

Conservation Club Asks Repeal of Camp Deer Law

Fears Elimination Of All Deer Within the State

At its regular monthly meeting held Monday evening at the Mayflower hotel, members of the Western Wayne County Conservation club without a dissenting vote, passed a resolution demanding that the state at its earliest opportunity repeal the law passed by the last session of the state legislature which permits the killing of a doe deer for food uses in deer camps.

Copies of the resolution will be sent by Secretary Ernest Henry to Director P. J. Hoffmaster of the conservation department and to Governor VanWagoner.

During the discussion it was declared that Michigan's vast deer herd would be completely wiped out within the next three or four years if the law was not repealed.

Not only did the deer hunters at the meeting fear that the law would quickly terminate all deer hunting in the state, but it was pointed out that the hundreds of thousands of tourists who come to Michigan each summer and travel the trail roads of the

He is described as about 23 years of age, short, stocky build and ruddy complexion. All reports to the police department of such offenses remain confidential and persons being molested or witnessing suspicious behavior are asked to notify the police immediately.

Mayor Issues Statement About Magazine Article

Corrects Statements That Have Caused Discussion

The Plymouth Mail, at the request of Mayor Ruth Huston Whipple and numerous other citizens, is publishing the following communication signed by the Mayor pertaining to a magazine article published recently in the magazine "Woman's Day":

December 2, 1941

To the citizens of Plymouth:

The December number of "The Woman's Day" magazine contains an article called "Michigan's Lady Mayor" by Margaret Case Harriman. Although the normal sale of the magazine in Plymouth is 300, the December sale rose to 1200 copies. Most people have expressed the opinion that the article was interesting and a credit to the city of Plymouth. A few people for various reasons have consistently and persistently tried to bring the article by besmearing the author, by belittling the magazine (its reported circulation is 3,200,000) and second to none in the United States) and by making false statements about the responsibility of the subject of the article. Hence, in fairness to every one concerned in making the following statement:

1. My responsibility. I am not in any way responsible for either the writing or the publication of the article. In August Eileen Tighe, editor of "The Woman's Day" telephoned from New York City that she was sending Margaret Case Harriman from New York City to write an article about the Mayor of Plymouth. When I stated that I might not want such an article written because of local relationships, Miss Tighe replied that they were sending Mrs. Harriman anyway and that I could be co-operative or not. Mrs. Harriman came the last Friday in September and stayed four days, interviewing at least a dozen people beside my family. She chose her own people and in many cases did not take those whom I especially wanted her to see. The next week-end "The Woman's Day" sent John Mills Jr. of New York City to Plymouth for two days to take 60 pictures.

After the article was written I did not read it, because I could not be responsible for the people included or excluded. Mrs. Harriman wrote the article; I didn't. I did not ask either directly or indirectly for the article to be written; I did not pay one cent for the article; and I did not read the article before its publication. I have plenty of telegrams and newspaper clippings which substantiate these facts; if any one desires further proof.

2. Author's qualifications. Margaret Case Harriman is known as a top-notch writer whose articles have been published in The New Yorker, Good Housekeeping (Sept. 1941—The Stork Derby Ladies Home Journal, Saturday Evening Post, and others). Mrs. Harriman was editor of Vanity Fair, and assistant editor of Vogue where she was an intimate friend of the writer, Clare Boothe. Mrs. Harriman's father, Frank Case, is the owner of New York's "Hotel Algonquin" and the author of two books, one of which "Tales of a Wayward Inn" has been a best-seller. All of the people whom Mrs. Harriman interviewed in Plymouth have stated that she was extremely intelligent, attractive and interesting.

3. Corrections. Again, the article is not mine. It was written by Mrs. Harriman and published and paid for by "Woman's Day." The article is essentially accurate in matters of fact; the following exceptions are pointed out:

1. Edson O. Huston is vice-president, not president of the Plymouth United Savings bank.
2. The Debating Society (p. 44) was organized at the University of Michigan, not Plymouth.
3. So far as I know, my marriage did not cause my first political defeat (p. 44).
4. It is Mrs. Emma A. Fox, not Mrs. Ella Fox (p. 45). This could be a typographical error.
5. The article was in error in stating that Mr. Schrader was the owner of the Mayflower hotel. The records show that it is a stock company of 195 stockholders. Furthermore, the Board of Directors of the Mayflower hotel should be substituted for the name of Mr. Fred Schrader, because according to the statements of the hotel board, they

Set $750 Goal For TB Seal Sales In Plymouth

December 11 Is Fixed For Sales In Local Schools

The Plymouth committee of the Christmas Tuberculosis Seal sales campaign hopes to reach its 1941 goal of $750 for the campaign's fund through sales of the Christmas seals in the next week. The total sales last year amounted to $538, it is reported by Mrs. Bruce Woodbury, local chairman, of which $280 was raised by the Plymouth school children's sales, $210 from the sales in rural schools and $48 from Plymouth industries and other contributions.

The sale of the Christmas seals is scheduled in the Plymouth schools next Thursday, December 11. Sales have already started in the rural schools of Plymouth, Canton, Nankin and Livonia township and one school in Redford township, and the Christmas seals may be purchased locally in the banks, drug stores and Hotel Mayflower.

Part of the proceeds from the sale of Tuberculosis seals provides tests for the eleventh and twelfth grades of Plymouth high school. The Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium recently purchased an X-ray machine which tests at a cost of a penny apiece for films. The junior and senior grades at Plymouth high school were tested with the new x-ray equipment this fall.

The Tuberculosis seal fund also supports a camp at North Lake which 800 boys and girls attended during the past summer, 438 of whom were aided by the Christmas seal fund. Part of the proceeds are also used for a rehabilitation project to launch and equip a non-profit, self-supporting factory for making furniture, lamps and toys and for repairing and refinishing furniture of all kinds. The factory located in Detroit gives full- or part-time employment to 20 persons at present, all of whom are former tubercular patients now unable to obtain suitable employment elsewhere. All of the employees are arrested cases patients who have been completely cured of tuberculosis but who cannot return to heavy work in regular employment. The Christmas seal committee hopes to increase the capacity of the factory to accommodate at least 100 persons through the sale of TB seals this Christmas time.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

Plymouth Stores Expect Record Holiday Business

Christmas Trees Will Decorate Streets in Business Sections

Plymouth merchants anticipate the largest volume of Christmas shoppers in several years and shoppers will find the local stores well stocked with attractive gifts, which were ordered well in advance of the Christmas season. Several of the stores have added more clerks to meet the demands of gift seeking customers.

Through the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the businessmen of the city, the downtown business district and the north side of the city will be decorated. Little Christmas trees will be placed on each of the lamp posts for decorations and will be illuminated with colored lights.

Planning for Post-War Period Keynotes Meeting

C. H. Elliott Reports Convention of City Managers in Florida

Planning for the post-war and post-defense period was the keynote of the twenty-eighth annual convention of the International City Managers' association at Hollywood Beach, Florida last week. City Manager Clarence H. Elliott reported upon his return from the meeting of more than 150 city managers throughout the nation.

"The post-defense period promises to be more disastrous after this war than after the first World War," Roy S. Braden of Maryland and president of the association, told the convention. "We don't have any 'normal' to go back to this time. Our desks are still piled-high with unfinished business, with problems that were tabled only for the duration."

Braden told the managers that their part in easing the post-defense shock should be in the field of planning—a broader and more realistic kind of planning than we have ever known," emphasizing the social objectives rather than the materialistic objectives in planning such as housing, health and recreation.

"The most striking characteristic of local government today is its lack of awareness, an actual lethargy with regard to the demands of a total defense program," declared Fred K. Hoehler, director of the American Public Welfare association. He charged that politicians and chambers of commerce representatives are quick to run to Washington for campsites and industrial locations and financial aid without assuming local responsibility for planning on their part.

In another session of the five-day convention of city managers, Louis Brownlow, director of the Public Administration Clearing House in Chicago, warned that the cities carry the burden of this war and that after the war, we shall have either slave towns or free towns. "At the present time, our cities are not fit for free men. They are not designed correctly and housing, recreation and physical development have lagged. However, it isn't necessary to have a depression after the war, if we plan intelligently now," asserted Brownlow.

A. Emil Davies, chairman of the London County council of London, England, in an address at the convention's annual banquet meeting, declared that a new relationship has developed between the city and its people in England as a result of the war. The evacuation of children has been most successful with a million and a half children now moved out of the cities, he reported.

City Manager Elliott also attended several round-table discussion meetings exchanging ideas with other city managers and a meeting at which administrative problems were discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lorenz have moved from Northville road to Wing street.

Material Shortage Curtails Local Building Activity

Home Building Lags; City Lets Contracts For Municipal Projects

Government confusion and interference in building programs and the allotting of building materials has had its effects upon building activity in Plymouth and vicinity. Only seven building permits were issued by the city during the month of November at a total estimated valuation of only $6,620.

A slight seasonal decline is generally expected in November but weather conditions this fall have been exceptionally favorable for continued building activity throughout November. The sharp decline in building can be attributed only to difficulty in obtaining essential building materials, according to local reports.

While local building has been drastically curtailed in the last month, the city of Plymouth has contracts outstanding totaling $17,580, for the construction of two new city-owned buildings now under construction. The building of the new comfort station on the municipal parking lot site at the rear of the Main street business district is progressing with the erection of the outer walls completed. Daniel S. Mills has the contract for the construction of the comfort station, 16x28 feet, at an estimated cost of $7,330.

Construction of the new municipal warehouse, 50x121 feet, on Goldsmith avenue, has been temporarily delayed by a shortage of steel materials. Burger and Dobbs was awarded the contract for the building at an estimated cost of $10,249.94.

Construction has been started and the foundation completed for a two-family residence being built by Dr. J. M. Robison on Wing street between Harvey and Forest streets. The one-story frame construction, 24x48 feet, is being built by Contractor R. F. Widmaier, at an estimated cost of $4,500.

A permit was issued to the Eckles Coal and Supply company, Holbrook avenue, for the re-roofing of its warehouse, at an estimated cost of $200. An addition is being erected to the Plymouth Grill restaurant on Starkweather avenue. The addition, 12x18 feet, including cement block walls and a new chimney, at an estimated cost of $700. Stillman Warner has the building contract.

A permit was also issued to the Michigan Bell Telephone company for alterations to a garage at the rear of the Penniman-Allen theatre. Partitions will be erected for an office and storeroom and new ceilings will be constructed by Contractor Daniel S. Mills, at an estimated cost of $800.

