

School To Ask Deferment For Key Instructors

Three Face Induction Into Army At Early Date

Information that the local draft board has called three Plymouth high school teachers for physical examinations as the first step toward induction into the army, was revealed at the annual meeting of the Plymouth board of education Monday night.

One other teacher, Colvin Cooley, has been re-classified into class IA and his induction into the army is believed imminent. He was registered with a Carolina draft board.

Carvel Bentley, coordinator of apprentice training, Anthony Matulis, director of physical education and Melvin Blunk, instructor in mathematics, all have been called by the Plymouth draft board for their preliminary physical examinations.

The preliminary physical examinations are the first steps toward reclassification.

George A. Smith, superintendent of schools, said after the meeting that he would appeal the reclassification of every teacher who is called into service.

Apparently the reclassification and induction of Cooley has proceeded beyond the point where an appeal would be effective.

However, appeals will be made on the other three men if the local draft board sees fit to reclassify them.

It also is learned that Matulis has applied for a commission in the navy, and already has taken his physical examination.

Mr. Smith issued a statement, in which he said:

"I am at a loss to know why any draft board would deprive a school system of teachers essential to carrying on the war effort.

"For instance, the federal government rightfully asks that senior boys be given advanced mathematical training in order to better fit them for specialized training when they enter the army.

"The federal government further asks that senior boys be given physical conditioning courses in order to have them in the best physical condition when entering the army; that they be given training in radio, auto mechanics and electricity, and that specialized skills such as bakers, radio technicians and automobile mechanics be developed. In the semester just past, our high school was doing everything requested by the federal government, but if four teachers are placed in IA, it will be next to impossible to carry on some of the training which was conducted last year.

"In face of the fact that England drafted essential men from the schools in the early portion of the war, and then later returned many of these same men to these same positions, ought to be sufficient reason for serious consideration by any draft board in determining whether to take essentially key teachers from a school system.

"If and as fast as these teachers are classified in IA, the decision is being appealed to the state in an endeavor to protect the school system."

Walter Harms, chairman of the local draft board, declared he had no statement to make.

Unofficial sources, however, said that they were certain that Harms and the other members of the board had done an unbiased job in the conduct of the draft board. They have abided by the rules, said one prominent employer, who has lost several men to the army.

"I have lost several of my key men. I am unable to replace them, but still there is no criticism of the local board. I'm sure they have done only the right thing."

Mr. Smith said that it would be next to impossible to replace the three men who have been called for their physical examinations.

He said that if they are called into the service that he can only go into the smaller schools and attempt to replace them, but that he felt they would not be as satisfactory as the present teachers.

Game Warden Watches Newburg Lake Fishing

Numerous complaints have been received pertaining to boys who are taking undersized fish from Newburg and other lakes in the Wayne county parkway system. One report stated that one boy had caught 91 undersized rock bass and was offering them for sale.

The matter has been reported to the game warden for this section and the lakes will be watched in the future.

He'll Soon Be Dropping Bombs On Hitler or Hirohito

ELSMER W. KREEGER

Promotion to bombardier with the rank of second lieutenant has come to Elmer W. Kreeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kreeger of 11654 Brownlee street in this city, and it is presumed that it will not be long before he will be helping to drop a few block-busters on the thick domes of Hitler or Hirohito.

The young man, a graduate of the Plymouth high school and a student at the Michigan State college when he enlisted, entered the air corps in January of this year and has made rapid progress since that time. When a student at Michigan State he was enrolled in the fine and commercial art department. Previous to entering Michigan State he was employed by Harry Lush at the Penniman-Allen theatre.

Fruit Crop To Be Smallest In Many Years

Growers Report Prospects Way Below Average

Orchardists in Western Wayne county and especially in the Plymouth area have declined to make a prediction on the exact amount of fruit which will be available this year.

However, from a variety of sources the Plymouth Mail has been able to determine the following about various fruits.

Cherries—There are none, or practically none. Most of the cherry orchardists say they will not have enough to supply their own needs.

Peaches—Very few if any late peaches. There will be about a half crop of the earlier varieties.

Apples—Variable from about one-tenth of a normal crop to almost a full crop, depending upon the age of the orchard and whether it had suffered any previous blight which would make it susceptible to extremely cold weather.

Plums—About one-fourth crop. Pears—Variable from 10 percent of a normal crop to about a one-half crop.

Most orchardists are agreed that a combination of warm days in March, followed by cold days in April, and the late spring rains which prevented the bees from pollinating the fruit when it was in blossom, have cut the fruit crop this year.

One peach orchardist said that there was no way of determining the price which would be charged for peaches, but that it is anticipated that if the price runs below the normal bounds, that the OPA will place a ceiling on the price which can be charged.

Blood Donors Given Thanks

But Many Fail To Keep Appointments

The blood donor committee of the local Red Cross wishes to thank all who contributed to the success of the Mobile Unit's visit to Plymouth, July 12. Even though 60 did not keep their appointments the committee was able to send 207 pints of blood to the Detroit bank to be sent on for our men in service.

Some of the donors gave for the seventh time and many were rejected because it was 10 days less than the required 12 weeks lapse between the third and fourth giving, thus showing the care that is given to guard the health of the donors.

Let's keep appointments next time and send many more pints when the Unit comes again in October, by registering now at the city hall, Beyer's Pharmacy or telephone 292-W—Committee.

Water Supply Now Sufficient For City's Needs

Plenty To Take Care Of Fast Growing Population

Plymouth now has sufficient water for any eventuality.

Water from the new well at the north edge of the city has been turned into the city mains, and while there are a few difficulties to be ironed out, the pump is now operating.

As a matter of fact, the pump is working so well that in operations last Saturday and Sunday, the pressure tank on the hill in the center of the city ran over.

The water was turned into the mains Friday at 2 p.m. It was operated until 9 p.m., when it was turned off. It was again turned on Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m. Sunday, it was operated from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The difficulty to be ironed out is the automatic operation of the pump. Until now, it has been operated manually, turning it on and off whenever it is needed.

The pump has been operating at a speed of about 750 gallons per minute. It is designed to operate up to 1,000 gallons a minute. When the test was made more than a month ago, it was operated at 4,000 gallons per minute, but at that speed there was a reduction of private water supplies north of the city. It is now anticipated that pumping at 1,000 gallons a minute will affect private wells.

The city plans to continue the use of the old water system in conjunction with the new one. City officials estimate that the combined water supplies are sufficient to supply a city twice the size of the present population.

Rosedale-Elm Schools Elect Directors Named For New Terms

George Bentley and J. B. Fulson were elected to fill three-year terms on the Rosedale-Elm school board at the election held Monday. Elbert Birdsall was elected to a one year term to fill a vacancy.

The vote was: Fulson, 78; Bentley, 70; Irving Benson, 58. Mr. Birdsall also received 78 votes.

At the public meeting of the board held in the Rosedale school, there was considerable demand for and discussion of a proposed township high school.

However, it is pointed out that the project still requires a great deal of work, and that construction of a high school building is not contemplated until after the war.

Discussion at the meeting indicated that present plans call for consolidation of all school districts in Livonia township. Failure to make the consolidation probably will result in the construction of a Rosedale-Elm high school, probably in Rosedale Gardens.

