

Crack-Down Power Given to Rationing Board

Chairman Wood Predicts Tighter Regulations Soon

Complete authority to cancel all gasoline ration books for violations of the gasoline rationing regulations has been placed in the hands of the gasoline panel of local rationing boards, it is learned on good authority. This includes Plymouth. Under terms of the new order which has been issued by the national and regional offices of the Office of Price Administration, the gasoline panel will be required to sit in judgment on all cases brought to its attention.

This will include speeding convictions. Under the terms of national regulations, 35 miles an hour is the national speed limit. All drivers, except certain specified trucks, are not permitted to drive anywhere in excess of that speed.

Conviction of speeding charges and other violations may bring a revocation of all rationing books, including the basic "A"

No Longer in The Insurance Business

Wendell J. Lent is in a predicament, and all because his friends over the past years just can't forget that he's now in the clothing business. Lent, along with his brother-in-law Harry Davis, have purchased the Wild and Co. clothing store. It is now known as Davis and Lent.

Following the purchase, Lent continued with his insurance business in which he had been engaged as a representative of the Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. for a number of years. But now he has severed all connections with that company and is devoting his whole time to the new store.

But still, his insurance customers come into the store to pay their premiums. Now, Mr. Lent likes to see all of his friends. He's glad they just can't forget that he's no longer in the insurance business. But the fact still remains that he's not. He's a clothier, and he feels that all these friends should mail their premiums to the company offices at Jackson, Mich.

book, it was pointed out by William Wood, chairman of the Plymouth Price and Rationing Board and a member of the gasoline panel.

Other regulations which must be obeyed include: Use of loose coupons for the purchase of gasoline.

Pleasure driving beyond the allotted 90 miles per month, obtainable from basic "A" coupons. Mr. Wood said that the regulations are going to be drawn tighter because of the gasoline shortage which already has paralyzed motor traffic in the East and may spread to the middle West.

A sign at the ration board offices says: "If you drive more than 35, no tires here."

It was pointed out by Mr. Wood that a conviction for speeding automatically rules out any chance the driver ever may have had to get a priority for a tire. And at the same time, the gasoline coupons may be removed. "Here are the facts," said Mr. Wood. "A large percentage of the traveling public for a long time held within the 35-mile speed limit. But there were a few who held to 40 and even 45 miles an hour. There were no reports of any serious difficulty encountered by these people."

"It simply wasn't fair for them to be able to drive at that speed and the most of us go along at 35. Consequently, most of the drivers in this part of the country stepped up their speed. Most people now drive about 40, I think. However, there are reports that the average speed on country highways away from the city is about 45 miles an hour."

"Whenever these people are caught speeding, the conviction notice is sent to the local board. That means that if someone from the Plymouth area is fined for speeding in Muskegon, that information will eventually get back to this board, and the convicted motorist will be called before the board, which may take the ration coupons from him."

"This is a serious matter. There is no desire on the part of the gasoline panel to be tough. But this is war. We have a job to do in this war just as much as the soldier or the sailor. It is the patriotic duty of every American to obey the law. If they don't, then they may expect to be punished."

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Starkweather announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Doris, to Dennis Szabo, of Ann Arbor. The wedding will take place in the Presbyterian church at three o'clock, June 13, with a reception in the Starkweather home following the ceremony. Miss Starkweather is employed in the payroll department of the Willow Run Bomber plant, and Mr. Szabo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Szabo of Pennsylvania, is a pre-flight engineer at Willow Run.

"Such a little thing"... but that's what makes

BLACK MARKETS

Think hard. Can you honestly say you never misused a single small ration stamp? It's such a little thing to do — carelessly. It seems so Yet it takes only a single innocent offense, repeated by many others just like you, to mount up into a great national menace.

Black Markets can get their start in what seems the most innocent way—through honest, patriotic people like you who wouldn't do one thing to handicap the war effort.

—people who don't even realize they are misusing their rationing books, or violating the rationing rules.

