Tin Collection Last Saturday, City's Largest

Workers Highly Elated Over Fine Results of Drive

Plymouth's tin drive last Saturday was by far the most successful of any so far conducted in the city, reports from the various chairmen now indicate.

In fact, City Manager Clarence Elliott, who checked the loads as they came into the city warehouse, stated that he believed there was probably five times as much tin collected in last Saturday's drive as on previous collections.

The results should not be surprising however, when it is known that Mrs. Russell Powell, Plymouth township chairman, took one of her husband's biggest dump trucks, and with a driver, saw to it that every nook and corner of the township was covered.

Not only did Mrs. Powell bring back every tin can that could be found in the township, but she added some 80 or 90 pounds to the silk stocking pile in the Taylor & Blyton store.

Mrs. Robert Willoughby, chairman of the city committee having in charge the tin collection, was as highly elated as were the other workers, over the splendid results of Saturday's drive. She spent much of her time using the phone most effectively to contact workers in the tin campaign.

The collection job made in Plymouth by city truck drivers who didn't miss a single house in the city.

"We did well this time but I think we should plan right now to do better when the next drive takes place," stated Mrs. Willoughby.

From Villa St. Felix, Mrs. Powell collected six big barrels of tin cans that had been prepared perfectly for the collection.

"The Felician Sisters did a wonderfully good job in the way they fixed up their cans. They said they expected to have more when we make the next collection. In fact, everybody seemed more interested this time than before," said Mrs. Powell.

Plymouth will also have the advantage when the next collection is made in adding to its total tin cans that will be collected at the Detroit House of Correction and the Maybury Sanatorium. These institutions have notified the co-chairmen of the Plymouth Salvage committee, Mrs. Mildred Barnes and Mrs. Powell, that they will give their cans in the future for this city's collection.

Mrs. Willoughby requests that housewives begin right now to prepare and save the tin cans for the next collection, which will take place in about six weeks.

Some Lunch Counters May Not Serve Breakfast

Real Problem May Face Many Local Restaurant Patrons

Unless there is a change in present prospects, Plymouth workers who depend upon downtown restaurants for their breakfasts will soon find themselves standing in line to be waited upon.

One downtown restaurant has already stopped serving breakfasts and there are hints that one other restaurant as well as the hotel may close their dining rooms for the early morning meal.

While no definite decision has been reached, one eating place owner stated yesterday that unless there is an immediate change in the employment situation as well as the delivery of supplies, he will be forced to close his place during the early morning hours.

"I believe it will not be long before I will be opening at 11 o'clock in the forenoon and closing at 8:00 in the evening. There is no use in trying to do the impossible," he stated.

"What a large number of people will do who depend upon the restaurants for their breakfasts, I haven't the slightest idea, but I refuse to worry about it any longer.

"We are now required to go to Detroit to get our meats and some of our other wholesale supplies. If they fix it so that we cannot use our automobiles to go down and get our meats and other goods, that's something for those who are forced to get their meals out to worry about instead of myself. I'm all through worrying my head off about what I can do and cannot do. I have been working 14 to 18 hours per day to wait on a lot of people who work less than half the hours I do, and then they kick because I don't hot-foot it a little faster for them. It's time for some one to begin to do a little worrying about this situation besides the fellows who have been trying to do the impossible."

So it doesn't look very promising for the expert coffee-dunkers of Plymouth and others who decorate the restaurant stools and read the morning war news while sipping hot coffee.

Rotarians Raise Money For Army

Annual Games Party Benefits Canteen Club

Members of the Rotary club and guests Monday night enjoyed their usual Thanksgiving games and party and raised nearly $50 to be donated to the Canteen fund, which provides cigarettes and other articles for Plymouth boys when they leave for army training camps.

The Rotary club at each of its meetings takes a collection for this purpose, but at the party Monday night special donations and heavy "fines" made the total a most substantial one.

President Blake Gillies and the committee which had charge of the arrangements, saw to it that there were no idle moments during the evening. The Mayflower hotel served a delicious turkey dinner.

Harry C. Robinson acted as chief auctioneer and fun maker, and as always, put plenty of pep into the affair.

City To Test New Alarm Friday Noon

City officials will, Friday noon, make a test of the new air raid signal which has just been installed upon the plant of the Pilgrim Products company.

This big whistle will blow in unison with the city's fire alarm siren. The test will be made at 12 o'clock, the regular hour set for the time signal.

The officials believe that with the new alarm, there will be little excuse for any one not hearing the signal.

Mrs. Harold Cook, Mrs. Frank A. Miller, Mrs. Peter Ralph Miller, Mrs. Carl Grant Miller entertained 24 guests at a dinner and trossseau shower at Frames Tea Room, Detroit, Tuesday evening honoring their niece, Patricia Treis, a December bride-elect.

'War Cinderella'

Pleasure radiates from Catherine Hunzinger, 21, "war Cinderella," who overnight took her brother's place helping to produce Cyclone and Whirlwind aircraft engines in Paterson, N.J., when he left to enter the army. For three days before he left sister Catherine stood at the shoulder of brother George, and watched him work a high speed pneumatic grinder, finishing gears and shafts on powerful engines.

Edwin Schrader Joins The Navy

To Soon Enter Eastern University

Edwin Schrader has recently passed various examinations for services in Uncle Sam's navy and will in the near future, leave for some eastern university where he will spend the next two months as a student.

Upon the completion of his University work, he will be given a rating as a naval lieutenant, junior grade. Mr. and Mrs. Schrader are expecting to close their home in Plymouth for the "duration." Mrs. Schrader expects to go east later to remain with her husband for a time.

In recent months he has been most active in connection with the war bond campaign. As a result of his efforts The Plymouth Knights club membership is now one hundred percent war bond owners.

Woman's Club To Meet Dec. 4th

Book Review To Feature Program

The next regular meeting of the Woman's Club of Plymouth will be on Friday, December 4, at 8:30 o'clock in the Central Grade school gymnasium. Miss Edna M. Allen, of the high school faculty, will review William White's "A Journey for Margaret." Current interest in this book runs high, since movie rights to the story have been bought and arrangements are being made for its filming.

The program chairman for the day is Mrs. A. L. Lantz, assisted by Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Claude Dykhouse, Mrs. Lewis Evans, Mrs. Henry Baker, Mrs. J. C. Weed, Mrs. C. M. Bentley, Mrs. William Arscott, Mrs. J. W. Kaiser, Mrs. William Clarke, Mrs. W. A. Bake, Mrs. Russell Daane, Mrs. George Chute, Mrs. James Gallimore, Mrs. Ralph Lorenz and Mrs. R. E. Cooper, honorary member. Mrs. L. H. Goddard is the tea chairman. The November 20 and January 8 committees will assist.

At the November 20 meeting, the members were very pleasantly entertained by the high school dramatics class, directed by Mrs. Bixler. They gave two short plays: one, a patriotic one-act play; and the second, an original work by Dorrit Strauss, a high school student. The program committee was most grateful to Mrs. Bixler and her students for stepping in on very short notice when the speaker for the day was unable to keep her engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Knapp and children, Jack and Gerald of New Hudson, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Eaton and children, Raymond and Nancy of Ypsilanti, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hesse last Thursday evening.

Invited Soldiers And Sailors To Dinner

William Rose, commander of the American Legion post of this city, yesterday announced that the Plymouth Legion members will in the future invite all soldier and sailor boys who may be home from the army and the navy to attend the regular monthly dinners and meetings of the Legion.

"We meet the third Friday of every month, and if the parents or friends of the visiting soldiers or sailors will let me or some member of the Legion know their names, we will surely see to it that they get an invitation to attend our dinners," stated Mr. Rose yesterday.

The Legion dinners, prepared by members of the Auxiliary, have become famous for their deliciousness, and soldiers and sailors will thoroughly enjoy the hospitality of the Legion.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Thomas of Blunk avenue will have a dinner Thanksgiving day dinner guests, Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Field, Misses Ruth E. and Barbara Jenkins and Dr. Walter C. McBride, of Detroit.

Praise Schools For Assistance In Gas Rationing

Teachers and PTA Work Long Hours To Help Uncle Sam

Plymouth public schools have rendered a fine governmental and public service under the direction of Mrs. Nellie Bird at the Central school, assisted by the 18 assistant teachers and approximately 50 members of the Parent-Teachers' association. The registration for gasoline rationing for A and D books was conducted Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with a total registration of 2,061 A books and three D books.

At Starkweather school, under the direction of Mrs. Jewel Bell, assisted by 12 assistant teachers and approximately 30 members of the Parent-Teachers' association, the registration was conducted from Wednesday through Friday, with a total registration of 696 A books. This makes a total registration at the two schools of 2757 A books and three D books.

Considering the fact that in the registration of sugar rationing, the number registering was approximately 8,000, it would seem probable that some car owners in this area neglected to register for the A ration books. Those who did neglect to do so will be able to get their books after December 1 at the ration board in the city hall.

It was a hard job for the three days, but the overseeing principals and registrars, both teachers and members of the P.T.A., enjoyed the fine courtesy which those registering showed at all times. This fine attitude towards registering for gas rationing is an expression of the fine citizenship which is always exhibited in the community of Plymouth.

