All Is Ready For Opening Of Schools Tuesday

Fix Time For Boys And Girls To Report

School Days, School Days, Dear old golden rule days. Readin' and writin' and arithmetic. Taught to the tune of the hickory stick. You were my queen in calico. I was your bashful barefoot beat. You wrote on your slate, "I love you Joe." When we were a couple of kids.

Yes—school days are here again—but what a difference from the school days of long ago, about which the song was written.

There are a lot of people who think that the old time school was the best—and maybe it was, but like everything else there is progress.

About the only thing that is the same today as it was when the song was written, is that there are school days and they are golden rule days.

The boys and girls who will go back to school Tuesday at 12:30 are not much different from the boys and girls who went to a school years ago. There was a lot of talk about how the kids have changed, and how they act differently, but the army and the navy has a different story to tell.

They say that the boys who are fighting the war today are the best soldiers and sailors they have ever had.

And the kids who will go to school next Tuesday are just like those who already have gone into the army and navy.

Readin' and writin' and arithmetic, are still the basic elements of today's schools, but they are the basic elements. Nothing more.

Back in the old days, there wasn't much else. Of course they had a little geography and a little history, but it was a little. Today, reading is useful only for what it gives the students. Writing is essential, but not emphasized as it was in the day of the Spenserian writers.

After all, there are type-writers today which are faster, cleaner, better in every way. So the schools teach typing. And arithmetic is the basis for most of the other subjects which are taught in the schools. Shop work, of all kinds; the sciences, the higher branches of mathematics. These all use the basis of arithmetic. But it is still just a basis.

And today, the three "R's" are not taught to the tune of the hickory stick. There are some old fashioned folks who think that perhaps it should be, but that isn't necessary any more for school has been made so interesting to the teachers have been trained in the correct way to present their subject, that students don't have to be beaten into learning.

Calico is practically unheard of any more. Even if the girls wanted to wear calico dresses, the chances are they couldn't find the calico. They are dressed more simply, and more comfortably. They have to be. The cold weather of today doesn't mean much in comparison with the cold weather of other days. Buildings are better built. They have better heating plants. They are better ventilated.

And boys just don't go barefoot to school anymore. It just isn't done. People are more comfortable with shoes on their feet and they certainly look better. People have more money to buy shoes, with the result that almost everyone has them. Shoes themselves, are lower in cost than they used to be.

And although there isn't all of the paper that we might wish for, it is rather plentiful, and slates are a bit passe.

And so, school will open next Tuesday, with a full complement of teachers. Superintendent of Schools George A. Smith said he didn't know how long he'd be able to keep some of his men teachers because of the draft, but he thought there would be no doubt about the Plymouth schools continuing to get satisfactory teachers throughout the school year.

Reads American News In His Home Town Irish Newspaper

J. J. Wickens of the Plymouth Specialty Feed company sat down the other night to read his old home town paper, The Belfast, Ireland, Weekly Telegraph.

No, he didn't read over the personal columns to see what his boyhood friends were doing—he looked it all over to see what news he could find about American boys over on the other side of the "big pond."

The very first thing he saw was an item about Bob Howe, famed American radio and film star, who knocked the American sailor boys in Ireland "cold" when he attempted to play the bag pipes.

An especially interesting article in the Irish paper told of the exceptional precautions taken by the Allied armies to see to it that the water provided men in the army is pure and plentiful.

Just Can't Keep Him Off Ball Field In Any Part Of World

SGT. JOE SCHOMBERGER

No matter in what part of the world Sergeant Joe Schomberger is sent by the United States army, he either locates a ball field or makes one. Recently he played a game for English folks who never before had witnessed a ball game played in the American style.

Henry Ford Builds A Cherry Hill Factory

Residents Of The Community Elated Over His Interest

This is one of the most amazing of all amazingly interesting news stories.

It is a story not alone of coincidence, although it played a most important part. It is the story of a hobby by a wealthy man, but that too is only a part of the story. It is the story of a small town with country ways, of country kids—and a wealthy man who could help them.

All of the facts are not clear. Perhaps they never will be, for in such matters Henry Ford is a very reticent man. It is difficult to obtain the facts, for Mr. Ford is not one to go about the country side shouting of the good works he has done.

The story really begins when Mr. Ford decided to erect a factory in the Cherry Hill neighborhood where he owns considerable farm land. Why Mr. Ford should have taken a personal interest in the erection of the plant, no one knows. It is not a large plant as Ford plants go. It is not even in operation yet.

But Mr. Ford did take that personal interest, and the residents of Cherry Hill will vouch for the fact that he made almost daily inspection trips to the plant.

No one knows yet what the plant is going to manufacture. Some say it is parts. Some say it is something else. But no one knows, and for the purposes of this story, it doesn't matter.

In the course of his inspection trips to the new plant, Mr. Ford was wont to converse with the youngsters who gathered around to watch the building grow. That is a habit with Mr. Ford. He likes to talk with youngsters.

About six weeks ago, he got into earnest conversation with Lawrence Longwich, an eighth grade student, and Gene McBride, his boy friend.

Lawrence is not exactly sure about just the exact words that were used in the conversation between him and Mr. Ford, but it went something like this:

"How's the school out here, sonny?" asked Mr. Ford.

"All right," said Lawrence. "Pretty good teacher."

"All right, I guess, but the one we had last year is leaving."

"Is that so? Who was it?"

"Miss Stewart."

"Like her?"

"Sure, but we liked Sam Williams, too."

"Who," asked Mr. Ford, "is Sam Williams?"

"Well, he taught here a couple of years ago. He's the principal now over at the Corey School, south of Wayne."

"Like to have him back would you?"

"We sure would," Lawrence said.

Joe Schomberger Makes Sport Page In England

Plymouth Soldier Can't Keep Off Ball Diamonds

No matter in what part of the world Joe Schomberger lands, or what kind of an enemy he is fighting, he just can't keep off the baseball field.

According to the London, England Express and Star, Joe did the star catching in an exhibition game of baseball played before several thousand Englishmen who never before had witnessed a ball game. Joe is now staff sergeant in the U. S. army that has been stationed in England for many months.

A picture of Joe behind the bat was printed in the London Express and Star on June 14, and together with it a description of the game.

Joe used to be manager of the Schrader-Haggerty ball team which caused no end of grief for the other ball clubs in this area.

Here is the story as carried by the London paper:

"Majority of spectators who watched the American ball game between American infantry and air force teams at Molineux on Saturday did not get the thrills anticipated, but all agreed that the fielding and catching were outstanding. The infantry team won by seven runs to two."

"I (the reporter) was particularly impressed with the adeptness of the fields and their ability to run in and catch practically every high ball, but I must confess I would not go out of my way to watch many of these games."

"I liked the way the players tossed off their massive gloves when they changed over to bat so they could be used by their opponents, and the tradition of the 'seventh innings stretch' when all spectators stood up, turned about, and stretched their limbs. Why? Just an old American custom."

