Detroit Riot Regulations Hit Plymouth

This City Covered By Drastic Rules To End Rioting

Plymouth felt the weight of the measures taken by the state and federal government to control the race riots in Detroit last week.

When Governor Harry F. Kelly proclaimed a state of emergency, and laid down rules and regulations for the populace in connection with the strikes, his rules embraced all of Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties.

The rules prohibited the sale of all alcoholic liquor during the period of the emergency. The prohibition prevented the sale either in bars for consumption on the premises or by stores to carry away for consumption elsewhere. It applied to all types of liquor including beer and wine.

Liquor licensees who also operated eating establishments, were permitted to keep the eating places open for the benefit of late war workers, but were not permitted to sell liquor.

All theatres in Plymouth were required to close on Monday evening at 9 p. m., but Tuesday, the time for theatres was extended to 9:15 p. m.

However, all persons were required to be off the streets by 10 p. m., unless they had definite business reasons for remaining on the streets or unless they were on their way to and from work. The curfew was in effect from 10 p. m., to 6 a. m.

Although meetings of all kind were prohibited on Monday evening, this rule was modified to permit school and lodge functions beginning on Tuesday evening, but required that these meetings be concluded in sufficient time for the participants to be in their homes before dark.

Police here said that Plymouth complied with the rules and regulations laid down by the state and military authorities.

Plymouth residents got a look at Fort Custer troops as they rolled along Ann Arbor road on their way to Detroit to take over the policing of the mob-ridden city.

Trucks after truck of modern equipment were included in the line which rolled by. There were complete field kitchens and adequate tent facilities to care for the entire complement of officers and men. Trucks mounted with light and heavy calibre machine guns also were included. There were staff cars for the officers, and jeeps for scouting and messenger work.

As a matter of fact, as one military man put it, they seem to be just as ready for the rioters as they are for Hitler and Tojo.

Charles Bennett, Ace Salesman, To Celebrate 80th Birthday Saturday

Has Spent Entire Life In Plymouth

The Editor said: "Charles Bennett is going to celebrate his eightieth birthday next Saturday. See if you can get a story about him."

Now it seems a bit on the silly side to write in The Plymouth Mail about a man who has lived in Plymouth for eighty years. After all, most everyone who lives in Plymouth knows Charles Bennett.

But this reporter didn't. As a matter of fact, this reporter had never even seen Mr. Bennett prior to last Tuesday afternoon, which is distinctly Mr. Bennett's good luck and the reporter's misfortune.

Despite the fact that he is the city's leading citizen, despite the fact that he is the president of the Daisy Manufacturing company, the city's leading manufacturing concern, and despite the fact that he is the president of the Plymouth United Savings bank, Charles Bennett is strictly an all right guy.

Not that one expects a successful business man not to be an all right guy, but rather that he expects him to be a bit stodgy, and self-important, and Charles Bennett isn't that.

To meet him and talk with him, you'd think that his chief interest in life is to have a good time, to enjoy to the utmost all of the years that are granted to a man on earth.

And perhaps in its final analysis that is just what Charles Bennett has done. He has built a business to the absolute pinnacle of its field. He has traveled everywhere. He has met and known the best and most important people of a dozen nations. In all of his activities, he has never impaired his health, and to look at him today, you'd say he was nearer sixty than eighty.

Despite the fact that he could live in a Detroit mansion, or spend his summers at Bar Harbor, and his winters along the Gulf, he prefers Plymouth, where he has his friends and cronies who drop up to his recreation room over his garage for a game of billiards or gin-rummy.

But if you ask Mr. Bennett what has brought him the most joy in life, he will tell you that it has been in succeeding what he started out to do. That meant of course the Daisy.

Edward Dane, vice president of the bank who dropped in just as that question was being asked, said:

"I'd say his greatest joy in life is helping other people."

"Well, yes," said Mr. Bennett. "That has been a great source of joy to me, but we don't talk much about that."

And he wouldn't.

"I'm not a fellow who likes publicity," he said. "I've never liked to see my name in print much. Even when I'm eighty, I don't care for it."

This reporter explained that Mr. Bennett's eightieth birthday is news, and hinted rather broadly that perhaps the general public.

Large Audience Witnesses 1943 Graduation

Students Advised Not To Make World Over, But Improve It

A capacity audience witnessed the 1943 commencement exercises of the Plymouth high school senior class last Thursday evening, June 17, in the high school auditorium. To accommodate the large class, an enlargement of the stage was necessary.

Invocation was pronounced by Rev. Rothery, Louise Powell, in an essay "Our Challenge," represented the honor students of the class in a way that was very pleasing and inspiring. A piano number that was rather unique for a Plymouth audience was played on two pianos by Margaret Jean Nichol, Fern Diboyle, Jean Crandell and Faith Brandt.

The commencement address by Dr. Charles W. Brashares, pastor of the First Methodist church of Ann Arbor, was one of the finest, if not the best, that Plymouth has ever had. His subject "Youth" was really a discussion of youth's attempt to discover himself and his place in the great universe. The ONENESS of all creation and creative development. Dr. Brashares expressed the need, in building a new world, to learn to get along with people, regardless of religious creed, national inheritance or social and political affiliation.

The class was then presented by Claude J. Dykhouse, principal of high school to George A. Smith, superintendent of schools, who asked the class to be sure in building a new world that they do so by developing the things worth while in our present social order, instead of looking for something new and untried to supplant the social organization which has been the foundation of America's greatness.

Strawberry Crop Below Average

Yield To Be Of Short Duration

Farmers around Plymouth will have a short strawberry crop this year, it was reported in reliable circles this week.

One farmer reported that because of the heavy spring rains that his strawberries would not last more than two weeks. The ordinary crop yields for about three weeks.

Because of the short crop, the price is held high, being something more than twice the cost of last year.

One producer of strawberries said that many of the berries were rotting in the field before ripening. Many fields were covered with water during the polarization season, too, which prevented buds from maturing into berries.

The general price of strawberries at the farms is between 30 and 35 cents.

Few berries were shipped into this market from other producing sections because of the poor rail transportation.

Troop 1 of the Girl Scouts will meet each week on Tuesday at 1:30 p. m.

The minds of some people are packed with unorganized information.

City To Force Clean-Up Of Fralick Avenue

To Start Proceedings Against Unsightly Junk Yard

A determined effort to force the removal of the junk yard from Fralick avenue has been started by the city commission.

Acting last Monday night for the second straight meeting, the commission expressed itself publicly against the unsightliness of the junk yard, and instructed the city manager to proceed in a variety of ways to force the removal of the junk yard to a less prominent part of the city.

Sol Baron, owner of the junk yard, said Tuesday that there was no inclination on his part to move the junk yard. He pointed out that similar efforts had been made in larger cities to force the removal of junk yards from business areas, and that these efforts had failed.

Baron was inclined to trace the animosity of the city commission to a conflict between Baron and the War Production Board, which has made repeated efforts to get Baron to move more of his junk into the steel centers for use as scrap.

