Water Consumption Reaches Peak For Year During Recent Heat Wave

Plymouth's water consumption reached its peak for this summer during the continued hot wave last week with a total of 843,000 gallons pumped on Thursday. Sunday established the second-highest record for the year with a pumpage of 826,000. The all-time record was established last year during July when consumption amounted to 980,000 gallons in one day.

Last week's consumption taxed the city's distribution system severely with three pumps at work at the city water wells and two pumps at the booster station. Residents of Phoenix subdivision in the northeast section were without water at various times last week. The city's problem of water distribution has become acute during the last two summers and city officials are now awaiting assignment of a priority rating for construction of a gravel-packed well within the city as an auxiliary source of water supply. The proposed project will supply an additional 300-700 gallons of water per minute. The city's water supply is adequate but the distribution system is taxed to its maximum capacity. Additional water mains will be installed with the new well supply. Meanwhile, citizens are urged to conserve as much as possible on the use of water for lawn sprinkling another non-essential purposes during periods of extreme heat.

To of course, no "one hand" can accomplish this feat. But if we are to win this war we must all join hands, work together and put in the hands of our soldiers the materials necessary to put the "squeeze" on this triple threat to freedom. It has been said that this war will be won-not on the battlefield or high seas-but in the industrial plants and farm lands whose vital armaments and supplies can mean victory or defeat. Michigan's people in all walks of life recognize their great responsibility. They have pledged their all-out support and they're backing it up by working harder and longer.

INDUSTRY * Our soldiers of industry are responding to duty wherever they can best serve. Men at desks, at lathes and at drafting boards are defending our country and establishing new records for service in the production line. Management and labor are back of our fighting forces and are proving they can deliver the goods.

FARMER * Hitler has learned only too well that well-fed armies are fighting armies and in war-torn Europe the soldier is fed—then the civilian-perhaps. In our great country our farmers are doubling their efforts so that there will be food for all and additional supplies so needed by our Allies. A man behind the plow is also a man behind the soldiersailor and marine.

HOUSEWIFE & In former wars the housewife's role was more or less one of moral support. But today she is taking an active part in many branches of service. Homemaking is not a minor part of our war effort. Well-fed families, attractive homes and careful buying and planning are truly essential and patriotic.

Consumers Power Company is pleased to serve industry, the farm and the home and they can depend on our complete cooperation in helping to do the big job that confronts us all. Back of our fighting forces is the great American spirit-the will and the ability to get things done. Hand in hand and shoulder to shoulder we will go forward

The service was read at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Cecil A. Albright of the Grace Reformed and Evangelical church in Detroit. The couple stood beneath a white rose arbor with tall baskets of white larkspur placed at each side.

The bride wore a lovely gown Pct. of imported shell pink mousseline-de-soie over satin, made with sweetheart neckline, bracelet length sleeves and bouffant skirt. Her veil of pink illusion was caught at each side of the head with tiny rosebuds and lilies of the valley. She carried a colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses centered with forget-menots and edged with the same

To all Telephone Users

Loday the telephone lines are crowded with traffic as never before, and some calls are certain to be delayed.

In the kind of war we are fighting now, telephone communication is a vital necessity. War calls must go through. Every time a military or war production call gets stalled in a traffic jam, the speed of our drive to Victory is slowed down.

The reserve capacity of our lines and equipment, built up for emergencies, is now fully used. And further substantial enlargement of the telephone system to take care of this wartime congestion is impossible because materials are even more urgently needed for tanks, planes and guns. There is only one solution remaining more careful and more efficient use of present telephone facilities by all of us.