"Umpire Lieut. Bert Wiley, who got a nasty crack on his head by the ball but carried on, told me that the rate of scoring was quite comparable with that of an ordinary game. The pitchers pitched very fast and it was possible to get a lot of 'curve' even with the underhand pitching."

"If you wondered why there were spare men near first and third bases I can tell you the answer. They were there to tell the men on bases when to run."

More Fish Are Killed In Rouge

City Manager Clarence Elliott has reported to the state the death of a large number of fish in the Rouge river. He said that they had been sighted by a truck driver at Plymouth road, and he added that the fact that they were seen at Plymouth road is a clear indication that the pollution of the water which kills the fish did not come from the sewers of the city of Plymouth.

The dead fish were seen on Tuesday, and an immediate report was made to the state. Stream pollution investigators were expected later in the week.

Mr. Elliott said that the city has no sewers emptying into the Rouge river north of Plymouth road which could possibly contain a poison that would kill the fish. Inasmuch as the river flows in a southerly direction at that point, he said, the pollution must come from some other source.

About a year ago, there was similar fish deaths reported, and at that time, the pollution was believed to have come from the city.

"This would tend to prove that none of the pollution ever came from the city," said Mr. Elliott.

The City Manager said that there was no proof to what the poison might be, but that cyanide, used by factories in the plating of metals, is believed to have been responsible.

Tip Smith's Rabbit Beats Quintuplet Record All Hollow

The "Tip" Smith family will not be among the Plymouth families that will lack for a meat supply during the forthcoming winter—not unless the OPA cracks down on "TIP's" flourishing rabbit industry.

Being a firm believer in preparedness, Tip sometime ago went into the rabbit business.

The other morning he went out to check over his newly acquired meat producing animals and found to his great surprise that Mrs. Rabbit had presented him with 13 little rabbits during the night.

"Yes sir, there were 13 baby rabbits. But I don't like 13 and one of them didn't look so good, so now I have 12 little rabbits that will soon be sizzling in my frying pan," stated "Tip" yesterday.

He has it all figured out. These twelve young rabbits that arrived in Mrs. Rabbit's hutch the other night, will provide 12 Sunday dinners, beginning the first of January.

That means that during January, February and March, the "Tip" Smiths can have meat from the good work of just one rabbit.

"Never saw rabbits doing any better than are those twelve little fellows," commented "Tip" yesterday as he dished out a plate of beans for a hungry reporter.

Plymouth Girl Is Graduate From Mercy College

MISS MARY L. DAoust

Following three years of intensive study and training at Mercy College in Detroit, and St. Joseph hospital in Ann Arbor, Miss Mary Daoust, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Daoust of 412 Starkweather avenue, has been graduated from Mercy hospital. Parents and friends of the graduates attended the commencement exercises held recently in the Book-Cadillac hotel in Detroit.

Miss Daoust is at present taking additional work in mental cases at Mercywood hospital in Ann Arbor. The youthful nurse, a graduate of Plymouth high school was employed during her high school days in the Community drug store and it was during her experiences as a clerk in the Community that she became interested in the profession in which she has made such rapid progress.

She recently made application for admission to the U. S. Nurses Corps and hopes upon the completion of her new work at Mercywood on the first of October to enter the armed services of the country.

A press release received by The Mail a few days ago from the army flying camp at Carlisbad, New Mexico pertaining to the promotion of Elmer Wm. Kreeger of this city, inadvertently omitted the first name of Elmer. Because the second name was used, there was some confusion among the many Plymouth Mail readers as to just who had been promoted. It was Elmer Kreeger, whose middle name is William.

Wacs and Waves to Help Junior Chamber of Commerce Sell Bonds

Less Gas To Be Allowed For Automobile Use

More Walking In Prospect Says Chairman Wood

There is going to be considerably more walking done in the future.

William Wood chairman of the Plymouth War Price and Rationing Board, and Carl Shear, chairman of the gasoline panel of the board, said that cuts in gasoline allowances have been made for from 25 to 50 per cent of the automobile drivers.

All salesmen (and there were no exceptions) were dropped from whatever amount they had been receiving, to 470 miles of occupational driving, and that is a severe blow to some of them.

One salesman reported that he had been receiving 2100 miles a month. Now he gets 470 miles.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," he said.

The draft board had an answer for him: "Get into war production."

This particular salesman was contributing nothing to the war effort.

On the other hand, the board has not been too hard on those persons who are contributing to the war program in one way or another. If they need the gasoline to get to and from their war plant work, the chances are they got it unless there was some extraneous circumstances which would effect the disposition of their case.

The board pointed out that a large number of persons who have "C" coupons left over have not traded them for the new type "C" coupons. The old type are not good after last Wednesday morning.

Dark Days Ahead For Sportsmen—No Shells On Market

Merchants Can Sell What They Have To Restricted Few

It begins to look as though there isn't going to be much hunting done by a goodly number of Plymouth sportsmen this fall, unless by good fortune, they have shells left over from last season.

It has just become generally known that Plymouth's ammunition dealers recently received orders from the government which forbids them from selling shotgun shells to any one except law enforcing officers, plant guards, special guards, and to farmers and ranchers under special conditions.

The order eliminates sales to all sportsmen—and the opening of the duck season is less than 30 days away.

There have been rumors that there are some prospects of this order being rescinded for the hunting season, but these are nothing more than rumors. One story said that the government might permit the sale of one box of shells to each person who secures a hunting license. But there is no official announcement to this effect.

It looks very much as though there will not be much hunting done by any one this fall, except by those who fortunately have shells left over from last year.

Soldier Sends His Fiance Beautiful Rug From Persia

It is not often that a prospective husband is so thoughtful as Sergeant Arthur Dickie of Plymouth, who is stationed somewhere in the historical land of Persia.

The other day Miss Marion Crumb received from her soldier fiance a beautiful Persian rug, a bracelet and two hand carved pearl rings made in Persia.

Her prized possessions from the Biblical lands arrived in perfect condition.

More Toys Are Needed At Salvation Army Day School

Kids being what they are, just kids, they have a habit of destroying things—toys for instance.

At least that is what has happened to the toys that were collected at the Salvation Army day nursery. They've just been worn out, and they need some new ones.

Any one having any old toys, should contact the Day Nursery school on Mill street and leave the toys.

Stores Will Be Closed Monday, Labor Day

Factories Will Operate—No Celebration Here

Next Monday will be a strange Labor Day. It will indeed.

One of the few similarities between Labor Day this year and any other year is the fact that it comes on the first Monday in September.

Only other similarity will be that the stores and shops in Plymouth will be closed for the holiday. But not the factories. They will continue to operate, turning out the munitions of war.

There won't be for at least there isn't supposed to be any mass migration of the population to summer resorts, which normally close their doors after the Labor Day holiday. Gasoline, at three gallons a coupon, is too precious to be wasted on trips to the lake or river.

And the ration board says flatly that no extra gasoline will be granted for such trips.

