No Gas Rationing Before Dec. 1st Uncle Sam Tells Car Drivers

Nine more days have been added to the joys of pleasure riders before Uncle Sam places all automobiles under a gas rationing restrictions. The date has been delayed from November 22 to December 1—which gives 17 full days for unlimited use of tires and gas before rationing. Deer hunters are the most pleased because it gives them a chance to make their long trips and get home before the crack-down.

The air warden class taught by Mr. Bowdler finished with 26 wardens completing the course, according to Chief Air Warden Floyd Eckles. All air wardens should have been finger-printed, should have passed their air warden course, and should have completed Course I in First Aid to qualify for certificates.

Mrs. Mildred Barnes and Mrs. Russell Powell represented Plymouth at the Tank Dedication ceremonies and at the luncheon at the Book-Cadillac hotel afterward.

The Plymouth Defense Council held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, November 10, with the following members present: Secretary Arno Thompson, Dr. Peck, George Smith, Elton Eaton, Floyd Eckles, Mrs. John Blickenstaff, Clarence Elliott, Mildred Barnes, Ruth Whipple and Robert Jol. Monday Evening

Mrs. J. O. Walker, newly elected president of the Detroit conference Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church, will be the guest speaker at the third session of the 1942 Plymouth-Northville School of Religion at the Plymouth Presbyterian church Monday, November 16. She will speak on "Our Good Neighbors."

The school meets at 7:30 p. m. on Monday evening. Classes in American Religion, American Social Problems, American Good Neighbors, and The Churches and the Peace are held from 7:30 to 8:30. There is a group recreation period between 8:20 and 8:30. At 8:40 there is a brief worship period at which Mrs. Walker will speak.

The recreation period will be led this week by Reverend J. W. McCracken, director of Christian Education for the Michigan Synod of the Presbyterian church.

A splendid group of leaders from the churches in and around Plymouth and Northville are participating in the school this year. The examination of the Christian basis of our country and our civilization is proving popular with a large group of our Christian leaders.

Robbers Blow Gas Station Safe Petz Place In Northville Robbed

Robbers sometime Monday night broke into the gas service station located across from the Ford factory in Northville, and blew the safe open and stole over $200 in cash as well as a large number of pay checks.

The station is owned by William Petz, a former resident of Plymouth.

The explosion blew the safe door off. The job apparently was done by safe cracking experts. Northville police or the sheriff's office have no clue.

Do Christmas Mailing Now, Urges Postmaster

Harry Irwin Asks
Cooperation Of Postal Patrons

"Do your Christmas mailing early—and that means right now," stated Postmaster Harry Irwin yesterday when he began preparations for the annual Christmas rush that has already started, weeks ahead of the usual time.

"We have been advised that the postoffice department in Washington now is starting the most gigantic task in its history—the movement of a deluge of Christmas parcels, cards and letters while maintaining the regular flow of millions of pieces of mail daily to and from our armed forces all over the world," he said.

Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. Already in September, latest month for which figures are available, retail sales had reached a level second only to the record month of December, 1941, according to the Department of Commerce. And sales are rising. Such heavy purchases always presage heavy mailings.

If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly. The best efforts of the postoffice department alone cannot be enough, in view of wartime difficulties faced by the postal system. The public must assist.

About 25,000 experienced postal workers already have been taken by the war services. Arrangements are under way to add thousands of temporary personnel to postal staffs, but this man power is hard to find and is inexperienced. Facilities of railroads and air lines are heavily taxed by movements of huge quantities of war materials and personnel. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain. Winter weather, hampering transportation, is beginning.

The free-mailing privilege granted to members of the armed forces has raised their mailings some 30 per cent, it is estimated. Expansion of those forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden.

The deadline already is past for mailing gifts to Army and Navy personnel overseas with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas. The New York office reports that in late October, 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone. The postoffice department is making strenuous efforts to avoid such a terrific jam as it faced in 1918 under similar conditions, during the first World War. It can succeed in those efforts—and avoid many heartaches for its patrons—if the public will cooperate by mailing early.

Adds Line of Cut Flowers Sunrise Bird Shoppe Enlarges

Announcement is made elsewhere in this issue of The Plymouth Mail of the addition of a complete line of fresh cut flowers by the Sunrise Bird and Flower Shoppe on Main street.

The store, operated by Stewart H. Dodge Jr. and his cousin, Fred W. Putt, has featured love birds, canaries, miniature aquariums and potted plants. The new line of flowers added this week will afford Plymouth shoppers the opportunity of securing fresh blooms in the downtown district for the first time since the former Rosebud Flower Shoppe closed over a year ago.

In addition to the flowers the store has added a complete line of miniature pottery for the planting of cactus plants and indoor vines. As a special opening feature this Saturday the store is giving a beautiful rosebud corsage free to every lady who makes a dollar purchase.

To Direct Drive For Uncle Sam's Silk and Ray Needs

MRS. FRANK TERRY
She has been named chairman in direct charge of the hosiery drive that will start in Plymouth Monday. Her work will become permanent, as there will be a constant collection of worn silk and rayon stockings, as well as old rag Uncle Sam needs so badly.

Next Collection Of Tin, Nov. 21

Mrs. Willoughby
To Head Committee

Saturday, November 21 has been fixed as the next date for the collection of old tins in the city of Plymouth. Mrs. Robert Willoughby will have direct charge of the tin drive in the future.

Her appointment by Mildred Barnes as chairman of the committee to direct the tin collection campaign, was approved Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Plymouth Defense council.

Mrs. Barnes, general chairman of the salvage committee, in announcing the appointment of Mrs. Willoughby, stated that she was following the general policy of that state organization to break down into various divisions the work of the salvage committee. Due to the resignation of William Hartman as chairman of the scrap metal committee, it will be necessary for this vacancy to be filled at an early date.

Blind Attorney To Practice Here Becomes Associated With Dunbar Davs

Announcement was made this week by Attorney Dunbar Davs that Nardino Perlongo of Detroit will become his associate in the practice of law in the Penniman-Allyn theatre building. Mr. Perlongo, blind since the age of four, is a graduate of the Michigan State college and received his law degree at the University of Michigan some seven years ago.

Since admission to the bar he has been attorney for the Wayne County Bureau of Social Aid and during the last two years he has been serving in the same position for the Lansing bureau.

Mr. Perlongo's affliction has proved no barrier in his practice of law. He takes notes in Braille and makes reports for his cases in the same system. He is a capable typist and employs a stenographer to read him decisions from statute books. He expects to take up permanent residence with his wife here in the immediate future.

Just One Cup of Coffee - Lorenz

That's All Club
Members Will Get

Just one little cup of coffee—that's all members of the luncheon clubs of Plymouth are going to get from now on down at the Mayflower hotel. Manager Ralph Lorenz declares that the hotel's most "liberal" policy in "filling 'em up" again is a thing of the past.

"There was a time when we passed the coffee pot around two or three times—but no more. Rotarians and Kiwanians must be content with just one cup in the future. I'm not so sure that we will be able to serve one cup of coffee to everybody, from reports we hear from coffee dealers. They say there is enough on hand for the present, but how long it is going to last, they do not know," states Manager Lorenz.

Coach Company Asks Cooperation Of Its Patrons

Also Gives Detail
Schedule Of
The School Buses

Every effort is being put forth by officials and employees of the Plymouth Coach company to take care of the sudden increase in passenger business that has resulted in recent weeks from the curtailment of automobile traffic.

Not only is an effort being made to take care of the large increase in business, but to establish a time schedule that will be followed as closely as it was before present conditions developed.

Probably no transportation system in Michigan has more careful drivers than those employed by the Plymouth Coach company. It is due to the alertness and the carefulness of the drivers that in the more than 15 years of regular service the company has never experienced a serious accident.

Complaints at the present time by some people about overcrowding of buses are something beyond the control of any transportation company. A railway transportation, as well as bus lines have been called upon to meet unusual demands without being able to provide additional facilities.

It is urged that people come to a full realization that if they insist on traveling, they must face inconveniences.

Plymouth Coach company drivers say that patrons of their lines are cooperating in a most pleasing way to present day traffic. (Continued on page 8)

Mayor Charges Mis-Statements Says Opposition Didn't Give Facts

November 11, 1942
To the citizens of Plymouth:

In their attempt to secure a majority vote for State Proposal No. 2, the so-called Home Rule Amendment, some of the metropolitan newspapers made many mis-statements. In this short article it is impossible to answer all of them. However, the citizens of Plymouth are entitled to know the truth about the three direct attacks on the integrity of one of their elected officials.