In the past, easy, unhampered telephone service has been taken for granted, and properly so. Now there is a war to win, and each of us has a patriotic duty to see that our use of the telephone does not interfere with war calls. Though your own line may never be used for war messages, every call you make must pass through a central office switchboard. Many switchboards are crowded with military or industrial calls. You can help the cause of Victory by putting this list of reminders beside your telephone and making it your guide:

Long Distance Calls

- 1. Make only the most necessary calls during the business day.
- 2. Avoid the rush hours. When possible, call before 9 A.M.; between noon and 2 P.M.; between 5 and 7 P.M.; or after 9 P.M.
- 3. Plan what you want to say, so that the call will 4. Whenever possible, give the number of the tele- phone you are calling. 5. Don't call Washington, D.C., unless you must. Trunk lines to the nation's capital are already overloaded with war messages.

Local Calls

- · 1. Try to make your conversations short, and avoid the rush hours.
- 2. Look up numbers in the telephone directory, so that you won't have to call information.
- 3. Plan your conversations ahead, and keep paper and pencil handy.

THOUGHT FOR FOOD

THIS TIME LAST YEAR you might have said it couldn't happen, but even you uninitiated (as yet) The Townsend club will be en-tertained Monday night, July 27 canners won't be able to resist the fine crop of peaches which will be pouring into the markets soon. And it won't in the home of Fred Lute on West Ann Arbor street. There will be just Uncle Sam you'll be favoring by canning them yourself. Try it and see. With or without sugar.*

First Step Select ripe, firm full-flav-ored peaches. If canning large quantity, cover only a few peaches at a time with boiling water, allowing them to stand just long enough to loosen skins (about half a minute) Plunge them into cold water, then slip off skins, cut freetone peoples into cut freestone peaches into halves and discard pits. (Leave clingstone peaches whole.) Keep peach halves covered with cold water to prevent discoloration if you cannot use them immediately.

Jar Cooked Method

1. Het Pack — Prepare as described above For thin syrup, use five cups sugar (21bs., 20z.) for each gallon water. Approximately 6 pounds sugar, or 3 gallon syrup will be needed for one bushel of peaches. Simmer peach halves a few at a time in about 2 quarts syrup for 4 to 8 minutes. Do not overcook. (This shrinks fruit so it will not shrink after canning.) The additional 2½ gallons syrup should be ready and boiling hot as peaches finish cooking. Or it may be made ½ gallon at a time. Have ready, also, hot sterile jars and lids. Drain jars, stand upright in a small pan of hot water, dip rubber in boiling water, put onto jar. Fill jar with hot peach halves, cut side down, in overlapping layers. Fill to ½ inch of top with some of the additional boiling syrup. Wipe jar rim and rubber with clean cloth dipped in boiling water. Partially tighten lid. Stand jars on rack in deep container of hot water. Water should cover jars completely and be 1 inch above tops. Fill container with jars. Heat until water boils. Keep boiling 15 minutes longer. Remove jars from water and seal. Do not invert jars until cold. Store in dark cool place.

2. Cold Pack — Prepare peaches as described at top. Pack raw in bot esterilized inversed.

2. Cold Pack — Prepare peaches as described at top. Pack raw in hot sterilized jars; cover with boiling syrup to ½ inch from top. Adjust jar tops. Process 25 minutes in boiling To Can Peaches Without Sugar To can without sugar, use boiling water in place of syrup in the preceding directions. If no sugar is used, natural flavor will be best preserved by using smallest quantity of water necessary. Process unsweetened fruit the same length of time and by the same method assweetened fruit.

THANKS TO EVERY ONE.

In checking over the nominating petitions which places the name of the writer upon the Republican ballot as a candidate for the United States senatorship, it looked as though about every one in and around this part of Wayne county had signed them.

It is with the deepest of appreciation that we extend our thanks to those who signed them as well as the ladies and the men who freely gave of their busy time to secure such a vast number of signers in Plymouth, Northville and the townships about here. In past years voters in this locality have made manifest their approval of our position on various public issues, and once again they have indicated their approval as well as interest. Numerous signers who were missed by those who had petitions, came to the office to sign the

The state law requires that a candidate for this position must qualify from not less than 20 counties in the state. The writer qualified from 35 counties, due to the enthusiastic interest of friends about the state. In a few days, we will devote what little time we can take away from our business and our war bond activities to winning the Republican nomination for this position of public trust.

