Playgrounds Provided For All Parts Of City

Directors Selected To Aid Play Of Smaller Children

Recreation Director Anthony Matulis announced this week that eight playgrounds for children under 12 years of age will be opened on July 21. They will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and will be under the direction of high school girls.

Training of the girls for the work they will be doing has started and in addition the girls will receive additional training during the summer months. They will be paid $1 a day for their services.

The playgrounds will be located as follows:

- No. 1—Forest avenue, near Harvey street.
- No. 2—At the end of Hamilton and Maple streets.
- No. 3—Central grade school.
- No. 4—Sheridan and Lincoln.
- No. 5—Auburn and Junction.
- No. 6—Starkweather school.
- No. 7—Mill and Ann Arbor Trail.
- No. 8—Robinson subdivision.

Five girls already have accepted appointments as directors. They are: Eleanor Hart, Mary Jane Christianson, Marie Workup, Mary Swanson and Rose Oppenheim. Other girls who are qualified, but have not yet accepted appointment include Rosemary Willis, Joan Gillis, Beatrice Johnson and Emmy Lou Hough.

Each school student has taken home from school a letter from the recreation commission, inviting the child to the playgrounds. The letters contain information as to the location of the playgrounds.

Courses to be taught at the playgrounds include handicraft, story telling, quiet games, active games and shuffleboard. Others will be added as the season develops.

Mr. Matulis said that Asa Rowe would manage the industrial softball league, in which six teams have been entered. These teams are sponsored by Wall Wire Company, the Gulf Refining company, the Ford CIO, Fay's Hi-Speed, Plymouth Hardware and the Michigan Bell Telephone company. Umpires for the games will be selected from members of the teams.

There also will be fouridget teams, composed of boys in the seventh and eighth grades and up to 16 years of age.

Six teams also will be entered in the Junior Boys league, which will include all boys over 15 years of age up to the adult age level.

Girls' softball leagues also are being organized, Mr. Matulis said, but added that details have not been worked out.

Tennis will be available at the high school courts and at the park, and there will be a city tournament.

Parent nights at the parks are being arranged and neighborhood outings also are being planned.

Each student or child participating in the recreation program will be given a card at the start of the season. For each project he will receive a grade, and at the close of the summer program, special insignia will be awarded for achievement during the summer months.

Jobs Open For School Students

Many To Work On Farms And In Factory

Every senior high school boy, and the preponderant majority of junior class men all have jobs if they want them.

Carvel Bentley, head of the high school job placement program, said that all factories and many farmers have applied to him for help during the summer months, but Mr. Bentley said that he could provide none of that help.

For the first time in his memory, he said, boys are not begging for jobs. Jobs are begging for them, and they are now in a position to choose which they want.

Of course many of the boys already have gone into the service, and others are expected to follow them within the next few weeks. Many of these boys have not waited for normal draft induction but have enlisted in the branch of the service they prefer.

Others have been chosen for officer candidate schools, and will leave for college classes at once.

The remainder are all working or will work. Many girls also have signed up for work. Mr. Bentley said there still is a demand for fruit harvesters, and he said he anticipated that many girls would be placed in that service.

Born to Lt. and Mrs. Lawrence O. Ransom at St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor, June 14, a daughter, Karen Marie. Mrs. Ransom was formerly Dorothy L. McCullough.

Graduates Enter Military Service

More than fifty Plymouth boys have begun their last week in Plymouth high school.

Several of them already have answered the call to the colors. Two of the seniors graduating next Thursday night took their examination for the Marines last week. Another left for the navy last week.

Other members of the graduating class also have gone, and this summer it is anticipated that more than half of the others will be called into the service.

Seventeen Stamp Skyrockets Shoe Store Sales

Buyers Rush To Get Shoes During Last Few Days

"Christmas was never like this," was the only thing that Plymouth shoe men could say last Tuesday night after closing their stores on five of the most hectic days ever experienced in that business in Plymouth.

"The main reason for the heavy buying wave, of course, was the expiration of ration stamp No. 17 which lost its worth when the stores closed Tuesday night. Shoe dealers agreed that in all the years they had been in business that never before had they experienced a rush such as the one they just went through.

"Shoes didn't care what kind of shoes they got and they didn't care what they cost, all they wanted to do was to spend No. 17 stamp before it expired," is the way one local dealer summed up the rush in his store.

Shoe departments and shoe stores in the city on Wednesday morning looked like a windstorm had swept down the aisles with empty boxes and wrapping paper scattered from the front door to the back door and stacked high in the corners.

Why clerks and proprietors turned off store lights and locked their doors last Tuesday night after what was probably the biggest day of shoe selling that this city had ever known. A survey revealed the fact that local residents, in the last week, had purchased some 3,600 pairs of shoes representing a cash value of $25,200.00 and that's a lot of shoes and a lot of dollars in any country.

Mildred Postiff Wheaton Graduate

Miss Mildred Postiff of Lilley road, graduated from Wheaton college in Wheaton, Illinois on June 14. She received the degree of bachelor of science in her major education.

While attending Wheaton, Miss Postiff was a member of the Boethallian Literary society.

Police Warn Boys of Taking Bicycles For Joy Rides—One Offender Held

It looks very much as though some Plymouth boys are heading for serious trouble.

Police department reports show the theft of numerous bicycles during recent weeks, some taken for brief joy trips and some taken to keep.

Already one boy has been arrested, and because of previous offenses has been jailed and may face a severe penalty.

Police believe that some boys are taking bicycles for joy rides, not realizing that a serious offense they are committing.

But they warn that unless the practice comes to an immediate stop, there will be some severe penalties handed out—and the warning is intended so that parents may talk to boys before their sons get into serious trouble.

Not One Objection To Township's New Zoning Law, Effective June 23

Plymouth township's new zoning ordinance becomes effective Wednesday, June 23, stated Charles Rathburn yesterday.

"In all of my experience, I never saw regulations which are of such an extensive nature as our new zoning ordinance, enacted without some protest from some one. But we never had one single objection to the adoption of a zoning ordinance for the township. Every one seemed to be in favor of it, and if there were any who opposed it, no one knew about it," stated Supervisor Rathburn yesterday.

"Of course a zoning law is a benefit to all property owners and the largest number of residents of the township are property owners. Probably that is the reason why everybody was so favorable to it," he added.