1. It was charged that a reported "county slush fund" was being used to pay the expenses of Mrs. Whipple in traveling about the state on a speaking tour against Proposal No. 2. The truth is that I paid every penny of my own expense and used my own car for every speaking engagement except Port Huron, Highland Park and Adrian. To those three places I was taken by friends whose names will be furnished on request. I did not receive one penny for any part of my work against Proposal No. 2.

2. It was charged that the reported county slush fund (which didn't exist except in the minds of one newspaper) also paid for my radio time. This is equally false. The radio time was paid for by the committee on representation government working against Proposal No. 2. I was sure of the integrity of the group paying for the broadcast, before I agreed to speak.

3. It was charged that I financed all of the advertising against Proposal No. 2 in the foreign (Continued on page 8)

Webb Lott, Hero of Last World War, Back In Hospital

Since the day he was gassed in the last World War, fate has not been kind to Webb Lott. Incapacitated when overcome by German gas, as he was fighting in a front line trench, he was sent to a hospital in France where he lingered at the point of death for months.

When sufficiently recovered, he was returned to a hospital on this side—and finally discharged from service. He has never been able to work since his return from the war.

Tuesday, when starting to go up a stairway to a barber shop, he stumbled, fell and fractured an arm. Plymouth police officers saw it that he was hurried to the Veterans hospital at Dearborn where his injury was given immediate medical attention. A physical giant when he entered the services of the army, he has lived the life of an invalid since the day he offered all for his country.

Deer Hunters Start Northward License Total Under Last Year's

Plymouth's army of deer hunters, from present prospects, will be somewhere near 50 less in number than it was last year, unless there is a last minute rush which might increase the total to more than 124, where it stood just before press time.

Last year there were nearly 200 licenses issued in Plymouth. Up to the present time and with two days to go before the season opens, there has been issued in Plymouth 124 deer hunting permits.

Boyer's Haunted Shack ran out of licenses on Monday, leaving the Plymouth Hardware store on Liberty street and the Western Auto Supply the only two places in Plymouth where licenses could be secured. Manager Horn was not sure whether he would receive any more before the season opened. But licenses are not the only (Continued on page 8)

Uncle Sam Needs Silk, Nylon

Seven Stocking 'Depots'
Will Be Set Up In Plymouth Stores

Ladies!
Prepare!
Uncle Sam is after your hosiery!

No, not the good one that hasn't a run in it. But he wants every stocking you've got that has a run in it! Maybe that cute little big toe that stuck out through the end of your pump last summer had a toe nail so sharp that it cut a hole in the end of your stocking.

Yes, Madame, even if the stocking has a hole in the toe, Uncle Sam doesn't care. He wants "holey" stockings, too.

Mrs. Mildred Barnes, chairman of the Plymouth salvage committee, and Mrs. Russell Powell, chairman of the Plymouth township committee, have announced that the big drive in this vicinity to collect hosiery for Uncle Sam will start Monday.

Mrs. Frank Terry has been appointed and has accepted the chairmanship of the hosiery drive campaign. She will work in cooperation with the other groups that have handled much of the salvage work up to the present time.

The government needs every old silk or nylon stocking that can be found—and Mrs. Terry urges the women of Plymouth and vicinity to put forth a special effort to make the collection in this city the largest of any city of its size in the state.

The materials from which they are made are vital to the nation's war needs.

The silk is used for the making of powder bags to hold the firing charge in guns of large calibre, the size that sinks German submarines and Jap warships. The stockings do not have to be pure silk. Even stockings with mixed materials are good.

The two energetic Plymouth women who made such a wonderful success of the recent scrap drive are going to make it easy for Plymouth ladies to donate their stockings to the government.

Letters have been mailed out to members of the same city and township committees that did such excellent work in the recent scrap drive.

For your convenience, the committee has set up several stocking "depots" throughout the city where any time on Monday or after, you can leave (Continued on page 8)

It's good economy to conserve and salvage old paint brushes, according to recommendations from the agricultural engineering department at Michigan State college. First step, if the bristles are not broken, is to soak out old paint with brush cleaner or if not too hard, with gasoline or turpentine. After the old paint is softened, it should be scraped off with a putty knife and brushes washed in warm but mild laundry suds. Bristles should be straightened out before completely dry and the reconditioned brush wrapped loosely in heavy paper until further use.

You and I by CHARLES S. KINNISON

THE LIVING-ROOM FLOWER
I like the fragrant cheerful bloom
Of flowers in my living-room.
I care not what its kind may be,
I find it always good to see.

When skies are dark and days are drear,
It adds a touch of gentle cheer.
To look on it, so bright and fine,
Discouraged thoughts can scarce be mine.

It seems to me a ray of hope
When I, perchance, in darkness grope.
It blooms awhile, then fades and dies,
But yet, it stands before my eyes

A symbol fine that I, while here,
May give to life a touch of cheer—
That though I'm here for just a while,
I, too, may give to life a smile.

FOUR SCORE AND THREE

FOOD MERCHANT TO THE NATION FOR 83 YEARS

Celebrating our

ANNIVERSARY

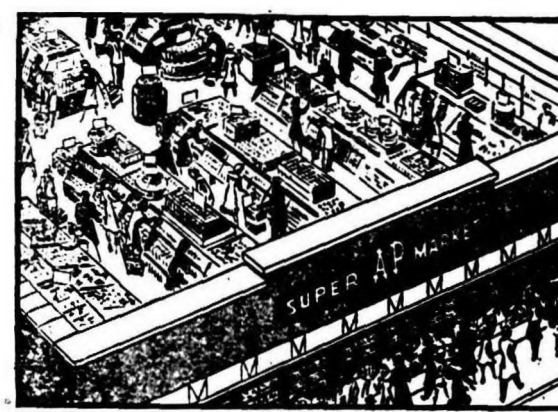

1859

"To sell nothing but fine foods... and to sell them at the lowest possible price." This has been A&P's credo for 83 years, ever since this principle was laid down by A&P's Founder in the first store in 1859

Thousands of customers are profiting every day by A&P's 83 years of food retailing experience gained over a span of more than four score years of peace, and four major wars. Every marketing efficiency learned since 1859 has helped establish A&P's reputation for thrift. Producers, growers, and packers, recognize A&P's insistence on fine quality, and every short cut to economy has been weighed, tested, and used. It's A&P's 83d Anniversary and each year has meant further business efficiencies—more elimination of handling costs and narrowing the margin between what the consumer pays and the producer receives. Now, more than ever, A&P is geared to such wartime efficiency, government cooperation and consequent consumer benefits. Come in today. See for yourself.

After 83 years... A&P Self-Service Markets, now the nation's leading Food Department Stores, still operate on the principle of "to sell nothing but fine foods... and to sell them at the lowest possible price."

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, November 15. The Golden Text (Romans 8:19) is: "The earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Romans 8: 14,16): "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God." Corollaries passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 336): "Immortal man was and is God's image or idea, even the infinite expression of infinite Mind, and immortal man is coexistent, and coeternal with that Mind."

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE. Holbrook at Pearl. Robert A. North, pastor. "We didn't quit, reach our attendance goal last Sunday, but otherwise the day proved to be one of great blessing. The evening service was especially good, several coming to the altar for prayer. Our service for next Sunday is as follows: Bible school 10:00; morning worship 11:00; young people, 6:30; evening worship at 7:30. A hearty invitation is extended to all to attend these services. Come and worship with us and we will do these good. We are looking forward to some special services beginning November 24. The Nesseth-Hopson Party from Carthage, Missouri will be with us. They are outstanding musicians and play many instruments. Their own miniature piano and solo-vox, electric vibra-harp, electric Hawaiian guitar, electric Spanish guitar and piano accordion. You will want to hear these wonderful musicians and singers. Watch for our notice next week.

CHURCH OF GOD, 333 North Main street. In the face of the world's conflict and chaos, we realize more than ever before the need of the inner man, and so let us be reminded by the poet, "God only is the creature's home, though rough and straight the road; Yet nothing else can satisfy The love that longs for God." We invite you to worship with us, where the gospel is preached in its fullness and you will always find a warm atmosphere of fellowship. Morning worship, 9:45 a.m.; church school, 10:45 a.m.; Y.P. services, 6:30 p.m.; evangelistic, 7:30 p.m. Mid-week prayer and healing service, Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. Rev. L. D. Wright, 40162 Gilbert street, pastor. Telephone 621-W.