Soap Box Derby Meeting Called

Plymouth boys who are desirous of entering the soap box derby, are invited to meet Monday evening at 7:30 with members of the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce at the home of Ralph Taylor, 933 Church street.

It was announced some weeks ago that the Junior Chamber of Commerce proposed to conduct another soap box derby this year, but because so few boys have displayed an interest in the contest, it has been decided to call the boys together for a meeting Monday evening to make a final decision. It is urged that every boy who has a desire to enter the contest be at the home of Mr. Taylor Monday night.

Plymouth Soldier Killed On Attu

It was in a battle against the Japs on the island of Attu up in the Aleutians where Corporal Raymond E. Martin, son of Mrs. Emma Martin, met his death on May 22, according to information which has just come from Captain Wm. F. Staab, his commanding officer, to Corporal Martin's mother.

Mrs. Martin, who is at present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hayley, has also received the Purple Heart medal awarded to her son for military merit won in the engagement that ended in his death. Capt. Staab was high in his praise of the services of the former prominent Plymouth high school athlete.

POTATO PLANT GROWS PERFECT "V" FOR VICTORY SIGN

Even potatoes grow the "V" for victory sign. Davis & Lent have in one of their display windows a "V" potato. It is grown in as perfect a "V" as any one ever made.

The strange shaped potato came from the garden of Wendell Lent's brother, Lewis Lent, who resides in Tecumseh. The other day he visited Plymouth and brought it along to show his brother.

Now the potato is attracting more than usual attention in one of the display windows of the Davis & Lent store.

Stock Feed Shortage Grows Critical Here

Local Dealers Report Situation Grows Worse

The livestock and poultry feed shortage in Plymouth and western Wayne county is so severe that some feed stores have been closed temporarily.

All but one local feed store reported this week that they had less feed on hand than at any time since they have been in business.

All of the shortages are based on the lack of corn. The Saxton Farm Supply stores reported a quantity of dairy feed on hand, but Dean Saxton reported he had been forced to close the Northville store because of a shortage of feed.

"Our regular customers come in here and are peeved because we are unable to supply the demand," he said, "but there is nothing we can do about it. We have been allotted and have sold more feed this year than we had last year, but we are still unable to supply the demand."

Floyd Eckles of the Eckles Coal and Supply company, said the Eckles warehouse is emptier now than it has been at any time since the firm has been in business.

On the other hand, Joe Wickens of the Specialty Feed Products company, said that he had plenty of feed on hand, and thus far had been able to supply all of the demand made on him.

The Specialty company also has engaged in wholesale business in the past, but Wickens said that the retail demand had been so heavy that the wholesale business had been almost abandoned.

It was these wholesale connections which has made possible his supply, he said. Wickens blamed the lack of corn on the fact that farmers are holding their own supply of corn until they are certain of reaping a crop this year. He said he anticipated that the supply of corn would be increased within the next two weeks.

Eckles and Saxton, however, were not so optimistic. Eckles blamed the low OPA ceiling price on corn for failure of farmers to send their corn to market. Saxton said he had been informed that the government had frozen all of the corn in warehouses, and are using it for human food rather than animal food.

Another source said that the shortage of corn could be played on the government, which urged the raising of chickens by amateurs, and still had made no provision for increasing the feed supply.

Chicken scratch feed which is being received at the local stores has so little corn in it as to be almost negligible. City dwellers who started raising chickens to augment the meat supply, have found the feed shortage a burden. Farmers who do not raise their own corn have found a shortage so difficult that they have killed their hogs in order to preserve them.

Miss Jolliffe On Radio Tuesday Eve

If you can tune your radio set in on Cincinnati's powerful station WLW, do so Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Charlotte Jolliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jolliffe, who is modeling in Cincinnati at a popular ice revue, will Tuesday evening appear in a radio play to be presented by WLW.

From reports received from Cincinnati, the modeling being done by Miss Jolliffe is proving one of the most popular features of the show.

Popular Railway Employee Becomes Permanent Postmaster

Without a single objecting vote, the United States senate has confirmed the appointment of Harry E. Irwin as postmaster of Plymouth.

Mr. Irwin was appointed temporary postmaster on May 1, 1941 to succeed Frank K. Learned who resigned after serving a number of years.

The appointment of Mr. Irwin was made upon the recommendation of the Wayne County Democratic committee as well as the party committee of the 17th Congressional district.

His name was one of three submitted to the Postmaster General by the Civil Service Commission for appointment.

During the time he has served as acting postmaster, Mr. Irwin has made for himself a large number of friends by his uniformly courteous and friendly way in handling the business of the postoffice. No matter how unreasonable may have appeared a complaint, he has made it a rule to give it as much consideration as he would a justifiable protest.

It was nearly 20 years ago when Mr. Irwin came to Plymouth to work as a switchman for the Pere Marquette railway. He was employed steadily by the company until he was given a leave of absence to accept the temporary appointment as postmaster. The Pere Marquette kindly continued the leave until the appointment had been confirmed by the senate. This consideration by the company saved him his seniority rights.

He has been one of the active members of the Democratic party for years.

During the Spanish-American war he served as a member of Co. L, 160th Indiana Volunteer Infantry. After a few months in camp, he was sent to Cuba where he remained with the army until the war was over.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin are active members of the Methodist church. He is also a member of the Odd Fellows and the Eagles.

He's No Longer "The Acting Postmaster"—He's The Real One

HARRY E. IRWIN

For a score of years he served faithfully as a railway employee for the Pere Marquette. Now the U.S. Senate has confirmed his appointment as postmaster of Plymouth.

Small Fires At Allen Plant

Flames Do Little Material Damage

Two small fires this week at Allen Industries served to call attention to one of the most unusual industries in the city.

The fires themselves, according to Elmer Zuckerman, manager of the plant, were unimportant, some bundles of jute caught fire from the exhaust of a power shovel, but the flames were quickly extinguished.

The fires were outside where long lines of the jute are being dried. The jute was in a warehouse fire in New York, and the bales of the hemp-like fibres were soaked by the New York fire department.

This jute, grown mostly in India, is used to manufacture mats of one kind and another. Cattle hair is used at the factory to make a higher grade of mat, used for almost every purpose where mats or insulation are required.

Even the rolls of felt weather stripping which can be bought in most dime stores, is manufactured at the plant.

The process for making mats of either jute or hair is the same. The fibres are shredded, chopped and pulverized into a cotton-like substance by machines which tear the fibres apart.

This soft, almost foam-like substance then is put through heavy rollers and mashed into long rolls, still soft and pliable—a mass of individual hairs and fibres which have been pressed into a semblance of shape, but which still lack any ability to be of service.

But there is a remedy for that too. Another machine, filled with barbed needles, literally knits all of these fibres together. By constant repetition, the needles knit the hairs together. As many rolls as necessary for the required thickness of felt, can be knitted together. The firm makes felt two inches thick to be used for insulation. It makes felt a half inch thick for ironing board pads.

The firm makes insulated covers for airplane motors, and mats for jeeps for soldiers to sit on. There are hundreds of dies at the plant to be used for stamping out different sizes and designs of the mats as they roll from the machines.