Jayson Lyke III In Marine Hospital

Jayson Lyke, who came home on a brief furlough last week and from the Great Lakes Training station, was taken to Marine hospital in Detroit Monday, seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyke had gone over to Northville to spend Sunday with Mr. Lyke's parents, when he became seriously ill. Attending physicians immediately arranged for his transfer to Marine hospital, where he will probably be confined for some time.

New Warning Signal Added For Air Raid Alarm

Install Additional Whistle on Pilgrim Products Plant

When the next black-out takes place in Plymouth, city officials believe that there will be no excuse for any one not hearing the warning signal.

Early this week there was installed on the plant of the Pilgrim Products company an auxiliary whistle which will be blown at the same time the fire siren alarm is turned on.

Not only will these two alarms be sounded, but the whistle at the home of the Felician Sisters will also be blown. With these three warning signals in operation, city officials believe that there will be no excuse for any one not hearing the alarm.

The last test, which was to have been the most effective, proved to be anything but that.

Several violators were reported and city officials say that court action is to be taken. The last black-out did prove that the air wardens of this city and vicinity are on the job. It was their active work and alertness which resulted in most lights being turned off within a few minutes after the warning had been sounded.

Mrs. Harms To Head Committee

To Direct Drive For "Explosive" Material

Appointment by Mrs. Mildred Barnes, general chairman of the Plymouth city salvage committee, of Mrs. Walter Harms as divisional chairman of the "explosives" committee—the committee which collects fats and grease to be made into powder and other explosives—was approved at Monday's meeting of the City Defense Council.

Mrs. Harms will in the immediate future work out details for an intensive and continuous drive for the collection of fats and greases so badly needed for army and navy munitions.

It is probable that by next week Mrs. Harms will be able to announce the names of her precinct or block chairmen. The collection of fats and grease is regarded as just as important, if not more so, than the collection of scrap iron and silk. But all of this material is badly needed by the government.

Nine Accused In Black-Out

Will Appear In Court December 1st

Nine warrants have been issued for alleged violations of the city's black-out ordinance as the result of the test made last week. Seven of the warrants have been served and the accused will be in court Monday night, December 1 to answer to the charges.

One warrant, officers say, cannot be served because it was for the driver of a car with a Kentucky license and the driver has returned to Kentucky since the black-out. All of the other alleged violators are local residents.

Air Raid Signal

Police Chief James Gray of McKeesport, Pa., with homemade air raid signal which he put together with a couple of pieces of old pipe. He devised this signal after McKeesport was unable to agree on a signal. Gray got the idea from an old police whistle, and submitted his creation as an alternative to a $100 air horn which the defense council had contemplated buying.

Use Light Weight Paper, Urges The Postmaster

Seeks Reduction of Weight of Air Mail Going Over-Seas

When writing to Plymouth soldier boys overseas and using the air mail for that purpose, use light weight paper, urges Postmaster Harry Irwin.

He has been advised by the department in Washington that so heavy has become the air mail to foreign countries where American troops are stationed, that it has become essential as far as possible to reduce the weight of the mail being sent by air over the oceans.

"No one realizes how heavy the mail has become since so many of our boys have gone into the army and navy. I am not surprised that the request has come through. I am sure that every one will cooperate with the postal department in its effort to reduce the weight of the mail going overseas, especially when it can be done so easily," stated Postmaster Irwin yesterday.

Lady Maccabees Celebrate

Plymouth Lodge Is Now 50 Years Old

Wednesday evening, November 18, about 40 Maccabee ladies met in Jewell-Blaich hall to celebrate their fiftieth anniversary year.

On April 9, 1892 Bina West HIVE was organized. Some years later the name was changed to Plymouth Hive and down through the years has continued to be one of the outstanding lodges in Plymouth.

At 7 o'clock a bountiful chicken supper was served by Lady Ethel Grammel and her committee. The tables were attractively decorated with yellow mums, roses and crepe paper and yellow napkins.

After the supper a short program prepared by Dora Wood was given in the lodge room, consisting of the history of the hive, written and read by Lady Wood, a solo by Lady Mabel Dicks, a splendid talk by the district manager, Lady Dora E. Nicholson, of Detroit, and last but not least, an original poem written for the occasion by Commander Lady Margaret Cooley. During the 10-minute black-out the group sang old familiar songs. When the lights came on a few games of five hundred were played.

Will Soon Take Up Duties as Member of Illinois Legislature

Mr. and Mrs. Lysle M. Prescott of Dixon, Illinois have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Schrader, parents of Mrs. Prescott, at the Schrader home on Main street.

Mr. Prescott is taking this opportunity to enjoy a brief vacation before assuming his duties as a member of the Illinois legislature.

If the recent election he won an overwhelming victory, winning over his Democratic opponent by a better than two to one vote. The district he will represent in the legislature is one of the most important in Illinois.

The next meeting of the Plymouth Defense Council will be Tuesday afternoon, December 1, at 4:30 at the city hall. Mrs. Strauss and her committee on the day care of children will report on their survey made in August and Lieutenant Marie House of the Salvation Army has been invited to present her views.

The Home Nursing Class II will start January 2, according to Mrs. Winston Cooper, Red Cross educational chairman. The class will be taught by Mrs. Mary Strassen. Mrs. Cooper is now taking (Continued on page 5)

Plymouth Gets New Train to Detroit

Plymouth Boy Is Killed In Australia, Mother Advised

Leslie Huger, son of Mrs. Fred Michael of Shearer drive, just off Sheldon road towards Northville, has been killed in Australia, according to a telegram received by his mother from the war department.

Leslie was inducted into service in Plymouth more than a year ago. The telegram indicated that he had been killed in a train accident of some nature, but stated that details would follow in a letter.

He served as a radio technician in the army. The young soldier was a nephew of Mrs. Earl Phelling and Miss Beatrice Huger, well known Michigan musical leader.

Additional Service Starts On December 6

Pere Marquette Re-Routes Famed "Sportsman" to Give City Better Service

Plymouth's commuting problem to the city of Detroit has been solved, for the present at least, by the action of the Pere Marquette in re-routing its famed "Sportsman" from Washington to Detroit so that it will pass through and stop in Plymouth each morning at 7:25 to pick up passengers for Detroit.

The "Sportsman" will begin its Plymouth morning stops on Sunday, December 6, according to letters received by Mayor Ruth Huston Whipple and Pere Marquette representatives in this city.

This additional train service, in connection with the excellent bus service given to Plymouth residents by the Plymouth Coach company to Grand River, about solves Plymouth's transportation problem to and from Detroit.

Not only has the Pere Marquette extended to the city of Plymouth this important transportation advantage, but it has granted a commutator's rate which is considerably lower than the regular fare.

A rate of $3.75 has been fixed for ten rides and $6.50 for 25 rides. That brings the fare between Plymouth and Detroit down to a much lower point than the regular train fare.

Passengers going to Detroit on the "Sportsman" will reach the very heart of Detroit at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Train service from Detroit to Plymouth is equally as convenient as the service to Detroit. Passengers may leave Detroit at 5:10 in the afternoon, reaching Plymouth some 35 minutes later.

Probably no city in the entire Detroit area can now claim a more favorable transportation service to and from Detroit than can Plymouth as the result of the splendid cooperation of Pere Marquette officials with representatives of the city government and the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Over 300 Pounds Silk Collected

One Big Shipment Already Made

Three hundred pounds of silk stockings, donated by women in this city and Plymouth township, have been made ready for shipment by John Blyton, who has charge of the central collection depot in the Taylor & Blyton store.

Mrs. Frank Terry, chairman of the stocking drive, was both amazed and delighted at the remarkable success of the stocking campaign during the first week of the drive.

"But that is just the beginning. We must keep up the work. If we can produce 300 pounds of silk and nylon stockings in one week, we can produce many, many more hundreds of pounds," said Mrs. Terry yesterday.

The collection of stockings during the first week represented better than 3200 pairs.

Some one donated a man's pure silk shirt, labeled "Made in Tokyo." Unfortunately silk shirts are of no benefit for the purpose for which silk and nylon stockings are collected.

Mrs. Terry wishes it emphasized that there should be no let up in the collection of stockings. She urges that women and girls make it a regular practice to keep all their discarded stockings and take them immediately to one of the Plymouth retail stores being used as a "stocking depot."

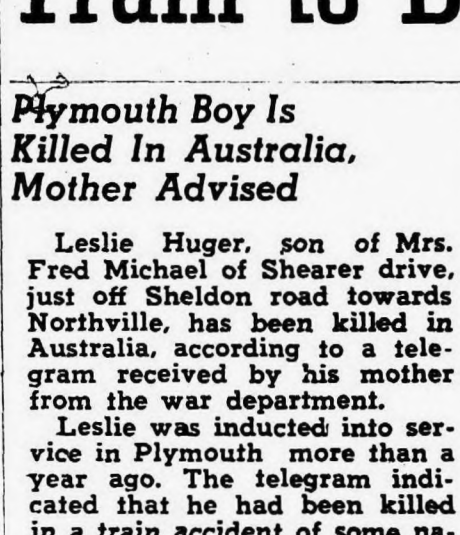

Sons Manufacture Coat Hangers This City Gives to Army

When Mrs. E. J. Simmons, 416 North Mill street, brought to The Plymouth Mail office the other day a large supply of wire coat hangers to be given to Plymouth boys leaving for army duty for Uncle Sam, she commented that her two sons are interested in the manufacturing of the coat hangers now being given to soldier boys.