- The farmer who kills his own meat—as he is entitled to—and sends his extra red stamps to a relative in town.
 - The woman who has guests coming for dinner, finds herself short on stamps, and begs her grocer to help her out.
 - The man who returns the garageman's friendly services by handing him a few loose gas coupons.
- Multiply one innocent violation by all the innocent, careless violators and we'll be a nation of cheaters—and starvers.

Take only a little that isn't yours... and, together, you take all

—If you want to keep your skirts clean of any Black Market transactions, do these three things:

1. Make no purchase of rationed goods without surrendering the correct amount of ration points.
2. Obtain no rationed goods, to which you are not entitled, on someone else's ration stamps.
3. Pay no more than ceiling prices.

To Renew Books Through The Mail

The Plymouth Price and Rationing Board announced this week that "A" gasoline books would be renewed by mail, beginning about June 15.

The "A" books are issued to all car owners regardless of occupation or the use to which the gasoline is to be put.

It will be the second effort to issue gasoline coupons by mail.

Lieut. Bloomhuff Tells of Thrills

from the left hand side and three o'clock from the right hand side. Each number of the clock then is a direction. It is easier for the pilot and gunners to tell others on the intercommunications system of the plane the direction to look for the enemy by using the face of a clock.

Yes, Lieutenant Bloomhuff gets a crack at the Japs first, for directly they attack from the front, though why they use this direction the lieutenant doesn't know. German fighter pilots try to attack from the rear. Bloomhuff is certain that he has shot down just one zero, but he hasn't received credit for it, because no one else saw him get the Jap pilot and plane. But Bloomhuff knows himself that he got him.

"My first real war mission," Lieut. Bloomhuff said, "was shortly after we arrived in Hawaii. We were sent to Midway island as a sort of alert crew for the other fliers who were there. We made a few reconnaissance missions around Midway, but we never saw any of the enemy, and after about ten days we were sent back to Hawaii.

"But we didn't stay there long. We were sent almost immediately to Australia where we joined the 19th bombardment group. Boy, there was a swell outfit. We landed first at an inland base about 400 miles from Sidney. We were soon moved up, however, to one of the bases farther north.

"Oh, yes, I think I ought to say that I landed in Australia on June 27, 1942. That was the start of my second year in the army.

"Anyway, we were at the advanced base only a short time before we were sent out on our first mission. That was a trip. Our instructions were to load up with bombs and fuel at our base in northern Australia for an attack to be made in New Guinea. The gunner was pretty badly wounded in this affair, but most of all, he was temporarily blinded by the hydraulic fluid. On his second run, the Nip got the tail gunner. A bullet went right through his body, but when I left Australia, he was coming along all right.

"On the third run, he came in toward the front. One of his shells got our hydraulic lines and another hit a spare box of ammunition sitting on the floor. Our own ammunition started to explode. About seven or eight shells must have exploded before the bombardment stopped.

"One of these must have been a tracer shell, for suddenly the hydraulic fluid caught fire up in the nose of the ship.

"I didn't know whether to grab a parachute and get away from there, or stay and fight the fire. I guess I didn't think very fast, for I started to beat out the flames with my hands. I thought at first it must be gasoline and I knew I wouldn't have time to grab a fire extinguisher if it was gasoline.

"So I just kept beating at the flames. The bombardier was busy shooting at the Jap, but when he finally saw what had happened, he went up to the pilot's cabin and got a fire extinguisher. But by the time he got back, I had the fire out."

The lieutenant supposed there were other experiences, but he couldn't recall just what they were.

"It is nice country down under the world," he says, but he was never so happy to be any place in his life as he was when he landed in Plymouth after flying from Port Moresby, New Guinea to the Detroit city airport in just under five days.

"Yes," he said, "I am glad to be home. But I'm going back. You people at home keep the stuff coming to us, and we'll use it, right now, we've got control of the air down there, but if the strike keep up here at home, we won't have. Let me tell you there are only three things the boys down there talk about. They talk about home mostly. They talk about the girls, and they talk about the men who are letting them down by going on strike."