Standish Backus Dies In East

For 23 Years Was Burroughs Chief

Standish Backus Sr., president of the Burroughs Adding Machine company until a few months ago and one of the officials of the corporation who had much to do in locating one of its big plants in Plymouth, died in White Plains, New York, Tuesday, where he had gone to reside following his retirement last January.

Mr. Backus was 68 years of age and had served as president of the Burroughs company for more than 23 years. Besides his activities in connection with the Burroughs company, he was greatly interested in both the industrial and civic developments of Detroit.

Mr. Backus had frequently visited Plymouth and freely expressed his high regard for the progressive community in which his company had located one of its modern plants.

He was a direct descendant of one of the Pilgrim families that settled in Plymouth, Massachusetts in 1620.

PLYMOUTH SPORTSMEN TO AID IN HARVESTING CROPS OF FARMERS

The Western Wayne County Conservation Association has adopted a policy of reciprocal agreements with the farmers—and the farmers are definitely invited to take advantage of the proposition.

At its meeting Monday night, the club members adopted a resolution of appreciation to the farmers of western Wayne county for the permission they have had in the past to hunt game.

But they also adopted a plan which is more than a resolution of appreciation.

The conservation club members want to help the farmers. So, from now on, whenever a farmer needs help in the harvesting of his crops, the farmers may call on the members, and they will respond.

A farmer who needs help, and who has been a friend of the hunters, can call Dr. Brick Champe, who will act as a clearing house for the club workers.

The attitude of the club is: "The farmers who befriended us, now need help. We want to help our friends. We will help our friends in their time of need."

Editor Baldwin Dies In Albion

Former Northville Publisher Expires

Richard Baldwin, former editor and publisher of The Northville Record and well known to many Plymouth residents, died at his home in Albion Tuesday. Editor Baldwin was forced to dispose of his Northville newspaper property some years ago because of illness. The family then returned to Albion, where they had previously resided and where Mr. Baldwin had long served the Albion newspaper. He never fully regained his health and in recent months his condition gradually grew worse.

Editor Baldwin was well known throughout the state and was active in years gone by in the Methodist church layman circles. He was one of the highly respected editors of the state and was most aggressive in promoting better community conditions.

Mrs. Russell Aitchinson of Northville is a daughter. Other survivors in the family are Mrs. Baldwin, two sons in the army, and two brothers, Attorney Howard Baldwin of Detroit and State Senator Joe Baldwin of Albion.

Some time was spent on discussing methods recommended in canning and storing of foods for victory this year, also amounts of foods recommended per person.

High Record For School Herd

The 48-cow herd of registered Holstein-Friesians owned by the Wayne County Training school, has recently completed a year of production testing with the average butterfat production per cow being nearly two and a half times as much as that of the nation's average dairy cow, says The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

An average of 430.2 pounds of butterfat and 12,253 pounds of milk has been officially recorded. The highest producer in the herd was Wacots Princess Ina, a 7-year-old, which produced 674.9 pounds of butterfat and 19,228 pounds of milk.

Testing was supervised by Michigan State College of Agriculture, in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Plan Total Of 97 New Houses For War Workers

Only Newcomers To City Can Buy Or Rent Residences

Building permits have been issued for 41 new homes in the city, all of them to be rented or sold to workers in war plants. Authority has been issued by federal agencies for 41 additional homes, and it is anticipated that a total of 97 homes will be constructed in the city within the next six months.

A total of 67 lots in various subdivisions in the city have been sold to construction firms by Roderick Cassady, who said that he anticipated the sale of another 30 lots.

Thus Plymouth is experiencing the biggest building boom in its history, but there is no indication that the housing shortage in Plymouth will be relieved by the construction.

Even the building of almost half a hundred homes in the Phoenix subdivision, and other construction outside the city limits south of the city, is not expected to relieve the housing shortage.

Under rules of the War Production Board and the Federal Housing Administration, the construction of the homes is permitted only if they are rented or sold to what is known as "immigrants," a term applied to workers who have migrated to this area from the South and elsewhere to work in the war plants.

The homes cannot be rented or sold to war workers unless the home they rent or buy is nearer to their work than the property they now occupy.

Construction of some of the homes have been started on Evergreen, Perce and Harvey streets in the Phoenix subdivision. Steamhoists have been brought in to dig out the basements.

Houses which are being constructed in the Phoenix subdivision have no basements. Neither have the houses built south of the city any basements.

Houses being constructed in the Sunset addition in the north section of the city will have basements. They will be of frame construction, and will be modern. They will not have fireplaces.

Mr. Cassady said the plans for the homes in the Brookview subdivision in the southern section of the city would be of face brick construction, and would conform to all of the regulations of city and federal governments.

City Engineer Stanford Besse said the 41 permits represented the largest number issued in a three-day period since he began duties as building inspector.

The permits have been taken out by William Birt & Sons, of Plymouth, the Beechwood Construction company, and the Dawson Building company.

All of the homes to be constructed will adhere to the Plymouth building code.

When the firms made the original application for permission to build in Plymouth, they appealed to the city commission to change the building code to make possible cheap construction of the homes.

Taking the position that the property already constructed here must be protected, the commission refused to alter the building code, even at the expense of not having the badly needed houses constructed.

However, the building firms, which were attempting to abide by the federal code in cheapening the construction of the houses, received federal permission for the construction despite the insistence of the commission on adherence to the code. Thus Plymouth gets the houses—better houses than they would have got, if the commission had bowed to the federal authorities.

Where To Call The Rationing Board

City hall telephone lines frequently are clogged with incoming calls intended for the Rationing Board. The Rationing board which has offices in the building.

Police and fire department officials have complained that the rationing board can no longer be reached through the city hall switchboard. The ration board has a telephone (No. 584) all its own.

Insulate Now To Save Heat

Lack of tires and gas have added another casualty to the growing list of business firms, which now are dependent on the mails for business.

The Booth Insulation company of Detroit, which has been doing business in Plymouth for a number of years, has announced that henceforth it will not solicit business in Plymouth through personal contact.

The firm, which is experienced in the insulation of homes, is advertising that henceforth they will be glad to make estimates of the cost of insulating a home when requested. A postcard will suffice.

The government is urging the insulation of all homes as a means of saving fuel.

Gives O.K. To Pilgrim Raise

Announcement was made yesterday by the Pilgrim Products Company, Plymouth's newest industry, that their voluntary request to the War Labor Board for a general wage increase had been granted.

The request was filed by President Robert Green some weeks ago with the board in Washington. The company processes cold drawn steel and has only recently approached its capacity production. Officials expect to operate at capacity early in the fall if they are able to secure all of the necessary labor.

Attorneys Are Demel Guests

Busy Legal Lights Enjoy Brief Recreation

Members of the Wayne County Suburban Bar Association and attorneys from the legal staff of the army ordnance tank department in Detroit were guests late Wednesday afternoon of Attorney Earl Demel, former pion, at his home on West Territorial road.

The delightful four hours of recreation spent by the half hundred attorneys who enjoyed the wide, open spaces of the Demel farm, left many of them lame, sore and "halt" for their office work the day following.