NEWBURG METHODIST church.—Verle J. Carson, minister, 9614 Newburg road, Plymouth 860W4. Sunday morning worship at 10:00 a.m. Message—"To Whom Shall We Turn?" Sunday school at 11:00 a.m. Mr. Don Ryder, superintendent. Classes for everyone. We are welcome. Intermediate League meets at 6:30 p.m. Monday, November 16—Third session of the Plymouth-Northville School of Religion at the Plymouth Presbyterian church. Classes begin at 7:30 p.m. The speaker will be Mrs. J. O. Walker, newly elected president of the Detroit Conference W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church. Tuesday, 7:00 p.m. Scouts meet at the church at 7:00 p.m.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.—George W. Rothery, minister. We rejoice over the exceeding abundance of the grace of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, but do we appreciate this grace as we ought? Grace is a gift and naturally all gifts should be appreciated; however, one may be prone to believe that our appreciation for this gift is meager in the light of its greatness. With the thought of appreciation in mind we have chosen for the sermon-topic of the Morning Worship, "Giving Unto The Lord." We trust that everyone will make a special effort to attend this service of worship. The sermon-topic of the evening will be "Christian Love," a lesson from the ministry of the apostle Paul. The Baptist Young People's Union of the church will meet for an inspirational service at the 6:30 p.m. hour. They will go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson, 312 North Holbrook, following the evening service. Here we will enjoy a season of Christian fellowship and inspiration. The Ladies' Aid of the church will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ligand on Ross avenue. We cordially invite you to the regular mid-week service of prayer held each Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the church. Come Sunday, bring a friend!

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH. T. Leonard Sanders, minister. Mrs. M. J. O'Conner, director of music. 10:00, church school with classes for all. Wesley Kaiser, superintendent. 11:00, Morning Devotions. Subject: "Silver and Gold Have I None." Each week the Protestant chaplain at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Alabama holds two Sunday morning services for air-cadets, each attended by 1500 men. Roy Smith, editor of the Christian Advocate said: "It was an inspiration to hear these American lads sing 'O God, Our Help in Ages Past' and 'Fairest Lord Jesus.' EVERY MAN WAS SINGING. Hundreds singing from memory." We today need to sing the great hymns of the church and find help in the sanctuary. COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY, 6:30. Methodist Youth Fellowship Hour. Devotions, Address and pictures by George Smith, 7:30. Youth Social Hour, Monday, 7:30.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH. Holbrook and Hardinberg. Lynn B. Stout, pastor. There used to be an old Methodist expression—"Heartfelt Religion." Where has the expression gone? Rather, where has that religion gone? "Tis The Old Time Religion and Good Enough For Me." Then on Monday night, November 16 and again Wednesday night, November 18, (next week) Rev. Carl Warner will bring two stirring messages. Rev. Warner has for a number of years been associated with the Christian and Missionary Alliance in China, and Netherlands, East Indies. At the outbreak of war he was stationed in Malaya, and was driven down ahead of the Japanese to Singapore, being evacuated amidst bursting shells and sinking boats from that port. ST. PETER'S EV. LUTHERAN Church. Edgar Hoenecke, pastor. Morning service 10:30 a.m. Sunday school 9:30 a.m. Holy Communion, Sunday, November 15, 10:30 a.m. Thanksgiving service, 4:00 a.m. Amid all our dissatisfaction and grumbling about conditions today, if we are absolutely honest, we must admit that we owe our Gracious Father in Heaven endless praise and thanksgiving for the precious gifts we possess in this beloved land of ours—politically, economically and spiritually.—And He has preserved them intact for us amid all the present confusion! Apparently, He is even now disposing so that our armed forces are prevailing victoriously against the assaults of the enemy.—Shall there be any one, one singly, isolated individual among us, who will fail to go to the House of the Lord on Thanksgiving Day and there bow in humble, appreciative recognition of this undeserved blessing? Let us not forget that ingratitude is the ruin of a nation! The safety of our nation is still precariously threatened—let us not lightly and blasphemously imagine that the cleverness of our planning and the mere strength of our arms can get us a victory, either a military or moral one, without the benediction of our Lord! "Come before His presence with Thanksgiving!"

Dates Mixed a Bit On First Snowfall

"It was a wet, slippery snow" that fell on November 7, 1931—that accounts for the slip made in The Plymouth Mail two weeks ago when it was reported that last year's first snow storm did not come until early in December.

Mrs. Fred Wagonschutz, who keeps a careful diary of all important events reported in The Mail, read the news item two weeks ago about the early snowfall in October in which it was said that it was much earlier than last year, when the first snow fell in December. "Let's see what the record says of what The Plymouth Mail says" said Mrs. Wagonschutz to herself. She was right—last year's first snow fall in Plymouth was on November 7 instead of in December—but it was a "wet, slippery snow," therefore Ye Editor has a good alibi for slipping a bit on dates.

Michigan's honey bees get a share in the sugar rationing. According to R. H. Kelly, extension specialist in beekeeping at Michigan State college, rationing authorities will release as much as 10 pounds per colony if such food is needed to keep bees alive through the winter. Bees are needed to insure pollinating of fruit blossoms in 1943 for a good fruit crop.

Canton Cuts Its State Senator

Stanley Nowak Runs Behind Gerald L. K.

Residents of Canton township, when it comes to politics, are pretty free and independent. They are substantial citizens—and strictly American. Americans one hundred percent.

In the spring elections they generally vote Democratic. In the fall elections the township generally goes pretty much Republican.

This fall there were some 170 straight Democratic votes—except in the case of the state senator from that district.

If Stanley Nowak, Democratic senator from the adjoining district, had to depend upon the Democrats of Canton township for votes, he wouldn't have enough to put in one corner of his left eye.

Senator Nowak is reported to be somewhat of a fellow traveler with the Communists of Detroit.

These substantial farmer voters of Canton just don't like Communists or anybody who has anything to do with them.

When the votes were counted out in Canton after the last election, it was found that Senator Nowak had only 23 votes out of the nearly 400 votes cast in the township. The average vote for all other Democrats on the ticket was something like 170.

Nowak's Republican opponent, a fellow named Hawkins known to exceedingly few people in the township, had 319 votes. Even Gerald L. K. Smith had more votes than Nowak. He had 32.

Weddings

HOCKENBERRY-VERNON

Miss Doris Hockenberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hockenberry of this city, was united in marriage to Arthur Vernon, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Vernon, also of Plymouth, at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, November 10 at the Nazarene church. Rev. Robert North read the service.

The bride was dressed in a white satin gown made with a fitted waist line, short puffed sleeves, sweetheart neckline and very full skirt of illusion. Her double veil was finger tip length and was caught to a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of small white chrysanthemums and pink rose buds.

Miss Yvonne Sawyer of Plymouth was maid of honor, wearing a gown of pink satin. Her bouquet was pink chrysanthemums and pink roses.

The bride groom was attended by Eugene Nicols of Plymouth as best man.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Eastside drive. A three tiered wedding cake centered the table, which was covered with a hand crocheted lace cloth, made by the bride's mother.

Only the relatives and close friends of the family were present.

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon will be at home to their many friends at 11469 Eastside drive in Plymouth.

The bride groom expects to enter the service soon.

McINTOSH-McCALLUM

The Methodist church of Plymouth was the scene, Saturday evening of the wedding of Miss Bonnie Jean McIntosh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delos McIntosh of Flint, and sister of Mrs. Wayne Smith of Plymouth, and Sergeant Clinton McCallum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McCallum of Oxford. The service was read in candlelight by the Rev. T. Leonard Sanders. Only the immediate families and close friends of the young couple were present. The altar was decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums and plams which made an impressive setting for the ceremony.

The bride wore a steel blue wool dress with brown accessories and corsage of white bebe mums and pink rosebuds.

Miss Jacquelyn Moyer of Detroit, and Charles Smith of Detroit were the attendants. Miss Moyer wore a dress in gold wool with brown accessories and corsage of white bebe mums and yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. McIntosh wore a blue crepe dress while Mrs. McCallum wore a plum colored crepe. Both wore black accessories and a corsage of white bebe mums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith on Roosevelt avenue, Maplecroft, where decorations were in patriotic colors.

Mr. and Mrs. McCallum left that evening for St. Louis, Missouri where the bridegroom is staff sergeant at Jefferson Barracks. The bride is a graduate nurse having finished her training in the Hurley hospital in Flint, in June. Sergeant McCallum is a graduate of Oxford high and Cleary college, in Ypsilanti.