One woman applied at the ration board last week for gasoline to go to her cottage and close it for the winter. But as far as the ration board is concerned, it will have to remain open all winter.

Even those persons who have the necessary gasoline for the trip may find it inadvisable to make it, especially if the cottage is any distance from home.

Checkers have a rather nasty habit of stopping automobiles at main junction points and asking rather embarrassing questions.

Here in Plymouth, there will be no celebration of any kind, except that business establishments in the downtown area will close.

Chairman James Houk Says Everything Is Ready For Drive Saturday, Sept. 11

Wacs and Waves and perhaps Spars and Marines will participate in Plymouth's war bond rally on Saturday, Sept. 11, it was announced this week by James Houk, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Plymouth's third war bond drive will get under way at 9 o'clock on Sept. 11, with a parade of "gallants" who will sell bonds throughout the day, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls, who will sell stamps on the streets.

Elmer Austin of the Austin Taxicab service has offered to give a free taxi ride to any person within the city limits of Plymouth who finds it necessary to come down town on the day of the big drive in order to buy a war bond. But to get the free taxi ride a war bond MUST be purchased that day. The taxi phone number is 576.

The parade will be headed by the high school band, and probably a display of motorized army equipment. The parade will be reviewed by officers of the Waves and Wacs, and if obtainable, Spars and Marines.

All members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and all others who can be enlisted, will sell bonds on the streets throughout the day.

Arrangements have been made to park a large bus near Kellogg Park and bonds will be issued there throughout the day.

"We want to set a new record for our sale," said Mr. Houk. "This is our opportunity to participate in the war program. Everyone can participate. A dime means participation, for a dime will buy a war stamp."

Houk said that every effort is being made to make the entire day one of the greatest patriotic rallies ever held in the city.

The band will play throughout the day if it can be arranged, but everywhere the workers will be selling, selling the war bonds to pay for the planes and tanks and jeeps and all the other myriad implements of war.

"It shouldn't be very difficult to sell the bonds," said Mr. Houk. "After all, we are not asking for charity. We're asking for a loan."

"We're selling pieces of paper which bear the promise of the United States government to return our money with interest."

"This is a small enough contribution to the war. We are sitting here at home, literally protected by a wall of steel and fish and blood which has been erected by our fathers, brothers and sons."

"But without the implements of war, they are just flesh and blood standing there. We've got to sell bonds. Michigan's quota for this war bond drive is $451,000,000. Plymouth's quota is about a million and a half dollars. That should be easy to obtain."

Large Numbers Visit New Store Plymouth Welcomes Newest Venture

What had been expected to have been a one day opening for Plymouth's new Taylor & Blynton drapery store on Penniman avenue, has proved to be a week-long event.

Seemingly the number of visitors has increased as the days of the week rolled along.

"Never expected anything like this," commented Mr. Blynton as he hurried from the Main street department store over to the new Penniman avenue drapery store yesterday.

It simply goes to show that an attractive looking store, with a display of fine goods such as appeal to the critical eyes of careful women buyers, will instantly meet the approval of the buying public.

The opening was a grand success. The number of visitors was far beyond any expectations of the store owners. Not only were there large numbers of visitors, but very many of those who came to see the new store, remained to become customers as well.

Mr. Blynton and his many efficient clerks are highly pleased with the reception given Plymouth's newest retail venture.

Eastern Star To Meet Tuesday Eve

There will be a regular meeting of the Order of Eastern Star Tuesday evening, September 7 at 7:30, a social hour with refreshments following. The members are planning for a rummage sale to be held later in the month.

Completes Harvard Course—Ready For Services In Navy

ENSIGN KENNETH GUST

Following six months of diligent work at Harvard in Cambridge, Mass., Ensign Kenneth Gust has completed his course in naval communications and is at present at home in Plymouth enjoying a brief leave of absence.

He will report to some Pacific coast city about the middle of September for active service with the Pacific fleet. Ensign Gust, a graduate of the Plymouth high school, the Michigan State Normal at Ypsilanti and Wayne University, is enthusiastic over his naval assignment.

Previous to joining the navy, he was an instructor in the Dearborn public schools. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sackett.

Mrs. Gust and their little son Kenneth II will remain in Plymouth. They spent the past two months in Cambridge with Ensign Gust.

Grease Total For This Month Is Doubled!

Big Job Laid Out For Collectors Of War "Munitions"

Plymouth slipped a bit during August in its grease collection for Uncle Sam—not much, just a little.

But Mrs. R. D. Merriman, energetic chairman of the collection committee, declares that the city will make up for its August slump during September.

"We collected a total of 1,610 pounds during August. It should have been much more. Many of the Girl Scouts who have been giving us such excellent help were away on brief vacations and preparing to return to school and the Red Cross workers had much other work to do, so our grease collection worker slipped a bit," stated Mrs. Merriman yesterday.

"But through the excellent cooperation of Mr. Unger, who collected 780 pounds, our total went up considerably. That's enough to make a sufficient amount of explosives to sink two Jap battleships."

"We are going to do much better in September. I have set the total for two tons of grease in Plymouth. That's 4,000 pounds! Will we make it? That all depends upon the cooperation of the good housewives of this city. I am confident that we will more than double the amount we have collected any month so far, if everybody works—and I am sure they will."

And that's the kind of spirit which keeps Plymouth right up in front in all of its war activities.

Hillside Breaks All Records In Number Of Patrons

Jake Stremich, owner of the Hillside barbecue, reports that despite gasoline rationing, he is doing the biggest business in the history of the popular restaurant.

Sunday before last was the biggest day he has ever had, he reported with tables filled most of the day.

"We have thought at times in the past when thousands of Detroiters went through here on Saturdays to Ann Arbor football games that we served a lot of people. But our biggest days during the football season are nothing compared with the crowds we now have. And the amazing thing about it is the fact that we are doing it with much less help than we had at that time. We are simply working harder, and longer hours, that's all," explained Jake.

Obituaries

MRS. EDWIN N. SESSIONS

The funeral of Mrs. Edwin N. Sessions of Northville, mother of James Sessions of this city and founder of the Sessions hospital in Northville, was held Sunday from the Schrader funeral home in that place. She died last Thursday night.

Mrs. Sessions, one of the best known residents in this part of Wayne county, had won a wide circle of friends and acquaintances through the high type of hospital service she started and maintained in Northville for more than a quarter of a century.

From girlhood it had always been her ambition to own a hospital where patients would receive the same careful attention as members of a family would give. The success of the Sessions hospital provided ample proof that her ideals were well founded.

Although in ill health during recent years, she never lost interest in the activities of the hospital that she created. It was ill health which forced her to sell the institution several years ago, but whenever she felt able to do so, she went to the hospital to aid in ministering aid to the suffering.

She was born in Hubbardston, Ionia county, April 11, 1877. Her maiden name was Winnifred May Chick. It was some 35 years ago when the family moved to Waterford and it was shortly after this when she established the Northville hospital.

