

City Commission Proposes Traffic Signal for Safety

Ask County to Install Light at Main and Mill for School Children

The city commission at its meeting Monday evening requested by resolution that the Wayne County Road commission install a traffic signal light at the intersection of North Main and North Mill streets because of an emergency condition due to increased traffic at this point.

A delegation from the Starkweather school Parent-Teacher association requested protection for school children at the intersection. It was pointed out that it is very difficult for children to get across the street because of the increased traffic due to new industries on Plymouth road.

Until a new traffic signal can be procured from the Wayne County Road commission, City Manager C. H. Elliott was advised to provide part-time police at the intersection at the three periods, morning, noon and afternoon, to assist school children.

While police records reveal that traffic accidents occur most frequently at the intersections of Penniman and Sheldon roads, it is believed that defense workers traffic has created an emergency need for a traffic signal at Main and Mill streets immediately.

Mayor Ruth H. Whipple pointed out that attempts have been made for the last two years to secure traffic signals at Penniman and Sheldon, Ann Arbor and Sheldon, and Lilley and Main and Mill streets and that the remaining necessary traffic lights will be sought soon.

"Our office," said Editor Gray in an editorial, "is the best printing office in the state run by steam. The fact that we are able to buy all of our paper for cash, enables us to give our customers the benefit of a high grade class of printing at a very low figure."

The "staff" of L.O.T.M. members that produced the edition, consisted of many well known residents of Plymouth active in the affairs of the village in years gone by.

Esther Vickery was the "editor-in-chief" and Phebe Patterson was the literary editor. Emma Shafer was the fraternal order editor. Jennie Merritt, Mary Kimble, Lusina Robinson and Alma Pinckney were other members of the editorial staff.

Assistants were Emma Shafer, Ella King, Lottie Bentley, Ella Peck.

Associate editors were Clara Murdock, Clara Kinyon, Edith Mott, Maggie Rauch, Mary Bradner, Calista Moon, Fannie Gale, Lillie Brown, Eliza Riggs and Rebecca Gibson.

Assistants to the associate editors were, Lusina Robinson, Jennie Westfall, Jennie L. Park.

Reporters were Annie McKeever, May Durham, Flora Cable, Emma Passage, Ella Walker, Anna Sawyer, Rachel Adams, Mary Hassinger, Anna Micol, Maggie Gentz, Verma Cable, Emma Farrand, Emma G. Hall, Lizzie Willis, Ada Brown, Alice Eckles, Elizabeth Micol, Ella Arthur, Cora Felton, Minnie Vandecor, Rose Murdock, Anna Frisbee, Lena Springer, Maggie Downey, and Emma Kinyon.

Proof readers were Nellie Crosby, Edith Burch and Mary Cortrite.

There was considerable data printed in the "silk edition" about the Ladies Of The Macca-bees, always a popular fraternal organization in Plymouth.

The ladies produced 16 pages of breezy, newsy items about Plymouth people—and they "packed" the edition full of advertisements from Plymouth merchants.

The "bindery work" was apparently done on a sewing machine in the home of some Lady Maccabee, as the pages are sewn together with silk thread.

Editor Gray's "silk edition" can be seen in one of the display windows of The Mail office.

All Namesake Group Members Meet Tonight

An important meeting of the general membership of the Namesake Town committee of Plymouth has been called for tonight (Friday) at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall by James Gallimore, temporary general chairman of the organization. Every member is urged to be present.

A permanent general chairman is to be elected at this time and many matters of vital importance will be discussed. The Namesake Town committee is now supporting 25 children in Plymouth, England. One of the many important decisions to be made is what limit is to be set on the extent of Plymouth's aid to its namesake city in England. Plans for future benefit projects will also be discussed.

Did You Know That

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Eckles have returned from a two weeks' automobile trip to California and the southwest. They visited many of the national parks in the Rocky Mountain country, saw Boulder dam, spent a day in the Carlsbad caverns down in New Mexico and tramped over the petrified forest country of Arizona. The trip was made without a mishap of any kind.

Receives New Honor

A. BLAKE GILLIES

A. Blake Gillies, superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction near Plymouth, received word this week of his election to the board of directors of the National Jail association. The election was held at the recent meeting of the association held in San Francisco in conjunction with the annual congress of the American Prison association, which Superintendent Gillies attended.

The National Jail association was formed in 1938 as an affiliate of the American Prison association, and is composed of more than 900 members active in the improvement of jails and other short-term institutions of this country. The second regional conference of the association will be held in Baltimore this week-end.

Mr. Mettetal and his two sons, Robert and Eli, started flying training in July when the Branta club was organized and all of the local flying enthusiasts are now solo flying to earn hours for their licenses.

A number of other Plymouth residents are active members of the new flying club. Those flying from Plymouth include the Mettetal, Chase Willett, Sidney Patton, Robert Brown, Owen Johnson, Frank Dely and Mrs. Helen Montgomery, who has won national honors in glider competitions. Many other pilots from Northville and Walled Lake are instructors and students at the field.

The government recognizes the rapidly increasing group of private pilots in this section as one of the most important parts of the home defense program.

Youth Series Begins Sunday

200 Register for University of Life

More than 200 persons have registered for the University of Life programs for youth, sponsored by the churches of Plymouth and surrounding vicinity.

The first meeting of the University of Life will be held this Sunday evening, October 26, beginning with a supper at 6 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

Following the fellowship supper, Clarence Luchtmann of the high school music department will lead a songfest. A short vesper service on the central theme, "The Call to Creative Living" will be held at 7 o'clock, with Mayor Ruth H. Whipple leading the service. Her topic will be, "Each in His Own Place."

The young people will separate into small discussion groups for an hour's "quest session" at 8 o'clock. The series of five discussion groups which will be offered Sunday evenings include: "After High School, What?" in which the Rev. Henry Jones of the Detroit Community House in Detroit will lead a discussion of "The Fellowship of Workers Round the World"; "Christianity in the World Today" by Frederick S. Poole, director of religious education for the Detroit conference; "The New Testament, in which the Rev. W. E. Bostick and the Rev. G. H. Enns will discuss "The Birth of a New Idea"; "Vocations," by the Rev. F. W. Leech of Ann Arbor and a "Junior High School Group" under the direction of Mrs. S. S. Closson.

The University of Life meetings which will continue on each Sunday for the next four weeks, are open to high school and business young people and young adults to 35 years of age. Claude J. Dykhouse is director of the program, Miss Neva Lovewell is chairman of the vesper services and Wesley Kaiser is in charge of registration.

Draft Board Has New Policy

Selectees to Be Given Pre-Induction Exams

A change in selective service policy which provides for pre-induction physical examinations of eligible selectees has been announced by Walter A. Harms, chairman of local draft board No. 61 in Plymouth.

Local board examining physicians will continue to examine all registrants as in the past, but the U. S. Army examining board will examine Class 1A men about two weeks prior to the date of their induction. These preliminary examinations will be given at the induction station in Detroit.

The new rules strive to avert the inconvenience and hardship that in the past have been placed on selectees who report to the induction station after making all arrangements, business and personal, expecting to be inducted into the army, only to be rejected at the induction station.

The first call for pre-induction physical examinations at the Detroit induction station will be November 13 at 8:45 a.m. when 27 men will be examined by U.S. Army physicians for final check-up.

Natural Gas Explosion Wrecks New Water Well at Patchen School

Who knows—maybe Plymouth is located right on top of a big oil field at any rate, the natural gas explosion that took place Monday in the water well at the Patchen school south of Newburg provides plenty of proof of the fact that there is natural gas only about 150 feet down in the earth.

School was dismissed a few days ago at the Patchen school because of a fear that the water supply was contaminated, but will re-open on Monday. Drillers were driving the well deeper when the explosion took place. Little damage was done, although the explosion did dislodge a concrete block around the well, which weighed over a ton.

