

Slash Mileage of Car Drivers

Information indicates some attempt will be made to remedy the situation where the rules do not apply. Most of the reductions were made for those persons out of the categories of what are known as "necessary" functions incident to the war program. That is, they do not work in defense plants, making guns or munitions or other equipment for the army or navy. However, The Mail believes that though the war work must go on, the civilian economy cannot be broken down entirely. Wm. Wood, chairman of the local rationing board, said that he was glad the state office is sending somebody to Plymouth to investigate the program. He said that the board here had no choice but to adhere to the rules and regulations as laid down by the OPA. Carl Shear, a member of the local panel said that when gasoline rationing was first started three months ago that the local board operated on a common sense basis because it did not receive specific instructions and categories under which each motorist might fit. Thus the board issued more "C" cards than should have been issued. Two weeks ago, a representative of the state office of price administration came to Plymouth and made an exhaustive study of the ration cards issued. The local board was advised following that study that too many "C" cards had been issued, and that they must be reduced to comply with regulations.

While reductions were made in most cases, it was pointed out that appeals might be made, either to the local board or to the state board. In the event of appeal to the local board, more definite information on which the board should reach its conclusions must be presented. The only appeal to be made to the state board is in the event of great hardship. Even this appeal is to be made through the local board. However, a check with the Detroit office, showed that lack of adequate public transportation is a legitimate ground on which to make an appeal because of great hardship.

All appeals are to be made on blanks provided by the rationing board and should be mailed direct to the Plymouth board.

It is also requested that the ladies bring a box lunch, as the session will continue during the noon hour.

Noted Sculptor To Appear Before B. P. W. Club

Coming to Plymouth Thursday, March 11 to Model Lincoln Likeness

PROF. AVARD FAIRBANKS

On Thursday evening, March 11, the Business and Professional Women's club will hold a dinner meeting at the Mayflower hotel at 6:30. Avard Fairbanks, MFA, PhD, associate professor of sculpture, Institute of Fine Arts, University of Michigan, will be the guest of the club and will perform some of his marvelous sculpturing work. He will reproduce a likeness of Abraham Lincoln through his rare ability to do almost perfect sculpturing. The meeting is open to the public but it is requested that those who wish to attend the dinner, please call Mrs. Winnifred Wolfe, phone 514-J, for reservation by noon, March 8. Only a limited number of reservations will be available. However, any one who does not wish to attend the dinner but would like to witness this unusual affair may do so. The exhibition will take place at 8 o'clock and a small fee will be charged. Dr. Fairbanks showed talent early in the working of clay and stone and at 13 went to New York City from Oregon to work at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, later studying sculpture at the Bronx Zoological Gardens. In the Art Students League school he was given a special scholarship for two years. In 1927 he received a Guggenheim fellowship in creative sculpture and studied in Europe. Here he worked and studied further the masterpieces of Renaissance carving. Here, too, he completed the Pioneer Mother statue. On his return to the United States, his abilities attracted attention from the University of Michigan, and he was offered the post of Associate Professor of Fine Arts. Many of Mr. Fairbanks' statues have won high critical praise and wide general popularity. Best known perhaps to the public is that of the Pioneer Mother, located in Vancouver, Washington. This work is a memorial to all pioneer women whose courageous pilgrimage into the Far West was part of the epic of a nation. At Fort Lewis, Washington stands Fairbanks' bronze memorial to the 91st division, one of the outstanding war memorials in the country. Other war memorials designed by Fairbanks are to be found at Moscow, Idaho, and Portland, Oregon.

Pvt. Melvin Shollenberger was called home from the army Tuesday, February 16 because of the death of his five day old daughter which was born on February 11, to the former Clarice Perkins. He left early Thursday morning for Portland, Oregon where he is now stationed.

Six Below Zero On March 3

Cold Snap Proves Severest in Years

Winter—it is to be hoped—had its last fling in Plymouth this week. The mercury dropped to six degrees below in Plymouth and to eight below in the rural areas on Wednesday morning, the coldest March 3 in the memory of any one living about here. By 2 p.m., Wednesday, the temperature had begun to rise, however, and at 2:30, it had gone up to 20 degrees above zero. Milder weather was predicted for the remainder of the week. The winter has been one of the most severe in the memory of the oldest resident. Constantly freezing weather, with several dips of the mercury to below zero, combined with blizzards and heavy snows, made the three months particularly bad because of fuel oil rationing.