WILLIAM SOCKOW

Mr. Sockow is survived by his son, Earl H. Sockow of Plymouth, two grandchildren, Joan and Gary, his mother, Mrs. Mary Sockow of Salem township, three brothers and five sisters, Fred of Northville township, John and Albert, both of Plymouth, Mrs. Jennie Weed of Salem township, Mrs. Minnie Sowles, Mrs. Iva Humburger and Mrs. Ida Morgan, all of Plymouth and Mrs. Emma Fleishman of Northville township, a host of other relatives and friends. Rev. Cora Pennell of Salem will officiate. Two beautiful hymns will be rendered on the organ by Mrs. J. T. Chapman. The active pallbearers are Messrs. Clarence Sherwood, Earl Fisher, Charles Rengert, Lauren felt, Orville Wright and Willard Geer. Interment will be made in Pray cemetery, Superior township.

Although fruit flies, mice, guinea pigs and other lower forms of life have helped advance the study of human diseases, no creature in the world reacts to all germs in the same way as man.

When Spanish settlers in the South spoke to Negro children they used the phrase "Pequini Nino" which meant little child. It sounded to Americans like "pickaninny," and this mispronunciation of the Spanish words has become part of the language.

Axis Prisoners Get Medical Care, Good Food

Axis prisoners captured in the North African and Sicilian victories will probably total approximately 340,000. Transporting these men to prison camps, feeding them, plus providing medical care for them, are major war problems. Left: Wounded Axis prisoners on stretchers covering a landing dock in North Africa. Brought from a field hospital by Red Cross ambulances, they await shipment to more permanent hospitals and prison camps. Top right: The dish for which their country is famous—spaghetti—entices these Italian prisoners. Bottom right: A wounded German soldier is given a blood transfusion by another German soldier.

Normandie Floats Again—Soon to Be Erect

The USS Lafayette, formerly the French luxury liner, Normandie, will once again sail the seas despite the devastating fire of February 9, 1941, which swept through her and the 100,000 tons of water which were poured into her hull sending her crashing to the bottom of the Hudson river. A corps of 70 divers and 700 workmen have her rapidly on the way up in the final stages of the second tremendous naval salvage operation of recent weeks. The other record setting ship raising and refitting was at Pearl Harbor. Left: The Normandie just after she rolled over. Despite the intense fire and the hundreds of workmen aboard only one life was lost. Right: It has been necessary to paint new numbers on this measuring tape to keep pace with the rapid rise of the ship.

The Plymouth Mail desires to be of as much service to its want ad customers as possible, but we find recently that many who charge want ads do not send remittance promptly. Our rate is so low that it makes it expensive to send out statements for such small amounts. We do not desire to put the want ad column on a cash basis, but unless remittances are more prompt, it will be necessary to do so. It will be appreciated if want ad payments are made more promptly.

Doesn't Blow Out Filter
Whisky, after it has been stored in charred oak barrels for several years, must be filtered for char and color from the barrel. Pulp filters handle the largest volume of liquid per cycle, plate-and-frame filters have the lowest operating cost, and stone filters have the highest flow rates per square foot of filtering area, the lowest pressure drops, low operating cost, and when the filters become dirty, the flow rate decreases without danger of blowing out the filter, according to Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

school. They contacted County Superintendent of Schools Fred Fischer, who approved the plan. The next step was to get Sam Williams, but Sam was under contract to the Corey school, but the board there was not to stand in his way if he could move into a model school like the one at Cherry Hill. So he was released from his contract.

There are stories about the salary that Mr. Williams will receive, but they seem only incidental to the whole story, and can be passed over.

The facts are that today, the little red brick school house, which stood at the corner of Cherry Hill and Ridge Roads, is now a modern three room school.

There is the main room, where the older youngsters will be under the watchful eye of the teacher; they themselves asked for. Behind that room is a smaller one, which is new, and will be for the smaller youngsters, who will be taught by Mrs. Williams.

Off to the side is another room. It hasn't been decided just what that room will be used for. It may be used for cooking hot lunches for the children, or it may be used for the installation of some sewing machines for the girls, and a drill press for the boys.

If it is used for the latter, then the hot lunches will be cooked in the basement, which was scooped out for the installation of a furnace and a water pump and all of the other conveniences that go to make a school modern.

The outside has been changed too. It is plastered over with cement, with a little cupola tower, which makes it look like some of the other little buildings in Mr. Ford's Greenfield Village.

All Cherry Hill is exceedingly proud of its new school—and its new factory, but most of all its new school, which sits on the corner under the big shade trees that have grown there for a century or more. The people of the community literally beam when they discuss it.

"Mr. Ford does a lot of things like that that no one ever hears about," said one housewife. "But if we'd have gone to him and asked him to take over this school, he probably would have had nothing to do with it. He just likes the kids. He sure does. He likes the kids."

The school board — well the school board won't talk about the business at all, except of course what is on the records of the school district.

And the Ford Motor Co., says equally as much. A public relations man said: "The Ford Motor Co. has no information on the Cherry Hill project."

Ninety-six cents out of every dollar goes for War expenditures. The other four cents goes for Government expenses "as usual."

VICTORY'S SONS

DEEP in enemy waters a U. S. submarine was on the prowl. Seaman Dick Breckenridge was on war patrol.

During a quick dive off Japan a hatch jammed. Came the command, "Abandon conning tower."

There was a general scramble for below, but Breckenridge ignored the order. In a split second he had made his decision. The hatch must be closed to save precious machinery, and he was the man to do it. With water pouring in on him, and death at his elbow, he closed the hatch, thanking God for his strong right arm. His heroic action saved his submarine, enabling it later to sink 29,600 tons of Jap shipping.

Breckenridge was the first enlisted man in the submarine service to receive the navy cross in this war. WNU Features

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 76): "The sinless joy,—the perfect harmony and immortality of Life, possessing unlimited divine beauty and goodness without a single bodily pleasure or pain,—constitutes the only veritable, indestructible man, whose being is spiritual."

Two Yanks Take 1,027; Flier Missing 72 Days

Engine trouble forced Staff Sgt. William I. Coffeen (left) of Chicago, a marine flier, to bail out over the Central Solomon islands. He lived on coconuts and whatever he could find in the jungle until he located friendly natives. A navy rescue plane picked him up 72 days later. He is pictured as he looked shortly after arriving at a naval base. Center: Lieut. Louis Testa, who with Capt. R. F. Gerard (right) conducted a two-man campaign that netted them three Sicilian islands and 1,027 Italian prisoners at a cost of only $3—the rental price of the fishing boat on which they rode to the islands. They also took nine small tanks and ammunition.

Good Old Uncle Sam Sends 'Notes' To Taxpayers

Tells All About New System Of Paying Income Tax

Giles Kavanagh, collector of internal revenue, announced today that 1,800,000 copies of the Declaration of Estimated Income for the Calendar Year 1943, had been mailed out to taxpayers in the Michigan district. It is estimated that a large number of taxpayers in the district will be required under the Current Payment Tax Act of 1943 to file the form, on or before September 15 and make payment of at least half the amount of the balance of 1943 tax estimated to be due at that time.