State Approves Local Flying Field

Private Pilots Form Home Guard Patrol

The Michigan State board of aeronautics has approved the Branta flying club's new field at Joy and Lilley roads near Plymouth. A fleet of nine airplanes has been registered for home guard patrol duty at the new Branta airport where many student pilots are receiving flying instructions.

Fifty acres of land was leased from the 70-acre farm of Raphael Mettetal in July for the development of the new field. Construction of the club's hangar is progressing rapidly and the field is being graded and seeded.

The field, equipped with gas oil and mechanic's services is already being used by several cross country pilots. An application was filed recently with the state to license the field. The airport is under the management of Don Starr of Northville, who has many friends in this community.

Mr. Mettetal and his two sons, Robert and Eli, started flying training in July when the Branta club was organized and all of the local flying enthusiasts are now solo flying to earn hours for their licenses.

A number of other Plymouth residents are active members of the new flying club. Those flying from Plymouth include the Mettetal, Chase Willett, Sidney Patton, Robert Brown, Owen Johnson, Frank Dely and Mrs. Helen Montgomery, who has won national honors in glider competitions. Many other pilots from Northville and Walled Lake are instructors and students at the field.

Civilian Defense Calls Volunteers To Register Here

Citizens to Register On Nov. 12, 13 and 14 For Defense Duties

The registration of civilian defense volunteers in the Plymouth area has been announced by the local civilian defense council which met last Thursday, November 12, 13 and 14 are the days set for all citizens to voluntarily offer their services for civilian defense.

On these days, at the city hall in Plymouth, volunteers can register their capability and preference for the hundreds of services needed in civilian defense. The territory assigned by the United States Office of Civilian Defense for general registration includes the city of Plymouth, and Plymouth, Canton and Livonia townships.

The immediate need is for 45 registrars to volunteer to serve on the days of general registration. Fifteen registrars are needed for each day from two to eight o'clock at the city hall. Volunteer registrars are asked to offer their services to City Manager C. H. Elliott, coordinator of the Plymouth office for civilian defense.

"Every patriotic citizen, no matter what his politics, creed, race or personal position, must be prepared to serve his country for whatever dangers may be ahead," declares Coordinator Clarence H. Elliott.

"Our Army and Navy is being built to full strength at great sacrifice by millions of men. But now, more than ever before, our strength is the strength of each citizen. We are therefore instituting a new protective force—civilian defense."

"Civilian defense has two tasks. The first is to prepare for the day we may never come; when bombs and artillery fire fall on our cities, towns and countryside, and when men, women and children must stand prepared to defend their homes and liberties. The second task is to better the health, economic security and well-being of our people, to make our country strong," continued Mr. Elliott.

"From the top down, the United States office of Civilian Defense, the Michigan office, the Wayne County office, to the local office of civilian defense, your neighbors and mine, at the city hall in Plymouth, has come the summons to defend your community."

"We have something real to defend, our country, our city, our homes, and with these three, the inseparable intangibles, liberty, security and human dignity, community strength adds up to national strength and community weakness adds up to national failure," concluded Director Elliott in his appeal to the citizens of the city to volunteer for future training and service in defense.

Members of the Plymouth Civilian Defense Council include Mayor Ruth H. Whipple, honorary chairman; City Manager C. H. Elliott, coordinator; Dr. Wagoner, fire fighting services; Vaughan R. Smith, police services; Dr. Luther Peck, medical services and training; Stanford L. Besse, public works, streets and buildings; Rolfe Smith, utilities; John Jacobs, maintenance of vital services; and Arvo B. Thompson, public relations and publicity.

Local Man Shot in Hunting Accident

Leo Kowalcik Struck By 33 BB Shots

Leo Kowalcik of 632 Fairground avenue became Plymouth's first victim of a hunting accident Saturday morning when he was struck with 33 BB shots from a hunting companion's gun while hunting rabbits in an open field on Joy road near Newburg.

Kowalcik was given first aid treatment at Plymouth hospital by a local physician who reported nine of the shots from his legs and side. The hunter, who is a skilled carpenter and woodworker and the father of five children, is recovering at his home.

Frederick Bird of Ann Arbor Trail, Newburg, the victim's hunting companion sighted a rabbit in the brush and fired the shots from his 12-gauge shotgun which accidentally struck Kowalcik, who was walking in the open at a distance of about 50 feet.

Gov. Van Wagoner Good To Plymouth

Local Workers Are Believed to Favor UAW-CIO Contract

When the 2,500 to 3,000 Ford workers in 14 Michigan plants, including Plymouth, Northville, Newburg and Phoenix, vote for the CIO-United Automobile Workers on October 29, they will be automatically voting themselves an annual wage increase of nearly a million and a quarter dollars.

This was the statement Wednesday of Richard T. Leonard, Ford division director of the CIO auto workers' union.

"The UAW-CIO has just completed negotiations, under the terms of its contract with the Ford Motor company for wage increases at the Rouge plant," Leonard said. "The wage rates negotiated there, which amount to a total of $52,000,000 a year, are to be automatically applied to corresponding classifications in every Ford plant in the country where a majority of the employees are members of the UAW-CIO."

"In the fourteen Michigan plants, where the National Labor Relations Board has ordered employe elections for October 29, his will mean annual wage increases totalling nearly a million and a quarter dollars. Naturally, it will also mean that much increased income for the communities where these plants are located, with the small merchants and professional people sharing in the benefits."

Under the UAW-CIO contract, Leonard explained further, these increases will be retroactive to June 20, 1941, the date the contract was signed.

This will mean, for example, that an employe in the Plymouth, Northville, Newburg and Phoenix plants who receives a 15-cent an hour increase under the UAW-CIO contract, will get a check from the company for approximately $105, since he will have worked approximately 700 hours at his old and lower rate since June 20.

"The matter of wage increases is one of numerous reasons that we are confident of an overwhelming CIO victory among the 14 Michigan plants," Leonard said. "I am voting for the AFL-Ford workers' union because of the increases which the Rouge workers, organized 100 per cent into the UAW-CIO have already won for them."

"A vote for the AFL would mean starting all over from scratch. The AFL has no contract with Ford. It has negotiated no wage increases. That it could negotiate any wage increases without the support of the Rouge workers is highly improbable."

"But if by chance it did, such increases would not be retroactive to June 20, as they are under the UAW-CIO contract."

An important principle of collective bargaining is also involved in the elections, Leonard explained—the principle that employes working for the same corporation achieve better results in negotiating for improved wages and working conditions when

Civilians Wage War in England

Benefit Raises $60 For British Children

The war in England is being fought by the civilians, not the army, declared Glenn A. Richards, a member of the Plymouth Thursday evening benefit for about 150 persons at a public meeting in Plymouth high school, sponsored by the Plymouth Civilian Defense committee and the Namesake Town Committee.

Richards, who is secretary of the Detroit Department of Public Works, reported his observations of his recent trip to war-torn England in August. The Namesake Town Committee of Plymouth realized $60.00 from the proceeds for the purpose of feeding two more children in Plymouth, England.

Mr. Richards, on an assignment from the national civilian defense organization, visited Manchester, London, Dover, Liverpool and Plymouth. Only one square mile of London's poorest districts has been laid waste by bombing attacks, the speaker reported, and 85 per cent of the damage has been done by incendiary bombs, which do not explode but which burn through all buildings and burrow into the ground setting fire to everything.

Roses Bloom Second Time During the Year

Believe it or not, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Files have an oddity in the garden of their home on Joy street in Plymouth. They planted two pink American Beauty rose bushes alongside a trellis in their garden five years ago. The roses bloom only once a year and the last blooms appeared on the bushes on Memorial Day of this year.

