Urges Farmers To Collect Scrap Early This Month

Donald Nelson Sends Wire Telling of Urgent Need for Metal

Although residents of Plymouth and vicinity have responded most enthusiastically to scrap iron, stocking, tin and every other kind of a drive conducted in behalf of the nation's war program, another urgent appeal has been received from Donald Nelson for farmers and others to accumulate as much scrap iron as possible during the next few weeks.

Chairman Nelson of the War Production Board says in his telegram to The Plymouth Mail: "The government is asking the American farmer to dedicate the remaining weeks of 1942 to an intensified scrap drive. Steel mills need more heavy scrap and the farms are the best sources of this type of metal. We need your further help in this farm drive, and in aiding our salvage committees to continue this effort throughout the next few weeks. All salvage committees are being instructed to continue to make available to the farmer all their transportation facilities and manpower and to cooperate with you in every possible way. The nation is looking to the American farmer. I am sure, with your help, he will come through."

Because of the fact that all of the scrap accumulated during the fall drive has not been removed from the three big scrap piles in Plymouth, one should not gain the idea that the government does not need more. There is probably between 400 and 500 tons remaining stored in the three piles on the Hough lot on North Main street, on the Jack Miller lot on Starkweather and on the WPA lot next to the Pere Marquette tracks.

Because of transportation conditions its removal has been somewhat slow, but it is being moved as rapidly as possible. The committee in charge of the junk removal, according to Mrs. Mildred Barnes, chairman of the general salvage committee, states that the purchaser of the junk has promised to have the Hough and Miller piles removed to the blast furnaces immediately.

But this should in no way interfere with the new drive requested by Chairman Nelson. He is exceedingly anxious to have farmers collect and pile up in some convenient place near their barns or highway all of the scrap metal they can find on their farms. It is urged that this be done now so that it will not be buried during the winter with snow. If placed in piles, it can easily be collected at any time during the winter.

Residents of Plymouth and vicinity responded most enthusiastically during the fall drive. It is urged that they do as well now as there is no question but what they will.

This Week's Edition of Parade's Weekly Features Plymouth Girl

MISS CHARLOTTE JOLLIFFE

It's not often that a Michigan girl makes good in New York, but here's one from Plymouth who did—she has made good in a big way. In a letter to The Plymouth Mail, Gardner Features of New York, says Miss Charlotte Jolliffe climbed into "the foreground via her background." She is proclaimed as the possessor of the most beautiful back of any girl in America.

By diligent and tireless work, she has become a real specialist in the model field in the world's new fashion center.

Miss Jolliffe, daughter of City Commissioner Robert and Mrs. Jolliffe, of 354 North Main street, after graduating from the Plymouth high school entered the University of Michigan where she studied for several years before going to Detroit to model. Later she went to New York to study radio dramatics when John Powers, the famous New York artist's agency, thought she looked even better than she sounded and induced her to enter the field in which she has made such a success. The host of old school friends of Miss Jolliffe among whom she was always popular, have known for some time of her success flight in the metropolis.

Here's a free ad for John Knight's Detroit Free Press—it is the only newspaper in Michigan that circulates Parade's Weekly, and Miss Jolliffe's picture will be in Sunday's edition.

Norma Cassady Shop is Enlarged

Fast Growing Business Forces Expansion

Rapidly increasing business has forced a considerable enlargement of the popular Norma Cassady dress shop at 842 Penniman avenue and now the store ranks as one of the best of its kind in Wayne county outside the city of Detroit.

When it was opened a few years ago by Mrs. Cassady, its space was not large and the selections were limited because of lack of room.

But so rapidly has the business increased that workmen recently more than doubled the floor space. New display cases made in Plymouth have been installed.

The expert craftsmanship of the H. R. Penhale company are reflected in the attractiveness of these new cases.

The Plymouth Mail is most appreciative of the tribute Mrs. Cassady gives The Plymouth Mail in her advertisement this week. She has been a consistent advertiser and realizes the benefits of good advertising.

The line of goods carried in the store has been considerably increased and women shoppers can now fill most of their needs in the Norma Cassady shop.

Nearly 200 Buy War Bonds Dec. 7

Clarifies Use of Fuel Oil Books

Doing things in the usual Plymouth way, nearly 200 citizens of this community on Tuesday, December 7 purchased war bonds at the postoffice and banks just so they might not forget the date that the sneaking Japs blew up America's Pearl Harbor when they were talking peace in Washington.

The total amount of the sales ran considerably over $10,000 for the one day.

Many purchased bonds for the purpose of giving them as Christmas presents.

Plymouth's record for the year is going to be good—but it's going to require a lot of pushing to reach the $200,000 figure that has been set for the month of December.

Two hundred thousand dollars in war bonds in December! Let's go!

Over Quarter Ton Of Silk Stockings Collected Here

Plymouth, As Usual, Goes Way Over Top in Silk Drive

From the little city of Plymouth, with a population slightly under 6,000, there has been shipped during the past two weeks over 600 pounds of old silk and nylon hosiery to a government war munitions plant somewhere in the East. Six hundred pounds!

That's over a quarter of a ton of old stockings that have been collected by women in Plymouth and vicinity and turned over to the collecting depots in Plymouth. John Blyton, who is in charge of the shipping arrangements and also directs the work of the central "depot" for the collection at the Taylor & Blyton store, stated yesterday that he already has a good start for another hundred-pound shipment.

Mrs. Frank Terry, chairman of the stocking collection committee, is highly elated with the results of the campaign in Plymouth.

"I knew we would have good results, but little did I expect that we would collect so many hundreds of pounds. But the work has only started. We must try and make a shipment every two weeks if possible. It is most encouraging the way the women of this locality have responded," stated Mrs. Terry yesterday.

The goal has now been placed at a hundred-pound shipment every two weeks.

"Will Plymouth women make it? Sure they will," declares Mrs. Terry.

Theatres Close Christmas Eve

Employees to Get New Years Off, Too

So that the employees of the Penn theatre and the Penniman-Allyn theatres in Plymouth and Northville may enjoy Christmas and New Year's eves at home, Harry Lush, owner and manager of these theatres, has announced that there will be no shows on those evenings.

This is a decided departure from past years, but Mr. Lush states that there has been so much additional work in recent months, due to the large crowds that he and his theatre assistants are entitled to these two important holiday evenings.

During recent weeks both of the theatres in Plymouth and Northville have experienced exceptionally heavy patronage.

Rag Collection Next Wednesday

Plymouth Women Out For New Record

Good ladies of Plymouth! It's rags now! You've given up your old stockings, tin cans and what-not for Uncle Sam.

Now he wants your rags! He's got to have them. Wednesday, December 16, has been set by the Plymouth salvage committee, as the day for the first general collection in Plymouth and vicinity.

You are to do your own collecting and delivering. The Salvation Army building on Union street has been designated the collection center. You can leave your rags there at any time you desire Wednesday.

If there is no one at the building at the time you deliver the rags, just leave them on the porch, and they will soon be taken care of by members of the Salvation Army.

According to the committee chairman, it is up to the block aides to see to it that the rag drive is just as successful as has been the other drives conducted by the women of the city.

It's rags for Uncle Sam—and let's see how many hundreds of pounds we can give him next Wednesday!

