Hundreds Pay Tribute To J. Merle Bennett

Prominent Park And Forestry Authority Taken By Death

Plymouth was shocked this week with the sudden death of J. Merle Bennett who for twenty years has been director of Wayne County parks and forestry, and who has worked and planned for the beauty of the city of Plymouth, which he called home.

Mr. Bennett died Sunday morning at 7 o'clock at St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor following a week's illness with a heart ailment, and probably as fine a tribute as could be paid to him was voiced by Superintendent of Schools George W. Smith, who said "here were many years of brilliant usefulness left in the man."

And that seemed to be true. Newspaper reporters seeking information on this and that frequently ran in to "ask Merle Bennett," and Mr. Bennett usually had the desired information.

He was born at Camden, Mich., May 29, 1896 and was graduated from Coldwater high school in 1915 and from Michigan State college in 1919, where he had devoted the major portion of his time to forestry, landscaping and highway engineering. Following his graduation, he was employed by the state highway department, from which post, he was employed by the Wayne county road commission, where he has been ever since as director of parks and forestry.

It was largely through his efforts that the fine system of parks in Wayne county was created. With the cooperation of the road commission, he dreamed, planned, designed and developed 1,500 acres of Wayne county parks, principal among which is the Edward N. Hines parkway, extending from Northville to Newburg lake, and includes the famous Plymouth, Riverside and Cass Benton parks.

It is now the sixth largest park system in the United States. It was under Mr. Bennett's direction that Wayne county developed 600 miles of roadside beautification and landscaping, and on less used county roads, trees and shrubbery have been planted. For eight years he had been intensely interested in the proposed Huron-Clinton parkway, which is just now reaching its culmination with appropriations by the state and county.

His outstanding success in Wayne county led Mr. Bennett to tell other highway designers about the problems he had solved, and through numerous articles in the leading magazines, and two books, his ideas have achieved for him a national reputation. His two books were "Roadside Development" and "Roadsides, the Front Yard of a Nation."

His books and articles led to speaking engagements, and he was in constant demand as speaker for meetings and conventions of nurserymen, highway engineers, landscapers and foresters.

Mrs. T. Glenn Phillips Dies

Prominent In Charitable Work

Following an illness of many months, Mrs. T. Glenn Phillips of Northville, well known in Plymouth and prominent in this part of the state, died Saturday night at the University of Michigan hospital where she had been taken for treatment. She was 53 years of age. Before her illness she devoted much time to charitable affairs.

Mr. Phillips, one of the country's famed landscape authorities and consultant of the Plymouth planning commission, who has been seriously ill, was able to attend the funeral held Tuesday morning. Services took place at the home and later at Our Lady of Good Counsel church in Northville. They were under the auspices of the Northville Schrader funeral home. Burial took place in Detroit.

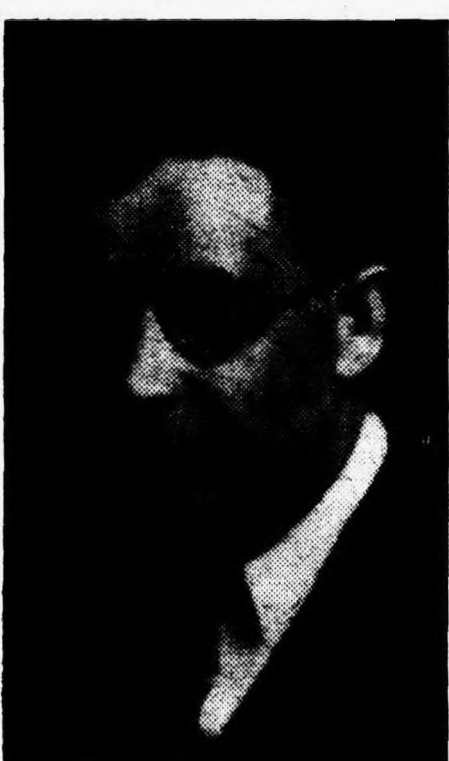

Mr. Phillips and daughter, Mrs. William Petz, survive. Mr. Petz is a former resident of Plymouth.

Husband And Wife Enlist In Armed Forces Of The Nation

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Stitz, of Arthur street, happily married for two and a half years, have gone to war. No, it's not a matrimonial war. It's a real war.

Today Husband Stitz is wearing the uniform of the Merchant Marines and Wife Dorothy has donned the uniform of a WAVE. Both enlisted last week and left Tuesday to join up with the armed forces. Mrs. Stitz has entered Hunter college, New York, for her preliminary training. The husband was the former popular Scoutmaster of Troop P-4. Mrs. Stitz was formerly Dorothy Beall of Northville.

1896-1943

J. Merle Bennett

It was the following bit of truly great American philosophy that inspired Mr. Bennett to his many accomplishments and played such an important part in his brief, but most useful life:

"Make no little plans, they have no magic to stir man's blood and probably themselves will not be realized. Make big plans; aim high in hope and work, remembering that a noble, glorious, and ungodly dream will never die, but long after we have gone, will be a living thing, asserting itself with ever-growing insistence. Remember that our sons and grandsons are going to do things that would stagger us. Let your watchword be order and your beacon beauty."

Add Protective Clauses In New Franchise

City Commission Forces Concessions With Consumers

The city commission at its meeting Monday night passed at first and second readings a new ordinance to grant to the Consumers Power Company a new thirty year franchise for operation of a gas distribution system in the city. The old franchise expired September 3.

The ordinance was passed in substantially the form in which it was submitted jointly by representatives of the Utility and City Manager Clarence Elliott, who has been working on the franchise in conjunction with the utility for several weeks.

Through the efforts of the city manager, three clauses in the new ordinance for the protection of the public were inserted into the ordinance. The power company insisted on a thirty year franchise in order to properly conduct its financing of operations, but readily agreed that a clause should be inserted that the gas rates charged to consumers shall be submitted to review of the Michigan Public Service Commission at any time, either by the city or the utility. This clause was changed from a review of the rates every five years. It was argued that a review every five years might result in unfairness either to consumers or to the company because of changing economic conditions.

Another clause requires that the utility shall contain a permit from the city before any new construction is undertaken. This clause was included in order to make certain that the installation of mains and other equipment shall be in such position, and of such type that the public will be protected.

The last, and perhaps the most important clause submitted by the city manager, gives the city commission the right to enact ordinances requiring the extension of mains whenever there shall be need for them. This is to assure all residents of the city that there will be gas for them if needed.

The franchise is not exclusive to the Consumers Power Co.

Children's Underwear Still Scarce In City

War Production Board Tries To Tell Reason For It

Well, at long last, here is the real answer to the problem of children's underwear.

The subject was called to the attention of The Plymouth Mail more than a month ago. An investigation revealed that there was little children's underwear available.

To find out why Sophie Trucks, manager of the Jack and Judy Shop on Penniman avenue, wrote to her wholesalers, which in turn referred the matter to the War Production Board, which has written Mrs. Trucks direct.

On the surface, at least, it appears a bit nonsensical, but perhaps the man who wrote it would be a better infantryman than he is a Washington supervisor of children's underwear. Anyway, here is the letter, for whatever it may be worth:

Dear Mrs. Trucks:

Your letter of September 25 addressed to the Brown Durrell Company, Boston, has been passed on for our interest and comment.