About 12 days ago, to the surprise of the Files and horticulturists here, one of the trellis bushes blossomed again and the bush now has 18 blossoms in full bloom. The other rose bush, growing under the same conditions on the other side of the trellis has not renewed its blossoming. The only explanation for the unusual trick of nature is that the bush now in blossom might have been stunted in its bearing during the dry weather last summer and renewed bearing during the mild weather and wet season this fall.

Civilians

(Continued from page 1) thing in its wake. Each German plane is equipped to carry 1,000 of these bombs per plane and approximately 100,000 incendiaries are dropped over London in one night, he reported.

"The only way to cope with incendiaries is to shovel them into a sand pile or sand pit. It is in this way that volunteer civilian defense workers are proving useful in England," declared Mr. Richards.

Plymouth, England is the most seriously damaged city in the whole of the British Isles, the speaker asserted. There are 46,000 buildings in the city and there have been 50,000 bombing incidents forcing 45 per cent of the people to move out of the city.

"Bombs are dropped only to demoralize the civilian population in the belief of the English people. The British contend that the Germans are not damaging the harbors and military objectives because Hitler hopes to use them himself in the event of invasion," declared Mr. Richards who added that the only damage in most cities is done about two miles out of the city.

Claiming that an aerial invasion of America is not impossible, Mr. Richards stated that the plane in which he traveled made the trip in nine and a half hours from Newfoundland to Ireland with enough gas for a return trip. Hitler's bombers of the latest construction and design could easily fly to New York in seven hours, Mr. Richards contended.

Arthur H. Scargle, director of music for Detroit public schools, spoke briefly on the Plymouth, England which he formerly knew in comparison with conditions as he found them there a year ago. Robert Luscombe, director of music at McKezic high school in Detroit, who sings regularly over radio station WJR, sang two solos, "Road to Mandalay" and "Hills of Home" with Mrs. Kriekoff accompanying.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dearest mother, Amy A. Millard, who left this world October 29, 1916 to be forever with the Lord and with her loved ones who had gone before.

Twenty-five long years ago (a quarter of a century), but her memory is as sweet today as in that hour she went away.

It is very lonely without you Mother dear, but I have your kind, loving, Christian counsel to guide me on my way and when I leave this world of sorrows and disappointments I shall hope to meet you on the other side where all tears are wiped away.

There's a rift in life's beautiful music.

A shadow across the bright sun.

And a dirge on the tremulous zephyrs.

That circle my childhood home.

There's a pall o'er my dear old homestead.

The light of its altar has fled.

My Mother, my ministering angel.

Lies sleeping the sleep of the dead.

Long after a beautiful life has gone.

To that fairer world on high.

Our lives are bright with lingering light.

For a true life cannot die.

Written in sweetest memory by your daughter,

Mamie C. Kingsley.

HAVE YOU EVER NOTICED?

Have you noticed that certain types of metal fasteners have a tendency to rot the fabric to which they are attached? Reason: The cloth can't dry out quickly. No such trouble with genuine Pearl Buttons. They will outlast the garment itself. When you buy wash garments, see that they are equipped with Pearl Buttons.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the ladies of the Women's Club, P.E.O., Tuesday Bridge and D.A.R. for the very splendid service rendered the local Salvation Army Post in its Home Service Campaign.

Ford Employees

they are organized into the same corporation-wide industrial union.

"When employees in the Plymouth, Northville, Newburg and Phoenix Ford plants vote for the UAW-CIO their organized strength is automatically increased from their present numbers to 120,000 Ford workers throughout the nation. If they were by any chance to choose the AFL, their strength would be limited only to those plants covered by the AFL— which at the present moment is none.

"The Ford Motor company itself has recognized the importance of the soundness of this principle of collective bargaining. On the day the contract was signed, June 20, 1941, Edsel Ford president of the company made this statement:

"On May 26 . . . Ford workmen voted overwhelmingly to be represented by a union and designated the UAW-CIO as their collective bargaining agent.

"As the company views the situation no half measures will be effective. We cannot work out one system of things for some of our workmen and another scheme for the remainder. So we have decided to go the whole way.

"The agreement today covers the Rouge and Lincoln plants throughout the United States. It provides that they shall be union shops . . .

The elections ordered by the NLRB were applied for by the AFL before the elections at the Rouge and Lincoln plants were held.

"Its application, which was nothing more than a publicity gesture at the time, has now been granted, to the great embarrassment of the AFL, which not only has no membership to speak of in the fourteen plants, but which also has absolutely nothing to offer these Ford workers in the way of a contract, increased wages or better working conditions." Leonard said.

"The UAW-CIO, on the other hand, welcomes the elections as a means of finally and democratically determining the fact that the organization chosen by more than 100,000 other Ford workers is the choice of the workers in these plants."

The elections are to be held Wednesday, October 29 in the following plants:

Brooklyn, Dundee, Flat Rock, Manchester, Milan, Milford, Newburg, Northville, Phoenix, Plymouth, Saline, Sharon Mills, Waterford, and Ypsilanti.

The bridal gown of ivory satin, fashioned along princess lines, was trimmed at the neckline and wrists with tiny flowers of seed pearls, the sleeves being long and shirred at top. A wide girdle was worn with the gathered skirt which had a long train. Her veil, of shoulder and fingertip lengths, fell from a Queen Mary halo of satin with pearl trim. Classic League
Last Thursday night, October 16, saw several changes take place in the standings of the local Parkview Classic Bowling League.

Todd's Market keepers moved into first place, ahead of Super Shell No. 2, by winning four points from Hudson Motors, dropping Hudson Motors to third place. Fourth place is at present divided four ways, by Maplelawn Dairy, Refrigerated Lockers, Wilson Plumbers and Plymouth Hardware. The other positions are well divided also and some decided changes will take place October 23, when several of the tied teams are scheduled to compete with their position rivals.

Highlight of October 16 was the 675 series rolled by Ronald Lyke of Wilson Plumbers. Beginning with a 208 in the initial game, Lyke rolled a neat 257 in the second and finished with 210, to post a 675 and take over first place in individual 3-game series totals. Lyke's 257 in the second game aided his team in taking first place in team one-game totals with a 1009.

$52,800,000.00

That's a lot of money—$52,800,000. It's what the Ford workers won for themselves through their chosen organization—the CIO United Automobile Workers—in annual wage increases.

Nearly $1,250,000 of that sum belongs to the Ford workers in Plymouth, Mich. and in the other Michigan Ford plants where National Labor Relations Board elections are to be held Wednesday, Oct. 29.

It belongs to them because the Ford Motor Co. has agreed with the UAW-CIO that in ALL FORD PLANTS COMING UNDER THE UAW-CIO CONTRACT the new wage rates established at Rouge will apply.

That is one reason a vast majority of Ford workers in these fourteen plants will vote UAW-CIO.

Here are some others:

- The wage increases won by the UAW-CIO will be retroactive to June 20, 1941, date the contract was signed between Ford and the UAW-CIO. For example, if you get a 15c an hour increase and have worked 700 hours since June 20, you get a check from the company for $105—UNDER THE UAW-CIO CONTRACT.

● In applying Rouge rates to the outlying Ford plants, COMING UNDER THE UAW-CIO CONTRACT, the UAW-CIO has for the first time wiped out the differential in wages existing between these two groups of Ford workers.

● Rouge workers have voted overwhelmingly for the UAW-CIO and have granted the company the right to use the union label. That means that every Ford car and ALL ITS PARTS MUST BE MADE BY UAW-CIO MEMBERS.