"We're not heroes. We're just ordinary guys from home, who are doing a job. We're not getting paid much in cash, but we'll collect in the knowledge that all of you and all of us are still free and will be free.

"But all the fellows at home here are ordinary guys, too. They ought to be willing to work for us. Tell 'em that. Tell 'em we can't fight without what they're making. Money doesn't count. The only thing that counts is winning from the Nips and the Germans."

Warns of Rabies Outbreak

One Serious Case Is Reported

Veterinarian Ted Cavell reported this week one case of rabies and warned all residents to keep a close watch on their dogs.

Dr. Cavell said the rabies case occurred at a farm about five miles west of the city when a small puppy was bitten either by a stray dog or by a wild fox.

Three weeks later, the dog was taken to the veterinary for attention and the complaint was diagnosed as rabies and the dog destroyed.

The farmer reported that he had heard a commotion in the barn lot and had discovered the dog bitten. Later, when the puppy began to choke and refused to eat, he thought there was something in its throat and attempted himself to dislodge the obstruction.

He and his two children both suffered scratches, and are now taking treatment for rabies themselves.

Choking and coughing is a symptom of rabies, Dr. Cavell said.

Blood donors wanted again! Mrs. H. R. Pennhale, Red Cross blood donor chairman, urges all available blood donors to register at once for the July blood bank.

At Plymouth's last blood donor day in April there were 174 pints of blood given, 14 pints more than our minimum quota. Forty people who had registered failed to appear or to telephone their reason for not appearing. Plymouth's goal for the July blood bank is 200 pints, so at least 300 people must register. If you are physically capable of being a blood donor please register at once at the city hall, at Beyer's Pharmacy, or with Mrs. H. R. Pennhale, 659 Burroughs, telephone 252-W.

The fifth food demonstration sponsored by the Plymouth Nutrition committee was given at the high school Wednesday, June 2, at 9:30 in the morning with Miss Emma DuBord, of Dearborn, as the demonstrator. Mrs. John Henderson, consumer information chairman, Mrs. John Blickestaff, Red Cross chairman, and Mrs. Russell Powell, war club chairman, met Tuesday afternoon, June 1, at the home of Mrs. Henderson to complete plans for the awarding of civilian defense certificates to Plymouth workers.

Mail Applications To Detroit Office

Correcting an error in last week's Plymouth Mail, the Plymouth Price and Rationing board said this week that the registration for the third ration book would be handled entirely by the Detroit office. It had been announced that ration book applications should be mailed to the local office. Instead, the address to which they are to be mailed is printed on the application.

No Delinquency In China

Dr. Yi-fang Wu, president of Giling college at Chentu, China, was the luncheon guest of Mrs. Anthony Matulis here last Tuesday, and from her former classmate at the University of Michigan, Mrs. Matulis was able to obtain extensive information on the plight of the Chinese people.

Madame Wu is on a mission to the United States for the Chinese government and spoke before the general assembly of the Presbyterian church last Monday night on the same program with Wendell Willkie. Madame Wu was hostess to Mr. Willkie when the republican candidate for president visited her college a year ago.

Madame Wu told Mrs. Matulis of the atrocities committed by the Japanese against the Chinese people, but she also revealed the great admiration the Chinese have for the American people.

This good will, she said, has been created partly through the education of the Chinese in this country and partly by the missions established there by the Americans.

One of the most interesting points brought out by Madame Wu was the statement that juvenile delinquency is almost non-existent in China, due largely to the filial piety of the Chinese people.

The children in China have a reverence for their father, and will do no wrong because the blame for the wrong falls on the father instead of the child.

Electric Storm Damages Phones

Over 300 Put Out Of Commission

A lightning storm last Tuesday night, which brought with it much unneeded rain, put 300 telephones out of service in the Plymouth area, it was reported by the Bell Telephone company.