Rationing Starts With Headache

The manager of the store said that he believed the rationing procedure, together with ceilings on certain fresh vegetables, would force a black market. No ceiling was placed on the price to be paid to the grower. It was estimated that not more than ten percent of the 8,305 registrants at the three schools declared excess stocks of canned goods. Only one or two persons reported having more than 100 cans. A few reported between 75 and 100 excess cans. Some persons reported that half of their stamps had been taken as the result of the excess cans. Very few persons reported having more than one pound of coffee per person on November 28 when coffee rationing started. The Office of Price Administration is recommending that housewives budget their allotment of stamps for the entire month, but make their purchases only as the items are needed. For instance, in a family of four persons, with 192 stamps to spend during the month, the housewife may determine that three cans of corn, two cans of peas, two cans of apricots, etc., may be purchased during the month. She thus, in her budget, sets aside a certain number of stamps for a certain number of items. But she spends these stamps only as she requires the items. Thus, in an emergency, she may shift from peas to apricots, or peas to beans as needed.

Given Transfer, Promotion, Too Good Fortune Comes To Harry C. Fischer

★★★ Good fortune seems to be right in the path of Harry C. Fischer, office of naval inspection of ordinance, who for some time has been located at York, Penn. A few days ago he received an order transferring him from the Pennsylvania city to Detroit where he will be with the same branch of the naval service, and stationed at the Vickers plant. Upon his arrival at his home in Plymouth he was greeted with a notice from the navy department in Washington with orders for his promotion from lieutenant junior grade to lieutenant senior grade. Not only that, but he was fortunate in finding a place to reside with his wife and little son, Harry Jr., right near his old home city. He has rented a home on Bradner road and will drive to his work in Detroit. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Fischer of Plymouth road, who have two other boys in the armed services of the country.

Starts Work on City's Budget

Population Increase Raises Expenses
City Manager Clarence B. Elliott has begun work on the city's budget for the next fiscal year. Mr. Elliott said that the work would require several weeks, and that it was not yet certain whether it would be higher or lower than last year. Mr. Elliott pointed out that the natural increase in population would ordinarily jump the cost of administering city affairs, but that this would be more or less off-set by the fact that many materials ordinarily used in the city work would not be available for purchase this year. A new item will be added in the budget for this next year. This will be for the city recreation department, which is being created as a means of reducing juvenile delinquency. Northville Meats Market Closes
First business casualty in this part of Wayne county of an old established retail concern was reported this week from Northville, the George Hill-Adolph Balden meat market passing out of existence "for the duration." The Hill market was one of the oldest retail meat stores in this part of Wayne county.

Fire Department Has Busy Week

Firemen Blame The Cold Weather

The Plymouth fire department had a busy week. Three calls sent the department to answer alarms traceable to the cold weather. A roof fire at the home of Russell Monroe, 646 S. Main street caused about $50 damage. A fire at the home of Jerry Wilson, 681 Deer street, caused by an overheated furnace, which ignited the floor and spread to the roof caused damage estimated by the fire department at $200. Another fire also caused rather extensive damage at the home of Mrs. Iva Humberger, 762 Blunk street. The fire department did not estimate the damage in dollars.

He stated that he was feeling fine and that Roger Vanderveen, who left Plymouth with him in January, is getting along nicely and is also enjoying his new experience.

