City Now Using Million Gallons Of Water Each Day

Heaviest Drain On Supply Forces Usage Curtailment

Water was rationed to the city of Plymouth this week. City Manager Clarence Elliott issued instructions last Saturday that until further notice, sprinkling of lawns and gardens was forbidden.

The action was taken on an emergency basis when the level in the reservoir dropped to two feet of water. The city normally maintains about 10 feet of water in the reservoir.

There was no connection between the curtailment of the supply and the cessation of water supply to some sections of the city on Sunday when city workmen made a connection between the old water supply and the new well at the end of Mill street.

Elliott said that consumption of water skyrocketed last Monday to more than a million gallons a day as both industrial and home users of water made the heaviest drain in history on the water supply.

"For two or three days we could stand a drain like that on our sources of supply," said Mr. Elliott, "but this continued until Saturday when it became evident that it would be necessary to curtail the use of water."

"Saturday night was the first night in a week that the water level in the reservoir was raised." Heaviest industrial users of water, according to the city manager, are the Burroughs Adding Machine Company, the Wall Wire Company, and the Wilcox Company of the Ford Motor Company.

The increased consumption of water by the industries started about a year ago, Mr. Elliott said. He declared the increase of industrial use amounted to an average of about 150,000 gallons a day.

Declaring that the city will make every effort to lift restrictions by Tuesday, the city manager said that tapping the new well at the booster station within the next week will solve all of the water problems.

Mr. Elliott said that the city hoped to have the new well pumping by the end of this week. He said that the new well would double the capacity of the city's water supply and that the restrictions on the use of water would be lifted by that time.

The city has experienced considerable delay in getting the new well into use because of refusal of the war production board to grant priorities for necessary equipment. It was necessary to get letters from industrial users engaged in war production before the priorities could be obtained.

With the new well, the city will be able to pump more than a million and a half gallons of water a day without taxing the water supplies.

A portion of the city was without water on Sunday during the time that the connection between the old and the new well was being made. It was necessary to stop all pumping from 2 p. m. until 7 p. m., and the only supply available was in the standpipe, which did not provide enough pressure to reach houses on higher ground.

The connection has now been established with a cut-off valve. No further cessation of water supply is contemplated prior to cutting in the new supply.

Over 300 Attend Bible Schools

Churches Report Large Attendance

More than 350 young people have attended the four vacation church schools during the past two weeks.

The four schools are operated by the Nazarene church, the First Baptist church, the Calvary Baptist church and the Presbyterian and Methodist churches operated a vacation school jointly.

The Presbyterian - Methodist church school reported that attendance this year is larger than last year, but the other three noted slight drops in attendance.

The drop from last year was described by the pastors of the churches as due to the fact that all four of the schools operated at the same time this year; to the fact that many of the children who might be expected to attend are working this year and because of a shortage of gasoline makes picking up the children almost an impossibility.

All four churches are planning a program for Friday night, to show parents and friends the results of their work.

Mrs. George Chute entertained at a luncheon Wednesday honoring Mrs. Warren Worth and Mrs. John Paul Morrow. The guests included Mrs. Claude J. Dykhouse, Mrs. George Burr and Mrs. Robert Willoughby.

Tells Of Experiences In The Philippines

Fred Flynn, an afternoon foreman in the River Rouge hospital of the Ford Motor company, was the speaker at the Tuesday evening session of the Kiwanis club. Flynn told of his experiences in government service in the Philippines where his duties were guarding the Governor General. He explained his various side trips through the Orient.

Issue Authority For 82 Defense Homes In City

Plans, Specifications Approved By City Engineer

The Federal Housing Agency has issued authority for the construction of 82 defense homes in Plymouth.

City Engineer Stan Besse said that he had approved the plans and specifications for the homes, submitted by four construction companies.

However, when construction of the badly needed homes in most sections of the city will begin is a matter of conjecture. Building permits for the houses have not been taken out by the four construction firms and orders for the extension of water and sewer mains to the locations where the houses are to be constructed have not been made.

Approval of priorities for construction of the houses by the Federal Housing Agency followed long discussions and bickerings between the city commission and some of the construction companies over what type of house should be constructed in Plymouth.

One of the companies submitted plans and specifications for the houses which did not meet with the Plymouth Building Code.

The company pleaded that the federal government would not issue priorities for the houses unless they were cheaply constructed by widening the space between the upright studs and supports of the houses.

The commission maintained that the studs should be not more than 16 inches apart. The firm wanted them 20 inches apart, but the city commission held firm and refused to change the building code.

The one firm then submitted a new set of plans and specifications which received the immediate approval of the building inspector. Priorities were requested and immediately approved by the government.

The firms which have submitted the plans and specifications are the William G. Birt & Sons company, of Plymouth; the Beechwood Building corporation, the Dawson Construction company and the Beechwood Defense Homes corporation, all of Detroit.

The Birt firm announced plans for the construction of 17 homes in the Sunset Addition. The Dawson company expects to build 27 homes in the same subdivision. The Beechwood company filed plans for 16 homes in the Brookview addition and the Beechwood company plans 22 homes in the Kate E. Allen addition.

Besse said that the plans and specifications for most of the houses provided for a maximum of slightly less than 1,000 square feet of floor space. The Federal Housing Administration approves loans on houses only of those specifications.

Under the governmental system, the builder is permitted to buy lumber in an amount equal to five times the amount of floor space. The plans call for a living room, kitchen, two bedrooms and a bath room on the main floor of the homes, with a bedroom on the second floor. It is not specified that the bedroom on the second floor need to be completed immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Parmalee entertained at a gathering of Mrs. Parmalee's family on July 4. The guests included Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Chapman and family, Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Clark of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baumgartner of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Berlin and family of Walled Lake, Mrs. Mary L. Chapman, her mother and Mrs. Manning from Walled Lake.

"So That Our Flag May Forever Fly"

Enjoyment of the freedoms symbolized by our Declaration of Independence and our Flag carries with it a deep responsibility! For it is not enough that we be free—we are fighting now that all peoples of the world may be equally free. Whereas in bondage there is degradation, in liberty there is the soaring spirit that leads to achievement. . . . and to a better world. That our four freedoms may be all mankind's four freedoms, we are now engaged in a struggle that must have but one outcome—and that, Victory! On this birth-date of our Independence Day, let us each pledge ourselves toward bringing about that Victory whatever it may entail. Let us pledge ourselves—particularly those of us who can fight no other way—to the regular, payday purchase of United States War Savings Bonds, gladly devoting 10 percent of our income toward our own and our children's future . . . toward the future liberty of all children, everywhere!

Wanted—More Coat Hangers For Boys Entering Military Services

Wanted—More coat hangers! Coat hangers for Plymouth boys who leave every two weeks for Fort Custer!

Plymouth citizens responded most liberally last fall when an appeal was made for coat hangers to give to the boys when they leave for military services.

Chairman Walter Harms on the Plymouth Induction board, said yesterday that the supply of coat hangers contributed last fall had about run out. There are barely enough left to provide the boys who will leave next week.

Look around in your closets, see how many spare coat hangers you can find.

Then when you come down town, either leave them at the induction board office on North Main street, The Plymouth Mail office or at the insurance office of Mr. Harms in the Penniman building.

Please do not forget—coat hangers are needed for the boys who will be leaving for military services during the next few months.

And if you know how badly they are needed by the boys after they reach Fort Custer, you'd make some home-made hangers for yourself and give the wire ones to the boys who are leaving their homes to help you save your home.

Plymouth Triples Contribution To Boy Scout Activities

Plymouth's contribution to the sustaining membership of the Boy Scout troop movement this year reached the high total of $766.00, announced Chairman Carl Shear yesterday.

This total is three times as high as it was a year ago, an average far higher than that of most cities of this size throughout the state.

"Officials of the Boy Scout group as well as the members of the Boy Scouts are most grateful for the splendid cooperation given by citizens of Plymouth. It shows that we are all in agreement as to the splendid benefits of Boy Scout activities," stated Mayor Shear yesterday.

Girl Scout Director

Girl Scout Camp Opens Monday

Give Tentative Daily Program

The Plymouth Girl Scout Day camp opens Monday, July 5 in Riverside park and will be held the first four days of the week for two weeks from 9 o'clock sharp to 4 o'clock.

Miss Helen Moore, who has lived in Plymouth the past year, residing at 253 Irvin street, is the director of the camp. Miss Moore has had wide experience in the scout and recreation work and the scouts are fortunate in having so able a director.

Miss Moore graduated in physical education from the University of Michigan receiving her M. R. degree and in elementary education from the Ohio State University receiving her B. S. degree. She has been captain of a troop in Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, where she spent three and one-half years, also of a troop in Ypsilanti. Her camping and recreation experiences were received as counsellor for two years and director for one in the Detroit Christmas Seal camp at North lake near Ann Arbor; director for two summers of a camp conducted by the Palama Settlement House in Honolulu and playground supervisor in Highland Park for two summers. Miss Moore has worked with girls and women of all sizes, ages and race, and traveled in China and Japan just before the war.

The leaders of the Plymouth Girl Scout camp are as follows: Mrs. Henry E. Baker, camp chairman of the Girl Scout Council; Miss Neva Lovell, program chairman of the Girl Scout council; Mrs. Jean Jenkins, assistant camp director; Mrs. Howard Frisbie, registered nurse.

Those directing the various activities offered for the two weeks are handicraft, Mrs. J. H. Todd, Mrs. Cass Hough, Mrs. Robyn Merriam, Mrs. Donald Sutherland, of Plymouth and Mrs. Robert Wilson, of Salem; parliamentary law, Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple; dramatics, Mrs. Ned May; games and folk dancing, Mrs. Dean Saxton; sports, Miss Kay Moon.

A tentative day's program: 9:00-9:15, Reveille and morning roundup; inspection and announcements; 9:15-9:30, morning exercises; 9:30 - 11:00, games, hikes, sports; 11:00-11:30, group activities, singing, troop meetings, court of honor, etc.; 11:30-12:00, outdoor cookery; 12:00-12:30, lunch and clean up; 12:30-1:30, rest hour; 1:30-2:30, bird study, dramatics, parliamentary law, first aid, photography, handicraft, sewing; 2:30-3:30, free choice of activities; 3:30-4:00, friendship circle, group singing, story telling, stunts and games. Retreat.

No Celebration Planned On 4th

Most Stores To Close On Monday

No celebration of any kind on the Fourth of July is contemplated in Plymouth, it was learned this week from City Manager Clarence Elliott.

Stores, generally, will be closed on Monday following the Fourth.

Nearest celebration of any size will be held at Rosedale Gardens, where the customary all-day party is planned.