Baron contends that he has moved all of his available junk, some of it at a loss to himself.

City Manager Clarence H. Elliott said that he would determine from Baron and the War Production Board the extent of Baron's cooperation with the WPB. He also said that he would ask Dr. Luther Peck, city health director, to inspect the junk yard to determine whether or not it in any way affecting the city's health.

If necessary, the city may take the matter in to a court of chancery to have the junk yard declared a nuisance, and in this manner force its removal.

At the meeting of the commission Monday night, it was stated that Mr. Baron would have no trouble in breaking a lease on the property, which still has three years to run to its expiration.

Baron on the other hand declared that he could not understand the sudden animosity toward the junk yard. It was conducted as a junk yard by Al Lustig, prior to 1939 when Baron took it over on a lease from Lustig. It was used, said Mr. Baron, as a junk yard prior to its ownership by Lustig.

Baron declared that he has received numerous contradictory orders from the War Production Board. The last of these, he said, ordered him to cut up junk cars and save all usable parts. Previously he had been ordered to cut up and ship all of junk cars which he purchases.

He said he purchased a large number of junk cars at an average cost of $30, and sold them for an average of $13 each.

He said that in an effort to cooperate with the civilian defense organization here in Plymouth that he had agreed to buy all of the scrap collected. He said he had planned to sell it to a larger junk dealer, who would come here and get it. Baron said, however, that the larger junk dealer failed to buy it, and that he was forced to get rid of the scrap at a loss.

Baron said that he now is getting rid of all of his junk automobiles, and that he does not intend to purchase any more. He said that as soon as he gets rid of his present cars that he will engage only in the sale of automotive parts. He did not say whether he would handle only new parts, or whether used parts also would be sold.

It has been suggested at various times that the city might take over the space now occupied by the junk yard and use it as a parking lot. There seems to be some opposition to this program.

Masons Hold Last Meeting Of Summer

Plymouth Masons will close their active season on Friday, June 25, with a third degree.

Plans will be made during the summer months for an intensive program next fall and a membership survey will be made before the lodge opens its new season.

Growing Food Becomes Worthwhile Effort For Plymouth Gardeners

Fighting the battle for more food for next winter, the Plymouth Victory Garden Contest committee announced this week a partial list of prizes to be awarded for the best and most productive gardens in the city of Plymouth and in Plymouth township.

The committee also announced that Walter Postiff, A. Wnuk, Mrs. Hattie White, Charles Rathburn and Miller Ross would serve as judges for the contest.

Mrs. Walter Sumner, acting chairman of the committee, said $240 in various prizes already have been subscribed by Plymouth merchants and individuals, and that a number of merchants and manufacturers have signified their intentions of posting prizes during the coming week.

Mrs. Sumner took over the chairmanship of the committee following the illness of Mrs. Horace Thatcher who made the original plans for victory gardens in the city.

Mrs. Thatcher handled all of the early work of locating gardens for those who wished to garden this year, and turned all of the detail over to Mrs. Sumner when she became ill.

Prizes announced this week, are:

- $50 war bond, by The Plymouth Mail.
- $50 cash, by the Plymouth United Savings bank.
- $25 war bond by Taylor and Blyton.
- $25 war bond by Floyd Eckles.
- $25 war bond by the Pena theatre.
- $25 war bond by the Schrader Furniture home.
- $10 in war stamps by the Saxton Feed company.
- $10 in cash by the First National bank.
- $5 in war stamps by the Plymouth Hardware company.
- $5 in cash by Lidgard Brothers.
- Any pair of house slippers up to $5 by Willoughby Brothers.

At meeting of the contest committee and the judges this week, rules for the victory garden contest were formulated.

No garden smaller than 33 by 33 feet will be considered. The measurements do not have to be in any way affecting the city's health.

If necessary, the city may take the matter in to a court of chancery to have the junk yard declared a nuisance, and in this manner force its removal.

At the meeting of the commission Monday night, it was stated that Mr. Baron would have no trouble in breaking a lease on the property, which still has three years to run to its expiration.

Rev. Sanders Is Returned Here

Church Report Shows Progress

The Rev. T. Leonard Sanders has begun his second year as pastor of the Methodist church.

He was returned to the Plymouth church at the Detroit conference of the church last week.

Upon his return from conference, Rev. Sanders expressed himself as highly pleased that he should be returned by appointment of Bishop Wade.

"It is not customary for a Methodist minister to stay at any given charge for just one year, and the work that has been started during the past year is not finished," Rev. Sanders said.

"We have already started a recreation program in the church but we expect to expand that program during the coming year. The facilities of the gymnasium will be utilized to the greatest possible extent.

"In addition, we expect to inaugurate a daily church school to be operated for the young people after school hours. The curriculum for this daily church school has not been completely formed, but it will be of interest to every boy and girl."

Rev. Sanders said that he has been highly pleased with the strides made during the past year by his church. Thirty new members, an exceptional number, he said, have been added to the rolls of the church. He has preached to large crowds almost every Sunday, with the auditorium being inadequate to seat all those who attended.

Joe Merritt Held Prisoner By Japs

Was First From Plymouth To Be Reported Missing In Action

Joe D. Merritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Merritt of Lilley road, reported in May, 1942 by the war department as missing in action on Bataan Peninsula, is a prisoner of war of the Japanese on the Philippine Islands, his parents have just been advised by the International Red Cross offices in Washington.

The telegram, received Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Merritt, stated that additional information would be forthcoming within a few days from the Provost Marshal's office in Washington.

Joe, a graduate of the Plymouth high school with the class of 1936, was one of the first of our boys to enlist for service in the United States army. It was only a few months after he had entered the army that he was sent to Manila where he took part in the fighting in that city and later was with General Wainwright on his final stand on Bataan Peninsula.

While most of Joe's friends feared that he had been killed in the fighting, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt have held to a firm belief that their son was alive and that he would some day return to his home in Plymouth.

Another Plymouth boy, Jack Gordon, who was reported missing in the same action on Bataan Peninsula, was some months ago revealed to be a prisoner of the Japs. It will be joyous news to the many friends of both of these popular boys to know that they are alive and that they will be returned to their homes after the war.

Ezra Rotnour Named To Board

Becomes Member Of Planning Commission

The city commission received Monday night the resignation of Miss Hilary Carson from the City Planning Commission.

The commission immediately appointed Ezra Rotnour to succeed her for the unexpired term. Miss Carson gave the press of private matters as the reason for her resignation.

The selection of Mr. Rotnour by Mayor Shear is regarded as an especially good appointment. Mr. Rotnour has been active over a period of many years in the development of Plymouth and has taken a keen interest in all civic affairs which were for the benefit of the city.