● The UAW-CIO is the only union that has a contract with Ford. It is the only union that has a commitment from the company that wage increases shall be retroactive to June 20, 1941, and that Rouge wage rates shall apply to outlying plants. It is the only contract that protects the job security and working conditions of Ford workers THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

Local Man Accepts Defense Position

Eugene Starkweather Goes to Los Angeles

Eugene D. Starkweather, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Starkweather of this city, left Detroit by plane last Monday morning for Los Angeles, California, where he has accepted a new and responsible position with North American Aviation, Inc.

Young Starkweather is a 1923 graduate of the Plymouth high school. After his graduation, he was employed in a local industry for a year after which he entered the chemical engineering department at the University of Detroit. Before he had completed a second year at college, he accepted a position as assistant to the chief chemist at the Saginaw Steering Gear Division of General Motors at Saginaw where he has been associated for the past ten years. The position from which he has just resigned was that of valuation engineer for the company. He is also a graduate of the General Motors Technical Institute in Flint.

At the age of 30 years, Mr. Starkweather assumes the position as director of personnel for North American Aviation which employs 15,000 workers in the California plant alone apart from the two other plants in Dallas and Kansas City, North American Aviation, while neither an affiliate nor a subsidiary of General Motors, is largely controlled by the concern and is totally engaged in defense work. Its products are pursuit planes, training ships and giant bombers for the United States government.

Young Starkweather is married to the former Elizabeth Murray, a classmate in the 1923 Plymouth high school graduating class. Mrs. Starkweather is the daughter of Mrs. Ada Murray, also a local high school graduate, and of Dan Murray. Mrs. Starkweather and two children are leaving for the West by train on Saturday.

Howard Olson Likes the Army

Tells of Fine Camp Down in Texas

Harry Robinson has received from Howard Olson, a Plymouth boy who is in Uncle Sam's army, a most interesting letter about his activities in the armed forces of the nation. Howard, who is located at Randolph Field, Texas, writes in part:

"This is the busiest life I will ever live. We seem to be doing something all the time.

"We were shipped out of Jefferson Barracks Saturday morning at 7 o'clock and had a lot of fun on the train coming down here.

"This is the best military post in the world. Every place you go is nice and clean and all the buildings are kept up well and are nicely painted.

"The food is real good and we can have all we want of it. Our drilling is not hard as the officer said we were about the best group that had ever come to the field. As soon as the mechanic school is opened, we are all going to be sent to school.

"The men I am with are all great fellows and I like every one of them. The officers are strict but good to us. Glad to hear from you and others at any time."

Accidents Hit New High Mark

Report 12 Traffic Crashes in One Week

A new high in traffic accidents was established during the third week of October, say Plymouth police officials. During the previous week from Saturday, October 11 to Saturday, October 18, there were 12 traffic accidents within the city limits.

George Arthur of North Harvey street was injured a week ago Thursday evening when his auto collided with another driven by Charles L. Hubbard of Wicoc road at the stop-street intersection of Starkweather and Farmer streets. Arthur received a broken wrist and bruises and lacerations.

During the same week, cars driven by Ernest Sweet of Highland Park and Arthur Young of Dearborn collided at the stop-street intersection of Sheldon road and U.S.-12. A car driven by William Curtis, 42006 Micol Drive, Plymouth, collided with another driven by Neil Curtis, 859 Irvin street, who was making a left hand turn into a driveway on the east side of Mill street near Rose street last Friday, according to police information.

Chicken Mothers Litter of Kittens

When a chicken mothers a brood of chicks that's not news, but when a chicken mothers a litter of kittens, that's something full worthy of front page prominence. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barnes, Eleven Mile road, were flabbergasted last week to find one of their fine White Rock hens setting in a hen's nest, spreading her wings protectively over a litter of five kittens that were born a day or so before. Not only did she carry on this way that day, but it has been going on ever since. The hen guards the kittens zealously—just let one try to crawl away and she promptly rolls it back in the nest and spreads her wings.

to cover it. The mother cat has to be content with sitting or lying alongside the nest—the kittens can scarcely leave the hen to be fed. All the while the mother cat looks on perplexedly, wondering no doubt why her babies have been taken from her.—South Lyon Herald.

The Bethany class of the Federated church will hold a chicken supper in the church dining room Wednesday evening, October 29. Serving is from 6 to 8 o'clock. Everybody is invited.

In most of Michigan's southern counties, where corn is raised in abundance, hogs produce an important share of agricultural income. There are nearly a million pigs fattening on Michigan farms, and they will bring farmers upwards of $10,000,000 this year.

In the telephone, the successful hog raiser has an efficient, modern helper. He uses it regularly to help turn surplus grain into profitable pork, hams, bacon and lard. He orders feed and keeps informed as to the trend of livestock prices by telephone. ## Rocks Tied With Birmingham For First Place in T.V.A.

The tussle between the Rocks and Ecorse ended with the Rocks leading 34-18. Birmingham defeated Wayne 20-6 leaving the Twin Valley race still deadlocked.

In the first few minutes of the first quarter, Seguin forced the ball over the goal line for the first touchdown and a few seconds later kicked the extra point. The rest of the quarter was scoreless.

In the second quarter Baker ran the ball over for a touchdown and Seguin kicked the point. Then the Ecorse team opened up their passing attack, with Joe Martin, right halfback and Norman Redwine, right end, scoring two touchdowns, but the extra points were not good. Martin rifled a pass to Ghindia, the left end who scored their third touchdown in the second quarter. The half ended with Ecorse leading 18-14.

In the third quarter, Ecorse had the ball on its own five-yard line. The ball was blocked on an attempted punt and Sheppard of Plymouth fell on it over the goal line for a touchdown. Seguin kicked the extra point. Later in the quarter, Ecorse had the ball on Plymouth's 30-yard line. "Pinky" Folsom intercepted a pass and with wonderful blocking by the whole team, ran 76 yards to a touchdown. The try for the extra point was not good.

In the last quarter, Baker of Plymouth took the ball for a 50-yard run to a touchdown. Seguin kicked the extra point. Minutes later Seguin intercepted an Ecorse pass and ran 25 yards only to be brought down, but the game ended before the ball was forced over the goal line.

The Ecorse line-up was Ghindia, l.e.; Betag, l.t.; Covert, l.g.; Jones, c.; Cameron, r.g.; Kromreich, r.t.; Redwine, r.e.; Nav, q.b.; Newlands, r.h.b.; Martin, l.h.b.; Tabula, f.b.

Next week's Dearborn-Plymouth game promises to be a very good one since on October 10 Plymouth defeated Ypsilanti 20-0 and last Friday Dearborn defeated Ypsilanti 18-2. Our Northville neighbors, although not in league competition are still undefeated having conquered Farmington on Wednesday, October 15, while Melvindale, another out-league team, trounced Van Dyke 34-6 on Friday. The league standings which follow prove that Birmingham and Dearborn are the teams to beat.

Eighth Grade Doings

The "Shag and Stag Dance" given by the eighth grade for the junior high event of with a "bang." A good time was had by all (we hope) and it was very profitable to boot.

Take it from me, this easily elated lot has been busier than many a bee. The 8B took a trip to Greenfield Village as is the custom. This trip is usually made by car but due to the fact that there were only four cars available to transport 86 children, a bus was hired. Fifty kids in a bus that seats 35. Oh me! Miss Bryce and Mr. Balden were the accompanying teachers. The group was divided into two parts. We went through the museum and Village. Everyone enjoyed himself. Maybe it was because they missed classes, but I think I learned a little.