They have been engaged in the business for years. One is located with a company in Baltimore and the other in Cleveland," she stated.

The Simmons family formerly lived over on the Eight mile road.

ST. PETER'S EV. LUTHERAN Church. Edgar Hoenecke, pastor. Morning service 10:30 a.m. Sunday school 9:30 a.m. Thanksgiving service 10:00. Amid all our dissatisfaction and grumbling about conditions today, if we are absolutely honest, we must admit that we owe our Gracious Father in Heaven endless praise and thanksgiving for the precious gifts we possess in this beloved land of ours—politically, economically and spiritually.—And He has preserved them intact for us amid all the present confusion! Apparently, He is even now disposing so that our armed forces are prevailing victoriously against the assaults of the enemy.—Shall there be any one, one singly, isolated individual among us, who will fail to go to the House of the Lord on Thanksgiving Day and there bow in humble, appreciative recognition of this undeserved blessing? Let us not forget that ingratitude is the ruin of a nation! The safety of our nation is still precariously threatened—let us not lightly and blasphemously imagine that the cleverness of our planning and the mere strength of our arms can get us a victory, either a military or moral one, without the benediction of our Lord! "Come before His presence with Thanksgiving!"

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE. Holbrook and Pearl streets. Robert A. North, pastor. The Nesseth-Hopson Evangelistic party will be with us for the Sunday school hour at 10 a.m., the morning worship service 11:00 and the evening Evangelistic service at 7:30. These two very fine young men are outstanding musicians, and play many instruments. They bring their own piano with the solo-vox attached, play the vibrat-harp, electric Hawaiian guitar, electric Spanish guitar and piano accordion. They will continue with us throughout next week, every night at 7:30 excepting Saturday. Rev. Nesseth will bring the message at each service. We expect these services to be the best we have ever conducted. Come to every service you can and bring a friend with you. You will receive a hearty welcome.

Find out if telephone service is available before you move It's a wise precaution to consult the Telephone Company about service at your new location before you go too far with your plans. Today many materials used in telephone lines and instruments are more urgently needed in weapons for the armed forces. That's why the War Production Board has placed drastic restrictions on new telephone installations. Except in cases where telephones are directly essential to the war effort, or to public health, welfare or security— 1. New telephone service cannot be provided at some locations. 2. Party-line service, only, can be furnished in many cases. 3. Temporary service, only, can be supplied at some points, subject to withdrawal on 48 hours' notice if needed for essential purposes. 4. Extension telephones cannot be installed in residences. In so far as material shortages and war restrictions permit, we shall continue to provide the best service possible. And we look forward to the day when we again can give the kind of service wanted, "when and where wanted." But now, and for the duration, war needs come first. Michigan Bell Telephone Company

TO ALL OUR CUSTOMERS:

The price of electric service is low. It is one of the few things about the house that cost less than they used to cost. Twenty years ago the average price was 5.79 cents; today it is 3.16 cents. That is nearly half price — a bargain sale every day.

There are many reasons why electricity is cheap.

Our power plants are more efficient than they used to be. Our customers have helped to reduce prices by using more electricity — for better lighting, for cooking, for heating water, for dozens of jobs. We have learned how to do our part of the work better, have thought of many plans to save time and money, like the two-way radio sets for our trouble crews, and so on.

So there have been repeated rate reductions — right in the face of rising prices for almost all of the things which we have to buy to make electricity. It is a record of good service and of lower and lower rates, of which we are very proud.

No More Daily Dallying About Rails, Says City

streets in Plymouth for scrap purposes.
A brief chronological review of the situation reveals some interesting facts.
It was in April when the city commission first gave consideration to a plan to remove the rails from the streets. At that time the city manager was instructed to take the matter up with the WPA, thinking that the removal of the rails might be made a "WPA project."

The inquiry brought forth the information at that time that the WPA then was not interested in removing the rails.
In September the city commission authorized the city manager to take steps to have the rails removed and get bidders for the scrap iron through the agency of the War Production Board.
On or about September 8 representatives of Abner Larned's army of "Political Workers," generally known as the WPA, contacted the city officials of Plymouth and wanted to do the work in which they were not interested in during the spring.
Their request was that the taxpayers of Plymouth provide transportation costs for some 60 or more "workmen" from Detroit to come to Plymouth to "remove the rails."

City officials advised the representatives of Mr. Larned's WPA, meaning "Weary Political Army," that this city didn't care to have some 45 or 50 "workers" standing around on the streets watching ten or twelve men go through the motions of work. They were advised that the city could do the work for a mere fraction of what the transportation costs would be for transporting Mr. Larned's political workers back and forth from Detroit.
On September 28 the city was informed that the WPB had allocated the rails to the Great Lakes Steel company.
On September 28 the city asked a priority rating for the purchase of an acetylene torch and for permission to proceed with the immediate removal of the rails as soon as the torch was received.
On October 23 the city received its "rating" which gave permission to purchase a torch.
On November 19 a letter was received from W.P.B. of Detroit permitting the removal of the rails without further permission from Washington authorities.
After having spent the entire summer in correspondence about the rails, permits and priorities, the city a week or so ago decided to do the work itself and forget all about WPA assistance or other governmental "perquisites."
Four or five Plymouth workmen have in the brief space of a few days gone places and within a few brief weeks the last remnants of the old street car system that connected this city with nearby towns and the city of Detroit will have disappeared.
The Plymouth Mail building occupies a part of the old downtown station site and yards of the one time heavily patronized interurban system.

Science Church Enters Active War Duties of Nation

Plymouth Committee Chairman Tells of Its Extensive Work

Mrs. Katherine Hughes of Alden Village, prominent in the work of the Plymouth Christian Science church, and chairman of the war relief committee of the local church, has just released information which shows that the scientist church has more than 1500 branch war relief units active in the United States.

This total, states Mrs. Hughes, does not include those active in Great Britain, Canada, Australia and the Union of South Africa.

She says that the general committee of the church has assembled since Pearl Harbor over 66,000 pounds of durable clothing and bedding, in waterproof, mothproof, wooden cases, at convenient locations on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, ready for instant use should emergencies arise because of local enemy action.

More than 32,800 garments have been distributed, through military distribution centers, to men in the United States forces. A large British transport vessel which had arrived from tropical waters and was being repaired at Boston received 100 overcoats for officers. Folding coats have been given to overcrowded seamen's clubs. Civilians arriving in the United States suffering because of war conditions or action have been provided with clothing and other forms of relief. Among them are refugees from the Far East, who landed in California; and merchant seamen rescued from ships torpedoed along the Atlantic coast have been similarly cared for. This work is carried on by the committee without regard to creed or race.

One of the most impressive branches of the work from the start, before America entered the war, says Mrs. Hughes, has been the distribution of clothing and comforts to bombed-out people in Great Britain and to refugees from Holland, Norway, Russia, Poland, Belgium and other European countries. Clothing has gone direct from Boston to Russia, and knitted goods have been sent there from branches of the committee in England. One example is the preparation, within six weeks, of 1820 knitted garments for the Russians. Overseas workers have won the commendation and co-operation of local authorities by their prompt arrival on the scene of trouble.

In cities heavily bombed, such as Plymouth, Coventry, Bristol, and Southampton, they have got there with food and clothing, ready to go to work, even before the "All Clear" sounded.

The wide range of the distribution is indicated in the annual report from the United Kingdom. One worker reports that an English physician, "totally bombed," was fitted out with suitable professional clothing by the almoner. A Scottish center states that Commandos who at one time raided the Norwegian islands were equipped on the expedition with comforts from Boston, and that the center provided clothing for the refugees whom the Commandos brought back.

Throughout the entire Christian Science movement workers are making and collecting clothing of all kinds and sending it to the depots, where it is carefully inspected, sorted and packed in waterproof cases for shipment. One of the most recent of the Committee's activities has been the sending of weekly food packages to British prisoners of war in Germany and Italy. This can be done according to the Geneva Convention. Only an occasional package has gone astray. Correspondence has been started with many of the prisoners and with their families in England. Some packages have been sent to civilians in Occupied France. It has not been possible to reach prisoners in the Far East.

Visits Plymouth U. of M. Students Principal Dykhouse At Consultation

Claude J. Dykhouse, principal of the Plymouth high school was in Ann Arbor recently consulting with former students, now freshmen in the University of Michigan.

University freshmen from Plymouth this year are George M. Chute, Ruth C. Drews, Elizabeth D. Jewell, Irene C. Kracht and Frances A. Weed.

About 150 principals and teachers of 84 high schools and five junior colleges participated in the consultations. Altogether, approximately 780 freshmen visited with former teachers and principals, in the plan sponsored by Registrar Ira Smith of the University.