Says Boys State Does Great Work

Dave Galin Tells Of Activities

"If all the boys in America could attend Boy's State, conducted once each year by the American Legion at East Lansing, there would never be such a thing possible as happened in Detroit the other day. It was my privilege, with Mrs. Galin, to spend Sunday at this great citizenship school, where 700 boys set up a city, county, and state government, elect their officials, maintain order and law and conduct other functions of government, just as though it was the real thing," stated Dave Galin yesterday when telling of his visit to Boy's State.

His youthful son, Eugene, is a member of Boy's State this year, and like all the other youngsters attending, is taking an active part in the affairs of the juvenile government.

Mr. Galin says that the Legion is rendering a great service to the country by maintaining this yearly camp for the sons of veterans of the first world war. Sometimes, he states, when there is room, other boys are invited to attend.

Lt. Merrell H. Draper and wife of Chicago spent Tuesday with his mother Mrs. C. H. Draper, and sister, Mrs. Elmore Carney.

This Plymouth Girl Is Determined That Uncle Sam Shall Win The War

Buying war bonds with every extra penny she could make, donating blood to the Red Cross and making munitions for the fighting forces of Uncle Sam apparently did not satisfy patriotic Margaret Zimmerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Zimmerman of 2544 Bank avenue. She has now joined the W.A.A.C. and left Thursday evening for Fort Devens, Massachusetts where she will enter into training for active military services.

Since graduating from the Plymouth high school with the class of 1940, Miss Zimmerman has been employed in war production work by the Ford Motor company. Not only has she purchased her 12 percent allotment of war bonds, but frequently she has expended 24 and 36 percent of her income in war bonds. Up to the date of her enlistment, she has donated a total of a quart and a half of blood to the Red Cross blood bank.

Playgrounds Are Opened For Summer Months

Locations Are Designated With Directors

The summer recreation program in Plymouth opened with a bang at all nine playgrounds last Monday, under the direction of Anthony Matulis.

The director estimated that 4,500 child hours would be utilized during the first week, and that the program would show growth throughout the summer.

High school girls have taken charge of all of the younger children at the playgrounds. Most of them reported good attendance on the first day, with increasing attendance during the following days.

The following are the playgrounds, and the girls in charge:

- No. 1—Maple and Hamilton—Velma Kinz.
- No. 2—Robinson subdivision—Rosemary Oppenheim.
- No. 3—Ann Arbor Trail and Mill street—Mary Helen Swanson.
- No. 4—Phoenix subdivision—Jean Mchhart.
- No. 5—Starkweather school—Mary Jane Christianson.

Mr. Matulis urged every child to make certain that he is marked present at each playground in order that he can qualify for awards at the close of the program.

The League of Women Voters held its annual picnic last week in the garden of Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple's home. Mrs. Homer Burton was in charge of refreshments and a report was given of the state convention recently held in Port Huron. The remainder of the program was devoted to an open discussion of the work program of the year.

Tear Gas Bomb Causes Tears

Charles Bennett Race Riot "Victim"

Born at a time when the North and South were fighting a desperate war over the liberation of the colored race, it was necessary for Charles W. Bennett of this city to live 80 years before experiencing personally some of the tears, pain and anguish that went along with that war.

Yes, sir, Mr. Bennett actually shed tears, big boiling tears last Monday in Detroit.

But the tears were not due to grief or sorrow or any unhappiness.

The tears began to flow, and

Charles Bennett, Ace Salesman

lic would be interested. So Mr. Bennett agreed to talk, but his talk concerned only the Daisy.

He did admit that he was born a block away from where he lives now in the big white house on Main street, just around the corner from the Daisy. That was in 1863, when there wasn't even a wooden sidewalk to town from the little house.

Many's the time, he said, when an unloaded wagon, with farm horses pulling it, would be stuck in the mud in front of his house.

Young Charlie Bennett was just 23 years old when he went to work for what eventually became the Daisy Manufacturing company. He was to be a salesman, traveling on the road for the Plymouth Iron Windmill company, manufacturers of iron windmills.

But even Mr. Bennett couldn't sell iron windmills. R. L. Root and Clarence Hamilton were the heads of the company, and they had managed to get themselves in rather deeply—along with other stockholders—and were on the verge of bankruptcy.

Mr. Hamilton, however, had invented what he called an air gun. Actually it was a gun with a spring which compressed air by means of a spring, and he turned that over to the company without compensation to himself, in an effort to salvage the business. Mr. Hamilton called the gun the "Daisy" and it has been known by that name ever since, although there have been many improvements.

Mr. Bennett thought he could sell the Daisy. That he could sell it is demonstrated by the fact that more than 50,000,000 of them have been made since, and firms don't make fifty million guns just to put in storage.

In 1904, Mr. Bennett, by that time a large stockholder in the company, started out with Mrs. Bennett around the world—to sell Daisy air rifles.

He went through China and Japan, India and Arabia. He went all through Europe and South America. Everywhere he went he sold guns—everywhere except Russia and Italy.

"For some reason we've never been able to sell in those two countries. We've had agents who have been arrested for trying to sell them there," he said. "But we have sold them in every other country in the world."

And to Mr. Bennett that is a certain source of pride, personally, for remember, he was the first Daisy salesman, and is still the top Daisy salesman.

But there is a greater joy to him in connection with the Daisy air rifle than just making and selling them. Mr. Bennett thinks in fact he knows and has letters from the government to prove it—that much of the American success in the last two wars is traceable to Daisy air rifles.

"You see," said Mr. Bennett, "we wanted to train every boy to know how to handle a gun, a real gun that would shoot, and at the same time not be dangerous."

"We have done that. Almost every boy at some time or other has shot a Daisy air rifle. Thus when wars came along, these boys knew how to handle a gun. When the government handed them a gun, they knew how to take it in their hands, and fire it. Of course, there was a difference, but the essential principle was the same."

"That, sir," said Mr. Bennett, "brings with it a certain pride that we have contributed our share toward eventual victory."

As far as celebrating his birthday goes, Mr. Bennett will do it as he has for many years—with a few close friends and relatives gathered with him at the Detroit Athletic club.

Prizes For Victory Garden

exactly as specified, but the number of square feet in the garden must equal it. Gardens, for the purpose of judging, will be divided into two divisions. The small garden will include all those from 33 by 33 to 80 by 125 feet. Large gardens will include those from 50 by 150 feet to a half acre in size. Only nonprofessional gardeners will be permitted to enter the contest.

It was specified by the judges that the small gardener will have an equal chance with the large gardener to show his ability to produce food for his own use this winter. It also was specified by the judges and the committee that a garden, to be considered, must contain at least four different vegetables.

In this connection, it was pointed out that gardeners still may plant carrots, beets and beans, and that these may be planted as late as July 10.

The committee and the judges are interested too in the amount of food which is canned or stored. It was pointed out that while a garden may produce fresh vegetables during the summer, that it also is necessary to produce for next winter.

The seriousness of the food situation in the United States was pointed out clearly by Miss Emma DuBord, county home demonstration agent at a meeting of the Garden Club a week ago, who urged all of the members to can in large enough quantities to provide for their families during the coming winter.