We fully understand your concern in regard to the supply of children's underwear. Because we are charged with the responsibility of providing the essential needs of our civilian population, we share this concern and wish to assure you that we are fully aware of the difficulties you face and have been attempting for some time to solve these critical problems.

It probably is unnecessary to elaborate on the difficulties involved, because you are no doubt aware that the war effort has substantially reduced the supply of materials and manpower available for the production of civilian needs.

In line with our responsibility as Claimant Agency for these needs and anticipating some of the difficulties now in evidence, we initiated the latter part of June, a yarn allocations program for children's undergarments. This became effective through priority ratings to the spinners on August 2 and in view of the time required for such yarns to reach the market in the form of finished goods, we are only now beginning to see some of the effects of this action.

For your information, these ratings are continuing through January 31, next, on children's underwear items and we are now in the process of determining a program for 1944 which will avoid a repetition of the current situation so far as the essential underwear for infants and children is concerned.

In connection with current shortages, you are unquestionably aware that it is going to be difficult and probably quite impossible to meet the potential demands for civilian goods. Purchasing power is one factor in this, which results in a demand quite out of line with available material and manpower supply. We do intend, however, to make sure that at least the essentials for our children and infants are available, and we are hopeful that the steps already taken will shortly ease the most critical of these situations and provide against a similar situation for 1944.

Thank you very much for writing us and we wish to assure you our best efforts will be continued toward a solution of these difficulties.

Very truly yours,
RICHARD B. LEAKE, Jr.,
Chief, Men's Clothing Unit
Textile, Clothing and Leather
Products Division
Office of Civilian Requirements.

Joe D. Merritt, Japanese Prisoner, Signs Card Received By Parents

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Merritt, 8959 Lilley road, are now sure that their son, Joe, is alive and well in a Japanese prison camp somewhere in the Philippine Islands.

Monday they received through the Imperial Japanese Army headquarters a prisoner's card which bore the signature of their son. "There's no question about it now," declared Mr. Merritt as he displayed the card.

"That's Joe's signature. I could tell it a mile away. When we got the other card sometime ago, I wasn't so sure, because he did not sign it. But this one is signed by him, and it's his signature," declared the happy parent.

The card contained information similar to the first one, that Joe was in excellent health, that he was uninjured and that he wished health for his parents and relatives.

"Assure Margaret of my love. Tell Yvonne, Opal and Iris and Aunt Mad hello. Please give my best regards to Drs. Kirk, Lantz and friends, and other information which had been typed on the printed form on the card.

The card bore the full signature of Joe D. Merritt with the additional information that he was interned at Headquarters, War Prison Camp, P. I.

Schools Help War Chest Drive

War Clubs Also Enter Campaign

The schools, the neighborhood war clubs and other organizations opened this week a drive for $7,000 for the National War Chest, and Mrs. Catherine Henderson said early returns from the drive indicate that it will go over the top with no difficulty.

Money already has begun to flow from the factories, she reported, but that full returns will not be announced until later.

The Neighborhood War Clubs, women with personal contacts in their own small communities, held their final meeting on Monday night, and immediately began their drive for funds.

The schools also are making every effort to collect a portion of the funds for this cause.

The money received will be turned into the National War Chest, which sponsors seventeen relief organizations, chief among which are the United Service Organizations, which is the soldier's home away from home, the United Seaman's Relief, and other foreign organizations.

None of the money is to be retained locally.

At least one party is being held to raise funds for the war chest, and others may be arranged later.

Twin Parade Marches On And On And On To Harass Your Editor

For once in a long, hectic lifetime, Your Editor is completely stumped. There has been many battles, numerous campaigns and crusades, with just a few minor scars as mementoes of these occasions.

But it isn't so any more! Twins! Twins! Twins! Every week it has been necessary to record the arrival of twins and more twins during the past year or so. Seven times Your Editor thought he had them all listed!

But not so! Now comes forth little Peggy Sue and Patricia Lou James, beautiful blonde daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond James of Starkweather avenue, to tell Your Editor that they arrived in this great big world on July 10, 1943 and that they are getting along fine and like it very much. Next

"I Am Terribly Navy Mothers Crippled Now" Plead For Aid

Soldier Albert Drake Survives Jungle Fighting

First News From Him In Months Is Received Here

"I'm terribly crippled now. That's all I can tell you now. How long I'll be here, I do not know," was the telephone message received late Tuesday evening by Mrs. William J. Squires of North Harvey street from Albert Drake, who was wounded last summer in jungle fighting on the island of New Guinea in the South Pacific.

After weeks and weeks of suspense and fear, the telephone message that came from the bedside of "Al" in the Foster General Hospital in Jackson, Mississippi, brought some relief to relatives and friends in this city, who had heard nothing from the soldier after his rescue from the New Guinea jungle early in the summer.

It is known that Al took part in much severe fighting with the Japs and it was known that he had been badly wounded. Apparently he has been in some army hospital out in the Pacific since last summer, until his removal early this week to a hospital in the south. No letters have been received from him for months. Mr. and Mrs. Drake had made a home for their nephew since the death of his mother, when he was a youngster.

Good Fellows To Meet Wednesday Eve, Nov. 10 At City Hall

Christmas is just around the corner—there isn't much question about that.

Not especially when the Plymouth Good Fellows call a meeting to make plans for another visit by Santa to every boy and girl in this city. For several years the Good Fellows have seen to it that there wasn't the home of a single unfortunate missed.

The burden is not going to be so great this year, but nevertheless the Good Fellows plan to carry on as usual, so a meeting has been called for Wednesday evening, November 10 at 7:30 at the city hall to work out plans for the coming of Santa to Plymouth on December 25, 1943.

All who are interested are invited to come to this meeting.

Help Soldiers Need Aid In Scrap Collection Here Saturday

Army trucks will collect scrap tomorrow (Saturday, November 6) throughout Plymouth and the township, but more volunteer help is needed to work on the trucks.

Six army trucks from the Romulus air base, fully manned, will pick up the scrap and take it to the junk yard. There will be no junk pile in the city.

Salvage committee workers request that:

"Please don't clean house on the army. We want scrap metal, but can't handle fence wire, oil and paint cans.

Scrap metal should be placed at the curb on Friday night, and if there are any articles too heavy or unwieldy to carry to the curb, then a white flag on a stick at the curb, or tacked on a tree will send the men to the back yard to get it.

In the township, scrap should be placed at the road, and a white flag tied to the mail box.

Volunteers to work on the trucks, should show up, ready for work at Powell's garage, Mill street and Ann Arbor road, at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. Apparently tied in bundles also will be picked up during the drive.

Fun Galore At War Festival

It's All Free Next Tuesday Evening

Everything is in readiness for the big war chest festival planned by the Ex-Service Men's club for Tuesday evening, November 9, at the Grange hall on Union street.

It is one of those free admission events, and there is going to be a lot of fun and excitement but the big event of the night is going to be an old fashioned auction sale. What's going to be sold?

Home made pumpkin pies, mince pies, apple pies, home made cakes and doughnuts and fruits and vegetables.

And such good pies as the patriotic housewives of Plymouth can make!