Lightning striking wires and burning out important connections caused most of the damage.

Almost half an inch of rain fell on Tuesday to continue the worst siege of rain during any spring in the history of the weather bureau.

The government meteorologist at Detroit reported that 8.05 inches of rain fell during the month of May. It was the heaviest rainfall for May in the history of the weather bureau, and the second heaviest fall for any month in history.

The weather bureau said that in August, 1926, 8.55 inches of rain fell.

Lansing Girl Bride Of Maurice Gibson

Before the flower-banked fireplace in the chapel of the Bethlehem Evangelical and Reformed church at Ann Arbor, Miss Anna Ozanich of Lansing and Maurice Gibson of Plymouth were married last Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Gibson is employed as pressman at The Plymouth Mail commercial department.

The service was read by the Rev. Theodore Schmale, pastor of the church.

Ray Danol, superintendent of The Mail composing room, was best man and Mrs. Anthony Reiser of Wayne, sister of the groom, was matron of honor.

Both the bride and her attendant wore corsages of carnations. The bride was attired in a light blue suit, and Mrs. Reiser wore light tan.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the groom's aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Feldcamp in Ann Arbor, where the couple will make their home for the present. Later they expect to reside in Plymouth.

Pastor Slices His Own Bread

Helps Bakery In Big Rush

Rev. Leonard Sanders of the Methodist church has solved the "waiting" problem when he goes to the bakery to get some sliced bread.

Yes sir, if Frank Terry and his force of over-worked employes haven't had time to slice the bread, just do it yourself.

That's what Rev. Sanders did. And how the bread did fly!

He took off his coat, had one of the young ladies show him how to operate the machine and for hours he ran loaves of bread through the slicing machine like a veteran bread slicer.

Mr. Terry offered the pastor a steady job—but because of the fact that the Methodist minister has plenty to do as it is, he decided that the time is not quite ripe for him to start slicing all of the bread for the busy folks of Plymouth.

Phone Service Must be Curtailed

If you have been in the habit of calling the postoffice by telephone and asking if there is any mail in your box for you, do not do so any more.

Postal regulations say that this information can no longer be given out—as it is one of those things which cause the overloading of telephone lines.

In fact, it is needless to call the postoffice any more about anything, as there is exceedingly little information that can be given out over the telephone in the future.

This order has become necessary because of shortage of help at the postoffice and because of the overloading of telephone lines.

High School to Give Concert

The music department of Plymouth high school will present a concert in the high school auditorium on the evening of June 10, designed as a tribute to the young men in the organization who will leave this summer for service in the armed forces.

The program will be under the direction of Clarence Luchtman, director of high school music.

Participating in the program will be the band, the combined choruses, the boys and girls' glee clubs and the choir.

Mr. Luchtman said the program would not be entirely martial in tempo, but that all of the service songs would be included in the program.

Two Properly Observe Straw Hat Day

Straw hats off to Ben Sprowl and "Jim" Watson.

These two Plymouth residents were the only citizens of the city to stand in line and welcome the straw hat season right on time.

Ben dug up his old straw hat that has served him well during many past years, and "Jim" blossomed forth with a brand new straw sailor that caused some to think that a new deal war broker has just arrived in town.

Who is Ben and who is "Jim"? Well Ben Sprowl for the past 50 years has been doing all of the fussy little carpenter jobs for the ladies of Plymouth, and "Jim" Watson is a recent addition to the composing room force of The Plymouth Mail, having come to this busy little city from down in West Virginia, where straw hats blossom forth about the last of April.