Guests were present from Detroit, Bay City, Flint, North Branch, Oxford, Northville and Plymouth.

New Dates Fixed For Gas Card Registration

the delay in putting rationing into force, principal among them being the lack of sufficient A and B blanks, due to the glut in the government printing office and the fact that the majority of car owners have not as yet turned in their old tires. Based upon sample district tests, it is thought that only one-fourth of the tires that will eventually be turned in before ration books are issued have been turned in so far. It is estimated that at least 160,000 tires remain in this area and as a car owner cannot get a gasoline ration book until these tires have been turned over to the American Railway Express, the government wishes to give every car owner the opportunity to get his tires on the way to the government before rationing starts.

In this connection it is well for the car owner to realize that by trying to cheat on this tire turn-in program by hoarding an extra casing or two, he will only cheat himself. It is known that the new Victory tire is now in production by the large rubber companies and it is believed that these tires will be ready for essential workers not later than February 1, 1943.

Present plans call for a production of one million tires a month by the first of the year and these, with the remaining tires still in our national stock pile, plus the used tires being turned in which can be re-issued to those needing tires "as is" or after being re-capped, will give the American motoring public sufficient tires to take care of all essential driving until the general public will be able to get new synthetic tires which will be sometime early in 1944 according to Rubber Czar Jeffers.

Another misconception of the reason for gasoline rationing should by this time have been cleared up in the minds of the public, that gasoline rationing is being imposed to save transportation of all kinds until new tires will be available to all and not to save gasoline. That some otherwise well informed people still haven't understood the basic reason for rationing was in evidence last Monday night when those who will act as recorders for the rationing program were being instructed in their duties. One of those in attendance asked if it would be possible to get gasoline for a power driven lawn mower. First off, refineries state that there is ample supply of gasoline to take care of all civilian needs as well as our war program. The critical shortage is in rubber, man power and transportation facilities, particularly the latter. Engines, not in vehicles, will be served.

Unless some catastrophe occurs, producing facilities which are now under construction will give us a greater supply of synthetic rubber than we have ever used of the natural rubber in our greatest production years. With careful hand-ling, we have plenty of tires and reclaim to take care of the tire needs of every vehicle owner if his driving is restricted to just the necessary driving with all pleasure driving eliminated for the next 18 months.

Men, however, experienced men, are becoming a premium on today's production market and for every tire that is wantonly wasted and for every part that is used up in unnecessary driving, our total war effort suffers.

Put transportation is the real bottleneck of our war effort at this time and will continue to be until victory. Both the railroads and the common carrier bus and truck lines are now loaded to near their limit of capacity. Director Joseph Eastman of the Office of Defense Transportation is authority for the statement that these common carriers would be hopelessly swamped if they had to assume the additional burden of only five percent of the freight and passengers that are now carried in privately owned automotive vehicles.

That is why it is the desire and the intention of the government to keep every car and truck that is needed to transport people or commodities running for the duration. That is why it is not only foolish but hazardous to our war effort to allow any one person to wear out his rubber and vehicle as he sees fit and then throw the burden of that transportation on an already overloaded common carrier. Saving rubber and vital automotive parts is not an effort by the government to tell the people what they can and cannot do but an effort to prevent the stupidly selfish minority from making the rest of the people suffer by their desire to continue "high living as usual."

Essential use of their automobile by people of this class will shortly become as unpat-riotic as the wilful destruction of any other product vital to the war effort. And as every car owner must register each tire he retains for his car, the hoarders will find that they will not be able to use any tires they hide. There is no way to erase the serial numbers on tires from the government if they desire to know what the original number was. Either X-ray or an acid treatment will bring out the original number on the casing just as it will with a metal, regardless of how painstaking the effort to obliterate it. Incidentally, the penalty for falsifying a report to the Federal Government is very stiff as each report will note on his rationing blank.

An advanced plant which turns out 1,000,000 pounds of war gas as a by-product and out of 18,000,000 pounds of materials or about 30 500 freight cars.

Coach Company Asks Cooperation Of Its Patrons

fic appreciation. The drivers are most appreciative of the spirit of the people.

One of the big problems right now is caring for the greatly in-creased number of children at-tending the Plymouth schools. The officials of the Plymouth Coach have even gone so far as to request the manager of the Greyhound lines in Pontiac to assist in the transportation of school children.

Children living around the Cherry Hill and Ford road vicin-ity are now able to take the re-turning Greyhound bus from Willow Run as far as the high school. All that the children have to do is to wave the driver down and he will stop and pick them up. The fare has been fixed at 10 cents.

Five Mile road—For the con-venience of school children the Plymouth Coach company ad-vice that a bus leaves Middle Belt and Five Mile roads at 8 o'clock in the morning, arriving at the Plymouth high school at 8:26 a.m. This bus goes straight Five Mile road to Bradner road, to Schoolcraft road, right to Northville road, then left to Plymouth high school. Then this bus goes back to Haggerty high-way and picks up the smaller school children who do not have to leave on the first bus.

Six Mile road—A bus leaves the corner of Six Mile and Middle Belt road at 8 a.m. and goes to Five Mile road, turns east on Five Mile to Inkster, right on Inkster to Plymouth road, then turns right on Plymouth road and picks up students for Plym-outh high school.

Plymouth road—The bus leaves

- Telegraph road on Plymouth road at 8 o'clock and comes straight to the Plymouth high school on Plymouth road.

It has just been announced that there will be additional ser-vice provided for school purposes. The bus that goes out South Main street to Joy road, will continue down Ann Arbor road to Hag-gerty highway, then north on Haggerty highway to Robinson sub-division, then return to the high school on Ann Arbor Trail.

This is for both morning and af-ternoon service. A similar trial was made on this route once be-fore, but it was discontinued be-cause of lack of patronage. An-other trial will be given on this route to see if patronage justifies the route. The bus will start on this route, Monday, morning, November 16. It will leave the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Haggerty highway for the school in the morning at 8:45.

language papers of Detroit. I would have been glad to finance those advertisements and dozens of others to show up the kind of government that Proposal No. 2 would promote, but I didn't have the money. The foreign language groups themselves realizing the seriousness of Proposal No. 2 did their own splendid work against it. The only advertise-ment for which I paid was $2.00, my share of the advertisement in The Plymouth Mail for which the city commission paid out of their pockets because we felt an obligation to let the people of Plym-outh know that they have a $3,000.00 county tax stake in Wayne county government.

I neither paid (except for the $2.00) nor received any money from any source whatsoever in the six-months campaign on Pro-posal No. 2. The hours of work that I put in, the articles that I wrote, and the speeches I gave were all given freely because I honestly believe that the pro-posal was dangerous and bad government. Blind Artist Plays at Assembly

One of the most unusual programs P.H.S. has ever enjoyed was that by Pierce Knox, a blind xylophonist, Mrs. Agnes Swift, a blind transcriber, Miss Cooper who accompanied Pierce Knox, and Mr. H.C. Cooper, who conducted the program, in the school auditorium last Wednesday, November 4.

Mr. Cooper stated, "Only night can bring forth a star," as proof of this Pierce Knox, although he is totally blind, played many selections among which were "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Nolla," the last movements of "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2," and a medley of "Anchors Aweigh," "Marine Hymn," and "The Castles Go Rolling Along." Mrs. Swift, also totally blind, demonstrated the fundamentals of Braille by means of a board with electric lights which illustrated the letters and figures.

Mr. Cooper and his assistants have visited schools all over the United States traveling in a motor car with a trailer to transport the instruments. Through their work the National Subscribers Society is able to pay for the construction of many Braille books which cost about ten dollars a volume. Eighty-two dollars was contributed voluntarily by the students for this cause after they had heard the program.

An average automobile uses eight to nine quarts of anti-freeze mixture in a winter or enough to make 35 pounds of smokeless powder. To fire a 16-inch naval rifle would require the amount used by about 24 cars.

Senior Sketches

Lincoln Steele Hale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Van W. Hale of 11400 McClumpha road, Plymouth. His hobbies are hunting, fishing, trapping and "wolfing." His pet peeves are lipstick and a dull razor. A few of his accomplishments in P.H.S. are one year on the student council, one year on the staff of the Pilgrim Prints, a member of the editorial staff for the Senior Annual, ceiling chairman for the J-Hop, and ceiling chairman for the Senior Prom. Lincoln has fished in all parts of Michigan. His aim in life is to earn a lot of money so he can retire when he's still young enough to spend it.