"THE EMPTY ROOM"

That is the caption of an advertisement—one of the most inspiring advertisements we have ever seen. The illustration shows a middle-aged man, standing alone and looking into a boy's bedroom. The text has him saying:

"This is my boy's room.

"This is where he slept.

"This is where he dreamed a child's dreams. "This is where he saw a man's visions.

"Here, in this empty room, are faded pictures of teammates and heroes . . . books scribbled over with notes and exclamations . . . the gloves and spike shoes we hung up for good before he went to war . . . the silver cup he won at Sea Bright . . . bright pennants . . . and all the careless memoranda, the echoes of his days.

"If fathers could only pour their hate through the hot barrels of smoking guns and write the records of their grief with bayonet steel!

"They said I was too old to fight, though I'm only 50. "But, if I'm too old to sight and drop a stick of bombs, I'm not too old to lay my money on the line for War Savings Stamps and Bonds!

"Maybe I am too stiff and slow to fly, but I've got control enough to keep my car speed under 40 . . . so they can keep their fighting planes above 400!

"And if I can't march 30 miles a day with a full pack, I walk two miles to work and back to help save gas and rubber!

"No, I'm not bitter any more because I won't win this war behind a gun or on a ship or in the sky.

"I've come around to thinking that here at home we've got the job of passing the ammunition along, of sacrificing little things, of giving up and going without, of looking ahead to 'less' instead of 'more.' Somebody's got to do the necessary, undramatic things . . . and I guess that's what older men are for." To the United States Rubber company, which sponsors this advertisement, and to the artist and the writer who prepared it, our thanks. Through the door of an empty room they have given us a glimpse beyond the squabbling and striving for advantage, the petty arguments and futile buck passing that sometimes seem to be the chief substance of our war effort here at home, into the real heart of America.—The

ARE YOU A GOOD AMERICAN?

New York World-Telegram.

(Contributed)

What are you doing to help win the war? There is something you can do. You have cleaned your attic and cellar and prepared to follow air-raid regulations. You gave all your old aluminum pots and pans. You've given old metal for the melting pot. You've taken all your scrap rubber to the gas station in answer to the President's plea to "keep them rolling." You're putting every possible dollar and then a dollar more into war bonds and stamps. You're doing a lot-but that is not enough.

Have you a son, a brother, a husband or sweetheart fighting thousands of miles from home? I'll bet my bottom dollar you're already doing what I'm thinking of.

It's the rest of you I mean—you with the sweet tooth, you who love your coffee or tea, you who rent a house down the street to the Smiths. You who like to go out in the evening and ride around the country.

Let's see how it goes. In the first place, you are an American. You're proud of that. Your government is of the people, for the people, and by the people. You are one of the people. Therefore, you are part of the government. You are doing part of the governing. While you are governing, you are governing yourself for your own good. Does that make sense? You are one of the people and the government is OF YOU, FOR YOU AND BY YOU.

I will go on a bit further. As a person and as a part of the government you want to win this war. That's agreed. Therefore, you, the government, are making regulations, limiting use of materials, rasing taxes, etc., because that seems to be the ways and means that you, the government, think necessary to help put us on the road to victory.

You are raising your own taxes.

You are limiting your own use of coffee, tea, and sugar. You are asking for a cut in the use of your own cars, to save rubber for yourself to give to the fighting men.

You are putting ceilings on prices, freezing rents, etc. What are you doing to help win the war? There is something you can do. You can do it sitting at home, playing bridge, doing your housework, shopping-anywhere.