Butter Yield Off 622,000 Pounds

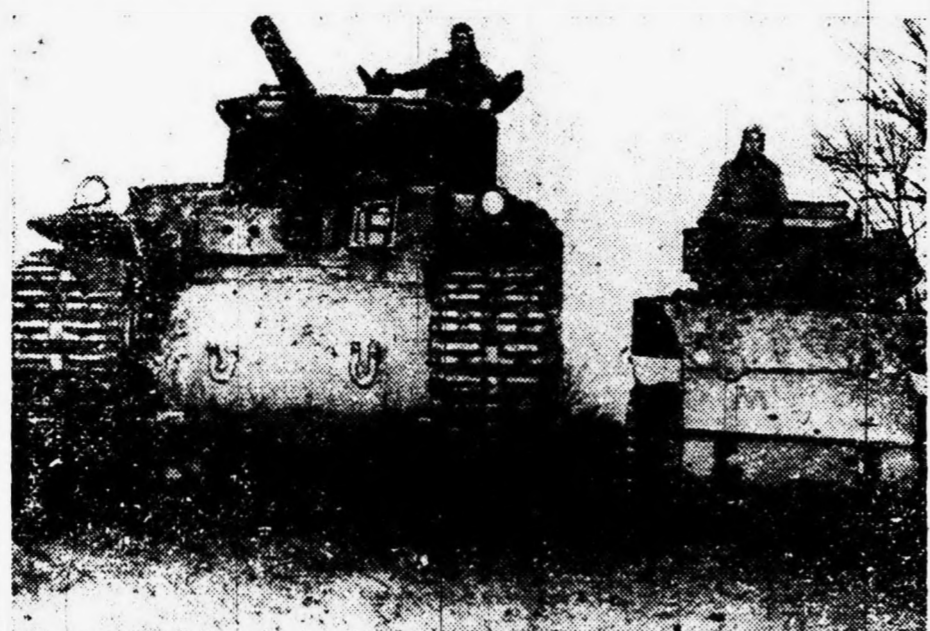

States Production Way Below Average

Michigan produced 5,100,000 pounds of creamery butter during January, a two per cent decline from the previous month and 12 per cent less than the 10-year average January production. The January output was greater than in December in all of the 12 central states except Michigan, Indiana and Missouri. Wisconsin showed an increase of 1,600,000 pounds.

Production of creamery butter throughout the United States during January, estimated at 122,880,000 pounds, is between 2 and 3 per cent higher than in January 1942 and 1½ per cent higher than the average for the month during the 10-years, 1932-41, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This month's production, however, falls 9 per cent short of the record January production in 1941. Decreased use of milk compared with a year ago for the manufacture of evaporated milk and American cheese, as well as lessened use for fluid cream and ice cream, has helped to make more milk available for butter manufacture although heavy fluid milk consumption has partially offset these gains. As a result of the 3½ cent subsidy being paid for Cheddar-type cheese and the 3 cent increase in ceiling prices for other types, creameries, particularly those not having drying equipment, are in a much less favorable position to compete with cheese factories for the available milk supply.

The January production represented a 5 per cent seasonal increase from the December output compared with a 3 per cent gain during the same period a year earlier and a 4 per cent gain for the 10 years, 1932-41. Seasonal gains were shown for all the principal geographic areas of the country except the South Central and the Pacific. The 50 per cent gain in the output of the North Atlantic group was shared by all states. Both the East North Central and West North Central areas increased production by 6 per cent, with nearly all states showing gains. Production of the South Central States was 3 per cent lower in spite of unchanged output in Oklahoma and Texas, the two most important butter-producing states of the area. Gains for the South Atlantic and the Mountain states were 1 per cent and 2 per cent, respectively, while the Pacific States reported a 4 per cent decline.

Winifred Comport, a home economist for the Detroit Edison company, will present another food demonstration in the high school home management rooms on this Friday afternoon, March 5 at 2 o'clock and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Her topic is a timely one—"Meat Extenders."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Looks like a pretty expensive cigar you've got there, Judge."

"Yesiree, it's a real good one, Bill. Won it from Chris down at the cigar store yesterday. He got pretty positive in a discussion we had and I had to take him up on it. Bet me three good cigars to my one that the three states that still have prohibition have less crime than the other states. Well, all I had to do was step across the street to my office where I had some recent F. B. I. figures in my desk drawer. Why, on the average, those three states have a worse crime record than the whole rest of the country. And there's a good sound reason for it, Bill. There's no such thing as a dry community. It's only a question of whether liquor is sold legally or illegally. And when it's sold illegally it means bootleggers, gangsters and more crime."

3 EASY WAYS TO SAVE Electricity

COOKING. Plan more oven meals in your electric range. Preparing a complete meal in the oven at one time is economical: The same amount of electricity cooks meat, potatoes, vegetables and a pudding. . . . Use LOW heat to finish most of your surface cooking, after foods have reached the steaming point. When the cooking operation is almost completed, the heat may be turned completely OFF. Stored heat in the unit finishes the cooking operation. . . . Don't waste electricity heating up a large quantity of water when cooking vegetables: Half-a-cup of water is ample.