Women - Voters League To Discuss Housing

The Plymouth League of Women Voters will hold their December meeting at the home of Mrs. Jesse Hines, 1051 North Mill street Friday afternoon, December 11 at 1:45. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Thomas Bateman and will deal with local housing problems.

Private Hollis Westfall who is stationed in Missouri and father, William Westfall, Mrs. Addie Westfall, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Burnea and little son, Guy, and Lee Fisher were entertained at a Tuesday evening dinner, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bunya on Joy road, Canton Center.

To Direct New Nursery School

LIEUT. MARIE HOUSE

This energetic Plymouth Salvation Army Miss has made all of the arrangements and done most of the work in making ready the nursery school where Plymouth working mothers can leave their children during the day.

New Nursery To Be Opened Monday Morning

Salvation Army Ready to Care for Small Children

With paint and brush and wall paper, Lieutenant Marie House of the Plymouth Salvation Army, assisted by willing workers of the organization, has finished and made ready the large house at 188 North Mill street for the day nursery school that will be open Monday morning for public service.

Any mother, whether engaged in war work or civilian work or finds it necessary to have some one care for her children during the day will be able to make arrangements to have the children cared for at the nursery school.

While the school will open Monday morning as scheduled, the formal dedication will not take place until Saturday, December 19. Details of this service will be published in The Plymouth Mail next week.

A tireless worker, long experienced in the conduct of a nursery school, Lieutenant House has personally re-papered all of the rooms with attractive wall paper for children.

Each one of the hangers for the wraps of children and the towels each lot will use, are marked with different nursery pictures, so that the little boys and girls will be able to designate their own hooks by the pictures that adorn them.

The nursery will be open at 6 o'clock Monday morning and remain open until 6 o'clock each evening.

"If we find that these hours are not the best, we will change them as the needs require," said Lieutenant House.

Children, two, three and five years of age will be cared for, providing mothers desire the splendid supervised attention they will receive at the Army nursery school. Excellent care as well as good meals will be provided the youngsters.

There are many mothers in Plymouth who are not working in war plants, but who are engaged in other occupations and some who are giving much of their time to various civilian defense activities who might desire to leave their children at the school. These will gladly be accepted.

It is nothing less than amazing what has been accomplished by Lieutenant House and her energetic assistants.

Peter Miller Given Position

Will be Governor's Publicity Chief

One of the prize appointments of the newly elected governor, Harry Kelly, goes to Peter Ralph Miller, 40170 East Ann Arbor Trail, a well known advertising man of Detroit. Mr. Miller will be chief of the publicity staff of the new governor's office and will assume his duties in Lansing on January 1.

He has been associated with the Brindley-Roth, Inc., advertising agency in Detroit and advertising manager of the Demery and Company department store.

While he has not in recent years been active in Plymouth affairs, the family is well known in Plymouth. A sister, Mrs. Harold Cook, is manager of the Sally Sheer shop, located in the Mayflower hotel.

The Millers and the Kelly family have been close friends for years.

Plymouth Boys Begin Registering For Army Today

Hereafter All Boys Must Register When They Become 18

Plymouth boys will be among the 25,000 Michigan youths who will be registered in the sixth and probably the last general Selective Service registration to be conducted by local boards during the period beginning today, Friday, December 11, and continuing through December 31, it has been announced by Col. E. M. Rosecrans, state director.

Men who became 18 during July and August this year will be registered on any day during the week beginning today, Friday. Men who became 18 during September and October will be registered during the week commencing Friday, December 18; and those who became 18 during November or December will be registered during the period beginning December 28 and ending December 31.

Hereafter men born on or after January 1, 1925, will register on the day they become 18. If their birthday falls on Sunday or a legal holiday, they will register on the following day. Registration will take place generally in the offices of the 192 local boards in Michigan. In certain instances the local boards may designate other places of registration in the community.

Men subject to registration should register at the local board having jurisdiction over their residence address. Persons away from home at the time of registration may register at the office of the nearest local board.

In every instance the residence address given by the registrant will determine the local board that will always have jurisdiction over him. Persons outside the United States will register immediately upon their return. Inmates of state institutions will register at the time they are released.

More than 1,800,000 men have already been registered by the Michigan Selective Service System, Colonel Rosecrans indicated, in one of the most complete inventories of manpower ever accomplished. This includes all men in Michigan between the ages of 18 and 65. All men between the ages of 1 and 45 have been declared by Congress to be liable for military service, if not otherwise deferred by their local boards. It is expected that the bulk of the manpower calls for the Armed Forces from Michigan will be made from registrants in the teen age group during the next few months.

Buys Goods For Spring Trade

John Blyton Pleaced With New York Trip

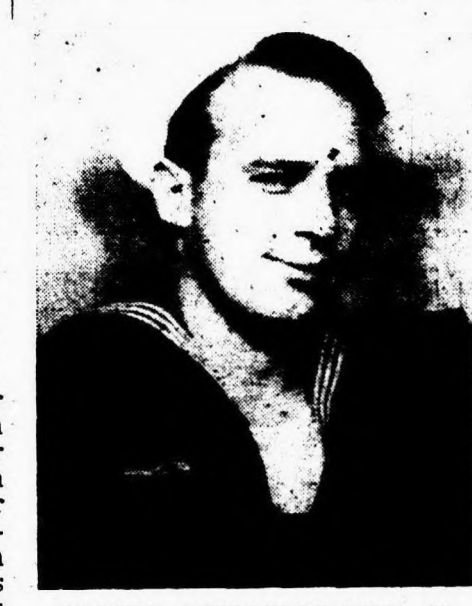

John Blyton of the Taylor and Blyton store has just returned from a buying trip to New York City, well satisfied with the results that he was able to accomplish for Plymouth's big department store.

"I was somewhat fearful of what the results might be, when I went East a few days ago. But fortunately, indeed, I was able to place some very satisfactory orders for some nice spring and early summer goods," stated Mr. Blyton yesterday.

"Irrespective of the various shortages, there is going to be an excellent selection for our customers. It is quite surprising what the manufacturers have been able to do in the face of the many problems they have been forced to meet. I am very well pleased," he added.

Goodfellows Plan Christmas Newspaper Sale

Will Again See to It That No One is Missed by Santa

Chairman Robert Jolliffe of the Plymouth Goodfellows' Newsboy club has completed plans for the annual newspaper sale and the distribution of Christmas baskets and has named his various committees.

The newspaper sale in Plymouth will take place on Saturday, December 19.

Committees have been appointed to look after the purchase of needed clothing, food, and toys that will be distributed. These committee members will work out details for the distribution of articles that will be purchased with the funds raised.

Secretary Arno Thompson announces that if there should be any surplus this year, the amount will be used for the purchase of war bonds by the organization so that the money will be available in future years for charitable purposes.

Mrs. Harry Brown is chairman of the committee that will look after the dress and other clothing requirements of the community. Her assistants will be Mrs. Carl Shear, Mrs. John Blossom, Mrs. James Sessions, Mrs. Garnet Baker, and Mrs. Maud Bennett.

The food committee is composed of Mrs. M. A. Arnold, chairman, Mrs. Raymond Bacheider, Mrs. Floyd Burgett, Mrs. James Gallimore, Mrs. Harold Curtis, Milan Frank and Harold Anderson.

The toy committee has the following members: Ernest Wilson, chairman, LeRoy Jewell, Paul Groth and George Howell.