This consultation plan, which has been in operation for the last 15 years, is intended to bring about a closer relationship between the high schools and the University, Mr. Smith said.

The consultations enable the high school teachers to detect needs in local educational systems and to become more familiar with university methods. Such meetings also aid university instructors in studying preparatory school methods and permit student discussions of freshmen problems.

Warns Against Gas Storage Chief Wagenschutz Tells of Regulations

Fred Wagenschutz, chief of the Plymouth fire department, has just received a warning notice sent out by Michigan State Police against gasoline hoarding.

To supplement the four-gallon-per-week supply in prospect when rationing is effective, many motorists are requesting special deliveries and storages of gasoline, state police have learned.

Commissioner Olander, as fire marshal of the state, declared such practice constituted a violation of state laws. Further, such action invalidates fire insurance contracts, he said.

"Michigan should profit by the experiences of the east, where gasoline rationing has been in effect several months," Commissioner Olander said. "Many accidents and explosions have resulted from the attempt there of a few motorists to hoard a supply of motor car fuel. In one instance, several barrels of gasoline were found in a residence where an explosion occurred, causing two fatalities and injuring several firemen.

"Any quantity of gasoline that might be reasonably stored after all represents but a few additional miles of travel. The safety of one's family and property should be a greater consideration."

Arnold Renner, chief of the state police fire division, pointed out provisions of the state law involved in attempting storage. In the first place, he said that placing gasoline in any container other than a metal container painted red and having the word "gasoline" plainly lettered upon it was a violation of regulations drafted March 12, 1942, upon authority of the state legislature, to control storage of flammable liquids.

A provision of these regulations, he said, is that no gasoline can be stored in excess of five gallons in any dwelling or in any other building not used exclusively for the storage of flammable liquids. In some instances, he said, city ordinances limit the amount to one gallon that can be stored.

Weddings

SALOW-ERDMANN

The Methodist church of Plymouth was decorated with white chrysanthemums and palms, Monday evening, November 23 for the wedding of Miss Madeline Alfreda Salow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Salow, of this city, and Lieutenant Roy G. Erdmann, of Fort Knox, Kentucky, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Erdmann, of Brainerd, Minnesota. The ceremony was read at 8 o'clock by the Rev. T. Leonard Sanders in the presence of 175 wedding guests.

Miss Lois Ridley sang, "Because" and "At Dawning" and was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. M. J. O'Conner.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin, made with full skirt and train, fitted bodice with lace inserts at neckline, long sleeves and button trim down the back to the waistline. Her fingertip veil was edged with lace matching the lace inserts at the neckline. She carried white chrysanthemums and gardenias.

Jeanette Bauman, a cousin of the bride, was maid-of-honor, wearing blue velvet and taffeta with bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and roses. Other attendants were Mrs. Howard Farnsworth, of Detroit, and Miss Eleanor Davis of Brighton, both wearing gowns of gold velvet and taffeta, made the same as that of the maid-of-honor, and bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums and tallisman roses.

Howard Schryer, of this city, was best man and Howard Farnsworth, of Detroit, and David Sullivan, of Farmington, were the ushers.

Mrs. Salow, mother of the bride, wore an aqua crepe gown with black accessories while Mrs. Erdman, mother of the bridegroom, chose a soldier blue gown. Each wore a yellow chrysanthemum corsage.

A reception followed immediately in the dining room of the church.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Erdmann are taking a short trip. For traveling she chose a brown wool jersey trimmed in yellow with brown accessories and Elk grey caracul coat.

Tells How To Care For Shoes

State College Gives Recommendations

Putting your best foot forward was never more vital than this year, but look to your shoe care to be sure it is your best, advises Marjorie Eastman, extension specialist in clothing at Michigan State college.

Shoe conservation begins with buying. Properly fitted shoes wear longer. Notice where shoes wear out. If they wear in spots on the soles or heels, says Miss Eastman, they probably aren't right. If possible have two pairs of shoes for general wear so that each pair can rest between wearings.

Moisture, mud and sudden intense heat are shortcuts to the ruin of shoes, whether they be farm work shoes or of the dress variety. Wipe mud off while it is still wet if possible, or use warm water to remove caked and dried mud. A rubbing with a good oil or grease to put back some of the oil lost from the leather is next in order. Castor oil may be used on all kinds of leather shoes as it permits the use of polish afterwards. Neat's foot oil and tallow are excellent for work shoes and the high tops worn by many men and boys in Michigan as these soften and waterproof the leather. Warm the tallow or wool grease, spread on shoes with a soft cloth and rub in well.

Shoes should be protected by rubbers or overshoes in rainy and snowy weather. If shoes do get wet, stuff them with soft, crumpled paper to keep in shape and dry slowly away from direct heat.

Cleaning and polishing of footwear depends on the material. Kid, calf, reptile and kangaroo may be cleaned with cream or liquid; suede or napped leather surfaces are revived with a bristle

The Chickamauga National Park in Tennessee gave 8,000 cannon balls and all un-essential markers a nd plaques to the national scrap drive.

The crowded days FRIDAY SATURDAY SUNDAY MONDAY

The uncrowded days TUESDAY WEDNESDAY THURSDAY

by making my wartime trips in MID-WEEK

A little change in your travel habits makes a big difference in wartime transportation. By taking your trips on mid-week days — Tuesdays, Wednesdays, or Thursdays—you avoid week-end crowds. And you save a seat for a fighting man or a war worker — week-ends are often the only time he can travel at all. You'll find it wise, also, to skip holiday trips.

Under present conditions you may be inconvenienced on occasion but you can make things easier and simpler if you'll get tickets and information in advance —be prompt at terminals and rest stops to save precious minutes now that wartime speed is reduced — and take along less baggage than usual. If everybody helps there'll be no "bottlenecking!"

Advises Poultrymen To Be Careful — Collection of Eggs

Those eggs that never get out of the hen house make a total worth an extra million dollars a year to poultrymen in Michigan.

At least one egg in 25 gets broken or eaten by the hens before gathered, according to estimates made by C. G. Card, head of the Michigan State College poultry department.

One common fault comes from not providing sufficient nests. The average henhouse has a nest for each 10 hens.—one for every five hens makes a better proportion, according to tests. The extra nests, not lighted up as well as the feeding floors, help keep extra hens from crowding into nests already occupied.

Laying records at the college indicate from 60 to 75 percent of the eggs are laid before noon. That not only is an indication of need for plenty of nests, but means that the gathering periods often should be adjusted. If eggs can be gathered at least four times daily, the gathering should be at about 9:30 and 10 a.m., noon and at night.

Nesting material needs to be adequate. Professor Card suggests attention to the nesting material to prevent breakage of eggs. This prevention, in turn, would prevent hens from eating many of the eggs that they normally do eat.

From there on, it's simple arithmetic. With the annual egg crop worth approximately 25 million dollars in Michigan, the saving of every 25th egg ought to mean a million dollars a year for the effort. Right now, he says, that makes a good combination of economy and patriotism.

Uncle Sam wants more egg production.

You can get better results if you feed LARRO egg mash.

Roger Babson Says . . .

Insurance Check-up O. K. — Policies All Good

Investors will soon be seeing newspaper reports about the government getting after Fire Insurance companies. The trouble started with a grand jury investigation at Atlanta, Georgia; it will probably be pushed by the department of justice until it reaches the supreme court. The government has already investigated Life Insurance companies and they came through with a good bill of health. Now the government is after the Fire Insurance companies. It seems as if with Germans, Japanese and Italians on our backs, the department of justice could wait until after the war.

Insurance stocks may roughly be divided into four groups:— (1) Life (2) Health and Accident (3) Fire and Marine (4) Casualty. The Life Insurance companies already have government competition in the form of "Social Security" and will probably have more. On the other hand, it should be many years before there will not be a field for Life Insurance companies. There will always be a demand for policies which the government will not wish to issue.