FOOD RAN SHORT ON BOAT TRIP TO THE PACIFIC SOUTHWEST

"The food is swell where we are now on an island in the southwest Pacific, but what we had to eat on the boat coming over was not much. We had only butter and oranges all the way over. I never thought the army would feed such chow to its men, but since we got here our own cooks have taken over and the chow is fine," writes Sergeant Robert A. Burley from somewhere down in the Pacific. "It is awfully nice where we are. The weather is fine, something like it is around Atlanta in the early summer. It is hot during the day, but cool at night. I had a big piece of fresh tuna for supper last night and it sure tasted good. One of the fellows went to the ocean and caught three of them. "There are a lot of deer around here, but so far have been too busy to go hunting, but as soon as the work is caught up, I'm sure going deer hunting. "F. Colombo is here with us. I guess that he, Hank Cummins and Gordon H. are the only ones from Plymouth on this island. "It gets dark at 6 o'clock at night so when there is no show we go to bed very early. "I haven't received my Plymouth Mail since I left the States.

have done without The Mail while I have been in the hospital. I've read everything in it from the first page to the store ads and want page. "I'm getting along fine and sure I will be out by the end of another week. Say hello to all my friends in Plymouth."

HERE'S THE TRUE SPIRIT OF THE BOYS FROM PLYMOUTH

Once in a while something is written into the letters "to the editor" from Plymouth boys in service, which reveals the true, patriotic spirit of the lads from this city who are honoring the uniforms of our country they are now wearing. As an example of the devotion and spirit of Plymouth lads scattered over the country in training camps, in the navy and on foreign lands, a few paragraphs have been taken from a recent letter written by DeWitt Ellsworth, better known to his hosts of Plymouth friends as "Ted." "Ted" and "Norm" Daggett of Plymouth were sometime ago assigned to the McCloskey General Hospital at Temple, Texas, one of the largest military hospitals in the entire world. "There are boys here in the hospital who have seen action in Guadalcanal and on the Solomon Islands and elsewhere in the Pacific. Taking care of these boys is not a duty, but an honor to us. They are all a swell bunch of fellows. Getting the sick and wounded back on their feet would give any one great satisfaction and pleasure," wrote Ted. "It's hard to know what to say in thanks for The Mail, but we want you to know how much the boys appreciate it. It's not just like a great big letter from home telling me what the people where I come from are doing. And believe me all of us in the service appreciate what is being done. "It is natural that letters from Plymouth boys in the service are our favorite reading. We read them over and over. And judging from these letters, Plymouth boys must be scattered all over the earth. "Nobody can say that Plymouth is not doing its part. The boys are proud of the folks back home, and proud to say we are from Plymouth. "I am fortunate enough to be stationed here with another Plymouth boy, Norm Daggett and myself were among the first to be stationed at McCloskey. The hospital is situated just outside of Temple, down Deep in the Heart of Texas. It is the largest hospital of its kind in the world. One can walk three and a half miles through the corridor without going outside the building. It is not yet completed and when it is finished it will hold over 4,000 beds. "Norm and myself both find the Medics an interesting job and we like our work."

ATTENDS BATTALION GRADUATION DANCE

NORMAN KINCADE SEES PLENTY OF COUNTRY

Located out in the state of Oregon on the Pacific coast for more than a year, Captain Norman Kincade has been transferred to staff duty in New York. With the exception of a period of nine weeks spent attending the Command and General Staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, he has been connected with staff duty. For a brief time he was at Patterson Field, Ohio. His brother is with the army in New Guinea and some time ago letters from him were published in The Mail.

GARY VAN TUBERGEN NOW AVIATION CADET

Gary Van Tubergen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Tubergen of 10269 Stark road, is now enrolled as an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces Pre-Flight School for Pilots at Maxwell Field, located on the outskirts of Montgomery, the capital of Alabama. Cadet Tubergen attended Fred E. Maples School, Dearborn, and Plymouth high school and was a tool and die maker when he entered the army of the United States, where he had served 16 months as an enlisted man when he was accepted as an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces, April 1, 1943, at Nashville, Tennessee.

BENONIA SWEENEY GIVEN PROMOTION

A news release from Great Lakes to The Mail advises of the promotion of Benonia L. Sweeney, 20, son of Mrs. Ruth Sweeney, 312 Blanche street, to the petty officer rating of machinist's mate, second class. He was a member of a class of 425 boys who successfully passed the tests and qualified for active duty.