The celebration at Rosedale Gardens will begin at 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

Athletic contests for all age groups, with participation limited to residents of the gardens, will be held during the afternoon. There also will be a softball game during that period.

The Rosedale Gardens Civic Association, which is sponsoring the day's activities, will dedicate a plaque bearing the names of all Rosedale Gardens men who have gone to the service. Dedication ceremonies will be held at 5:30 p. m.

Principal speaker for the dedication ceremonies will be Lieut. A. M. Davis of the Special Services Division of the United States Army. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the World's Fair Chevrolet chorus.

A picnic dinner will be held on the club house grounds from 6:30 until 9 p. m., when a mammoth vaudeville show has been planned.

Tim Doolittle and his gang from Pine Center, radio stars from WJL, will headline the program. Other acts include The Great Amato, a juggler, and a high ladder artist.

Lightning Strikes Cass Hough Home

Damage Estimated At About $300.00

Lightning struck the chimney on the Cass S. Hough home on Ann Arbor Trail late Sunday afternoon, causing a small roof fire that was quickly brought under control by the Plymouth fire department.

Damage was estimated at about $300.00. The lightning apparently traveled through the wiring in the house to the oil burner control which was blown from the wall by the shock. Most severe damage was done to the chimney itself and to the roof where a small hole was burned by a fire started in the wiring.

Pilgrim Wins Bullseye Flag

Another Bullseye flag was added to Plymouth's collection yesterday (Thursday) afternoon when it was presented to a shop committee of the Pilgrim Products company.

The Bullseye flag was presented by William Hartmann of the treasury department to a committee composed of C. L. Young, W. E. McCullough and C. G. Laslett.

The Bullseye flag which will be flown at the company indicates that all of the employees of the company have and are purchasing war bonds to the extent of ten percent of their earnings.

Orders Junk Yard Cleaned Up Within Next Three Weeks

Health Officer Says Yard Is Nuisance And Unsanitary

Dr. Luther Peck, city health officer declared the junk yard on Fralick avenue a nuisance, and ordered Sol Barron, proprietor of the yard to clean it up by July 15, or the establishment would be closed permanently.

Dr. Peck made an inspection of the premises last week at the instigation of the city commission, and said that he had found it a breeding place for rodents and other animals. He said it was dirty and unsanitary and definitely harmful to the health of the community.

Barron was told to remove all debris from the yard within the three weeks time allotted, and to clean the yard thoroughly.

Barron declared that he no longer is taking in any used automobiles, and that he already has started cleaning up the premises. He said he would have everything removed except usable automobile parts which he has been ordered to save by the Office of War Production.

Dr. Peck said that for the 40 years during which he has been health officer of the city of Plymouth that he has made a concerted effort to maintain the city in a clean, healthy condition.

"But this junk yard is not clean, and it is not healthy," said the physician, "and if it isn't cleaned up to conform with our previous standards, then I'll close up the yard."

The city commission at its last meeting declared the junk yard unsightly, and started proceedings to have it removed to some other section of the city.

The commission is prepared to institute a suit in chancery if necessary in order to force the removal of the junk yard.

More Prizes Given In Garden Contest

Ask Gardeners To Mail In Entries

With two more $25 prizes added to the list of awards for good victory gardeners, word went out this week to watch the weeds.

The two heavy rains of the past week, following upon a long dry hot spell, it was pointed out will force weeds into the open in greater quantities than ever.

This means that there must be more work with the plow and hoe, for weeds can ruin any chance any victory gardener may have had to win the top prizes in the Plymouth and Plymouth township contest.

Mrs. Walter Sumner, acting chairman of the Plymouth Victory Garden contest committee announced this week that Blunk and Thatcher had contributed a $25 cash prize and that the Pilgrim Products company had contributed a $25 war bond.

Mrs. Sumner said that other contributions were expected but that the judges were anxious to establish the prize list and that therefore no further gifts will be accepted after next Monday for the prize list.

Mrs. Sumner said that she had talked with several expert gardeners who had urged her to warn the victory gardeners of the necessity of getting after the weeds and parasites which infect gardens after rains.

"It is necessary to more than plant the seed to reap the harvest," said one expert. "It is necessary to keep after the garden constantly or the weeds will root out the produce. Worms and bugs also must be attacked frequently and with great skill."

The prizes in the contest now total $290, sizeable money for growing what the people will need to eat next winter, for it is becoming increasingly apparent that those who do not raise it themselves may not eat next winter.

Elsewhere in this edition of The Plymouth Mail is an entry blank for all victory gardeners. The entry should be filled out and mailed to Mrs. Sumner as soon as possible.

The first judging of gardens will be held on July 22. Entry blanks must be received by Mrs. Sumner before July 15. The contest is open to all non-professional gardeners in Plymouth and Plymouth township.

Home For Visit

LT. (J.G.) RALPH G. LORENZ

Lt. (j.g.) Ralph Lorenz paid a hurried visit to his wife and two children here last week-end on his way to his new station on the west coast.

Lt. Lorenz, the former manager of the Hotel Mayflower here, just completed an advanced, short course in the Naval Supply and Commissary School at Babson's Institute in Boston, Massachusetts. He arrived in Plymouth last Saturday and left for Chicago Tuesday noon where he will accompany several other members of his unit to the coast where they will be assigned stations for active duty.

His work will be in the line of duty as an assistant commissary officer supplying aircraft parts, food and supplies to naval branches, and civilians in countries occupied by United States Naval forces. Lt. Lorenz stated that the work of the supply corps is so wide in scope that it even covers the manufacturing of naval equipment, issuance of priorities and handling lend-lease material.

He was high in his praise of the training and treatment he had received while at Boston and said that he is confident that the United States Navy has the "situation well in hand." Because of the intensity of the training course he was taking he said that he had had time to spend only a few hours with Plymouth's two other officers in training in Boston, Lt. (j.g.) Elmore Carney and Ensign Kenneth A. Gust. He reported that both are progressing nicely in their work and that they are receiving prior to being given assignments.

Farmers Aided By School Boys In Crop Growing

Farm Volunteer Branch Office Is Opened Here

If Michigan farmers are to produce the normal amount of food this year, it is now anticipated that they must depend to a large extent on youthful or elderly help.

With this in mind, the Victory Farm Volunteers have been organized in Wayne county, with a branch in Plymouth.

James Rossman, principal of Stark school, is general chairman of the program, which was first inaugurated last April, but is just now blossoming into its full stride.

Mr. Rossman said that twenty-two farmers in Wayne county already have received full time help. School boys, mostly from Detroit, have been sent to these farms. Most of these boys are 14 and 15 years old. Thirty-five boys have been sent to other counties where the youths were all employed.

Many of them have been trained during the winter months in their own high schools for the work they will do. Of course the farmers are expected to add to that training in order to achieve the results desired. At the same time, Mr. Rossman said that the reports from the farmers have been uniformly good.

"Naturally among an organization of 3,000 boys many of them from Detroit, there are bound to be some unsatisfactory misfits," said Mr. Rossman, "but we must use these boys or nothing. And if we use nothing, we do not reap the amount of food we should have."

"The regular farm hands have been called into the army or where they can make more money. The most recent survey showed that only two adult farm helpers are now available, where (Continued on page 2)

Mother Receives Letters From High Officials

Lost Life In Attu Battie Instead Of Africa

The brilliant gold star shone on the lapel of her trim blue suit. There was a proud tilt to her head as she walked slowly, but nonetheless sprightly down the street.

But there also was a tear in her eye, as she displayed a letter she had just received. It said: My Dear Mrs. Martin:

At the request of the President, I write to inform you that the Purple Heart has been awarded posthumously to your son, Corporal Raymond E. Martin, Infantry, who sacrificed his life in defense of his country.

Little that we can do or say will console you for the death of your loved one. We profoundly appreciate the greatness of your loss, for in a very real sense the loss suffered by any of us in this battle for our country is a loss shared by all of us. When the medal which you will shortly receive, reaches you, I want you to know that with it goes my sincerest sympathy, and the hope that time and the victory of our cause will finally lighten the burden of your grief.

Sincerely yours, Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War.

And then she unfolded another letter, and it said: Mrs. Emma Martin, Pontiac, Michigan.

Dear Mrs. Martin: I wish to extend my heartfelt sympathy on the death of your son who was killed in action.

Raymond Martin was a gallant soldier of the United States army whose name is now indelibly recorded on the roll of our nation's honored dead. As time passes, I hope that you will derive some consolation in the realization that your son gave his life so that others might live as free men.

Again my deepest sympathy to you and to the other members of the family.

Faithfully yours, George Marshall, Chief of Staff.

The two letters spoke worlds, far more than words in a newspaper. Letters like those, and medals like the Purple Heart are not tossed around to every mother of every soldier who dies in action.

Letters such as those and the medals such as the Purple Heart are reserved for those men who in action, beyond the normal call of duty, they are the rewards for a hero's death.

But then most people who knew Ray Martin knew he would die a hero's death if death were to come to him in this war. He enlisted before Pearl Harbor be-

Help Shortage Felt By City

Operate With Eight Instead Of Twenty

The city engineering department now has only eight men on its payroll, while twenty are ordinarily employed at this time of year.

"That's the reason," said City Engineer Stan Besse, "why the city appears many times to be slow in getting work accomplished."

"Actually with the help available, we are doing a rush job. Not only are we short of help, but we also are short of materials. It sometimes takes weeks and months to get priorities for the purchase of necessary materials to keep the city in repair. Sometimes the priorities are never granted."

Besse said that priorities for purchase of an asphalt mix for repair of the hard surface streets in Plymouth were not obtained until Tuesday. A truck obtained one load of the material on Wednesday and work of repairing the streets was started at once.

Authority for the purchase of street oil has not been received and consequently the street department is spreading a liquid calcium chloride instead of the customary dry variety.

Besse said that the liquid calcium chloride is not as good as the other variety, but that by buying it in liquid form they can also have it spread by the manufacturing company, which takes the place of labor not available here.

Besse said that an effort is being made to have the Pere Marquette fix the Main street crossing which has become rough, but that if the railroad does not fix it then the city probably will.

Mother Receives Letters

cause he felt the call of the duty that led straight to the Purple Heart.

He had the chance to become an instructor and spend the remainder of the war at some camp here, in this country teaching other soldiers what he already knew. But again he felt the call. He wrote his mother that he preferred to stay with his buddies. He felt the urge again that led unerringly to the Purple Heart.

That's the reason his mother wears the big gold star where everyone can see it.

But everywhere she went in Plymouth this week showing her letters from Mr. Stinson and General Marshall, she learned that Plymouth already recognized Ray Martin as a hero. Hadn't he been an athletic hero in Plymouth during his four years of high school? Hadn't he been known for his fighting heart?