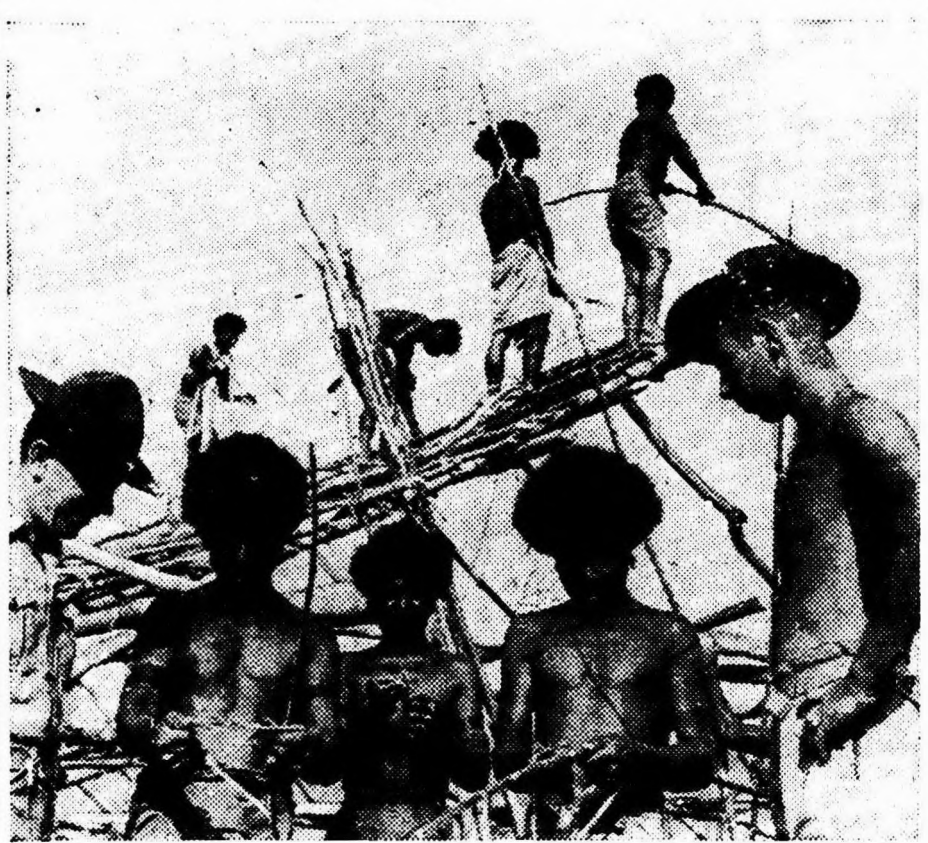

Fire Insurance companies will probably be forced to reorganize their sales methods. It is costing too much to sell all kinds of insurance. In fact, some New Dealers are said to believe that "selling" fire insurances should be eliminated by the adoption of automatic compulsory fire insurance equal to the assessed value of one's buildings. This, however, should not harm the good and independent companies which would still be needed to carry the insurance, make inspections and adjust losses. I further think highly of the stocks of well-established, independent Fire Insurance companies as inflation hedges. Such companies have an advantage in being able to raise their rates to meet any emergency—a privilege not enjoyed by Life Companies.

The future of Health and Accident companies is not so clear. Most of their policies are now for small amounts with working people. If Social Security is enlarged to include health and accident, these companies may suffer. The wise ones are already hedging by taking on other lines. The Casualty group are the newest in the field. Thus far they have been very successful; but how they will survive the war, only the future can tell. The government already owns one of the largest in the field.

The insurance business has always appealed to me as a most honorable business. It comes the nearest to Christian Teaching of any big business. Through insurance, when a family loses its father by death, or its home by fire, or its employment by illness, or gets involved in an unfortunate lawsuit, all the "neighbors" chip in and help pay the loss. The loss, which would otherwise fall on one family, is spread over

With U. S. Fighting Men in New Guinea

There is no timber in New Guinea, and so, when it comes to building, the American soldiers learn a trick or two from the natives near Port Moresby. Before the grass that is put on, the beams are securely tied with strips of bark which the natives are shown peeling. In the background the framework of one house is all but completed. Little forks that two of the natives wear in their hair are solely for pleasure—the pleasure of scratching.

thousands of families. Money invested in an insurance company can do a lot of good, be fairly safe and return a good income. In fact, due to their experience and set up, insurance companies have an opportunity of becoming leaders in the new Co-operative Commonwealth ahead government investigation? The answer is that too many insurance companies have gotten into the hands of Wall Street and other financiers or are being operated as helpless members of "fleets." Of course, the difficulty is that the reputations of good, independent companies, which are not mixed up with "fleets" or Wall Street, may suffer with these weak ones.

The Fire companies which should come through this investigation best are the medium-sized ones located outside of New York City free from certain "fleet" entanglements and not dependent upon any other company for business. Among the better ones are the following: Boston Insurance, Providence-Washington, Security of New Haven, Springfield Fire and Marine, Agricultural Insurance, New Hampshire Fire, Glens Falls, St. Paul Fire & Marine, Northwestern National Insurance and the Hartford Fire.

Of course, a successful company must have a good group of loyal and active agents. Most necessary of all, however, is an honest management which is working solely for the stockholders and has no conflicting outside interests. Such men should be good business-getters, conservative investors and experienced underwriters. Insurance companies should insist upon thorough investigation both as to risks and investments. Policyholders, however, have nothing to fear—wherever a company is located, whether independent or fleet member. Nothing is safer than fire insurance policies.

I advise readers to show their lists of insurance stocks to an honest broker, asking him to mark the ones which are being operated independently and are not depending upon some New York "daddy." These should be O.K. The value of "fleet members" depends largely, however, upon whether they are being operated solely for the benefit of the fleet stockholders, or are being operated, under a management contract, partly for the benefit of some other company.

Especially ascertain whether the directors of the company in which you hold stock are checking their investments, underwriting, agents, etc., or are blindly leaving these important matters to others.

Every company, whether or not a member of a "fleet," should keep in touch with its own agents and policyholders. Then, if at any time the management contract is cancelled by the big company, the little company would not be left high and dry as a mere shell. This can be avoided if the directors of the little companies will insist on proper up-to-date information and personal supervision. I go further and say that small companies which are members of "fleets" will ultimately survive or perish according to the character, independence and aggressiveness of their own local board of directors.

WOMEN AT WAR

Margaret turned off the humming vacuum cleaner, and straightened the slipcovers of the armchair and the daybed that she had pushed up to go over the rug. Then she stood quite still in the doorway and looked at the small bedroom with its southern exposure. It was as neat and impersonal as a pin. It might never have been lived in. The door stood open on the clean, bare closet. There was not a pennant, not a team picture, not even so much as an old Arithmetic book left to show where room it had once been.

Margaret stared at the walls, the furniture and slowly she realized that no matter what lodgers with their own trinkets and pictures might occupy it, she would always see it the old way. It was the old way that she saw it now. A pair of hard-worn gray pants lay on the floor where they had been dropped. Three baseball bats were stacked with a fishing rod in the corner. A battered red cap with a letter on it lay on the bed. And through the bed, as though it were transparent, Margaret saw another bed, smaller, and with high slatted sides.

She put the vacuum cleaner away and went down to her desk in the sitting-room. She took the fifteen dollars rent that the new lodger had paid that morning in advance for the room, and added it to her purse, three dollars and seventy-five cents more. Then she drew out a sheet of paper and began to write on it, slowly, gravely.

"To buy a bond to help train a young man to replace Don, Jr.—killed on June 6th in the Battle of Midway."

Help our boys. Make certain the wage earner of the family joins a payroll savings plan and tops that 10% by New Year's!

Senior Sketches

Lois I. Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hoffman, lives at 11729 Merriman road. She has traveled through the eastern part of the country and also in northern Michigan. Lois has attended all honor banquets, is a member of Leaders' club, Library club, chairman of tables and decoration of both the junior and senior banquets, head monitor of halls for two years, chairman of chaperon committee for Senior Prom, member of Student Council in her junior year; she earned a thousand-point letter and was the school's first drum major. Her hobbies are dancing and bowling while her aim in life is to do well whatever she does. Lois' pet peeve is inefficiency on the part of herself or others.

Whenever anyone is seen constantly in and out of Mr. Dykhouse's office on matters of state, one can be sure it is Gordon Vetal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vetal, 7098 Sheldon road. His high school career has been filled with many extracurricular activities, such as Student Council member in the junior and sophomore years, baseball, Hi-Y, junior play, chairman of J-Hop and Prom committees, and mayor of Plymouth high school. He has traveled through northern Michigan. He has a high aim in life, to be a successful farmer. His pet peeve is girls that smoke!

Marion Goodman, daughter of John and Helen Goodman of 1217 Penniman avenue, is hoping to graduate some day from the School of Architecture at the University of Michigan. While in high school she has accomplished much, working on the Plymouth Pilgrim Print staff, Girl Reserves three years, Student Council in the ninth grade, vice-president of the tenth grade, Student Council in the eleventh grade, senior president, debate two years, and she has been on committees for the J-Hop and prom. Her hobbies are drawing and tennis while her pet peeve is all people who call her Marion Ann. Marion has traveled to Washington, D.C., throughout New England, eastern Canada and Nova Scotia.

Betty Jones, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Jones, lives at 1312 Penniman avenue. She has traveled through most of the New England states, especially Massachusetts, and has also been through northern Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana. Among her school accomplishments are being a member of Senior Girl Reserves and on the chaperon committee for the Senior Prom. Her aim in life is to be happy and successful in her life work, while her most interesting hobby is horseback riding. Betty agrees with many of her classmates on her pet peeve as it is girls who wear pumps with ankle socks.

Jean Crandell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Crandell, resides at 974 Church street. She has been quite active in school and is a member of the Girl Reserves, in the junior play, on the Prom committee, in Girl Scouts, on a J-Hop committee, Senior Annual, and was secretary of her freshman class, treasurer of the senior class, and has her 1000-point letter. Jean loves to play popular and classical music and to read. Her aim in life is simply to be "happy." Jean's pet peeve is people who have no regard for the feelings of others.