PLYMOUTH CADETS KEEP MOVING UP

Three Plymouth Naval aviation cadets have completed their first 12 weeks of training at the Naval Flight Preparatory School, Wooster College, Wooster, O., and have been transferred to a second school for elementary pilot training.

The Plymouth cadets and the school to which each has been transferred are: Saveri J. Ovellette, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Ovellette, 11401 Melrose, to University of Idaho; Warren Perkins, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Perkins, 260 Union street, to University of Idaho; Pocatello, Idaho; Ralph B. Ware, 21, 1017 Holbrook, to Yakima Valley Junior College, Yakima, Washington.

TWO FROM THIS CITY COMPLETE COURSES

Praised by Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson as "a fine body of men" and said by Congressman R. E. Thomson of Texas to make him "feel good over the future of the nation," another large class of potential combat pilots has departed from the San Antonio, Texas, Aviation Cadet Center to take advanced training at primary flying fields.

The cadets have completed two phases of their training—those at the Army Air Forces Classification Center and at the Preflight School (Pilot), the two units which make up this military establishment, largest aviation cadet training center in the nation. They will receive their first actual flying training at the primary fields.

LIKES CLIMATE DOWN IN FLORIDA

Private James E. Lockwood writes that he has been transferred to the supply department at the Battalion headquarters of the U. S. Air Forces located at Tampa, Florida, and that he likes the climate of that part of the country very much. "The sand is the worst thing we have to put up with," he writes.

"It certainly is swell the way the people of Plymouth are doing to help out the war, from what we read in The Mail. If everybody was doing the same thing, I am sure it would not be long before we would win the war," added the young soldier.

DONALD FULFORD WINS PROMOTION

Brig. General John M. Willis camp commander at Camp Grant, Illinois, according to a news release sent The Mail, has just announced the promotion of Sergeant Technician Donald E. Fulford to Staff Sergeant. He is in the medical department of the army.

Aid to Enemy

"Any American who willfully neglects to pay his taxes on time or to invest every cent he can in War Bonds is surely giving aid and comfort to the enemy. . . . We have a job to do and we are all called for service to our country. Our dollars are called to service too. Let us all ask ourselves, 'shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?' — Secretary Morgenthau.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Many of the women of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps are already overseas serving in various capacities to help win the war. The WAACs go through a strenuous training to fit them for the arduous duties they must perform.

A uniform for a WAAC, complete, costs approximately $170.00. The quartermaster's department must provide thousands of them. Your purchase of War Bonds helps pay for these uniforms. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday through a Payroll Savings plan at your office or factory. U. S. Training Department

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Glad we ran into you, Judge. I was just tryin' to set Helen straight on this business about sugar. I wish you'd tell her what you told me last night down at lodge."

"Glad to, Jim. I told him, Helen, that there's not a single bit of truth to the rumor that the distillers use sugar in making whiskey. They make it exclusively from grain. Only bootleggers use sugar to make whiskey. I read an article in the paper just last week that goes to prove it. It told how a confessed bootlegger in a Federal court testified to the fact that another bootlegger, also on trial, had bought a million pounds of sugar a few years ago."

"As a matter of fact, Helen, no distiller is making whiskey today and hasn't for many months. All distillers are working night and day producing war alcohol for the government. And they make every drop of it exclusively from grain, too."

THE purpose of your telephone directory is to give you, quickly and easily, the number of almost any nearby telephone you wish to call. Yet six out of ten calls to "Information" are for numbers that could be found by looking in the directory!

In Michigan those needless calls increase the load on war-busy central office equipment by 1,180 hours of operators' time each day!

We're at war, and we must keep the telephone system clear for vital war calls. In normal times we would add new equipment to handle the increased load. That can't be done today because the needed materials have gone to the fighting fronts.

Please, before you ask "Information" for a number—look in the directory.

If it isn't listed and you must call "Information," write the number down so you'll have it next time.