The contest was introduced as an added stimulus to get victory gardeners to take care of their gardens during the summer. It was pointed out that a garden will not produce unless it is cared for and weeded during the summer months.

The committee and the judges expect to announce what prizes will be awarded for within the next two or three weeks when all prizes have been announced by the donors.

The judges, who are devoting a large amount of time to the contest, will make the first judge of gardens on July 22. The second judging will be made on August 22. The final judging has not been announced as there is no indication when the growing season will end.

A contest entry blank will be printed in The Plymouth Mail next week. The entry should be filled out and mailed to Mrs. Walter Sumner. The entries must be in the hands of the judges by July 15, and the judging will be made purely on the basis of the entry blank.

To the Highway Commissioner of the Township of Livonia, Wayne County, Michigan:

Sir: You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held Tuesday, June 8, 1943, decide and determine that the certain sections of road described in the minutes of said Board should be County Roads under the jurisdiction of the Board of County Road Commissioners. The minutes of said meeting fully describing said sections of road are hereby made a part of this notice, and are as follows:

"Minutes of the meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, at 10:00 A.M., Tuesday, June 8, 1943. Present: Commissioners Wilson and O'Brien."

It was moved by Commissioner Wilson that the Board assume jurisdiction over the following roads in the Township of Livonia:

BRENTWOOD AVENUE, 60 feet wide, extending 0.500 miles north from Seven Mile Road and being more particularly described as the westerly 60 feet of the easterly 360 feet of the east 1/2 of the east 1/2 of the southwest 1/4 of Section 1, Town 1 South, Range 9 East, Livonia Township, Wayne County, Michigan; also PEMBROKE AVENUE, 43 feet wide, extending east and west from Brentwood Avenue and having an overall length of 0.125 miles, and being more particularly described as: The northerly 43 feet of the East 1/2 of the East 1/2 of the southwest 1/4 of Section 1, Town 1 South, Range 9 East, Livonia Township, Wayne County, Michigan, being in all 0.625 miles of road.

D. A. R. Picnic On Monday, June 28

The Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold its annual picnic at Cass Benton park on June 28. The program will consist of a brief play commemorating the history of Plymouth and Northville. Members desiring rides are asked to call Mrs. Kenneth Corey.

Bees are vital war workers and essential not only in honey production but in fruit and field crop pollination, according to R. H. Kelly, Michigan State College extension beekeeper. Farmers are urged to maintain colonies and even observe certain practices that will give aid and protection to wild bees. The latter can be protected if burning or clearing out fence rows is curbed. Even a rail fence protects wild bee colonies. Insecticides, fogs, plowing up acreage not needed, or poor weather are factors that tend to curb bee populations useful to legume crops and fruit.

The motion was supported by Commissioner O'Brien, and carried by the following vote: Ayes, Commissioners O'Brien and Wilson; Nays, None.

WHEREUPON it was ordered that the above described roads in the Township of Livonia, be hereafter County roads under the jurisdiction of this Board.

THIS NOTICE IS GIVEN UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF ACT NO. 283 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1909 AS AMENDED. In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit, this 15th day of June, A. D. 1943. BOARD OF COUNTY ROAD COMMISSIONERS of the County of Wayne, Michigan. CASPAR J. LINGEMAN, Clerk. Carl W. Bischoff, Deputy Clerk.

June 18, 1943; July 2, '43

Announcement

In the past, the Hotel Mayflower has served the citizens of Plymouth with Bus information, via telephone.

A recent record of phone calls, indicates that 75 per cent of our switchboard traffic relates to Bus information. Because we are operating with a greatly curtailed organization and inasmuch as each employee has many added duties to perform, we are forced to discontinue this service and devote our entire time to the operation of the hotel.

We suggest that Bus inquiries be directed to the Plymouth Coach Company.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 138): "Jesus established in the Christian era the precedent for all Christianity, theology, and healing. HAWKINS-BREAULT
Pink peonies and ferns decorated the altar of St. Mary's of Redford church, Detroit, on Saturday, June 5 when Miss Phyllis Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hawkins, Joy road, became the bride of George E. Breault, Jr., son of Mrs. Marie Breault of Detroit.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was prettily gowned in white silk marquisette fashioned on fitted lines with a fine lace yoke and sweet-heart neckline. Her sleeves were long and tapered to a point over the hands. The skirt was made circular and widened at the bottom to form a long train. Her tulle veil fell from a pointed cap of lace. White roses and valley lilies comprised the bridal bouquet.

Miss Mary Breault, sister of the bridegroom, was maid-of-honor wearing a blue net gown over ice blue taffeta made with tight bodice and short puffed sleeves. Blue ostrich tips held her blue shoulder veil in place. Her bouquet was of pink carnations and sweet peas tied with pink ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Cordts and Mrs. Lynda Schmozer, both of Detroit. They were dressed in pink taffeta and net and carried pink carnations and sweet peas tied with pale blue ribbon. Joan Breault, tiny niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl wearing pink net over taffeta.

Mrs. Hawkins, the bride's mother wore a street length dress of navy blue sheer and a corsage of white carnations and sweet peas. Mrs. Breault chose a navy and white dress and wore a corsage of white carnations and sweet peas. Edward Clark Breault, the bridegroom's brother was best man. Ushers were William J. Hawkins, brother of the bride and James Tanner of Rosedale Gardens.

The wedding breakfast was held at Chateau Rousseau on Plymouth road and a reception was held in the evening for their relatives and many friends at the Breault home in Detroit.

The young couple left for a wedding trip to Mackinaw Island. For traveling the bride wore a beige suit with navy blue accessories.

The bride has been honored at many parties and showers in Detroit and Plymouth; also by the young ladies at Kelsey-Hayes plant where she was employed before her marriage.

The bridegroom will soon enter the service.

SAMSEN-YOUNG
Marriage rites for Miss Phyllis Jean Samsen, daughter of the late Lawrence B. Samsen, formerly owner of The Plymouth Mail, this city, and Mrs. Georgia Samsen-Richards, Marion, Indiana, and Keith V. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Young Swayzee, Indiana, were read at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, June 13, at the Christian Church in Swayzee.

Rev. C. C. Wilson, Swayzee, read the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with peonies, roses and mock orange blossoms. Attending the couple were Miss Samsen's sister, Miss Catherine Richards, Ball State College, Muncie, Indiana and Herbert Warnock, Swayzee.

Tapers on the three five-branched candelabra were lighted by Miss Jean Frantz, Frankfort, Indiana, cousin of the bride. Her sister, Miss Betty Frantz, presented the traditional bridal music, "On Wings of Song," "O Promise Me," "Liebestraum," "Wedding March" from Lohengrin, and "I Love You Truly," during the ceremony.

Miss Richards wore a street length dress of aqua blue with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias and sweet peas. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Harry Frantz, Swayzee, chose a street length white pique eyelet dress with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow and white daisies.