The distribution of the Christmas baskets will be under the direction of Plymouth firemen, who have done such a splendid job in past years.

More Plymouth Boys Go To Army

Large Group Left Thursday Afternoon

With the good wishes of Plymouth and good-bys from relatives and close friends, some 34 or more inductees from this locality left for Fort Custer Thursday afternoon at 3:20 o'clock over the Pere Marquette railway to begin training for Uncle Sam's army.

The Plymouth canteen, as usual, presented each one of the departing soldiers, with a box of numerous articles that soldiers need when they first enter the service.

The boys first met at the induction center and from there marched to the depot, accompanied by their families and friends.

Plymouth, through enlistments and inductions, is providing the United States with an exceptionally high percentage of fighting men for a community of its size.

The number that has left here reaches considerably over half a thousand.

Plymouth Lad One of Few Saved From African Sea Attack

Held Prisoner at Casablanca For Three Days - Has High Praise For French

For three days a prisoner of the French at Casablanca in French Morocco and now fully recovered from slight shrapnel cuts received November 8 when shelled by a French destroyer, James Mulholland, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mulholland of West Ann Arbor Trail, one of the survivors of the "lost squadron," arrived home Wednesday morning from Africa on a nine-day leave from the navy.

The Plymouth high school graduate of 1941 was the engineer of one of the landing boats caught under the direct shell fire of a French destroyer while the American lads were looking for the Fedhala landing beaches north of Casablanca on the morning of the African invasion.

"It was some experience. There wasn't a chance for our boys who were on the landing boats. My boat was about 75 feet back of the destroyer when the French cut loose on the boat ahead of us," declared James, one of the 71 survivors of the attack.

"There were four boats in our landing party. Two of us were right close to the French destroyer. We thought it was an American boat until they opened fire on us with shells and machine guns. The men in the boat ahead of us tried to tell the French who we were, but they kept on firing just the same.

"Our engine caught fire from the shelling. Some of the soldiers were taking to shore were killed. When our engine began burning up, the lieutenant ordered us to jump. They even gunned us while we were in the water. There were flying pieces of shrapnel everywhere in the air. I got a slight cut under my right eye and another spent piece of shrapnel hit my shoulder. Fortunately it caused only a mighty sore spot for a few days.

"Finally they picked us up and we were taken to Casablanca. There we were told that it was the German officers in charge of the French boats who ordered the firing that killed and wounded some of our boys. The French on shore were mighty good to us. Some of the French in the town went without food so that we who were held prisoners would have enough to eat.

"After being held three days, we were released and went back to our transport anchored out in the harbor. The first night I was back on the big transport, a German submarine torpedo just missed us by a few rods. I saw some of the empty transports and their mother boats when they were sunk that night by the submarines.

"I'll never forget how good the French was to us when we were held prisoners. They gave us everything they had. It was a great experience, and I'm ready for more," declares Jimmy.

The young man's return home Wednesday morning was a great surprise to his parents as they had no idea he was back this side of the ocean.

He brought with him the damaged watch that his parents had sent him for Christmas and which he had received just before he sailed for Africa. His mother plans now to keep it as a souvenir for him.

He had it on his wrist when he jumped into the ocean and the salt water damaged it beyond repair.

James enlisted in the navy February 17 and declares that he has thoroughly enjoyed his many and varied experiences in the past ten months as one of Uncle Sam's fighting naval lads.

"You don't know how I have appreciated receiving The Plymouth Mail. I don't believe I have missed a single issue since I have been away. The postoffice department sees to it that we get our hometown papers as regularly as we get our letters."

Meatless Days Due to Order From Washington

Price Administration Caused Shortage Say Detroit Packers

Plymouth residents are suffering from meatless days and weeks, not because of any meat shortage, but because of a regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration in Washington to meat packers in Detroit, which resulted in closing of seven of the big meat packing houses in Michigan's metropolis, say Detroit packers.

The only meat Plymouth citizens are receiving is the meat that local dealers can secure from this vicinity and the meat that is shipped in by western packers. This western meat first goes to Detroit and then is parceled out to the other communities in this part of the state.

According to Detroit officials issued the order which resulted in closing the Detroit packing houses, they did not take into consideration the fact that the population of Detroit had increased by more than 325,000 and that every community in the metropolitan area had added many thousands to their number of residents.

These same Detroit statements indicated that there was little prospect of any improvement between now and the first of the year—and that this entire locality faces a very serious shortage of meat over the holiday period.

Thanks Gasoline Rationing Workers

"I guess there is just one way to express it, and that is to say thanks a million, for the splendid cooperation given by the 75 or more people who assisted in processing the gas rationing applications," stated Mrs. Katherine Henderson yesterday.

It was Mrs. Henderson who was requested by the rationing board to work out the details for the proper allotment of gasoline rationing. Mrs. Henderson and her committee carefully reviewed over 2500 applications and allocated to each applicant the proper amount of gas as prescribed by the rules of the rationing board.

"It could never have been done unless these faithful and tireless workers had given from 10 to 15 hours every day to the work we had to do. I certainly want to thank them for what they did," said Mrs. Henderson yesterday.

Here's History! Butter Shortage In Plymouth!

Food, Once Medium Of Exchange, Now Nearly Off Market

A well known citizen of Plymouth walked into a grocery store the other day to pick up a few groceries for the home.

As he waited for a clerk, another customer came in the store and wanted to buy a pound of butter.

"I haven't got an ounce of butter in the store," declared the merchant.

That's something that has never before happened in a Michigan grocery store in more than half a century—not an ounce of butter to sell in a land where butter and eggs since pioneer days have always been a medium of exchange between customer and merchant!

The customer was so surprised that he seemed at first not to understand.

"No butter?" he again inquired. "No sir, not a bit of butter. I haven't had any in two or three days. They've cut me to 25 percent of what I usually carry, but I haven't received that 25 percent yet. That's just one pound out of four, so some one will have to go short on butter the way it looks to me," said the pioneer merchant.

Not only are Plymouth homes faced with a mighty "cool" winter, but it begins to look as though it might be a winter with actual food shortages—in a land of plenty.

Plymouth merchants are putting forth every effort to keep on hand a sufficient amount of the scarce food items to take care of their customers. They ask cooperation by suggesting that no one buy more than for their immediate needs.

Social Whirl Upset by Orchids

Northville Mothers Plan to Stop Foolishness

Northville mothers have been somewhat "upset" during the last few days and are wondering what they can do about the "high society" ideas that have infiltrated recently among high school boys and girls of that place.

It seems that these Fifth Avenue "social demands" among the youngsters have come along with the big war wages that have upset the economic structure of the country.

Recently the high school "prom" took place in the progressive little city to the north.

Unless every boy decked his girl out with an orchid corsage, he just wasn't in the swim—and the orchids set the boys back something like seven and a half good American dollars each.

Mothers of both the boys and girls have been doing a lot of thinking about the affair during the past few days—and wondering what they can do to curb such extravagant social ideas among the children at a time when Washington is begging for every penny it can get to provide food, clothing and munitions for the young men who have been called into the armed services of the nation.

The price paid for one orchid would have purchased one anti-tank shell, one trenching shovel and 12 yards of barbed wire.

Or if the $7.50 each had been used for army medical purposes, each $7.50 (or orchid) would have purchased nearly 400 bandages to stop the bleeding wounds of American fighting boys.