Many played handball and took part in other athletic contests for the first time since the outbreak of war.

And would you believe it—Plymouth's own Attorney Perry Richwine, proved to be the fastest 50-yard "trotter" in the two-man dash. He covered the distance in 33 seconds flat, both trotting and pacing to win the speed event of the afternoon.

Two other Plymouth attorneys distinguished themselves in the softball contest. Judge Rusling, "out" as catcher, and Attorney Dunbar Davis made a home run when he sent the ball flying through the clouds down to the far edges of the cow pasture. Guests thought the outdoor luncheon served by Mrs. Demel was about the tops for a war-time picnic dinner.

Christmas Plans For Soldiers

Postoffice Announces Shipping Dates

It's 158 days before Christmas, but it's not too soon to begin thinking about your son, your husband or your brother who might be serving our country in the uniform of Uncle Sam somewhere overseas.

Postmaster Harry Irwin has received from the postal department instructions that packages for soldier boys should be ready for mailing between September 15 and October 15.

For the boys serving in the navy, shipments of Christmas presents can be made up to November 1.

So do your Christmas shopping NOW for the boys overseas and have your packages ready for mailing by the middle of September.

Remember, too, that no package can weigh over five pounds and that it must not measure more than 36 inches in circumference.

Mrs. Harry Laible, Mrs. Roland Allenbaugh and Mrs. James Bentley spent from Saturday until Tuesday in Mt. Pleasant visiting Mrs. Arlo Hainer.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (1 John 5:11-12): "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbooks: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 41): "This is life eternal, says Jesus.—is, not shall be; and Jesus; and then he defines everlasting life as a present knowledge of his Father and of himself,—the knowledge of Love, Truth and Life. ## "Inside Germany" New Water Supply Lecture Theme Saves Soap

Calvary Church Announces Lecture

Much Softer Than Old Supply

Experiences of one year "Behind the Scenes in Nazi Germany," including time spent in a Nazi Concentration Camp, will be presented with lecture, (sound) motion pictures, and uncensored still pictures by Ralph E. Baney, world traveler, missionary and author at the Calvary Baptist church, Wednesday evening, July 21 at 7:45.

The speaker, who has been in Germany five times, was able, with the aid of his press credentials, to witness the beginnings of Hitler's attempt for world-wide conquest. He has heard Hitler speak, has interviewed ranking Nazi officials, and lived in the homes of German storm troopers, farmers, and factory workers.

The barbaric and brutal methods by which the Jewish people and the Christian church in Germany are being annihilated will be described and shown on the screen in unique pictures. Mr. Baney made these pictures secretly with a camera concealed in his coat pocket, and smuggled them out of the swastika country at great risk.

Because of his interest, human sympathy and Christian work among the Jews in the Jewish ghettos, the American missionary was arrested a number of times, exposed to the horrible treatment of the concentration camp, and finally expelled across the border, into Czechoslovakia in a deplorable physical condition. He will relate personal experiences of many of his Jewish friends whose persecution he was compelled to share.

Plan Hospital For Out-County

Wayne Develops Plan To Aid Sick

The board of county supervisors has leased the "B" building at Eloise to the People's Community Hospital, Inc., for a nominal rental of $1 a year. The building to be used as a private hospital for residents in western Wayne county.

Under terms of the agreement, the corporation agrees to remodel the building to make it suitable for use as a private hospital. Remodeling of the building will be paid for by the corporation, which is now planning an extensive campaign for industrial and private contributions to a $100,000 fund.

The corporation will pay the county 65 cents per day for each patient, with payment to be based on a minimum of 85 patients. Beds and bedding will be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per patient per day, and other charges also will be made and paid for by the corporation.

It is planned to use all of the facilities of Eloise in the operation of the private hospital, but the actual management of the "B" building will be handled by a staff to be employed by the corporation.

In addition to the $100,000 fund which the hospital corporation will seek to raise by public and private subscription, the corporation also has appealed to the federal government for grants of $34,000 to remodel the building at Eloise and $45,000 which is the anticipated deficit for operation of the hospital for one year.

A committee from the corporation already has talked to public health officials of the army in Chicago, and has made a formal application to the War Public Works for the funds. The plan has the approval of the public health authorities.

At the close of the war, the hospital corporation contemplates the construction of a half million dollar hospital with 500 beds to be erected in the Wayne neighborhood to serve all of western Wayne county. The hospital would be constructed largely with federal funds.

The area to be covered by the hospital includes Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Romulus, Dearborn, Van Buren, Sumpter, Livonia, Nankin, Huron and Taylor townships.

Any medical doctor in good standing will be free to operate in the hospital, according to the standards of the corporation.

Two plots of ground already have been offered to the corporation for the construction of a new hospital. One of them is south and the other north of Wayne.

Officials of the hospital corporation point out that the need for a hospital in western Wayne county is urgent. It will serve an area of about 141,000 people.

Only 96 beds are now available in the area in which these 141,000 people reside. Because of war work in this area, the increased likelihood of accidents, the increased birth rate, it is felt by officials of the hospital board that the hospital is a vital necessity at the present time.

The federal government estimates that one hospital bed is necessary for each 250 persons, but at the moment there are only beds in this area to provide one for each 1,500 persons.

It also was pointed out that before the war there were 35 doctors in this area, but eight of these have not been inducted into the armed services, further increasing the need for hospital service.

Mrs. Ruth Whipple is the Plymouth representative on the board of directors of the corporation, which has its inception through efforts of the Wayne Board of Commerce. The corporation is headed by Charles B. Cozadd, an attorney, of Belleville, as president; Robert Holland, mayor of Garden City as vice president, and Mrs. Wilda Bentley of Rosedale Gardens as secretary. Other members of the board are Mrs. Mollie Lawrence of Northville, John S. Haggerty, Harley Smith and E. J. German, all of Wayne; Garrett Bunell of Romulus; Alfred S. Kemp of Inkster, and Milton Adams of New Boston.

Here in Plymouth, City Manager Clarence Elliott expressed the opinion that while the hospital plan is a good one, and will help a rather bad hospital situation, it still would not solve Plymouth's hospital problem. He said Plymouth still needs a hospital of its own.

Hints Cut In Gas Allowance

Chairman Wood Urges Compliance

Reports have been received in Plymouth that there is less highway driving in Indiana and Ohio than there is in Michigan.

William Wood, chairman of the rationing board, said he had heard the reports and that there probably would be directives issued by the state rationing office requiring a drop in the amount of gasoline to be allowed to all persons in Michigan.

At the same time Mr. Wood commented philosophically on the entire rationing situation. He said:

"There has been an increasing number of robberies of ration board offices by men who are worse than ordinary thieves. They are stealing gasoline ration coupons which are then sold to Americans who don't seem to realize that this rationing is created by a war.

"I suppose you might say that that is the American public in action. But be that as it may, we have rationing, and we will continue to have rationing until this war is over. We've got to have it.

"We've all got to understand that this war isn't being fought just by the soldiers, sailors and marines. This war is being fought by all of us.

