A Message to The Loyal, Patriotic Citizens of Plymouth!

We take off our hats to the progressive wide-awake men, women and children of Plymouth and vicinity who have put their heart and soul into the effort to win the war.

Re-Elect Governor
Murray Van Wagoner

He has earned his approval of your vote next Tuesday

Re-Elect Senator
Prentiss M. Brown

His record in the Senate shows that he has been fearless and independent

You are real Americans out to do a job as Americans have always done in times of stress - We are all soldiers in one Great Army - All determined to win the war.

Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and Senator Prentiss M. Brown Have Not Failed Our State or Our Country in These Trying Times

The Facts

It has been said by the Republican opponent of Governor Van Wagoner that the Governor has played politics with national defense in Michigan.

All you have got to do to see how utterly incorrect is this claim is to look about you — right here in Plymouth.

Who are the members of the rationing board?
Who are the members of the civilian defense council?

Who is the co-ordinator of the defense council?
Who is directing the War Bond campaign?

Who are the people working with them?

Nine tenths of these people in Plymouth are REPUBLICANS — all selected with the approval of the Governor.

Did William Wood, chairman of the rationing board, ask any of the paid employees of that board when he hired them, if they were Republicans or Democrats before he appointed them?

No, not one — and Mr. Wood, himself, is a Republican.

There has been no politics in the state administration's war effort, and you have proof of this right here in Plymouth.

The Record

Experience on the job before and during the war; promises made and kept; a program for continuing his government streamlining work — this is the re-election platform of Michigan's Democratic governor, Murray D. Van Wagoner.

Governor Van Wagoner points to these highlights of his present term:

A long-standing $27,000,000 State deficit wiped out and a $7,000,000 surplus created;

Record aid for crippled children, dependent mothers, and the aged;

Idle State hospitals put to more use;

They have won the right to ask the vote of every Republican, of every Democrat for another term — We urge with all the power at our command that this Republican city show these public officials that we place our war effort above politics and that we approve of their records. We believe they are entitled to this favor from the good citizens of Plymouth.

More funds for schools than ever before;

The nation's first state inventory of war factory facilities, which brought Michigan it's flood of war orders;

The first civilian defense organization completed by any State, and ranked by the Army as best in the Midwest;

Close cooperation with President Roosevelt and the Washington war agencies;

Labor-industrial cooperation furthered by State government mediation;

A sound Civil Service Commission;

The first reduction in number of State employees seen in 12 years;

A consolidated revenue department created, saving $5,000,000 in its first year;

Increased unemployment compensation;

Better administration of child labor laws, workmen's injury compensation, safety laws, and laws protecting women in war factories.

War problems require that we continue close cooperation with our Commander-in-Chief, President Roosevelt, and make certain that an experienced and trusted Executive of Michigan will continue the job.

Senator Brown's Record

Lauded by national magazines such as TIME, and innumerable newspaper editorials for his fight with our Commander-in-Chief to keep the laboring man's food and rent costs on a parity with wages, Senator Prentiss M. Brown is a candidate for re-election next Tuesday, November 3rd.

Senator Brown, who has twelve years continuous service in the Nation's capitol, and who as one of the senior Senators on Capitol Hill was entrusted by President Roosevelt to the very important job as floor leader for the first Price Control Act, to keep farm prices on a comparative level with wages. The law is most important to the citizens of Michigan, as compared to other states. Michigan is first in war production and has more wage earners than any other state in the union. When reduced to words of one syllable, the bill simply means that the working man and woman on salary will be able to purchase meat, produce and other farm products at a comparative level and with a ceiling on future price increases.

When President Roosevelt announced in a radio address that such legislation was necessary, Senator Robert F. Wagner, Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee went to Senator Brown. "Prentiss" he said, "you're the man to handle this bill because you know the subject. But it is a terrible thing to hand a man just before election. You'll have to fight the farm bloc . . . I want you for this job, but if you'd rather not, I'll certainly understand."

Senator Brown took the job, and despite terrific political pressure from the farm blocs of the South and West, and in the face of what looked like political suicide, put it over. As pointed out in editorials throughout the land, Senator Prentiss M. Brown showed his ability as a true statesman, served his President and country, and at the same time made possible legislation that will save thousands of citizens money every time they go to market or put a meal on the table.

He Solves Hired Help Problem

Farmer Keeney Says It's All 'Head Work'

When Farmer Ed Keeney of Northville came to Plymouth last Friday to register his farm truck with Uncle Sam, he surprised everybody by declaring that the "farm help" problem didn't bother him a bit. "All you've got to do to settle this whole business is go over and sit down in a fence corner for a while and do some thinking. If you think long enough, it all comes out in the wash," Ed told his farmer friends in Plymouth. "Now take this carrot business. I grow several acres of carrots every year. Both horses and folks like carrots, so I always have a good market for them, providing they look nice and yellow with no dirt sticking to 'em when I go to market. "Well, this carrot washing business was a real problem. I always had to hire some one to do it for me, just wash carrots when I pulled 'em. This fall I couldn't hire anybody to wash carrots. "What did I do? I just went over in the fence corner on my place out near Salem and sat down in the fence corner and did some good hard thinking. "When I got up, I had the carrot washing thing all worked out. I went up to the barn, dragged out the old concrete mixer, filled it with carrots and water, and started her going. "Say, when those carrots were dumped out of that old concrete mixer, they were the cleanest, yellowest carrots any one ever saw. "That's all there is to this help business. Just use your head a bit and we farmers will never have to hire anybody again."