Who is going to do the auctioneering? None other than the famed Harry Robinson. The Ex-Service Men have also advertised a turkey race, 15 pounds against the field—whatever that means. The "race" takes place after another unmentioned event the postoffice department won't let the newspapers advertise, takes place. Guess?

But here is the glorious part of it all—EVERY penny raised Tuesday night is going to be donated to the War Chest Fund.

Mark the date down right now—Spent next Tuesday evening at the War Chest Festival. Your money will go to a good cause and you will have lots of fun.

Woolen Cloth Is Needed For Wounded Men

Material For Robes Exhausted—Mothers Need More Work

Here are a given set of circumstances:

A sick or wounded sailor, perhaps from some other town in these United States, arrives at a coastal hospital, either along the Atlantic or Pacific.

The lad has willingly made sacrifices for everyone, either in Plymouth or somewhere else.

Now, as far as hospital care goes, he gets the best, but after a week or two, or perhaps a month or two, he begins to recuperate. He is permitted to sit up in a wheel chair, or perhaps he can walk to a sun porch and sit in a regular straight chair.

When that time comes, he needs a bathrobe, or a knee cover, or a quilt.

The government doesn't provide such things as that. They must come from towns like Plymouth, and organizations like the Plymouth Navy Mothers.

Mrs. Mae West, welfare chairman of the Plymouth chapter of the Navy Mothers, announced this week that already the local organization has shipped 64 lap robes, 22 quilts, seven bathrobes, five pairs of slippers, bandages, wash cloths, soap, magazines and greeting cards to these men in service.

But that isn't enough. The Navy Mothers would like to send more if they had the material, but the members of the Navy Mothers are just like thousands and millions of other "Moms" throughout the country. Some of them have more cash than they need, but most of them don't. They must depend upon help from Joe Doaks and Mrs. John Q. Public.

An old pair of pants will make 16 to 20 patches, and it takes 104 patches to make a lap robe, and the pants or old coats, or blankets don't have to be dry cleaned before they are turned in.

Every article is stamped that it comes from Plymouth, and who knows perhaps somewhere, sometime, a Plymouth boy will get a lap robe from Plymouth. What matters that? The boy from Podunk who is fighting for Plymouth will get it.

Persons who have any old clothes or suits suitable for making into patch-work lap robes or quilts should deliver them to Mrs. West at 561 Kellogg, or phone 1465, and they will be picked up.

As Mrs. West says: "The mothers need more work to do. The more work they do, the less time they have to worry over their boys."

Army Officer Berates Japs

Rotarians Hear Praise For McArthur

"General MacArthur is one of the top military leaders of all time," declared Colonel William K. Moore, retired, in a discussion of the war problem before members of the Plymouth Rotary club last Friday noon.

Col. Moore, who has spent more than a quarter of a century in the armed forces, much of it in China and Japan, came to Plymouth to reside last summer when placed in retirement.

He declared that the Jap is a sneaking, dirty fighter, that the Japs are tricky, dishonest and possessed of few good traits. "The only way to beat them will be to crush them completely. They worship a puppet Emperor and a false God, and they fight like a lot of fanatics," he asserted.

Discharged From Army—Going To California To Live

Nearly two years of soldiering in California has turned James Staul, a former resident of Plymouth and an employe of the Maybury Sanatorium at Northville into a real "Native Son."

Mr. and Mrs. Staul are in Plymouth for the present, glad to meet old friends, but anxious to become permanently located in their newly adopted state.

Several friends of Mrs. Russell Daane gathered at the home of Mrs. Robert Wesley to honor her with a farewell gesture in the form of a handkerchief shower Monday evening. Fall colors and flowers were used as decorations for the occasion. The evening was spent playing bridge. Guests included Mrs. Dow Swope, Mrs. George Chute, Mrs. Walter Harms, Mrs. Thomas Moss, Mrs. Cass Hough, Mrs. Fred Marshall, Mrs. Lewis Goddard, Mrs. Louis Truesdell, Mrs. Ralph G. Lorenz, Mrs. John Ol-saver, Mrs. Kermit Smith, Mrs. Leo Wright, and Mrs. Sterling Eaton, who was unable to attend.

Stanley Hedgecock was the bride's only attendant, serving as matron of honor. She wore blue taffeta and lace and a feather headpiece. Her flowers were also white roses and mums.

Weddings

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Holdsworth on South Main street was the scene of the wedding of Louise Evelyn Johnson, daughter of Holgar Johnson, and Paul D. Peterson, of Boston. The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Reverend T. Leonard Sanders at seven-thirty o'clock Saturday, October 30. Fall flowers were used to decorate the Holdsworth home and candlelight provided illumination for the services.

Mrs. Jack Neale played the wedding march and accompanied Miss Jane Campbell, who sang "At Dawning."

Miss Johnson was attired in an off-white taffeta gown fashioned with a long train. Her fingertip veil fell from a beaded Juliet cap. White roses and mums formed the old-fashioned bouquet which she carried. Mrs.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for fifty guests. The couple left immediately for Boston where they are making their home.

Miss Johnson formerly lived with the Holdsworths and is well-known in this community.

Baskets of snow white chrysanthemums decorated the altar in the chapel of Riverside Memorial Methodist church, New York City, for the wedding of Charlotte L. Jolliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Jolliffe, and Ensign James S. Winterhalter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Winterhalter of Baytown, Texas. The military ceremony was performed by the Reverend Farnsworth at noon, Saturday, October 30.

Attired in a gown of ivory white satin, Miss Jolliffe was given in marriage by her father. She wore a fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of white roses and crenels. Her only attendant was Miss Betty Walker of New York. Lt. Paul Willis of the Navy acted as best man. Six commissioned Naval officers from New York City and Washington, D. C., formed the guard of honor. The St. Pierre Hotel on Fifth Avenue was the scene of the reception held after the ceremony. Roses and mums placed in large baskets furnished the decorations. A buffet luncheon was served. Immediately following the reception, the couple left for a short honeymoon in Greenwich, Connecticut. They will reside, for the present, in the Hotel Roosevelt, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Winterhalter graduated from Plymouth High School in 1939 after which she attended the University of Michigan and the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York. For a year, she was with the Cleveland Playhouse and then returned to New York where she was a John Powers model. She also did radio dramatic work in some of the leading stations there.

The groom, after graduating from high school, attended West Point for two years and then entered the University of Texas, majoring in chemistry. For some time, he served as head chemist for the Humble Oil Company of Texas. He received his commission in the Navy in January of this year and is now stationed in Washington, D. C.

This is in accordance with the New Testament idea of "sainthood." The origin of All Saints Day goes back to a Syrian festival of "All Martyrs" which was adopted in Rome in 609 or 610 as the feast of the rededication of the Pantheon. The date set for this feast day was May 13. This feast day was later called "All Saints Day." In 835 the date of the festival was changed to November 1. An octave was added in 1480. Rev. Americans Advancing Across the Voltorno

Despite strong German defensive action, Allied forces pushed across the Voltorno river in their steady northward march over Italy. Top: American infantry troops tow themselves across the strategic river on a rubber pontoon. Bottom: A group of American soldiers pitch a steel pontoon bridge across the Voltorno while a sentinel guards against snipers.