City Treasurer To Enter Army

Charles Garlett Given Leave of Absence

The city commission granted Treasurer Charles H. Garlett an indefinite leave of absence at its regular meeting Monday evening. Mr. Garlett who has served as treasurer here for the last five and a half years will relinquish his duties on December 31 to make plans for his entry at an officer's training camp January 15.

According to City Manager Clarence Elliott applications for the position of temporary treasurer are now being accepted at the city hall.

COOKING WITH GAS SAVES YOU MONEY, VITAMINS ... FLAVOR AND FUEL!

Gas is a quick, economical cooking fuel. It is ideal for retaining the natural juices and flavor of meats, poultry, fish, vegetables and fruit.
 Tests prove that low temperature roasting, broiling and boiling of meats retain more natural juices and flavor than when they are cooked at high temperatures.
 Broiling and frying meat should be done at a low heat for best results.
 Vegetables are easily ruined both in taste and food value by overcooking both at high and low temperature. Most fresh vegetables should be prepared with the least amount of water possible thus retaining their own juices. Fruits should be treated in the same manner. Don't destroy all the essential minerals and vitamins in fruits and vegetables by overcooking.
 Gas is an ideal way to prepare these foods. It can be easily regulated and it is a low cost modern cooking fuel every homemaker will enjoy.

Many of us have never made God a real partner in our daily affairs and when we come to the church in the path way of Christian living, we ask the question, why does God seem so far away? ster. The council voted to authorize the committee to act as an information center for the placing in private homes for day care the children whose mothers are working, the care to be given on a free basis. The next Defense Council meeting will be Monday, December 14 at 4:30 at the city hall.

Gov't Begins Count on Lunch Counter Meals

Hotels, Restaurants Must Report Amount Of Food Used

Do you now and then get a meal down at the Mayflower, or over at Ken & Ork's or at Smitty's or down at the Plymouth Grill, Bert's Place, Reed's restaurant, out at Jake's or any of the other eating places in or around Plymouth?

If so, the operators of these places must count every meal you eat from now on and at the end of the month report it to Leon Henderson.

Not only must the number of meals you eat be counted, but the hotel and restaurants must report at the end of the month the exact amount of flour, cheese, butter, canned goods, beans, soups, ice cream, the various kinds of meats and all other food product they have used during the month.

On top of that they must also report the amount paid for every serving.

Even the drug stores that serve lunches must also make similar reports.

From such information as can be secured as to the purpose of this additional record-keeping it is believed that the OPA wants to do some checking on its rationing program, and provide something for its vast army of regimentators to do.

New Rationing Book Due Soon

Will be Ready After First of Year

Word has been received at the Wayne County Extension office that a War Rationing Book No. 2 will be available to everyone soon after the first of the year. However the office of price administration warns that no one may receive war rationing book No. 2 unless they have registered for war ration book No. 1, commonly known as the "Sugar Book."

The last day for registering for war ration book No. 1 is December 15. On or before that date everyone must have registered even though they may have on hand excess stock of sugar. If there is an excess stock of sugar on hand, sugar stamps will be torn from the book.

After December 15 only the following groups of people will be permitted to register for war ration book No. 1.

First, those who were out of the country at the time of first registration. Second, those in military service who have left an organized mess. Third, those who have been in a hospital or other institutions and have been released. Fourth, new born babies.

Persons in these four groups have 30 days in which to apply for registration for war ration Book No. 1.

Edward Paliszewski, manager of the Palace Inn on Ann Arbor Trail, left last Monday for the army. He was inducted at Fort Custer.

Dairy Cows Few And Far Between

B. A. Hodge Tells of His Own Neighborhood

If you've found it necessary to spread that butter pretty thin on your bread, or if you have found it a necessity to use something else as a "spread" on your bread besides butter, don't blame the farmers or the dairymen. Just blame the mess we are in, in Washington bungling.

B. A. Hodge, well known Base Line farmer living over east of Northville, was in Plymouth early this week. Mr. Hodge is a former Iowa farmer, and he grew up in the same neighborhood with the Wallaces. He knows much about the "farming" ideas of Vice President Wallace as they are reflected down through the New Deal.

"Well, how do you expect to have butter? Right in my neighborhood over on the Eight Mile road, there are 50 or 60 less dairy cows being kept by farmers than a year ago. They just can't get help, and feed prices are way high, so they have had to sell their cows. There will be more dairy cows sold in the next few months and there will be less butter than there is right now," said Mr. Hodge.

"You just can't go along and do things that we have been doing and expect to have everything as we have had it in the past. Of course the war is a big factor, but that didn't cause all of our shortage," he added.

It is hoped that many of the members will be present. Members of the Northville chapter will also be present. Prior to the school of instruction there will be a covered dish dinner at 6:30.

On Monday night there will be officers' practice.

The chapter is planning a Christmas party on Tuesday, December 22. Watch for full particulars in next week's notes.

Sister Ethel Davis has returned home from the hospital and we are all hoping that she will be able to attend Star meetings very soon.

If all U.S. drivers of passenger autos in 1940 had cut down their driving by 10 per cent, they would have saved 160,000 years of round-the-clock travel time at a rate of 35 miles an hour.

The total volume of the new all-purpose ration books would fill 128 freight cars.

A SECOND FRONT

Back in May, Claude R. Wickard, United States Secretary of Agriculture, outlined the farm production quotas for 1942. These war food quotas must be met if we expect to supply the food requirements of our own and allied civilian and soldier populations.

Mr. Wickard summed up the food production position of the farmer in his statement, "Food Will Win the War and Write the Peace."

Responsibility

How extremely vital food is to America's war effort cannot be over-emphasized. Upon the shoulders of the American farmer rests the responsibility of increasing his farm production in the face of diminishing manpower for labor and housing materials and equipment.

Increases in milk and egg production should be brought about through the employment of better management and better feed. During war time when the poultry and dairy industries should be geared to the highest state of efficiency, there is no room for the poorly fed and poorly managed flock or herd.