Honor Roll

With a total of 1005 enrolled students in school only 114 are on the first honor roll. Of this number only 25 are boys and 89 are girls. Janice Simons, Nancy McLaren and Beverly Kreimes in the twelfth grade; Mildred Bruce, Signe Hegge, Margaret Jean Nichol and Louise Powell in the eleventh grade; Ester Mettetal in the tenth; Lois Hansen, Eunice Meinziinger and Harold Shultz in the ninth grade are all A students. The tenth grade with 34 claims top prize. The freshmen come in second with 23, juniors third with 21, seniors fourth place with 16, seventh grade has 11 and eighth grade nine. Boys seem to be badly lacking in all grades with the exception of whom 15 of the 43 A and B students are boys. In the seventh and eighth grades they are entirely extinct.

What A Sport!

"I've got one!"
"What?" asked Miss Wells of Mr. Latture the first day of pheasant hunting.
"A boy in class," answered Mr. Latture.
"What a surprise! Mr. Latture thought he wouldn't have a single one on Wednesday morning."
As anyone could see by the empty seats, either there were some very ardent hunters in school or many took advantage of the excuse to get a day off. But can you blame them? Mr. Latture himself must be very fond of the sport for he got up early Wednesday morning; saw three birds and bagged one at 7:10. Such luck!

Modest expression is a beautiful setting to the diamond of talent and genius.—Chapin.

Girl Reserves' Groups Hold Song Meeting

The Intermediates, Junior and Senior Girl Reserves held a song meeting in the music room Thursday noon, October 16. The songs were led by Allene Parmalee, Shirley Reamer, Ruth Chaundy, Cecelia Hubert, and Jacquelyn Opper, accompanied at the piano by Ruth Drews.

Class News

Three non-academic classes in literature, something new this year, are being taught by Miss Allen and Miss Walldorf. These classes study contemporary literature in respect to the locality involved. The fact that the environment in which the author writes has a great influence on his writing is analyzed and applied in each case. The study of the New England states, known as the "Corner-stone Country," and "The Low-Country and Up-Country" of Kentucky and the Carolinas has just been completed. The map used by a Miss Walldorf's class was once a torn and dusty old relief map; now it has all of the states accurately drawn and lettered. This transformation was worked by a non-member, Bob Wolfe, entirely voluntarily.

Miss Walldorf's 11B English classes are now studying the correct processes of thinking. They are also learning to distinguish between the seven types of propaganda.

The Thelma Beauty shop on South Main street was the object of a two weeks' visit and study by two homemaking III girls, Shirley Freeland and Gladys Davis, who went one hour each day from October 6 to 17 to sample operating a beauty shop as a vocation. The girls reported that they are still undecided but think perhaps they would just as soon take up some other vocation.

Miss Killham's first and seventh hour English classes are studying common expressions in French, Latin, Spanish, and German.

Miss Bryce's first hour American history class talked over the topic "Should the Americans adopt a policy of intervention or keep their present attitude of semi-isolationism?" in an interesting panel discussion.

Mrs. Soule and Miss Lundin, two homemaking teachers, gave demonstrations in adult night school cooking classes Tuesday, October 14. Salads and casseroles were emphasized. The night school cooking classes try to have different people give demonstrations at least once a week.

To learn to identify various types of leaves, a field trip was made by the 7A-1 geography class. The students collected the leaves and later brought them to the class room for identification. Have you seen the alligator in Mr. Wallace's room? Well, there is one. Margery Livingstone and Barbara Martin, two last year's students of biology, brought him, where he has established residence in a terrarium, to be cared for by Bernard Birt and Jack Bershure. All the classes are studying his habits. The alligator was sent north by some residents of Plymouth to one of their friends last winter on their trip south. The girls obtained him when the owners found he was a nuisance to care for. They kept him all summer and turned him over to Mr. Wallace this fall.

Miss Tyler's eighth grade English classes have been studying punctuation class parts of sentences these past two weeks, while outlining and summarizing have been the work in grade seven.

Miss Lundin's home making II clothing classes are nicely started on their first "problem" or article of clothing to be made this fall. The girls have selected the pattern, material, trim, and thread for their garment.

Plymouth Host to Math Instructors

The districts represented were Wayne, Romulus, Flat Rock, Northville, Garden City, Redford Union and Tomlinson.

Jackson Here For Debate

Preparation for the debating season was started by a practice with Jackson held here on October 16. Plymouth was represented by both the negative and affirmative teams. Louise Powell, Joe Brisbois, and Malcom MacGregor were on the negative; on the affirmative were Dorris Strauss, Downing Jewell, and Warren Mason. The negative speakers will be the ones to take part in the first decision debate with River Rouge on October 30.

To give practice to his new squad, Mr. Latture hopes to arrange several other non-decision debates before the contest with River Rouge. He and Mr. Fall, coach of the Jackson squad, plan to have their teams meet again later in the season.

The question is: Resolved, that all able bodied males should have one year of military training before they reach the present draft age.

Wayne Reserves Win From Frosh

Behind Scenes

We think it is the duty of this Column to inform the students that there is a circus in town; in fact, in school. Some day, just quietly sneak past the hall guard and pop into the library when nobody's looking. There you will find students enjoying the apparently popular pastime of exercising the body while still sitting down. In trying to make it easier, we might add that it is the art of draping one's carcass over or under the table and/or chair, whichever the case may be.

We have gone to the trouble of analyzing these rubbery contortions and have finally broken them down to six classifications: sleeping, concentrated, normal, slumping, balancer and the big, gestic of Miss Taylor's worries in the position (that's what we call it) known as the "not-in-the-seat."

The sleeping position is very easy to define. The victim of the night before merely slumps over the table, rests his head in his arms. Then comes the concentrated position. Now, let's see, they're kind of scarce here. Ah! There is one 'way over there. He is sitting with his feet draped over the rung of the chair, his head propped up on his elbows. There is no need to discuss the normal position—just look at a teacher.

The slumper is the most interesting of these exhibits; there are so many variations. Now, take for instance that boy in the corner. He is slumped down in the chair with his legs spread on either side of the opposite chair, studiously studying the "Scholastic." Er, excuse us, it's a disguised comic magazine. Another variety has the dogs parked on the opposite chair, if it's empty. Then there are some who park them on two different chairs. Every now and then we stumble across (and we do mean stumble) the flexible variety who twines his pins around his chair, a handy table leg, or sometimes around himself.

Now there is the always present balancer who always keeps us on pins and needles as he hovers near catastrophe on two chair legs. We used to do the same but "It" got the better of us. But there are some who don't know any better than to prop themselves against another chair. One day we were really surprised when that chair moved.

At last we come to the nuisance of the lot who has a snack of Yehoodi. It is the position called "not-in-the-seat." The easiest way to explain it is to say, "He just isn't there."

A nation is as strong as its industries. Government is its frame—industry is its heart, its life blood and its sinew. Our country rises or falls with the position of the wage earner.

Hay Ride for Initiation Party

A hay ride was part of the initiation party October 21 for the 12 freshman girls taken into Leaders' club. The new members are Joan Gilles, Donna Becker, Beverly Bovey, Shirley Hitt, Jean Minehart, Rosemary Henter, Kathleen Fisher, Edith Nolte, Lois Mills and Virginia Mauli. Each senior brought two lunches one for a freshman and one for herself. Everyone met in school at 7 o'clock and proceeded to Lois Vetal's home.

All Girls' Party To Be October 28

All girls in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades are cordially invited to the All Girls' Party to be held in the high school auditorium Tuesday, October 28. The prettiest, funniest, and most original costumes will be awarded prizes. Ten-minute skits will be presented by the classes. Janet Strachan being in charge of the tenth grade, Janice Downing, eleventh grade, and Phyllis Nichols, twelfth grade. There will be three judges, Miss Lovewell and Miss Hunter; the third has not been decided on. This is an annual affair sponsored by the Girl Reserves.

Gettin' Around

Say, speaking of "gettin' around" Wanda Hepler, Tom Roberts, Annabelle Becker, and Lloyd Clark covered a lot of ground last Sunday. Holland was their first stop and relatives in Three Oaks also rated a visit from them.