"We on the ration board are in a peculiar position. We are the ones who have to bear the brunt of criticism. We've got to be able to take it, because we know and everyone knows that there are some Americans who are chiselers. There aren't many of these kind, but there are some. These are the people who stored 500 pounds of sugar, and the people who buy black market meat, and the people who buy these stolen gasoline coupons.

"When it comes time to punish, the local board is the one which has to handle that chore. It is not easy. There is one fellow I know of who was convicted of driving 65 miles an hour. We have sent two requests to that man to come to the board and explain. If he doesn't come on the third request, the police will go and get him and bring him before the board. Now, the board doesn't like to do those things. We are dealing with our neighbors. But the chiselers have to be taken care of in order to protect the great bulk of Americans who are trying to do the right thing, who are trying to help win the war.

"Mothers of sons in the army, mothers of sons who have been killed, or wounded, or are missing, certainly will not condone any action by the board which lets chiselers slip by."

Fruit Container Shortage Serious

Consumers Asked To Save Boxes

Tons of vitally needed food will go to waste in the fields unless the salvage and distribution of wooden containers is stepped up appreciably to offset the current shortage, a spokesman for the nation's leading buyer of fresh fruits and vegetables said today.

"From the south as well as other sections of the country come reports of produce losses suffered when wooden crates were not available at the time crops were ready to be harvested," said Harvey A. Baum, head of A & P Food Stores' produce-buying operations. "The shortage is due largely to the diversion of millions of containers to overseas shipment of army food and equipment. The cases and crates that go to war never come back, and are almost impossible to replace on account of a lack of wood and wire and a shortage of labor."

The emergency which threatens essential wartime food can be relieved, Baum said, by cooperation of growers, distributors and retailers in reclaiming used containers. The A & P, along with many other distributors, is already cooperating by salvaging large quantities of containers from stores and returning them to producers for re-use, he added. In connection with the lumber shortage phase of the problem, Baum explained that many types of wood, such as cypress, ash, pine and others formerly used by box manufacturers, are now going into the production of smokeless powder, rayon for gunpowder sacks and parachutes, containers for shipping ammunition, print and planning papers and many other wartime essentials. There has also been a shift of labor from box-making to war plants.

Mailing Out New Gasoline Cards

But Thousands Must Yet Apply

New basic gasoline rations are now being mailed to automobile owners in the Plymouth rationing board area.

More than a thousand of these gasoline books already have been mailed, but it is estimated by Ray Bachelord, chief clerk of the local board, that there are between 11,000 and 14,000 more of these books to be mailed. And they should be in the hands of all automobile owners by July 21.

Mr. Bachelord said the local board employees are working night and day to get these into the mail, but that some volunteer help would be necessary.

Mrs. Catherine Henderson, representative of the consumers' council on the rationing board, already has appealed to the Navy Mothers, the P.T.A., and her own organization for help, but it is believed that more will be needed.

Any women having a little time to help the board should contact Mrs. Henderson or Mr. Bachelord.

Mr. Bachelord said that the ration board would get out the new "A" cards or "bust a leg" "We will work nights every night until July 21 to accomplish that purpose," he said. "The volunteer workers might find time to give us a night now and then."

July in the North Atlantic

It's summer, but these blue-jackets on a United States navy aircraft carrier scrape ice and snow off the flight deck as their ship lies at anchor at a North Atlantic port. The planes are Grumman Avenger torpedo bombers. A German publication recently explained the reduction in U-boat activity by stating that the use of aircraft carriers to protect Allied convoys had taken the Germans by surprise.

Curfew Law Is Considered

City Officials To Draft Measure

The city commission Tuesday night instructed the city manager to prepare for presentation to the commission a curfew ordinance, which would require all children under the age of 16 years to be off the streets by 10 p.m. The new ordinance would hold the parents responsible.

The request for the curfew ordinance was submitted by Commissioner Ruth Whipple and was supported by Commissioner Stanley Corbett.

More presentation of the ordinance does not mean that it will be adopted by the city.

It is anticipated that there will be a great deal of pro and con discussion of the ordinance before it is finally rejected or adopted.

From authoritative sources it was learned that the ordinance has the support of at least some officials of the police department, who were impressed by the attitude of the public during the state enforced curfew during and after the race riots in Detroit.

However, Mayor Carl Shear expressed the opinion that "it is not the duty of the city commission to take liberties away from people."

"I do not believe," said the mayor, "that because we have a few unruly youngsters in the city, whose parents either can't or won't control them, that we should punish all of the good ones."

On the other hand, it was pointed out that a curfew is now working well in Boston and some other major eastern cities.

Another source, who declined to be quoted by name, said that a curfew ordinance might prove a boomerang. This source declared that a curfew is a negative approach to the youth problem.

"Forcing children or anyone else from the streets except in a temporary emergency such as the race riots, might merely force them indoors where more harm would be done than if the children were on the streets."

"The positive approach to the youth problem is to provide the children with enough wholesome work to do, which they like to do, that they will not be interested in doing the things which are wrong."

Still another authoritative source pointed out that with daylight saving time in vogue, it is not dark until after 10 o'clock in the summer time, and that it would be questionable whether the police department would be able to enforce the curfew if it is passed.

High school functions, dances, games, etc., also might keep the children out until after the curfew time.

Detroit Schools Lead The Way

Instructor Tells Of Aviation Progress

Detroit's public school system is not only keeping step with the times, but in many of its departments, it is leading the nation in anticipating what the future educational needs of the country will be, especially in the field of aviation. Plymouth Rotarians were told last Friday noon by Earl Bedell, director of vocational education of America's fourth largest city.

Not only is DETROIT making an effort to keep pace with a fast changing world, but it is making sure that the new things being undertaken are essential to the progress of the times, he declared.

"A study of aviation has been injected into every grade in the Detroit school system, even the first grade, where pupils are taught something about it by the use of pictures. We are now measuring distances by the hour," said Mr. Bedell. "Some of our 13- and 14-year-old boys and girls can back most of the elders right off the map when it comes to discussing planes and aviation."

"When the war department requested that we make a study of the identification of planes of various countries, our students produced over 8,000 models of planes for instructional purposes. They were masterpieces of construction and scaled to perfect measurements."

"Our pre-flight course, confined to students of the 12th grade, is now open to students of the 11th grade."

"It is vital to Detroit to hold the aviation industry which has been built up in our city during the war and it is our responsibility to prepare trained workers for this industry."

"It is with this object in view that we have set up an aero mechanics school. We are trying to look into the future to see what kind of mechanics the air age to come will require and be prepared to offer to the aviation world properly educated workers," he stated.

The interesting speaker was invited to address the club by Charles Brake, chairman of the aims and objects committee of the Rotary club.

A number of school executives from this part of Wayne county were the guests of Sup't George A. Smith at the meeting.

New Regulations On Slaughtering

Butchers Must Apply By July 15

Every local slaughterer and butcher who holds a permit to slaughter livestock for the sale of meat will be required, by July 15, to submit evidence to substantiate the amount of livestock slaughtered during the period upon which his current quota is based, the WFA said today.

Purpose of the ruling is to establish a more uniform system of permits and quotas and also to adjust those quotas already issued in such a way that they will be standardized in all sections of the country. Because of the rapidly with which the permits originally were issued, the policy in granting the quotas varied somewhat from section to section.