LIGHTING. Dust steals light and wastes electricity. Wipe all lamp bulbs frequently, also reflector bowls and ceiling fixtures. Use the right size lamp in the right socket. Dark colored lamp shades soak up light. Use light-colored shades wherever possible, or try fitting dark shades with a white lining.

APPLIANCES. Don't leave appliances turned on when temporarily not in use (your electric iron or toaster, for example). Pull the plug, and connect the appliance again later when you are ready to use it. Defrost your refrigerator regularly. Don't overcrowd your refrigerator. Unless the motor is hermetically sealed, have it oiled and inspected regularly. Be sure to locate your refrigerator away from heat sources, and allow adequate air circulation all around the refrigerator. The Detroit Edison Company.

PHIL WILLIAMS WRITES FROM "SOMEWHERE IN THE MIDDLE EAST."

From "Somewhere in the Middle East" comes an interesting letter from Private First Class Phil Williams. He has been in many parts of the world since he left the states some months ago. His letter, written on February 9, which came by air mail from somewhere on the other side of the world, follows:

"Dear Editor:

"Many thanks for sending me the Mail over here. Although the copies are all mixed up—first getting an October copy, then a December copy, and then the next will be a September copy, but I still enjoy all of the news, and I never miss when I receive them.

"I really enjoy your column, 'With Plymouth Boys in the Service.' And I am glad to hear how all of my buddies in the service are making out.

"I have seen a lot of this world since leaving the states in September. Although I cannot tell you all of the countries I have been in, I can tell you I have been in Capetown, South Africa, and also Cairo, Egypt. As to where I am now, I cannot tell you, but I am safe and sound, and feeling fine.

"I will have to close for now, but will be looking forward to another copy of The Plymouth Mail, no matter what date may be on the paper.

"Again I say thanks a lot for the paper and tell the folks of Plymouth to keep up their good work collecting all of that scrap and to keep up those bond sales. Over here we say 'Say-ee-da' which means either hello or good-bye, according to how you use it.

"Say-ee-da,
"Pfc. Phil Williams.

HERE'S A LAD WHO KNOWS WHAT WE ARE FIGHTING FOR

It is not often that any of the boys discuss some of the great issues and problems that are involved in the world war that is upsetting the life of every American family and transferring America into one vast army camp.

But from down at the Air Depot Training station in Albuquerque, New Mexico, comes this letter from Private Jack Phillips, who tells what we are fighting for:

"Dear Editor—Just a few lines to give you my new address and to say thanks again for sending me and so many of the other Plymouth boys The Plymouth Mail. It's great what you are doing. And I want to pay tribute to Bert's restaurant and the countless other folks in Plymouth who are doing their utmost towards aiding the war effort.

"Sometimes I wonder what we are fighting for—and then I stop and think for a while.

"It's not just the big things of our country, it is also the smaller things that make us ourselves—just little things like meeting the old gang in the hamburger joints—hearing children laughing and playing, folks living their lives just as they see fit—Oh, yes—and watching Charley direct traffic. It's only in a country like ours that a fellow can find these things. Little things, that make us feel this is worth fighting for. — Yours, 'til America is safe once more.

LIEUTENANT COL. CASS HOUGH SENDS CABLEGRAM TO HIS FATHER

Edward C. Hough was pleased the other day to receive from his son, Lieutenant Colonel Cass S. Hough, with the United States flying forces somewhere across the Atlantic, an answer to his message telling of the death of the army officer's mother a few weeks ago. Because of the delay of a number of days before the answer was received, Mr. Hough was somewhat fearful that his son had not received his cablegram advising Cass of the sad news.

It is needless to say that he was greatly relieved when a message came from his son, who has already won for himself outstanding distinction in the armed flying forces, stating that his father's cablegram had been received upon his return "from down below" to his flying base somewhere in England. Mrs. Edward C. Hough died after a very brief illness on February 9.