Marjorie Stone, Bob Bovey of the University of Michigan, Ruth Granger, Bill Stevens, of the University of Michigan, and Gloria Jones, of the class of '41, enjoyed dinner at the Pen Mar cafe to honor Jack Gettleston of the class of '41, on his birthday Sunday, October 12.

Sperandeos Give Entertainment

The Apollo Entertainers, Giovanni Sperandeo, Sicilian tenor, and Elsie Sperandeo, pianist and accompanist, appeared before the junior and senior high school students Monday, October 20. Mr. Sperandeo was born in Sicily, and when he was 15 years old he came to America. Starting school in the fourth grade because he didn't know English, Mr. Sperandeo learned much from his classmates and now knows six different languages. He attended high school and college where he obtained his Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees in music. Because of an accident he lost his left arm and right hand. He has developed a system of eating and drinking by strapping the utensils to his right wrist. Singing and painting are among his many accomplishments. His mottoes are: "Work wins; never be satisfied with less than your best, and have a definite aim."

Several piano solos were played by Mrs. Sperandeo and among other selections Mr. Sperandeo sang "Mexicali Rose," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Ti-Pi-Tin" and "Down Argentine Way."

Camp Deer to Be Allowed This Fall

Can Kill Doe if Four in Camp

This fall for the first time in 20 years the killing of doe deer will be legal in Michigan, as the legislature in a surprise move on its return from a three-month recess gave immediate effect to an act amending the general game law.

Under the new law each party of four hunters is entitled to take "one doe"—either a buck or a doe—for camp use. Regulations for taking deer of either sex by bow and arrow and antlerless deer only in a special season are scheduled for conservation commission approval at a special meeting in Marquette October 21.

Hunting of antlerless deer had been recommended by the conservation department only in a special season, and only in certain areas where loss from starvation is high because herds are too large for the winter food supply.

Principal difference for the small game hunter produced by the immediate effect action is the reduction of the cottontail rabbit limit from five to three in one day and from 10 to six in possession. All hunters, however, are now urged to turn over their digests of game laws issued with all licenses and "read the black." Until the legislature acted, digest regulations printed in red were controlling.

The period for keeping small game has been extended from 10 to 30 days, except in the case of migratory waterfowl, where the 20-day federal limit applies. Deer and bear may be kept 60 days without permit, and both small and big game may be kept up to six months longer under special conservation department permit in freezer lockers.

Opossums are now protected except during the open season on raccoons, and woodchucks are protected in the lower peninsula except during the rabbit season, though farmers may kill them at any time on their own lands. An attempt to give immediate effect to the Horton trespass law amendment which would have required the hunter to obtain written consent of the landowner before hunting was stopped in the senate.

Immediate effect given two other acts allows license dealers to retain five cents for each small game and deer hunting license sold and reduces the license fee for non-resident bow and arrow deer hunters from $25 to $5.

Citizen Proposes Ceiling on Rents

Roy Pursell Advises Control Through Tax

A suggestion for a ceiling on local rents was proposed by Roy Pursell, who appeared Monday evening before a meeting of the city commission. Mr. Pursell advocated rent-price control through taxation on rental increases.

"Two ways present themselves to eliminate rent profiteers; put a ceiling on rents as Canada and the House of Representatives have done, in the latter case for the city of Washington, D.C.; or tax only the increase in rent as of August, 1941, with a 90 or 95 per cent tax," suggested Mr. Pursell.

"The defense boom is the result of America's effort to protect itself," said Mr. Pursell, "and anyone who takes undue advantage of it to oppress the people is open to action by the government. I think the tax on profiteering is the most logical way out."

While the constitutionality of municipal control over rental rates is held in question, the city commission proposed to give study to the problem, which is admittedly a real one. The imminent housing shortage in the city of Plymouth is recognized to bear directly upon the problem of rent profiteering.

This FEED GRINDER runs itself—AND PAYS FOR ITSELF! Farmers used to haul grain to the mill for grinding into feed. Today's farmer can't afford to spend time and money that way—and he doesn't need to. He installs an automatic electric feed mill. Then he flips a switch and goes on about his work. Grain stored overhead flows through the mill automatically, and is ground just the way the farmer wants it. The electric feed grinder runs itself, without attention. It pays for itself, too. Here is a typical comment from a farmer in Monroe County: "I save both time and money by grinding feed. My entire electric bill for lights, ironing and washing, pumping water and grinding feed is less than I used to pay just for having feed ground. And I have any mixture of feed at any time, freshly ground." Install an electric hammer mill and you hire a hand that will work without supervision. Cost of grinding feed averages about 1c per hundredweight. Visit your farm equipment dealer. ### Largest Buyer Michigan Peaches

A & P Purchases Exceed All Records

An increase of more than 437 per cent over last year in purchases of Michigan peaches for sale in A & P food stores during the investment period recently ended was reported today by the chain's produce-buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission company.

The firm's purchases in the state during a single peak production week ended September 6, for example, amounted to 59,211 bushels, compared to 5,418 bushels during the corresponding week of 1940. It was stated by H. A. Baum, general manager of the commission company.

During the season, Michigan peaches were offered to consumers in 13 states from Louisiana to New York through the company's retail stores served by distribution points in Detroit, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Paul, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Louisville, Toledo, Flint, Minneapolis, Des Moines, New Orleans, Cleveland, Columbus, Albany, Nashville, Lexington, Ky., Huntington, W. Va., and New York City, Baum said.

Advertising, bulwarmed by a special radio and store display campaign emphasizing the opportunity given housewives for home canning, was largely responsible for the sharp increase in movement of the fruit, he explained.

"As a result of this promotion, as much as 30 percent of the peaches moved through our stores in many suburban and rural districts were retained in bushel-basket lots for home canning purposes, considerably more than in previous years," Baum said.

The commission company manager said an intensive national campaign, inaugurated at the request of the National Peach Planning Committee and other producing groups in Michigan and elsewhere, boosted the company's purchases from 19 peach-growing states 73 per cent.

The peach campaign was coordinated with A & P's summer "nutrition-for-defense" drive which resulted in a 20.4 per cent increase in movement of all fruits and vegetables through the food chain's stores, he added.

THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

ELTON R. EATON Editor and Publisher
STERLING EATON Business Manager
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Congratulations, Mr. Russell

Earl Russell, president of the Wall Wire Company, who was made the chief executive of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce last spring, is doing a real job in connection with his civic duties.

But not so The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. While not so active in the past, it has served an excellent purpose and it has sought to keep alive the right sort of interest in the upbuilding of the city.

Again we say congratulations to Mr. Russell for the splendid work he is doing. Never has there been greater need for a live civic organization such as the Chamber of Commerce than right now.

It Is Legal, But Rotten

The Detroit Free Press a few mornings ago published a dispatch from Albion in which it revealed the payment of $500 of tax money to Senator Joseph Baldwin by the board of supervisors of Calhoun county because he, Baldwin, had allegedly secured from the state of Michigan a payment of some old welfare accounts due to the county from the state.

Attorney Baldwin is senator from that district in the state legislature. He is supposed to serve the interests of the people of his district and the state, for which the taxpayers of Michigan pay him $1,000 per year.

As an attorney, Mr. Baldwin doubtless has a right to charge for legal services in connection with the payment of welfare funds from the state to a county—but in the estimation of The Plymouth Mail his acceptance of $500 for what he did was not only reprehensible but it comes mighty near to the border line of a transaction that involves the question of whether Senator Baldwin has a right to continue his place in the state senate.

It is inconceivable that a public official holding the position that he does should bleed the taxpayers of his district for a public service to the district.