The Plymouth Tool and Gauge company has let a contract for the building of a storehouse at the rear of the factory on Amelia street between Farmer and Spring streets. It will be of frame construction, 16x20 feet, with asphalt shingle roofing.

While there they saw the huge powder plant the government owns at Charleston, Indiana.

Each year the Goodfellows distribute Christmas baskets of food, clothing and toys to needy families in the community.

Mother, Eight Children Made Homeless by Fire

The home of Mrs. Jessie Roberts, 38-year-old widow and mother of eight children, in Nankin township burned to the ground last Friday night leaving the family homeless. The widow and her family, who lived on Gray avenue, south of Joy road, were left homeless because she didn't know that Nankin township has a fire department.

Mrs. Roberts, who thought that she would have to pay $50 for the Plymouth fire department to answer the call, did not know that only five months ago Nankin bought a new fire engine. Shortly before eight o'clock Friday evening, Mrs. Roberts left her children to go to the store for fuel oil for the stove and returned to find her home ablaze. The children escaped unharmed but none of the contents were saved.

It is believed the fire was caused by defective wiring in a light socket. The fire was later reported, but the department arrived too late to save the house.

Mrs. Roberts, whose only income is a widow's pension, had her little home, a small frame bungalow, almost all paid for, but it was not insured. The mother and her eight children are staying temporarily with several relatives and friends in Newburg and neighbors have offered to give her furniture and help. The youngest children, Patricia, Ronnie, Joyce and Betty, attend Stark school and Tom is a student at Plymouth high school. There are three other children out of school, Charles, James and Robert.

New Equipment Works Perfectly

Hundreds of Friends Extend Congratulations To Owner Harry Lush

When the doors of the new Penn theatre, built and owned by Harry Lush, swung open to the public Thursday afternoon, hundreds of Plymouth citizens saw for the first time the interior of one of Michigan's most beautiful and modern motion picture theatres.

While it has required long hours of intense work on the part of workmen to have everything in readiness for the formal opening, tests made Wednesday evening of motion picture equipment, the lighting, heating and all other details, showed that everything about the new theatre worked perfectly. The acoustics in the theatre, due to the special type of construction and materials used, could not be improved upon.

Mr. Lush, who did much of the designing of his new theatre, was highly elated with the results when the newly installed picture and talking equipment were given their first tests.

Mr. Lush invited some of the film producing companies of Detroit and workers who had helped in the construction of the building as well as others who had supplied materials, to a brief preview of a motion picture on Wednesday evening. The motion picture distributors were enthusiastic in their praise of the new theatre.

The lighting arrangement is especially attractive. There are no overhead lights, the latest type of side-wall reflector lights providing a soft but clear light throughout the entire big auditorium. Especially attractive is the color scheme throughout the theatre. A pleasing shade of red has been adopted throughout. The colors of the drapes, carpets, lights and seats blend perfectly together.

The marquee, which provides both the canopy for the entrance and the place for displaying in lights the attractions appearing at the theatre, is of the latest design and style used by motion picture theatres. The design of this, too, is in keeping with the interior decorations of the theatre.

The new sign, "Penn," erected on top of the theatre's front wall, adds much to the general favorable appearance of the structure.

Beginning with Thursday evening, there will be regular showings every night of the week of outstanding productions of the motion picture industry. For the present the same hours of showings will be maintained as at the Penniman-Allen theatre, which Mr. Lush has managed so successfully over a period of many years.

For the opening, friends have selected a number of beautiful bouquets of flowers, which will be in the hands of the new and modern theatre.

City Proposes Future Program

Plan Projects for Post-Defense Period

A schedule of proposed public works projects was presented to the city commission at its meeting Monday evening with a view to setting up a reserve program for the post-war period. It is not expected that the entire program as outlined by City Engineer S. L. Besse will be completed, but it is planned for the purpose of taking up the slack during a period of unemployment which will follow the defense program. Federal works assistance is also expected to aid in the program, according to City Manager C. H. Elliott.

Among the tentative projects proposed is a new booster station to improve the city water distribution, a new library, a civic auditorium and park landscaping. The schedule calls for 4,800 feet of curb and gutter installation, 12,500 feet of concrete pavement, 20,000 feet of black toping, 26,000 feet of new water mains, 9,000 feet of storm sewers, 3,500 feet of Tonquish Creek extensions, 10,000 feet of sidewalks and 13,000 feet of sanitary sewers including trunk and lateral lines.

"Farm Girls" to Bowl Schrader Team Monday

Next Monday night, December 8, the Schrader Ladies' team of Northville will bowl the "Farm Girls" team sponsored by the Plymouth Gas and Oil company at the Plymouth Recreation alleys.

Spectators witnessed a fast match last Monday night between the "Farm Girls" and the Livonia Recreation club. Both teams registered several scores over the 200 mark and the "Farm Girls" took the contest by a close margin.

A Homelike Setting

There is nothing austere or depressing about our establishment. It is like your own home, with a friendly, comfortable simplicity that makes everyone feel at ease. A very quiet place, of course, and with an air of dignity proper for its purpose, but never somber or gloomy. That is why so many prefer services there—it is so little different from a private residence, and so much more convenient.

Yes Sir! Its Christmas time again and once more 'gift giving' becomes the first thought in every ones mind-- THIS YEAR GIVE PRACTICAL GIFTS

More than ever this year, gifts that have a useful value will lead the gift parade. People appreciate things that they can actually use and then, too, there are those who cannot afford the everyday necessities of life... IN THIS RESPECT MAY WE SUGGEST A GIFT ITEM THAT'S BOUND TO PLEASE.

Glasses are a necessity to many people, and there is no other gift that will bring the comfort and personal warmth that a pair of glasses will to some member of your family.

LET US TELL YOU HOW YOU MAY GIVE A PAIR OF GLASSES FOR A GIFT

Dairy Farmers To Meet Monday

Will Discuss Proposed Strike

Dairy farmers in this part of Wayne county have been invited to a meeting to be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Jewell and Blach hall for the purpose of discussing the proposed milk strike. George Foster of New Baltimore, volunteer organizer of the movement, declares that unless milk purchasers can be induced to pay a higher price for milk, it is the plan of milk producers to stop all delivery to Detroit.

Several meetings among farmers have been held in this locality recently, an especially large meeting being the one in Cherry Hill some weeks ago.

Not only do the producers ask a higher price for milk but they are demanding the elimination of the base and surplus system, whereby wholesalers can pay two different rates for the same grade of milk.

The Mother and Daughter sewing group was very pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Stephen Martin on Wednesday afternoon at her home on Maple street.

Legion and Auxiliary Hold Joint Meeting

A turkey dinner was served last Tuesday evening to about 75 members at the joint meeting of the Myron H. Beals post, No. 32, and the American Legion auxiliary. Mrs. George Ridley was chairman, assisted by Mrs. James Sexton, Mrs. William Rose and Mrs. Douglas Elliott. It was decided at the auxiliary meeting to donate six dresses to the Good-fellow dress fund of Plymouth.

Goodfellow Fund Receives Dresses

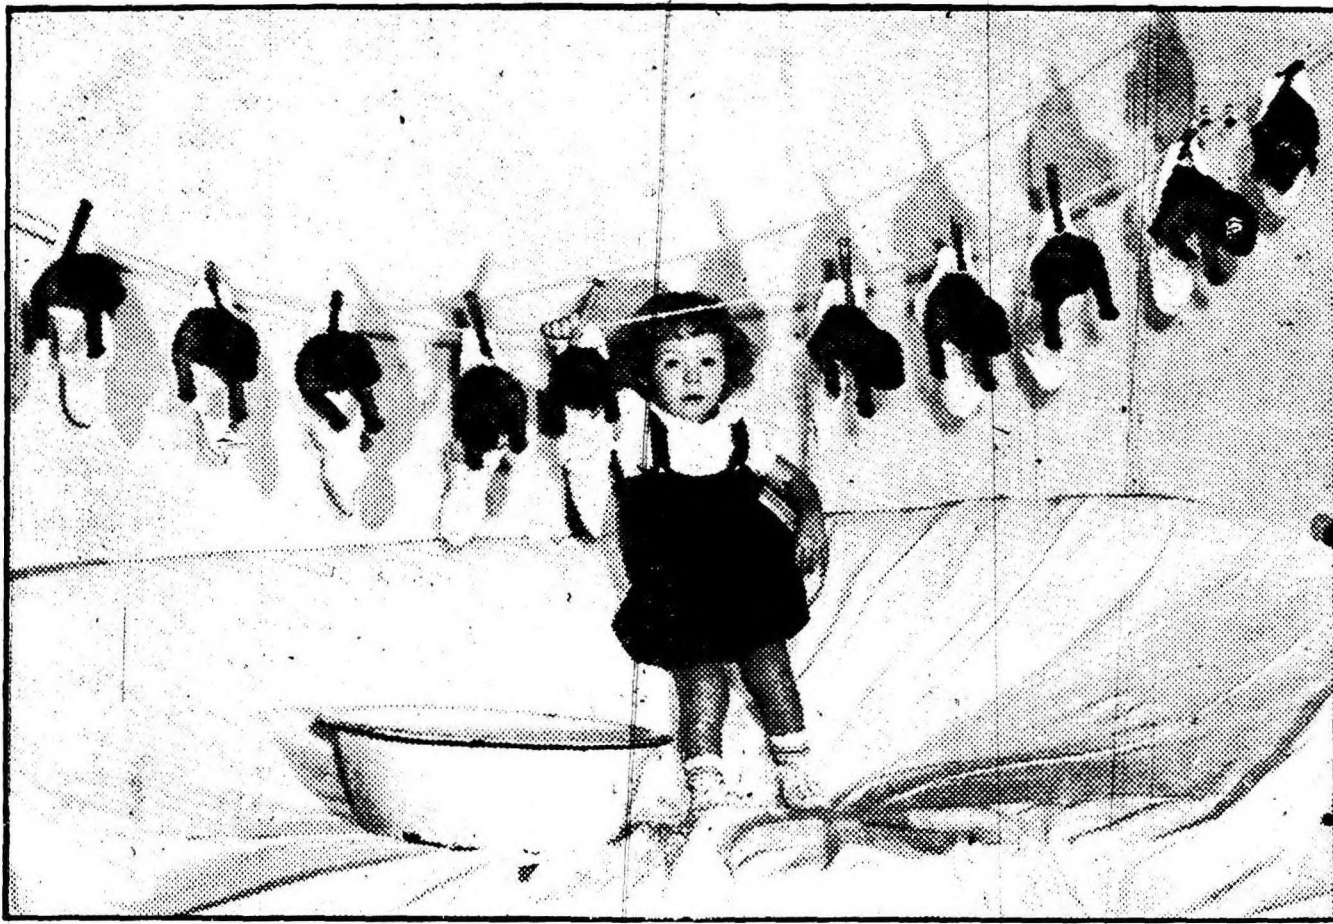

Legion Auxiliary and Central P.T.A. Donate

Two local organizations responded to the appeal for dresses for the Goodfellow fund in the past week. The Parent-Teachers' association of Central school at a recent meeting pledged two dresses to the fund and early this week the club's contribution was received. The dresses, both size 14, are attractive print wash dresses. The women's auxiliary of the American Legion in Plymouth has pledged a donation of six dresses to the fund.