Mrs. Richards, mother of the bride, wore a street length pink dress with white accessories and corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Young, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue sheer street length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. C. O. Frantz, Swayzee. The lace-covered table was centered with a two-tier wedding cake decorated with pink and white rose buds and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Two five-branched candelabra traced the ends of the table. Vases of roses were arranged about the home. Later the couple left to make their home in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Mrs. Young was graduated from Marion high school in 1941 and for the past two years has been attending Ball State Teachers college in Muncie, Indiana. She is a member of the campus chapter of the Alpha Sigma Alpha, national sorority. She will enter Butler University at Indianapolis this fall to complete her college work.

The bridegroom graduated from Swayzee high school in 1939 and from the Indiana Technical college in Mechanical Engineering at Fort Wayne, Indiana last March. He is now employed in the experimental department of Allison Division, General Motors Corp., Indianapolis.

About forty relatives and close friends of the couple attended the wedding.

STEWART-BORDINE
The Baptist church of Brightmoor was the scene of a very pretty wedding Sunday afternoon, June 20th, when Miss Florence Stewart daughter of Mrs. Sarah Stewart of Brightmoor became the bride of Roger Bordine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bordine of Plymouth. Rev. B. J. Holcomb of Harbor Beach, uncle of the groom, performed the ceremony at two o'clock.

The bride wore a white chiffon gown and white veil and carried a bouquet of delphinium and carnations.

Mrs. Kathryn Bordine was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Yvonne and Dolores Faltz.

The maid of honor wore an aqua blue gown and carried a bouquet of white daisies while bridesmaids were of pink and blue chiffon and carried similar bouquets.

Gerald Bordine assisted his brother as best man, while Charles Stewart, brother of the bride and William DeKarskie were ushers.

That's right—PTZ Powder and stock salt—one part PTZ Powder to 10 parts salt—and keep this mixture where your sheep can get it ALL THE TIME. It keeps worm eggs from developing. And for individual dosing, use either PTZ Pellets or PTZ Powder in a drench. We got the PTZ, so drop in some time soon.

New Gun Is Sturdy, Accurate and Light

An Allied weapon which is causing all sorts of trouble for the enemy is this sub-machine gun which is small enough to be carried in a briefcase yet so sturdy that 49,000 rounds of test firing improved rather than decreased its accuracy. Corp. Lloyd W. Ricketts is shown in two poses with the gun which is a .45-caliber weapon, weighing less than nine pounds, and has been named the M-3. It is capable of firing 450 rounds per minute and costs less than $20 to produce. Amphibious troops have found that rain, salt, spray, or even complete immersion in sea water has little effect on the reliability of the M-3.

U. of M. Will Train Hundreds Offer Home to Soldier's Waifs

Women for Jobs as Lab Technicians

ANN ARBOR—Training of women to become medical technologists in hospital laboratories, physicians' offices or medical research institutions will be offered in a new course at the University of Michigan leading to the Bachelor of Science degree and certification by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists. Requiring three years of academic study plus one calendar year of practical training in the Medical School and University Hospital in ordinary times, the program can be completed in three calendar years under the University's accelerated wartime program. English, a modern foreign language, social sciences, mathematics, physics, 10 hours of elective courses, and required courses in chemistry, zoology, biological chemistry and bacteriology must be completed during the basic three years. The final year includes work in clinical laboratory methods and practice of medical technology. Qualified college graduates may enter the final year of the training with the first class next October. Such students who lack the required basic training in bacteriology and biological chemistry may take these subjects during the University summer session which opens June 28.

Four-Year Program May Be Completed in Three During Wartime

Their father is in the army and their mother is ill in the South, so the four bright-eyed brothers pictured at top were waiting at the Children's Aid society in New York for someone to give them a home until their parents can come back. Hundreds responded to their plea expressed via a newspaper. Among them was William G. Helis, millionaire oil man shown at bottom. Helis is a Greek-American who has contributed over $1,000,000 to Greek war relief.

U-M Offers Secretarial Training for First Time

ANN ARBOR—Concentrated training in shorthand, typewriting, accounting, business writing, secretarial techniques and office standards and procedures will be offered for the first time in the history of the University of Michigan this summer and fall in a special program provided to help fill the war-created demand for secretaries, executive aides and other office personnel. Offered by the University's Division of Emergency Training and utilizing the facilities of various University departments, the first complete course will open June 28 and run until February, 1944. During the latter part of the course, the students will be expected to fill part-time office positions with pay. This emergency training course will be open to college students who have attained sophomore standing and to other mature individuals.

Protein for Aviators

A high protein diet appears ideal for the aviator. The relatively slow breakdown of the food proteins provides a more lasting source of nourishment and serves as a sizable source of carbohydrate, as well as the amino acids. The specific dynamic action of proteins may be of particular value to the high altitude aviator in aiding the temperature-regulating mechanism of the body so necessary at the colder temperatures experienced above 10,000 feet (3,000 meters). The use of the extra heat-producing action of proteins in maintaining body temperature appears to be a valuable adjunct to the diet of the aviator.

Anastasio Somoza, president of Nicaragua, recently awarded scholarships to one student from each Central American sister republic to the Nicaraguan Military academy. Founded in 1937 by Gen. Charles Mullins of the United States army, the academy is modeled after the United States Military academy at West Point.

Grow Food Seed

Puerto Rico is spending half a million dollars to grow food seed to save shipping space, needed for war materials. Food shipments from the United States will be reduced accordingly. Eighteen thousand people will be put to work on more than 4,300 acres of land to carry out the project.

Officers and crewmen of a Liberator B-24 bomber are pictured beside their plane somewhere in the Southwest Pacific shortly after raiding a Japanese base at Gasimata, New Britain. A Jap Zero pilot scored a bullseye through the center of the bomber's marking star but failed to bring the plane down. Four other heavy bombers took part in the raid.

Apparently Axis troops are using one-legged men. An American soldier is shown examining an artificial leg which was left on a Tunisian battlefield by some German or Italian soldier who is literally on his last leg. # Country Faces Hunger, Dondero Says In Comment

Reveals Way Bureaucrats Fake True Facts

Actual hunger faces the people of this country, declared Congressman George A. Dondero in his letter to Congressional committee to newspapers of the 17th district this week.

Not only does Congressman Dondero point out the seriousness of the food situation, but he reveals facts to show how deliberate falsification is practiced by bureaucrats within the OPA.

Representatives of the Michigan canning industry, in a recent conference, outlined their manpower problems and their difficulties with the Office of Price Administration to members of the Michigan delegation in Congress. The picture is far from bright and unless the OPA can be forced to change its attitude there will be a lot of empty shelves in the grocery stores of the country.

The crux of the situation is that farm wages are about 45 cents an hour and employees in the canning industry have been classified as farm laborers. The result is that no one wants to work in the canning factories when they can get double that amount for work elsewhere. The canners are willing to pay 60 cents an hour but the administration wants them to absorb this 15 cents increase out of their profits and this the canners obviously cannot do and stay in business.