It is understood that the citizens of Northville plan to submit their zoning ordinance to the voters again next spring. At the recent election in Northville there seemed to be a general misunderstanding as to its many advantages, but the advocates of the zoning measure say these misunderstandings can be avoided in another election.

All other sections of Northwestern Wayne county are now zoned, with the exception of Northville.

Workers In War Activities Are Given Awards

Over 400 Plymouth Women Recognized For Their Work

School Flag Has 307 Service Stars

At the close of the school term last Tuesday, the service flag which hangs in the main hall way of the high school building contained three stars.

Above, was a gold star, representing one high school graduate killed in action. Below was a single gray star, representing a single high school graduate who is a prisoner of the Japs.

The center red star represents 305 names, the 305 high school graduates who have entered the armed services.

Robert Blundell Likes The Navy

If there is any one who was ever "sold" on the navy, that fellow is Robert Blundell, who is home on a ten-day leave from the U. S. Naval station at Brooklyn.

"There is nothing quite so good as the navy. I was told it would be fine, but never believed it would be the tops that it is," stated Robert yesterday.

He says that New York City is a most interesting place, and "I've seen a lot of it during my off time."

To Paint School Room Walls

The board of education at its last meeting approved general renovation of the high school building including the painting of all walls.

Architect Thomas Moss will prepare plans and specifications after which the job will be submitted to open bidding.

Sends Necklace Made Of South Sea Shells

From a South Sea island where the cannibals roamed but a few brief years ago, Mrs. Frank Pierce has received a shell necklace made by her nephew, Gerald Norgrrove, who is a soldier in Uncle Sam's anti-aircraft forces and now stationed on an island somewhere down under the equator.

The shells, all of uniform size and color, have been tied into a most attractive necklace.

In a letter to Mrs. Pierce, he declares that the mosquitoes are of immense size, but "we have them licked now and their bite doesn't even dent us."

Rev. T. L. Sanders Conducts School Baccalaureate

Sermon Stresses Four Principles For Good Living

Baccalaureate, Plymouth high school, was both pleasing and inspirational. The service was in charge of Rev. T. Leonard Sanders, assisted by Rev. Francis Tetu and Rev. George Rothery.

The music, under the direction of the choir of the Methodist church, featuring Mrs. James Sessions and Alfred Smith in a duet, was especially fine.

The sermon by Rev. Sanders on "Is Life Worth Living?" was full of thoughtful suggestions for not only the graduating class but also to other adults. His emphasis was on the fact that the worth-whileness of life does not depend on the years of living but on the worthwhile purposes of the life and the degree to which the individual pursues those purposes.

Four things, emphasized by Rev. Sanders, men must learn to do, if he would make his record true:

- To think without confusion clearly.
- To love his fellowmen sincerely to act from honest motives purely.
- To Trust in God and Heaven securely.

Legion Sends 8 To Boys State

Party Funds Defray Total Expense

Nearly 300 Plymouth and nearby Plymouth residents turned millionaires last Friday night to enjoy one of the American Legion's most successful millionaire parties.

The affair conducted under the auspices of the Myron H. Beals post of the legion provided funds for eight Plymouth boys to attend the annual Boys' State which convened in Lansing yesterday. Legion Commander William Rose personally accompanied the boys to the convalescent home established for their nine-day stay.

The Legion hall at Newburg was packed to a capacity throughout the evening while guests played games for war bond and defense stamp awards. The entire profits of the evening were turned over to the fund for sending local boys to camp and all of their expenses while away from Plymouth will be paid by the Beals post.

Junior Vice - Commander Charles Cushman was in charge of the party and he was high in his praise of Legion members and officers for the support they had given him in making the evening the success that it was. He asked that special mention be made of the work of the members of the Civil Air Patrol who undertook the major part of the work in connection with the ticket sale and also of the splendid assistance given by Jake Stremich of the Hillside Barbecue.

The boys who went to Lansing were Eugene Galin, James Wilts, Loren Zimmerman, Sanford Burr, Richard Erdelyi, Arnold Phillips, William Saxton and William Sexton. Robert Sheppele and Robert Thoms also went to the camp as guests of the Plymouth Rotary club.

Donna Renwick Injured By Car

Donna Rose Renwick, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Renwick, 1325 Ann Arbor road, was badly injured Tuesday morning when she ran into an automobile driven by Glenda Pyle of 8695 Canton Center road.

The little girl was on her way to school at the time the accident occurred. She was standing at the intersection of Main and Ann Arbor roads to catch a school bus and darted across the street into the path of the oncoming car.

The girl was taken to the Northville hospital in the Schroeder ambulance where it was determined that there were no broken bones, but it was stated she was badly bruised.

City Rejects Plan To Buy Kate Allen Property

Price Regarded As Excessive and Upkeep Too Expensive

The city commission by a vote of 3 to 1 has tabled a petition signed by 68 people requesting that the city purchase and operate the Kate Allen property on Penniman avenue as a community and recreation center.

The petition when originally presented contained 90 signatures, but a check of those signing the petition revealed that only 68 are property owners and only 65 are registered voters.

When the petition was received by the commission for final consideration, three commissioners voted to table it indefinitely. Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple voted against tabling the proposal, and Commissioner Carlton Lewis was not present at the meeting.

The instigators of the petition believed that the barn on the premises could be used as a recreation center while the house itself could be used for meetings of various groups in the city.

However, it was pointed out that the property is now being held for a price variously reported at $25,000 to $36,000. It has an assessed valuation of only $18,000.

It was pointed out by city officials that the purchase and use of the house might be desirable, the $6,000 annual cost of maintaining the property would make it beyond the financial value to be obtained from it. The public has apparently approved the action of the city in rejecting the petition, regarding the purchase of a useless expenditure, especially in times like these.

Coupled with the decision of the city officials, has also come some comment that the name of Penniman avenue be changed at some future time.

At the same meeting a communication was received from Attorney Perry Richwine, who recently purchased the Penniman-Allen building, adjacent to the Penniman-Allen theatre, in which it was pointed out that the bowling alleys in the basement of the building are going to be for rent. It was suggested that these alleys might fit into the recreation program. There are three alleys in the basement of the building. No price was set for the use of the room and equipment and no action taken.