Hundreds Pay Tribute To J. Merle Bennett

(Continued from page 1) From 1928 until 1943, when he resigned because of ill health, Mr. Bennett was garden editor of the Detroit Free Press, under the name of Donald Douglas. When the city of Plymouth adopted its zoning law and created a planning commission, he was made its first chairman and served constantly in that position until his death. Much of the beautification of this city is the direct result of his efforts. He was an active member of the American Planning and Civic Association, the American Forestry Association, the American Institute of Park Executives, the National Shade Tree Conference, the Michigan Association of Municipal, County and Public Utility Foresters, the Pine Grove Masonic lodge and the Michigan Horticulture Society. Mr. Bennett spent all of his spare time with his family, was an ardent lover of afternoons and evenings with his children in the parks and forests, which he created. One of those sons is now Corporal Alan Bennett, stationed at Stewart, Florida. The other is

William M. Bennett, a senior in Plymouth high school. Mr. Bennett was married in 1919 to Lucile Clizbe at Coldwater, who with the father, F. Edward Bennett, four brothers and two sisters, survive. The brothers are Lloyd Bennett of Coldwater, Dr. Starr Bennett and Dr. Charles Bennett, both of Kalamazoo and Rex Bennett of Chicago. Sisters are Gladys and Lima of Coldwater. Funeral services were under the direction of Reader Edward Bolton of the Christia Science Church, Plymouth, of which Mr. Bennett was a devout member. The rites at the Schrader Funeral Home were largely attended by representatives of state and county organizations. Honorary pall bearers were the members of the Wayne County Road Commission, Michael J. O'Brien, Charles L. Wilson, Prescott Brown and LeRoy C. Smith, the highway engineer; members of the Plymouth City Planning Commission, of which Mr. Bennett was chairman, George Burr, Mrs. Maud Bennett, Sidney Strong, Ezra Routner, George A. Smith, and Elton R. Eaton; members of the Plymouth City Commission, Mayor Carl Shear, Commissioners Stanley Corbett, Carlton Lewis, Ruth Huston Whipple and Henry Hondorp, City Manager Clarence Elliott, Glenn Jewell, Carl Martin, Stanley Hill, Joseph Witwer, Earl Porter, and

Mr. Tipperrey. Active pall bearers were: Dr. John Olsaver, Win. J. Lavens, John Blickenstaff, John McLaren, Max Moon and Evered Joliffe. Among the many attending the funeral from out of the city were Karl Dressel, Michigan State College, East Lansing; L. C. Palmer and Carl Mulder of the Kent county road commission, Grand Rapids; H. Lee Bancroft, Lansing; Ted Thompson of the Bell Telephone company, Grand Rapids; G. D. Blair of the Consumers Power company, Jackson; A. T. Massar, Oakland county road commission, Pontiac; E. C. Smith, Detroit; C. F. Boehler, department of parks, Lansing; C. L. Frankfield, Detroit Edison company, Birmingham; Merle Sweet, Detroit Edison company, Wayne county; Mr. Hoaglin, Bell Telephone company, Ann Arbor; Jack Dennis, Genesee county highway engineer, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Dube, highway department, Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Eckert of Lansing. Without earnestness no man is ever great or does really great things. He may be the cleverest of men; he may be brilliant, entertaining, popular; but he will want weight.—Bayne. To impress others we must be earnest; to amuse them, it is only necessary to be kindly and fanciful.—Tuokerman.

Over 8,000 Get Ration Cards

Teachers Do Vast Amount Of Work A total of 8,349 No. 4 ration books were issued last week by the Plymouth public schools to residents of the school district. Superintendent of Schools George A. Smith, who was in direct charge of the rationing said that on the basis of the figures, he estimates there are about 8,500 families in the school area. Those persons who failed to get their ration books at the schools began standing in line at the ration board offices in the City Hall on Monday morning. More than thirty had been issued by noon, and it is fully expected that almost 200 will be issued by the board before all persons get their books. The high school issued the largest number of books, 3,276. The Central Grade school issued 2,581 and Starkweather 1,692. The United States has approximately 26 1/2 million telephones, 17 million of them in residences. Approximately 5 million telephones belong to the 6,900 independent telephone companies and the 60,000 rural lines; the remainder to the Bell system.

Prevent Mold

Heat from an electric lamp kept burning in a clothes closet will often keep the air dry enough to prevent mold on clothes. Frequent airing with an electric fan is another help, and an open jar of calcium chloride standing in the closet will absorb moisture from the air and turn to liquid. This must be thrown out from time to time and replaced with new, solid chloride. In damp basements, crocks or jars half filled with lumps of unslaked lime will absorb moisture and help in the campaign against mildew.

Epidemic Follows War

The last World war was followed by an epidemic of parasite infections in certain sections of the world that lasted almost three years. Army and navy officials have recognized the possibility of another war insect plague by the establishment of courses in medical schools and laboratories exclusively devoted to the study and elimination of parasites.

Coon Hunter Gets "His Coons", One Weighing 21 Pounds

Plymouth's old coon hunter, Lewis Ford, opened the coon hunting season Monday night by a dash into the woods west of Plymouth where he bagged two nice corn-fed coons within an hour from the time he picked up first tracks of his game.

Tuesday night he repeated his feat, bringing down one coon that weighed more than 21 pounds, and another weighing somewhere around 15 pounds. "It's all in knowing how to do it. There's no trick in coon hunting, if you are willing to stay up nights and do a lot of stumbling over stumps, logs and stones," stated Walt as he displayed the two coons he bagged Tuesday night.

How Big is Your Heart?

THERE WAS the tall elm tree and the green lawn. There was the big kind house and her laughing mother...and candlelight for her supper of bread and milk and fruit...and the wonderful event of her father coming home each evening.

Then there came the black and terrible night when the Nazis swept in. Loud voices, tramping feet, rude jostling out into the street...sharp crack of rifles, and the great roar of flames burning down the house.

Now Signe is alone—and starving.

Her mother and father...because they would not compromise, cooperate, collaborate...because they would not come to terms with evil...

were stood before their own graves and shot.

They died for the whole world of decent people, and Signe has become the ward of that world. We owe this child a debt. She must know the decency for which her parents died.

Moreover, because of their sacrifice, and thousands like it in Holland, China, Russia, Greece, Norway, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and France, enemy bayonets are duller, enemy bullets are fewer, enemy power is less to send against our fighting men.

Because of the resistance the people of these tortured countries are maintaining — and can continue to maintain with your help—invasion will be easier.

This month, we must finance three vital jobs—helping the people in unoccupied and, if possible, occupied countries—maintaining the morale of our armed forces wherever they may be—and relieving distress in our own community.

Much is needed for this mighty task, and the need will be met if your heart is big when you write your check. Remember, you make just one big contribution instead of many small ones.

So add up everything you would be giving to all the separate agencies, and then double it!

The need is crucial—so give, and give all you possibly can!

Seniors Give Sadie Hawkins Day Dance

The seniors are giving a "Sadie Hawkins Day" dance in the high school gym tonight. The title was taken from the "Lil' Abner" comic strip in the news. This custom is an annual event in Dogpatch. It originated with Sadie Hawkins who could not get a husband. Her father proclaimed a race in which the old maids could chase the bachelors and could marry the one they caught. Every year since that, the old maids of Dogpatch have held it.