The two latest contributions bring the fund's total this week to 20. The survey committee of the Goodfellow organization reports that many more dresses are needed before Christmas to distribute to little girls in needy families. Groups and individuals who wish to donate a new dress for some little girl are urged to send their contributions to the city hall as soon as possible so the dresses may be sorted and wrapped in gift boxes for Christmas distribution. The sizes of dresses most needed are 4, 8, 10 and 12.

During the period from 1937 to 1940 tuberculosis killed more Americans than were killed in action or died from wounds received in action, during all the wars the United States has fought since 1776. The menace of tuberculosis is steadily reduced each year by Christmas seal funds. Use Christmas seals!

Mayor Issues

are all equally responsible for any action taken at any time.

6. I never get started at seven a.m. (p. 46).

7. Austin and I do not dance at the Book-Cacillac as often indicated, although we do dance about once a week somewhere.

8. I started to make the jelly at 10:30 p.m. instead of 1:15 a.m., if that makes any difference to any one.

So much for matters of fact. It is certainly a matter of opinion who is the best mayor. All of our mayors have been called the best mayor by different people at different times, and rightfully so. This is a matter of opinion.

Last is the matter of emphasis. I am the first to say that this article or any of the others that have been written about me during the past six years all give too much emphasis to my part and not nearly enough to the other four commissioners. Each one of us does his share, and one commissioner whether he is mayor or not would not be worth much without the other four. I can not say too much about my respect and admiration for the other members of our city commission. They deserve whatever credit is given, and this article does give them credit in some sections.

Again, in conclusion, I wish to state that the article is not mine; I didn't write it I didn't ask for it. I didn't pay for it. I didn't get paid for it, and I did not read it before publication. Again I am sorry about any mistakes there may have been, but the article is essentially sound. I am sorry some people feel that the mayor is over-praised and given too much credit. Perhaps they will recall Emerson's Law of Compensation and see that the praise is neither just or unjust, only balances the blame and criticism that any public official receives. My friends at least will look at it that way.

Signed,
RUTH HUSTON WHIPPLE.

Interesting

One hundred and sixty-one days after 185 northern pike fry less than an inch long were put in an experimental pond liberally stocked with minnows of all sizes at Drayton Plains state fish hatchery, the pond was drained and just 10 northern pike were removed. These 10, however, averaged more than 12 and a half inches long. According to the conservation department's institute for fisheries research, this remarkably rapid growth is approached by only one other fresh water fish, the northern long nosed gar.

Weather Too Hot To Hunt Deer!

That's What Matt Powell Says

"Too hot to hunt, that's why I didn't get a deer," declared Matthew Stephen Powell Saturday following his return from his annual trip north during the deer season.

"We got up to our camp near Alpena and no sooner had we unpacked our guns and supplies when a hot wave set in, and I'm telling you that the grass turned green and leaves started growing on the trees almost overnight. Never saw anything like it," explained Mr. Powell to friends who had expected a nice big chunk of venison for Sunday dinners.

"Why, the deer simply wouldn't run so we wouldn't hunt. What's the use, anyway? Of course if there had been some deer up there that would have come down where we were, maybe I could have brought some venison home for the boys. But there's one thing I wouldn't do, and that's shoot a deer. That's about the craziest law I ever heard about. Maybe the hot wave we had up there was due to all the cussing among the real hunters about the foolish law," he added.

Ben McKinney and Cass Partridge, who were up north with Matt, admit that Matt never took his deer rifle out of the case during all the time he was in the woods.

Local Library Suggests Books

Lists Books to Promote Better American Unity

The Plymouth library suggests a list of books to aid readers in obtaining a better understanding of those people who have become Americans by choice, the second or third generation of the immigrants who came to America during the great migration and the refugee who is a newcomer to these shores. "The sixth column," says Henry Seidel Canby in a recent Saturday Review of Literature editorial, "is the slow poison of racial and religious intolerance."

The following books, aids to American unity, are available at the Plymouth library: "As I Remember Him," by Hans Zinsser, a revealing self-portrait of a noted physician whose courage in the face of death makes this book of great interest and value; "East Goes West," by Younghill Kang, an inspiring narrative by a Korean boy who won an accepted place in American letters; "An American Saga," by C. C. Jensen, the story of childhood in a Danish village, boyhood in Norway and emigration to America, and "A Peculiar Treasure," by Edna Ferber, the story of an American-Jewish family in the past half-century.

Registration for Blood Donors Friday

Registration of volunteer blood donors in Plymouth and vicinity begins Friday (today) from 10:00 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the city hall, 200 W. Park. Pharmacy, Conner's Hardware, the Kingsley hardware in Rosedale Gardens and Blake's Jewelry store in Northville. Volunteers may register Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday at these locations. Ten persons have already signed up to donate a pint of blood to the American Red Cross when its mobile unit visits Plymouth next Friday. Anyone between the ages of 21 and 60 years, who does not have high blood pressure, may participate in the program.

Christmas TREES

SPRUCE and BALSAM Buy Them Early!

Elmer E. Austin

Sinclair Service Station Wing and Main Streets

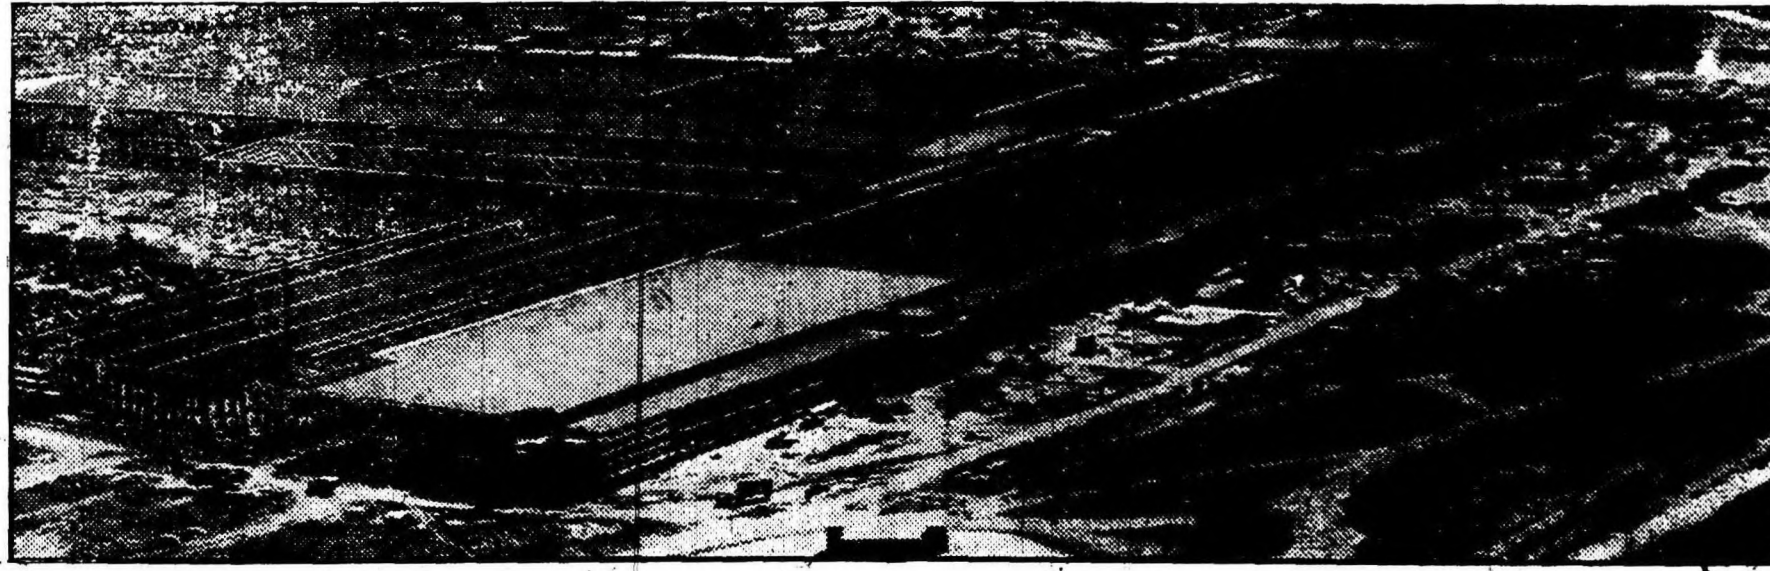

Last season we sold our trees across from the library.

On November 24 82 million tiny, blue lighthouse seals will be distributed over Michigan as the thirty-fifth annual Christmas seal sale is officially opened.

In the last 20 years Michigan has put nearly four million dollars into Christmas seals in an intensive effort to prevent tuberculosis; yet the disease costs the state more than that amount every year for sanatorium care for tuberculosis victims.

Bear hunters in Menominee, Baraga, Missaukee, Leelanau and Ogemaw counties where bears are unprotected the year round must have a small game hunting license in small game season, a deer hunting license during deer season, and a small game license and a gun permit when both small game and deer seasons are closed.

Huge Ford Bomber Plant in Michigan Takes Form

Norris to Retire

Nebraska's veteran Senator George W. Norris, 80, has announced that he will retire next year after 40 years of continuous service in Congress. "I would be ashamed to take my salary," he said. "I'm not going to run for re-election. I'm wearing out. I couldn't do my work properly."