Perhaps that's the reason there was envy on the part of some rather than the sympathy which a mother might expect.

"It's been an ordeal," said Mrs. Martin. "Back in 1918, we lived at Fort Thomas, Kentucky, and then I wished that I had a son who might go out and fight for his country. But then I had only five daughters.

"Now, this war I had a son. Yes, it has been hard, but I'm proud, too. I know that my son died a man. He didn't hide behind deferments. He didn't get married so he wouldn't have to go to war.

"But sometimes I wonder whether his going into battle was right. After all, why should he die up in the Aleutian islands to help the rioters and the strikers back here at home? Why should he die just to make more money for the men in the plants here at home?"

Mrs. Martin revealed that her son died in the Aleutians rather than in Tunisia as was reported two weeks ago when she received news of his death. She said he had left California on April 23, bound for Alaska. She assumed, she said, that he had died in the battle for Attu island. He was killed May 22.

None of the details of his death have been received, but certain it is that he died a hero.

The proof is in the letters and his medal.

Farmers Aided By School Boys

In addition to permanent help which is being sent to the farmers, the Victory Farm Volunteer organization also is sending flyers squadrons of boys and girls for special emergency assignments.

Not long ago, said Mr. Rossman, a berry farmer found his strawberries ripening, and he lacked help to pick the seven acres. He appealed to Mr. Rossman. Rossman appealed to the Wayne high school, and 50 boys and girls answered the summons.

"The point is that these boys and girls are doing just as patriotic a work as the men and women in the army and the men and women in the factories," Rossman said.

Rossman also said that a flying squadron of volunteers was sent to a farm to husk corn which had been left standing in a field since last winter. The farmer simply was unable to get the corn husked, and he wanted to plow his field for planting this year.

Most of the boys (and a few girls) who are enlisting in the Victory Farm Volunteers are boys with patriotic motives. Others are those who wish to get away from city environment and into the country. Others are boys and girls whose home life has been threatened because of both parents working.

Mr. Rossman admitted that his organization also had been able to do some social service work in the rehabilitation of some boys through placements on farms, but he said that this was incidental to the main program which is growing and reaping food for next winter.

Like everyone else connected with the food program, Rossman said that if we don't grow the food and harvest it this summer, we are not going to eat next winter.

Carvel Bentley is chairman of the Plymouth committee in charge of the Victory Farm Volunteers. Farmers wishing help should apply to him or to Mr. Rossman at the county agent's office in Wayne. Boys and girls wishing to enlist in the organization should also contact either of them.

Union Services Open On Sunday

Official Proceedings of the Plymouth City Commission

June 21, 1943

A regular meeting of the City Commission was held in the City Hall on Monday, June 21, 1943 at 7:30 p.m.

Present: Mayor Shear, Commissioners Corbett, Hondorp, Lewis and Whipple.

Absent: None.

The minutes of the meeting of June 7, 1943 were approved as read.

It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Commissioner Lewis that the bills in the amount of $4,119.93 as audited by the auditing committee be approved.

Ayes: Mayor Shear, Comm. Corbett, Hondorp, Lewis and Whipple.

Nays: None.

A request from the Cooperative Societies of Free Methodists, Nazarene Church and other churches to use Kellogg Park from 8 o'clock to 9 o'clock Saturday evenings was made by F. S. Highfield. It was moved by Comm. Corbett and supported by Comm. Whipple that the request be granted. Carried.

It was moved by Comm. Hondorp and supported by Comm. Whipple that the City Manager be requested to have the Police Department look into the matter of a disturbance at 1073 South Main Street. Carried.

A request was again presented to the Commission asking that Maple Avenue west of South Harvey be changed to Maple Lane and that Maple street not be cut through from South Main to South Harvey. It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Comm. Corbett that the two requests be referred to the Planning Commission for their recommendations. Carried.

Dunn Steel Products requested that the City close Blanche street between the P.M.R.R. and Amelia. It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Commissioner Hondorp that the matter be referred to the Planning Commission for their recommendation.

The City Clerk read the following Amendment of the Dog Ordinance:

ORDINANCE NO. 115
Amendment to ordinance No. 95 as amended by ordinance No. 97 known as the Dog Ordinance. The City of Plymouth Ordains section one:

That section seven of ordinance No. 95 as amended by ordinance No. 97 known as the Dog Ordinance, passed by the City Commission on the 4th day of September 1934 and amended on the 3rd day of December 1934 shall read as follows:

No person owning, possessing, or harboring any dog shall permit the same to run at large without a substantial collar of leather, or other durable material to which shall be securely attached the license tag above required. Through U. S. Army measures for conserving rubber, the use of crude rubber in war materials has been reduced by 45 per cent, and at many posts, camps, and stations animal-drawn vehicles are used in certain jobs to save tires.

The Nazi radio, in an excess of modesty, says it prefers the word "saddom" to the blunter phrase, "underbelly of Europe," as descriptive of the Mediterranean shores of the Continent.

U. of M. Offers Special Program for Pre-Inductees

Designed to Provide Basis for Special Training in Armed Forces

ANN ARBOR—Basic training for war service is available in a highly intensive 24-week course of study at the University of Michigan for young men and women who are high school graduates or in their senior high school year.

This special course will be offered by the University's Division for Emergency Training starting Monday, June 28, and ending Friday, December 17, with a one-week intermission between September 18 and 27.

Stressing fundamental training in mathematics, physics, history, American government, English and physical conditioning, the basic curriculum is designed to provide a basis for specialized training either in the armed forces or at the University as well as the fundamental knowledge essential for intelligent citizenship.

The academic phase of the curriculum consists of two courses: 1) Integrated mathematics and physics; and 2) integrated history, American government and institutions and English. Mathematical requirements of the armed services, fundamental principles of mechanics, geometrical optics and simple electric circuits, the economic and military importance of geographical features and the essentials of democracy are stressed.

In general, high school graduates with above average academic standing are eligible to apply provided they present sufficient mathematics, no marked deficiencies in English or the social studies and stand high in school citizenship. In special instances, students who have completed three and one-half years of high school may enroll.

NAVY MOTHERS' CLUB

The Navy Mothers are now collecting old jewelry. Anything will do, just so it is bright and gaudy and usable. Who knows but what an old pin you might send would pay a native to dig a fox hole for your boy because that is what they do. Work for our boys in exchange for these gadgets. You may leave them at Cal Simon's store.

The club is also still collecting razors but not used blades.

Mrs. Erland Bridge entertained eight ladies of the serving committee at a luncheon Monday in honor of Mrs. Jennie Smith, a navy grandmother's birthday.

The U. S. Public Health Service examination of nearly a quarter of a million people for tuberculosis showed that slightly more than one in every 100 persons examined had significant tubercular infection of the lungs.

One $18.75 War Bond will supply a Navy flyer with a fur-lined flying jacket.

Mother Receives Letters

cause he felt the call of the duty that led straight to the Purple Heart.

He had the chance to become an instructor and spend the remainder of the war at some camp here, in this country teaching other soldiers what he already knew. But again he felt the call. He wrote his mother that he preferred to stay with his buddies. He felt the urge again that led unerringly to the Purple Heart.

That's the reason his mother wears the big gold star where everyone can see it.

But everywhere she went in Plymouth this week showing her letters from Mr. Stimson and General Marshall, she learned that Plymouth already recognized Ray Martin as a hero. Hadn't he been an athletic hero in Plymouth during his four years of high school? Hadn't he been known for his fighting heart?

Perhaps that's the reason there was envy on the part of some rather than the sympathy which a mother might expect.

"It's been an ordeal," said Mrs. Martin. "Back in 1918, we lived at Fort Thomas, Kentucky, and then I wished that I had a son who might go out and fight for his country. But then I had only five daughters.

"Now, this war, I had a son. Yes, it has been hard, but I'm proud, too. I know that my son died a man. He didn't hide behind deferments. He didn't get married so he wouldn't have to go to war.

"But sometimes I wonder whether his going into battle was right. After all, why should he die up in the Aleutian islands to help the rioters and the strikers back here at home? Why should he die just to make more money for the men in the plants here at home?"

Mrs. Martin revealed that her son died in the Aleutians rather than in Tunisia as was reported two weeks ago when she received news of his death. She said he had left California on April 23, bound for Alaska. She assumed, she said, that he had died in the battle for Attu island. He was killed May 22.

None of the details of his death have been received, but certain it is that he died a hero.

The proof is in the letters and his medal.

Farmers Aided By School Boys

In addition to permanent help which is being sent to the farmers, the Victory Farm Volunteer organization also is sending flying squadrons of boys and girls for special emergency assignments.

Not long ago, said Mr. Rossman, a berry farmer found his strawberries ripening, and he lacked help to pick the seven acres. He appealed to Mr. Rossman. Rossman appealed to the Wayne high school, and 50 boys and girls answered the summons.

"The point is that these boys and girls are doing just as patriotic a work as the men and women in the army and the men and women in the factories," Rossman said.

Rossman also said that a flying squadron of volunteers was sent to a farm to husk corn which had been left standing in a field since last winter. The farmer simply was unable to get the corn husked, and he wanted to plow his field for planting this year.

Most of the boys (and a few girls) who are enlisting in the Victory Farm Volunteers are boys with patriotic motives. Others are those who wish to get away from city environment and into the country. Others are boys and girls whose home life has been threatened because of both parents working.

Mr. Rossman admitted that his organization also had been able to do some social service work in the rehabilitation of some boys through placements on farms, but he said that this was incidental to the main program which is growing and reaping food for next winter.

Like everyone else connected with the food program, Rossman said that if we don't grow the food and harvest it this summer, we are not going to eat next winter.

Carvel Bentley is chairman of the Plymouth committee in charge of the Victory Farm Volunteers. Farmers wishing help should apply to him or to Mr. Rossman at the county agent's office in Wayne. Boys and girls wishing to enlist in the organization should also contact either of them.

Union Services Open On Sunday

Announce Dates Of Combined Services

The summer program of union services of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches will begin next Sunday, July 4, and continue until September 5. The church school will be held in each church at 10 o'clock and the union worship hour will be held in the Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock from July 4 until August 1 with the Methodist choir under the direction of Mrs. O'Conner singing and Rev. Leonard Sanders preaching. From August 8 to September 5 the union worship service will be held in the Methodist church with the Presbyterian choir singing under the direction of Mrs. Blankenhagen. Rev. Sanders will preach August 8 and 15 and Rev. Walch, the new Presbyterian minister, will preach August 22, 29 and September 5. You are cordially invited to attend.

One Sided Defects Mark Ball Games

Official Proceedings of the Plymouth City Commission

June 21, 1943

A regular meeting of the City Commission was held in the City Hall on Monday, June 21, 1943 at 7:30 p.m.

