the 8,000,000 is a friction due to the selfishness of the labor leaders which puts wages in one industry up faster than they can be absorbed by the consumers in other industries. There is no coordination, no control, no responsibility.

The Roosevelt Administration's sincerity as the friend of the worker is being put to a test. A price-control bill is before Congress. The politicians want to exempt wages and farm prices from the legislation.

The reason, of course, is political expediency. The Treasury Department favors the inclusion of farm prices as a proper subject for legislative control but thinks wages can be omitted. So does Leon Henderson and every other spokesman of the Administration.

The economic side of the argument has been ably presented by Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board in the first World War. He says that price control must embrace both wages and farm products and that it must be accompanied by other vital measures such as increased production of substitutes, conservation and rationing of existing supplies, immediate conversion of facilities from peace-time to war-time uses so as to get a bigger output of critical materials, and heavy taxation of war profits.

Mr. Baruch's approach is that of a veteran retired from business who has unselfishly devoted the last twenty years of his life to a study of the problem. Back in 1931 he presented a comprehensive plan to the War Policies Commission in the War Department. This plan and others have been shelved. The reason is that the politicians refuse to face the facts. They do not wish to incur the disfavor of various groups in the electorate.

The Baruch philosophy is that the whole problem of prices and civilian supply cannot be handled piecemeal but must be tackled comprehensively and on all fronts. There has been both incompetence and procrastination in Washington. It is doubtful that much can be done now when shortages are created through hoarding and no effective steps are taken to control prices before they are stimulated to advance through the Government's own failure in planning.

The present wage spiral may be traced directly to the lack of courage of the Administration when the first big dispute on wages occurred in the General Motors case last spring. On this page was presented at the time an article entitled "Our First Major Defeat." It was pointed out that the willingness of the National Defense Mediation Board with the knowledge and consent of the White House to grant a ten-cent an hour increase when there was no economic justification for such a big raise would some day plague the national Government. For immediately the ten-cent-an-hour raise became a fad in other industries. It was demanded on almost every front by union leaders who enriched their own pockets with organizing fees as they held the lure of higher wages to prospective members. Today the strikes and lockouts are not only more frequent but are increasing but a monopoly on unionization by means of the "closed shop" so that future wage increases can be forced at will upon management.

To all this the Administration answers that wages can be handled by the "voluntary" restraints of labor itself. This is begging the question. It would be refreshing if the Administration spokesmen confessed the truth—that they are afraid to ask for a freezing of the wage levels and a freezing of prices at the same time that they ask for a heavy taxing of profits.

But failure to do all the necessary things to keep the economic system in equilibrium is merely to postpone the day of reckoning.

Already the American workers—men and women—who toil with their hands in factories or who do white-collar tasks in the offices are suffering. Their wages are being cut by new taxes and by higher costs of living.

More than 165 years ago, Adam Smith, the renowned economist, wrote in his classic work "The Wealth of Nations":

"The real price of everything, what everything really costs to the man who wants to acquire it, is the toil and trouble of acquiring it. What is bought with money or with goods is purchased by labour as much as what we acquire by the toil of our own body. That money or those goods indeed save us this toil. They contain the value of a certain quantity of labour which we exchange for what is supposed at the time to contain the value of an equal quantity."

Every commodity is more frequently exchanged for, and thereby compared with, other commodities than with labour. It is more natural, therefore, to estimate its exchangeable value by the quantity of some other commodity than by that of the labour which it can purchase. The greater part of the people, too, understand what is meant by a quantity of a particular commodity than by a quantity of labour. The one is a palpable object, the other is an abstraction, which, though it can be made sufficiently intelligible, is not altogether so natural and obvious."

This is still true today. We have heard much talk lately about the fact that human labor is not a "commodity." This was a distinction that arose when the right of labor to bargain for its worth was being denied. It has nothing to do with the fundamental economics of price exchange.

The worker in recent years has never obtained parity as has the farmer. What the worker buys has never been brought down in price to equal the wages he gets. This is because pyramided prices are obtained through the exploitation of the few by the many. Unionization has improved the lot of many workers but it has also damaged others.

When the basis for price increases is political—either to keep union officers in their jobs or to let a political administration keep its voting strength through support of such ill-advised decisions as the National Defense Mediation Board is rendering nowadays with the consent of the White House—then the whole economic stability of the country is broken down.

We are facing such a breakdown now. The victims will be the workers on the farms, in the factories, in the offices, in the schools, in the bureaus of the federal, state, and city governments.

For real wages are going down faster than money wages can possibly be paid to relieve the situation. The dreaded inflation is almost here. It is not a runaway affair but is like creeping paralysis. This has been made inevitable by the lack of economic leadership in Washington.

If the Republican Party had a sensible leadership on domestic issues it could sweep the congressional elections in November 1942 on this issue alone but it has allowed itself to become emotionally deranged over the question of whether Hitler should be beaten or appeased. And meanwhile the American worker is being exploited.

The only solution the Administration seems willing to offer are those which like the proposed six-per-cent limitation of profits on capital would disrupt small businesses and increase the unemployment of the country. The New Deal has failed utterly to build up the American economic system. This is because the New Deal is essentially socialist and does not comprehend the system of private initiative. The New Deal evidently doesn't believe in thrift or in the incentive to save or to create work. And that's why the American worker who is prudent and thrifty sees his investments imperilled today by a broadside attack on the system of private savings.

The workers are being cheated. They primarily will have to pay the enormous public debt being piled up. They will be compelled to curtail their standard of living—the highest in the world —to get enough money to buy bread and clothing for their families.

When will Congress realize that as elected representatives of all the people the time for temporizing with pressure groups is at an end and that the whole house of cards is coming down because the politicians who are responsible for the New Deal have dealt us the oldest deal in the world—the cheating of the toiler by the speculator and the political profiteer. Inflation is around the corner.