Little Marie Martin of Schoolcraft road spent last week-end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, North Harvey street.

northlands so that they can see deer, will go to other states where deer can be seen living wild in the woods, if state action is not taken. One Plymouth hunter who has a cottage up near Baldwin stated that a good majority of the people who came to Michigan and traveled the little used highways, did so for no other purpose than to watch deer in the woods. Only a small portion of the doe killed were used for "camp" meat, said one hunter. The state printed only 3500 camp deer licenses, thinking that would be sufficient for the demand. But so great was the number of applications for camp licenses, that it was necessary to print 35,000 more for use during the first season under the new law. At this rate, said one hunter, Michigan's deer herd would be entirely eliminated within four years. Practically every one at the meeting had but recently returned from a northern deer hunting trip. The Straits of Mackinac, the great gateway to Michigan's Upper Peninsula, uses five state owned and one leased vessel to take care of the summer traffic across the neck of Lake Michigan. Several counties of Michigan attribute approximately 50 percent of the annual business of the county traceable to the Tourist Industry. For truth and duty it is ever the fitting time; who waits until circumstances completely favor his undertaking, will never accomplish anything.—Luther. Considerably more fish food is harbored in the vegetation than in the bottom soil in most Michigan lakes, studies of the conservation department's institute for fisheries research have shown.

It is in man and not in his circumstances that the secret of his destiny resides.—Carlyle. Daniel C. Wilson, who has been ill and confined to his home is much improved and able to be out again.

High Graduate With R.C.A.F.

James McClain Now On Exhibition Trip

Toronto. — When the Demonstration Squadron of the Royal Canadian Air Force leaves for Boston, Massachusetts five members of the American Flight of this famous squadron will represent the states of Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin. For appearing with this crack drill unit are W. L. Cooper of Portsmouth, Ohio; Daniel B. Bleser of Manitowoc, Wisconsin; Maurice, Herr of Barberton, Ohio; Ray E. Leupp of Columbus, Ohio, and James T. McClain of Plymouth, Michigan.

Cooper, popularly known as "Wild Bill" Cooper is a former motorcycle racer and frequently appeared on the leading tracks throughout the states. A graduate of Benjamin Franklin University, he was employed by the Federal Bureau of Internal Revenue prior to his enlistment in the R. C. A. F.

Bleser is a former football star from Princeton University where he also obtained letters in boxing and swimming. He is also a graduate of Lawrenceville high school.

Herr is a member of the old Exhibition Squadron, and accompanied it on the trip to Akron earlier this year. He is a graduate of Akron University where he starred in track and belonged to the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

Leupp is a graduate of South high school in Columbus where he played football. Too young to be eligible for the U. S. Army Air Corps, Ray is only 19, he came north to Canada to enlist.

McClain is a graduate of Plymouth high school in Plymouth, Michigan, where he participated in tennis, basketball and swimming activities. Although he had had no previous flying experience he was greatly interested in aviation and so enlisted with the R. C. A. F.

Mrs. Pearl Balch Is Found Dead

Once Assistant Northville Postmaster

Mrs. Pearl Balch, who retired a few years ago after serving many years as assistant postmaster at Northville, was found dead in her home last Friday evening by her son-in-law, John Litzberger, who had made a stop at the residence while on the way home from a trip downtown.

Mrs. Balch, well known in Plymouth, had apparently lain down on aavenport in the living room for a rest. As he entered the living room, Mr. Litzberger at first thought she was sleeping.

She had not been ill and her sudden death proved a shock to her host of friends in both Plymouth and Northville.

It was but a few months ago when her sister, Miss Ruth Gillis, who at one time worked on The Plymouth Mail, died just as suddenly in their Northville home.

Miss Gillis had gone to the basement and her failure to return upstairs caused her sister to investigate. She found Miss Gillis dead on the floor.

Physicians say that both deaths were due to sudden heart attacks.

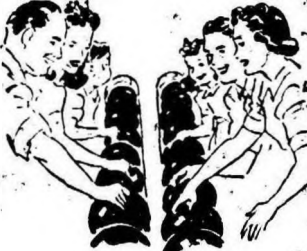

The funeral of Mrs. Balch was held Sunday, burial taking place in the family lot near Morenci.

Apprentice Training Program Prepares Youth for Vocations

For most boys and girls, high school graduation marks the completion of their formal schooling period and the beginning of their search for a "job." Many have no definite idea or training for a special vocation or field of employment. They are just looking for a "job." After spending 12 years on a standardized schedule in their school years, they find no schedule in the outside world to guide them.

and no way of acquiring the essential experience.

An Apprentice Training program was established at Plymouth high school in July, 1937 to relieve this situation of "square pegs in round holes." The course is offered as an addition to the regular academic curricula. The program places emphasis upon individual training and attention, training for the individual's particular abilities, interests and capabilities to fit him for a definite vocation.

Graduation from high school is possible under this plan and all pupils enrolling in the program must have completed two years of regular high school work or the equivalent and must be at least 16 years of age. The program calls for part-time work on some occupation and part-time school work while on the job. The half day in school is devoted to regular courses for high school graduation in addition to one hour each school day in study of related technical subjects pertinent to the job in which the student works during the remainder of the day. Students enrolled as apprentices are under the supervision of the school as well as that of the employers.

In order to become approved apprentices under the state vocational education program, a contract agreement must be signed between the employer and the school coordinator for the apprentice's course of training.

Carvel M. Bentley as coordinator of the apprentice training program at Plymouth high school supplies the sources of study material and textbooks for students. Apprentices start their employment training at 25 per cent of the prevailing wage scale for trained journeymen.

An average of 25 students are enrolled in the apprentice training plan each year. The occupational fields of study and apprentice training in which the students receive experience include baking, meat-cutting, office work, florist work, electricity, laundry work, gas station attending, radio technicians, retail selling in stores, dairy work, dry-cleaning, carpentry and plumbing. The three fields of greatest interest are in offices, stores and mechanical trades. The coordinator is in charge of job placement. After he confers with the prospective employers and makes general recommendations, the apprentices themselves apply for the job, valuable experience in itself.

There are about 25 cities in Michigan with apprentice training programs today. Apprentice diplomas are issued by the State Board of Control for Vocational Education in Lansing of which George W. Dean is state supervisor.

While the course is designed primarily for boys and girls who expect to enter industry or business immediately after graduation from high school and does not prepare students for college entrance, some students have taken a regular college preparatory course and returned to night school to complete their practical training also for apprentice experience before entering upon college studies.

The apprentice training program at Plymouth high school has graduated 20 students who are prepared to take their place in gainful employment since the course was established nearly five years ago. Of the original eight graduates during the first year of the program, three are still on their original jobs, many receiving advancements; two are in the Army and five are employed elsewhere in occupations closely related to their original apprentice training course.

Coordinator Bentley, a former science teacher, worked as counselor for student guidance before directing the present program and has since taken many courses of study in vocational work at the University of Michigan.

The next time you stop in a gas station to have your car serviced or go shopping in a local store, you may be served by one of Plymouth's apprentices who is acquiring "experience" on a job which may become a useful career.

Phone Company Increases Capital

Equipment Expansion Forces Action

Stockholders of the Michigan Bell Telephone company today authorized an additional $25,000,000 of capital stock of the company.

George M. Welch, president of the company, said the stock was authorized in anticipation of the company's 1942 equipment expansion and construction program and would be issued from time to time as the money is required. He emphasized that the shortage of materials makes impossible a close determination of the capital requirements for future construction, however.

"We cannot closely determine, in times like these, what our future capital requirements will be, because of the uncertainty of securing supplies vital to telephone needs," he said. "The action of the board in increasing our capital structure, however, insures our being financially prepared."

"The company is in a period of unprecedented service demand largely due to the expansion program and the resulting industrial activity. We feel obligated to meet that demand. The shortage of materials, however, may make it impossible." At the same time, Welch revealed that estimates of the company's construction program for the present year have climbed to $23,000,000, a $2,000,000 increase over earlier estimates. To help finance the net equipment additions in connection with that program, much of which is going directly into defense activity, the Michigan Bell company issued $5,000,000 in new stock last December and $10,000,000 this year.

The board's action Thursday increased the authorized capital of the company to $175,000,000, of which $150,000,000 has been issued. The new authorization is subject to the approval of state authorities.

Issue Sixty-Three Tickets in November

Traffic violation tickets issued by the Plymouth police department increased from 48 in the last month to 63 during the month of November. A total of $372 in fines and court costs were assessed during the month.

While the total number of tickets issued increased over the previous month, there were fewer traffic accidents and cases of reckless driving. There were 13 traffic accidents in November; three reckless driving cases; three drunk driving cases; 10 tickets for illegal parking; five for overtime parking; 12 for speeding and three for failure to stop at stop street intersections.

Rocks Complete Successful Year

The Rocks won six out of eight games this year giving them a 750 percentage. The Rocks scored 133 points while their opponents scored only 72 points leaving them well in the lead. The team will lose nine varsity meets including Jack Sequin, left half; Sheik Erdelyi, right tackle; Pinky Folsom, center; George Petrazewski, right guard; Bob Fisher, center; Wheaties Hunter, right end; Bob Sessions, left end; John Wilkie, right half back; and Jack Baker, fullback.

The main line on the squad are Ivan Campbell, Bill Donahue, Clare Ebersole, Ray Kearney, Bob Scheppele, Bob Thams, Jim Wellman, Victor Riblett, Dick Behr, Jim Nagel, Art Gillis, Joe Butler, Calvin Sieloff, Don Feschlieb, and Roy Gotham. Bob Labbe will probably be center on the varsity as he was on the freshman team this year. Four of these men were regulars: Clare Ebersole, Ray Kearney, Bob Scheppele and Bob Thams. This will give the team a small start next year.

Past Debaters Visit School

Every school or college has its faithful alumni that comes back to see favorite teachers, the big games, or to renew treasured memories. Plymouth is no exception. This year many graduates have visited school, and among these, some past debaters have called on Mr. Latture.

In fact, in the recent debate with Ypsilanti, none other than Tom Brock, one of Plymouth's more noted speakers from the class of '37, heard and criticized the contest. At this same affair, Marvin Hauk, a debater from the class of '39 was present. Although our last mayor, Virginia Ross, was not there in the flesh, she sent a telegram to cheer the team on. Russell Kirk, who debated in '36, had also taken an interest in the team's work this year, and recently Jack Sessions of the same year attended the debate class.

Behind Scenes

This week's Column is dedicated to a bottleneck. Yes, a defense bottleneck—in defense of the boys. It all started when Stoopigeon Number One came tearing up to us with the very startling revelation that "something's got to be done!"

We stopped dead in our tracks. If not just dead, and replied with a very skeptical "What?"

"What? Why these girls, they're making wrecks out of us! Now take the J-Hop last year for instance..." Well, after we had untwisted his tongue, stuck in the punctuation, and repaired the grammar, we got this as a result, an on-so-gentle hint to the girls.