Beth Honeisel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Honeisel, resides at 232 Blunk avenue. Her hobbies are art, music and aviation. Her pet peeve is sun tan powder. A few of Beth's accomplishments while in P.H.S. are: gaining her music letter, decoration chairman for the Prom and J-Hop, and being a member of Leaders' club. She has traveled in Pennsylvania and in Louisiana, but this took place when Beth was only six months old. Her aim in life is the studying of criminology.

Bette Klingbeil, who came to this school from Bartlett school in her freshman year, lives at 47145 Ford road with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Klingbeil. She has been in the glee club, on the volleyball team, and in the Girl Reserves. She has traveled somewhat in Michigan. Bette stated she likes kittens, basketball and baseball, then rated hypocritical people and childish boys among her pet peeves. She plans to be a bookkeeper, and later on, a housewife.

A future private secretary, Jacqueline Lawson, living at 33701 Richland with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lawson, places people running down other people's reputation, and anklets with high heels among her pet peeves. She was in the glee club for three years. She has traveled in Canada and in Michigan.

Joe Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Martin, lives at 11307 Ingram in Rosedale. Because he is a lover of sports, he plans to become a physical education teacher. He came to this school from Wyandotte when a junior and has been on the tennis team, helping to win the trophy for the school and is on the student council. He has traveled around Michigan and has been to Mackinaw.

Faith Lois Brandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brandt, resides at 11040 Denne Drive in Rosedale Gardens. Faith has done many things for Plymouth High. Some of her accomplishments in school are Girl Reserves, 3 years; Library club, 2 years, music, 4 years; J-Hop committee, all sports, 1,000 point letter, Pilgrim Prints, and she is now editor of the Senior Annual while her hobbies are music and sports. When asked what her aim in life is she she was undecided. By the way, her "pet peeve" is "Girls who insist on wearing slacks and jodhpurs to school."

18-Year-Old Draft Discussed in Hi-Y

The Hi-Y started their winter program of discussions last Wednesday noon when Mr. Dykhouse spoke on "The Eighteen-Nineteen Year Old Draft." He surmised that the boys would be able to finish the semester in which they become eighteen. He stated the suggested requirements for entering the Navy, such as three years of mathematics, and three years of English, one year each of physics and chemistry.

When he gave his interpretation of the law and the boys asked questions during the few remaining minutes.

The club has planned to give one half hour each meeting to a discussion. A leader will be appointed and speakers may be called in or someone will give a report and will then open his topic for discussion. Topics were suggested for the talks and a program was worked out.

Juniors Choose Rings and Pins

The class rings for the juniors were chosen last Tuesday. On Thursday samples were on exhibit on the bulletin board near the main entrance. Orders were taken and the minimum deposit was set at $3.00 but $5.00 was favored if possible. In past years the rings were returned in time for Christmas, but this year due to the labor shortage, there will be no delivery until the middle of January. Due to the shortage in material the cost is slightly higher but the quality is the same. With engraving and 10 karat gold, the rings can be ordered in three different sizes, small, medium and large. They will bear the Plymouth High school insignia in blue enamel, but this year no stone can be ordered. Class pins bearing the school's insignia could also be ordered the same day at a slightly higher cost than last year's at $6.75. The deliveries will be handled by the Herrick Jewelry store.

Landmarks Of Plymouth

Two years ago the Daughters of the American Revolution erected a tablet at the location of the old Plymouth toll bridge on the corner of Main and Mill streets.

Back in the times before the modern concrete roads Plymouth and Detroit were connected by a plank road as was lower and upper town. The price of travel on it from Detroit to Plymouth was estimated by the mile while five cents was charged from lower to upper town. After the fees had been paid the keeper of the bridge would lift it to allow the buggy or wagon to pass. The bridge, however, has been replaced by the city limits sign.

Margery Merriam Volunteer Aid

The sophomore women at the University of Michigan have volunteered four to twelve hours each week for work at the University hospital. Although the jobs are not difficult, never the less they are essential because the hospital is already understaffed by the war. A few of the duties performed by the volunteers are putting away linen, sterilizing instruments, running errands, and doing odd jobs the trained nurses have no time to do. Margery Merriam, "41," is one of the chairmen of this project with twelve girls under her in running the volunteer service.

Mrs. Soule's 7B homemaking classes are making holders for the next semester foods class. The 8B clothing classes are making cotton garments.

Mrs. Tefft's 10B English classes are writing various types of themes.

The Home Ec. Club met last Friday to plan the type of work they will do for the war effort.

Mrs. Haar's 9B algebra classes are drawing bar, line, and circle graphs taken from the book "Air-Age Educational Series."

Mr. Hedrick's 9B biology classes are studying the different structures of plants which are our world's supply of food. Experiments were conducted to test for sugar, carbohydrates, and proteins found in our daily diets.

We are wondering how Mr. Latture can handle all of the things he is doing. He managed a defense assembly given before the school Wednesday, November 11. His speech class is working on the play "The Man Without a Country." They are also giving speeches aimed at convincing.

Mrs. Carey's 8A-1 American history class has been spending the week studying our insular possessions in both the Caribbean Sea and the Pacific. During their studies they are making special notes on the history of the islands, their value to the United States, and how they are figuring in the war. Reports were given Thursday and Friday stating the results of the study. Pictures were also shown during the reports to help in the complete understanding of the project.

Mrs. Carey's 8B-1 American history class is preparing two Junior Drama plays, both of which are of a patriotic nature. One of the plays presents the problem of the shortage of consumer material necessary for rationing. The second entitled "For Want of a Nail" brings out where civilians have failed in supporting the boys over seas.

Mrs. Gorton's seventh hour art class is at present working in oils while her first hour class is mastering the difficulties of life, charcoal, chalk and pastel drawing.

The two winning volleyball ball teams, Lois Vetal's junior team and Mary Jane Christensen's freshman team, played the championship game last Monday.

All the chorus classes have completed their ten week's music tests.

The band, after playing for football games, bond drives, governornos, etc., is now preparing concert music for presentation to the public.

Senior Prom Week From Today

Pull out your prettiest formal and your best bow, girls, 'cause the Senior Prom is a week from today.

It sounds really "lucious." The theme of this year's Prom is "Winter Wonderland." The side walls will be done in pastel colors: tints of yellow, blue, pink and green. The back drop for the stage is to be pale blue with a deer skinned against it. The ceiling will be blue and white crepe paper caught on a silver five-pointed star. Under this will be a smaller star while the light will come from between the two. The lunch room, where punch will be served, will be blue and white streamers with a white cellophane tree in the center. The anti-room will be decorated like a hunting lodge. There will be a huge fire place at one end; also various sports equipment, such as skis and ski poles, skates, toboggan and sleds. The seniors realize that there is "a war going on" and so they cut costs by not having any programs whatsoever. The invitations are already in the mail. The music will be furnished by Norm Archer who has been given very high praise. The class has been working hard to give people a good time.

Odds and Ends

Mr. Evans was remarking on the barbaric instincts of the human race. He said it was such a funny thing that when a person got hurt everybody else laughed.

Point—He had just burned himself slightly.

The "Hallowe'en Spirits" of October 31, 1942 were up to a good deal of mischief. Among other things they took Jane Scott's jack-o-lantern from her porch, smashed it, and put it on Virginia Moss's front porch. Wonder who they were.

It seems that some people get in the most peculiar places. Last Wednesday, Joe Brisbois, took him by the shoulders and pushed. It is one of these high baskets and down went Joe. He couldn't budge and the waste basket had to be tipped to pull Joe out. The laughter in the hall from several spectators brought Miss Gravelle to the library door.

The U.S. expects to reach the President's goal of 60,000 military airplanes in 1942 or more than it has produced since the birth of aviation.

Daily Donations By Latin Students

Miss Hearn has placed a box on her desk for penny contributions for the blind. Although the contributions are made by one's own free will, the gum-chewers are required to contribute when they are caught. Miss Hearn also added a clause to this plan that people with a guilty conscience should give at least a penny. As a result of this new ruling in the Latin classes, 62 cents was collected the first day.

The girls held a song meeting last Wednesday.

U. S. production of steel in the first half of 1942 amounted to 42.5 million tons or just a fifth below the output for the full year 1917, the biggest steel year in World War I.

Magic Wand Awakens Students

Mr. Evans, chemistry teacher, warns students that he now has a sure cure for drowsiness during classes. It is a "Magic Wand" charged with electricity, which when placed near a person, emits a spark ruidly ending the student's sleep. The "Magic Wand," it has been reported, has been used in recent years to keep the whole class on their toes, by having them hold hands. Sometimes the odor given off by certain elements makes the pupils drowsy, but the magic wand will end all this.