The Girls' Triple Trio

A prominent musical organization in Plymouth is the triple trio, better known as the double quartet. The members are Valerie Kolin, Shirley Luttermoser, Joyce Tar-nutzer, Shirley Bassett, Lorraine Geary, Shirley Hoffman, Lois Ridley, Virginia Woods, Margaret Jean Nichol, and Ann Overdorf are seniors. The double quartet, under the direction of Mr. Luchtman, has sung at several clubs and assemblies, among them the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, the Northville D.A.R. and at the school's patriotic assembly. They will sing at the Christmas concert December 10 and they are singing for the civilian defense programs.

Just For Fun

All through the school we often hear people mention a word or two about their "pet peeves." Here are just a few belonging to JUNIORS.
 Bob Thams '44': "People that criticize something without knowing everything about it."
 Elaine Mahoney '44': "Braggers."
 Kenneth Anderson '44': "Girls who wear slacks of the same color and design as a horse blanket."
 Velda Rorabacher '44': "Stubborn people."
 Gale Wilson '44': "Teachers who give too much home work."
 Wilma Lounsbury '44': "Boys who hand out lines."
 Boy Deyo '44': "Two-faced women."
 Virginia Woolsey '44': "Men."

Student Wasting War Material

Recently a few of the arm-chair desks in Mr. Blunk's room have had the screws in the back rest taken out making them extremely tiresome to sit in. Apparently this is the work of some eccentric student who thinks he is being smart, but he is just wasting the janitor's time who must go around repairing the desks. Besides every time a screw must be replaced, it means just that much less metal for ammunition to fight the Axis so that we may come to school and get a liberal education.

If it is a case of needing the screws for a project in shop, Mr. Blunk says he will give the students a dime to buy some.

Keeping Up With Plymouth

Ho hum 'Yours truly' is weary trying to keep up with the kids around town and I mean really!! Guess what! Our little blond senior is going steady. Bob, you have something really good. How do you do it?

The Prom Friday surely was swell. Really I don't see how anything could have been any better. Miss Fiege, Elaine De-Plancher and Beth Honeisel deserve a big hand clap.
 Last week a new column was published. Some things said were not so nice, but then you can't help some morons. By the way 'Yours Truly' is not the unidentified author.

There were five morons standing on a corner waiting for a street car. They had an umbrella between them and kept passing it to the next person. Who got the wettest? Who said it was raining?
 Say, since when do girls go around wearing boys' letter sweaters? Personally boys, I wouldn't let the girls run you like that.

Who says presidents don't get around? I discovered that Ruth and Cass have much in common. They were even seen at the Prom together.

Speaking of Presidents, Mr. Roosevelt is probably rather worried about this time. You see Ray Kearney is now able President, according to the sixth hour government class.

I want another roll, Ma. Pass me the dice.

WOMEN AT WAR

Janey closed the bedroom door and locked it. Alone at last! She threw back her head and heaved a deep sigh. Then she peeked out of the corner of her eye at the mirror to see whether she really did look like Hedy LaMarr. Quite a lot, she decided.

And now to business. She drew forth from the bottom of her top bureau drawer the sheet of pink writing paper and the envelope that had been saving for this day. She sat down at the table by the window and dipped the pen into the bottle of green ink that her sister Rose was such a pig about.

She wrote, with beautiful arabesques, "Dear Mr. Morgenthau," and held her head back to admire this masterpiece of the best pupil in penmanship class.

"Here are my stamps for a bond. $18.75. I started last Christmas when I got $3.00. Not counting 50 cents, I have earned all the rest, working one or more days a week at a local grocery store, and I'm quite proud to say I worked hard to get it."

Janey stared out of the window at Peterson's house and beyond at the big yard where the kids were playing football. She held her pen elegantly in air.

"Sitting here looking out the window, I see a peaceful little town, and I wonder how the world can be in such a turmoil and the people of this world can have such hate for their fellow men. So I'm proud to send these stamps because I know I'm helping to make the whole world peaceful again like our little town."

She signed her name with an important flourish, not forgetting a conspicuous "Miss" in front of the "Janey." After she had sealed the letter she went on out to the window. It really was awfully peaceful. Overhead she heard a plane go humming by through the sunny afternoon air.

Then the voice of her best friend, Betty, called from outside—"Janey!" In an instant Janey was on her feet and tearing downstairs and out. She was not Hedy LaMarr nor a deep philosopher any more, but exactly twelve years old.

(Letter from an actual communication in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Grown-ups and children alike should all help the "breadwinner" of the family to budget for War Bonds. Let's all join a payroll savings plan and "top that 10% by New Year's."

Rocks Finish Successful Season

According to Coach Matulis, the Plymouth football squad's season record, four wins against three loss, is fairly successful in view of the many injuries sustained by the Rocks' players. Of Plymouth's nine touchdowns, Ebersole scored two, one of which was in the Farmington game that Plymouth won 18-0, while Ebersole's other touchdown was made in the Trenton game, in which the Rocks also won 18-0. Eshler also scored two touchdowns, one in the game with Wayne that Plymouth won 12-0, and another against Farmington. Ray Kearney scored his only touchdown in the Farmington game. Art Gillis scored a touchdown after catching a pass from Sheppard in the Wayne game. Donahue's score, winning the Ypsilanti game 7-6, was also made after catching one of Sheppard's passes. Riblett and Sheppard each made their lone touchdowns in the Trenton game. It will be noted that all games the Rocks scored in they won. In all of Plymouth's three defeats, they were beaten by two touchdowns.

The football squad were guests at a Rotary meeting last Friday in which the president of the Detroit Lion team, Tatchshaw, was guest speaker.

The football league standings are as follows:
 Tied for first, Ecorse and Dearborn;
 Second, Birmingham;
 Third, Plymouth;
 Fourth, Wayne;
 Fifth, Ypsilanti.

Mr. Hedrick's biology classes are beginning a new chapter on forest conservation. Since the soil and water are the basis for all living things, methods are being devised to conserve these. One method of conservation is planting forests.

The 8B Homemaking class under the direction of Mrs. Soule has furnished the showcase in the main lobby. Thanksgiving figures are pasted on the windows and a diet quiz is also posted. A nightgown made by Joan Sockow proves the poster "We're not worried about fuel rationing."

Reverend Honecke, Tuesday, November 17, showed colored movies of Arizona to Mr. Reeves and the students of the 7A geography. There were pictures concerning the customs and traditions of the Indians and scenic views of Arizona. The students enjoyed it a great deal and learned much.

After finishing "Macbeth," the 12B English class listened to the Maurice Evans records about the play "Macbeth."

Thanksgiving Day In War

In the year of 1621, the Pilgrims of Plymouth Colony in New England made great preparations for a feast in thanks to the Almighty for a successful season for crops. It was not just a feast, though, for the Pilgrims, since 80 friendly Indians joined in the celebration of Thanksgiving. Today, 321 years later, although involved in a worldwide struggle for the things that the Pilgrims came to America for, we should profit by a few of their examples. We should not forget the spirit of Thanksgiving, that of giving thanks for all our opportunities of the past year. The Pilgrims were not wasteful either; they saved their waste fats to make into soap and candles. They conserved whatever possible by using all "wastes" whenever possible. Right now, our government is trying to follow the Pilgrim example of conserving. We have had to ration coffee, sugar, gas and other commodities, but still we have a country to give thanks for on this Thanksgiving, a War Thanksgiving.

G. R. Committees Changed

Because the Girl Reserves' standard committees were not functioning as they should, the executive board, headed by President Dorothy Fisher, planned new committees last Tuesday. The chairman of these are: Ways and means, Faith Brandt; service, Margaret Jean Nichol; devotions, Shirley Luttermoser; music, Esir Mettetal; publicity, Marion Goodman; program, Joyce Tarnutzer; social, Janice Downing; national defense, Pat Hudson.
 These committees were announced Wednesday in meeting.
 Mrs. Ira Swartz, formerly Helen Wells, visited the club meeting Wednesday. Mrs. Swartz was the girls' advisor for many years before her marriage this summer.

Coons, Muskrats Are Good Food

Asks Housewives To Discard Prejudices

If housewives of Plymouth and other Michigan cities could discard their prejudices more than a million pounds of good quality meat available annually from animals trapped for their fur could be added to Michigan's wartime food supply, conservation department game men say.

Despite popular scorn of muskrats as food, a small but thriving trade in these "marsh rabbits" has existed for years, with many of the customers enthusiastic about the meat. There are connoisseurs who praise roast raccoon, some like well done woodchuck, and in the south even the ugly opossum is a favorite dish for many. Oldtimers in the north appreciate a taste of beaver.

Last season Michigan trappers and hunters took more than 43,000 raccoons, about 600,000 muskrats, 10,000 opossums and 7,000 beavers. Kitchen skill could make good eating of most of them, as it did in the state's pioneer days.

Ford Rolls Out Big U. S. Tanks

Production Strong, Says Paul Wiedman

Excellent progress is being made by the Ford Motor company in the production of new style 32-ton tanks for Uncle Sam's army, according to information provided to Paul Wiedman of the Plymouth Motor Sales company by the Ford company.