From what we could unsnarl, S. P. No. 1 dashed home from work at 8:30, sprinted up the stairs three steps at a time, stumbled over a roller skate, and booted the cat, all of this for a date at 9:15. Two minutes later he was playing hide-and-seek with an omnipresent bar of soap. At 8:39 he yelled to Mom, the walking lost and found department, asking where his fessome comb was. Presently he was sliding into a pair of should-have-been-pressed trousers. Then he put the brakes on his tempo as he slyly snuck to Dad's tie rack and procured that red and black one that Dad had swiped from him two months ago. Well, only one thing to do; get that guest towel from the bathroom. They never use it, anyway.

With a furtive glance towards the clock (8:54), our breathless hero sat down to gorge himself on a too-warm dinner. After the steam had subsided, S. P. No. 1 realized that Dad was not home with the car yet. But at 9:01 the family chariot was safely stowed in the garage while our friend heaved a sigh of relief. 9:02 found the complainant spitting hairs with the telephone pole out in front, the one with the green paint on it.

Friend Romeo finally arrived at that house, as polished as an apple—except for those shoes; they're still dingy. Oh, well, 9:14, and the door squeaks open. But where's...? The question was choked back to where it came from by that causal, understated, and familiar line, "I'll be down in a moment."

Isn't that just like a woman?

Senior Sketches

Ruth Christine Drews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Drews of 472 North Harvey street, was born in Plymouth and has lived here all her life. She claims music as her hobby. Among Ruth's accomplishments are member of senior executive board, play day teams, Girl Reserves, junior play, hop and prom committees, accompanist, drama club, senior annual, and the junior-senior banquet committee.

Her aim in life is to be a laboratory technician, and her pet peeve is "insincere people."

At 15600 Shady Side, Livonia township is the address of Ruth-Ann Agnes Chaundy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Chaundy. Her birthplace was Detroit. Included among her travels are to the South, East, North, and to Niagara Falls. Standing out from many hobbies are roller skating and going to midget races. Orchestra and Girl Reserves have been her extra-curricular activities. This year she is on the Senior Christmas Card committee. Boys who call girls "Babe" are her pet peeve. To become a private secretary is Ruth's aim.

Living at 11634 Deering is Marjorie Lenore Carver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carver. Marjorie was born in Chicago, Illinois. North Carolina, Cincinnati, and Detroit have been her former homes. Reading is a favorite hobby, while any one who whistles or talks when she is reading or listening to the radio, makes her very mad. The glee club has been one of her main interests. Marjorie would like to become a nurse or a stenographer.

Robert Frank Brown, who resides at 236 Union, was born in Detroit. Outside of residing in Plymouth he has lived in Detroit. Bob's chief hobby is girls. His accomplishments in high school have been vice-president of the junior class and president of H. I. last year. His aim is to be a pharmacist. Conceited people are his pet peeve. He has traveled through the East and South.

"Women wearing big hats in shows"—that is the pet peeve of many of us but especially of Gerald Leonard King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert King. This student, born at Ypsilanti, is taking a machine shop course and plans to be a tool and die maker. When asked what his hobby is he replied, "Hobby? I don't have time for one." Upon further inquiry, one could say that hard work is his pastime.

Robert John Kurtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kurtz, has spent all of his life in or near Detroit. Now living at 15510 Surrey, Livonia township, he was born in Highland Park, and he has lived in other parts of Detroit. Being quite a traveler, he has visited New York, Niagara Falls, Springfield, Illinois, and the North. At the present time bowling is Bob's favorite hobby. Last year he was in the junior play, and golf has been a favorite sport. Girls going around musing up his hair is his pet peeve. To be a draftsman is Robert's aim. That has nothing to do with conscription, just blueprints.

Adult Homemaking

Miss Lucille Freck of the University of Michigan diet therapy clinic conducted a discussion on an adequate low cost daily diet at the adult homemaking session Tuesday, November 25. She brought her own foods for a minimum diet and gave a demonstration concerning them. A member of the regular high school photography club showed a movie on foods and nutrition at the same meeting.

Geraldine Dahmer, Helen Sattner, and Marion Oldenburg gave an amusing ten-minute skit on food and nutrition, also given to the adults that same evening.

Girls and Players Receive Letters

The Student council and Mr. Dykhouse have approved the awarding of letters to cheerleaders and also to outstanding football players. The cheer leaders are to be commended for their good work. The girls who received letters are Sally Haas, Phyllis Nichols, Charlotte Flaherty, Josephine Armbruster, Wilma Lounsbury, and Nina Jean Lawson.

Nothing need be said about why the football team deserves its letters as the team knows at how proud the school is of it. These boys received letters: Jack Baker, Ivan Campbell, William Donahue, Clare Ebersole, Bayliss Erdelyi, Bob Fisher, Dor Folsom, Don Hunter, Ray Kearney, Jim Nagel, Bob Thams, George Petrazewski, George Scheppele, Jack Sequin, Jim Sheppard, Bob Sessions, Jim Wellman, John Wilkie, and Richard Wisely. Jim McAllister and Charles Mintorne were awarded letters for their work as managers of the team.

Rocks' Basketball Schedule, 1941-42

Interviewing Coach Matulis in one of his less occupied moments we learned that the basketball squad this winter faces one of the toughest schedules in recent years. Coach Matulis believes that the league will be full of competition with Dearborn, Ypsilanti and River Rouge being the three teams to beat.

Jack Baker, John Wilkie, Don Hunter and Kenny Olds are the only regulars returning for this year's squad although 55 hopefuls turned out. This number has been cut to approximately 40 and further cuts are to be made before the first game with Ypsilanti on December 12.

Scientist at Assembly Dec. 16

Glenn L. Morris, a scientist, will present "The Magic of Science" to the junior and senior high schools December 16. He will present new and interesting facts of science in a non-technical manner. Startling stunts will be shown. Even though lots of pupils do not know much about science, they will find him very entertaining.

He will show electricity at high pressure by flashing 100,000 volts of lightning; stroboscopic illusions, in which one sees things that do not really happen; induction demonstrations, revealing the flexibility of electricity; earth inductor compass, which will help one understand why air navigators succeed; electric eye; radio control; freestrik frequencies which is a rapid fire comedy of unusual effects; power transmission without wires, including wireless lamps, radiant energy, and a fever machine.

Plymouth High School Shows Steady Growth

Do not let anyone fool you, Plymouth high school is growing by leaps and bounds; if you don't believe it, here are some statistics. In 1923 the census was taken in Plymouth to see how many boys and girls were between 5 and 20; there were 914. In that year 363 students were enrolled in high school; 266 were residential and 102 were paying tuition. The faculty consisted of 17 teachers.

Seven years later in 1930 the census was 1340 with a total of 429 in the upper four grades—282 resident students and 147 paying tuition. During that time eight teachers were hired. The next five years were during the depression. Although there were 434 residential students and 172 tuition, making a total of 606, there was only one addition to the teaching staff in 1935. By 1941 the number of students was 821 more than in 1923. The faculty has nearly tripled; now there are 49 teachers in high school. They have 1020 people to teach now, 596 residential and 424 tuition. Since the early '20's Plymouth high school has grown a great deal and it probably will continue to do so.

Student Council Passes New Rulings

The student council announces that any club or class wishing to put posters in the halls other than on bulletin boards must send a representative to the council for permission to do this. Mr. Luchman is planning a Christmas program and the student council will help advertise it. It was also decided that the council will pay $5 for expenses of the debate team, which is doing very well this year. Due to the trouble after the last bonfire, there will be no more hereafter. Student council tickets for basketball games will be sold to students for 60 cents, including tax, and will be on sale starting December 8.

School Purchases Fifty New Lockers

Because there have been a number of students enrolling in school, 50 new lockers have been purchased from Lyons' Metal Products. These are used for some seniors, new students and those with no lockers. They have been placed on the third floor near the study hall and also near Miss Fiegel's room. All who use them have been urged to purchase a lock.

Class News

Each student in Mrs. Soule's Homemaking I classes is required to complete a home project on some home experience during this semester, and must turn in both a written and oral report on her work. The project may be taking care of children, washing dishes, mending socks, or what have you. Although it is required of each girl, she receives no extra credit. Several have already turned in their reports.

The movie "Foods and Nutrition" was presented for the hygiene, home economics, and adult education classes, November 25.

The girls in Mrs. Strasen's home nursing class are learning how to read temperatures and take pulses.

The biology department is to have two Christmas trees. The class will try to discover which tree will keep its needles the longest, the spruce or the balsam. The tree will be decorated with things of biological nature. These will be a replica of a part of an article or a plant made by each group of students. Small gifts will also be exchanged by number rather than names.

Shakespeare's plays cannot be as difficult as commonly supposed, if one may judge from standardized tests on "Macbeth" taken by English 12. Only two in class had grades under 80; only one under 75. Frequently whole classes will receive grades of 80 or above, and there have not been in years more than one or two below a passing grade.

Classroom Baners

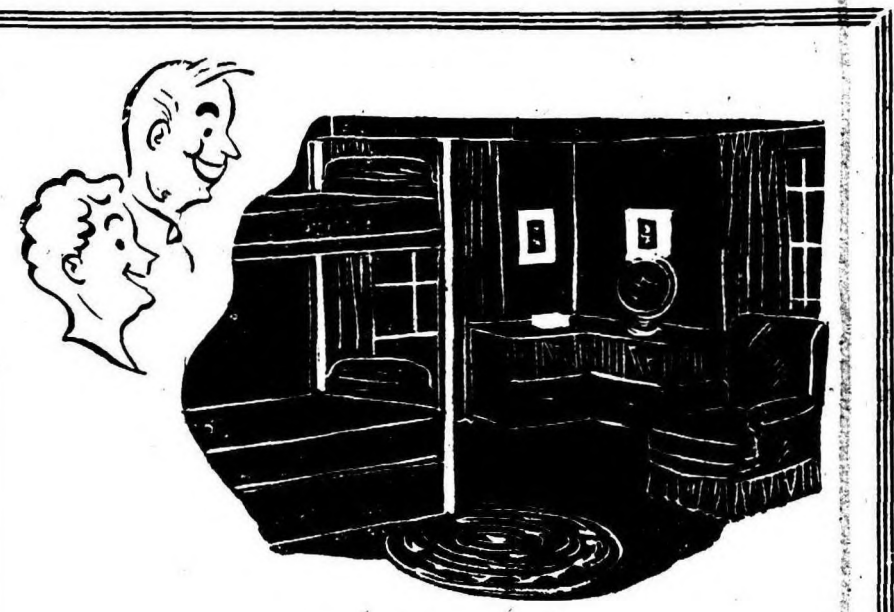

When Miss Walldorf asked for an illustration of a predicate nominative, she got this example: "It was I you saw me with."