While most taxpayers will not be required to file the Declaration, Collector Kavanagh said, because they are paying their tax in full through the withholding deductions made by their employers, he urged all taxpayers to read carefully the instruction sheets which accompanied the forms to determine whether they are required to make a declaration, so as to avoid penalties for either failure to file or for making substantial under estimates of 1943 income.

Many persons do not realize, Collector Kavanagh said, that the withholding tax does not automatically make all persons current on their 1943 incomes. Generally speaking, single persons earning over $2,700 a year or married persons earning over $3,500 a year; those with outside incomes such as from dividends, interest, rents, professional fees or business profits, and those classes not subject to withholdings, such as persons in the armed forces, clergymen, domestic servants and farm labor, will all be required to file declarations in order to place all taxpayers on an equal footing.

"If there is doubt in any one's mind as to whether he or she will have to file a declaration," Collector Kavanagh said, "I suggest that they communicate with this office at the earliest opportunity and we will be glad to help them."

Collector Kavanagh urges every income taxpayer to study carefully the instructions recently received from him, with a view to making certain whether or not he or she is obliged by the law to file this September 15th Declaration and make an income tax payment at that time.

Chief of Division, Siersma, further states that he will have a full staff of deputies on hand to assist taxpayers in making their 1943 declarations; the branch office is located at 1010

Mason street, West Dearborn. Office hours are from 8:00 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. daily.

Home canners have been warned by the U.S. Department of Agriculture against the use of "canning powders" and other chemical preservatives. W. G. Campbell, Commissioner of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, said that use of some of the "canning powders" constitutes a definite health hazard. The term "canning powders," includes boric acid and its compounds and substances like metabisulfite which yield sulfur dioxide when brought in contact with an acid-reacting food product. The safe way for the home canner is to process foods adequately with heat and not to use chemical preservatives. For safety's sake, rely on thorough heat sterilization.

Draft Board Makes Near Perfect Record

Plymouth Officials Seldom Reversed On Appeals

The Plymouth draft board is believed to have one of the best records of any of the draft boards in the country.

Of all the appeals which have been made from the local draft board classifications, only two or three have actually been granted.

Short term deferments have been made in other cases for specific reasons over which the local board has no control.

"For instance," said Walter Harms, chairman of the Plymouth board, "we'll take a young fellow who is reclassified into 1A. He tells us that he is about to become a father—in from one to four months, and that he wishes the induction into the army could be withheld until that time.

"The local board has no authority to withhold his induction for that reason. But the appeals board has. He appeals and gives reasons, and the appeals board will grant him a deferment and the appeal board does."

Mr. Harms says that the boys in Plymouth have shown little inclination to escape army service. Appeals have been made in a lot of cases, but most of them have been by factories or by individuals who are financially selfish.

Most of those who are attempting to escape from army service, says Mr. Harms, are those who are afraid they will be financially in the deal, and of course they will. It is no pleasant to fight a war—or to pay for it, but sometimes it has to be done.

Some cases have been cited where the prospective soldier owned his own business, and it would fail if he went to the army, but unless that man was contributing to the war effort, he went in the army whether his business failed or not.

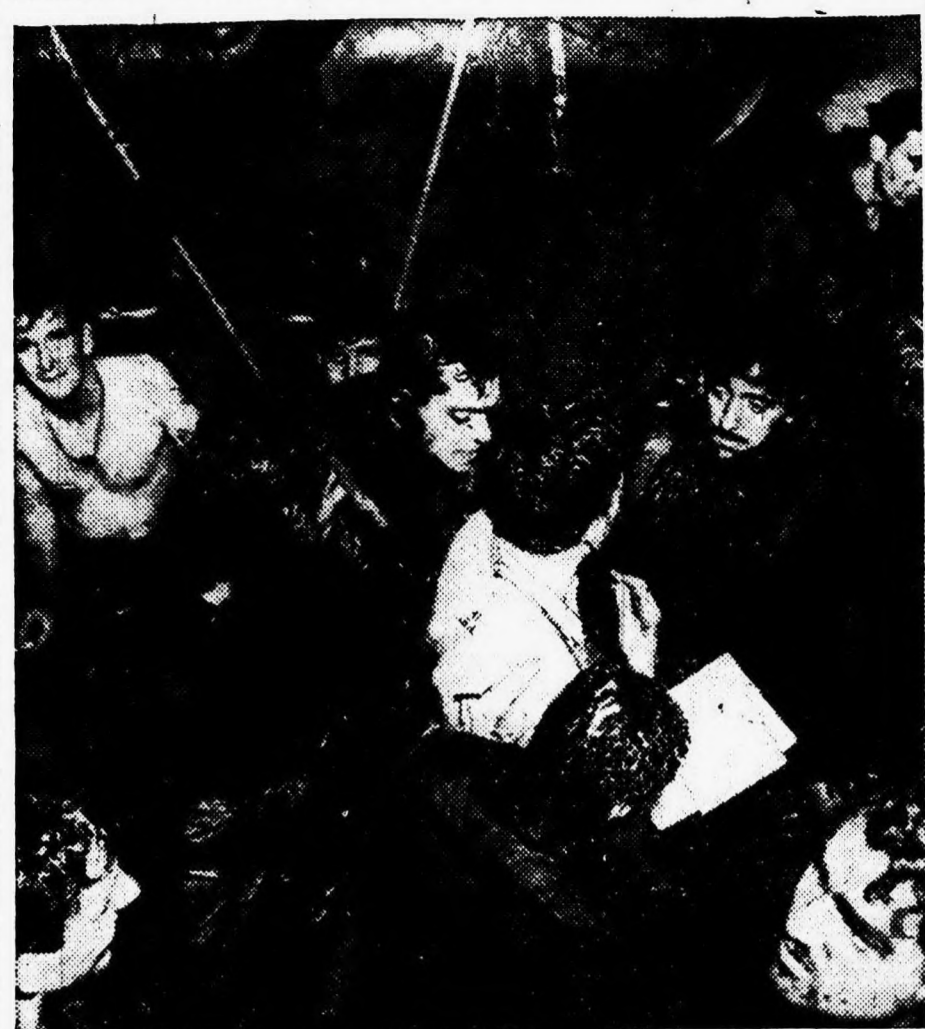

It isn't pleasant being the chairman of the draft board.

"But on the other hand," said Mr. Harms, "there are outstanding cases of where men have said that they wanted nothing to do with the war, that they could do everything they could stay out of it, and then have blundered for service."

"That is largely a matter of their own conscience. They have to live with themselves. Then of course there is the matter of public opinion."

But Mr. Harms estimated that all those who have sought to escape from army service, that of more than one per cent, a very, very small minority, are towards. They are, he said, simply selfish. They want to get out of these high wages that they are getting.