Present: Mayor Shear, Commissioners Corbett, Hondorp, Lewis and Whipple.

Absent: None.

The minutes of the meeting of June 7, 1943 were approved as read.

It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Commissioner Lewis that the bills in the amount of $4,119.93 as audited by the auditing committee be approved.

Ayes: Mayor Shear, Comm. Corbett, Hondorp, Lewis and Whipple.

Nays: None.

A request from the Cooperative Societies of Free Methodists, Nazarene Church and other churches to use Kellogg Park from 8 o'clock to 9 o'clock Saturday evenings was made by F. S. Highfield. It was moved by Comm. Corbett and supported by Comm. Whipple that the request be granted. Carried.

It was moved by Comm. Hondorp and supported by Comm. Whipple that the City Manager be requested to have the Police Department look into the matter of a disturbance at 1078 South Main Street. Carried.

A request was again presented to the Commission asking that Maple Avenue west of South Harvey be changed to Maple Lane and that Maple street not be cut through from South Main to South Harvey. It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Commissioner Hondorp that the matter be referred to the Planning Commission for their recommendations. Carried.

Dunn Steel Products requested that the City close Blanche street between the P.M.R.R. and Amelia. It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Commissioner Hondorp that the matter be referred to the Planning Commission for their recommendation.

The City Clerk read the following Amendment of the Dog Ordinance:

ORDINANCE NO. 115
Amendment to ordinance No. 95 as amended by ordinance No. 97 known as the Dog Ordinance.

The City of Plymouth Ordains section one:

That section seven of ordinance No. 95 as amended by ordinance No. 97 known as the Dog Ordinance, passed by the City Commission on the 4th day of September 1934 and amended on the 3rd day of December 1934 shall read as follows:

No person owning, possessing, or harboring any dog shall permit the same to run at large without a substantial collar of leather, or other durable material to which shall be securely attached the license tag above required. Provided that during the months of June, July, August, and September of each year, no such person shall permit any dog in any streets, alleys, commons, or other open or public spaces of the City, unless the dog is securely held, by leash.

Section two:

This ordinance is ordered to take effect on the ... day of ... 1943.

It was moved by Comm. Hondorp and supported by Comm. Corbett that the ordinance be passed its first reading.

Ayes: Mayor Shear, Comm. Corbett, Hondorp, Lewis and Whipple.

Nays: None.

It was moved by Comm. Whipple and supported by Comm. Corbett that the ordinance as No. 115 be passed its second reading by title only.

Communication was received from Miss Hildur Carlson stating that it was necessary for her to resign from the Planning Commission. It was moved by Comm. Hondorp and supported by Comm. Whipple that the resignation of Miss Hildur Carlson be accepted with regrets. Mayor Shear then appointed Ezra Rotnour to fill the uncompleted term of Miss Hildur Carlson. It was moved by Comm. Salt Nuts in Oven

The oven roasting method of salting nuts is more economical of fat than the pan-frying method. After the skins of peanuts and almonds are removed, put the nuts into a cake or pie pan with just enough melted sweet-flavored fat to coat them and roast at 300 degrees F. for about 8 to 10 minutes, or until the nuts are cooked thoroughly and lightly browned. Drain on absorbent paper and salt while still warm. Scalding almonds makes the skins slip easily.

Boy Plays With Lion

The seven-year-old son of Superintendent M. Flood of the Dublin zoo has made a pal of a year-old lion, which was born during a blitz in the Empire theater, in Leeds, England. So attached has the animal become to the boy that he is the only person it will allow near it. Daily the boy romps with it on the lawn of the Dublin Zoological gardens, the pair rolling about playfully on the grass. The fun over, the lion meekly follows the boy back to its cage.

Build Liberty Ships

Seventeen great shipyards are now devoted exclusively to the construction of Liberty ships. Each yard, according to the National Council of American Shipbuilders, was laid out and especially designed for Liberty Ship construction—thus making possible a record-breaking production of merchant shipping.

As Long As Battleship

American shipyards are currently building ore ships for service on the Great Lakes capable of carrying 10,000 tons of iron ore at a trip. Last year ore ships carried 90,000,000 tons of essential ore. The newest ships are nearly as long as the most modern battleship.

Growers Buy Bonds

Members of the Colorado Wool Growers association, numbering about 3,500, have pledged themselves to invest 10 per cent of their gross income from 1,500,000 sheep in war bonds, it has been announced by Mike Noonan, past president of the organization.

Use Remnants

Make an attractive multi-colored sweater out of the remnants of two or more old or outworn knitted garments. Before taking the cast-offs apart, wash them in soap and lukewarm water. The wool will be easier and pleasanter to handle.

Double Up

Hotbeds in these times are not always places to start plants. Housing conditions in some towns are so bad that beds are rented on an eight-hour plan. The occupant of the bed gives way to another renter at the end of his shift.

Salt Lake City's anti-smoke ordinance, stringently enforced during the last year, has cut in half the density of the smoke pall that used to hang over the city, whose surrounding mountains make a natural smoke harbor.

Ice In Life Belts

Standard equipment on most ships of the United Nations are inflated life belts—inflated with carbon dioxide gas. This is the same gas that carbonates beverages and it is known in its solid form as "dry ice."

Sources of Vitamin C

Citrus fruits and tomatoes are important sources of vitamin C. Other sources are kale, cabbage, spinach and other green vegetables, and white and sweet potatoes baked or boiled in their jackets.

Clean Seeds

Failure to clean and treat farm seeds before planting time is responsible for most of the bad weed infestations that cut down yields on thousands of acres of farming land.

Raspberries for Bottling

One hundred raspberry plants might normally be expected to produce upwards of 100 quarts of fruit a year.

The dome of San Francisco's city hall is 16 feet higher than that on the national Capitol.

Dye From Root Fiber

Strong yellow dye is prepared from the root fibers of the tumeric plant.

"See the wonderful parade!" And there will be one even more thrilling when our husbands, fathers, sons, sweethearts and brothers march home victorious!

What a great day this is; July 4th, 1943. One hundred and sixty-seven years after that first historic July 4th, 1776, when this nation was born out of blood, sweat and tears, in liberty's name. And as our flag's colors symbolize the courage, purity, and love of freedom which served to found this nation . . . as our Liberty Bell was moulded to ring out victoriously when freedom was won . . . these things remain unchanged in significance and worth. These things are still "our all"—worth living for, worth fighting for; and if need be, worth dying for. That is why as we watch the parade this 4th of July there must be a prayer in our hearts for that parade to be viewed on some as yet unknown date—when the warriors of '42 and '43 like the winter soldiers of '76—have won the war, which will secure the peace, which will give to the peoples of the world to come, that birthright which we have wanted for our own children, since the first settlers put foot on this dear land's shore . . . Little can those who are small boys and girls today, know of the significance of the marching feet . . . the flying flag . . . the blaring bands . . . which to them make a parade a thrilling thing of color and sound. It is for us, their elders, to impress in their hearts from this day forward the fact that we fight to give to them a brave, new world to carry on.

MISCELLANEOUS

IN MEMORIAM
Memories of my dear wife, Matilda M. Smith, who died July 4, 1942. When I learned that she was dead, Was she conscious of the tears I shed? Perhaps she kissed me. Thought an angel kiss. Perhaps a tear in souls can weep in bliss. I heard the bells toll on her burial day. I wept a last adieu. May I but meet her on that peaceful shore. —Husband, Richard S. Smith.

A Ducky Truck

The U. S. army's new 21-ton amphibian truck is shown being loaded at New Caledonia. It has been nicknamed the "Duck." When loaded it waddles ashore and then rolls inland to wherever the supplies are needed. It eliminates bottlenecks in landing supplies to forces attacking enemy-held shores.

Weddings

WOOD-KREEGER

The chapel at the Victorville Army Air Base in Victorville, California, was the scene of a pretty wedding on June 17 when Juanita Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wood of Plymouth, became the bride of Lt. Elmer W. Kreeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kreeger of Plymouth.

Rev. Gunther of the San Bernardino Lutheran church read the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white peonies, snapdragons and white waltz flowers. A large graduated candelabra organ music was played throughout the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was prettily attired in a gown of imported marquisette designed with fitted bodice and graduated full skirt. Inserts of lace started at the sweetheart neckline and continued in rows to the bottom of the skirt which touched the floor. Her fingertip illusion veil was held in place by a tiara made of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls—a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bridal bouquet of orchids surrounded with white roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Don Keister of Philadelphia acted as maid of honor. She was attired in a gown of pastel blue taffeta with a headdress of illusion veiling to match. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses.

Lt. Kreeger was attended by Lt. Keister of Victorville, a fellow officer at the air base.

The out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wood of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. William Kreeger, of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Wood, of Los Angeles, California. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Los Angeles and then to Carlsbad, New Mexico where Lt. Kreeger has taken up his new duties.

U. of M. Naval Tank Joins Navy

The University of Michigan naval tank will be used in the instruction of Navy officers assigned to the Postgraduate School of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering which is being transferred from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., to Ann Arbor this month. Part of the naval tank equipment is shown in the picture above. Lieutenant Commander Louis A. Baier, USNR, associate professor of naval architecture and marine engineering at the University, is at the instrument board on the car which draws model hulls through the water of the tank for a variety of tests. A model hull in testing position is shown in the lower center of the picture.

State's Interest in Water Transport Helps Bring Naval Trainees to U-M

ANN ARBOR—Even though its campus is located hundreds of miles from the sea, it is not strange that the University of Michigan has been selected by the U. S. Navy as an important naval training center.

When nearly 1,400 Navy and Marine Corps officers and reservists come to the Michigan campus late in June and early in July, they will find an institution with a long history of interest in naval matters and a tradition for teaching and research in naval architecture and marine engineering.

This is not hard to understand when one realizes, as few people do, that although Michigan is best known in the transportation world because of its automobile industry, it is also one of the world's great centers of water transport.

Nearly 2,300 miles of the State's boundaries are washed by the Great Lakes and their navigable connecting waters, giving it one of the longest coastlines in the United States. Michigan also boasts of having the two busiest waterways in the world, the Detroit and the St. Mary's rivers. The Detroit River alone carries five times the normal foreign tonnage of New York harbor and a total tonnage greater than the combined tonnage of Hamburg, Liverpool and London before the present war.

Thus, Michigan has a natural interest in water, as well as land, transportation, and its University has developed as an important center for teaching and research in the field. For more than 40 years, it has maintained a strong department of naval architecture and marine engineering and one of the very few large experimental model testing basins in the country.