The journalism class contributes baners also. One member wrote that an English class was studying Evangeline and advertised Miss Fiegel's American history students are evidently having difficulty with prefixes. One of them said we were refunding the national debt. Another said Jefferson gave a literary interpretation to the constitution. Still another couldn't tell the difference between a bride and bible. Some students stated Washington's inauguration dates as 1679 and 1976.

This witty bit was given out by Mr. Wescott the other day in the lunchroom, "Better do your Christmas shopping early," says Roosevelt, "because tomorrow may be Christmas."

The health of a community can be bought with dollars and cents. Buying Christmas seals is buying our health from tuberculosis. Use Christmas seals!

No physical examination is complete without a chest X-ray because tuberculosis can be in an advanced stage before any symptoms appear. Christmas seals finance the search for the disease among apparently healthy persons. The 35th annual seal sale is now in progress.

An influx of guests doesn't worry the family any more. Sleeping accommodations have become simple as ABC since they built a "bunk room" in the attic.

A bunk room is the modern method of solving "extra room" problems... and it's mighty inexpensive as well as practical and attractive.

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION

BY W.W. REID

Comparing our conditions with those in other lands, we must recognize that our country is singularly blessed," said the Roman Catholic bishops of the United States in a recent statement to the nation. "But we cannot avoid the repercussions of a world catastrophe. . . . In this solemn hour when fateful decisions are to be made it is evident that a spirit of exemplary restraint should characterize our priests and people. In every national crisis and every danger our priests have been an inspiration. We are confident that their good example of strong faith and courage, founded on the virtue of fortitude, will not be lacking now. As moral teachers they show that freedom has its limitations. It is limited first of all by the rights of God, and next by the rights of others and by the interests of the common good."

Despite their relative poverty, the Onondaga Indians who are members of the Onondaga Methodist church in De Pere, Wisconsin, have for several years been giving funds for Christian work among their less fortunate brethren, the Aymara Indians of Bolivia, South America. The members of the church have set aside "The Lord's Acre" and from the sale of beans and other produce are sending missionary funds to the Rev. John Herrick, educational-evangelistic missionary, to the Aymaras at La Paz, Bolivia. Last summer the acre yielded $22, and the members added $40 from other savings. The Rev. J. H. Wenberg, pastor of the Onondaga congregation was for a number of years a missionary.

ary to the Aymaras and for sixteen years has been serving Indians in Oklahoma and Wisconsin.

The American Bible Society recently announced that in its 125 years of service as a scripture-distributing agency, it "has not yet received, from all gifts of all kinds, the equivalent of the cost of one first class battleship. Yet the Society's annual distribution at home and abroad exceeds 7,000,000 Gospels, Testaments and Bibles."

The newly-organized "Church of Christ in Japan," composed of most of the denominational churches that had their roots in European and American missions, has a Social Welfare Board with a program of aggressive community and national services. Measures already adopted by the Board include a nationwide campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis, provision for Christian student hostels connected with churches, aid for the unemployed, a "Big Brother Movement" to guide the youth of the nation, temperance education, prevention of poverty, care for the families of soldiers, a welfare service for rural and fishing people, sanitary instruction, day nurseries and Peasant Gospel Schools.

For two centuries the Moravian Church of Holland has been carrying on missionary work in Surinam (Dutch Guiana, S.A.)—now occupied by U.S. troops. The work has long been supported by the Mission Society of the Moravian Church of Zeist, Netherlands. But, because of the occupation of the Netherlands, money no longer is available, and the International Missionary Council lists Surinam as an "orphphan mission" to be cared for by churches in the United States and Great Britain. The church and educational work reaches the Negroes of the bush, said to be descendants of runaway slaves, 3,500 of whom are church members; 45,000 Hindu East Indians, 800 of whom are church members; 40,000 Moslem Javanese; 300 church members; and Creoles, 27,000 of whom are church members. Missionaries and Surinam-born pastors include Anglo-Saxons, Negroes, Javanese, Indians and Creoles.

More than 1200 conscientious objectors to war are now enrolled and assigned to nineteen service camps throughout the United States; and it is estimated that 1800 additional registrants will soon be added to this number. From the religious point of view, the men represent eighty-six religious sects, including all the major denominations, Friends, United Brethren, and Mennonites are the religious groups operating the camps. Ten are connected with the United States Forestry Service, seven with the Soil Conservation Service, and two with the National Park Service.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 275): "To grasp the reality and order of being in its Science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine principle of all that really is. ROGER BABSON SAYS ...
Tax Situation Becomes Ball and Chain

Babson Park, Mass., Dec. 5.—What's the matter with the stock market? I am convinced that much of the answer lies with the tax situation. Present taxes are an aid to higher dividends; but a millstone around the neck of prices. Readers should remember that about one-half of government income comes from Excise Taxes and about one-half is obtained from corporation and personal income taxes. Customs duties, while formerly a large source of income, have now dried up. It is with corporation and personal taxes that investors are directly concerned.

Many of us were brought up to believe that stock prices were governed only by good or bad corporation earnings. This is not true today. International complications, fear psychology, and principally taxes are now in the picture. Excess profits can amount to as much as 60 percent and must be computed before normal taxes of 31 percent are deducted. Profits of many corporations may continue high but the cream is gone. The market can no longer look forward merely to earnings as an incentive for higher prices. The worst feature, however, of the new taxes is their use in pulling over social "reforms" and in aiding New Dealers to put a ball and chain on merchants, manufacturers, and bankers.

Formerly, corporations could pile up reserves in good years to tide them and their stockholders over lean years. Today, however, under the "undistributed profits" tax of Section 102 of the Revenue Act, there is no "fat" left. Under the present forcing system of social changes many first-class companies in the next depression (and one will surely come) will be obliged to go to the government for help. That's exactly what our present government wants them to do. Then, in exchange for continuing managerial jobs and providing some interest for bondholders, government may insist upon working control through taking over the rights of stockholders.

Owners of common stocks providing high returns and relative safety are now in a wonderful position. This applies particularly to those in the lower-income brackets. From the point of view of collecting individual taxes the government must allow corporations to distribute sufficiently high earnings to warrant the payment of generous dividends. Hence, I feel that while there will be a lot more talk about raising corporation taxes, that these corporations will be allowed to raise prices proportionately. This is why Secretary Morgenthau's proposal to limit the profit of corporations to only six per cent did not receive any support even in New Deal circles.

Stockholders should not be too concerned about increased personal taxes. In many instances these can be passed on. This is true in the ownership of rentable property where higher taxes can be overcome by raising rents. Investors are also realizing that currently high yields for stocks are solving their tax problems. Whereas five years ago an investment of $10,000 might yield five percent or $500, today the investor may find his taxes increased by $300 to $500. Hence, he looks around for, and insists upon, yields of eight percent to 10 percent for any new investment. Switching of old investments may also have the desired results. Thus, a wide-awake stockholder can have sufficient income to meet his increased tax bill and money left over for his customary spending needs. This very fact, however, keeps down the market prices of these stocks.

Owners of bonds and preferred stocks are confronted with low yields, high prices, and fixed incomes. If this group continues to hang on to these they will be unable to meet their increased taxes unless they drastically curtail their personal expenditures. It is when they get wise to the high yields obtainable in common stocks and start switching, a slump should certainly result in prices for many bonds and preferred stocks. This possibility is now hanging over the market and exerting a bearish influence along with tax selling and O.P. M. restrictions.

Every investor should, of course, have some funds invested in certain bonds. Many of these can still be bought on a discount basis with resultant high yields. When switching or making new bond commitments buy only first mortgages. Personally, I am not interested in high-priced, low-yield issues. As a rule, I have also steered clear of preferred stocks. They are a hybrid investment. Now is the time to forget high-priced bonds and preferreds in favor of good common stocks. The reasons are clearly obvious to every thinking investor. Incidentally, when buying common stocks select those companies which have no funded debt or cumulative preferreds outstanding.

I am bullish on selected stocks over the long pull. It may be, however, that there will be no boom in stock prices until taxes come down or dividends increase still more. But whichever of these two factors prevails, stockholders in many companies should continue to sit pretty. My guess is that we are headed for even higher taxes but with the main tenance of present, or even higher, dividend rates with creeping better prices for most common stocks. Stockholders should have courage and remember when investing new money that good high-yielding stocks are a hedge against high personal taxes.

How Farmers Can Get Repairs

AAA Chairman Tells of Procedure

Farmers in Wayne county who are taking heed of the warning to order repair parts for farm machinery early and who are unable to obtain ordered parts should inform their AAA community committeemen of the fact, according to Fred C. Ernest, chairman of the Wayne County AAA committee.

Mr. Ernest said that AAA committeemen will then pass this information along to the U.S.D.A. Defense board for Wayne county, headed by the county AAA chairman, which will then relay the information to the office of Agricultural Defense Relations in Washington.

Mr. Ernest said that there should be no reason why farmers cannot obtain repair parts for farm machinery because the office of Production Management has assured the secretary of agriculture that there will be made available sufficient metal to supply the demand for repair parts, even though there will be much less new machinery manufactured in 1942 than in 1940 or 1941. Because of this assurance, farmers should not hesitate to make known any difficulty they encounter in obtaining parts. Some local or temporary shortages may develop because of unusual demand for certain replacement parts, but manufacturers will be able to obtain sufficient metals to produce needed parts.

The sharp reduction in manufacture of new farm machinery and equipment for 1942 puts more emphasis on the care and repair of existing machinery, the AAA chairman said, and because of this farmers are being urged to check over their present equipment, order needed repair parts immediately, to get their equipment in shape during the winter in order to avoid serious delays next spring, and to dispose of all scrap metal in their possession in order to make more metal available for defense and civilian needs.

Individual farmers are not required to obtain priority ratings, Mr. Ernest pointed out, because priorities apply only to manufacturers in most cases, and to wholesalers in some cases.

LeRoy Westfall in Special Training

Enrolls in Mechanics Course at Sheridan

Private First Class LeRoy E. Westfall, whose home address is 840 Irvin street, is busily engaged in a special eight weeks' course of training at Fort Sheridan, Illinois, with his goal a diploma as a skilled army automotive mechanic. It was announced today by Major General J. M. Cummine, commanding the Sixth Corps Area.