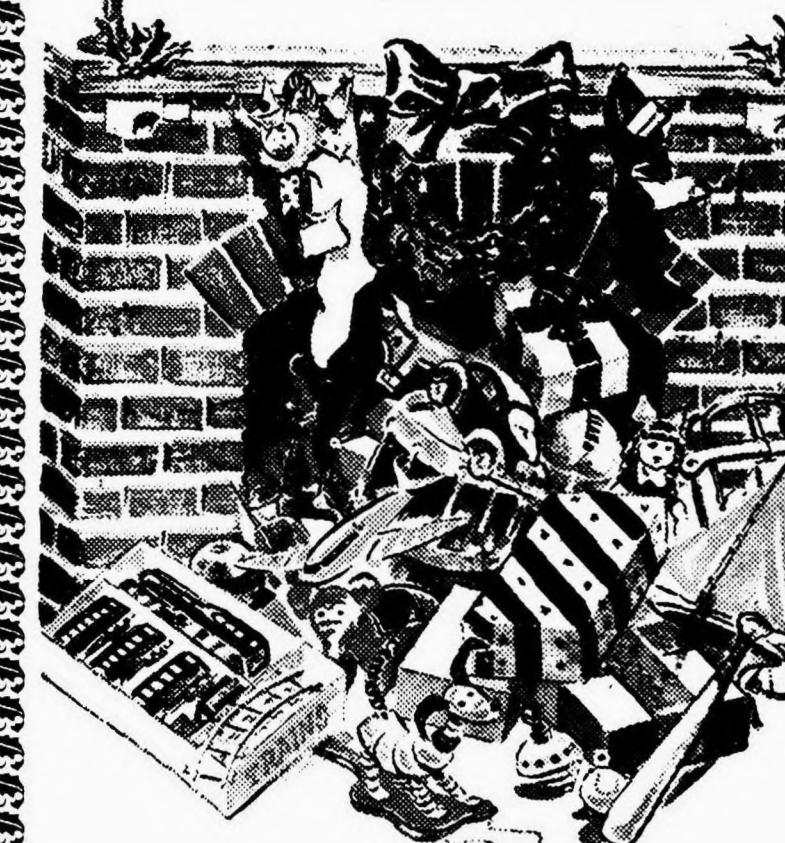

Livestock Populations

It will not be possible to take care of the asked for increases in the production of pork, milk and eggs at once solely through increases in poultry, dairy and swine populations. For example—although individual dairymen may be able to increase their number of milk cows, sufficient to increase their herd milk production eight per cent, the national increase in cow numbers this year may contribute approximately only three per cent increase in milk production.

This means that the remaining five per cent increase will have to come from herds now in production by increasing the production of the individual members of each herd by five per cent. This can be accomplished only through BETTER MANAGEMENT AND BETTER FEEDING.

Practical Approach
That better feeding and better

We carry a full line of accessories that make ideal gifts for motorists.

However, Mr. Charles Staff, Director of General Mills Larro Research Farm estimates that the cow testing association's figure of 8,225 pounds of milk per cow could be increased approximately 21 per cent to 10,000 pounds annual average milk production per cow through the uniform application of the Larro dairy feeding program and the use of Larro quality dairy feeds.

There is ample evidence to prove that increased farm production can evolve itself into the simple matter of BETTER FEEDING AND BETTER MANAGEMENT.

Thirty Years
Since 1912 Larro have persisted in their effort to manufacture and distribute feeds from the standpoint of profit over feed cost for poultrymen and dairymen and to bring out the total capacity of poultry and dairy animals in producing to the best of their inherited ability.

It is not unpatronic for the poultryman or dairyman to realize a fair profit for his efforts. Any extra income resulting from such endeavors will enable him to build a cushion against anticipated war tax assessments and the purchase of War Bonds for the successful promotion of the war.

However, the first issue at stake is not one of profit, but is a matter of producing food to win the war. It probably is no exaggeration to say that the United States is the food arsenal of the Allies, and that the feed dealer partnership will truly be one of the men behind the men behind the guns.

More than three decades of research involving thousands of birds and animals and the use of over 350 ingredients in hundreds of combinations have collaborated to produce our formulas, while the care and skill used in blending the various ingredients contributes to their characteristic high quality.

The Larro feeding programs are as simple as is consistent with good results.

Illustration—United States Department of Agriculture figures show that for some 600,000 cows included in cow testing associations in 1941, milk production per cow averaged 8,225 pounds. This figure is nearly double the agricultural department's estimate of 4,742 pounds milk production per cow for all milk cows in 1941.

Ford Produces Army Gliders
Big Factory "Up In Woods" In Operation

Somewhere in Upper Michigan—Thousands of woodworkers of this picturesque Upper Peninsula town today are soldiers on the war production front.
 After impatiently waiting for months to add their skills to democracy's fight, the craftsmen, many of them men in their 70s, now are working to produce Ford-made giant transport gliders.
 Working in the same huge plant where once they constructed the Ford station wagon, the old-timers are fashioning countless glider parts. Soon they will be assembling air carriers with the same speed and ease that characterized their peace-time efforts.
 Back at familiar machines after a work lapse brought about by the outbreak of war, the woodworkers voice a promise that they will exceed any scheduled output.
 "Scores of us are beyond the draft age," one said. "For months we've wondered whether we would be able to get back into industry and do our share toward winning the war."
 "Now that we are beginning to build gliders, every old-timer on the job feels that he has been given the break of his life—a chance to make weapons for the eventual collapse of the Axis. If painstaking care and long time skill can make our gliders a little better, then you can depend on us to do it."

 The Waco-designed air transport weighs approximately 3,000 pounds and is built to carry 15 combat-clad soldiers. The glider's wings have a spread of 84 feet and sweep out from a fuselage 52 feet in length.
 Skeleton of the fuselage is a sturdy tubular steel framework. Other parts consist of aircraft spruce and mahogany plywood. Outer surface or skin is covered with close-weave, long-fiber cotton fabric.
 Fixtures being used in assembling the gliders were designed by Ford engineers in Dearborn and then shipped here after they had been used in building the first Ford flight-test ship. This work was done at a Ford air-frame plant.

Before production got under way here, Ford engineers designed and had built more than 4,000 special tools. The plans from which these were made later were put at the disposal of other concerns so they, too, could speed glider production.
 Originally a mining community, this town of some 10,000 persons first became wood conscious in the days of the Model T. In recent years it had been the home of the Ford station wagon.

Plymouth Student in National Fraternity

Dean Van Landingham, Plymouth junior in Michigan State college, has been initiated into Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, according to Art Mitchell, president. Van Landingham is a student in the Applied Science division of the college.
 Alpha Phi Omega includes in its membership students who have had Boy Scout activity. Each year it sponsors the Homecoming dance in the fall, the interfraternity sing, held each spring, and the year round 'keep off the grass' campaign.
 A 65-year-old Michigander gathered 150 pounds of scrap metal and wheeled it by barrow to the village collection center five miles away.

Potato Yield Is Millions Low

Blight Reduces State's Production

Michigan's important potato crop will be nearly three million bushels less than in 1941 because of blight, according to estimates prepared by the cooperative crop reporting service of the state and United States departments of agriculture.

The 1942 crop is estimated at 17,290,000 bushels as compared with 20,020,000 in 1941. Large acreages with adequate spraying and dusting equipment came through the season in good shape, but many small, unsprayed patches were a total loss.

The sugar beet crop, if the harvest is completed, is estimated at 1,292,000 tons, which is a gain over 1941 and the 10-year average. The yield of 10.5 tons per acre is also above average.

The indicated average yield for this year's corn crop is 42.5 bushels per acre, the highest on record, and the total estimated production of 66,980,000 bushels is likewise a new high. Considerable late planted corn was nipped by freezing weather in September, and much of this will be difficult to keep and is of inferior feeding quality.

The soybean crop is spotted, with good yields on early fields, while late fields were frozen before maturity. However, the indicated production of 3,456,000 bushels is the largest on record and is two and one-half times the 1941 production.

In fruits, Michigan's apple crop of 9,234,000 bushels is 15 per cent more than in 1941, the estimated pear crop of 1,245,000 bushels is slightly above the 10-year average, while the grape yield of 35,400 tons is 33 percent more than last year.

Ice Fishermen Can Use 4 Hooks

But Limit of Blue Gills is Only 15

Plymouth ice fishermen will get almost no competition from city folk this season, as few dependent upon auto travel for this coldest of winter sports will have pleasure driving coupons to spare for it. Good ice for the winter fishing season, which begins when the cover on the lakes will support fishermen, began to form just as gasoline rationing started. Anglers living within walking distance of ice-skating waters have no new rules of the game to learn this season, according to state conservation officers. Those fishing for bluegills may fish only in daytime, from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. Eastern War Time, and must observe a creel limit of 15. All anglers are limited to two lines, baited with a maximum of four hooks and kept under immediate control. After January 1, new 1943 fishing licenses will be needed.