Stop grumbling, griping, scolding about what the government makes you do. You are the government! Stand up for your convictions. When you see sugar is needed somewhere, be glad that it doesn't hurt you to do with a little less in your coffee or teat You don't need as much sweets as you've been having, anyway. Can't buy as much coffee? You were drinking too much, anyway. Taxes high? You're still eating. You pay the tax and have money to see a show. You can't hike your rents sky high? So what? You're not in the front lines getting shot at. I'd rather not raise my rent than be shot at any day. We aren't doing so much, after all, when you read of Tom Jones, reported missing in action.

Be proud to sacrifice. Be ready to help conserve materials. Don't complain. Don't resign from committees because you don't like the way things are run. Be ready to make the work run smoothly. Put your rent down gladly, if it has to be and help stop the vicious circle of inflation. Stop unIn Plymouth and Vicinity—Interesting News of Days Gone By Taken From The Plymouth Mail Files

Old Elm In Park Has A History addition to his pulpit duties.

Planted On Birthday Of Julius Wills

On his seventy-first birthday last Tuesday, July 14, Julius H. Wills brought to light the history, known to few persons in Plymouth, of the old elm tree at the point of Kellogg Park at Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman ave-

That tree was planted 71 years ago in honor of Julius Wills' birthdate, July 14, 1871, by Washburn Bennett, who lived in the white frame house that is now the site of the L. L. Ball studio. When the tree was set out, a fence was also placed around it so the cows wandering in Kellogg park wouldn't bark the young tree. Julius Wills' birthplace was the old John Bennett home on the present site of the Masonic Temple building. Next to the house stood a blacksmith shop at the corner of Union and Penniman, Mr. Wills also recalls that a 23-acre county fairground and half-mile race tráck was located near Maple and Fairground streets more than 50 years ago.

Julius Wills is the son of the late Henry and Eliza Wills. His father, a blacksmith by trade, has sold the house they have just ment at the Red Cross headquar- sales type of copy. After the war, Henry Wills and his wife, a native of New York state, settled in Plymouth. He worked in blacksmith shops on the sites of the city hall and Masonic Temple.

Young Wills received his schooling at Plymouth high and started working at 18 in the Chaffee and Hunter drug and grocery store in the Main street block of stores. At 21, he started working for the Pere Marquette railroad, then known as the Detroit, Lansing and Northern line. In 1909, he married the former Elizabeth Pettit of Grand Rapids. He spent 44 years as a fireman and engineer on the Pere Marquette road, retiring at the age of 63 because of failing eyesight. It's a record that he is proud of but he is even more proud of the fine elm tree in Kellogg Park, a thriving memento of his birth-

EASY WAYS TO SAVE

when you cook on your ELECTRIC RANGE

In these days when "waste nothing" is a household rule, you can save time, effort and electricity by using your range efficiently. The 5 suggestions listed below are not new: Perhaps you already follow them. If not, they will prove werthwhile.

(1) Use LOW heat whenever possible. You can keep your cooking cost down by finishing most of your surface cooking on low heat after foods have reached the steaming point. Once the steaming point is reached, you cannot speed up the cooking operation one bit by continued use of high heat. Reducing the heat will reduce your cooking costs, as well as conserving vitamins and minerals.

(2) Plan more oven meals. Preparing a complete meal in the oven at one time is economical: The same amount of electricity can cook meat, potatoes, vegetables and a pudding in one operation. And by using your clock control, you can forget the dinner until it is ready to serve, and devote your time to other things.

(3) Use little water in cooking. Vegetables are far more delicious and healthful when "steam-cooked" in only half-a-cup of water. This conserves precious minerals and food values - and you don't waste electricity heating up a large quantity of water which is poured down the sink after the cooking is finished.

(4) Make use of "stored" heat. When the cooking operation is almost finished, the heat may be turned completely OFF. The heat that remains in the unit can be used to complete the cooking operation. Take advantage of this method and the extra saving in the use of electricity

(5) Use the thrift cooker often. If your range has one, the thrift cooker is ideal for soups, stews, and for less tender cuts of meat. Its long, slow cooking gives excellent results, and its "deep well" construction and heavy insulation achieve economy of operation.