Scheduled for constantly increasing production, these land dreadnaughts are being constructed almost wholly from equipment and materials manufactured in Ford plants. Two great factories, including one turning out tank armor plate, are pouring finished parts and sub-assemblies into the assembly building.

The number of tanks being made daily cannot be revealed, but more than one assembly line is operating where the first assembly line operated years ago.

Contributing to the speedy mass production of the steel monsters are Ford innovations. Distinctly revolutionary is their method of making non-buckling armor plate. This formula not only eliminates the use of considerable equipment but sharply reduces production time.

Another feature of the new 32-ton juggernaut—one that will be heartily endorsed by tank crews—is the increased accessibility of vital parts. Even the tough, compact engine can be lifted out and replaced or repaired with comparative ease. Re-designing of the final drive, engineers point out, cuts machining time and speeds up the assembly of the tanks. In the field, where minutes may mean the difference between victory and defeat, American fighters will be able to service the craft with greater speed than ever before.

Grueling tests to which the tanks have been submitted demonstrate that the steel monsters can take combat punishment.

Faced with many technical barriers when they first went into tank production, Ford engineers took the assignment in their war stride. First concerned with the adaptation of this new and vital job to Ford production methods, they surveyed what peacetime equipment they had at hand and then went to work.

An example of the shortcut methods they used is found at one plant, where approximately 85 per cent of the equipment in use is the same which served to turn out motors for Ford cars.

Salvaging of this machinery was made possible, the engineers said, by designing the tank unit to be manufactured with facilities already available. To tool up the plant for war production, it was only necessary to shift machines and equip them with new fixtures.

Ford engineers, who regard a bottleneck as something to be re-designed rather than broken, approached every phase of production with the same idea of using available equipment. Result of this attitude has been speeding up in production of a number of parts going into the tank construction.

Another illustration of the Ford method is the production of the gun mount. Previously constructed of 27 fabricated parts, it is now being turned out in three castings, with time being slashed by two-thirds.

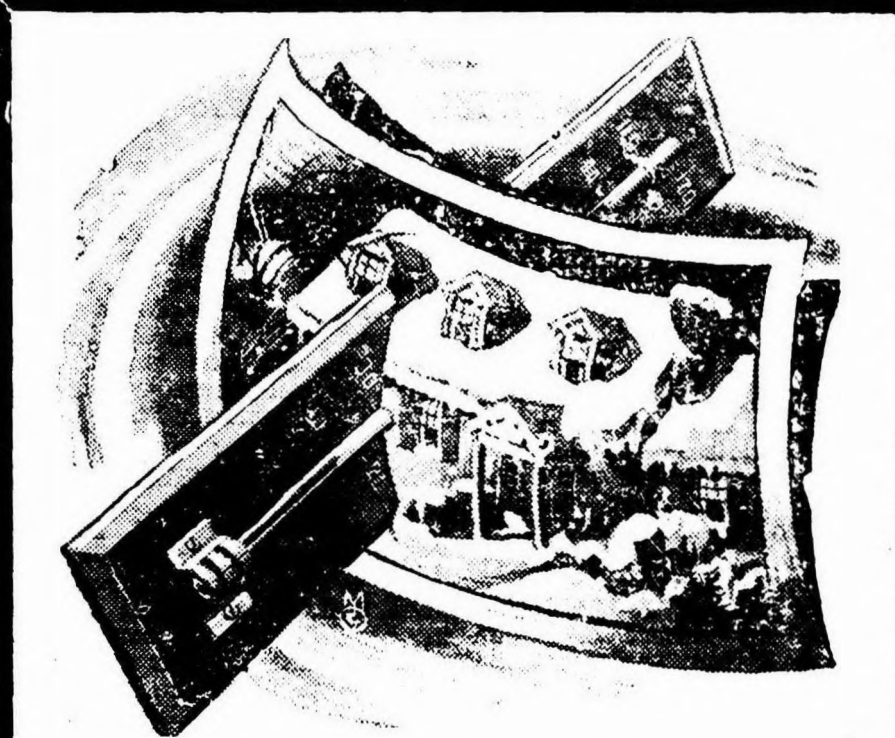

In preparing the plant for its heavy assembling task, Ford re-novated the huge building, built additions, converted machines of the ground and installed thousands of time-telescoping tools. A total of four buildings were changed over.

ROAD TO VICTORY!

By Jane Tompkins

It may seem like a far cry from raccoons, beavers, snowshoe rabbits, polar bears, musk-oxen, and penguins (which is what I have been writing about during the past few years) to the subject of War Bonds and Stamps; but, when you stop to think about it, the two are kindred. For just as raccoons and other creatures of the wild yearn for freedom and security, so do human beings feel that life without freedom and security is an unhappy existence.

The price of freedom is high, but no price is too high. That is why we are now engaged in a war that must end in Victory. It is a people's war. That means you, and me, and all those near and dear to us. It means the children in school, the teacher, the grocer on Main Street, the boy who lives around the corner. For there is some way in which every single one of us—men, women, and children—can help to win. Each of us can do his share. And one way of sharing the burden is this: Buy War Stamps. Buy War Bonds. Keep on buying them, even if it means sacrifice. For one of the ways in which the part of all Americans can we hope to win the Victory that will keep us free from oppression, and will free those who are now enslaved. So, don't forget, BUY STAMPS, BUY BONDS. Do your share on the home front while our men are doing THEIR share on land and sea and in the air! KEEP AMERICA FREE—KEEP AMERICA STRONG—LET'S ALL PULL TOGETHER FOR VICTORY!

With Plymouth Boys
In the Armed Services of Our Country—Fighting for the Preservation of Our America!

ALBERT DRAKE DOWN IN NEW GUINEA WHERE THE BOYS ARE DOING THINGS

When Uncle Sam's fighting lads go right into the heart of the jungles of New Guinea to kill the sneaking Japs. The Plymouth Mail is right there to cheer the youthful patriots on—to tell them what the "home folks" are doing to help them win their smashing victories, to tell them about their friends in the armed forces in other parts of the world.

A letter mailed to The Plymouth Mail by Albert Drake on November 8 from somewhere in New Guinea, way down on the other side of the earth, reached Plymouth in just 12 days from the time it was mailed—a most remarkable accomplishment on the part of Uncle Sam's mail services.

"Al" as he is best known to his host of Plymouth friends, who enlisted in April, 1941, has seen some pretty tough fighting down in New Guinea, if one can read between the lines in his letter.

One paragraph says: "Those left of us are now attached to the following unit."

He gives the number of the new fighting squadron he is now associated with—indicating that there apparently were not enough left of the squadron he was first associated with to maintain an organization, and a consolidation of units has been necessary, as so frequently takes place after hard military engagements.

Judging from news dispatches from New Guinea, it looks as though Al has been doing his part in helping to put the finishing touches to the "sneaky eyes" who thought they could drive the American boys from the island.

In part, Al's interesting letter, written November 8 follows:

"Just finished reading The Plymouth Mail of August 14, and I want you to know how much the paper is appreciated way off down here in the New Guinea jungles.

"Uncle Sam is mighty good to see to it that letters and papers get to us, after they have followed us more than half way around the globe. It takes about two and a half months for our mail to reach us from back home. Nevertheless, even if it's not right up to date, it's mighty good reading. Please accept my gratitude for what you are doing.

"Extend my good wishes to all of my old friends back home. I can't possibly write to all of them but I wish them to know that I often think about them."

Al, one time Ishpeming boy, came to Plymouth some nine or ten years ago to live with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Squires, of North Harvey street. Just previous to his enlistment he was employed in the Phoenix plant of the Ford Motor company. Friends wishing to write Al can secure his address from The Plymouth Mail.

EUGENE BAKEWELL NOW AVIATION CADET

Eugene L. Bakewell, 20, who has a brother fighting with the Navy in the Pacific war zone, has been enlisted for flight training in the U.S. Naval Reserve as an aviation cadet, it was announced here today. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bakewell, 38105 Plymouth road.

He was placed on inactive duty after being sworn in at the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board in the Book Tower building at Detroit and he will be held in that status until called to a class at the Navy's pre-flight school at the State University of Iowa.

At Iowa City he will get three months' physical and ground school training before being transferred to a Naval Reserve Aviation Base for primary flight work. Advanced flight training will be taken at Pensacola, Florida, or Corpus Christi, Texas and he will be qualified, upon graduation, for Navy Wings and a commission as an Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve or as a Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve.

Bakewell attended Ohio Wesleyan university where he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega, national social fraternity.

CAN'T TELL WHERE HE IS, BUT HE'S IN THE JUNGLES SOMEWHERE

In a letter to The Plymouth Mail Private First Class Jack Warkup, says he can't tell in what part of the world he is located, but wherever it is, it's in the jungleland and The Plymouth Mail follows him right to the front lines, where he is located.

In part, Soldier Warkup wrote to The Plymouth Mail as follows: "First of all, let me thank you for sending The Plymouth Mail which I look for regularly and appreciate very deeply.

"Due to strict censorship of our mail here I am unable to give my whereabouts, but it certainly doesn't compare in any way with the good old Wolverine state.

"I have been with Uncle Sam's forces now since last October '41, and 11 months of it has been in foreign service.