Ceiling Placed On All Cookers

Some Available Through Ration Board

The Plymouth Price and Rationing board has received information that ceiling prices have been placed on pressure cookers. The prices, based on three different grades, will be $13.90, $14.90 and $15.90.

All applications for pressure cookers must be made through the county war board, located at Wayne.

It was pointed out that group purchases of cookers are desirable and are being encouraged.

Any number of persons may go together and apply for a single cooker to be used jointly.

The number of gallons of propane gas that can be used will help govern the rationing of the cooker.

Sees Son In Moving Picture

Police Officer L. Westfall had one of the biggest thrills of his life last Saturday evening when at the last minute on his night off he decided to visit the Penn theatre and view the 9 o'clock show. It was a warm evening and he thought the best way to get cooled off was to spend a couple of hours in the theatre and watch the show.

After the complete show was over he really hadn't seen much of the picture and today he can't even tell you what it was all about because one thing that he saw in the news reel was all that he wanted to remember. Imagine his surprise when in a shot of American Army operations way up in the Aleutians, showing giant American bombers taking the air, the camera focused down on the ground crew who were helping in the take-offs and there right in front of Mr. Westfall was his son Leroy, who has been stationed in that theatre of operations for some time.

Mr. Westfall who has been hearing from his son regularly knew that he had been stationed somewhere in the Alaskan section and he also knew that his son had written him that he had gained considerable weight but this was the first time he had seen a picture of him since he embarked from a west coast port.

Macabre Epitaphs Teach Fliers Care

Two photographers recline in the "cemetery" at the army air force school of applied tactics at Orlando, Fla. Serving as warnings to students about to engage in real warfare the epitaphs on the crosses read as follows: "He showed a light at night." "His gas mask leaked." "He lit a match on board a convoy ship." This school gives the final polish to army fliers by putting them under actual combat conditions.

Visiting Tabby Surprises Hosts

Likes New Home And Brings Family

Do you own a white angora cat? If you do and that cat has a habit of staying away from home at intervals during the day and night, there is a family here in Plymouth that would like to have a little conversation with you.

It seems that up at the Clyde Smith residence at 1256 Penniman avenue in recent weeks a stray white angora cat has paid many friendly visits. Sometimes the cat stays only a few hours and then again it spends a day or two. The Smiths are sure that the cat is a family pet and they say that Tabby is always well groomed.

The visits from the friendly feline have always been welcome but on one of the last calls she made, she brought the Smiths a present in the form of three baby kittens and this is more than ration points can stand in any one family today. So, if you have a white angora cat that frequently goes missing and sometimes stays away over night you might be the proud parents of a nice family of kittens.

In any case, if the cat is yours or if you know to whom it might belong, the Smiths would be grateful if you would relieve them of the added responsibility.

Masons Hold Last Meeting Of Summer

Plymouth Masons will close their active season on Thursday, June 25, with a third degree. Plans will be made during the summer months for an intense program next fall and a membership survey will be made before the lodge opens its new season.

Plays for Pay at 16

Here is the youngest professional baseball player. He is Jack Moesch, 16, 5 feet 10 inches, 160 pounds, who plays infield positions for the Baltimore Orioles.

To Hasten Victory

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse. The most you can do is a little enough compared with the sacrifice offered by our boys in service. They give their lives—you lend your money.

Seniors Depict Radio Skit At Class Night

Class Presents Two Bonds To School's Science Department

Class Night, Tuesday, June 15, was in the form of a military radio hook-up (Air-log) directed by Noel Hover and Jack Kenyon. From this air log was presented the summarized history of the class of 1943. The film showing class activities was presented by Richard Neale and narrated by Signe Hegge. The prophecy by Patricia Hudson, Richard Virgo, Carolyn Kirk and William Upton was presented as a chance meeting in an airplane bounded for Tokio 20 years hence. Music by the mixed chorus, consisting of Shirley Hoffman, William Brose, Lorraine Geary, William Upton, Shirley Bassett, William Bartel, Fern Dipboye, Jack Kenyon and Jean Crandell; violin solo by Arthur Robinson; and cornet solo by William Upton, were exceptionally well rendered. In the president's address, by Marion Goodman, presentation was made to the high school of two $100 bonds to be used in 1953 for the science department and also a nice contribution was made to the Alumni Scholarship fund. Her talk to the class of 1943 was inspirational, and emphasis was made that Commencement should be considered as a beginning rather than a finishing of the work of the class of 1943.

All growth depends upon activity. There is no development physically or intellectually without effort, and effort means work.—Calvin Coolidge.

'Ladies, let's help cook a tank!...

Funny thing! We women understand why sugar, coffee, gasoline and oil have to be rationed... but few of us dream that the Gas that cooks our breakfast bacon is also a vital war material!

"It probably never occurs to us that we are actually helping to build a tank or a plane or a ship or a gun when we avoid wasteful use of Gas in cooking and especially in house heating and water heating.

"For Gas is used in making nearly every kind of weapon we need to win the war!

"We women have always known that Gas is the fastest cooking fuel, that it's completely flexible and easy to control. So we can easily understand why Gas is important in helping to give our fighting forces better equipment—that it's speeding production in order that our boys may finish the job over there and get back home.

"So let's all remember... it's just as patriotic to use Gas wisely as it is to make the many other sacrifices that are needed for Victory!"

GAS is vital to war production... use it wisely!

will fill the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church, vacated by the resignation of Rev. Walter Nichol.

Plan Summer Music Program

Will Train Orchestra For Next Year

Clarence Luchtman, supervisor of music in the Plymouth high school has arranged for a summer music course, involving all types of active participation in band, orchestra and singing groups.

The course will proceed for eight weeks during the summer months and will include public concerts of all groups.

There will be boy and girl choruses for both junior and senior high school groups. There will be junior and senior bands, and a single dance orchestra.

The dance orchestra will be trained during the summer to provide a nucleus for a dance orchestra to furnish music at high school affairs next winter.

Mr. Luchtman said that while the courses are designed for school students, that former students as well as adult men and women will be welcome to participate.

No set schedule for concerts is planned. "When any group is ready for a concert, it will be given," he said.

The summer music programs in previous years has been under the recreation department, but this year will operate under the direction of the public schools.