The "Magic Wand" is in reality a Tesla-tesla coil, which produces a high frequency current when charged with electricity.

Beware Boys!

Many senior boys are asking "Will girls protest if they are taken to the Prom in busses?" "Will they?" That is a question discussed in student hang-outs. The boys are really perplexed and worried for most of their Pop's tires are pretty thin and every time they ask for the car they are given long lectures and frequent refusals. When the boys think it over, they decide it's true and they recall the dates they had with Nancy, Annabel, Doris, and Eunice just last week. So they decide they'll be old cronies for the next two weeks and sit home, making love to Shakespeare, Darwin, and maybe even Cicero. Then next week rolls around and they forget to woo Shakespeare but they are found parked with "Jane."

The week of the Prom arrives and Pop puts his foot down, or should we say feet, and declares in a loud voice, "No, for the ten-thousandth time, you cannot have the car even if it means life or death to you." Then sonny-boy pleads again but Pop shouts, "No, you've had the car six times last week and you're not having it at all this week and that's final, do you hear me?" The next day sonny-boy meets his best girl and sadly asks her if she would mind going to the Prom in a bus. Well this is a blow to the poor girl for she might ruin her new formal and her toedless sandals but she is patriotic and like most girls, she decides it will save rubber and gas to go in a bus. But you senior boys, all girls might not be this considerate, so beware!!

Keeping Up With Plymouth

There are a few things going on around town and school that Yours Truly has been wondering about. One question in particular being asked is: quote, "Why does Irene N. go to the theatre so very often?" unquote. Well, I haven't been able to find out. Why doesn't someone ask her: "Who was that farmer boy seen taking Dorrit S. and her bicycle home from school recently?" The only girl I was able to dig up was that he has been seen several times at Dorrit's house lately.

It seems that Miss Lovewell's English classes have been trying to solve mysteries lately. Why don't we ask Jimmy Baker to solve the two just mentioned. They say he's pretty good at it.

There are two senior girls seen running around all first hour without any shoes on. "Jeri" and Ruth, don't let Mr. Latture know or he may bring back that age old joke about Hitler smelling de-feat.

We noticed at the dance Friday night that the gals were simply too sweet to the fellows. It couldn't be that the Prom is a week from today, could it girls? Speaking of school dances, I think everyone will agree that they surely have improved a lot over last year. I think we have the school board to thank since we can now have graduates and out of town kids.

Slacks are really taboo from the cracks going around school. Why not ask Faith B. and Dorrit S. what they think about them? Say kids, if you want to get some really choice bits of gossip, stand in Blinks some noon. Be sure your cars are open, 'cause you sure will learn a lot.

Junior Play December 3 and 4

The Junior Play "Ever Since Eve" will be presented Thursday and Friday evenings, December 3 and 4 in the high school auditorium. The scene of the play is Clover home in Preston, a small suburban town in the present.

The casts include Mrs. Clover, a brisk competent woman in her forties; essentially domestic, but not at all old-fashioned, played by Margaret Russek and Marian Oldenburg. Mr. Clover, acted by Sanford Burr and Robert Gremm, is a gentle absent-minded man in his late forties, the owner of a prosperous book store. Johnny Clover, seventeen, a studious boy who takes life rather more seriously than most of his classmates, is dramatized by Bill Bakewell and David Johnson. Susan Blake, played by Annabel Heller and Dorothy Carley, is only fifteen, but has caught up in school with young people two or three years older; at the same time, she is still a child in many ways.

Spud Erwin, acted by Bob Deyo and Bill Schoof, is jolly, round-faced and plump. He takes everything in his stride, and has a theory that he is absolutely irresistible where the fairer sex is concerned. Betsy Erwin, dramatized by Ruth Hoysradt and Norma Robinson, is Spud's younger sister, a bubbling, talkative type of girl who knows all the gossip. Martha Willard, played by Esther Mettatal and Geraldine Hix, is a crisp humorous young woman in her early thirties. Henry Quinn, acted by Jack Schoof and Jack Anderson, is the youngest high school principal in the state. He is apt to take himself and his work too seriously, but is nevertheless a nice chap, popular with his pupils.

Preston Hughes, dramatized by Jim Measel, and Bob Elliot, is a school athlete, large, good-looking, a trifle dumb. Because his family has money, he considers himself above the rest. Lucabelle Lee, played by Dorothy Rowland and Dolphine Bogenschutz, is a typical southern bell in the making. Officer Simmons, better known as Cappy, dramatized by Dick Daniel and Stewart Culbertson, is a small-town police officer who has been on the school beat for years.

Carmel Stitt Wins Marygrove Honors

Freshman students at Marygrove college from this area who will receive their caps and gowns at the annual investiture ceremony at the college, November 11 include Carmel Stitt, 387 Spring, of Plymouth.

The investiture service is a part of the college observance of its 32nd anniversary which is observed at the same time as the 97th anniversary of the founding of the teaching order, the Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, which conducts Marygrove. The Rev. James Butler, S. J., chaplain of the college, will confer the academic caps at ceremonies in the college chapel, and juniors will confer the academic gowns upon their freshman sisters. Caps and gowns will be worn by first year students thereafter to all academic functions. Following the investiture service, a program in the college auditorium is planned at which senior girls will trace the history of the college and of the teaching order. There will be a dinner in the evening in the college dining hall at which juniors will be hostesses to the freshmen and to lay faculty members.

One person I have to make good: myself. But my duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying that I have to make him happy—if I may.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Girl Reserve News

The Junior Girl Reserve secretary, Anna Lou Blessing, was forced to resign because she has a job and will work fourth hour. Jane Hood, an active member for some time, has been elected to her place.

The same group of girls is preparing for a Christmas party at the YMCA on December 12. The girls are to stuff animals and dolls; they are to collect buttons for sewing kits and records, and make scrapbooks. Last year the girls started to knit an afghan which this group intend to finish by the end of the year.

The Senior Girl Reserves are also quite busy selling holly wreaths for Christmas. They will use this method to reimburse their treasury.

The girls held a song meeting last Wednesday.

Nut Crops Add To Nation's Food

Urges Everyone To Save This Food

Three hundred million pounds, unshelled, form the total for estimates of the four principal kinds of domestic tree nuts available for food in Michigan and other states from the 1942 crops. Use of the nuts for food variety and for the fat and protein that will substitute for some of that normally obtained from meats is suggested by members of the home economics extension staff at Michigan State college. In fact, the entire nation is urged to utilize the nut crops, featured as a nationwide Victory food special for the period November 9 to 21.

Pecans, English walnuts, almonds and filberts are the principal commercial kinds. Some Michigan families were able to harvest small crops on their own farms.

Half of the commercial supply produced in 1942 comes from the English walnut trees. Pecans rank next in importance by volume with a crop slightly under average. Almonds are more than three times as plentiful as a year ago but fibrous did not produce as much as a year ago but still are nearly double the crop of other recent years.

Tree nuts are considered concentrated food. Proteins and fats as well as vitamins and minerals are contained. As such, the tree nuts are recommended as occasional dietary substitutes for eggs and dairy products. More important, however, is the fat content which ranges between half and two-thirds of the nut, making such a food a primary source of fat. Suggestions for use include sprinkling chopped nuts over salads, use as stuffing and flavor in meats and vegetables and for simple desserts.

New Ways For Women To Help Win War To Be Discussed

New ways that women may help in the war will be suggested by Margaret Culkin Banning, noted author, speaking before the Detroit Town Hall in the Fisher theatre, Wednesday morning, November 18. Mrs. Banning, whose lecture subject is "Women for Defense" is an outstanding example of the modern writer whose mind plays penetratingly over all phases of modern life. Her interests are not limited to writing alone, but embrace politics, world affairs, the role of women in the present and future, problems of employment and education.

Author of a number of novels including "The First Woman," "The Third Son," and "Mixed Marriage" the writer won fame with her "Letters to Susan" and "The Case for Chastity" articles now accepted as classics for youth in schools and homes. She is a member of the Author's League of America, The League of American Voters, and is a Phi Beta Kappa from Vassar College.

Coon Hunters Having Good Luck

Weather Has Made Little Difference

Tireless Plymouth hunters who chase 'coons on frosty nights to the "music" of well trained hounds are likely to find the raccoons more numerous this season than last in the creek bottoms and lake margins, according to the signs, as conservation department game men read them.