ROBERT HEWER IS LOCATED AT AIR FIELD IN TEXAS

From Robert Hower comes this interesting letter about a new air base in Childress, Texas, where he is now stationed:

"I have been, receiving The Plymouth Mail regularly and enjoy it very much. I have been transferred to a new camp but it's still in Texas. It is quite warm out here but the sand storms are terrible.

"The new field here was taken over by the government Sunday, February 14, 1943. It was dedicated with speeches and a bombing exhibition. This was open to the public. Several barracks, mess hall, theatre and chapels were also open for inspection.

"I enjoy reading the letters from the other boys and hearing of the things they are doing.

They call her "the Greatest Mother in the World"—this living, marching army of good will. She stretches out her gentle hands to relieve distress wherever found. She is a great people's crusade, valiantly keeping the lights of civilization burning in a war-torn world. She is the American Red Cross.

PLYMOUTH'S AIM: $10,000.00

Let's Dig Down Deep for the American Red Cross War Fund

When we see the tremendous amount of Red Cross activity in Plymouth alone, the public health work; the training in First Aid, Home Nursing and Nurses' Aid work; the collecting of blood to save lives of wounded American fighting men—we realize how important the Red Cross is in our community. And when we multiply this activity by the hundreds of localities (both at home and in war zones) where the Red Cross is hard at work, we get an inkling of the magnitude of the job the Red Cross has undertaken. This great work must go on! And we must do our part—with dollars—to make it possible.

The Red Cross not only ministers to innocent victims of the war but also stands shoulder to shoulder with our fighting men—from the training camps to the front lines. So let us give to the Red Cross—all we can—for by so doing we contribute to America's war effort.

Gas Stations Robbed By Boy

Police Clean Up Series of Robberies

Did you ever wonder just what happens in Plymouth in a case of juvenile delinquency? Here is one of the more flagrant violations, but it aptly demonstrates what the police department is up against in its fight to keep boys and girls at home—certainly off the streets.

This is the story of a boy. Even more it is the story of a family, for this boy's brother and sister both have confessed thefts in the past.

This story will not mention the family's name, for the police say the father is broken hearted, and that he has cooperated with them in every way to try to rectify the mistakes of his children.

Several years ago, the older brother was in trouble several times, each time charged with theft.

Police Chief Thumme said "he stole everything in the book."

Perhaps it wasn't quite that bad, but it was bad enough.

Later, a sister was suspected of stealing a ring and a watch. The father took her to the police station, and apparently she was straightened out.

Then came the younger boy. His escapades began about two years ago when he stole a bicycle. The police found him, warned him, counseled him.

He stole another bicycle, and another, and another. He stole five of them altogether, and giving up in despair the police took him before the juvenile court in Detroit.

The court warned the boy and cautioned him, and placed him on parole. The Goodfellow's scraped together $5 to fix up an old bicycle which they gave to the boy. Instead of reforming, he got worse.

Three weeks ago, there was a series of filling station robberies. The Fluelling Hi-Speed service station on North Main street was entered twice. The thief obtained six cents.

The Standard filling station at Main street and Ann Arbor Trail was entered twice with a like result. The Swanson service station was entered twice, and the thief obtained $19.

Then two automobiles were stolen in quick succession. They belonged to Mary Bennett and Harold Burley.

Dearborn police found the car cruising the streets of Dearborn. In it was the 14-year-old Plymouth boy.

Chief Thumme was notified and Tuesday he went to Detroit where the boy confessed all of his crimes.

Now, he's going before the juvenile court again, and the prospects are he will not come back to Plymouth.

Of course there is a moral to the story. Chief Thumme warns parents to keep their children at home—certainly off of the streets.

This boy had told his mother that he found the money which he had, but the Chief warns that money is not found that way very often. The odds are against it. If money is plentiful in boys' pockets, some investigation is certainly in order.

No sooner did the chief get back to the city than he was called upon to investigate two other thefts, one of five dollars in money, the other of roller skates. Both boys have confessed.

Juvenile delinquency is on the increase throughout the nation, and Plymouth is no exception. That is the reason that the city, recognizing the problem has made arrangements to inaugurate a complete recreational program, in the hope that much of this delinquency will be eliminated.

New City Well to Be Tested Soon

A complete test of the new city well at the Wilcox bridge on the Northville road will be made within the next two weeks, it has been announced by City Manager Clarence B. Elliott.