One time when trashy means good, is in treatment of an orchard with a rye cover crop, according to Don Hootman at Michigan State College. Instead of plowing the rye, an orchard operator waits until the crop is about to head out, then disc the rye. An occasional discing later works some of the rye into the soil, yet leaves some on top as a mulch and water-holder. That is what is known as "trashy" mulching.

Chlorate sprays are suggested as a superior method of controlling the poison ivy pest. Many salt solutions are effective, and one of the best is a pound of sodium chloride dissolved in a gallon of water. Sprayed on the foliage so that it can permeate the stem, this solution should reach the roots and destroy them. Care should be taken that it does not reach and kill desirable plant nearby, as it may if simply sprayed on the ground about the offending ivy.

Patents seized by the alien property custodian and made available to public inspection occupy 75 feet of shelf space.

Shiplading is the biggest single item in Wisconsin's war contracts, with the first fleet of submarines to be launched on the Great Lakes coming from Manitowish, Wis. ways.

British air-sea rescue experts have invented an air-borne life-boat that can be dropped by parachute and with its own power can carry 11 men 100 miles.

Need More Funds For Service Center Furniture

Urge Residents To Send In Their Contributions Now

Latest reports from contributions made to the Service Men's Center show that Plymouth residents are generous in their efforts to provide men serving Uncle Sam, with a room in which to make their headquarters while in Plymouth. Although no exact figure was released by the committee making the collection, it was hoped that in the next two weeks all the necessary funds would be ready to purchase furnishings for the center which is located in the Hotel Mayflower.

The amount needed is two hundred dollars and anyone interested in contributing to the fund may mail or drop off their contribution at the Taylor and Blyton store.

The center is operated by members of the Ex-Service Men's club, the Canteen club, the Moms' club, and the Navy Mothers' club. One patriotic Plymouth family has donated a new record player and radio to the service center for use for the duration.

The center will be located in the foyer of the hotel just off from the main lobby. In the past the space had been used for storage of cloak racks and corner cupboards and an entrance to the Crystal dining room. It is hoped that when entirely finished it will contain two or three comfortable lounge chairs, davenport, writing tables and games where service men may meet and idle away a few hours by themselves.

Your contribution is needed and needed at once. Drop a check in the mail today or stop in at Taylor and Blyton's and do your part in helping to furnish Plymouth's newest community undertaking.

Owners of tourist resorts on Sudar Island, in the St. Marys river near Sault Ste. Marie, are advertising "bonded" hunting and fishing. In front of Von Broitch is another captive, General Cramer. Captured generals receive all the courtesy due their rank and Von Broitch looks as though he expects it.

Police Pick Up Former Criminal

Had Stolen Watch From Landlady Here

A few hours after he had stolen a watch from the home of Mrs. Mary Robson, where he maintained a room, Coy Sauls was arrested by Capt. Lee Sackett and confessed.

A few hours later he had been arraigned before Judge J. Rusling Cutler and was bound over to circuit court for trial.

Sauls confessed to Chief of Police Charles Thumme the theft of the watch, which he said he took in order to get enough money to get to his home in Missouri.

After stealing the watch, he sold it to another Plymouth man, and was arrested a short time thereafter, just as he was about to leave the city. Through fingerprint identification it was revealed that Sauls had a former police record.

Announce Engagement Of Dorothy Fisher

The engagement of Dorothy Marie Fisher to Naval Aviation Cadet Robert W. Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fisher, was announced by her father, Clyde C. Fisher, at a party given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kaiser Thursday evening following commencement exercises.

"Dot and Bob," written on small silver airplanes given to each guest, revealed the engagement.

Spring flowers were used as decorations for the party, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Kaiser.

Guests were present from Detroit, Dearborn, Northville and Plymouth.

Miss Fisher will enter Wayne University in September as a freshman. Cadet Fisher will leave soon for his preflight training as a pilot in the Navy Air Corps.

The live rabbits are turned over to the local game officer for removal from the vicinity of a garden.

Women Express Rationing Views

Some Comply — Others Buy Plenty

This is a report of a conversation overheard between three women, who shall remain nameless. However, the conversation did take place.

The three women were engaged in a discussion of their ability and inability to buy certain rationed commodities.

"Why," said the first woman, "I walked into my grocer's the other day and after I had made my purchases, the clerk asked me if I wanted a can or two of chocolate syrup. I said I did not want the syrup because I had two cans at home."

"You're silly," said the second woman. "Believe me, I take whatever I can get, even if I have got some of it at home."

"Why?" asked the third woman.

"Because everybody else is doing it," said No. 2. "Why should I do without, why should my family do without when I can get it? Believe me, I get all I can get."

"And that," said No. 1, "is the very reason we have black markets. There is plenty of food to go around. There is even plenty of luxuries for all of us, but there will be neither food nor luxuries for anyone if you buy what you do not need."

"I remember," said No. 3, "that during the first world war, rationing was not forced upon us and we got along all right. Of course, sugar was higher than it is now, but on the whole other things were cheaper. When we had meatless Tuesdays, we had them. We didn't scheme around and whisper to our butchers so we could get special favors."

"We had butterless, eggless, milkless cakes, but I haven't heard of anything like that now."

"That's right," said No. 1. "We got rationing and I suppose we will have it until after the war is over. But it is the old, old story, that we will do almost anything if we are placed on our honor, but we can't be forced to do anything."

"You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink, eh?" asked No. 3.

"But my husband likes his meals," said No. 2.

"So does mine," said No. 1.

"So does mine," said No. 3.

"And," No. 2 went on, "as long as I can get the stuff, I intend to do it."

"And because," said No. 1, "there are people like you, we have rationing. You're the sort of person who would put 500 pounds of sugar in your basement, 500 pounds of what you can't use in years. You'll keep it there, let it get damp, and still go ahead and buy your ration allotment. You're getting more than your share."

"As long," said No. 3, "as we women patronize the black markets, just so long will we be without. Why, I'm planting tomatoes in my victory garden. Therefore, when I have points left over at the end of the month, I don't buy tomatoes, for I'll have canned tomatoes out of my garden. I think we should leave them for the people who can't have victory gardens."