In the conference some of the OPA bureaucratic distortion of facts in regard to the canning situation was brought out. The testimony of Norman Sorenson, formerly head of the Processed Fruits and Vegetables section of OPA, before the House committee investigating OPA practices was cited. Mr. Sorenson informed the committee that letters written by OPA to members of Congress passed through many channels and finally were revised by Sol Segal, who always refused to approve of the statements. The committee called attention to a letter written by Mr. Sorenson to Senator Millard Tydings in which the statement was made: "Up to this time canners have not objected to the 1943 schedule of pea prices but now these protests are coming in in great volume." Mr. Sorenson stated that the latter portion of this sentence was struck out by Sol Segal so that the sentence read "Up to this time we have not received many protests on the 1943 schedule of pea prices," and in a pencil notation Mr. Sorenson said "This sentence as corrected is not truthful." Other examples of OPA misrepresentation of facts and refusal to correctly inform members of Congress were cited in the committee hearings.

Several practical suggestions were made to bring order out of chaos in the canning industry. Among them being:

1. Employment of personnel with practical experience instead of theorists.
2. Abandonment of regional area prices and return to formula prices based on the provision of the law that the processor of farm products shall receive a reasonable profit.
3. Elimination of present regulations requiring compulsory government grades on invoices and return to the use of brands or commercial grades which years of experience have proved to be the most practical method of promoting consumer good will, quality, and production.
4. Reflection of increased costs in 1943 pack price ceilings.
5. Transfer of complete control over manpower and wages of processing employees to the War Food Administration where responsibility for production now rests.

"6. Consultation with the canning industry in advance of the promulgation of regulations as required by law.

"Representatives of the canning industry expressed their opposition to subsidies as proposed by the OPA.

"Everywhere there is evidence that price control is being scuttled by the impractical directives of bureaucratic theorists who are more concerned with the complete regimentation of the American people than they are with the proper and reasonable administration of an Act of Congress. This policy is driving our business men to the wall and it now so seriously threatens our food supply that actual hunger may be in store for the American people. This will seriously disrupt our home front and have an adverse effect on our war effort at a time when the gallantry of our fighting men has given us glowing hope for a complete victory over our enemies."

Heating Oil Blanks Mailed

Users To Get Same As Last Year

The Plymouth War Price and Rationing Board is now mailing applications to users of oil for heating. The user of fuel oil will mail the application for next winter's oil to the rationing board.

It was learned on reliable authority that as a general rule, the same amount of oil as granted last winter will be given to fuel oil users for next winter.

There are, however, exceptions. Officials of the ration board said that a large number of fuel oil users had been found to be in error in the specifications of their homes as handed in last fall.

While most of those whose specifications were found to be in error, received more oil than they were entitled to, there were a few who made smaller estimates. These have been corrected, and the proper amount set down opposite the user's name.

On the other hand, rationing board officials suggested that those who think there is any doubt about the cubic feet content of their homes, should re-measure the home, and submit the new figures on the application.

The authority said that a number of persons had already appeared at the ration board with the statement that as a result of rationing they had reduced their fuel oil bill during last winter, despite the fact it was one of the severest on record.

The rationing expert said the home owners are learning that they have been using too much oil. They also are learning that insulation is profitable. He said that many, whose homes are heated with oil, had expressed the conviction that they were glad that rationing had forced them to reduce their expenditure for fuel, and that they never intended going back to the old method.

New "A" gasoline ration cards for motorists will be issued by mail, it was announced this week by the Plymouth War Price and Rationing Board.

It is anticipated that blanks for applying for the new "A" cards will be in Plymouth this week. They will be issued to all filling stations which will in turn pass them out to motorists.

The motorist will be expected to mail the application to the proper rationing official. The card will be mailed to the motorist. There will be no need for any motorist to appear at the rationing board to make arrangements for his "A" card.

TO: Every American on a Payroll FROM: The Secretary of the Treasury

SUBJECT: The New Pay-As-You-Go Method of Collecting Your Income Tax

Starting July 1st, both your Income and Victory Tax will be collected by an entirely new and more convenient method.

Under the old system, you were obliged every March 15th to pay either the full tax for the previous year, or a quarter of that amount. Under the new system, you will keep paid up from month to month.

After July 1st, your employer is obliged by the new law to withhold every month a part of your wages and turn the money into the United States Treasury as payment on your Income and Victory Tax.

Of course, the amount that your employer withholds will depend upon your pay and your exemptions. But this is the important point: For most of us, the amount withheld over a year's period will add up to the same that we're paying now—plus or minus a few dollars.

At the end of the year, we may owe the Government a few dollars or the Government may owe us. (See the tables below.)

You may have heard 20% mentioned as the proportion of your wages that will be withheld. Actually, this is incorrect. To figure the amount that will be withheld, take your total wages and subtract your allowance for exemptions and allowance for dependents; 20% of this lesser amount is the total that will be withheld.

Now please remember this: You must claim those exemptions to take advantage of them. Before July 1st, you must file with your employer an Exemption Certificate. If you do not do this, your employer will have no choice but to deduct 20% of your full pay check.

Here is how the new tax collection method will work: Let's say you are a working man earning $3,000 a year; that you are married, and have two children.

First of all, as a married man you are allowed a personal withholding exemption of $1,248, plus an exemption of $312 for each dependent (other than your wife). This makes a total exemption of $1,872 ($1,248 for yourself and wife, plus $624 for your two dependents), which is deducted from the $3,000 you earn before your tax is computed. You are thus paying tax on $1,128, of which your employer will withhold 20%, or $225.60 for the year. Therefore, in your pay envelope, after July 1, you will receive about $4.40 less each week.

In March, 1944, when you ordinarily would be faced with paying taxes on your 1943 income, you will file a return showing how much you have already paid, and how much your total tax actually amounted to. If, by that time, you have already paid more than your actual tax due, you will be given credit for the difference. If you owe more than you have paid, you will pay the difference.

Since this plan starts July 1, many wonder what happens to the tax payments they will already have made by that time—on March 15 and June 15.

For a great majority of people, here is what happens. . . Your 1942 income tax is "forgiven" (either all, or most of it). The March and June installments which you originally paid on that 1942 income tax are credited, instead, as payments on your 1943 tax. With the result that on July 1st, with the year half gone, you have already paid tax on that half-year's income. In short, you are "paying as you go."

There is one thing more. Since this pay-as-you-go method leaves you just as much of your net income as you had before, you will probably find it possible to at least maintain your present rate of buying War Bonds. Do this by all means!

Taxes alone will not bring to the Treasury nearly enough money to finance the great invasion war that lies ahead. The war needs every cent of your money that does not go for the necessities of life.

Boys Damage Park Property

Police Chief Issues Warning

City police and deputy sheriffs issued a warning to Plymouth boys and their parents this week to maintain order or arrests would follow for destruction of city and county park property.