Keeping Up With Plymouth

No doubt you have all heard about those transport ships sunk off Africa. Have any of you ever thought of the chaos on board a ship when it is being sunk by an enemy plane or ship? Have you ever thought about the guys that didn't get a life belt or rubber boat? Why not remember the fellow that 'didn't get one' the next time you complain about gas rationing.

Golly, there surely seems to be several love bugs around school working over time. Wonder if they are paid double time? Remember that old saying last year "Fisher Incorporated"? Well, it seemed that for some time the corporation was dissolved. However, Yours Truly seems to believe that it has been re-instated again.

It's too bad when a guy has to ask a gal what he can do and when he can do it. Come on "Virgy" pull out of it.

Have any of you noticed Sig and Jack C. lately? We are wondering what cooks.

Say, remember that little guy that ran around the basketball court last year like greased lightning? Well, it seems he's still pretty big with Betty H.

We see "Us Morons" are back in straight jackets again. I'll grant you some people talk a lot, but they do know when to stop writing.

Say, did you hear about the young kid that rang the door bell and a salesman came to the door and said, "My mother isn't home."

A special session of Court was called last Friday. There are, or were 11 people that didn't serve the sentences issued by the judges. These cases were tried again and in all cases but one heavier fines were levied. Dogs of War Charge Armed 'Enemy'

Dogs of war will charge an enemy in the face of gunfire. In this series of pictures a Great Dane leaps for an armed "enemy" as he crawls over a barrier. The "enemy," using blanks, fires directly into the dog's face, but the dog never falters. In second picture the Great Dane has the "enemy" by the arm and is pulling him down, and in picture at the right the enemy is falling. Although the trainer had great layers of elk hide and wool in his sleeve, the dog's teeth marked his arm.

The biggest field gun in the Army. That's the 240-mm. howitzer. It's twenty-feet of barrel and must be pulled into position by tractors. After it is rolled into place, its own wheels are removed and the Big Bertha is set upon its emplacement ready to fire at its target some twenty miles away.

The cost of these huge guns runs into thousands of dollars but we can assure the Army of obtaining them by our purchases of War Bonds. Ten percent or more of your income is necessary. The easiest way is to join the Payroll Savings Plan at your office or factory. Let's "Top that ten percent."

Honey Crop Is Below Average

Wet Weather Causes Reduction

Adverse weather conditions have reduced Michigan's estimated 1942 honey crop to approximately 7,000,000 pounds, 30 per cent less than last year, according to Don P. Barrett, director of the apiculture division of the state department of agriculture. This reduction was in the face of an increase of between 5,000 and 10,000 in the number of colonies of bees, bringing the total in the state to 160,000.

Excessive wet weather and periods of coolness held back nectar secretions necessary in the production of honey, Barrett said. The crop loss was not confined to Michigan, a falling off of 13 per cent being shown for the nation as a whole. This will result in restrictions in the general use of beeswax by industry and for other civilian purposes, as almost the entire output will be required in the manufacture of armaments and munitions.

Although the honey crop is smaller, the income of Michigan beekeepers is expected to equal that of 1941, the crop loss being offset by an increase in price. Barrett said that 75 per cent of the crop has already been marketed at an average price of 13 cents a pound in ton lots.

Mine Detector

Mines, which take the place of barbed wire, are playing an important role in the war on the African front. The British mine detector is the best bet to counteract these hidden monsters. When the device detects a mine, certain sounds reach the earphones of the sappers, and they go and render the mine useless. Their work requires an unusually high degree of skill and courage. The detector, until now a little mentioned weapon, played an important part in the recent Allied victory in Egypt. Picture shows a sapper holding a mine detector.

Plymouth Hunters Help to Add Tons to Michigan's Meat Supply

Hunting Season Proves of Benefit In Food Emergency

Plymouth deer, duck and pheasant hunters are among the large number of Michigan nimrods who have helped to alleviate the meat shortage in this state by adding tons and tons of fresh wild game to the regular market supply of beef, pork and mutton.

Enough game for an estimated 15 million meals in the last 12 months has come out of the woods and farm fields harboring Michigan's wild game as rabbits, deer, pheasants and other legal game birds and animals unintentionally contribute to the war effort. That is the estimate placed on the 1942 harvest, running parallel to 1941, according to R. G. Hill, extension specialist in game management, employed by Michigan State college and the State Department of Conservation.

With 1941 as a guide, deer alone added some six million pounds of dressed out meat. Rabbits come second, in a season that ends December 31, with three and a half million pounds of meat. Pheasants are third for their addition of two and a half million pounds.

Deer dress out an average of 80 pounds of meat. On 75,000 deer, that gives the six million pounds of meat.

Other game added to deer, says Hill, makes enough meat to equal that produced in a year in the form of pork, beef, lamb and poultry on 5,000 average Michigan farms. Wartime factors that increase the importance of the game meat include the need for variety in the average human diet, the need for recreation and the approach of meat rationing.

Rabbits numbering 2,688,918 were reported killed in 19-

41. At an average of one and a third pounds, this produced 3,585,554 pounds of meat. Pheasants numbering 1,254,725 dressed out at two pounds to contribute 2,509,450 pounds.

Fox squirrels at a pound each dressed, made 539,308 pounds of meat. Gray squirrels, a pound each, 29,632; grouse, one pound each, 365,774; prairie chicken, at one and a fourth pounds, 25,748 pounds; raccoon, at five pounds, 216,745; muskrat sold as marsh rabbit, at one and a half pounds, 899,481; ducks, at a pound each, 510,432; geese, at four pounds each, 23,684; and woodcock, at four ounces each, 8,888 pounds. Totaled, this amounts to about 7,000 tons of meat.

Unfortunately some of this meat never reaches the table due to lack of knowledge of its preparation and misunderstanding of its food value. This is especially true of muskrat and raccoon. Both these animals furnish nu-

Leonard Rowe Wins R.O.T.C. Promotion

Leonard C. Rowe, Plymouth senior in Michigan State college, will hold the rank of cadet first lieutenant in advanced R.O.T.C. training this year according to Capt. George H. Branch, military adjutant, stationed at East Lansing.

Rowe is a senior in the Cavalry division of R.O.T.C. training this year. Upon graduation in June or call to active duty before that time, he will receive orders of appointment to further training in the officer's candidate schools of the U.S. Army.

After successful completion of the officer's school, Rowe will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the army.

If each of the 31 million U.S. families bought one less can of canned goods per week, the steel saved would meet steel requirements of 5,000 medium tanks. there would be tin for 360,000 75 mm. howitzers, rubber for 2,000 jeeps.

Coffee consumption in the U.S. in the past 30 years has more than doubled, while the population increase has been only about 45 per cent.

TO ALL OUR CUSTOMERS:

Electricity is one of the cheapest things the housewife can buy because the price has been reduced so often and so much.

You probably haven't got an electric bill dated twenty-five years ago, but the records show that electricity cost 5.87 cents then; and now it is only 3.16 cents. Almost half price. There have been many rate reductions in twenty-five years.