These facilities were an important factor in the assignment of Naval personnel to the University of Michigan for training. Included in the Navy contingent assigned to Michigan are 80 officers in the Postgraduate School of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering, which is being transferred from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., to Ann Arbor, and more than 1,300 advanced engineers, basic trainees, Naval R.O.T.C. students, and pre-medical students in the Navy College Training Program.

Favor Relaxing Firearms Use

Pheasants, Rabbits Causing Much Damage

Echoing a recent statement by H. R. Sayre, chief of the conservation department's field administration division, the convention of the Michigan United Conservation clubs meeting here went on record as favoring relaxing of restrictions on the use of firearms in undeveloped areas within town and city limits as a means of reducing rabbit and pheasant populations now menacing victory gardens. The convention's resolution assumed that such a program would be regulated by permits.

As a result of the vote of the convention, delegates were pledged to urge their own municipalities to lift such restrictions within corporate limits in unsettled, outlying areas where there is no safety hazard in order to eliminate the widespread damage being caused by rabbits and pheasants to victory gardens.

In addition, the Michigan United Conservation clubs was instructed by the convention to make a direct appeal to the Michigan Municipal league to take action on this matter.

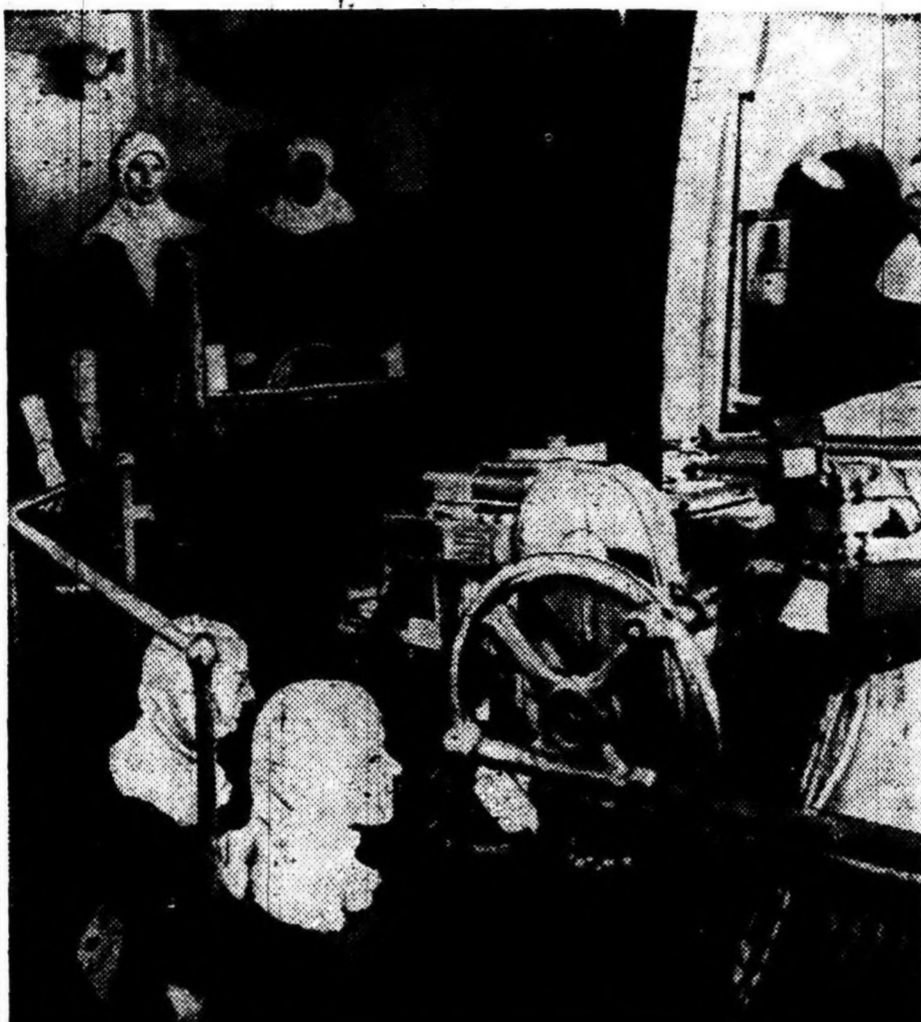

Therefore I (Jesus) say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them.—Mark 11:24.

Conservation Clubs Oppose Bill

Want Sunday Hunting Abolished

The 150 delegates attending the convention of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs here took a square stand on three outstanding issues being debated in Michigan's sportsmen's circles today.

Seconding the action of the conservation commission at its June meeting, the convention went on record as opposing any federal regulation of game and fish on federally owned or controlled properties, such as is contained in the McCarran bill now pending in Congress. The convention directly instructed members to urge their congressmen to oppose the McCarran bill, which would give federal officers this authority.

The convention, which represents a state-wide network of sportsmen's organizations, made clear that it sanctions any action taken by the department of conservation to use ear-marked funds for general conservation purposes. Anticipating the wartime emergency situation that may exist with a reduction in revenue from hunting and fishing license sales, the convention's resolution approved any temporary duration arrangement made to use money for general conservation purposes from the fund made up of the $1.50 from every deer hunting license and the forty cents from every fishing license, which are ear-marked by statutory provision for purchase of game refuges and fish experiment areas.

Reiterating its stand of former year on Sunday hunting restrictions, the convention agreed to back legislation in the coming special session to abolish local Sunday hunting laws. Determined to get action on this matter for which they have been agitating for several years, the convention resolved that in case of failure to get legislative action on the subject, they would resort to a popular referendum to get the matter before the voters.

In an attempt to promote better understanding between sportsmen and farmers, the convention resolved that it would work for a more effective cooperation with the Grange, Farm Bureau, and other farm organizations.

Happiness consists in the attainment of our desires, and in having only right desires.—Augustine.

Over 11,000 Lakes Within Michigan

Says Small Lakes Produce More Fish

Even without counting the overgrown puddles that now dot southern Michigan because of recent excessive rains, the state has 11,037 lakes, twice the number with which it usually is credited, according to C.-J. D. Brown of the conservation department's institute for fisheries research.

Michigan's last published lake directory listed 6,454 "named" lakes, but by careful check of all recently corrected state and county maps, Brown arrived at the 11,37 figure. And he warns against under-rating the smaller bodies of water. "Acre for acre," he says, "they will produce a greater quantity of fish than large lakes." Their wide distribution provides local folk with more fishing than is generally realized, he declares, and he recommends consideration of small lakes in the state's frontage purchase program.

Only two Michigan counties, Sanilac and Saginaw, were found to be entirely without inland lakes. Arenac, Bay, Midland, Huron, St. Clair and Monroe each has less than 10; Emmet, Macomb, Missaukee, Tuscola and Wayne each has less than 25. Seven counties have more than 300 lakes each: Marquette 835, Luce 571, Iron 523, Gogebic 488, Oakland 447, Schoolcraft 340 and Barry 327.

Half of Michigan's lakes are less than 10 acres in surface area, only 19 cover more than 5,000 acres, and the average size for all Michigan lakes is about 66 acres. There are 41 artificial lakes over 200 acres in area, 182 of less than 200 acres. The other 10,814 are natural lakes.

Announcement

In the past, the Hotel Mayflower has served the citizens of Plymouth with Bus information, via telephone.

A recent record of phone calls, indicates that 75 per cent of our switch-board traffic relates to Bus information. Because we are operating with a greatly curtailed organization and inasmuch as each employee has many added duties to perform, we are forced to discontinue this service and devote our entire time to the operation of the hotel.

We suggest that Bus inquiries be directed to the Plymouth Coach Company.

TAKE THE STING OUT OF Rationing WITH HOME-CANNED FOODS and Help Bring VICTORY!

Your ration coupons can't begin to give you all the foods your family has been used to having. But home-canning is one way that will help and aid the war effort, too. This year, of all years, it will be important to put up all possible fruits and vegetables for next fall and winter.

Right now, early berries are coming in—strawberries, cherries, followed by raspberries and blueberries. Plan to home-can as many of these as you are able to buy and prepare.

Your gas range can be of real help... whether you preserve by boiling water bath, pressure cooker or convenient oven canning.

Remember, home-canning will enrich your family diet, save ration coupons, cut down your household food budget, and help win the war. So start soon... with the berries!

Will Teach At Nebraska University

Resignation of Lewis Evans, for 13 years an instructor of science at Plymouth high school, was announced this week by Superintendent George A. Smith.

Mr. Evans will become an instructor of science at the University of Nebraska, and also will instruct a portion of the troops stationed at the University.

Mr. Evans had taught one year at Bronson, Michigan, following his graduation from Western State Teachers' college, before he came to Plymouth.

He was the second director of the high school band, and continued as its director until last year when Clarence Luchtmann took it over.

In the local high school, Mr. Evans taught chemistry and physics and during the past year has taught a pre-flight course to senior students who have ambitions to enter the air corps.

Tells Why Water Looks Roily

But It's Just As Good As Ever

Has the water which flows from the faucets in your home, looked like water dipped from an old rusty tin pail?

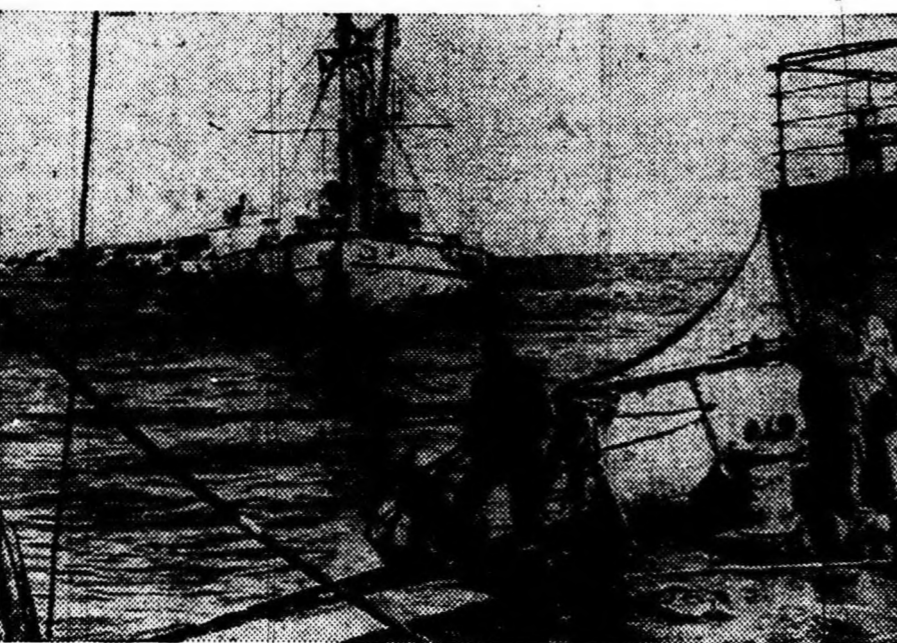

Yes? Well, think nothing of it. City officials say they have started the pump going on one of the deep wells out at Plymouth's water farm on Beck road that always pumps rusty looking water.