The general chairman of the dance is Pat Benson; the chairman of the committees are floor, David Johnson; music, executive board, refreshments, Virginia Woolsey; decorations, Esther Mettall; tickets, Bob Grimm; chaperons, Margaret Rusceak; publicity, Dick Daniels; cleanup, Reta Dagget.

Aftermath Of Pearl Harbor

A woman sits alone in a shabby home. But not entirely alone, for she has memories, she has hope. To her, her dear son is alive. Though a cross is his at Flander's Field.

But that was a battlefield, long ago. When men gave their very souls for a cause they cherished. Now this mother must suffer a thousand fears again. Since his son has gone to war.

But ask this woman—I challenge you. If she'd rather have him home—Healthy, safe, but not free.

She will raise her head, bent from long nights of prayer; You'll see tear swollen eyes, and lines of pain and sorrow. But she will smile and you'll hear her say, "I bless the day America called him."

For she knows, as the mother whose sons were at Pearl Harbor, who seek revenge; That each dead man is a cause in himself why We should fight to the end.

And when the boys come marching home again You will hear her say "Thank God Mothers; yours came home."

She had nothing to live for now; Wars had ruined her life, taken every bit of happiness away. Is this to happen again in generations to come? Youth of America, the answer rests with you. —Dorothy Rowland, '44.

Stewart's Floral Shoppe

Has Unusual Background

Many of the students at high school have interesting cultural backgrounds. Joseph Cicereilli, father of Michael and Josephine who attend school here, was born in the province of Bari in Italy. Mr. Cicereilli's mother died soon after his birth. He was then taken care of by his aunt, a Sister Superior of a convent in Bari. When he was seven years of age, he went to live with his father who had married again. He attended grade school and helped with the farm work until he was seventeen when he worked his way on a boat to Canada. He went from British Columbia to Washington and later moved to Salt Lake City, Utah. He settled down in the coal mining district and worked there and met his wife in Utah where they were married. He came to Detroit in 1925, working at the Rouge Plant for several years. Then he moved to this vicinity where he is once more working on a farm. His home province and town of Bari in Italy are just now in the news as the scene of desperate fighting.

Class News

In order to keep the lunch menu from becoming drab the cafeteria is serving sweet rolls which are butter savers. Baked pepper squash was not a big hit at first, but now it has become very popular. The cafeteria is serving Johnny Cake which they hope will work out in the same way. An increasing amount of ice cream is being sold since there are fewer desserts available.

The High School Library sent 76 old and worn books to the Barrien Book Bindery for re-binding. When these were returned, they looked like new. This company cuts down, cleans the pages, and replaces the cover with a new one. In order to cut the pages down they must have a wide margin.

In relation to books it is interesting to know that 150 new books, both fiction and non-fiction have been received by the library since September 7.

Mr. Stadmill's seventh grade geography class is making scrap books on China. Some are very interesting as they start in Old China and continue to Modern China showing their products, transportation, exports, population, territory occupied by Japan, and maps of other things.

Emergency In Education Now

There is at this time an emergency in the education of youth. Many boys and girls who would in other times finish high school are quitting to take jobs in war work. The number of students who are withdrawing from school is steadily increasing. The motives for which they leave are the attraction of high wages, the desire to do something definite to help win the war, the influence of the example of their friends, and the arguments and inducements of those who would exploit the labor of youth. Before anyone quits school he should consider the following statements:

The greatest service which boys and girls of sixteen and seventeen can do to aid the war effort is to get ready for the national service most of them will be called upon to give at 18—in the armed forces, in war production, in civilian war agencies, or in specialized training. High officials of the army and the navy have urged youth to use the years up to 16 to build the foundations of a broad education.

The greatest service which boys and girls of sixteen and seventeen can render to themselves is to secure now the education which will surely be needed in the highly competitive labor market of the post-war years.

Students who have not completed high school are in the war most effectively when they are carrying forward their regular school work, plus the special curricula and activities provided by the schools as a recognized part of the total war effort. School attendance until graduation is the best contribution to the war effort which students can make.

Suvs: Montgomery, Simonetti, Smith, Vullfrance, Schaufele, MacGregor, Todd, Donaldson, Dan Wiseley, Williams and Bachelder. They were on equal footing when the game started last Thursday, October 28 at Plymouth. The Rocks defended the north goal without much success. Ypsilanti threw two passes to their own left end for touchdowns. Ypsilanti produced a very good drop kicker who in the whole game missed only one out of five boots.

The first quarter was high lighted for Plymouth by excellent running of the ends by Hall, Bennett, and Brink. At the second quarter rolled up, it was a repetition of the first with two touchdowns through passes to Ypsi's right end and only short gains on end runs by the backs. During the second quarter the Plymouth team was able to hold on the five-yard line and prevent a score through the line.

In the third quarter the Plymouth boys held Ypsi scoreless with pass defense that matched the passing ability.

As the last quarter came through, Ypsi was able to complete one pass which was carried for a touchdown.

The Plymouth Rocks exploded in the middle of the last quarter with every man getting his man and the ball carrier, Bob Hall, was able to run for forty-five yards for a touchdown. The extra point after the touchdown was atop kicked by Dan Wiseley, a reserve Rock guard.

Shop Boys Make Gifts

The junior high shop taught by Mrs. Highfield is divided into four units a semester: woodwork, metal work, household mechanics, and electricity. The boys select their unit and four or five work together on a unit, so that all the boys are not working on the same thing. Most of Mrs. Highfield's students are seventh and eighth graders. She has five ninth grade boys who are working on electricity.

The boys who chose metal work have made some very interesting things. Several have made original candle stick holders from the ends of tin cans. Some have fashioned wire and metal plant brackets. Tom Henson is making a pin-up lamp using a shoe from a famous racing horse as the base.

Making gifts for Christmas is the main object of the boys working with wood. Donald Oppenheim is making a quaint towel rack. A chef in a white uniform with red buttons is holding his arms extended with a large spoon acting as the rack. John Wiltse, Jack Shields, and Edson Whipple have made tie racks with "Pluto" as the base. The "Wise Old Owl" is now being formed into bookends. Some eighth grade boys have made book ends in natural white wood and walnut stain with a dog cut in half to form each end. Vito Sambroco made a clever pen holder using two-tone wood. John Bachelder made a sturdy foot stool. Loren Burkhardt is making a lamp base from a bowling pin. The seventh grade boys have made cutting boards shaped into fat little pigs. Frank Hokenson made a lamp out of wood to form a white wooden rabbit with pink glass eyes, which is now on display in the first class.

Little Damage On Hallowe'en

Police Chief Pleased With Results

Well, Ladies and Gentlemen, it is a pleasure to report that there was little if any rowdiness on All Hallow's Eve—Hallowe'en to you.

By actual count, there were four reports or complaints to the police about boys who were doing things which they shouldn't be doing; to wit: breaking a glass mail box and a porch light, soaping windows, soaping an automobile and making too much noise.

All of which is a tribute to someone or other, or to some thing or other.

There were for instance, parties for the youngsters. Two hundred of the smaller youngsters attended an afternoon party, and three hundred of fourth, fifth and sixth grade age attended in the evening. At Starkweather school there was a total of 350 attending the two parties. About 150 of the seventh and eighth graders attended the party at the Masonic Temple.