"Things here are so much different than they are back there that one finds it very hard to believe and get accustomed to the country. "Although we have seen no action here, we do get rugged hikes through dense jungles, but I guess they expect that from any army man.

"I go on pass once a week but find very little to do in the line of excitement, nothing more than a couple of shows and a trip to a swimming pool, or a bowling alley.

"While looking over The Plymouth Mail the other day I ran across an article stating that a good friend of mine sailed within a few hundred yards of me. If I had of only known maybe I could have seen him.

"After reading your article, 'With Plymouth Boys' it really makes a guy feel great to think of all those fellows that are in there pitching in this big game.

"We all wish to send our thanks to all of you back there for your big 'scrap' drives, don't think for a minute that it won't help.

"We have very fine radio reception here and all of the latest movie productions so you see we are not shut off from civilization altogether.

"About time with my trick of guard duty so will sign off for now, sir.

"Let's see Plymouth snow Northville under on this big, rival scrap program they are having.

"Thanking you again, sir, for The Plymouth Mail I am, just another soldier."

MEETS OLD PLYMOUTH FRIEND ON FLYING FIELD DOWN IN YORK STATE

Sergeant Forbes M. Smith, in the flying services of the army down East, in a recent letter to The Mail, writes:

"As I was working on the line the other day, I had some one give me an awful crack on the back. I turned around and there stood Jack Kinsey. You don't know how glad I was to see him. He is the first fellow I have met from Plymouth since I have been in the Army.

"Jack graduated from Randolph Field, Texas, as a First Lieutenant, pilot in the U.S. Air Corps. We had quite a discussion of old times together. We talked about The Plymouth Mail and I showed him a few copies that I had. Jack is the same old fellow he was in high school.

"When he was not flying here he had a football in his hand. Jack is attached to a bombardment squadron, and is flying a Flying Fortress, so the other day I had to say goodbye to him, as he left this field to go overseas and I have heard he has landed there safely.

"Jack married a girl from San Antonio, Texas. She was staying here at the hotel until he left.

"My job here is to inspect all planes and O.K. them before embarkation. I am an instrument specialist here on the field. This is an important job as the pilots depend on me. I like my job very well. I have made a lot of friends all over the country and would not trade this for civilian life, as I have not a worry in the world."

PROUD TO SAY HE IS FROM PLYMOUTH

"I'm really proud to say I'm from Plymouth when I read in The Plymouth Mail how much they are doing in the way of the scrap drive and the war bond purchases. All I can say that it pleases the boys in uniform to know that the folks back home are trying to do so much. Keep up the good work and we'll have this business of 'educating' the Axis finished before we know it," writes Stanley Allen, now with Uncle Sam's fighting forces down at Wilmington, North Carolina.

"I should have written you long before this to thank you for The Mail, but it's better late than never. I am changing stations this week and do not know now what my new address will be so I am asking you to hold my copy of The Mail until you get my address.

"I expect to be home soon for a few days and needless to say I am anxious to see all my friends, but from what I read in The Mail it looks as though most of them have gone into the army or navy.

"Have you any news from my old friend Joe Merritt? Even though you do not hear from him, I know he is O.K. We will find that when this thing is all over with Joe had a better poker hand than did the Japs and he beat 'em to it.

"I received a letter from my old outfit the other day, of which many Plymouth boys are members. They are doing a good job and have already won a reputation of which they can be proud. Thanks again for sending me The Mail."

GORDON A. MOE NOW A STAFF SERGEANT

In a letter to The Plymouth Mail asking for a change in address of his paper, Gordon A. Moe advises that he has been promoted to staff sergeant and that it was effective the first of November. He is now at a flying field in northern California.

"Like my work very much. It's all perfect in every way. Thanks for sending The Mail to me. You do not realize how anxious I am to receive it every week. Give my regards to all of my old friends in Plymouth," he writes to The Mail.

IT'S CAPTAIN KINCAIDE FROM NOW ON

The Plymouth Mail has been advised by Major Seymour Pond of the First Air Service Command at Hempstead, New York, that Lieutenant N. T. Kincaide has recently been promoted to captain. The young captain is a former resident at 40757 Plymouth road and since entering the army has been making exceptional progress.

FORMER BANK TELLER LIKES THE NAVY

Jack F. Sipes, former teller of The Plymouth United Savings bank, now in the United States navy, who has been home on a brief leave, has returned to Newport, Rhode Island, but he is uncertain as to where he will be stationed in the future. He spent some of his time when home visiting with his sister, Mrs. Edwin Lentesty of Cranston avenue in Rosedale Gardens and friends in Plymouth. He recently passed a navy examination as pharmacist mate, third class. It is possible that he will be assigned to new duties when he returns to the East.

While home the youthful "banker-gob" expressed his pleasure in receiving The Plymouth Mail. "My friends in the navy, whether they are from Michigan, Texas, Georgia, or Colorado, are just as anxious to read The Plymouth Mail as I am. It's surprising to know how the lads from all over the country like to read it—and praise it," said Jack.

He enlisted in the navy in March, has gained ten pounds and likes the navy very much. He is high in his praise of the way men are treated in the navy and the excellent food served the sailors.

TWO MORE PLYMOUTH BOYS AT GREAT LAKES

Two more names were inscribed last week on the honor list of Plymouth men who are fighting with the U.S. Navy in the war against the Axis. These new recruits arrived at the U.S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes to begin recruit training.

Now being whipped into top fighting form through the Navy's vigorous physical hardening program, the new recruits are also getting instruction in military drill, seamanship, and naval procedure. Soon they will be given a series of aptitude tests to determine whether they are qualified to attend one of the Navy's many service schools with an opportunity of earning a petty officer's rating.

Upon completion of the recruit training program, the Plymouth Bluejackets will be granted a nine-day leave, at which time they will probably come home. They are: Lawrence Coopersmith, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Eves, 33600 Starr, and Howard B. Williams, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ada Williams, 548 Kellogg street.

BENNY DARNELL HOSPITAL GRADUATE

Benny Edward Darnell, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Darnell, 14415 Northville road, Plymouth, was graduated recently from the Hospital Corps school at the U.S. Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, Illinois.

Darnell, one of a class of 515 men, is now rated as a hospital apprentice, second class. Graduation terminates a six-week course of preliminary training at the Corps school. Included in the course is the study of anatomy and physiology, hygiene and sanitation, materia-medica and weights and measures, first aid and bandaging, nursing, transportation of casualties, and dietetics.

The graduates will continue training at Naval hospitals before being sent to duty at sea or to other shore stations.

HAS BEEN TRANSFERRED TO SAN FRANCISCO BASE

News has been received in Plymouth that Robert Weaver, third class petty officer in the United States Navy, has been transferred to San Francisco, California. He will serve in some branch of the navy operating from the West coast.

WILLIAM J. AMRHEIN NOW AVIATION CADET

William J. Amrhein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Amrhein, 353 Starkweather avenue, has enlisted as an aviation cadet and has passed his examinations. The 19-year-old lad, a graduate of the South Lyon high school, has been employed at the Kelsey-Hayes plant in Plymouth until recently.

"I enlisted to get in the branch of the armed services I like best and to help beat the Axis," declared the young man.

Kenneth Packard, son of Ellsworth Packard, from Pinconning, Michigan, visited Gus Gates and family last Sunday.

James Darnell of Willow Creek, was home from Camp Custer Sunday.

Harry Ayers Recovers From Recent Operation

Plymouth friends of Harry Ayers, well known fruit grower of East Ann Arbor Trail, will be glad to know that he is making an excellent recovery from a recent stomach operation, in a Santa Monica, California hospital, where he had been taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Ayers left Plymouth during October to make their usual winter stay in California. They made the trip by automobile. It was not long after their arrival on the coast, when Mr. Ayers became ill. Physicians advised an operation, which has proved most beneficial.

According to government estimates, the seasonal kill of waterfowl would provide enough down and feathers for 300,000 aviators' pants and parkas, more than 10,000 sleeping coats or 500,000 sub-zero jackets. If hunters plucked and turned in the down and small body feathers of all birds they kill.

and now salvaging LIGHT to help boost WAR PRODUCTION

No added lamps—no additional electricity—but factory illumination DOUBLED by salvaging light! That's the story of the newest tool for increasing war production in plants large and small. Here's how it's done.

Men work better under good light. The easier they can SEE, the more they can accomplish—with fewer mistakes and less accidents. For improving general illumination, light salvaged is just as useful as light added—and it costs much less. How does one salvage light? With soap and water and a paint brush. Soap and water for removing dirt from grimy walls . . . fresh paint (white, cream, or similar shades) to lighten dark walls and ceilings.

Dark walls and ceilings, dark floors and furniture and machines all soak up light. If these are painted light in color, they REFLECT most of the light instead of absorbing it immediately, and you "salvage light." One typical plant increased its light utilization 102 per cent without adding a single lamp bulb, simply by painting the walls and floors and ceilings a lighter color.

For helpful advice on any industrial lighting problem, Detroit Edison Lighting Advisors are at your service, without charge. Make use of their skilled assistance.