"That's what I think," said No. 1. "I use my extra points to buy the things which won't interfere with the market. For instance, when rationing started, we quit drinking vegetable and tomato juices at our house, but now we buy them again with the extra points."

"Well," said No. 2, "and she tossed her head, 'I intend to buy whatever I want when I can get it, and all that the law will let me have.'"

The other two women tossed their heads and walked away. Believe it or not, that conversation took place.

The program for the two weeks will consist of study, work, play and handicraft.

The Rev. T. Leonard Sanders, pastor of the Methodist church, will be in charge of the school said that it will minister to many real needs of children. Some boys and girls, he said, have free time on their hands and are at a loss to know how to use it. The vacation school provides guidance for the wise use of this leisure time. Through it, many children have developed new interests long after the school is finished. An interest in music, pictures, the beauties of nature, and the making of worthwhile things; an appreciation for all people are among the points to be stressed at the school.

Many Cases Of Measles In May

Health Report Made To City

City Health Officer Luther Peck has advised the city commission that there had been 35 cases of measles reported during the month of May.

In addition there were two cases of mumps and two cases of whooping cough, one of them at the home of—Dr. Peck, the health officer, who had a large "whooping cough" sign on his front door.

"I want," said Dr. Peck, "the citizens of Plymouth to realize that contagious diseases are no respecter of persons."

The report also revealed 17 births in the city during the month and only four deaths.

The doctor further revealed that he had made 28 physical examinations of minors during the month without charge to the youngsters, but he commented that inasmuch as "these boys and girls are earning 85 to 90 cents an hour," he feels that such examinations should not be considered as charity cases."

Illness and industrial accidents account for over 50 per cent of absences from war work.

Present collections of waste kitchen fats are about 85 million pounds annually.

Here's the clincher for me

This is my kid.
He's a pretty good kid.
I always used to figure he'd get along all right in the world, the same way I did.
But a war starts you thinking.
Nobody knows for sure just what kind of a world my kid will have to grow up in. But whatever kind of a world it is, a little money behind him will help.
That's why I'm salting money away for him now.
I'm not taking any chances with his future. I'm guaranteeing it in the best way I know how.
Every pay day, nearly a quarter of what I make goes into War Bonds. Not just when I can spare it. But every single pay day—week in, week out.

It's taken right out of my pay, on the Payroll Savings Plan. That way, I hardly miss it. But it mounts up fast.
And every one of those War Bonds will pay back four dollars for three.
Pay it back when my kid may need it most.
Sure, I'd be buying bonds anyway. I know the Government needs money to win the war. And, it's the least sacrifice a guy can make for the country that's been good to him.
But the clincher with me is my kid.

How millions of Americans have done their bit—and how they can do better:
Of the 34 million Americans on plant pay rolls, nearly 30 million of them have joined the Payroll Savings Plan. (If you aren't in yet—sign up tomorrow!)
Those Americans who have joined the Plan are investing, on the average, 10% of their earnings in War Bonds. (If you haven't reached 10% yet—keep trying!)

BUT . . . . .
America's income this year will be the highest in history—about 125 BILLION dollars! In spite of all taxes and price rises, the average worker will have more money than last year—more than ever before!
That is why Uncle Sam has a right to ask us, individually, to invest more money in War Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan. He asks us to invest not 10% or 15% or 20%, but all we can!

How 33 years of research have made your lighting grow and GROW and GROW!

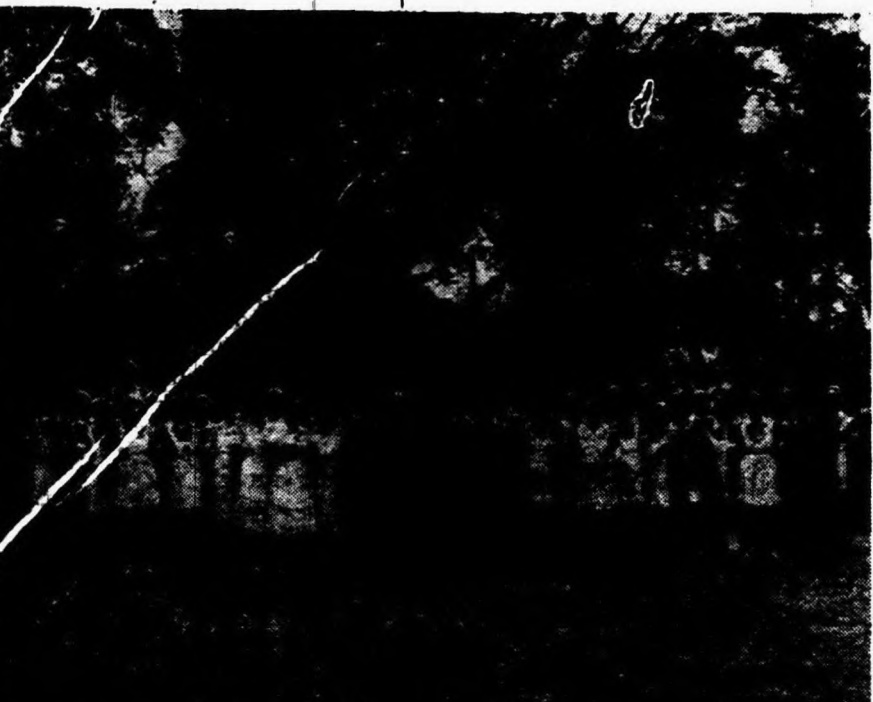

The 100-watt lamp you use today gives you just about twice as much light for the electricity you use as the same size bulb in 1910! That's a lot of extra light for your money. But that isn't all, because residential electricity today is costing you only about half of what it did back in 1910. That's what scientific research and development have done for your comfort and for the protection of your eyes when you read or sew or work.

THREE WAYS TO MAKE SURE YOU USE ALL THE EXTRA LIGHT SCIENCE HAS GIVEN YOU

1. Avoid glare. Glare from bare bulbs or wrongly placed lamps makes it hard to see with comfort, no matter how much light you have.
2. Avoid shadows. When you read or work in your own shadow you are using only a part of the light that is available. It is just as easy to use it all.
3. Dirt and dust collecting on light bulbs and reflectors can cut your light in half. Clean them regularly.