Selected for this course because of his mechanical ability and liking for the work, Private Westfall is one of 81 students honored with enrollment in the current class of the Sixth Corps Area Quartermaster Motor Transport School for Mechanics.

An apprentice tool and die worker for the Daisy Manufacturing company before entering the service, Private Westfall has discovered a wide variety of civilian pursuits among his fellow-students. But there is definitely no maladjustment here of the round peg in the square hole variety, General Cummine asserted. Commanding officers, he said, select for the Quartermaster Corps' nation-wide motor transport training program only men such as Private Westfall who have shown mechanical aptitude and a desire to advance themselves.

A survey of the class reveals that a large number have long cherished the ambition to enter automobile mechanical work, but up to the time of enrollment in the army were denied an opportunity for training. Enthusiastic over the schooling he is receiving, Private Westfall, like 50 percent of his fellow-students, said that his army tutoring has spurred in him a desire to find a career in the automotive industry when his service days are at an end.

"The work at this school is very interesting and helpful. I consider myself very fortunate to have been selected for the training. I hope that with my army schooling as a background I will be able to achieve my ambition to enter the automotive field," says young Westfall.

Automotive experts of the Quartermaster Corps are providing class room lectures and practical laboratory work for Private Westfall and his associates. In addition to engine and vehicle maintenance training, the students are instructed in basic accounting and cost computation, so that a graduate is able to assume complete charge of a fleet of fifty or more vehicles.

Discussing the work of the school, General Cummine said: "Supplies are the life-line of an army. Troops, their essential supplies and equipment must be moved in mobile units in a precise, efficient and fast manner. Meeting this demand, the Quartermaster Corps is engaged in the greatest motor transport training program this country has ever known. Private Westfall is typical of the thousands of young men who from coast to coast are being trained by the Quartermaster Corps technicians to the end that our great army on wheels may keep rolling on in ever increasing number."

Successful completion of the course will mean that Private Westfall is eligible for promotion and appointment as instructor or foreman of a particular group of soldier-mechanics. And further, in the words of General Cummine: "If he goes on ahead with his plan to seek a foothold in the motor industry when his service days are over, the training means that he will be able to start off with a sound, basic knowledge of the business."

Graduation day will come December 18, and there'll be a diploma for every man who passes the final examination.

Our report cards were received this week. Nearly every one was pleased with his card.

As soon as all the pupils are present, we expect to draw names for our Christmas party. A few of the children are absent because of bad colds.

Eunice Waterman conducted a spell-down last Friday, afternoon. The best spellers in each grade were Luella Chappell, Lynn Hazlett and Tommy Campbell.

There are 4891 sanatorium beds in Michigan to care for victims of tuberculosis. The Christmas seal supports the organized volunteer movement to prevent tuberculosis. Use Christmas seals!

These Hunters Bring Back Big Bucks

Among the prize deer brought home by Plymouth hunters from northern Michigan was a 14-point buck shot by Elmer Barlow, Jr., of 1902 Ann Arbor road. The young hunter had his good luck in the Upper Peninsula, near Seeney.

Wilbert Fowler, who was with a hunting party near Lewiston, shot a nice buck, but when he got up to where it fell in the woods, two other hunters were putting their tag on his deer.

Knowing that it was needless to try and claim his deer, he remained in the northland and three days later shot another buck that weighed over 165 pounds and had eight points.

Defense Training Enrollment Gains

Sixty Entered in Plymouth Courses

Michigan's national defense training program reached a new enrollment peak in October with 31,579 trained in 1,125 courses in the state, it was announced this week by George F. Fern, director of the State Board of Control of Vocational Education and state director of vocational training for defense workers.

Plymouth, one of some 45 Michigan cities included in the defense training program, has a total enrollment of 60 persons receiving night school training in machine tool operation and shop mathematics and blueprint reading courses.

Machine tool operations continues to lead in enrollment. There were 500, machine tool operation courses and 12,355 students receiving training in October in this phase of defense work. Aviation courses advanced to second place last month in the state survey. There were 154 courses and 4,253 trainees in such work as aero riveting, aircraft welding, aircraft engines, aviation mechanics and aircraft layout and construction. Welding, with 153 courses and 4,056 trainees, was the third largest division for training.

Frank L. Wright Designs Home

Executive Purchases Beck Road Acreage

Construction was started last week on a new modernistic home on Beck road west of Plymouth for Mr. and Mrs. Carleton D. Wall of Dearborn. Mr. Wall, vice-president of the U. S. Tool and Manufacturing company in Dearborn, recently purchased 11 acres on Beck road from Evered Jolliffe for the new home site. The Walls have engaged Frank Lloyd Wright, of Wisconsin, the country's outstanding architect and designer of modern homes, to design their new residence.

Mr. Wright, who visited the site of the new Wall residence recently, has drawn plans for a low-spreading ranch-type house of ultra-modernistic design. A topographical survey was made of the acreage to enable the designer to take advantage of the natural rolling terrain. The frontage on the highway, located adjacent to the Jolliffe property on Beck road, is 550 feet and a natural creek runs through the property.

The Right Step

We are glad to know that a number of Republican leaders of the state have organized a group known as the "United Republicans of Michigan" in an effort to bring order out of the chaotic condition in which the party finds itself.

Their purpose is to unite the various groups within the party in an effort to again establish fair, economical and progressive government in the state of Michigan. They would restore a complete Republican administration in our good state, believing such an accomplishment would be for the best interests of our commonwealth. In this we fully agree.

It is gratifying, too, to know that there is no intent upon the part of the committee to make the same blunders that have been charged up against the Republican State Central committee in years gone by of playing favorites among primary candidates.

The Plymouth Mail has been definitely advised that it is the intent of the committee to keep hands strictly off of all primary contests. It is the committee's aim to weld the forces together so that when the primary elections are over, the Republicans will be united and become a real force in the forthcoming state campaign.

That is as it should be. It was the Republican party which gave the primary election system to Michigan and it is the duty of the Republican party to see to it that it works to the advantage of the voters of the state.

Some say that possibly better candidates can be secured by the convention system. That is a debatable question. The primary gives the voters a right to have a part in the selection of all candidates, if they desire to exercise that right. It is a responsibility that belongs to the people and no one else.

It is repugnant to Republican ideals and to the advantage of the party itself for any group to set itself up as a body which seeks to dictate who shall be the candidates of the party in the primary and who shall not be the candidates.

The "United Republicans of Michigan" have been wise in keeping their hands strictly off of all primary contests. Any effort to dictate who are the "favorite" candidates in the various primary contests for various public responsibilities would immediately kill any of the benefits that the organization has in mind.

We are glad to know that the group is one hundred percent in favor of no dictation in primary contests. As we see it from this distant corner of the state, the United Republicans of Michigan are in a position to do a world of good in the next campaign, providing its present ideals are carried out to the letter, and we believe they will be. It is a movement which should have the support of every good citizen of the state.

The One Big Issue

There is but one major issue before the voters of America. That issue is—Shall Communism or Americanism control the future destinies of our country?

To the writer, the alarming thing about the situation lies in the fact that Republican as well as most Democratic members of our national congress seemingly do not sense the danger of all that is going on. Congressman Martin Dies, a Democrat from a southern state, is apparently one of the very few who knows the seriousness of the situation.

While it is true that Hitlerism is the immediate threat, a threat that is being properly met, the blackest cloud spreading over the skies is the filthy, bloody hand of the Communist.

Wake up, Americans, and face this threat with all the power at our command—OR PERISH, as did millions of the peasants of Russia!

Labor Troubles

The wobbly old world seems beset by troubles of all kinds. Across the Atlantic civilization is being replaced by a scorched earth. In our own prosperous, progressive America we are beset by labor troubles—serious labor troubles.

Would to God that there could be brought about the reign of goodwill between management and labor. One cannot prosper without the other, and why there should be the necessity of strikes is difficult to understand.

We are heading into one of the most critical periods of all American history.

For the good of the country we love, for the good of the children we have brought into this troubled world—let's unite to keep America really the home of the brave, the home of the free—the home where there is PEACE and PERMANENT SECURITY for EVERY American!

He Landed

From the Lansing political news column appearing in the Ann Arbor News written by the alert, able Guy Jenkins, staff correspondent of the Booth publications, we have learned that Joel Moore, perpetual public job hunter, has landed again. He is now warden of Ionia Reformatory. Chalk that one up as an error on the part of the VanWagoner administration. He is not the type Michigan needs to manage one of its vast prisons.

Not "Hank," Little Girlie

The other day a girl but a year or two out of high school now employed in one of the nearby Ford plants working on national defense orders, was talking to some friends about her work.

"They've been trying to get a strike out there for more pay. I hope they do. Old Hank has got lots of money and we are going to get all we can from him," declared the little miss to her companions.

Well, little Girlie, it isn't "Old Hank" (meaning Henry Ford) who is going to pay you more money if you strike and get it. Not one cent of it will come out of "Hank's" pocket.

It will be your mother and father, your brother and sister, your neighbors, your companions who will pay you any wage increase you may get.

You see, Girlie, it's like this. Uncle Sam is simply re-imbursing "old Hank" the money he is spending to build the big defense plants, and produce motor equipment for the army and navy.

"Old Hank" it is true, spends the money, then he sends a bill to Washington and then our government officials make out a check to "old Hank" and pay him back the money he has spent in paying wages and in buying material.

Now, little Girlie, where does Uncle Sam get the money with which to pay "old Hank"?

That is simple, too.

When your father goes down to the store to buy some of the necessities of life, or when he spends money for anything he may be required to buy, Uncle Sam is right there to take away from him in taxes a portion of the money he turns over to the person making the sale. If your father buys some gasoline for his car or a new tire or a new part of something like that, Uncle Sam gets some of the price he pays in taxes.

Maybe, little Girlie, you went to a show last night. Uncle Sam got some of that admission money, too. But in your case the little tax "divvy" Uncle Sam takes doesn't bother you much. You have no one to support, no other mouths to feed, no home to maintain.

But your Daddy and hundreds of thousands of other daddies do have all of these responsibilities and the extra pennies he spends in taxes means that some one is going to get just a little less to eat, just a little less to wear.

Your pay right now, little Girlie, is exceptionally high. Most American fathers have raised large families, paid their bills, maintained respectable homes and educated their children on weekly pay checks much smaller than the one you are getting.

In fact, if their pay checks had been as big as the one you are getting, many of the fathers of America could at sometime have afforded a trip or two around the world with their families.