"We only use this well when the demand for water is great. During the hot days of the past week or so, there has been a heavy demand on our water supply and all of the wells at the water farm were started going," explained a city official.

"That included the one well, which is only some 200 feet from our other wells, which always pumps iron colored water. It is our deepest well, the water vein being down some 97 feet below the surface of the earth. There is lots of iron in it, and it is for that reason that we do not use it only when it is necessary."

"But iron in the water does no damage of any kind. It is not unhealthy, even though it does look bad," said this official.

Break Blockade of Sunken Axis Ships

A British diver ascends from his job of cleaning up the bottom of the harbor of Tripoli. So many Axis ships had been scuttled that the harbor was completely blockaded. But the British navy managed to open a narrow passageway to allow ships to get into and out of the harbor. The Axis had sunk many ships, blown them open on the bottom, and then sunk other ships over the first group.

Will Demonstrate Canning Methods

County Agent To Be Here July 8th

Growing food in a victory garden will provide food for next winter only if it is properly preserved.

For the first time in the lives of a number of Plymouth women, they will attempt this year to preserve for winter use the produce of their gardens.

But preserving such food is not just a matter of putting it into cans, screwing down the caps and placing it on the pantry shelf.

There is considerably more work and skill to it than that.

Miss Emma DuBord, Wayne County Home Demonstration Agent is an expert in preserving foods, and she will be in Plymouth at 9 a.m. on July 8th to give a demonstration of how foods should be preserved.

The demonstration will be held in the domestic science room at the high school.

Miss DuBord will demonstrate all type of preserving food. These types include dehydration, brining, krauting, storing freezing and canning.

Demonstrations here will include both hot water and pressure type of cooking vegetables and fruits. She will demonstrate canning of green beans, peas, beet greens and spinach; and if available will demonstrate the preservation of rhubarb and berries.

Name Brown New Manager

Succeeds Campbell At Pontiac Office

David L. Brown is the new division manager of the Pontiac division of Consumers Power company, having been named to succeed the late Birum G. Campbell. It is his job to supervise the company's operations in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties. Mr. Brown's first contact with the utility business was as a construction foreman on gas plants and distribution systems in Texas, 31 years ago. Later he was superintendent of production for the Corpus Christi Gas company, Corpus Christi, Texas, and for the last 26 years he has been superintendent of gas distribution for Consumers Power company's Pontiac division, where he has a host of friends throughout the territory.

Mr. Brown was born in Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan. He and his wife, formerly Sadie Ballas Cherryhomes, of Lawton, Oklahoma, live at 231 Cherokee road, Pontiac, Michigan. They have two sons, John D. Brown, First Lieutenant in the army, stationed at Fomona, California, and Frank Jerry Brown, a student at the University of Michigan.

Mr. Brown is a past president of the Pontiac Kiwanis club and a former director of the Chamber of Commerce. He has served as a director of the Y. M. C. A. and of the Boy Scouts. He has been active in the affairs of the Michigan Gas association and the American Gas association.

Main Street Ruts Are Repaired

City workmen have poured the final concrete in the rehabilitation program for Main street.

The concrete smooths off the ruts left when old street car tracks were removed. Concrete was poured into the ruts last winter but heavy rains and freezing prevented its drying, with the result that traffic kicked out most of the concrete poured originally. These ruts have now been repaired.

Children Are Using Summer Playgrounds

More than twice as many children under 15 years of age are taking advantage of the Plymouth recreational program this year as compared with last year.

That was the statement this week of recreational director Anthony Matulis based on the first week of the program.

Matulis said that 525 persons were registered at all playgrounds for the program this year. He said there were 5,200 play hours utilized on the nine playgrounds.

Matulis also announced that there would be no swimming sponsored by the recreation program this year. He said that all efforts to obtain adequate transportation to the Rouge Park pool had failed.

The recreation commission is now planning a program of adult nights at the various parks and playgrounds.

Tournaments at the playgrounds including checkers, shuffle board and croquet already have been started.

Anything with a motor needs oil to keep it running smoothly, whether it be a tank, a plane, a jeep or a household electric appliance.* Your faithful electric servants must last for the duration. *Inspired by scene from 20th Century Fox Motion Picture "BOMBERS MOON"

The Ugly Shadow of Fascism . . . Shall Never Darken Our Liberty

YOU have seen the long procession of fleeing people in the wake of enemy's bombs and pillage in other lands. You have seen the debris of churches once built in devotion to God; the shattered remains of hospitals, schools; and countless homes made a shambles by the visitation of the enemy.

You have read the figures on the number of civilian lives taken in cold-blooded murder since this war began on Europe's soil. That is the way of the enemy.

But so long as the love of Freedom burns brightly in our hearts, we the people will be Victorious. So long as that spirit lives which gave birth to this nation in '76, we will win through, until the ringing of the Liberty Bell can be heard around a world freed of the evil we are now pledged to fight to the death! The Nazi theory of "racial superiority" has already shown itself a fraud. The Jap's rising sun now sets as it crashes to earth painted on planes in flame; flutters from sinking ships, and is dragged in the dust by vanquished troops. Fascist greed fast turns upon and consumes its progenitors!

Fight on, America—in the spirit of '76! And on this Fourth of July, let us rededicate ourselves to riding the earth of tyranny, that it may soon resound with bells ringing and voices singing out to proclaim hard-won liberty for all!

The fourth which commemorates the independence of these United States is a fitting day on which to reevaluate the Four Freedoms for which we fight! Let us remember that in essence true Americans fought for those same freedoms in the dire 1770's—and that they are the sum total of all that makes life worthwhile. To truly honor our forefathers who fought for liberty—let us give every support to those who today fight to encircle the world with the glory of the Four Freedoms, that every man, woman and child may henceforth live in peace and security.

This is the Fourth of July: anniversary of the fulfillment of this nation's independence. This nation, dedicated from its first cry of life, to liberty! It is impossible for us to observe that date, this year, without realizing how we once again are embattled in the same cause—now on a global scale, that all the men, women and children of the world might henceforth also live free to worship and speak as they see fit . . . free from fear . . . free from want. We who work and fight under the stars and stripes have by our side, under their own brave banners, those other United Nations with whom we proclaim: "United We Are Strong, United We Will Win." And as the Fourth of July signals the independence of these United States, may some future date signal the independence of mankind everywhere, freed from the despotism of the enemy.

France's Future in Their Hands

Gen. Henri Giraud and Gen. Charles DeGaulle, leaders of two French factions trying to unite in a fight against the Axis, are pictured shortly after DeGaulle arrived for a consultation. Seemingly, all that stood between the union of the two groups was DeGaulle's demand that he be given a high post in Giraud's North African government.

Study Plans To Secure Additional Parking Space

Several Suggestions Being Considered By Authorities

Additional parking facilities for the city of Plymouth are under consideration by the City Planning commission, it was learned authoritatively this week.

A number of suggestions have been placed before the commission, but it was stated that none of them has been considered good enough on which to base definite recommendations to the city commission.

Among the suggestions which have been offered is purchase of the property now occupied by the junk yard on Fralick avenue and creation of that area into parking facilities.

However, it was learned that objections have been raised to this plan because it is not believed that it will offer sufficient facilities to solve the parking problem in the city.

One investigator of the parking problem pointed out that one of the causes of the present inadequate facilities of parking is the use made of them by downtown workers who drive to their place of employment and then remain parked in the same spot all day.

This takes away parking facilities for shoppers. This applies both to street parking and to parking in the parking lot now provided behind the stores which line Main street and Penniman avenue.

One solution to the problem was that the now unused area

Gives Way To Check Cookers

State College Offers To Help

Pressure cooker gauges removed from the cooker top and sent to W. H. Sheldon, agricultural engineering department, Michigan State college, East Lansing, Michigan with 25 cents coin or stamps attached, will be tested and returned in about four or five days. Gauges should be cleaned well with damp cloth but never immersed in water. When wrapping for shipping, the gauge should be protected with corrugated paper or cotton batting as carefully as though it were a watch. Print return address clearly on both sides of the package and on a card to be enclosed inside. If it is impossible to remove gauge the entire top may be sent increasing the 25-cent fee to cover additional postage.

Ice Cream
 IS NUTRITIOUS

Giving you the food values of milk, ice cream is a satisfying food as well as a palate tempting goodie!

Let your family enjoy it every day — there are so many ways to serve it!

Or enjoy it at our fountain, in soda, sundae, plain, or combined with sherbet.

Ice cream is a precious food these days—because we can make less of it. We suggest for your hearty summer appetite for cold treats, that you enjoy half and half, ice cream and sherbet; or make small portions of ice cream go further by combining with cake, nuts, canned or fresh fruits or berries.

New President Of Rotary Club

Garnett Baker Assumes Duties

Garnett Baker assumed the presidency of the Plymouth Rotary club last Friday noon, succeeding A. Blake Gillies, who has served for the past year. Mr. Baker will at the next meeting of the club announce his committees for the ensuing year.

Retiring President Gillies expressed his appreciation to members of the club for their splendid cooperation during the past year. In spite of the war and in spite of general conditions, the club has shown steady progress, with a larger membership than it had a year ago.

Mr. Baker, the new president, is general manager of the Plymouth Tube company and for many years has been one of the most active members of the club.

Auto Need Any Service?

Then Get Date To Have It Fixed

The situation being what it is, ladies and gentlemen, it might be a good idea to contact the people who give you service and make them your friend.

Time was when there were so many beauty shops that the beauticians cut prices to get business. Now there are so few that the women brag about how they could get a shampoo and a finger wave with only three days waiting.

And boys, don't tell anybody, but most any automobile owner can tell you that he knows the butler of Joe Doakes, who has a drag with the owner of what used to be an automobile sales room, and if the owner talks nice enough to the mechanic, he'll slip you in within a week to get your exhaust pipe adjusted.

Actually, gentlemen, the mechanics in Plymouth are dating the work they do on your car. If you haven't experienced the sensation of having your water pump go bad, and nowhere to get it fixed, brother, you've got a thrill coming.

And one woman said to another woman the other day that she had wangled a permanent from her beautician with a hint that she had the most lovely orchids which might be available most any time.

Time was when the only dates a person made were with the dentist, but such dates now are almost impossible. One dentist reported bookings six weeks in advance.