Most other prices have gone up. Food, clothing, taxes, transportation. If your husband rides to work on the street car he may have heard that twenty-five years ago he could have bought seven tickets for a quarter. In 1917 the Detroit tax rate was $13.81—this year it is $28.97. I used to have an "Ingersoll Dollar Watch" that kept fairly good time, but you can't get a dollar watch now. And you know how much less a $5 bill will buy in rent, round steak or clothes.

The price of electricity is low. If other things cost as little, the cost of living would be half what it is.

PLYMOUTH LAD PROUD JIMMIE ROOSEVELT IS HIS COMMANDING OFFICER

Private Robert L. Hull, a Plymouth lad who is training with American "commandos" somewhere out on the Pacific coast, in a letter to The Mail's soldier column, says:

"We have perhaps the best Colonel of them all, Jimmie Roosevelt! He sure is one swell fellow and I wouldn't say so if I didn't know it. I've talked to him personally. He's just like anybody else."

The enthusiastic Plymouth youthful "commando" states in his letter that he is anxious for Plymouth people to know something about the "fightingest outfit Uncle Sam has."

"We are known to you as the Raider Battalion. We go through the exact training given the English Commandos and are instructed by men who went through that training in England. I would like to say that these men broke every record the English had set in the different courses, so we get it just a little bit harder."

"I have been getting The Plymouth Mail pretty regular and it sure is a pleasure to spend what few minutes I have in reading it. There are five fellows from that many different states who probably don't know anybody in Plymouth who also like to read my home town paper. You can tell the folks in Plymouth that when the Raider Battalion hits those Japs that the rising sun will soon sink. I would like to have some of my old Plymouth school pals write me, so hope you will print my address."

Editor's note — Any of the Plymouth boys desiring to write Bob who are known to the editor will be provided with his address.

have visions of soon being assigned to a berth with the world's finest fleet. They reported for duty last week.

A stiff routine of instruction, physical conditioning, and naval procedure, designed to make hard-fighting Bluejackets out of these new recruits, will take most of their time during the next few weeks. At the end of their training period, they will be granted a nine-day "boot" leave, at which time they will probably come home.

The new Plymouth recruits are: Jack E. Stout, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn B. Stout, 267 Caster avenue; Carl Aquilina Lampton, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Lampton, 103 Amelia street; Lowell B. Sweeney, 20, son of Mrs. Ruth Sweeney, 312 Blanche street; Orie Elmer Rotarius, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rotarius, R-4; and George Robert Barber, 21, husband of Mrs. Marian J. Barber, 474 North Mill street.

Now going to school in New York City

Corporal Douglas Eckles writes The Mail asking to have the address of his paper changed.

In part he says: "After completing 13 weeks of radio operators' school, during which I received my rating as corporal technician, I am now going to school in New York city where I will be for ten weeks at a cable recorder school. It's really a well school and trains men for trans-oceanic cable operation. There are only 16 of us taking the course at present, which gives us a better opportunity to learn about the transmitters, receivers and recording machines of a cable station. I like it very much."

PLYMOUTH BOYS HOLD 'REUNION' IN ALASKA
From Corporal Elmer E. Fulton, who joined the coast artillery two years ago, comes an interesting letter from Alaska, which tells about meeting other Plymouth boys up under the Arctic circle.

"LeRoy Westfall and Earl Beckwith are among the Plymouth boys that are stationed up here. I haven't seen them for quite some time, but when we do get together, we always have a fine time talking about Plymouth and our old friends. It's a regular reunion. We are all hoping that we will be back soon," he writes.

"I like to read about other Plymouth boys in the service. I think your column about the boys is fine. Thanks a million for sending me the paper. I appreciate it very much."

"Since I joined the coast artillery we have done quite a bit of traveling. We were first sent to Fort Sheridan, where we remained for ten months. From there we were sent to Paine Field, Washington, staying there for some eight months. Then we came up here to Alaska where we have been for some time."

"Give my regards to all of my old friends back home, and be sure and keep up your news about the Plymouth boys in the service."

ROBERT SOCKOW IS NOW AIR CORPS CORPORAL.
Robert L. Sockow, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sockow of 668 Kellogg street, Plymouth, has been promoted from Private First Class to Corporal in the Army Air Corps, an announcement from Gowen Field at Boise, Idaho, reveals.

Corporal Sockow was employed as an inspector by the Gunn-Steale Produce company before entering the army July 2, 1941.

WANTS LETTER FROM OLD PLYMOUTH FRIEND, DICK HERTER.
From somewhere out in the Atlantic a letter to The Plymouth Mail from Ernest Earl Folsom Jr., a seaman first class on one of Uncle Sam's big battleships, asks especially that Dick Herter write to Sailor Folsom.

"I've forgotten his address, but if you will mention it in The Mail, I know he'll read it, wherever he is," writes Ernest.

"I cannot say where I am now. All I can say is that I am feeling fine and ready to fight," he declares.

"You will be surprised how regular I receive The Plymouth Mail. I sure enjoy reading the pieces about 'Our Boys Defending The Flag.' It helps me keep track of the boys I went to school with who are now in the service. I have not been fortunate enough to meet any of them as yet, but I will probably run across some one somewhere, sometime."

The ordinary machine gun is too cumbersome for our Marines, especially for parachute troops. So the Marines have adopted new models of the Reising sub-machine gun, a .45-caliber weapon.

The new gun used by the paratroops is a compact model with a pistol grip and a steel-frame stock which folds out of the way when not in use. You can help buy these for our Boys in the Solomons and elsewhere with your purchase of War Bonds. Join the Payroll Savings Plan and let's "Pay that ten percent."

ENLIST FOR FLIGHT TRAINING IN USNR

Two more Plymouth boys have enlisted for flight training in the U. S. Naval Reserve as aviation cadets. It has been announced. They are:

Eldon F. Ballow, 20, son of Mrs. Margaret Ballow, 309 Blunk street, and Robert W. Fisher, 18, son of Mrs. Florence Fisher, 675 Burroughs street.

They were placed on inactive duty after being sworn in at the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board in the Book Tower building at Detroit. They will be held in that status by the Navy until they are called to a class at the navy's pre-flight school at the State University of Iowa.

LAUREL OWENS HAS HIGH PRAISE FOR ARMY

"I have been in the army nearly a year now. I find that home and the people you used to know become more or less just seemingly pleasant memories, something to think about and wish you had again. But from actual experience, I find that conditions in the army are good, the food quarters and people you come in contact with are swell," says Laurel J. Owens in a letter to the editor of The Mail.

"I wish to thank you very much for your kindness in sending me The Mail. I find myself looking for it just like a letter every week. It is an excellent way of keeping myself posted on what is going on at home," he adds.

"I am taking up navigation and find it very interesting. It is a most satisfying feeling to be able to conduct a plane through the vastness of the sky by the use of a radio, the stars and the sun."

"Once again thanks for the paper, and I am sure that I express the feelings of all the boys in the service for what you are doing."

Laurel is now located at the army's Advance Navigation School at Monroe, Louisiana.

HERBERT BURLEY NOW DOWN IN TEXAS

"They're trying to reduce my weight in the army, but I don't think they are having much success," writes Herbert Burley now with the flying training squad down at Moore Field, near Mission, Texas.

"After traveling three nights and two days, I finally landed down here. There were 36 of us who left Fort Custer on November 16. We stopped at Harlingen, Texas for breakfast. I happened to think about Blake Northrop being stationed there, so I called him and had a short visit with him and Betty."