Fishing Season Opens June 25

Expect Rush To Nearby Lakes

Conservation officers are not expecting the usual large influx of fishermen to invade the choice fishing areas of the northern part of the state June 25, the day set for the opening of the general fishing season.

Many fishermen who haven't missed an opening day since they were old enough to bait a hook will remain at their essential war jobs on this red-letter day in every fisherman's calendar. Gasoline rationing will prevent others from being on the lakes at all, or will force them to go to lakes nearer home. For this reason, conservation officers are anticipating an unusually large concentration of fishermen on the lakes in the southern part of the state, near the large population centers.

The conservation department reports that so far this season on the designated pike lakes, which have been open to restricted fishing since May 15, the usual week-end concentration of fishermen has not been evident. Factory swing-shifts and staggered work schedules have produced a situation where a few fishermen are on the lakes every day in the week instead of the former hordes that crowded the lakes on every spring and summer week-end.

BUSES ROLLING

Keep Production Rolling

YOU CAN HELP BUS TRANSPORTATION do its full wartime job by timing your travel wisely—going before or after the July and August rush period, departing and returning on mid-week days rather than on week-ends, getting tickets and information in advance, taking less baggage than usual.

● Buses bound for busy war plants are doing one of their most vital jobs—moving the manpower that keeps the assembly lines moving. Taking men and women to their work in factories or on farms, carrying travelers on trips essential to the war effort, transporting selectees and men in uniform—that's how Greyhound is serving the home-front today.

Almost as important as getting war workers to work is getting them away from work when "civilian furloughs" are in order—when rest and change are needed to get these men and women back to top efficiency.

Fishing Season Opens June 25

Expect Rush To Nearby Lakes

Conservation officers are not expecting the usual large influx of fishermen to invade the choice fishing areas of the northern part of the state June 25, the day set for the opening of the general fishing season.

Many fishermen who haven't missed an opening day since they were old enough to bait a hook will remain at their essential war jobs on this red-letter day in every fisherman's calendar. Gasoline rationing will prevent others from being on the lakes at all, or will force them to go to lakes nearer home. For this reason, conservation officers are anticipating an unusually large concentration of fishermen on the lakes in the southern part of the state, near the large population centers.

The conservation department reports that so far this season on the designated pike lakes, which have been open to restricted fishing since May 15, the usual week-end concentration of fishermen has not been evident. Factory swing-shifts and staggered work schedules have produced a situation where a few fishermen are on the lakes every day in the week instead of the former hordes that crowded the lakes on every spring and summer week-end.

Big Owl Makes Nest In Tank

Cats, Chickens Are Fed To The Young

It takes a monkey-face owl to do the unusual thing, there is no question about that.

And Plymouth has plenty of proof that owl of these great big strange birds can be expected to live up to its reputation, no matter what the circumstances might be.

During one of the severe wind storms that this part of the state experienced in the spring months, a flat door covering an opening into one of the big fire water towers at the plant of the Daisy Manufacturing company, blew off.

Because of the fact that it is necessary to climb up some 100 feet or more on the outside of the tank to reach the opening, E. C. Hough and Dave Taylor thought they would wait until some one from the fire sprinkler company came along before directing any one to make the climb to the top of the tank.

Last Friday one of the experienced men from the sprinkler company was at the Daisy plant. He was advised as to the problem and immediately offered to replace the door on the top of the tank.

He made the climb, reached the top of the tank and started to go down inside when a sudden commotion inside the tank nearly caused him to fall from the planking into the water.

The big owl flew at him and then out through the opening.

Then it was that he turned his flashlight on and was surprised to see a nest containing four almost full-grown monkey face owls.

Three of them flew out, but he managed to catch one of the big birds.

He discovered too, that monkey-face owls are not on any rationing business.

On the planks near the nest was a cat that had been partly devoured by the young owls, a full grown hen, a rabbit and evidences of other small animals that had been carried to the nest by the mother owl.

Maybe this discovery will solve the mystery of the disappearance of numerous cats and chickens about town.

Aircraft modification centers, an American development, weatherize and equip each new plane for a specific theater of operations.

I just dropped by to give you the answer to that question you asked me about synthetic rubber yesterday in the barber shop. I looked it up and found out that the beverage distilling industry's facilities for producing grain alcohol make it possible to include 200,000 tons of rubber from grain in the government's 870,000 ton synthetic rubber program."
"I also verified the fact that no distiller is making whiskey today. They all stopped making whiskey last year and are working night and day, 7 days a week, producing war alcohol for the government. . . for smokeless powder, chemical warfare materials, medical supplies, as well as for synthetic rubber. It's a mighty good thing these distilleries were in existence ready to do this important job."

You can be a 'GOOD NEIGHBOR' on your party line, too!

If you were acquainted with the other folks on your telephone party line, the chances are you'd find them good neighbors—people you'd like.

And being "good neighbors" is mighty important these days, because more and more people are sharing party lines. When each person on a party line is considerate of the others, everybody has better service.

A GOOD-NEIGHBOR CREED
A good party line neighbor thinks of it this way: "Somebody else on my line may be waiting to make a call, so I won't talk any longer than I have to. When the line is in use and I'm waiting my turn, I won't interrupt. When I finish a call, I'll make sure I've hung up properly, because if one instrument is left 'off the hook' it puts all the telephones on the line out of service."

WHAT A SOLDIER'S BABE WOULD SAY TO DAD IF HE COULD TALK.

Next Sunday, June 20, is Father's Day. What would a little six months' old baby boy say to his dad who is now wearing the uniform of our armed forces, if he could but talk and write?

One of the most interesting letters received by The Plymouth Mail for its soldier's page in a long, long time, came this week, from little David, six months' old son of Private and Mrs. Howard G. Beach—the little lad, of course, speaking through the mind of his mother.

The letter is addressed to the babe's father, Private Howard Beach, who is now stationed at Fort Warren, Wyoming. It follows:

Father's Day, 1943
Dear Dad:
June 20th is Father's Day and love and common sense. So proud of you when Mom and I read and re-read the following excerpts from your letters:

"It's funny how little we appreciate our freedom—then a thing like war comes along and makes us suddenly wake up to the fact."