It is all blamable, of course, on the shortage of help. Beauty operators, even with increased prices, found they could make more money in the war plants. The mechanics themselves went to war with only the older hands still on the job. Approximately half of the dentists of the country also have been called into service, although Plymouth has not been hit that hard.

List New Books At City Library

Mrs. Ada Murray, public librarian has announced that the following new books have been received at the Plymouth library for immediate distribution:

"Harvey Girls," S. H. Adams; "Eddie and the Archangel Mike," Barry Benefield; "Experiment Perilous," Margaret Carpenter; "Mama's Bank Account," Kathryn Forbes; "Tomorrow Fair," Winifred Halsted; "Outlaw Island," Alec Hilliard; "The Whole Heart," Helen Howe; "Satan Has Six Fingers," Vera Kelsey; "Bells for the Dead," K. THE OLD JUDGE SAYS . . .

"The more I read about it, Judge, the more I realize the tactics and requirements of this war are as different from the one I fought in 25 years ago as night is from day."

"Yes, and I can give you an example of how true that is, Fred. In World War I the chief uses of alcohol produced for war purposes were found in smokeless powder, medical supplies and chemical warfare materials. In this war the need for this product is far more vital because it is also used as a fuel to propel torpedoes, to make shatterproof glass for airplane windshields and instrument covers, to make lacquers used in camouflaging equipment and as a base for synthetic rubber needed for tires, gas masks, paratroop equipment and dozens of other things."

"Every time I think of it, Fred, I realize how fortunate we were in having a beverage distilling industry in existence when war broke out... ready and willing to convert 100% to the production of this critically needed war product. I'm mighty sure bootleggers wouldn't have."

News of Our Boys In Uncle Sam's Fighting Forces Defending Our Homeland and Our Liberties.

SPENDS TIME DOING DEEP SEA FISHING DOWN IN GULF OF MEXICO

How'd you like to be paid for spending your days, weeks and months enjoying deep sea fishing down in the Gulf of Mexico?

Well, that's just what George Ostrowski, former Mayflower hotel employee, who enlisted in the coast guards some two years ago, is now doing.

PLYMOUTH MAIL HELPS TO EASE BOOT TRAINING.

The boot training is tough, but when you have the staff of The Plymouth Mail backing you up to make it as easy as you can for you and to keep you posted on what's doing back home, I tell you that it eases up our hard work a whole lot when we can read all about our pals and what they are doing and where they are located," wrote Harold Young, a Plymouth lad who is right now taking his boot training at the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes.

"I'd like to have you tell some of the fellows to look me up in Camp Porter, 717. I'd like to talk over some of the old times at Plymouth high.

"I think the column 'News of Our Boys' is one of the sweetest ideas I have ever seen in any paper. But it takes Plymouth to do things."

IT'S LIEUTENANT ROBERT EVERSON FROM NOW ON.

Information has been sent to The Mail from the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia, which advises that Robert Floyd Everson, son of Mrs. William Krakau, now a resident of Tama, Iowa, has been commissioned a lieutenant. He held the rank of corporal before being commissioned.

HAS BEEN TRAINING ON THE WOLVERINE

According to a letter received from Ed Mulry, a Plymouth lad who entered the services of Uncle Sam's navy, he has had the good fortune to serve a portion of his training period on the Wolverine, now sailing the Great Lakes.

HIS "PAL" KILLED IN AFRICA, ANXIOUS TO TAKE HIS PLACE.

William Clark, better known to his host of Plymouth friends as just plain "Bill" Clark, writes that he is anxious to enter combat service so that he can help avenge the death of "Don Passage, one of my best pals who was killed in Africa."

"I want to do what he started out to do—to give our enemies a royal licking and help settle this thing for all time," wrote "Bill" to "Our Boys" column this week.

"Here I am down in Texas after a wonderful stay in Denver, Colorado. We are stationed just a few miles from old Mexico and it's only a short drive to the Gulf of Mexico. I was transferred to Randolph Field, then to Big Springs and now I am down here just across the border line.

"Soon I will be an aircraft armorer. We have no idea of how long we will remain here, but I presume as soon as they need combat armorsers we will be on our way.

GLAD TO BE BACK UP NORTH WHERE IT IS NICE AND COOL.

Maybe folks in Michigan, Ohio and Illinois think it has been hot, but here is a letter from Pfc. William Wernett, who has been stationed in Florida and who has recently been transferred to Illinois, in which he declares he is glad to be "up north where it is nice and cool."

He says in part: "I wish to express to you my appreciation for sending The Mail. When I was in Florida, it came every Monday morning just as regular as clock work. All the boys in my tent liked to read it. There was one lad from Dearborn and he especially liked it because he knew quite a few of the Plymouth boys mentioned now and then. He had played football in the Dearborn high school team against them.

"When I arrived at Chanute Field I met a fellow who used to be in Plymouth. We had quite a talk about some of the old grads and where they are now stationed. I let him take my last copy of The Mail and he read it from cover to cover, including the want ads and everything that was in it.

"After spending my two months of basic training in Florida, I really enjoyed being sent up north again. But I feel I was lucky in being able to take my basic training down where we didn't have to wear heavy clothing.

"I will be starting an eight-week teletype course next Tuesday. After that it may be another school somewhere else. Give my regards to all of my old friends in Plymouth and I hope The Mail follows me wherever I go."

CHARLES BARTON IS AVIATION CADET

Charles Kenneth Barton, son of John L. Barton of 14001 Beck road, Plymouth, is now enrolled as an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces Pre-Flight school for pilots at Maxwell Field, located on the outskirts of Montgomery, the capital of Alabama.

Here the new class of cadets is receiving nine weeks of intensive military, physical and academic training preparatory to beginning their actual flight instruction at one of the many primary flying schools in the Army Air Forces Southeast Training Center.

Cadet Barton was a student of chemical engineering at the University of Detroit when he was accepted as an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces, June 1, 1943, at Maxwell Field, Alabama. He began his pre-flight course on June 3.

ENOLA LAURAIN JOINS THE WAVES

Enola M. Laurain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Laurain, 739 Maple street, enlisted in the Women's Reserve of the Navy this week and will soon go through recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training school, Bronx, New York.

Upon completion of the recruit or boot training the new WAVES are sent to Naval shore stations for active duty or else they are sent to one of the many WAVES schools located at leading universities, naval hospitals, and air bases for specialized training.

JAMES BUIE JOINS HARD-HITTING OUTFIT

Among the thousands of selectees now entering the armed forces, is James H. Buie, 12810 Ferriam road, who has entered the Armored Force Replacement Training Center for their basic training in the newest and hardest-hitting branch of the army at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

The men will be put on a 12-week training program which has been systematically laid out into two six-week periods. These special courses include: light tank, medium tank, scouting and patrolling, mortar, anti-tank, machine gun, assault gun, and reconnaissance. The training center has expanded rapidly, and now boasts eight training battalions under the direct supervision of Major General Charles L. Scott. From this training center are formed the many Armored Divisions which make up this fastest-moving land force of the Army.

HAROLD GRANGER LIKES HOME NEWS

Harold Granger, aviation cadet, located at Ellington Field, Texas, writes that the field where he is located is an immense one. Harold says in part:

"I've been planning on writing to you for a long time, but I've been so busy for the past few months that I haven't had the time. So I will take the opportunity of thanking you for sending The Plymouth Mail regularly to me. It really means a lot to me to be able to read about what is going on in Plymouth and where all the fellows in the service are located.

"I am now here at Ellington Field, Texas, the largest twin-engine advanced school in the country. This is where the pilots who will later fly the light, medium, and heavy bombers, get their training in handling more than one motor.

A POETIC TRIBUTE TO FIGHTING MEN

Miss Merinda Pierson, for many years a resident of Plymouth, long employed in the offices of the Pere Marquette railway in Detroit, has sent to "Our Boys" page the following splendid poetic tribute to Plymouth boys wearing the military uniforms of the nation:

Tho from us you are away We miss you more than we say. Yes, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder," And your good deeds we now ponder.

This little rhyme, our way of saying We love you, salute you, praying God keep you in His loving care. For us a righteous peace to share.

Keep high your courage and your faith. This heroic sacrifice you make That the stars and stripes be unfurled to Plymouth boys To a better and a nobler world.

We are keeping "the Home Fires Burning" And for your speedy return are yearning As on our coin and hearts inscribed "In God We Trust" be your Guide.

AMERICA IS FIGHTING LORD'S BATTLE, WRITES PVT. NORMAN PEARSALL.

A deeply religious soldier, Norman Pearsall, writing from an army camp near Memphis, Tennessee where he has been stationed for sometime, points out that this war is a war for religion and righteousness.

"There came a voice out of the cloud, This is my beloved Son" (Mark 9:2)

"I realize now more than ever the glory of our Lord. I have had lots of time to think things over. Here I am, just waiting, waiting, not knowing when or where I'll be going. Perhaps Alaska or even darkest Africa. This is quite a test for me but it is just what I need. It makes me think of that great test in Jesus, life. I have been thinking about that a lot.

I can picture Jesus and His friends after they had sung their hymn and perhaps passed over the brook. Out there in the garden it seemed as though the world was at peace. The enemy did not threaten them then. Perhaps the soldiers were in their barracks and Pilate asleep. The high priest was busy elsewhere. It was time to rest. Not one of them was ready for trouble except Jesus. What a different light this throws upon Him. Usually He seems so perfect to us, so utterly competent. In the garden

They are issued in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500, and $1,000 (maturity value). Q. How may I keep Stamps while I am accumulating them? A. An album is given free upon request with the first Stamp you buy. Spaces are provided for mounting the Stamps. Q. Is it permissible to name both coowner and a beneficiary on a War Savings Bond? A. No. Either a coowner or a beneficiary may be named, but not both. Q. When a woman who owns Bonds gets married, should she have the Bonds reinsued in her married name? A. The Bonds will be so reinsued, if she desires. It is not necessary, however.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, up to 10 years, the more valuable they become.

We catch a glimpse of the struggle that even He went through. Jesus could have gone 'over the hill'—A.W.O.L.—instead, could there have been peace and salvation for us? Jesus was ready when the test came. He was prayed up. Let us be prayed up also. Remember His disciples? They were not prepared. The testing time came and they were caught. Too many of us have been resting, and it is time to wake up. To prepare, we can't wait until the guns are going and the flak is bursting overhead, that's no time to get ready. We can't wait until America is bombed and little children and mothers are bleeding in our own streets. Far fetched?—Not on your life. America has got to turn to God and right now. If people would only wake up and get on their knees.

