ARGUING WITH WIFE

I love to argue with my wife-

But know when I begin,

With her-I'd never win!

I'll argue loud, I'll argue long

(Till I am nearly blind!)

I cannot change her mind!

(But neither, though, do I!

I'm just as bad; yes, every bit,

When we two argufy.)

But if she thinks that I am wrong,

That she is licked, she won't admit.

But I know when the victory's mine.

(Despite what SHE'LL declare.)

It's when she glares with eyes a-shine.

And says, "Well. I don't care!"

War Traffic Now Crossing!

If you wanted to drive across a river and you found the bridge already crowded with Army trucks, tanks and guns, you'd cheerfully give them the right of way.

Long Distance telephone lines are bridges of speech, connecting your city with other sections of the land. Today they are jammed with military and war produc-

It's impossible to enlarge the telephone system enough to handle all the increased volume of calls. Materials are even more urgently needed for war production. So we must make the most efficient use of what we have - with the help of every telephone user.

Here are three simple ways in which you can help keep war calls moving:

- 1. Make only the most essential Long Distance calls.
- 2. Keep your conversations as brief as you can.
- 3. When possible, give the number of the distant telephone you are calling.

The same kind of cooperation will help improve local service, too. Try to keep all calls short. Look up numbers in the directory, and if it's necessary to call Information for a number, write it down for future use. Everybody can help save wires for war!

War calls must go through!

Don't take my WORD for it!

Ponton is the original French word from which comes the English word pontoon. Both words have the same meaning and either may be used correctly. It is said that the U. S. army prefers ponton. It must be noted, however, that the words are not pronounced alike, These are the correct pronunciations:

TYEN-SHUN GAS CUSTOMERS IN PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

Natural Gas

WILL REACH YOUR HOME . . . MONDAY MORNING AUGUST 17

The Consumers Power Company has trained a large crew of men to make the more difficult changes of gas appliances. We are prepared to complete this task with all speed possible and with continuous service.

It is impossible to change to Natural Gas throughout the entire city without some inconvenience, but we hope to keep it at a minimum, and your patience and cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

By making the simple adjustment suggested below, you will materially assist us in our efforts to hasten your enjoyment of this fine new fuel . . . . NATURAL GAS.

YOU WILL KNOW WHEN NATURAL GAS HAS ARRIVED IN YOUR HOME BY THE CHANGE IN THE COLOR OF THE GAS FLAME. THE PRESENT ARTIFICIAL GAS MAKES A SHORT BLUE-GREEN FLAME WHEREAS NATURAL GAS HAS A HAZY BLUE FLAME.

FOR YOUR OWN PROTECTION . . . Read These Instructions Carefully

WHEN NATURAL GAS ARRIVES PLEASE DO THESE THINGS

- 1. Open air shutter on each gas burner on your stove and other appliances that have air shutters until yellow tip disappears on flame.
- 2. Turn down the gas until the height of flame is approximately one inch.
- 3. Use care in adjusting water heater in the same manner.
- 4. IMPORTANT Automatic and instantaneous water heaters and special appliances should not be used until our service men have made adjustments.

At the left we have another type of Gas Burner commonly used today showing the approximate present adjustment of the air shutter which you are now using for manufactured gas. When screw is loosened, air shutter may be turned easily.

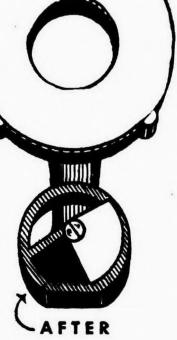

At the right we have this same burner showing an approximate adjustment of the air shutter for Natural Gas. Make this adjustment. Be sure to tighten screw when you have finished.

Pictured at the right you see the air shutter opened to allow more air. When enough air has been added flame will be blue. After making this adjustment, tighten screw.

Fire Call Rates May Be Raised

City Manager Asks For Advance

Changes in fire call services for neighboring townships were recommended in a report submitted to the city commission Monday might by City Manager C. H. Elhott. The recommendations, based on a study of the last two years' fire reports, provide for an increase in fees to the towninp for fire services and restriction of the fire area to include only Plymouth township and part of Canton township if the township boards wish to make Camp Perry.

formal agreements with the city of Plymouth for the service.

At the present time, the city charges a fee of $50 for the first hour of a fire call and $25 for each additional hour. The city manager's recommendation provides for fees of $100 for the first vides for fees of $100 for the first hour and $50 for each additional hour. The increase is proposed to meet the city's expense for quipment and labor necessary or fire calls in outlying townships. .According to the city manager, the city pays each fireman $2 an hour and the total labor cost of a single call for the 15man department is $30. It is estimated also that $1,000 a year is needed to build up an equipment eplacement fund.

It was reported to the city commission that the city fire department answered 23 calls within the city and 23 calls in Plymouth, Livonia, Canton and Nankin townships during 1941. There were no total loss fires within the city and seven total losses in the townships. The total fire loss in the city last year was $3,695 which included $2,500 damages to a truck, and the fire loss in the townships totaled $25,975. The city commissioners will study the fire report and take action on the recommendations at the next egular meeting.

KNOW until you try it, how much satisfaction there is in stocking a cupboard with your own brand of home canned goods. If the jars were of pure gold they could not look more precious to you.