Two Plymouth boys, both prominent in high school, were arrested in Riverside Park Saturday night after a series of incidents in which benches were destroyed, shrubbery broken, and tables and seats piled one on the other.

The two boys were arrested after a park policeman had fired a shot into the ground to warn them to stop.

They were given a severe lecture by a Justice of the Peace and released.

Chief of Police Charles Thumm said that the boys destroyed Kellogg Park property on several nights last week.

The chief declared that he found benches piled up in the park and valuable shrubbery broken.

The chief said the responsibility for much of the depredations in and around Plymouth should be placed on parents who are either too busy, or are unable to control their children.

He issued a statement, saying: "We have always maintained a clean city here in Plymouth. We intend to keep it that way."

Two boys were arrested Saturday night in Riverside park when they were caught upsetting benches and otherwise destroying property.

Whether or not this is a last fling by some of these boys before they go into the service is beside the point. They are still destroying property and that will not be tolerated.

"We want to cooperate in every way we can. We at the police department will be glad to talk to the boys and try to show them the errors of their ways, but if it still is a problem of the parents. They are the ones, in the last analysis who must maintain control of their children, and if they do not maintain that control, then arrests must follow."

The chief declared that most of the destruction was caused after dark by boys who gathered in the park to play. The play got rougher and rougher, he said, until it finally led to the destruction.

Plymouth Girls In Wayne U. Band

The band is affiliated with the Wayne University Summer Band School, which opened this week for a six-week session under the direction of Professor Overgard, with a faculty composed of noteworthy local musicians, all former members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Among the activities planned for the Wayne Summer Band are a number of public concerts to be played in the University auditorium. The organization will also play at community benefits and patriotic concerts.

New Dog Law For Plymouth

Commission To Take Quick Action

The city commission at its meeting Monday night passed on first and second reading a new amendment to the city's dog ordinance.

This amendment tends to make official a resolution adopted a month ago in an effort to keep all dogs off of the street during the garden growing season. Numerous complaints have been received from gardeners who object to the destruction of their work by roving dogs.

Under the new ordinance, no dogs would be permitted to roam the streets between June 1 and September 30. At present, vaccinated dogs are permitted to be at large except in July and August.

At present, unvaccinated dogs are never permitted to roam the streets.

Thousands of tons of ARMOR PLATE for tanks and ships and guns—

another job Electricity is doing to help win the war

A white-hot ingot of steel weighing several tons shoots along on conveyors in the rolling mill, passing between giant rolls that squeeze it to the desired shape.

Electricity opens and closes the doors of the open-heart furnaces where the molten steel is refined. Electricity operates the furnace fans and valves and a variety of auxiliary equipment.

Without electric power, the flow of armor plate for today's tanks and ships and guns would be only a dribble. This is just one more job that electricity is doing to help win the war.

LIEUTENANT KINCADE RIGHT DOWN IN THE JUNGLES

"There is not so much to write about from where we are now located. The jungle is so thick that one cannot get through it," writes Lieutenant Wilbur Kincaide to his parents from somewhere "down under" the equator in the Pacific southwest.

"We have had a lot of cleaning to do and a lot of work getting set up. From the hills the country looks nice and green but you get down into it and it is thick with undergrowth with tall trees towering above it. The vegetation under the trees is about twice as high as one's head and the soil is all boggy with a dense, stinky aroma coming from it all the time," he wrote.

"To add to all the rest of the discomforts, these places are filled with insects, bugs and worms of all descriptions. There are lots of birds here. They seem to be entirely different from those at home in that they are all of pretty colors. There are lots of parrots that do a lot of squawking. Some of them are small, but there are lots of big ones, too. Then there are some cockatoos here. They are pure white and about the size of those big white pigeons I used to have. They are very pretty.

"The flowers here are very numerous. Hibiscus grow wild and the natives pick them to put in their hair.

"One thing I don't like about it here is that we can't go swimming, and we have water on practically all sides of us. The ocean is filled with sharks and crocodiles. Drinking water is not too plentiful, but we get by. As far as bathing goes we are not too well set up as yet but we are working on showers now.

"I'm getting more hungry for some good food every day, but did have some bread today. Our baker did a nice job on it, too.

"We have received mail once since we have been here. We have a little different job than we had before. As we have a good record, we were chosen, and we are doing all right, too.

Don't worry about me. I'm getting along fine."

FORMER GOVERNOR OF MINNESOTA IN SCHOOL WITH JACK WILCOX

Among the interesting letters that came this week from Plymouth boys in the armed forces of our country was the following from Ensign Jack H. Wilcox, who is stationed at Fort Schuyler, New York, in which he states that former Governor Stassen of Minnesota is serving at the same place and does his part in routine work just as do all the other men.

Jack's letter follows in full: "I had hoped to be able to say 'thanks' in person, but it looks now as though the war is moving at too fast a pace to permit an ensign to return home.

"Since leaving Plymouth I've been stationed at Fort Schuyler, New York along with 1800 other naval officers learning the elements of seamanship, navigation, naval ordnance, naval law and so on. Among the officers here is former Governor Harold Stassen, now a Lt. Commander. The last time I saw him he was setting up chairs in our recreation hall. The other men say he is quiet and takes his part along with his fellow officers.

"The station is located on 'Throg's Neck' at the base of Long Island Sound. The East river connects with Sound at this point and is always busy with ocean-going ships passing back and forth.

"New York City is only a short distance away by subway and most of us take advantage of its proximity every week-end.

"Fort Schuyler was built during the 1850's to protect the old approach to New York. Its old, thick, vine covered walls look as though they are filled with history.

"As a matter of fact they're not. Fort Schuyler has never fired a shot. It fell into disrepair until exhumed by the WPA, returned to good condition and leased to the New York Maritime commission as a midshipman's school. The maritime commission still runs the plant here—they make the beds, prepare and serve the meals, (there is no 'K.P.') sweep and clean and so on.

"It is a fine place and I am, indeed, proud to be able to serve my country in the company of so many fine men who are officers in the United States Naval Reserve.

Hope to get back to good old Michigan once again before leaving for somewhere."

"That's true all over, Sam. Our present Army is the best trained, best disciplined, best behaved in American history. That's why I get my hair up when I hear of some people trying to dry up the areas around

In a wet community the Army can control drinking. In dry communities where bootleggers run wild it's almost impossible. We know that from our nearly 14 years of experience with national prohibition.

IT IS DEPLORABLE IN THE EXTREME.

Right in the lap of the nudeal social planners can be laid the entire responsibility for the disgraceful race riots that this week turned the great city of Detroit into a mob infested inferno and brought troubles to dozens of other American cities and communities.

No sooner had the nudealers assumed control of the administration in Washington than they began to preach to the colored people of the nation that they had not been treated fairly by their Republican liberators, that the Republicans had discriminated against them and had deprived them of their equal rights. They were invited to sip and dine in high places, all for the purpose of making it appear that the nudealers were in fact their true liberators and the real benefactors of the colored people.