"This is a new field, situated about five miles from the Mexican border. Expect to go over into Mexico on a trip as soon as my basic training is over. Better close, as lights will be out in a few minutes."

DAROLD CLINE NOW IN OFFICER TRAINING CAMP
Corp. Darold Cline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cline of Plymouth, will leave the Quartermaster Replacement Training Center at Fort F. E. Warren in Wyoming this week for Aberdeen, Maryland, where he has been selected to attend Officer Candidate Chemical Warfare school.

Corp. Cline received his basic training at the QMRTC and has been serving as supply corporal at the blacksmith and welding shops of the motor maintenance school. During his basic training he was thoroughly drilled in the vital quartermaster functions of supplying, feeding and clothing America's armed forces.

CHRISTMAS CARD FROM HAWAII

"Bill" Widmaier, who went "fishing" with a club up in the Aleutian Islands a while ago, "landing" a dozen big ocean fish weighing from 10 to 20 pounds each, has been down in Hawaii recently, as The Plymouth Mail has received a Christmas card from "Bill," sent from somewhere in the Hawaiian Islands.

PRIVATE JOHN NELSON AT FORT CUSTER

Right in the middle of a new outfit formed but recently over at Fort Custer, holding the number of the outfit, stands Johnny Nelson, who is back in the army again. John, one of The Plymouth Mail boys who enlisted before the Japs cracked Pearl Harbor and was later discharged, because of physical conditions, recently passed another physical examination and was inducted into service. John writes that the meals are good at Fort Custer, but that it's been mighty cold over in western Michigan.

Gerald Shelters, with the army air base at Long Beach, California, is home at 313 Maple street on a 15-day furlough. He has been located in the famous California resort city for the last three months, but those 90 days have not "sold" him as to the beauties of California and its Pacific coast. "Prefer good old Michigan anytime to all that they say they have out in California," declared the young soldier as he whiffed the snappy, frosty breezes of "good old Michigan" the other morning.

Edwin Schrader who recently enlisted in the navy, left Wednesday morning for an eastern state where he will enter a University for additional training before entering active duties in the navy.

HER HUSBAND IS NOW SECOND LIEUTENANT

Mrs. Edward F. Kopenski has just been advised that her husband is now a second lieutenant in Uncle Sam's army, having won his commission upon the completion of the officer candidate course at the Infantry school at Fort Benning, Georgia. Mrs. Kopenski, formerly Miss Bernice Smith, states that her husband has become an enthusiastic army man.

Lieutenant Kopenski enlisted in the army on March 18, 1942 and served with Co. 8 eighth training division at Camp Roberts, California, before going to officers' training school three months ago. He held the rank of corporal before being commissioned. The lieutenant is a graduate of Iron River high school and attended Ypsilanti State Normal college at Ypsilanti and for several years was a clerk at the Mayflower hotel.

During the course, according to army officials, "Even the mildly incapable are weeded out, so that the men who graduate with commissions are America's finest soldiers, fully qualified to be the leaders in our new army."

The men who attend the officers' candidate school are the best privates, corporals and sergeants from the entire army, selected by their superiors for outstanding intelligence and qualities of leadership. It is stressed by the army officials.

The course which Lieut. Kopenski has just completed covers the technique of handling all the varied modern infantry weapons and the tactics of leading small infantry units in combat. It also includes study of varied subjects which future officers must know along the lines of administration, military, law, etc.

Norman Pearsall, grandson of John Mastick, writes that he has been promoted to Corporal and is being transferred from Love Field, Texas to Hot Springs, Arkansas where he will take up training in army pharmacy for the next couple of months. Roger Babson Says . . .

Small Investors Should Use Care About Proxies

It certainly gets my goat to have letters from small investors complaining that everyone is against them and that they are being robbed and persecuted. No group of people have better protection than have the small investors. In addition to the Securities and Exchange Commission, there are Blue-Sky Laws for nearly every state and a host of other laws thrown in for good measure. Today I especially want to write of the importance of the proxy and the power which small investors have in connection therewith.

Most of the attempts to help small investors have been by legislation. One of the crying appeals is to have salaries of corporation officials reduced. To satisfy public clamor, this is now being done so that the presidents of the largest corporations will receive no more than the heads of certain labor unions. Yet, out of 130,000,000 people in the United States, only 3,000 are affected by such legislation and their total salaries amount to less than 1/100 of one percent of the total dividends. Most of the other legislation for which small investors are asking can have a very little effect upon dividends. More legislation is not the answer to the problems of the small investor.

While the investors are complaining, they themselves, hold the cure for their troubles. I refer to the proxies which are sent out once a year and which 95 percent of investors sign like blind monkeys. Hence, the question—Should a small investor ever sign a proxy unless the dividends received and the company's general policy are satisfactory to him? Certainly, investors who blindly sign and return proxies have no standing in court.

I know of no company whose stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange where the directors and their friends own a majority of the stock. The balance of the stock is usually distributed through thousands or perhaps a 100,000 small stockholders. I am not advising it, but I do say that if you and other small stockholders would only go on a "sit-down" strike and sign no proxies for a while it would be impossible to hold the next annual meeting. Then the management would frantically write and ask you what is the reason for your not sending in to them your proxy. You would then have a chance to tell them. I promise you the result would be better dividends on your stock.

In other words, small investors, in order to get results, do not need to go to Washington or hire a lawyer, or do anything else but refuse to vote. Of course, if the president of the corporation writes and asks you what the trouble is and you are too lazy to answer the letter, then the fault will be squarely up to you. Unfortunately, I fear too many small investors are too lazy to write corporation officials and tell them what they want.

Too much stock of most corporations is held by children, grandchildren and trustees who have no knowledge of the business. The stock has descended to these people who did nothing to deserve it. It almost seems as if too many companies are being operated from cemeteries rather than from efficient offices. Yet, on the votes of these "old friends" too many managements depend.

The dry bones need to be shaken and this can best be done by the small stockholders. If investors would only appreciate the power of the proxy, their dividends received would increase and the value of their stocks would go up. This especially is true in the case of certain utility and insurance companies operated under management contracts.

All of this means that if you are satisfied that the companies in which you have your money invested are being honestly and efficiently operated and are paying a fair rate of dividend, then sign and return the proxies which are mailed to you. On the other hand, if you are dissatisfied, do not depend upon the government or anyone else to help you out. Refuse to sign any proxy but instead write the company that you want the directors to give you better results before you will permit them to be re-elected.

One difficulty with Germany, Italy, an Japan is that they have only one political party. The hope of the United States and the other democracies lies with the two-party system. The German, if he goes to the polls, must vote for Hitler. There is no opposition party for whom he can vote. Those of us who are citizens of the United States can go to the polls and vote for the party in power or we can vote for the opposition. This means that a nation is much safer and certainly the citizens are better off, when there is a strong opposition party.

The same principle applies to corporations. Most corporations are today operated on the Nazi system with one party and one ballot—the ballot being printed so as to keep in power the present management. The future hope of the American investor is to develop the two-party system with two ballots offered for each annual meeting. — one endorsing the present management and the other appealing for a change in management. When such a voting system exists, you will see better earnings, larger dividends and higher stock prices.

Of course, I'll be severely criticized by many corporation officials for taking investors into my confidence this way. These managements are dependent on their