Senator Baldwin happens to be a Republican, and it is unfortunate in these days when the predominating party is shaming itself by displays of a similar greed for tax dollars that one of the opposition party should be caught red handed in a similar transaction.

The Plymouth Mail does not charge that there has been a law violation by this Republican senator. His acceptance of this money was without question all within the law, but it is mighty cheap business for a state senator to stoop to such a display of greed for tax dollars. Senator Baldwin will be doing the Republican party of Michigan a service if he will resign his honored position.

What Is Back of It?

In his talk before Plymouth business men the other night, John L. Lovett, secretary of the Michigan Manufacturers Association, said that the New Deal government is building munition plants in the South and West, that contracts are not being let for war materials until those plants are completed and equipped and that meanwhile Michigan factories already constructed and in operation and equipped, are permitted to stand idle.

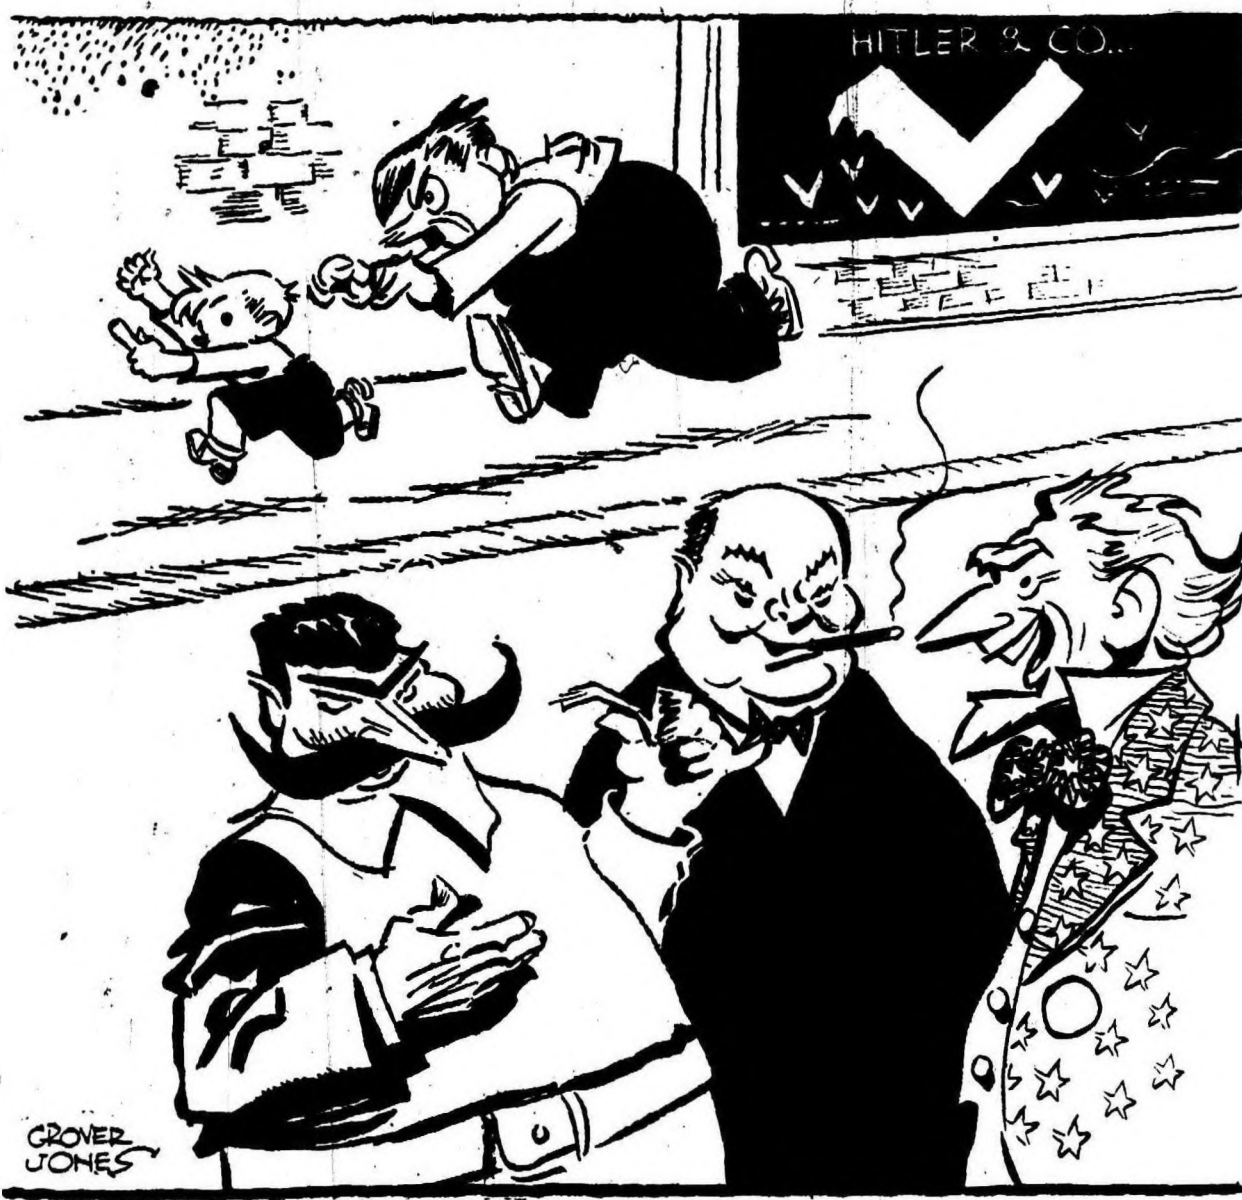

Why Americans Worry

The other day Leon Henderson, loudly touted price fixer of the government, read a speech before the Detroit Economic club, an organization composed of business executives, churchmen, professors, doctors and lawyers. In anticipation of hearing something worthwhile, Detroit civic leaders turned out by the hundreds. The attendance was the largest the Economic club had ever experienced.

When it was all over everybody present went away asking what the fellow had said or had attempted to say. In fact, the hour he spent talking before Detroit leaders was probably the emptiest hour any of those present ever spent—it was absolutely devoid of a single worthwhile idea and not a patriotic thought was injected into his discourse, if one can call it that.

Maybe Leon can rattle around in Washington and make an "impression" on the folks down there, but up among working people with brains, he appeared like a small, exceedingly small potato in a bushel of prize winners. We do not like to misjudge public officials, and it is possible that this fellow has "something on the ball" as they say, but if he has it, he hid it under a bushel while in Michigan the other day.

Well Said, Governor

Energetic Murray D. Van Wagoner, Governor of Michigan, in an address a few nights ago before members of the Michigan Press Association at East Lansing said:

"A need is developing today for more and more real leaders, in labor, in government, in industry, in the professions. The world is getting so inter-dependent that human relationships have become far more complicated than ever before in history. Not just from the standpoint, but from a very practical standpoint, we have got to have men in control of private and public affairs who know how to be friends with those persons formerly looked upon as business enemies.

"You do not get that friendship, that good will, that mutual respect, by PASSING LAWS or by some strategy that forces the other fellow to accept your views and follow your orders. You do not get that cooperation by blind condemnation of whole groups of people. You get only bitterness that way, and revengeful actions. Our newspapers can and will play a leading role in ridding us of the excesses of both the Left and the Right that are fighting for control in America, and (the newspapers) will help guide the nation safely through the trying days of the defense emergency and the long-range social and economic period of re-adjustment that will follow."

We are in complete agreement with the Governor in his views upon this subject—especially that portion of it where he says friendships, good will and mutual respect are NOT created by the passing of laws.