PRESSURE COOKER METHOD Pack fruit or vegetables in tested* jars and add liquid. Pack to ½ inch of top except for starchy vegetables which need 1 inch. Partially seal all jars except the self-seal type which should be completely sealed. Place on rack and add water to barely cover rack. Cover, seal lid. Allow steam to escape from netcock in a steady stream for 7 minutes to get rid of all inside air. See that steam escapes from no other source. Close petcock, or leave it partially open, to avoid great loss of steam. As soon as gauge registers desired pressure, reduce heat. Process as long as Time Table indicates. Remove cooker from heat and let stand until indicator returns to zero and cooker feels cool.

As a general rule, 5 pounds pressure is used for fruits and 10-15 pounds for vegetables, soups, and meats. For further information consult your pressure cooker instruction book. *TESTING JARS AND RUBBERS Partly fill each jar with water. Judge of Probate.

"Victory Livestock Clubs" originated in the South, but the plan has captured the imagination of farm organizations and has spread throughout the country.

All farmers are asked to join the club. They may do so by notifying the Adrian office of the association or contacting any one of the directors. It costs nothing to join. The marketing price of the pledged animal is to be converted into war bonds or stamps and these retained by the farmer making the pledge.

They were not meant to handicap owners whose cars fill necessary purposes. Nor to keep cars on the road beyond the point of safety or efficient operation. Nor to stop the normal process whereby cars pass from owner to owner and thence out of service to become much-needed scrap metal.

They were simply meant to see that cars now built and ready for sale got into the hands of those who needed them - as their needs demanded.

If your car serves a really necessary purpose, Buick dealers are prepared to make immediate delivery on brand-new, gas-thrifty, dependable new models built for the purpose of seeing you through the duration.

With such a car, you travel safely, make best use of gasoline and oil, start fresh with brand-new tires on wheels designed to get maximum life from them. For dependable performance of necessary jobs, such a car is frequently far more of an asset to the country than one which has passed its prime.

NOT A NEEDED WAR MEASURE

Sometimes it is necessary to turn to "trade journals" for some information as to what is going on in our nation's capital that is intended to affect business as well as the life of every person in this country. No one has ever read much about the proposal to do away with all trademarks and labels or what it really means to the average person.

The following editorial recently published in The Editor and Publisher, is well worth your time to read, providing you are interested in keeping the American way of life:
We haven't heard much in the past few weeks about the project to abolish trade marks on labels and in advertising and to substitute for them a universal "Victory" label—and we hope we won't hear any more. It seems to have started with a hint from Donald M. Nelson-no more than a hint-when the manufacture of non-electric cooking and heating apparatus was ordered stopped, as of July 31, by the War Production Board. Mr. Nelson made it clear then that no final decision had been reached—that was about the middle of May-but some folks who look upon advertising as uneconomic whooped up the idea as a necessary war meas-

It is, of course, nothing of the sort. Certainly we are going to get through the war and to winning it eventually without any new automobiles, refrigerators, cooking ranges, oil burners, and a lot of other gadgets that we like to have around the house. Those who have them will make the present equipment do until it falls apart should the war last that long; those who haven't them, but want them, will have to wait until our machinery swings away from guns and tanks back to consumer production. These folks, in both classes, can provide for future needs by investing now in contracts for future delivery, as outlined in Editor & Publisher by James L. Wick, purchasing War Stamps and War Bonds with their current income and being assured of their desired merchandise as soon as it becomes available after the war ends. There have been several plans brought forward, notably by the New York Journal of Commerce last Januay, and the New York Advertising Club about two months ago, with the same end in view. We have heard of several others of generally similar scope, some of which are said to have the unofficial blessing of the treasury department, but none of them, so far as we can learn, has yet been put into operation. Why not? Not knowing the answer, we suggest that it is probably due to the pre-occupation of Washington with immediate strategical and construction problems, plus the fact that the country has both an immediate sufficiency of materials that have been restricted and not enough income on hand to risk future contracts. The bogey of inflation is real enough to cause concern, but so far the flow of war-created income has been into relatively few channels, and the majority of people-employer and employe alike-have less, and not more, money to spend today than they had a year ago July. That trend may change as the money paid into war industries trickles into trade channels, but, in our humble judgment, it has so far benefited retail trade to an infinitesimal degree.

Knocking-out of trade reputations that have been decades in the building will not contribute any horse-power to the war effort; it will, on the other hand, immensely retard the recovery of business after the war. And unless we are prudent and foresighted, the immediate post-war period may be harder for our structure to bear than the strains of war. It should not be, to be sure, but it will be if the foundations of our peace-time economy are shot from under us by crack-brained doctrinaire thinking now. body with any sense expects the world-after-the-war to look. act, or feel like the world we know in 1939, but we do expect it to have roughly recognizable foundations upon which we can make a new start.

If our military victory is to be achieved at the cost of destroying our civil liberties and our commercial institutions, it will be costly beyond anything in human history. The Huns were beaten at Chalons in the fifth century and Europe moved slowly toward civilization. The Thirty Years' War dragged itself to an inconclusive end in slaughter and plague that crippled Europe for more than a century, but after Napoleon's downfall (following 20 years of almost continuous war) Europe went forward in peace and with a growing appreciation of democratic ideas for a century. Unless we are willing that this war should end in exhaustion as did the fanatical struggles of the seventeenth century, we must keep our eyes not only on victory in the field but on our ability to move forward after the guns are silenced.