The new requirements is contained in FDO 27.3. Submission of the evidence must be made to the County War Meat Committee of the County War Board where the permit was issued. The evidence must substantiate the amount of slaughterer's 1941 slaughter, or, if he did not slaughter during the corresponding period of 1941, he must submit evidence of his 1942 slaughter.

The permit of any local slaughterer or butcher who fails to furnish such evidence on time may be revoked by the Director of FDA. The evidence, which will form the basis for any necessary adjustments in quotas or quota basis, may include: The applicant's books or records; records or statements of persons from whom he has bought livestock; grading certificates or inspection records; or any other evidence which the applicant considers necessary.

A sinking smokestack, a great air bubble, an empty lifeboat, all that is visible of a torpedoed tanker, all that is evidence of the hard work, the savings we put into War Bonds to build this tanker, to load it with 50,000 gallons of high octane gas.

Our money is still safe but the tanker is lost forever. Another and another must be built to take its place.

News of Our Boys In Uncle Sam's Fighting Forces Defending Our Homeland and Our Liberties.

SOLDIER TELLS HIS HOPES WHEN THE WAR HAS BEEN WON.

What do you want most when the war is over? The editor asked, First Sergeant Gordon Moe, who was home last week on a furlough from his camp down in Tennessee.

I want to come back to the good old Plymouth just as I knew it before I went into the service. I want a good job and to settle down and live the kind of a life we have always enjoyed in this country," was his immediate response.

THIRD BROTHER TO ENTER UNCLE SAM'S ARMY IN NEAR FUTURE

When Elwood Russell who resides at 376 South Harvey street, is inducted into the army on the 25th of July, he will join two brothers who are already wearing the uniforms of the nation's armed forces.

Albert Russell, who left last August for an army training camp, is now located with fighting forces in Iran.

Junior L. Russell, who graduated in June from the Plymouth high school, has joined the Marines and is now stationed at San Diego where he is receiving his basic training. He has written tests for radio technician and has successfully passed the examinations.

It is the plan of Elwood when he enters the army late this month to ask for services in the air corps.

BOYS IN SERVICE ON FAR AWAY CONTINENTS DREAM OF HOME

Typical of most letters that come to the editor of The Mail and to relatives and friends from soldier and sailor lads stationed in far away places around the world is a communication recently received by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Lorenz of Sheridan avenue, from their son, Robert J. Lorenz, who is stationed in North Africa, in which he says:

"Quite often we dream of home and talk of some of the things we did before we left. I sure hope the time comes soon when we will be able to return home—because, Oh, boy, it would seem nice."

His interesting letter declares that at this time of the year it is necessary that the beds of the soldiers be off the ground, because "the scorpions are really out. We just killed a big one in our tent."

"Oren, where I was sometime ago, is quite a nice city, but not one-half as nice as some of the other cities I have been in. There are an awfully lot of Arabs in that town. The city of — is really a modern city, more modern than some of ours in the states. But all of them have their Arab sections. They are walled off from the French districts. The residential districts are really very up-to-date. Some of the other places where I have been are Taza, Fez, Oudja, Meknes, —, and Lidi-Bel Abbes. They are all very nice cities. The people are all French, Arabic and Moroccans."

SOLDIER HAS SOMETHING TO SAY ABOUT RATIONING GRIPERS

I have been reading where a lot of people are griping about their rationing being so tough. I wonder how some of these people that are doing so much squawking would like to eat our field rations for a few days. If they did, maybe they would change their minds," writes Pri-

Henriksen Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Henriksen Sr., of 38315 West Warren road, has been promoted to staff sergeant and has been assigned to duty as Sergeant Major in one of the army air forces largest bombardment bases located near Tampa, Florida. LEARNING ALL ABOUT ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT ON BIG BATTLESHIP

Learning how to operate the electrical equipment carried aboard a warship is Ralph D. Lorenz, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Lorenz, 1419 Sheridan avenue, who has been enrolled in the Navy's special training school for electricians on the campus of Purdue university, Lafayette, Indiana. Selected to attend the school upon the basis of a series of aptitude tests which he took during recruit training, he will attend classes there for 16 weeks. Upon graduation he will be eligible for promotion to a petty officer rating and be assigned to duty with the fleet or at a shore station.

ANXIOUS TO GET A CRACK AT THE JAPS WHO SUNK HIS SHIP

From Erland Bridge, better known as "Sonny" Bridge, who jumped 72 feet into the sea from the flight deck of the aircraft carrier Wasp when it was sunk by the Japs in the south Pacific late last summer, comes a letter from somewhere in the Pacific, in which he declares he is anxious to give the Japs a "little lead" pretty soon.

His letter in part follows: I have been wanting to write this letter for some time, but some how I didn't know just what to say. I appreciate the Plymouth Mail very much and so do the other boys in our division. We have a few men here from Michigan and they all read it with as much interest as I. I was talking with a boy from Minnesota and he also likes to read it. He says he gets more enjoyment out of reading The Plymouth Mail than he does reading a magazine and who wouldn't? I also would like to hear from Shirley Dunham and the rest of the boys.

"News here is little except I hope to give the Japs a little lead very soon. I don't know about the army, but boy the Navy is tops and anyone should be proud to wear the outfit we have.

"Again I want to thank you for sending The Plymouth Mail and I also want to thank the people of Plymouth for the grand way they pitch in and help in the war drives. I don't know if they know it or not but even though their jobs seem unimportant they are helping to win this war."

LETTER COMES FROM SOMEWHERE DOWN IN SOUTH PACIFIC

Corporal Earl H. Wilson, who has seen many months of long service thousands of miles away from his native Plymouth, writes that he is anxious to help in doing away with the "dirty" Nipponese.

His letter in part follows: "Here I am again. This time after a long delay and a trip of many miles. I am now located 'Somewhere in the South Pacific.'"

"I am writing to give you my new address. For now, more than ever, I appreciate each and every issue of The Mail received. I heartily agree with Staff Sgt. Van Amburg that the boys who have more time in the service are the ones who are being missed in your column. But it will be those boys who will have the experiences to tell when this war is over and I missed seeing Neil Curtiss by about two weeks but am in hopes of catching up to him very soon. Would like very much if you could send Red Miller's address to me, as I am sure at least one familiar 'home towncialist or officer candidate schools.

When their training is completed, their knowledge and skill will be thrown into the "behind-the-lines" war effort. Thanks to these women soldiers, somewhere on the Allied front there will be two more combat soldiers!

GRADUATES WITH HONORS FROM NAVAL HOSPITAL SCHOOL

John Paton Park, Jr., 27, of 399 Adams street, is now rated as a hospital apprentice, second class, after graduating as an honor man from the Hospital Corps School, U. S. Naval Hospital, at Great Lakes, Ill. Park completed his six-week basic training course with a grade average of 96 per cent. He completed with the other Bluejackets for the high rating.

At the Hospital Corps School, Park's studies included anatomy, physiology, hygiene and sanitation, materia-medica, weights and measures, first aid and bandaging, nursing, transportation of casualties and dietetics.