Helena Survivors After Kula Gulf Battle

The USS Helena, a cruiser, helped sink two Japanese cruisers and three destroyers during a naval battle in the Kula gulf, but was sent to the bottom while "working on another" destroyer, according to her captain, Charles Purcell Cecil. Total enemy losses were five destroyers and four light cruisers. Survivors of the Helena are shown answering roll call after the battle.

Land Reverting To City - Officials Plan For Its Use

Taxes Not Paid, State Now Has Control Of Land

The City Planning Commission is undertaking a survey of city real estate business, said City and state owned property within Manager Clarence H. Elliott, the city limits to determine what business or residential lots from present time and after the war. Considerable property is already city owned, much of it designated for specific purposes. In addition, there are a considerable number of lots which have reverted to the state for non-payment of taxes. These can be claimed by the city from the state, if they are wanted.

On the other hand, it was learned reliably that the city does not want to claim the lots merely for speculation.

"We don't want to go into the real estate business," said City and state owned property within Manager Clarence H. Elliott, the city limits to determine what business or residential lots from the state and hold them until such time as some one wants to build on them.

On the other hand, if there is some general public use which can be made of the lots, the city intends to use them.

No definite commitments have been made for the use of any of the lots, but suggestions have been made for some of them.

For instance, there are a group of state-owned lots between Sutherland and Carol streets, west of Harvey street, which are heavily wooded and it is believed would make an ideal park area.

There is some discussion of making a parking lot of some state-owned lots in the vicinity of Elizabeth and Ann Arbor Trail.

Two or three lots on Stark-weather avenue, just across the tracks from the Pere Marquette railroad station will make an ideal location for a fire station in the future.

These are the plans which the City Planning Commission must make and recommend to the City Commission for action.

Harry Irwin's Pigs Grow Fat

Like Judge Pickard. He Can't Kill 'Em

It begins to look as though only the most prominent among prominent Democrats are the ones getting all "hot up" about this pig killing business that the OPA has taken under its wing.

It seems that Federal Judge Frank Pickard, popular and prominent Democratic leader of Michigan, had a one-half interest in one pig. According to Detroit news dispatches he came near getting his fingers burned when he decided to kill the over-fed porker for some badly needed pork chops.

Suddenly he ran into some bureaucratic regulations that said pig owners couldn't kill their own pigs for pork chops, hams or even spare ribs.

It is not understood that the Judge tried to bargain for a few spare ribs—he just surrendered, called it a day—and quit cold.

But here's the sad part of the whole story. Plymouth's most prominent Democrat, his honor, Postmaster Harry Irwin, is in a worse pig jam than Judge Pickard and recently experienced.

General Harry has two pigs—think of it. And the good Judge only had a half of a pig to worry about! That half a pig, 'tis said, almost ruined the kindly disposition of the kindly Judge.

And it looks as though Postmaster Irwin's two pigs are not only going to cause him plenty of worry during the next few months, but they are going to eat him right out of house and home.

Harry has been hand-feeding the porkers and as a result they have developed such ravenous appetites that he just can't keep enough pork vitamins on hand to sit up their squeals.

"They wake me up before sunrise and they keep me awake late in the evening. They keep squealing right up until I go out there and give them another helping of this or that—mostly that. And now they say I can't butcher either one of them," wailed kindly Harry the other day.

"I guess I will have to keep feeding them until the war is over. I don't see any other way out of it," said the postmaster.

Kindly Mr. Irwin denied emphatically the statement that he had named one of his pigs Henry and the other Wallace in honor of the man who directed that the little piglets in this country be shot and burned at the stake. Yes, this is the same Henry Wallace, who is now saving everybody should raise more piggies they can't make into pork chops.

No wonder Judge Pickard and Postmaster Irwin are all mixed up in this pig killing business. First the Democrats wanted to kill off all the pigs, now the same Democrats have fixed it so they can't kill pigs without unwinding six balls and a half of red tape.

The Plymouth Mail desires to be of as much service to its want ad customers as possible, but we find recently that many who charge want ads do not send remittance promptly. Our rate is so low that it makes it expensive to send out statements for such small amounts. We do not desire to put the want ad column on a cash basis, but unless remittances are more prompt, it will be necessary to do so. It will be appreciated if want ad payments are made more promptly.

Rationing Board Asks For Return

The Plymouth Price and Rationing Board has received numerous reports that duplicate ration books have been received by a number of families in Plymouth.

There is no explanation as to how or why these books were issued. Mistakes were made somewhere and some families have more than their share of the new ration books.

Duplicates of these ration books should be turned in immediately to the ration board. It is a violation for more than one book to be in the hands of any person at one time. The books are, of course, government property.

It is admitted that the chances of detecting the duplicate books is rather slim, but it is felt that no person will want more than their fair share of the rationed products.

Possible Nazi Triangular Defense Line

Italy's exit from the war, military experts believe, would force Germany to abandon Greece, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria, thus losing 600,000 satellite troops and necessitating a 6,000-mile defense line with about 5,500,000 men. The line may run triangularly from Narvik, Norway, to Bordeaux, France, to Odessa in the Ukraine, then back north to Narvik. Neutral Sweden and Switzerland fall inside the triangle but Sweden has announced that such movements must end August 20.

Electricity is not rationed. But each time you turn on an electric light in your home, each time you plug in an electric appliance, you are using vital war materials. Electricity requires coal for its manufacture. Thousands of tons are burned every day in large Detroit Edison power plants—coal that is brought in by boat and by rail. Besides coal, large quantities of other materials are also needed—oil, for example. All of these represent precious manhours of labor.

There is no shortage of generating machinery in this area. But a saving of electricity means a saving of coal . . . and saving coal means releasing more transportation facilities for the job of carrying guns and oil and other war materials to our armed forces. Careful, reasonable use of electricity is a patriotic duty now—in store, office and home. Help conserve electricity by reducing your use. The Detroit Edison Company.

Old Timers Talk Of Fralick Ave.

Recall Days When Street Was A Creek

Two of Plymouth's best known "old timers" turned the pages of local history back a half century or more the other day when they stood on Main street watching contractors prepare Fralick avenue for a paved surface.

Edward C. Hough, who "grew up" on Main street on the bank of the creek that flowed down the "valley" where paving contractors are now working, reminded Ernest Roe, that, "Up there a little ways stood an old barn. And down the creek on the other side of Main street near my home was some of the finest water cross that ever grew hereabouts. Along the banks there were patches of horse radish that provided the village with a good portion of its relish."

Then declared Mr. Roe: "Well, right there, Ed, where the Ellis restaurant is now located, stood an old blacksmith shop. Of course you remember the foot bridges that crossed the creek on each side of Main street. In the middle of the street was a bridge for buggy and wagon traffic. As I remember it, the foot bridges were something like four feet above the water. We used to stand on the bridges and watch the minnows swim up and down the creek. At times we used to have some real floods along here."