"I'd prefer staying at home with you and the baby more than anything else in the world, but if we don't all get in here and fight to win, none of this will be any good to us. Never lose faith and remember our great love for each other and the things that we hold dear to us. If we can be Big people and try not to be selfish with our personal feelings, I know we'll come up on top. We deserve to win for we are giving up a lot of things for a just cause—a right cause, and how can we lose if we are right?"

"We both, you and I, have a tough job ahead of us—but that is why we are Americans and live in America; because we can harden ourselves enough to take these things. If a country isn't worth fighting for, it isn't worth living in—and you and I, darling, know America is our home."

"It makes me happy that I am playing a part in winning this war, for if we all extend our best efforts, it will be that much sooner that we can come back to our homes and our loved ones. I must and will do my honest part to bring peace and sane living back to this chaotic world, then I will feel at peace with myself and know that I have extended an honest effort to do my part when I was called upon."

"Our country is at war and I thank God I'm healthy enough and strong enough to be a soldier and be able to fight and help my country win. I don't want what the Axis powers have to offer, so I am glad to be here and training to do something that will help in defeating them."

"This is something you hear people talk about but never really comprehend or believe! We have a job to do and that is what we are going to do first. Of this I am sure—we will win as we have always won—so have faith and we'll soon be together again."

"The sooner we get this damn war over, the sooner we can come home; that is why I want to do my part!"

How proud I am that you and other fathers like you are fighting to preserve this world for me and other boys like me—to win a lasting peace so that we won't have to disrupt our homes and lives to fight again 20 years from now. But just between you and me, Dad, I know that with dads like you fighting in this war—there won't be any more wars to fight—for you fellows will finish this one right! I have faith and confidence in you and have no fear of the future!

Dad—before you left for the army, you wrote a father's message in my baby book—remember?

"It is my hope that David Marshall Beach shall set up such a high standard of living, attempt

GENERAL JOHN NELSON NOW OVERSEAS.

Private John Nelson, known to his Plymouth friends as "General," is now across seas somewhere, probably Africa, from the sounds of letters recently received from him.

He writes, "I have never seen anything like the sights and people we see over here, and Oh boy! how the fruit and other things grow here," which sounds very much as though he's right in the rich fruit belt of the northern part of Africa.

"We sure are enjoying this part of the world, but would like to receive some letters from back in Plymouth."

It will be recalled that the "General" was the first member of The Plymouth Mail staff to enlist for services in Uncle Sam's army when the Japs made their sneak attack. An ear trouble developed and he was discharged, but when he recovered from this, he re-entered the army, was sent to Texas and is now overseas.

HOPES ARE FINALLY ATTAINED IN ARMY.

Private Orlyn Lewis, son of City Commissioner and Mrs. Carlton Lewis, who was first rejected for the military course in meteorology because of underweight, has finally attained his hopes and is now a student at the University of Oregon at Eugene, Oregon. The former University of Michigan student when inducted into the army, was transferred to numerous army camps, but his appeal to enter the branch of service for which he had been studying, finally brought results and he is now completing his course up in the northwest part of the United States.

ANOTHER PLYMOUTH GIRL BECOMES A WAAC.

Miss Alice Angell of this city, and for some years past an employee of the Wayne County Training school, has joined up with the WAACs and is now located at the WAAC training school at Fort Devens, Massachusetts. She has been there for several weeks and according to letters received, she likes her new work very much.

RICHARD HEWER NOW STAFF SERGEANT WITH BOMBARDMENT GROUP.

From down in Clovis, New Mexico, comes an interesting letter from Richard Hewer, who has just been promoted to staff sergeant of the headquarters bombardment group at the army air base located at Clovis.

His letter is of so much general interest that it is published in full as follows:

"To the staff of The Plymouth Mail:

"I guess it's about time I got around to dropping you a line and again thanking you for the copy of the good old Mail that I receive every week. Sure is swell."

"As I recall, it was back about last September when I last wrote you. At that time I was in Topeka, Kansas, which was really one swell place compared to this. The local chamber of commerce would like to have people believe 'this is the land of enchantment,' at least that is what they advertise on their license plates, but most of the fellows here have a different title for it, most of them unprintable."

"I was reading in The Mail that my brother, Bob, claims the dust is really terrific over in Childress, Texas, which is about 200 miles east of here. While I can't vouch for what goes on there, I can say a few words about the dust storms we have here. In fact, we just had a peach. The wind suddenly jumped from an almost dead calm to about sixty miles an hour, then it started to rain, and, believe it or not, really rained mud. It isn't so bad as it was around February and March. That is the time of the big winds, or something. It really gets bad then. At that, the natives around here claimed we had a mild spring. Boy, I would sure hate to be here when they had a bad one. They claim this is one of the largest and finest air bases in the world, but I don't think they have dug up enough dust to find out. I guess that's enough griping about this great West. After all, all the country can't be as nice as good old Michigan, which looks better and better to me as I see some of the rest of the country.

"Have been getting in quite a lot of traveling, too, and, of course, all at the expense of the government. I was transferred from Topeka to this group and moved to Pueblo, Colorado. After about two months there, we moved to Tucson, Arizona. It was pretty nice at both places. At Pueblo we could see Pikes Peak, which is about 40 miles from the base there. I didn't get to go up there, though, much to my disappointment."

"After spending about two months at Tucson, we moved here to Clovis. Naturally, we don't know how long we will be here, but most of the fellows hope we move soon, and to Tokio or Berlin."

"Since I have been with this group, I have been doing pretty well. As far as getting along in this army goes, I was finally promoted to staff sergeant the day before my birthday, the middle of May. That was a pretty nice present, at least I thought so."

"Of course, I can't say much about what we are doing except that I am working in group headquarters and that we are using B-24s, which I imagine the Nazis and Nips are getting to dislike very much. I think I can safely say that they will like them less and less as time goes on."

"Have seen a few 24s that were made at Willow Run and also quite a few machine guns made by Kelsey-Hayes. I guess Plymouth and vicinity is really playing its part in this war. Making the tools of war, selling more than its share of war bonds and tin boys scattered all over the world, and making quite a name for themselves, too. Sure makes a fella feel mighty proud that his home town is playing such a large part."

"What a time the fellows will have when they all come back and get together and talk about where they have been and what they have done. I sure will be mighty happy to see that day come."