The honor man, son of Mrs. Lillian A. Park of 15096 Auburn avenue, Detroit, attended Lawrence Institute of Technology and the Walsh Institute of Accounting, both in Detroit. Prior to his enlistment in the Navy he was an employment and personnel clerk for an insurance company in Detroit.

Corpsman Park and other graduates of the school will be sent to Naval hospitals for additional training and then assigned to general duty at sea or at other shore stations.

Captain W. E. Eaton, medical officer in command of the U. S. Naval Hospital here, made the principal speech at the graduation ceremonies and Comdr. R. B. Storch, executive officer of the Hospital Corps School, made the introductory remarks. Chaplain F. T. Lokensgard presented the diplomas to the graduates.

ANXIOUS TO GET A CRACK AT THE JAPS WHO SUNK HIS SHIP

From Erland Bridge, better known as "Sonny" Bridge, who jumped 72 feet into the sea from the flight deck of the aircraft carrier Wasp when it was sunk by the Japs in the south Pacific late last summer, comes a letter from somewhere in the Pacific, in which he declares he is anxious to give the Japs a "little lead" pretty soon.

His letter in part follows: I have been wanting to write this letter for some time, but some how I didn't know just what to say. I appreciate the Plymouth Mail very much and so do the other boys in our division. We have a few men here from Michigan and they all read it with as much interest as I. I was talking with a boy from Minnesota and he also likes to read it. He says he gets more enjoyment out of reading The Plymouth Mail than he does reading a magazine and who wouldn't? I also would like to hear from Shirley Dunham and the rest of the boys.

"News here is little except I hope to give the Japs a little lead very soon. I don't know about the army, but boy the Navy is tops and anyone should be proud to wear the outfit we have.

"Again I want to thank you for sending The Plymouth Mail and I also want to thank the people of Plymouth for the grand way they pitch in and help in the war drives. I don't know if they know it or not but even though their jobs seem unimportant they are helping to win this war."

TRANSFERRED FROM PACIFIC TO ATLANTIC COAST

Corporal Douglas Eckles, who has been stationed out on the Pacific coast, has been given another transfer, which he tells about in his note to the editor. He writes, in part, as follows: "It's been quite a while since I wrote so I thought this was a good time to again thank you for the Mail and at the same time notify you of a change of address."

"After four months in Seattle, Washington, I have been transferred to Ft. Monmouth, New Jersey, for special training. While at Seattle I worked as a radio operator with the Alaskan Communications System. Seattle was a swell place and I hated to leave. But you can't win wars that way."

"I thoroughly enjoy the Mail and would be lost without it. It sure is nice to read about where the other Plymouth boys are and what they are doing. I would be very glad to hear from any of my friends in the services. You know how welcome letters are."

"IN 2 HOURS YOUR FACTORY WILL BE FLOODED!"

It had been raining for a week, hark in the hills. A farmer, hunting for a strayed cow along the creek, looked up and saw water pouring through a widening crack in the reservoir dam. He ran half a mile to the nearest telephone and made a long distance call to the munitions plant down the valley where his son worked. "You've got about two hours before your factory is flooded," he told them. Because that call got through in time, scores of workers and tons of vital war material were moved to safety before the crest of roaring water could reach the plant.

Long Distance lines are crowded with calls as never before. Many are war calls which must go through promptly. Others are civilian calls, some vitally urgent, some less urgent. You and you alone can judge whether your call is really necessary.

Please make only the most essential long distance calls. If you must call by long distance, do all you can to be brief.

THE WRONG HOBBY.

Years and years ago over in Kalamazoo, there was a very successful business man who made a hobby of collecting nude statuary. He visited the art centers of America and traveled to foreign lands in search of the nude in marble.

Some people thought he possessed unusual artistic ability. We thought he was just plain dumb, maybe a bit "touched."

He was elected to congress on the Democratic ticket and served one term. We presume if he were alive today, he would be one of the outstanding leading lights of Washington. That seems to be the type making up the nude administration.

A fellow named E. A. Carpenter of Philadelphia, who writes a column in a little booklet called "The Houghton Line" is reported to be a very successful business man down in the Quaker City.

Apparently his hobby, instead of collecting nude statuary, is writing political paragraphs for his little booklet.

In the last issue he urges that the presidential election be skipped until after the war is over and that Mr. Roosevelt be retained as president for the duration.

We are fully convinced that any one who would make such a suggestion, is either "touched" a bit in the head, or ought to be devoting his time to some sort of an effort that occupied the time and attention of our Kalamazoo art collector. That would do no harm.

"YOU CAN'T BEAT HIM."

Numerous times during the past two or three weeks we have heard the suggestion made that it didn't make any difference who the Republicans nominated for President next year, "you can't beat Roosevelt."

And this defeatist propaganda has come from Republicans, who are being made the tools of the Democratic National committee. These slick Washington politicians want to create the idea that no one can or should beat the President because we will still be at war in 1944.

We do not agree. Mr. Roosevelt CAN and SHOULD be defeated in 1944, if he decides to become a candidate for the fourth term. And we firmly believe the decision has already been made. That's the reason for all of this propaganda.

These office holding propagandists say he can't be beaten because he is winning the war for us.

They should not forget that it's Mr. Churchill's brain that is planning the course of the war that we are going to WIN.

Mr. Roosevelt's part in directing this nation's "home front" fight for freedom is reflected in the deplorable state of affairs existing in Washington and throughout the nation.

We say again that Mr. Roosevelt CAN and SHOULD be defeated in the next national election.

MORE NUDEAL PLANNING.

During the months of late winter and early spring the country was flooded with propaganda from Washington nuclear dealers urging every family in America to grow a flock of chickens in their backyards. To those who found it necessary to build chicken coops to house their new flocks, priorities were thrown to the four winds and sufficient amounts of building material could be purchased without difficulties. Every family was urged to grow chickens, turkeys and ducks.

Newspapers and magazines opened wide their columns to these suggestions, accepting the word of Washington bureaucrats that home flocks of poultry would help relieve the meat shortage fast developing in this country.

But like everything else planned by the crackpots running the nudeal, they planned for the production of millions of more chickens than ever grown before in this country—and they didn't plan a way to feed the millions of chickens they asked the people to raise.

Yes, there is RIGHT NOW an actual shortage of poultry feed not only in Plymouth and throughout Michigan, but in all the nation.

And these same crackpots who are forcing upon the country one crisis after another, have the unmitigated nerve to suggest that they be retained in control of the government after 1944. Let's wait and see what the victimized people have to say about it.

Transform Axis Stronghold Into an Allied Base

After surrender of Pantelleria, a series of patrols was organized to search for stray enemy units and snipers. At upper left three British fighters pick their way through a battered street. At upper right a bulldozer clears away rubble as the island is turned into a base for use against the Axis. Italian soldiers, marines, and sailors stand in line (bottom) waiting for transportation from the former Axis stronghold.

Babson Says - -

Gives Some Sensible Advice

New York City, July 16—This week I will write about my own line of business, namely, statistics. There are four things that this country should learn from statistics. I hope parents will cut this column out and save it for their children to read.