Pre-season live-trapping at both Swan Creek and Rose Lake wildlife experiment stations has indicated a greater abundance this season of these animals important both for sport and as furbearers. Relatively good crops on important nut trees, such as the blackoaks, give assurance the 'coons will be well fattened and in good condition. In farmland areas they fatten on waste corn left in fields also.

The 'coon season got off to a slow start in some parts of southern Michigan where hunters may be waiting for colder weather. 'Coon hunting is reported good west of Plymouth, Cass county, and as far north as Crawford county some unusually large 'coons have been taken already. Last year in the November 1-December 15 hunting season hunters took more than 36,000 animals while trappers collected a few more than 7,000 pelts in trapping seasons set at November 15-December 15 in northern lower Michigan and December 1-15 in southern lower Michigan.

Plan Now For 1943 Gardening

State College Tells What To Do Now

Tag ends of the 1942 Victory garden can be tied up for the season and some of the preparations for that 1943 garden can be started before severe winter.

Suggestions of P. H. Bowser, vegetable gardening specialist on the Michigan State College extension staff, indicate some of the jobs.

Extra vegetables should be put into proper storage for winter consumption. Root crops ought to be dug. A house basement with no heat, hotbeds or cold frames, buried barrels or outside pits and trenches can be utilized for storage. Most vegetables, Bowser explains, keep best when stored between 34 and 40 degrees Fahrenheit in moist conditions with some ventilation.

Onions require a cool, dry storage with good ventilation. Only mature and sound onions should be stored.

For 1943, Bowser suggests preparation now. If gardens were bothered by insects and disease, crop remnants should be cleaned up. If possible, a new garden spot should be selected for next year.

Fertilizer supplies are to be curtailed. Many gardeners can store up an extra plant food supply by making compost piles of leaves, manure, straw, tankage and peat. Composts mixed with manure can be mixed up this fall with superphosphate at the rate of one pound of phosphate to 10 pounds of manure, plus the composting material. Next spring this material can be spread over the garden soil at the rate of one pound to 10 square feet of garden surface. Worked in well, the material puts thriftiness into garden plants, makes cultivation easier and conserves moisture for plant use.

The law provides for the sale of deer hides but the price paid to hunters will do little more than cover the cost of shipping the hide to the tannery. The hunter's compensation for preparing and sending in the hide is the knowledge that he is doing his bit for the war effort in this respect. While buckskin is not likely to be used directly in military equipment, it will release other leather for use by the armed forces.

To get a deer hide to the tannery in good condition, the skin should be well salted with coarse salt, rolled in a tight bundle with the hair side out, labelled with a tag obtained from the local conservation officer, and shipped promptly. No deer hide may be shipped legally without the permit tag, which is obtained readily and without cost from conservation officers and conservation department offices.

Places where hunters may obtain deer hide shipping permits and learn how to use them will be conspicuously posted by the time the deer hunting season opens.

Health Talk Is Instructive

Guild Hears of Rural Problems

Dr. E. V. Thiehoff of the Michigan Department of Health, presented a very good picture of the health needs of Wayne county when he spoke before the Health Guild in Wayne last Thursday. Dr. Thiehoff is chairman of a committee of five appointed by Health Commissioner Dr. Allan Moyer to study the health needs of communities where the population has shifted and increased.

This committee appointed a sub-committee for the Wayne county area and includes Dr. Bruce Douglas, Detroit; Dr. Henry Vaughn, Ann Arbor; Miss Georgina Reid, Wayne county school nurse and Spencer Gordon. From the survey of these defense areas it has been found that the present health program is inadequate. The various health departments of the townships, villages and cities need to be coordinated into a single county health office still keeping the local health officers. A new program should include more adequate control of communicable disease by immunization, early diagnosis and placarding of premises; more clinics for venereal disease treatment; an adequate milk and restaurant inspection of home water and sewage disposal systems.

Dr. Thiehoff was accompanied by Mr. Hepler, head of the sanitation branch of the state health department. Mr. Hepler stated that proper sanitation is the basis of public health and in these rapidly developing rural defense areas the sanitation problem is serious.

At present F.H.A. homes are the only homes in rural areas whose water and sewage systems must be approved by a health officer. He further stated that housing has reverted back 20 years and plans must be started now so that existing conditions may be bettered after the war.

Are Your Children Safe?

Insurance reports show that more deaths and injuries occur in the home than in any other place. Protect your children by observing the following simple precautions. Have a special play place for children. Keep all poisons out of their reach. Keep handles of pots away from edge of stove. Don't keep hot pots near edge of table. Don't use too many covers on the baby's bed. Never use pillows. Fasten all covers securely to the under side of the mattress.

THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

ELTON R. EATON Editor and Publisher
STERLING EATON Business Manager

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Entered as Second Class Matter in the U. S. Postoffice at Plymouth, Michigan

Member National Editorial Association, The Michigan Press Association, University of Michigan Press Club and The Metropolitan Group of Newspapers.

BE PATIENT, PLEASE.

Numerous letters and personal inquiries as to when The Plymouth Mail's editorial column will be resumed have been received in the past few weeks. Our answer is somewhat indefinite. We hope soon.

But first, "Ye Editor" must find substitutes for some of his present additional duties such as janitor, errand boy, press feeder, make-up assistant, telephone operator, yardman, assistant cashier, reporter, fireman, delivery truck driver, assistant society editor, copy chaser, and what-not. When we find this force, then we will feel safe in again resuming our task in telling our kind readers what to do to get the country out of the helluva-mess that the phony newdealers have created during the past nine or ten years.

Right during the time late last summer when we were ankles deep in the political mire, the army, munition plants, down-east newspapers and others were sniping at The Mail's efficient force—and when they got through, "Ye Editor" was left aboard ship—two or three weeks before the primary—with just enough of a skeleton crew to keep the old craft afloat.

We, too, are anxious to again take "pen in hand" as soon as possible so that we can fire a few more torpedoes into the hull of the sinking Newdeal and get it to the bottom of the lake before it has opportunity to repair the damage that was done to it on November 3.

In The Armed Services of Our Country — Fighting for The Preservation of Our America!

HERON TALLMADGE HOME ON FURLOUGH

Heron Tallmadge, Plymouth lad who is in Uncle Sam's fighting forces, has been home in Plymouth on a ten-day leave of absence. The young man is located on Ellis Island, in New York harbor, which gives him an excellent opportunity to see the sights of New York City frequently. He is stationed at the big armory on the island, where he has the care of many guns. He states that there are many prisoners of war in that locality.

Tom Brock, former Albion student and Plymouth high school graduate, is now a corporal in the army. He is in the personnel department at Camp Stoneman near Pittsburg, California.

LIKES THE WEATHER OUT IN CALIFORNIA

Private Elvin C. Love, who is now located at Ford Ord, California, writes The Plymouth Mail that the weather in California at the present time is about as delightful as it can be. "I bet it must be a beautiful day back home, too, and that all the hunters are getting their limit of pheasants. I sure do miss the bird season. Thanks ever so much for sending me The Plymouth Mail. You do not know how much it helps a fellow who is away from his home and friends," writes Elvin.

HOME TOWN PAPER HELPS THE SOLDIER

Fred J. Hetsler, with one of Uncle Sam's armored divisions down at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, has just written The Mail to make a change of address to his paper. "You have been sending me The Mail for two years now. I wish to say that there is nothing that I have enjoyed quite so much as I have my home town newspaper. Even the boys in the service from other places like to read it," writes Warrant Officer Hetsler.

HAS PRAISE FOR U.S. ARMY AIR CORPS

"The army air corps is really a swell outfit," writes Private Frank Konazeski who is now stationed at San Angelo, Texas. "I am gaining weight. This open air down here really makes you feel swell. Have not yet completed my basic training but will very soon and then I am going to work on our squadron's bombers. They certainly do make a lot of noise when they take off, but it's music to my ears. If anyone has had experience in radio or mechanics, I would suggest they enlist as a specialist. The weather has been warm down here but I like it and the nights are beautiful. The air is so clear. One cannot help but like the hospitality of the fine people of Texas. They are really great to the soldiers. Would like to hear from some of my friends around Plymouth. Have read your articles about war bonds. They are great. Our squadron is 100 percent on buying bonds. We feel as though it is a part of our duty. Thanks for sending me The Mail. It's just like a big letter from home," writes this youthful Plymouth soldier now stationed down in the southwest.