But the point, Girlie, we wish to drive home to you is that when you talk about striking to make "Old Hank" pay you more money, you are simply advocating a strike to force the government to take more tax money away from your father, your neighbors and all the other people you know. You are making it more difficult for parents to buy milk for babies, bread and meat for growing children and clothes to cover their shivering backs.

You are making the days grow darker and more dreary for the vast multitudes of elderly people who are finding it mighty hard to scrape enough together right now to buy sufficient food and fuel to keep body and soul together.

It doesn't make any difference to "old Hank" how much he has to pay out to buy materials and to pay workers—the government—YOU AND ME—and all the other people you know, pay for it.

And mind you, Girlie, there are vast millions of we folks who can't get jobs in factories making war supplies and we can't get the "big" money that you can demand of Uncle Sam, because he is in a tight spot and needs so badly and so quickly the things that you are hired to make.

Then, too, Little Miss, Mr. Ford is entitled to respect from you, even though he does provide you with a good job in one of his factories. He is living one of the most useful lives of any man in all history. You and others owe him at least courteous comment—and that expression "old Hank" seems entirely unbecoming to one who gladly takes a big pay check from him.

Might we suggest that your father or some one else take you and all the others who talk and feel as you do, out back of the woodshed and give you such a spanking that everytime you try to sit down, the soreness from the spanking will make you and the others do a bit of thinking, if you and the others are able to do such a thing.

The Camp Deer

Hunters from this part of Michigan who have returned from their annual deer hunt to northern Michigan, are not too enthusiastic about the new state law which permits a doe to be killed for each hunting camp of four or more persons. One hunter reported that he had seen a number of doe that had been shot and left in the woods. Other hunters had other unfavorable reports of the workings of the new law. One declared that if the statute was permitted to remain in force four or five years that there would be practically no deer hunting left in Michigan.

Apparently it is a question that needs further study by the conservation department and the state legislature.

Another Nudical Failure

Franklin Roosevelt's effort to commercialize Thanksgiving by advancing the date a week so that certain big business outfits might thereby profit from it, has proved so objectional to the people of our country that he has declared that another one of his noble experiments is over and that next year Thanksgiving will be on the date it has always been—the last Thursday in November.

RAMBLING AROUND . . .

With Prominent Michigan Editors Their Views About Public Problems and Issues

POLITICS, THAT'S ALL.

As a friend of civil service—at least we refused to contribute to the Lansing campaign to defeat the proposal we are becoming more and more befuddled by what is going on at Lansing. This trick of abolishing a certain department in order to change the name of the service and transfer the work to some one else—as was done by "Ag" Commissioner Card to relieve a capable and competent employee from Gratiot county—is coarse and deceitful. Honest civil service is all the people want or expect, but a good many friends of the law are becoming suspicious of the internal technique that seems able to rate most republicans as dumbbells and suitable material for doctors of philosophy or something higher in the scale of academic refinements.—Muriel H. DeFoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune.

HELL TAKE CARE OF YOU!

Among all the propagandists in Lansing, state highway commissioner G. Donald Kennedy takes the cake. He sends out more stuff than anyone else, and a good deal of the time it seems as if his weekly "releases" are worth less than those of almost all of the others put together.

This week, for instance, the commissioner and his publicity crew take great pains to call to the attention of deer hunters that there are enough state ferries to care for the straits traffic. Equally of course, the commissioner's name is prominent in the first sentence of the "release."

It seems to us as if we remember that state ferries ran long before the commissioner got his job. Our bet is that they will run long after he loses it. We suspect that if it is doubtful whether the commissioner could keep the state ferries from running if he wanted to.

If that is so, why waste the time of state employees, reams of paper and postage stamps in sending out "releases" with so little vital information in them? If anyone in Lansing is interested, the cutting down on some of the bunk emanating from the state capital offers a way for the state to save some money, a procedure which is sorely needed.—James Gallery in The Tuscola County (Caro) Advertiser.

WRITE YOUR CONGRESSMAN AND SENATORS!

According to newspaper and radio reports, Congress is in the mood to take action to curb abuses of the Wagner labor relations act. Just what form the corrections will take—if indeed any changes are made—is hard to predict. Change in the law to forbid striking in defense industries, and a law making strike orders dependent upon a vote of the laborers involved are said to be among considerations.

We are in favor of well conducted and well regulated labor unions. We believe that working men have a right to better the conditions under which they earn their daily bread. We believe too that the laboring man has a right, by concerted action with his fellows to act to obtain a larger share of his productive efforts for himself. We think you believe that, too.

But—under the present Wagner labor law too many abuses of power are possible. Selfish labor leaders are able to control the actions of too many men arbitrarily. We have seen this in Michigan. The country is seeing it now in the trouble over the coal mining operations in captive mines. Why should one man be able to call men from their work at his whim? Why should one man be able to tie up not only coal mines but steel mills as well, not only throwing men out of work but impeding if not actually threatening the entire country in the gigantic task of rearming?

We believe that if labor is going to dominate to the extent that its leaders seek to do—that responsibility must also be accepted. Congress is said to be in a mood to act. Those American people who wish to see labor abuses curbed should so write their representatives in congress now. Your congressman and your senators would doubtless be glad to hear from you. Your letter may strengthen their resolution. You may be sure that our representatives in congress hear from those who want no changes in the present set-up. A personal letter from you will have more influence than you may suspect.—Robert G. Rowe in The Milford Times.

THE CLOSED SHOP

The closed shop, demanded by certain labor groups, never should have been an issue in America. The requirement that a man pay dues to a union in order to be permitted to work is contrary to the whole "freedom of opportunity" philosophy on which American business has flourished. The closed shop idea is probably unconstitutional and certainly un-American.

For the people of America to-day are unalterably opposed to the closed shop. Some of them listened to the arguments for it sympathetically when it was first brought up. They saw it as a possible asset to the "little man" in combating the power of employers.

But recent strikes based on demands for a closed shop have made the people analyze it more carefully and they have come to the almost unanimous conclusion that it is un-American—that every worker should have the right to decide for himself whether he wants to belong to a union.

All recent studies of the public's opinion on this subject have arrived at that answer. A recent national poll made by Dr. George Gallup found only 13 per cent of the people of all classes favoring the closed shop. Even among union members themselves, the right of a man to decide if he would join a union was favored.

America's labor leaders, employers and government mediators should be made aware of the fact that on the subject of a closed shop the American public has voted a resounding "No."—George O. St. Charles in The Dearborn Independent.

Now is the only time during the year when the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated local associations raise money to carry on their year-round fight against tuberculosis. The Christmas seal sale has for 35 years supported this voluntary health movement. Use Christmas seals!

25 YEARS AGO . . .

And 50 years ago news taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail

The stage is all set for the first annual show of the Plymouth Poultry and Pet Stock association which will be held at Pennington hall next week. Many chicken fanciers from this vicinity and neighboring towns will have their prize birds here on exhibition. There will also be a good showing of pet stock.

While raising a smoke stack at the Plymouth creamery last week Wednesday, Bert Robinson of Novi, a former resident here, met with a serious accident. The stack had been freshly painted, which caused the rope to slip, and it fell to the ground, striking Mr. Robinson on the right leg, severing an artery above his knee. A physician was immediately called and several stitches were taken. He is now at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Martha Farland, where he is slowly convalescing.

Ed Tyler and Glen Smith have completed the necessary preparations for flooding the old ball park for a skating rink when the weather conditions are such as to make ice. This will be a fine thing for the young people of the village and the home of Stephen Jewell for it eliminates the dangers of this favorite sport on rivers or ponds where there is deep water beneath the ice. Electric lights will be strung around the park for the benefit of those who may desire to skate in the evening.

Only four shooters took part in the weekly shoot at Henry's flats last Sunday. High wind and the fact that the late starting made shooting difficult. John Patterson was on the job with a new Remington auto-loading shot gun. The scores were as follows: Matt Powell, 37 out of a 50-bird event; Harry Passage, 36; Lou Cameron, 28 and John Patterson, 21.

Last Monday evening 20 friends gathered at the home of Stephen Jewell to remind him of his birthday anniversary. During the evening Lee McDonald presented Mr. Jewell with a beautiful leather rocker, after which refreshments were served.

The W.C.T.U. ladies sent a Thanksgiving post card shower to Mrs. A. W. Reed who is spending the winter with friends in California.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hough entertained about thirty-five relatives at a family dinner yesterday at the Plymouth Hotel. In the afternoon the guests were taken to the matinee at the opera house.

Howard Riggs has gone to Pontiac, where he has a position with the Oakland Motor company.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reed of Port Huron were week-end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rambo.

Dr. W. G. Baker, the new veterinary surgeon, and family have moved into Mrs. Ella King's house on Kellogg street.

Ralph Lorenz's brothers, who have been visiting him for the past few weeks, left Monday for their home at Landon, North Dakota. His mother will remain in Michigan for the winter.

The teachers of the public school, the board of education and a few other friends were pleasantly entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Luther Peck at their home on East Ann Arbor street last week Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. August Schaufele entertained 20 relatives at a family dinner at their home on Brush street Thanksgiving. The out-of-town friends present were J. Randolph Brown and family of Superior, James Carver of Ypsilanti and L. B. Carver of Atlanta, Georgia.

The Methodist tabernacle in Central park has been razed this week and the material will be used by Contractor Patterson in the new Methodist church. The foundation for the new building is practically completed and the brick work will start soon.

The game warden was in this vicinity Sunday and caught two killing squirrels. For being neither tardy nor absent at school and having a good department record, Mabel Becker, Merion and Genevieve, outliner won a half-holiday Friday.

Rev. and Mrs. Field met with the official board of the Methodist church Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Machender. Mrs. W. R. Levan was elected financial secretary and Mrs. N. Eva Smith, treasurer. The board decided to have a bed and clean the church next week.

H. S. Shattuck is erecting a fine errigating plant west of his residence on the Plymouth road. Mrs. Julius Miller entertained a number of friends last week Wednesday. They were Mrs. A. Miller and daughter, Ruth, and Mrs. Ezra Rotour of West Plymouth. Mrs. Dunn of Plymouth, Mrs. John Cool and Mrs. L. S. Cool of this place.

The E. P. club met at the home of William Bowman last Saturday. Winners of prizes for five hundred were Mrs. W. Roschberg, first ladies prize, and Mrs. John Thompson was consoled. Harmon Gates carried off the gentlemen's first prize and Charles Melow was awarded the booby prize.

Mrs. E. L. Riggs gave a very interesting and pleasing talk at the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at the home of the late Mrs. C. Bunyee. The attendance was good despite the rainy day, and all felt well repaid for braving the storm.