The 38-inch casing has been sunk through the clay top soil, and has reached gravel, the city manager said. When the gravel was reached, the water spouted to within five inches of the surface.

The test will be made over an eight hour period, the city manager declared, with a pump working at a rate of 1,000 gallons per minute.

The contract with the well drilling firm specifies that the well must produce between 300 and 700 gallons per minute. If the well fails during the initial year of service, there is no cost to the city.

Mr. Elliott said that if the well shows a pumping capacity of 1,300 gallons per minute in the forthcoming test, that he will recommend that the city install a pump with that capacity. The commission thus far has approved a pump only for 700 gallons per minute.

A complete check on the purity of the water also will be made in the test two weeks hence. The first check on the purity of the water, received a clean bill of health from the state.

To Prepare For What May Come

Junior Chamber of Commerce Acts

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced a class in physical conditioning to be held at the Plymouth high school gymnasium on Friday evenings.

The program, which will be directed by Tony Matulis, high school physical education instructor, will be offered primarily for those men who wish to reduce their waist lines with a view of conditioning themselves for service in the armed forces. The cost of the course will be $2 for the ten weeks period.

Book Tells of Old 'Victory Gardens'

From the public library of Malden, Massachusetts, Frank P. Brown, 1312 Penniman avenue, has just borrowed on his library card, a book entitled, "The War Garden Victorious" that he gave to that library just after the ending of the last world war.

The book, in addition to most timely information for these perilous times, means a lot to Mr. Brown because its author, Charles Lathrop Pack, presented Mr.

Brown with the copy that the Plymouth resident later donated to the Malden library his old home city.

The author was, for nearly 50 years, a very personal friend of Mr. Brown, who was for many years, one of the best known stamp collectors of the east.

"The War Garden Victorious" was a limited edition, but it provides as complete a history of the food situation preceding and during the last world war as was ever written.

In addition to the historical data, it is filled to overflowing with suggestions as to what to grow and how to grow vegetables, fruits and berries in the "Victory Gardens."

There is a chapter in the book devoted to the benefits of the national law which made "daylight saving" compulsory throughout the country. The author pointed out how it had provided a longer working day for the millions of people who had become gardeners.

At least a good half of the book could be reproduced by the government at the present time and provide much better data and information pertaining to war gardens than anything that has so far been produced by the numerous bureaus in Washington.

One of the greatest success stories of 1942

About a year ago, America was being asked to increase, substantially, its investment in War Bonds.

And no one knew, definitely, just what America's answer to that plea would be.

Today, America's answer is, clear—written down in black and white for any one to read. And the reading makes as heart-warming and inspiring a story as anything that has come out of this war. Here are some highlights...

In December, 1941, there were 3½ million Americans who owned War Bonds. Today, there are over 50 million. A year ago that figure would have seemed fantastic. There is nothing in all history to match that record. Never before have so many people owned such a tremendous stake in their nation and its government.

In December, 1941, some 700,000 people were investing about four and one-half percent of their earnings in War Bonds through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan. Today, the 700,000 has swelled to 26 million—the four and one-half percent to nine percent. The MONTHLY investment in War Bonds through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan has grown, in one year, from 8 to 400 million dollars.

Figures like that need little comment. They tell, better than any words, what happened when a free people decided among themselves to lend their government money. Money to help pay for fighting equipment—money to help keep prices down—money to insure peacetime goods and peacetime jobs and a generally decent world to which our fighting men can return.

Peacetime goods and jobs? A decent world? Think what 12 BILLION dollars' worth of War Bonds owned by Americans' right now can mean in buying power to be released in the years after the war is won.

Buying power that can set factories full of men to making millions of cars and radios and washing machines. Buying power that can set multitudes of other men to building a million new homes for impatient owners. Buying power that can mean better, richer living for everyone of us.

And that 12 billion dollars is only a beginning.

For what we have done in '42 to win this war will not be enough to do in '43. Our whole war effort must be expanded. Not a one of us but knows that in the year ahead we must send more men—we must do more fighting—we must build more planes, more ships, more guns—more everything.

And to do this, we must buy more and more War Bonds.

Enough more so that when the record is in for 1943, America's War Bond buying will once again be one of the greatest success stories of the year.