TELEPHONES ... IN AIR RAID PROTECTION

If enemy bombers ever come roaring in at five miles a minute—split-seconds will count. Fast communication is vital. The telephone has six important functions in Civilian Defense against air raids:

1 Receiving warnings. If enemy aircraft are detected by the Army's "Spotter" System, warnings are transmitted by telephone to control centers in towns that are threatened.

2 Collecting workers. Key men in Civilian Defense units are notified at once by telephone so that when the sirens sound they will be ready to direct the workers in their organizations.

3 Reporting bomb damage. If a raid occurs, wardens quickly telephone complete information to the local control center about bomb damage.

4 Sending men to handle damage. Depending on the nature of the damage, firemen, rescue squads, demolition squads or other units are dispatched by telephone to deal with it.

5 Contact between units and headquarters. After squads reach the bombing scene, they use the telephone to report the progress of their work to the control center.

6 Exchanging help. If the situation appears to be getting out of control of the local units, requests for help are telephoned to other control centers by commanding officials.

The telephone system affects the safety of all of us. That's why it is vitally important that you do not telephone during or for some time after an air raid alarm, except in cases of extreme urgency. The lines must be kept clear to handle the calls that guard your life and your home.

Youngsters Are 'Big' Bond Buyers

How They Make Money To Help Soldiers

Charles Arnold, 850 Starkweather avenue, is just 12 years old, but notwithstanding his youthful age, he is probably one of Plymouth's most consistent and persistent buyers of war bonds.

Although Charles is only 12, he is already the possessor of three war bonds. But he isn't the only buyer of war bonds in the family.

'Sniff Sets' for Air Raid Precautions

Two savants of Providence, R. I., college, the Rev. Frederick G. Hickey, O.P. and Prof. J. J. Hanley, are manufacturing "sniff sets" of various poison gases that might be used by enemy raiders, so air raid wardens may readily recognize the gases when encountered. At left, Prof. Hanley fills one of the sniff set bottles with mustard gas sample. Center: Father Hickey and his colleague show the correct technique of decontaminating a vertical surface. Right: Creating a miniature lab-explosion to show what can happen by putting chloride of lime alone and undiluted on gas for decontamination purposes. Chloride should be mixed with earth and water.

Ask Deer Hunters To Save Fat

Possible To Provide Many Tons For Army
 Michigan deer hunters could contribute 150 tons of fats for the manufacture of explosives if six pounds of fat from each of 50,000 deer was salvaged, and the Michigan Salvage committee is already preparing to set up collection facilities. As tentatively proposed, the collection system would begin with the individual hunter, who would be urged to save kidney and other fat ordinarily discarded when deer are dressed out, and put it in a paper sack. More raw fat from the back becomes available when the carcass is cut up. These raw fats may be collected by sportsmen's clubs and deposited in fat depots established by county salvage committees in coal storage plants. From these depots it would be collected and taken to rendering plants in Detroit, Coldwater, Kalamazoo, Mt. Pleasant, Holland, Marshall, Green Bay and Chicago. The state conservation department has found there is no legal impediment to disposing of deer fat in this fashion, and is planning to advise trappers to turn in ordinarily discarded carcasses of fur bearers, for rendering in the same fashion. Cooked fats from game may be sold along with other kitchen greases to the local meat dealers, department officials say.

Joe Schomberger Home On Furlough

Joe Schomberger, former manager of the Schrader-Haggerty baseball club of Plymouth, who is serving in Uncle Sam's Army as a top sergeant, has been home from Sioux City, Iowa, for a brief vacation. He returned to service Thursday, but has no idea where he will be assigned after his return to the Army. Joe declares that Uncle Sam is building up some army.

One could never get better food and better clothes than we are provided. We have everything we want to at, and more, too," says Joe. Tuberculosis is increasing in all warring countries. The 1942 Christmas seal, which goes on sale November 23, will fight to prevent such a rise in this country. In giving, a man receives more than he gives, and the more is in proportion to the worth of the thing given.—George MacDonald.

GIVE MICHIGAN FARMERS THE PROTECTION OF A PROPER TRIBUNAL

Selfish non-farmer interests seek PERSONAL FINANCIAL GAIN at the EXPENSE OF THE FARMERS by stopping it from becoming a law.

20 STATES NOW HAVE MILK MARKETING LAWS

Most large markets with interstate milk sheds have FEDERAL REGULATION. The MICHIGAN ACT provides STATE REGULATION only in markets where 51% of either the PRODUCERS or the DEALERS or a group of CONSUMERS PETITION FOR STATE REGULATION. The ACT is designed to guarantee uniform minimum prices to producers—uniform minimum buying prices for the Dealers and an ample supply of SAFE MILK for Consumers, wherever the Act is operating. No EXPENSE falls on producer, dealer or consumer where the act is NOT IN EFFECT—and no producer is forced by this act to join any co-op or association. KEEP THESE SELFISH INDIVIDUALS FROM PROFITING AT THE DAIRY FARMERS' EXPENSE.— UPHOLD YOUR STATE LEGISLATURE — VOTE YES—NOV. 3—VOTE YES REFERENDUM NO. 3