SOLDIERS HAVE HIGH PRAISE FOR PLYMOUTH

P. J. Butler, better known as "Joe" to his host of Plymouth friends, now a Seabee, (a construction battalion of the United States navy), writes of the U.S. Naval Advance Base Depot at Gulfport, Mississippi, that he has been going through some extensive training and that he is expecting to leave soon for some unknown island somewhere in the world.

"You will be hearing a lot about this outfit, if you haven't already. We are the newest branch of the navy—and it is really making a name for itself. We are expecting to be shipped out at any time," he writes to The Mail.

"When I show some of my shipmates The Plymouth Mail, they always say it is one of the most patriotic papers they have ever seen. So you see you should keep up the good work—and thanks a lot for the paper."

Mrs. Louise Leadbetter has received word from the United States naval air base at Jacksonville, Florida, that her son, Robert C. Weaver, has been promoted to third petty officer, which is the same rating as a sergeant in the army. The young man is expected to be transferred in the immediate future.

AUGUST EVENTS AT GREAT LAKES CAMP

August F. Evans, 22, 12700 Middle Belt road, Plymouth, will soon be one of the fighting Blue-jackets of Uncle Sam's Navy. He reported to the U. S. Naval Training station at Great Lakes last week to begin recruit training. While in recruit training, called "boot camp," he will receive instruction in the fundamentals of seamanship, naval customs and procedures, and participate in the Navy's bodybuilding, physical toughening program.

Upon completion of his recruit training, he will probably be home on a nine-day leave, after which he will be selected to attend one of the Navy's many service schools or be sent directly to active duty at sea or some other shore station. Sailors chosen to attend service school may win petty officer ratings upon completing their particular course.

SWEENEY HELPING TO TRAIN SOLDIERS

David B. Sweeney, stationed at the Army Air Forces Basic Training Center at Kearns, Utah, has been promoted from Corporal to Sergeant, it is announced by Col. Converse R. Lewis, commander. He is the brother of Mrs. Lauretta A. Hoops, 35336 Chestnut street, Wayne. Sergeant Sweeney is aiding in the training of new soldiers at this station. He has been in the Air Forces since March 12, 1942.

Sergeant Sweeney was among several hundred enlisted men at this post who received promotions this month.

Each soldier going through training at this station is instructed in formation drill, the manual of arms, and the use of pistol, rifle, machine gun and gas mask. Upon completion of training here men are assigned to duty with various Air Force units. He was home in Plymouth a few days last week.

HAROLD WILSON BACK TO GREAT LAKES

Harold E. Wilson (USNR) the son of Mrs. Genevieve Wilson, has returned to Great Lakes Training Station after being home on a nine-day leave. He will there await transfer to one of the naval service schools. Harold, graduate of the '40 class of Plymouth high school, qualified for aviation metallurgy. Carl Brown of Plymouth was also in the same company as Harold and he was also accepted for service school.

Before Harold enlisted in the Naval Reserve he was employed at the Ford Bomber plant where he received the valuable training that helped him to qualify for the duties of aviation metallurgy.

Quit Jobs To Get Their Autos Back Down South

Many Workers Fear Isolation Due To Gas Rationing

Fearful that they might be left high and dry way up here in Michigan after "gas" rationing, numerous newcomers to this part of America from Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas have filled their buzz-wagons with gasoline, packed up their worldly possessions and started back to the hills and dales of the Southland.

While Plymouth has not suffered materially by this exodus, it is stated by those in a position to know that some 400 or 500 workers have quit the Bomber plant during the last two or three weeks and returned South.

They told their companions in the factory that they didn't want to get caught up north with their automobiles and not be able to get their cars back down South. So with the "pile" that they have made in recent months and with the assurance of being able to get enough gas to return to the tobacco and cotton fields of their native states, they are migrating back to the Southlands.

Roger Babson Says . . . 25 Years Ago

Labor Unions Are Strangling War Effort

Baltimore, Maryland, Nov. 13.—At the risk of being condemned by Washington as an "arm-chair strategist," I wish to say a word on how to shorten the war. I'll take for my text: Ecclesiastes 3: 1-8 inclusive.

Labor unions, like most everything else, have their usefulness. Labor leaders are as patriotic as financial leaders. For every bad labor actor, whom Pader names from Main Street, I can name a bad financial actor from Wall Street. No one group is today free from blame.

But, just as the Interstate Commerce Commission has checked bad railroad presidents and the Securities and Exchange Commission is now checking banking, utility and fire insurance dictators, so James F. Byrnes should crack down upon labor leaders. The United Nations never will win this War until labor leaders are rationed as other present non-essentials. The recent Republican victories indicate that this latter will now be done.

Let's look at the record: If France had held out, World War II would now have been won without the loss of an American boy. Yet, it was the labor unions of France which caused her downfall. If England had held out, the labor unions, no Germans or Italians would today be in Africa. We are probably justified in giving our 18-and-19-year-old boys to help England; but England should help herself by curbing labor unions.

Another thought: Our labor unions should help the submerged foreign labor by striving to eliminate the Colonial System which Wendell Willkie is so vigorously denouncing. This would hasten world peace. Besides, if the poor people of India, Persia and the Dutch East Indies were free to sell their oil, rubber and minerals to any nation, then Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo would be unable to hold their armies longer. Their only logical complaint would be answered and this also would help us win the War.

The simple truth is that England and America, shackled by labor unions and bamboozled by their leaders, are trying to lick Germany, Japan and Italy which are entirely free from these handicaps. Of course, we will win sometime, but it will not be until England and America suspend the labor unions "for the duration" and reorganize the Colonial System.

Of course, I will be flooded with letters from paid labor union officials as to reasons why they should not be interfered with. Other persons will write me telling how certain bankers, fire insurance officials and industrialists are abusing their powers. I am not now disputing or arguing with such people. I am ever-willing to agree in advance of their claims. I am now discussing only one question, namely: "How long will the War last?"

The War will last until the labor leaders turn over their unions to the government the same as employers, colleges and others are turning over their property and hard-won privileges. Concurrently with the elimination of the Colonial System, if labor unions in England and America would now voluntarily suspend for the duration, as Rear Admiral Emory S. Land urges, World War II could be over sometime next year, at least as far as Europe is concerned, although it may take 1944 to crush Japan. Otherwise, with the present wrangling between governments, colonials and labor leaders it may take ten years to lick Hitler and Tojo.

Of course, collective bargaining is sound and, in ordinary times, should be defended. Today, however, we are at War—fighting for our very existence. This is a total War—for all except colonial barons, organized labor leaders and cowardly bureaucrats who are afraid of both Tojo and the big "Vs" which we see appear to stand for "votes" rather than for "victory." Let every mother who has a boy in the armed forces give three cheers for Rear Admiral Land.

In conclusion, let me humbly add that I speak with some authority on this subject. During World War I, I was an assistant to the Secretary of Labor in Washington. Under Mr. Felix Frankfurter, now Supreme Court Justice, I worked very closely with President Wilson and finally was appointed by Congress, Director General of Information and Education of the Federal Labor Administration. For several years, I was Secretary of the Society to Eliminate Economic Causes of War. Therefore, I ask readers to give this message very careful consideration.

Sunday Night Stop To Be Made by P. M.

Plymouth week-end travelers to Grand Rapids and Lansing will be pleased with an announcement just made by Agent Hamill of the Pere Marquette railroad pertaining to better train service from the west to Plymouth.

Beginning Sunday, November 15, the train known as No. 6 from Grand Rapids and Lansing, will make a Plymouth stop to discharge passengers on Sunday nights.

It arrives here from the west at 7:40 and it will be of service only to those who may desire to spend the week-end in the western part of the state and arrive back in Plymouth on Sunday nights.

Regular stoppage of the train would be of some real service to the community, the Sunday night stops only helping week-end travelers.

HOW MAINTENANCE

I can step up production!

A RECENT SURVEY of war industry plants revealed that dirt accumulating on lighting fixtures is slowing down production by robbing workers of much of the light they need.

In the 27 war plants surveyed, the average loss of light due to dirty fixtures was 17.5%. In one plant producing airplane propellers, 38.2% of the light output was being wasted because dust from a hand-grinding operation was allowed to collect on the lights.

This dimout is serious because it hinders production. The remedy is simple: A proper schedule of lighting maintenance, under which lamps and fixtures are washed regularly, will help insure the maximum light output needed for efficient war production.

Frequency of cleaning depends on many factors, such as the type of lighting installation and the kind of work being done in a given area. For advice on how to set up the most economical schedule for lighting maintenance in your plant, or for help with any production lighting problem, call any Detroit Edison office. Our Industrial Lighting Engineers are at your service, without charge.