WATCHERS OF THE SKY Night and day, at lonely outposts in northern Michigan, thousands of air spotters voluntarily undergo hardship and loss of sleep to protect our industrial areas from bombing raids. They rarely get into the headlines. Often they watch patiently through the hours without seeing or hearing a plane. But the duty they so faithfully perform is vital. In case of air attack it will be their trained eyes and ears that detect the approach of Axis bombers. A telephone stands ready in every spotter's post. With the words "Army Flash" the spotter gets an immediate connection with the nearest army information center. And if the aircraft he reports cannot be identified as friendly, fighter planes roar into the air at once to intercept the enemy. At the same time all Civilian Defense centers in the threatened area are warned by telephone to prepare for a raid. Citizens of Michigan who sleep soundly in their beds at home owe a debt of gratitude to the Aircraft Warning Service. MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

NOT HOPELESS.

We presume the chief worry among leading nudealers about the passage of the anti-strike bill by congress over the President's veto is due to the slush fund collection for the next campaign. It seems that there was written into the law a provision which prevents labor unions from using any portion of the many millions taken out of the pockets of workers for campaign contributions to candidates on the national ticket, or to their respective party committees.

The nudealers have a right to worry, especially when contributions of half million dollars can't be picked off the plum trees in the future as they have been in the past.

We regard this provision as about the most beneficial part of the anti-strike bill. While it does not prevent vast contributions to state and county tickets, it does put a halter on direct contributions to the national ticket, like the one that John Lewis made to Franklin D. when the two were traveling the same political highway. Of course this money didn't belong to John Lewis. It was money taken by legal extortion from men who are forced to work and work hard for a living. But what difference does that make to a nudealer, just so long as he can accomplish his vicious purposes?

WHY?

As we looked at the pictures in the newspapers of the hundreds of hoodlums taking part in the recent Detroit riots, we were amazed at the number of young fellows who appeared to be within the draft age and were not in the armed forces. It would be interesting to know how many of them have not been inducted because of occupational deferments or because of dependency claims. Maybe they are so rotten mentally and physically that the army doesn't want to have anything to do with them. There possibly is some excuse for a colored person to be incited to riotous conduct, because of the unfortunate conditions under which many of them live, but there is not the slightest excuse for a white person to become so involved.

THE PUBLIC IDEA.

Amazing as it may seem, the general public opinion one encounters up and down main streets, seems to be that the whole fight over wages for the miners is strictly a personal row between President Roosevelt and his one-time political buddy, John Lewis. In talking with the average citizen about the coal strike, invariably the assertion will be made that it's all politics, that if it weren't for politics the whole mess would have been cleaned up long ago. And it appears that there might be something to this general public view. And another thing about it, there seems to be a general impression that this wage request is a lot more justified than many that have been granted to politically favored groups during the past couple of years.

Canada's Unsung Heroes Round Up Mines

Among the unsung heroes of the war list the mine killers of the Royal Canadian navy. An offshoot of England's famous mine disposal squad, these men who flirt with death pick this job voluntarily and receive no "extras." Their job is to round up mines and render them harmless. The gentleman at the left who is "roughing up" a floating mine with an ice pick is Lieut. George Rundle, instructor at a Canadian port. After roughing, the mine is set afire with gasoline-soaked rags and blown up. Right: Lieutenant Rundle, with assistant Harold Simpson, tows a mine towards shore after Rundle had removed the horns that actuate the detonator.

Babson Says --

Rationing Is A War Time Necessity

Babson Park, Mass., July 2.—When rationing and price-fixing were introduced, they were the primary topics of discussion. Human nature being what it is, almost everyone's first thought was for himself. War, however, makes a person take for granted what in normal times he could not even imagine, and today points, stamps and price-ceilings seem almost natural. But complaints and misunderstandings are still evident. Today I wish to defend and explain the need for rationing and price-fixing.

We can never lose sight of the fact that we are engaged in a war. Our first concern is to win. Keeping our manpower at peak efficiency is necessary. Our fighting men must have first choice of all necessities. The government sees that our soldiers get the best of everything. What is left goes to the civilian population. There is enough, but its fair distribution cannot be left to chance.

Civilian manpower must back up fighting manpower. Therefore, the war workers on the home front, and those with less important jobs, must have their share of vital commodities. If this division were left to the individual, there would be too many selfish and thoughtless people who would first see that they get everything they could possibly need. Consequently, a plan to divide all scarce items on the basis of fairness and need has been devised. This is rationing. Rationing distributes available supplies to all, not just to those who can pay high prices for scarce goods. An example of this is the shoe situation. Heavy supplies are needed for the armed forces. When they are taken care of, little remains for civilians. Without rationing, the well-to-do would rush to buy more than they needed, leaving little for others. Under rationing, however, everyone is given the same opportunity to obtain shoes. This is the democratic way.

Some people, however, refuse to abide by the rules. Others take advantage of this fact to operate black markets. These make scarcities worse and create new scarcities where none existed before. An example is the meat situation. Supplies are cut down, thus hurting soldiers and honest civilians. Livestock, often slaughtered under unsanitary conditions, may be unhealthy. Our soldiers are deprived of such medical supplies as surgical sutures, adrenalin, and insulin; also gelatin, hides and fats. If everyone would cooperate, none would lose out.

Before defending price-fixing, I wish to discuss some economic rules connected with prices, production and inflation. I say "rules," but there are so many modifying factors that they do not always work out. Under normal economic conditions, production and the amount of money in circulation are kept in balance through prices. If there is an increase in money because of high wages or greater employment, there will be more money than products. People will bid for these products and this will cause prices to rise. If this continues, there is inflation.

In normal times, however, these higher prices will cause increased production because of the greater opportunity for profits. As more products appear on the market, prices decline. Production and prices will continue at an even level until something occurs to throw them out of balance. It can be seen that one way to head off inflation is to let production rise with prices.

War times are not normal, and economic rules are modified. Production for civilian consumers is secondary to military needs. Many lines are cut out altogether. For instance, automobiles, radios and refrigerators have not been manufactured since our entry into the war. Payrolls, however, are much larger and there is more money than ever in circulation. As previously explained, when money increases, prices, then production, should rise, followed

Closes Retail Flower Store

Will Continue To Serve Wholesale Trade

William Sutherland, manager and owner of the Sutherland Greenhouses, which have been in business in Plymouth since 1910, has announced that the firm has abandoned its retail business for the duration of the war.

Lack of adequate help was given as the reason for the discontinuance of this branch of the business.

The Sutherland Greenhouses were established in 1910 to do a wholesale business. The retail business was added in 1928 and has continued to the present time.

25 Years Ago

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

Emerson Woods of Stark has purchased the Dr. Travis home, owned by Mrs. Kate Allen, on Penniman avenue.

Miss Nellie Huger has secured a government position and will spend the summer in Flint working on food conservation.

The Misses Velda Bogert and Nellie Rooke have resigned their positions in the public schools to teach in St. Clair next year.

The Misses Madeline Bennett, Helen VanDeCar and Ivah Huston attended the play given by the senior girls at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, last Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hondorp pleasantly celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary at their home in north village, Tuesday evening by entertaining friends at a six o'clock dinner. They were presented with several pieces of aluminum from the guests.

The Men's Bible class of the Presbyterian church held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfram. Among the outdoor games, nothing provided more entertainment than the contest between the women present, throwing a baseball over the house. Mrs. Charles Draper won the prize with a one hundred percent record.

On account of increasing demand for beef for our growing army, housekeepers are urged to not buy more than one and one-fourth pounds of clear beef or one and one-half pounds including the bone, per person per week. There is an increased supply of pork in the country, therefore the people are urged to substitute pork, bacon and ham to a certain extent.

The twentieth star will need to be added to the Methodist service flag next week, the latest recruit being Pietro Lomanco, who is to report next Monday, being sent to the barracks at VanCouver. Lomanco is a bright promising young man of Italian birth, but intensely American. He is a member of the church, the Epworth League and the Brotherhood Bible class, and will be greatly missed.

Juveniles Go Into Business

Start Up Car Wash-Sweep Industry

While Dad's away bombing the Luftwaffe, Mother is busy with Red Cross work and other war activities, youthful Cass Hough, better known to his playmates as "Kit," has decided to go into business to help out the home folks.

The other day "ye editor" found a hand printed bill in his automobile—the letters almost perfectly formed with lead pencil on a sheet of tablet paper—advertising the fact that Plymouth now has a new automobile wash industry, taking the place of the half dozen wash-racks that have gone out of business during the past year or so due to the war.

Here's a copy of the hand-made advertising hand bill:

CARS WASHED Price list— Plain car wash $.75 Inside swept only25 Car washed and swept out $1.00 For appointment Call 89

"Ye Editor" followed instructions and phoned 89 to have some February and March mud washed from his car.

"I'd like to have my car washed. Where do you want it?" said the editor to "Kit."

"I'll have to consult my business partner. I'll call him right away and phone you back," said the juvenile businessman, enthusiastic over the prospect of getting a customer so quickly.

"Who is your business partner?" he was asked.

"Why he's Tom Hobson. As soon as I consult him, I'll let you know."

It wasn't many minutes before the hustling "Hough-Hobson Wash-Sweep-Polish Car Service" was giving a couple of Henry Ford's prize products one of the slickest cleanings they had had since leaving the factory some years ago.

Bathing suits took the place of the usual rubber coats and boots formerly worn by expert car washers about town.

"We don't care how wet we get this way. In fact, we can wash cars and take a swim at the same time," commented "Kit" as he dug a dried-up piece of February mud from "ye editor's" Ford.

Arrest Three Boys On Curfew Charge

Two Given Probation—One Sent To Detroit

Three boys were arrested by the police last week during the curfew law which was placed on the county by Governor Harry F. Kelly in order to curb Detroit's race riots.

One of the boys, who was 19 years old, was charged with altering the date of his birth on his draft registration card in order to purchase beer.

The other two boys, both 17 years old, were arrested at 2 a.m., Friday morning and charged with violation of the curfew, which required all citizens to be off the street after 10 p.m.

All three boys are from Northville. Judge J. Rusling Cutler placed the 17-year-olds on probation for six months. The 19-year-old youth was taken to Detroit for trial.

Police Chief Charles Thumme said that there were no violations of the emergency regulations by Plymouth residents. Theatres, and stores all closed in sufficient time for all residents to be off of the streets by 10 p.m.

Blanks For "A" Books Are Now Available

The Plymouth War Price and Rationing Board has completed preparations for issuing the second basic gasoline "A" book, it was learned this week.

Applications for the replacement of the "A" book, which expires on July 21, may be obtained from gasoline filling stations anywhere. This application should be completely filled out according to instructions, with special attention to signing the application at the proper space. The tire record should be included with the application, and the back cover of the old "A" book, signed with the applicant's name and address, should be mailed to the local rationing board. The new book will be mailed to the applicant.