The entire party program was under the general chairmanship of Frank Walsh.

Hot eggs, ice cream, cider and doughnuts were served at the various shindigs. There were movies, games and dancing.

All of which no doubt contributed mightily to the few complaints received by the police department about delivment.

There were no wagons placed on the school house roof, and few if any fences ripped apart or pushed over, and of course modern plumbing facilities have eliminated for the most part the ancient joy of most Hallowe'en pranksters.

Chief of Police Charles Thumme was highly pleased with the orderly conduct of most of the children of Plymouth.

Ask Customers For Appliances

If You Have Extras, Notify Consumers Co.

To help meet the needs of people in the Plymouth area who are without certain gas appliances and cannot obtain them through normal channels, Consumers Power Company is instituting a new "Information Center" service which will endeavor to put people in need of equipment in touch with others who have appliances on hand which they are not using and would be willing to sell.

"We are asking all our customers to list with us any appliances they don't really need and would be willing to sell," said David L. Brown, division manager, in announcing the new service. "It's the patriotic thing to do. It will provide some family with much needed equipment and at the same time will give you money you can invest in extra war bonds."

Mr. Brown stated that the "Information Center" service will be available in all company offices for those wishing to buy or sell appliances. He stressed that the service was designed to help a war-time shortage situation and that the company's only function would be to bring individual buyers and sellers together.

Editor's Note—If you do have an extra gas stove or other essential household piece of equipment, be sure, and ask about the ceiling price or you may get your fingers burned if you sell it. There's a rigid ceiling price on all of these articles and you are subject to a severe penalty if you sell it for one cent more than the ceiling price. It is probable that the Consumers Power company knows these prices.

Women Voters League To Meet Nov. 12

The Plymouth League of Women Voters will meet November 12 at the home of Mrs. C. H. Elliott, 460 Ann street. All members are urged to be present as this meeting will be the initial meeting of a series of five whose general subject will be the post-war planning. The basic principles influencing foreign policy will be the subject matter of reports at this time. Mrs. Alan Read will report on the Atlantic Charter, Mrs. Paul Christensen on Hull's six points, and Mrs. L. Ward on the Four Freedoms. A discussion period will follow these reports.

The local league is also hoping at this time for a visit from Mrs. Meuhlberg, state officer, who has some pertinent material to present concerning post-war planning.

Junior Red Cross Wants Members

Calling all students! Both boys and girls are urged to join the Junior Red Cross. It is a fine way to help win the war.

Last year the club sponsored a dance and were successful in their collection of paper records. Students contributed money collected in milk bottles, and the organization was happy to give $125 to the Red Cross Headquarters in Detroit following this particular drive.

If some students interested in becoming members of the Junior Red Cross are unable to attend meetings held in the Home Economics room each Thursday noon, they may sign up in the library to help during the drives and social doings.

Baptists Plan Convention

To Take Place In Masonic Temple

The First Baptist church is planning a local convention to be held in the Masonic Temple the evening of November 18. The convention, popularly known as World Parish Day, will present every phase of the work of the First Baptist church both in Plymouth and throughout the world. Outstanding exhibits are being planned by many groups and classes of the church, along with special recognition to service men who have left the city and their church life for the armed services. According to Mrs. August Ebert and Thomas Phillips, co-chairmen heading the several committees planning the day, the program is unique in the fact that nothing of this nature has been held in Plymouth before to the knowledge of the committee.

Rev. Rothery said: "If we still could have come and gone as we pleased, there would have been a convention in Denver this June. Perhaps 6,000 Baptists would have attended, probably only a very few from our church, but now every one can now attend. There will be 6,000 conventions in 6,000 Baptist churches in the north and west." For the first time in history, all Baptists and friends can attend. Reservations for the family pot luck banquet are now being taken by the church clerk, Mrs. Thorpe.

Plymouth Boys Write Alma Mater

In these times when so many students are being called into service after completing high school and are given no opportunity to go to college, they should have something to give them respect for high ideals which is the aim of higher education.

Their Alma Mater song is really a musical respect to Plymouth and does not take the place of the "Fight Song" which brings out school spirit and gayety. Alma Mater is to the school what the national anthem is to the country and all students should rise when it is played or sung. Although almost all colleges have Alma Mater songs, few high schools are so privileged.

Our song has the melody of the University of Illinois "Alma Mater" and the words originated in the local boys' chorus last year. The words are: Hail to the White! Hail to the Blue!

Hail Plymouth High School! Ever so true.
We love no other, so let our motto be,
Victory Plymouth High Varsity.

Enthusiasm is the genius of sincerity, and truth accomplishes no victories without it.—Bulwer-Lytton.

means more power for the FIGHTING FRONT!

The power behind your electric switch is really a product of coal and manhours and transportation, of copper and steel and tungsten and other critical war materials used in its manufacture. Every bit of electric power you save at home means more power available for the fighting front. Every pound of coal, every gallon of oil, every hour saved in the production of electricity means that much more available to achieve maximum war production. . . . LT. RUSSELL DAANE HELPS KEEP SUPPLIES ROLLING AT NAVY YARD

Lt. Russell Daane is another "Yankee" down south — in Charleston, South Carolina, to be exact, where he is with the supply department of the U. S. Navy. He writes some of the interesting facts about his work and the navy yard:

"This is quite a place here in the old south. We now have about 26,000 people employed here (civilians) and 63 officers in key positions acting for the U. S. Navy. Our job in the supply department is to get the material by purchase, manufacture in the yard, or transfer from another activity, store it and then issue it to the ships or stations as it is needed. The yard is building destroyer and destroyer escort vessels. Two of them were launched this afternoon and it was a very impressive ceremony, both vessels having been named after men who had been killed in action.

"We have had a couple of trips at sea for a day at a time. No excitement encountered, but guns were tested and depth charges were dropped. Sure make a beautiful fountain when they go 'WHAM,' and I mean 'WHAM.' It can be felt plenty. While it was very rough, I was lucky enough not to get seasick and enjoyed all of my meals."

Lt. Daane describes interesting conditions in Charleston, a typical war city which has doubled its population, but not its facilities. He sends his regards to his many friends back home.

Before joining the navy, Lieutenant Daane was vice president and cashier of the Plymouth United Savings bank. He is now on leave of absence from the bank. His wife, who has been living on Garfield avenue, plans to join him soon for a brief visit.

NO OVERTIME FOR BOYS WHO SWEAT 12 HOURS A DAY

Don't know just where Private Russell Everson is stationed but he recently enjoyed a "feast" of six fresh eggs and never did a meal taste so good to him!

He wrote, "Last night I was helping a customs official in the customs warehouse. When I finished, he gave me a dozen fresh eggs! If he had given me ten dollars, I couldn't have been any happier. I got one of the cooks to fry them and we each sat down to six eggs, bread and butter, and coffee at two o'clock in the morning. Boy, did we have a feast!

"There was a group of natives working in the warehouse also. Between trucks, they entertained us with music. Some soldier taught them 'Springtime in the Rockies,' 'America,' and 'Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here.' They sang these three tunes using their own rhythm and I can't ever remember hearing them sound so good. They have a different way of singing than we have and when they harmonize, it's really something to hear.