It is true that the birth rate has jumped up since the draft went into effect, but all these babies are not the kind the country needs. In many instances they have been sired by timid fathers who are hoping a baby will get them exemption! The truth is that the U.S. birth rate has been going down for years. Even more serious is the fact that the decline is greatest among those more fit to raise good children. This tendency must be stopped or America will some day be conquered by some other race.

Higher education is raising havoc with our birth rate. Take two sisters for instance: one sister goes to college and usually either has no children or perhaps one, while the other who does not go to college, raises a good family of three or four. Women have not been allowed to fight in the battle lines, during the past centuries, because they are far more valuable in raising fighters. This is a hint to the WACS. WAVES and SPARS!

The real difficulty with our food situation is the impoverishment of our soils. For years, the cutting down of forests has caused a soil erosion which is a basic cause of the farmers' troubles. Then our big cities began to grow and they added to the difficulty. The beef and crops which contained the necessary minerals were shipped off the farm to the cities. Following their consumption these necessary minerals went down the sewers of these cities into the ocean. Farms have also suffered from automobiles since farms began to buy gasoline. Thus there is no refuse from the horses and the necessary cover crops of hay and oats were lost, all of which had heretofore built up the soil.

Now the country has gone crazy over synthetics and is bragging about the manufacture of synthetic rubber, synthetic plastics and synthetic textiles, all of which will rob the soil still further. The farmers are fighting to have the rubber made from alcohol; while the oil men want to sell petroleum. For every ton of rubber made—either from alcohol or petroleum—we are robbing our grandchildren at a criminal rate. This craze for synthetics may easily become an important factor in the downfall of America.

I have a great many letters from young people wanting jobs, but very few want to work with their hands except to press the keys of a typewriter or some other machine.

As a result, we are getting to an actual shortage of manual workers. The real reason that John L. Lewis has been able to hold up 136,500,000 people is because his Union is made up exclusively of manual workers, namely, the miners. No labor union, consisting of those doing work which we can do for ourselves, could hold us up. Hence, we should get back to the soil and be less dependent upon the labor of others.

The simple truth is that all of us were designed to do some manual work in order to live healthy, courageous and useful lives. In the long-run, we people cannot hire others to exercise for us and do all our manual work any more than we can hire others to eat for us, sleep for us or breathe for us. If you want further advice on this subject read the eleventh verse of the fourth chapter of I Thessolians and the tenth verse of the third chapter of II Thessolians, which were the first books written for the New Testament. Whether our educational system is to blame for today's dangerous tendencies, I do not know; but they must be corrected by we will end up with John L. Lewis, or someone else who controls manual labor, the dictator of America. Labor union control can be prevented only as we become less dependent upon their members.

I am no army or navy expert, but I am a statistician. When my Washington friends tell me that one of our bombs will wipe out 50 German buildings, I can reach an important conclusion. For instance, we know how many buildings there are in Germany which if bombed would cause the Germans to surrender. By simple division we know, therefore, how many bombs would be necessary to complete this job and hence how many bombers would be required to make a slaughtering invasion unnecessary at this time.

My Washington friends tell me that we must be prepared to lose from three to five percent of our bombers on each successful raid. Hence, it is only a question of making enough bombers and bombs. This we can do. If this would require dropping 300,000 tons in six months it would mean dropping 50,000 tons a month or 12,000 tons a week. If we must lose a plane for every 50 tons dropped, this would mean a loss of about 6,000 bombers and perhaps 60,000 men in the process of wiping out Germany. To a statistician, it seems a crime to lose the lives of 1,000,000 good Americans in too hasty invasion attempts.

When my associates read this copy they say, "The above four facts are self-evident; but what is needed to bring these changes about?" Well, unfortunately, they cannot be brought about by legislation and I fear education of itself will be unsuccessful. These four great needs require voluntary willingness to sacrifice on the part of all of us for the common good. Only a spiritual awakening can bring this condition about. Hence, only a spiritual awakening can save America.

25 Years Ago

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

The Misses Irene Lyndon and Mildred Hirsch have gone to Detroit where they have accepted positions in the Detroit post-office.

Fred Schaufele has sold his residence property on Kellogg street to Mrs. O. M. Sowle. Mr. Schaufele has purchased a lot across the street and will build a new house thereon.

Born a son to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wingard, Wednesday, July 3.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gayde pleasantly surprised their daughter, Sarah, Sunday afternoon by inviting several of her friends in for dinner, the occasion being her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher of East Plymouth are the proud parents of a fine nine pound boy who arrived at their home Monday evening, July 1st.

Plymouth certainly has reasons to be proud of her Red Cross knitters. In our last issue mention was made of the good work done by Mrs. J. H. Kimble, and now comes Mrs. Harvey Smith, who between the 3rd of April and 30th of June, has knitted and turned in 41 pairs of socks, and is still knitting.

In order that there may be no hoarding of sugar and that a condition may prevail so that all householders may obtain their necessary amount of sugar at all times, the U. S. Food Department has issued a new set of rules that is deemed just and efficient. Retail stores (not customers) are put on a card system. Sales to town customers are limited to two pounds. The retailer is warned not to sell more than three pounds per person per month to householders, whose cooperation with the retailer is earnestly sought. Retailers may at present sell 25 pounds of sugar to anyone in a household for home canning, if he has not bought elsewhere, the household certifies that and his agreement to return any balance not used for canning purposes. There is plenty of sugar for necessary requirements if the government can impress upon the people the absolute necessity of the equal distribution. A purchaser making false statements or acquiring more than his or her allotment by re-purchasing from store to store, is liable to a severe penalty.

A very pretty wedding took place Friday evening, July 5 at the home of A. J. Lapham, when his daughter, Lucy was united in marriage to Paul Ware, the bride was attended by Miss Mae Smith and the bridegroom by his brother, Ralph. Miss Lapham has lived here all her life and is a graduate of Plymouth high school. She was born in the same house in which she was married. Her future home will be near Pontiac.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mrs. Ida Stoneburner and Dr. R. M. Grainger both of this place. Dr. and Mrs. Grainger will continue to make their home here where the doctor enjoys a wide practice as a veterinary surgeon.

Priority Needed For Telephones

New telephone service installations will be subject to priorities, many probably for the duration, under a plan approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission and announced today.

The Commission approved a request by the Michigan Bell Telephone company for authority to set up priorities on new installations for those whose service applications are not within the preferred categories previously established by the War Production Board.

John R. MacLachlan, Plymouth manager, said the No. 1 priority goes to the business user moving to a new address in the same community, No. 2 to the residence user moving to a new address, No. 3 to applicants for new business service, and No. 4 to those applying for new residence service.

He emphasized, however, that, under the new plan, applications for service essential to the prosecution of the war and to the public health or security get first call on new installations.

In approving the company's plan, the Commission said that "restrictions imposed by the War Production Board respecting use of critical materials have made it necessary to delay many telephone installations," pointing out that 17,100 applications for service throughout the company's territory are being held up for lack of facilities. In some instances, it added, "the delay will probably be for the duration of the critical materials situation."

The Commission also said that the "company's obligation to furnish service is dependent upon its ability to secure and retain, without unreasonable expense, suitable facilities and rights for the construction and maintenance of the necessary circuits and equipment."