We do not happen to know just what laws the Governor might have had in mind, but we DO KNOW that the vicious wrongly called Wagner Labor Act has brought about hatreds, ill will and disrespect among the people of this country. It has created anarchy.

The word "Labor" should not be mentioned in connection with the act—the law is an insult to the honest working men of the nation and to every other citizen of the country who has brains enough to know what it is all about. It does all the things that Governor Van Wagoner in his splendid address to the editors of Michigan said should NOT be done by law.

The Wagner act has been Hitler's greatest benefactor. It has helped him to get where he is and if he can keep the law on our statute books, he hasn't much worry about the future. All one has to do to confirm this statement is to read the headlines in the newspapers each day as to labor conditions about the country. Look at the state of anarchy prevailing at the Great Lakes Steel plant in our own neighborhood!

Surely there must be some other way, some better way to help the working people of America—and we are all workers—than to keep in force a law which has created the turmoil, the ill-will and the bitterness that has grown out of the Wagner Act.

We hope the day will soon come when congress will have backbone enough to kick this law right over into the middle of Europe, from whence the European born senator who framed the law came.

RAMBLING AROUND

With Prominent Michigan Editors Their Views About Public Problems and Issues

AN UNHAPPY CHOICE

Many Republicans these days are a bit perplexed and uncertain about what to do and where to go. They neither fully trust New Deal leadership nor approve of New Deal methods in the realm of domestic politics.

However, many Republicans are finding it equally, if not even more, distasteful to "go along with" a party which permits its views on foreign affairs to be molded by Senator Burton Wheeler and Charles Lindbergh.—Richard Cook in The Hastings Banner.

WHY BE SURPRISED?

Now it has been charged that payroll padding had occurred at the State Fair, and an investigation will be made. What else could one expect in any kind of a public service in that big village? —Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer.

BUYING FARM LAND

At the fastest rate in the last 10 years, farm land is being purchased at a rapid rate. This buying is being done by city and farm folks who are afraid of inflation and because of the improved agricultural prices which will try to be maintained even in case of a dire emergency. The notice from several large insurance companies that have rural holdings in 10 to 20 states give our readers the information. There are a large number of former tenants and renters who have purchased farms that they have been working. There is that satisfaction which comes with producing a living on one's own property. They speak of this in the same breath with security. The back-to-the-land movement has been increasing these past years, but from recent figures it has become a rush and something to make of us a stronger force in the economic pattern.—William Irving in The Sandusky Republican-Tribune.

MICHIGAN JOADS

When the Joads hit the roads... That is something for all of us to think about. As long as they were Okies and Arkies, we could see their sorrows in the picture-houses and go home and enjoy a good sleep. But what if a dozen or more Uteca families should turn Joads?

And that very thing on a tremendous scale—is concerning Uncle Sam right now. This defense business upsets everything. We first put up a couple of huge arsenals, and Joads from all over, bearing of the fabulous wages, flock hither, trampling down all Warren township for a place to live, even before the man of the family gets his job.

We no sooner get a grapple with that problem than another one stares us. What about all these trailer-camps? And sewerage for these thousands?

The county board of supervisors throws an extra big fit, and good old Uncle Sam gets his striped pants a hitch and almost promises to do something.

Then the REAL thing breaks. Men who have held jobs for years in the automobile factories, in an industry that is the very life of this area, you might almost say, face long, lean layoffs, because the motor industries must cut production in half—on account of priorities.

Uncle Sam! We're calling for help again! Well—a congressional inquiry has started. Enforced curtailment of automobile production, and the necessity for shifting workers to defense jobs is in the foreground in the Detroit hearings. Already migrants are telling their stories.

America's migrants now number four millions. Their number in Michigan will increase as defense industries get under way.

We'll have to be wise Wolverines, to handle this trick.—Emerson Gildart in The Utica Sentinel.

ROGER BABSON SAYS

Post-War Difficulties Need Much Thought Now

Babson Park, Massachusetts, October 24—A recent column, in which I discussed what would happen to business after World War II has brought to me several suggestions. Among these is one from E. H. Pearson of Autaugaville, Alabama, which I desire to pass on to readers. Strange to say, a letter along the same lines came to me a while ago from a group of economists in Holland.

The immediate need after the War will be for markets for peacetime goods. These must be manufactured in great quantities in order to keep employed the millions now engaged in the manufacture of munitions. Furthermore, we are to have a great demand for machinery, building materials and merchandise from abroad by people who have no money with which to pay.

We, therefore, must work out some way to consume the finished goods which we are then able to produce apart from the wearing-out process and a World War every twenty-five years. A trade-in plan such as the automobile people have developed but made applicable to all industries has possibilities. Consumers need to be trained to replace goods before they wear out.

We are advised to look for new uses and new products for raw materials and finished goods. This means new markets must be secured. Manufacturers are today using fully depreciated tools and machinery which they should trade in for new machinery so as to give the American people better goods for less money. Prosperity comes only from lower taxes and lower prices. Continuous employment is far more important than increases in wages or unit profits.

We need some way to make it possible for the worker and those having private funds to consume the new finished goods that will be available a few years hence. Those who have funds to buy with are usually thrifty people. Being thrifty, they wear out the goods they own unless they are offered a value for such goods. Cannot the trade-in system which has been used in creating the automobile, refrigerator and stove markets be applied to 100 industries?

After this war is over our neighbor nations in war-torn Europe and Asia are going to look to us for food, clothes and other products. One good crop year in Europe will in a large measure greatly help solve the food problem. Their lack of raw materials, however, will make it difficult to make machines, clothing, bedding and many other things for years to come. We will have to help these people in one of two ways:

(1) With our warehouses full to overflowing with raw cotton and other products and our manufacturing setup geared to convert these into finished goods, we can continue to tax our over-taxed people by buying such new finished goods from our manufacturers and shipping them to needy nations; or (2) we can now organize trade-in centers, selling our new goods to our own people and shipping the used goods abroad. I earnestly urge the latter policy.

There could have trade-in setups in all centers of our nation without any more government employees. We have plenty of Federal setups now functioning which can be used for this purpose. To these centers our consuming public could carry their used-goods and, after having such goods appraised, receive a trade-in certificate from the Federal Appraiser. This certificate, if used in ten days, would be good as cash in the purchase of new machinery and goods costing three times the value of the certificate. The used machines and goods would be for export. In fact, no new products should be allowed to leave the country except as paid for by cash.

We will have accomplished the following: Remove from the channels of domestic trade enough used goods so that our consumers are able to replace such used goods with new merchandise. Two-thirds of the cost would be paid for by the one benefiting most. As the consumer buys from the retailer, the retailer from the jobber, and the jobber from the manufacturer, we will have three direct ways for meeting this cost from those who will receive this new business. Such a cost collected from a business transaction resulting in profit is the easiest money to collect, especially if such money is used solely for producing new business for the firm paying the same.

We formerly depended on the generosity of relatives and our immediate communities to care for the needy of our nation who were unable to care for themselves. This may yet be the most satisfactory method of handling the problem. We now, however, tax our people to secure the funds necessary for this purpose. Very often relief is made too attractive and our over-taxed public is needlessly imposed upon.

It is our duty to care for the unfortunate people of our community; but aside from making them comfortable, it is not our duty to make such relief attractive. If a trade-in setup were operating in a community there would be an over-supply of used goods which could be made sanitary and given to those needing the same. Such goods would make these people comfortable, yet such relief would not undermine the character of our people as does the present system.

The trade-in idea is simple. Our Federal Government would have a way for producing increased consumption of finished goods as the need arose simply by increasing the allowance for such used goods offered for trade-in. Then, in inflationary times when our Government wishes to discourage trade, it could lower or remove altogether the trade allowances. This would provide employers, wage workers and investors a much-needed automatic regulator. Why wait until the war is over before trying out such a system?