"Later in the evening, a truck driver gave them a pair of dice. I guess singing isn't all they learned from Americans because they really knew how to 'roll the bones.' When four was their point, they'd say, 'Come on, Little Joe, without knowing what the words meant. They started shooting for cigarettes, but pretty soon one of them ran out so he dropped a franc in the middle and then they all started to shoot for money. The game broke up with one native in possession of all the cigarettes and money they had. When I asked him, with the use of a few gestures and some very bad French, what he was going to do with it, he said, 'Moi, give madam. She get pickaninny!'"

"We are working ten hours a day, seven days a week now. (No overtime). Counting the time we use eating and traveling to and from work, it runs into a good 12 hours. We aren't kicking, though, because we know the work we do is vitally important to the war effort."

A post script added to Pvt. Everson's letter stated that "I noticed on the way home last night that some home-sick soldier put a Burma Shave sign up along the road."

HE JOCKEYS A JEEP 'SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC'

Wherever there's action, one will find at least one Plymouth boy. OUR BOYS are everywhere, doing their best so that they can come home, the victors, sooner. One of these is Pfc. Lowell Robert Hitt about whom the following story was written by a Marine Corps combat correspondent:

"Somewhere in the Southwest Pacific—A ruddy-faced youth who was three times Michigan's state horse shoe pitching champion is now jockeying a jeep over the hills and valleys of a Pacific Island for the U. S. Marine Corps.

"He is Private Lowell Robert Hitt, of Plymouth, Michigan. His wife, Virginia, lives at 266 Irving street and his father, Vern W. Hitt, at 761 S. Harvey street.

"Private Hitt is attached to a motor transport artillery outfit here. In his leisure time, he is the mainstay of the battery softball team. Hanging above his bunk are the pair of shoes with which he won the Michigan championships.

ENSGN J. R. WILCOX LIKES IT DOWN IN JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA

Learning how to fight a war has taken Ensign J. H. Wilcox to the Naval Air Station at Jacksonville, Florida, where he is attending aviation gunnery officer's school. His studies involve the different types of bombs carried by navy planes, the secrets of the famous Navy bomb-sights, and the maintenance of other aircraft ordnance.

Writes Ensign Wilcox, "Except for the constant roar of battle planes overhead, it is difficult to realize there is a war on here in this southern city. It is quite warm here even in late October and the Spanish moss hanging from the trees and the graceful palms make a pleasant picture. There are several fine swimming pools, four free motion picture shows, several ship's service stores and a fine officers' club. I can come and go on the base as I like and have found the Atlantic beaches very pleasant. The Gulf stream flows close to the shore and the water is quite warm.

"It is good to be a part of the Naval Air Arm, for I believe that it will be U. S. Naval Aviation, the world's best trained pilots flying the world's best airplanes, that will carry the war to the heart of Japan."

SGT. WILLIAM RAY WRITES LETTER TO ALL HIS FRIENDS

Keeping in touch with all his friends is quite a problem, so Sgt. William E. Ray has written a letter for all his pals to read, telling of his experiences.

"I have tried to keep in touch with most of the boys I knew back home, but for those I neglected to write, I would like to take this space to let them know — I have finished my technical training, winding up my G. I. school days here at the flexible gunnery school at Kingman, Arizona, graduating a sergeant and winning my silver wings. I have been trained as a high altitude (over 30,000 feet) aerial gunner on the Flying Fortress—B17. Have been through a 22 weeks' course of aircraft mechanics at Gulfport, Mississippi, and have passed my exams for aerial engineer. Came to Kingman army air field two months ago and have been through the seven weeks' course here. Upon graduation, I was one of the soldiers selected to stay here as an instructor so it will be a while yet before I get my combat training. When I finish my instructing period, I will go to Salt Lake City for my overseas assignment. And so, for my buddies that I haven't been corresponding with — Lots of luck, men."

LE ROY AND LOUIS KOLIN BOTH LIEUTENANTS; ARE STATIONED TOGETHER

Lieutenants come in twos in the Robert Kolin family—there's Second Lieutenant Louis and Second Lieutenant LeRoy. They're both bombardiers and were stationed just 100 miles apart in Texas for their preliminary training. LeRoy graduated from bombardier school early in October and, before going to his new station at Salt Lake City, Utah, came home for a furlough. Following closely behind him is Louis who recently won his bombardier wings at Midland, Texas. He left Wednesday for Salt Lake City after a furlough here.

After twelve weeks of concentrated schooling, these youthful Axis blasters are ready for real bombs and for real enemy targets and they'll do a doubly good job.

PLYMOUTH BOY BEGINS TRAINING WITH U. S. NAVY

Going through the rigors of "boot" training at Great Lakes, Illinois, is Charles J. Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Sherman, Ann Arbor road, and we bet he's going to make a swell sailor. He's being instructed in seamanship, military drill, and naval procedure and will soon be given tests to determine whether he will be selected to attend one of the Navy's service schools or assigned to active duty.

ANOTHER SAILOR COMPLETES TRAINING AT GREAT LAKES

A recent graduate of the service school for machinist's mates at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station is Wallace G. Savage who has now completed his final land phase of preliminary navy training. He is now awaiting active duty orders to sea or to some naval shore station where further experience will make him eligible for still higher petty officer ratings.

Bluejacket Savage is the husband of Mrs. Esma O. Savage of Wayne road.

COMPLETES PRE-FLIGHT SCHOOL—TRANSFERRED TO NORMAN, OKLAHOMA

Completing another step in his navy pilot training, Robert C. Bowden was graduated from the Pre-Flight School at St. Mary's College, California, and has been transferred to Norman, Oklahoma, for his primary flight training.

At St. Mary's, Robert completed an intensive three month course of ground school, military and athletic training, and has another half-year of study ahead to win his commission. He likes his new base and, now that his initial training is finished, says he hopes to have more time to spend with his friends.

Choral Society On Tuesday Eve

That is Meeting Night Hereafter

The Plymouth choral society will meet at the high school Tuesday evening, instead of Wednesday evening as in the past.

Dr. Hardin Van Duurse of the University of Michigan, and director of the choral union there, was a guest of the society at its meeting last Wednesday night, at which time it was definitely decided to meet on Tuesday evenings at 8:30 instead of Wednesday evening.

There were two reasons for the change. The society wished to coordinate its efforts with that of the little theater group, which meets on Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock, and at the same time, an effort is now being made to engage Robert Luscomb, director of music and fine arts at MacKenzie high school in Detroit, as permanent director.

Mr. Luscomb's engagements prevent him from being in Plymouth on Wednesday evening.

Will Present Christmas Play

Little Theater Group Starts Practice

The little theater group, which thus far is operating without an official name, will present "Sing Nowell," a traditional English dramatic play and tableau during the Christmas season, it was announced this week. Tryouts for the principal characters were held last week.

The play will be under the direction of Mrs. Edward L. Devine, of Plymouth, a graduate of Wayne University's school of dramatic art, and a student of the Detroit Workshop theater group.

The play has an exceptionally large cast made up of different groups, and efforts are now being made to interest other local organizations in participation with the little theater group.

The group meets on Tuesday evenings at the high school.