"Looks like I have taken up enough of your time for now, so had better sign off for the time being. So, again, thanks a million for sending me The Plymouth Mail every week, good luck and keep up the good work."

IT'S CORPORAL LESLIE FULLER NOW.

News has come to The Plymouth Mail from the U.S. army camp at Fort Pierce, Florida, that Leslie L. Fuller of this city, a nephew of W. M. Reid, has been promoted to corporal. He has been stationed in Florida for nearly ten months.

COMMUNICATION.

I think the property owners should know of the following facts brought out at the school meeting last Monday evening. For your information I brought out whereas Supt. Smith's budget for this past year recommended a reduction in the tax rate from $6.75 per $1,000 of assessed valuation to $5.75 per $1,000 the board did not agree to that recommendation. Then the state prohibited the lowering of the rate this year and next year which means that the school district will collect $10,000 more for each of the three years than was needed. About $5,600 was put in the fluorescent lights and $4,100 in remodeling the wash room facilities. The reduction in the tax rate was recommended because of the new valuations coming on the tax roll.

I'm willing to pay this excess tax, as I'm sure all other education-conscious property owners are, if the board will exercise better judgment in safeguarding that other $20,000 than it did on the above mentioned disbursements.

THREE PLYMOUTH "ROBERTS" ALL IN CAMP ROBERTS.

From Private Robert Ayers there came an interesting news note to The Plymouth Mail a few days ago. Robert is located in Camp Roberts, California.

"There are three Roberts from Plymouth in Camp Roberts," he writes. "There is Robert Cort and Robert Allenbaugh and myself."

"Sure could use some of that rain you have been having back there, as we haven't had a drop since arriving in this place. There are grass fires about here every night," he wrote.

"Tell every one hello and be sure to remember us to the gang at the skating rink. One of our greatest pleasures out here where the sun shines bright and hot every day and you turn black in a day, is in reading the good old Plymouth Mail. I do not know what we would do without it."

He will attend classes for 16 weeks, during which he will receive theoretical and practical instruction in his particular trade.

Babson Says - - Prepare Now To Meet After War Conditions

Babson Park, Mass., June 18—Although I do not expect the European and Asiatic conflicts to be over until after the election in 1944, yet the time is fast approaching. Hence, it will be well for all businessmen — large and small — now to prepare a definite plan of post-war action. Certainly the "old days" will not return. New methods and policies are inevitable. Those who properly plan their work should succeed, but many of those who do not, will go under.

Perhaps the first step is to make a survey of your present business and find out which departments and items are profitable and which are not. The present time gives every businessman a wonderful opportunity to cut out non-profitable lines and various unnecessary customs which have developed during past years. It is surprising how many of these can be eliminated without hurting the customer or the employee. These eliminations should be made before the war is over.

After the war, merchants will become more and more specialists. Competition will be very keen, both with American concerns and with foreign competitors. This means that costs must be cut to a minimum which can be done partly by standardization. The lines carried should be the very latest and best, but they should not be too extensive. It will be more profitable to give the best service at a low price carrying fewer lines. This often requires opposing both your own salesmen and the salesmen trying to sell you goods.

When peace comes there will be a temptation to expand. Customers will be rushing in and demanding goods which you are not carrying; while returning soldiers and munition workers will be urging you to give them jobs. Such of your former employees who have been drafted, you must take back if they apply within sixty days after their discharge, but it will not be patriotic to hurriedly enlarge your whole organization. Any business boom which takes place after peace will not continue indefinitely. Therefore, it is very important to base your stock and your labor costs on a normal business which can be depended upon to continue. Keep down fixed burdens such as rent, interest charges and other overhead costs.

Do not be upset by all the reports which you are obliged to fill out and by the various restrictions and regulations to which you are subjected. Get used to these things and quit trying to buck the inevitable. As long as our competitors are also subject to them, we should co-operate with the Government. Above all things, do not put in evasive or dishonest reports.

All of us should, of course, take on certain work when the Government requests us to do so. On the other hand, let us not be hogs and take too much when other concerns are willing to take it for the same price. Hold at least 30% of your normal business, independent of the Government or war. Have in permanent stock only commodities which will be needed after the war. Many government contracts with concerns on the Atlantic seaboard will be cancelled when an armistice is declared with Germany. Contracts everywhere may be cancelled when an armistice is declared with Japan also.

As far as possible these war-time conditions should be used for getting out of debt. The theory that it is good to go into a period of inflation with a large debt is wrong. Wise business men will make little or no capital expansions at the present time. The conditions facing us after the war will be so very different that they are today we should enter them with large cash reserves and no debts.

It is unwise now to speculate in raw materials or manufactured goods. There is no telling what prices for some commodities will then go up; while the prices for other commodities will then go down. It is bad enough to have any slow moving items on hand when peace comes, but by all means avoid unnecessary commitments.

In addition to providing yourself with sufficient working capital and guarding against inventory losses, it is well to carefully watch receivables. If possible, keep these down to a 30-day basis. Even though you are careful yourself in providing for your customers will not be so careful. Hence, when the Government and sub-contractors cancel their contracts, the latter may be unable to pay you what they owe you. Thus, it is well to insure certain accounts receivable.

Companies having outstanding cumulative preferred stocks should try to retire such issues. This would be in addition to eliminating bond issues and bank loans. It is also wise to set up a sinking fund of 1% of the net sales from now on to provide for losses on any receivables which are not properly insured. By all means do not "grab" for new war business at the present time.

The salary situation is now pretty well frozen so that it is very difficult to raise salaries even if desirable. Cases that are worthy of increases should be handled by bonuses so as to avoid unpleasant readjustments after the war is over. Salesmen can be kept on a sliding scale, but this should be based on profits rather than on volume. Although the temptation today is to keep all employees, yet there are some who could now wisely be let go to their advantage as well as yours.

Coast Guard Cutter Blasts an Undersea Killer.

Crewmen aboard the United States coast guard cutter Spencer run to their battle stations (left) as a submarine is sighted attacking a convoy in the North Atlantic. Judging from the broad grins the men seem pleased to get a crack at the sub. Seconds later a depth bomb (right) is flying through the air from one of the Spencer's guns. The terrific concussion caused by the depth charge forces the submarine to the surface where the Spencer's guns are poised to deliver a final barrage which will send the undersea raider to its end.