Then said Mr. Hough: "And as the village grew, how the creek did smell in summer time. Everybody who lived up the creek over beyond Harvey and up towards Penniman woods where the creek started, dumped all waste in the creek. Finally they began to fill the creek in. There was a sort of path down along the side of the creek bed. Finally it became Gravel street, and later they named it Fralick avenue. The old Fralick home stood right back of the site now occupied by the Henderson residence."

Q. Does an album filled with Stamps automatically become a Bond that will mature in 10 years?

A. No. It must be exchanged for a Bond, and it will bear no interest until it is so exchanged.

Q. Can payment of a War Savings Bond be made to the receiver or trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of a registered owner?

A. Yes, when bankruptcy or insolvency has been adjudicated and request for payment has been duly executed.

Q. Can I authorize my employer to set aside portions of my salary each pay day until enough is accumulated to buy a War Savings Bond?

A. Yes, if your employer has installed a Pay-Roll Savings Plan. More than 24 million wage and salary earners are saving their money this way.

Q. Can I invest a lump sum in War Bonds and receive from the investment a return in the nature of an annuity?

A. No. The purchase of each War Savings Bond is a separate transaction. Each Bond is dated as of the first of the month in which payment for it is received by an authorized issuing agent, and matures exactly 10 years from that date.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, up to 10 years, the more valuable they become.

Dad Plymouth Writes Again

Dear Parents:

Well it was funny to see, but it was rather pathetic, too. But the story I'm about to tell you is an example of what is going on among you parents here in Plymouth. I won't mention any names, but it did happen.

A Saturday or so ago, the police got a call that there was a naked kid paddling about the ladies' rest room at the city parking lot. Well, the police went down there, and sure enough there was the naked kid. He couldn't have been much over two.

The police got him a small suit, and a few minutes later came another report that there was another one—and as naked as the first one.

When the police got there that time, the mother of the two kids was there, too. And she was slapping the second kid—who was three years old—and berating him because he hadn't taken care of his baby brother, both of whom she'd left in a parked car while she shopped.

Now those are the facts. Believe it or not.

And I just got to thinking that maybe there is a prime example of what this world is coming to. Imagine a mother slapping her three year old son because he hadn't taken care of his two year old brother. Now there was nothing unusual about this mother. She wasn't a stranger in this community.

And any other mother—or father—who doesn't take care of their children, whether they are two, three or thirteen or fourteen, is no better than that mother who locked her children in an automobile and went off and left them for no telling how long.

That's what I'm trying to say. The future of the world is in the hands of the parents—but heaven should help such parents as these.

Father Plymouth.

Use Correct Ration Forms

It Will Help Work Of The Board

Severe delays are being encountered by some Plymouth motorists in obtaining renewal of their "B" and "C" gasoline rations because of their failure to use the proper forms in filing their renewals and because of their failure to properly fill in the forms.

Ration board officials cautioned all motorists to be sure to follow instructions in filling out the forms, and to include their tire inspection records with their applications when they are sent to the board.

The ration board also cautioned motorists whose "C" coupons do not expire until after Sept. 1 to call at the board and exchange their remaining coupons for the new type which will be used effective on that date.

No Infantile Paralysis Here

Health Officer Keeps Careful Watch

City Health Director, Dr. Luther Peck, said this week that no cases of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) have been reported in the city, although a strict watch is being kept for any possible outbreak.

Reports of the disease of almost epidemic proportions in some sections of the middle west has prompted the doctor to take more than his ordinarily good precautions.

He said that he is watching all possible signs of water pollution not only for polio, but also for mosquitoes and other germ breeding places and requiring that they be cleaned up immediately.

Seemingly the craving of the drunkard for liquor is mild compared to the craving of the fat girl for white rolls and ice cream.

Parents Are Asked To Help

The Canteen Club, which provides going away kits for all service men, has run into a snag, which requires the help of the public to remedy.

The trouble all concerns sailors, or rather the Plymouth men who are going to be sailors.

It seems that the sailors don't have as much time between the time they are accepted for the service and the time they actually leave home as do the soldiers who enter the army.

Consequently, sailors frequently have departed from Plymouth before the Canteen Club through its official sources has obtained the name of the sailor and the time he is leaving.

Therefore, the Canteen Club requests that relatives and friends of men going into the navy notify Mrs. Raymond Carley, 1260, or in the evenings Arno Thompson at the city hall, and the going away kit will be delivered before the man leaves the city.

VIRTUOUS MR. HIGGINS

So the Honorable George N. Higgins of Ferndale was offered cash — real money — if he would vote against the anti-chain bank bill passed during a recent session of the state legislature!

But the Honorable Mr. Higgins says he refused the money, he wants nothing tainted. That's what he told The Free Press before he went in to testify before the grand jury in Lansing the other day.

Amen! That's real honesty for you! Amen, again!

But when the bribe was offered him in the shoe shine parlor of the Olds hotel in Lansing, why didn't he grab the fellow around the neck and yell to high Heaven until a police officer arrived to arrest the would-be briber?

Yes, why not? It's a crime for any one to attempt to bribe a legislator, you know.

Further, the Honorable Mr. Higgins sayeth that he knew about Representative Stenson having been given a "big roll of bills" for his vote — and that HE, the virtuous Honorable Mr. Higgins, threatened to expose his roommate if he, Stenson, didn't immediately return the money to the unknown briber.

Glory to honesty! More glory to the loud-talking lawmaker from Oakland county! Glory to 'em all!

It is difficult beyond expression to understand how any public official occupying such a high position as that of a state legislator could know that such a crime as bribery had been attempted and not report it to the police or prosecuting attorney.

Not one word was ever uttered publicly about it by the good Mr. Higgins until after the Detroit Civic League had made its demand for a grand jury to investigate reports of legislative bribery.

How well we recall one pleasant evening during the recent senatorial campaign spent before the Republican Woman's Club of Royal Oak.

The Honorable George N. Higgins, the man who is so gloriously upholding the virtues of political honesty in Lansing, was present at the meeting. In fact he seemed to have much to do with the whole affair.

Your humble editor was a candidate for high public office at that time. It was because of this fact that we assume we were extended the courtesy of an invitation to make a very brief talk before the assembled Republican ladies of Royal Oak.

It is rarely that the writer is ever late at a meeting of any kind, but that night the political ballyhooping was nearly over before we entered the hall.

"Ye editor" was soon invited to speak—briefly. During our talk considerable emphasis was placed upon the fact that what little money was being used in our campaign for the senatorial nomination was coming out of "ye editors' own pocket and that no political contributions had been accepted from any source. We felt that under such circumstances our nomination and election would leave us with a free hand to serve the best interests of all the people of Michigan.

Then it was that the Honorable George N. Higgins, who is now holding high the flaming torch of honesty and integrity in the Lansing parade, frowned deeply at our somewhat emphatic statement about the use of large campaign funds.

As we resumed our seat, up rose the majestic defender of all that is pure and holy in politics, the Honorable Mr. Higgins.