Washington crackpots doubtless will attempt to place the blame for our race riots upon agents of Hitler and Hirohito. If these two despots had any hand in these riots, they have only seized upon a situation politically created by the nudealers which is now of tremendous advantage to our vicious enemies.

It is unfortunate in the extreme that our good colored people have not sensed the politics of the whole business. A race riot in America reflects shame and disgrace upon every one of us. There is no need for a sentiment to prevail which makes possible such a clash between races—not in America.

But just as long as a lot of social reformers are attempting to rebuild a new America, and to create class and race issues, in times of war, we will not only have race riots, but we will have famines, we will see more fathers and mothers tramping the streets and highways looking for shelter for their little broods, just as they are doing today. We will have no security, no peace.

Not only have nudeal politics created race riots, but nudeal politics is bringing a bountiful America mighty close to a bread line for every man, woman and child, coupled with grave prospects ahead, of facing a winter without sufficient fuel with which to heat even the smallest home.

We can hope for just one thing—that the seriousness of the deplorable and desperate situation in which the country finds itself will arouse the elected officials in Washington to a full responsibility of the situation confronting the country as the result of nudeal schemes and that they will forget their rotten politics until we have, at least, won the war.

A HEALTHY SIGN.

It was a good omen the other day when several hundreds of voters in the Plymouth school district took the time to cast their ballots. A school election ordinarily does not attract more than an handful of voters. We hope the same people who voted this year will not forget to vote in future school elections. It all helps in building better schools. Plymouth has long been proud of the good work of our schools. The vote in the recent election provided evidence of a determined effort upon the part of the people of this locality to see to it that our schools maintain the high level they have attained and properly care for the educational needs of Plymouth and its surrounding territory.

A FINE PAIR OF BIRDS.

Detroit's two traffic judges who have been imposing fines and jail sentences upon traffic law violators, have been revealed as possessors of C gasoline ration books issued to them by a labor agitator who was fired as chairman of a Detroit ration board after it was discovered that he had violated gas ration rules he was supposed to enforce. The judges didn't even live in the district where these special nudeal gratuities were granted to them.

The state of Michigan recently kicked out of office a probate judge who had accepted a few extra gratuities in connection with the issuance of marriage licenses. What about giving the official boot to a couple of cheap traffic judges who traded their judicial rights and powers for extra gasoline mileage to be used in joy-riding around Detroit while other people much more entitled to extra gasoline for driving, are denying themselves in order to help in a national emergency?

HURRAH FOR BINGAY!

The other day when reading some of the newspapers, our blood began to boil as we scanned the vicious and uncalled for attack by Elmer Davis on Washington newspaper correspondents. He accused them of doing a poor job in covering Washington news. And he made many other shady assertions. We know something of the difficulties that have been placed in the way of news writers these days. It has been our belief that correspondents have done and are doing a remarkably good job under adverse circumstances.

About the biggest "kick" out of life we've had in recent weeks was the royal skinning that Malcolm Bingay of The Detroit Free Press gave to the administration's smooth-talking political apostle for his vicious and false attack upon the fearless newsmen in Washington.

Maybe all will not agree, but we firmly believe that the only force which has so far prevented America from becoming a regimented, goose-stepping country like Hitler's land of blood are the Washington newspaper correspondents and the editors of America who haven't been afraid to reveal to the people of this country the deception, trickery and hidden purposes of the crack-pots who secretly plan to make this a New Deal Kingdom. Another hurrah for Malcolm Bingay!

You Can't Keep a Good Ship Down

Navy authorities revealed that 14 of the 19 ships named as lost or damaged at Pearl Harbor have been returned to active duty. At left, the smashed sections of the main deck of the battleship Oklahoma are covered with mud and barnacles after 17 months immersion. Righting her was one of the most spectacular jobs of salvage done in the harbor. The battleship had capsized at an angle of 151 1/2 degrees—leaving her practically upside down. Upper right: A side of the hull of the capsized mine ship Ogala is shown before she was salvaged. Lower right: Two barnacled guns of the Arizona are shown after removal from the ship.

Inflation Will Help Big Banks, Hurt Smaller Ones

New York City, June 25.—Inflation is witnessed by rising prices and an increased shortage of consumers goods. We have been in an inflationary period for some time. Signs point to further inflation. Inflation will affect all types of business and all individuals in varying degrees. In thinking, however, of one business with which nearly all of us are connected, I have felt that some explanation of what inflation might mean to the banks would be of interest to all. Hence, today I will hit some of the high-spots in the banking picture.

I am more concerned with the smaller banks than I am with the larger financial institutions of our great cities. Our large commercial institutions will benefit from any increase in money rates although these may be some time in rising. Of course, the entire banking business has changed vastly since I was a young man. Today there is little glory or profit in being a bank director or even in being a stockholder.

Banks have no inventory, buy no raw materials and manufacture no finished products. They have nothing to sell except service and, most important of all, they deal solely in dollars. Hence, theoretically, it makes no difference to the bank what the dollar is worth. It is worth 59 cents today; but if it goes down to 20 cents the banks would still be open, would function as usual, continue to receive dollar deposits and pay out dollars.

As all Federal Reserve Member Banks and most other banks are also members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, deposits up to $5000 have, for some time, been insured by our government. Depositors are thus well-protected and bank failures for years have been at a minimum. I look for no increase in bank failures. However, some banks may consolidate or liquidate and go out of business. In some instances this would be a sensible thing for them to do. The larger a bank is the more valuable its stock should be.

Bank customers will continue to receive much the same type of service as they have always had from their banks, but they must expect to pay more and more for it. Banks will be obliged to meet increased living and operating expenses occasioned by inflation just as manufacturers and other business houses will be. They are faced with declining mortgage income; their returns on commercial paper, municipals and corporation bonds also extremely low. It looks as though they might be largely dependent upon their service charges and safe deposit box rentals.

The banking fraternity is today carrying too much of the Government debt in the form of bonds. There should be proportionately more in the hands of the public than in the hands of the banks. However, while the rate of interest on Government holdings is extremely small, banks can be certain that their holdings of Governments—particularly those due within the next ten years—will be paid at par upon maturity. Furthermore, I do not look for any extreme fluctuations in their prices immediately after the war as was true of the Liberty Bonds of World War I.

Unless Washington wishes to take over the actual operation of the banks, they must make it possible for banks to have sufficient income from sources other than through normal investments. As mortgages are paid off in cheap dollars, income from this source will also decline. But dollars will be exceedingly plentiful. Money in circulation per capita today is the highest in the history of our country. It will continue to rise. For every Government bond sold our credit resources are multiplied six or seven times. I forecast that dollars will be far more plentiful than certain commodities.

What I have outlined is far from an ideal domestic banking economy. It is no real way for banks to function, but it is the only way they can survive. But I would not dump my bank stocks. They may be as good as anything else to hold. In some ways perhaps a little better in the case of the larger stocks. At least their real estate constitutes real property. But I would not be surprised to see many banking quarters turned into funeral parlors!