"I want Mr. Eaton to know that I'm managing the campaign in Michigan of his opponent. I want him to know that I am donating all of my time to this campaign, for which I am not receiving one cent. I am paying all of my expenses and I am donating the use of my automobile, tires and gas to help nominate and elect my candidate" sayeth with great emphasis the Honorable Mr. Higgins to the Republican ladies of Royal Oak in the presence of your humble ex-candidate for the United States senate.

One of the shortcomings of "ye editor" has been his curiosity, a desire to look under the tinsel and see what's under cover.

So after the clouds of the election battle had blown away and the election accounts had been properly sworn to and filed, "ye editor" ambled down to the courthouse in Detroit and looked through the big files of election statements that had been placed on record by various candidates, committees and others interested in the nomination and election of a United States senator.

And would you believe it! Just like the magician pulling a rabbit out of the hat, came forth sworn figures which showed that the Honorable George N. Higgins of Oakland county had sliced off a grand total of $2,791.38 as his portion of the $32,000 campaign jack-pot used to nominate and elect the Honorable Mr. Higgins' candidate to the office to which "ye editor" had aspired.

Pretty good pay for seven or eight weeks of "donated" time, and expenses, wouldn't you say?

Oh hum! Isn't it funny how some things make you so tired?

AL, DON'T YOU KNOW?

From Al Weber's fearless and independent Cheboygan Observer was taken the following brief editorial paragraph the other day:

"At least four federal snoops have been putting up at a local hotel for some time, spending most of their time checking up passing cars, in fact contributing their mite toward discouraging summer visitors to visit the north without authority from this Washington OPA thing that continues to block means for people and business to carry on. Gangs like that, squatting in our city, town or community, devoting their time holding up and embarrassing the public, the people that are helping pay for this war and are providing the sinew that enables them to buy war bonds is a detestable kind of authority confronting us. We hope every person that is checked up proves to be a person that has helped make this bureaucratic thing possible, will sense he or she is partly to blame for giving the present administration this power to hamstring, to hold back and to make fat and easy jobs for hordes of people that will bend to the will and vote for the continuance of their jobs."

We are surprised, Al. Surprised that you would kick about only FOUR political job holders putting up at your excellent hotel. Come down this way and you'll see hundreds of 'em running around like chickens with their heads cut off.

But don't you realize, Editor Al, that these bureaucratic leg-runners must eat like anybody else? Shame to you for callers "em "squatters" and using such vile words.

Why, Al, you even accuse 'em of "embarrassing" the public. That's what they're there for, Al. Don't you realize that times have changed and we are living under a bureaucratic form of government? We're awfully surprised at what you say, Al.

Be Vigilant Buy War Bonds

Babson Says -- There Are Many Opportunities Ahead

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 3 — No one who has examined U. S. production records since Pearl Harbor needs to be sold on the business and managerial abilities of American men. This goes for the executive group, the workers, the farmers and the small-town businessman. For downright ability and a knowledge of business practice, learned the hard way, this latter group is "tops." Most heads of our leading corporations, industries and churches came from the smaller cities and towns. Hartford, where I am today, is filled with them. I have been much interested in watching the tremendous crowds of all types as they leave their offices and factories at the end of the day. All are tied into the immediate outlook for business.

Since our participation in the War the production of raw materials and manufactured goods has centered in armaments and foodstuffs. The latest available monthly figures show $1,069,000,000 in merchandise exported abroad. This is double the amount for the same month of last year. I should not be surprised to see even higher figures a year hence although the character of goods to be shipped may change. When Germany is brought to her knees, the rehabilitation of Europe, patterned after what is now going on in North Africa, should mean continued industrial activity in the United States on a high level.

The outlook on steel, coal, oil and farm products may be well maintained. Gold production, now practically at a standstill, should rise sharply. The accumulated demand for civilian goods must be met. The general public is mostly out of debt and has at its command an extremely large volume of buying power. This is probably in excess of $50,000,000,000. Thus, from foreign and domestic requirements, the outlook for general industrial activity seems favorable.

President Roosevelt has already announced the Administration's plans for the care and employment of returning service men. These are in rough form now and must finally be approved by Congress. However, the intent is plain. Through jobs, subsidies, or schools, these men will have an opportunity to re-orient themselves to civilian life and work. Employment has now reached a peak of 62,490,000 persons! This is 6,500,000 more than the nation's peacetime labor force.

Employment of able-bodied men, in one form or another, should continue for some years. It is obvious that a temporary slump may occur immediately after the War; but following this short postwar readjustment period, some kind of employment should be available for all men who want to work. Considering foreign competition in manufacturing after the War, we simply cannot afford to maintain an unemployed male group of any size. What will happen to the women I do not know.

What with victory gardens and chicken raising, more people than ever before are getting a taste of farm problems if in only the simplest of terms. Many cities and suburban folks have raised too many vegetables this summer. Hence, they have become acquainted with surpluses. Those with chickens in the backyard are having a little difficulty in getting feed. Grain is both high and scarce. Thus, those amateurs acquire a knowledge of scarcities. Incidentally, on farms alone, chicken production is up 16 per cent over a year ago.

We shall have continued need for sometime for all that can be produced from the soil. This goes for poultry, beef, produce and grain. Total food production for 1943 will be only about 4 1/2 per cent above the record high of 1942. Output of livestock and allied products is high, but these are being offset by smaller crop yields. The Administration has underway a definite program to increase food production next year. We are harvesting 54,000,000 acres of wheat this year. Next year Washington wants to see 68,000,000 acres under cultivation.

Retail trade has been excellent. The last six months of the year may show a decline in volume compared with a year ago. This could amount to as much as 20 per cent. Considering the overall picture, it is nothing for retailers to worry about. In terms of dollar volume, retail trade has been advancing for the past three years. There is such a backlog of funds in the pockets of individuals that as new and additional consumer goods become available most efficient retailers should have a favorable outlook.

As examples of what people are waiting to buy, I believe there is an immediate market for the following: Automobiles, 5,000,000. The company manufacturing one low-priced car alone is said to have production plans for half this number in the first year after Germany collapses. Refrigerators, 1,725,000. Washing machines, 1,275,000. Stoves, 1,450,000. Radios, 1,350,000. Sewing machines, 530,000. Electric irons, 1,000,000. Household furniture, 2,150,000 pieces or sets. Rugs and carpets, 1,625,000 items. And, of course, there are vacuum cleaners, kitchen utensils, linoleum and thousands of other products.

Yes, I am bullish on the business outlook and bullish on the stock market. But in both situations watchfulness is the keynote. I recognize the evils of further inflation. I still recommend that saving—saving of character, of health, of money—is the best insurance for individuals. The solidarity of family life with children and grandchildren should play the most important part in our national economy. True, both now and in the postwar era, we shall undoubtedly build up for another collapse. But of this possibility I will have something to say later on.

Events are only the shells of ideas; and often it is the fluent thought of ages that is crystallized in a moment by the stroke of a pen or the point of a bayonet.—E. H. Chapin.