ONE OF THE BOMBERS of the India air task force was miles high over a Jap target when Sgt. Goldstein heard over the intercommunication phone that three out of five of the 1,000-pound bombs could not be released. Instantly he left his gun position, attached an oxygen mask to a portable bottle and climbed out on the catwalk of the bomb bay. Then, with a screw driver, he proceeded to release the tripping mechanism of the bombs.

He was working in a tight spot and his mask became torn. He grew dizzy and his strength waned. With a last supreme effort he freed the bombs, saving the mission. Then he fell over unconscious. Had it not been for his heavy clothes, which wedged him against the racks, he would have fallen through the open doors.

For gallantry in action Sgt. Goldstein was awarded the silver star.

CONGRATULATIONS!

We extend our right hand to the good citizens of Detroit for the display of outstanding judgement in Tuesday's elections. It would have been nothing less than a calamity for the election to have resulted in any other way. Detroit can thank its three great newspapers for saving a situation that two weeks ago looked dark indeed. Their victory in the local election is as important to all of Michigan as it is to Detroit. Again congratulations.

IS THE OPA A DICTATORSHIP?

Has every employe of the OPA a right to dictate the confiscation of personal property?

Is the owner of property without the right of redress under the rules and regulations of the OPA unless he has funds to hire lawyers and pay civil court expenses to fight OPA decisions?

These questions have been answered by the Plymouth price panel. Any hiring of the OPA can not only direct the confiscation of one's property, but in order to accomplish his purpose, he can use threats of serious OPA penalties to secure compliance with his orders. These facts were revealed at a hearing of the "price panel" held Friday night at the city hall.

The hearing grew out of the sale of a washing machine early last July by Clifford Hartling, 569 North Harvey street, to K. E. Ocheltree, 11406 Merrose, in Rosedale Gardens.

The "panel" after hearing details of the transaction, decided that it had no jurisdiction in view of the fact that the complaint had been made direct to the Detroit OPA office, even though the parties to the transaction are both residents within the Plymouth OPA district.

Briefly the facts revealed at the so-called "hearing" were as previously related in The Plymouth Mail. The Hartlings decided to offer the family washing machine for sale after their daughter had come to live with them. It was decided that the price of $75, less than half of the original purchase price, was about the right amount to ask for it.

The buyer paid the $75 without question. At the hearing, he said that a "friend" who works for the Detroit OPA had later called at his home and he had told him of the washing machine purchase. It was the OPA "friend" who advised him that he had paid more than the ceiling price.

The ceiling price, said the "friend", should be $18. It was then that the buyer immediately demanded of Mr. Hartling the return of $57. If he didn't pay back this difference "the OPA would see to it that he would pay back three times what he had charged."

Mr. Hartling stated that he offered to pay back the $75 and take his machine back, if the buyer was dissatisfied with it. This the buyer refused to do. The offer, renewed at the hearing, was again rejected, the "ceiling panel" stating that it had no authority to act.

While the ceiling price of $18 for this machine was arbitrarily set by a "friend" who works at the OPA, the OPA Bulletin for retailers pertaining to washing machine sales, fixes the ceiling price on guaranteed used washing machines at a price ranging from $35.75 to $147.50.

Although the "panel" made no effort to bring out the facts pertaining to prices of used washing machines, a casual check of their Bulletin indicates that probably Mr. Hartling sold his machine for a less price than he had a right to charge for it.

Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel, salaried clerk of the panel, ruled that there was no action that could be taken, unless Mr. Hartling wanted to start action in civil court. It was also the clerk of the board who declared that most objections to matters pertaining to the OPA were made by Republicans.

While the case is trifling in a way, it is of vast public importance, however, when the public fully realizes the fact that the owner-seller is without a right of appeal of any kind under any decision made by any employe of the OPA, unless he has sufficient funds to pay the high costs of fighting government attorneys in a civil court.

The OPA has set up an office force to check all "for sale" ads appearing in Detroit newspapers, stated Mrs. Hoheisel, for the purposes of ferreting out any possible violations of ceiling prices by people offering various articles for sale. The OPA, however, has not yet set up a division to police "for sale" advertisements appearing in The Plymouth Mail, she stated.

It will be recalled that Gerald Hartling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hartling, who enlisted before Pearl Harbor in the Navy, was on the

BONDS OVER AMERICA

Behind a split rail fence near Hodgenville, Kentucky, is the Lincoln Memorial of granite and marble, erected on the farm site where Abraham Lincoln was born. The one room log house is enclosed within the memorial.

Lincoln's Birthplace

Lincoln saw the evils of a country "half slave-half free." We are fighting now to keep Nazi slavery away from our free shores as much as to liberate the conquered peoples of Europe and Asia.

battleship Oklahoma when it was sunk in Pearl Harbor by the Japs. He escaped by climbing out through a porthole of the battleship as it was sinking, and then was machine gunned and bombed by the Japs as he struggled with other American boys to reach safety. He was later assigned to a cruiser that took part in the engagement in the Coral sea battle. His ship was able to rescue hundreds of the Lexington's crew.

The family had an extra washing machine for sale because their daughter's husband had also entered military services and she had offered the use of her machine to the parents until after the war.

There is a serious question involved in this case. Is every hiring of the OPA a law within himself? And can he dictate the terms of a business transaction, even though what appears to be the infliction of a serious injustice upon a respected and patriotic citizen of Plymouth, may result from his absurd ruling? And what right has the OPA to set up a secret Gestapo to check the "for sale" advertisements appearing in newspapers in an effort to penalize some "little fellow" who might, through ignorance, violate some one of the thousands of unknown rules and regulations of the OPA?

If so, then the good people of America are in a mighty serious plight. But we do not believe high Washington officials are crazy enough to inflict any such a condition upon the citizens of this country.

25 Years Ago

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

The Daisy Manufacturing Company of this village has contributed $500 to the Plymouth Branch of the Red Cross to be used for relief work, local expenses or in any manner in which they may deem it advisable.

The government needs 1,000,000 pounds of nut shells and fruit stones daily for manufacturing gas mask charcoal, and at present, is unable to purchase one-third that quantity. This and the failure of the public to cooperate fully by saving and sending in this form of waste from the kitchen have made it necessary for the local branch of the Red Cross here to renew its appeal.

Plymouth clocks, or at least the great majority of them were not turned back an hour last Saturday at midnight to resume the old time effective before the "more daylight" plan was adopted. Monday morning, there was more or less confusion when the factory whistles blew on Eastern Standard time as usual. Many supposed that the government's edict for Central Standard time would prevail.

At a meeting of the Board of Education held Monday evening, it was deemed advisable to close the public schools, commencing Tuesday morning, for the balance of the week. The closing of the schools was taken as a preventative measure and to allay public fear during the epidemic of Spanish influenza which is prevalent at this time.

The Red Cross work rooms and knitting department have been closed this week on account of the influenza epidemic. It is expected that they will be opened again next Monday and that work will be resumed as usual.

Sergeant Maxwell Moon, who has been stationed in the Signal Corps Science and Research work at Cape May, New Jersey, for the past few months, has been transferred to Selfridge Field where he will start an approving station.

In the casualty list as published Wednesday appears the name of Frank Morris Smith, R. F. D. No. 4, Plymouth, as slightly wounded. Jay Smith, father of the young soldier, received a letter from him recently saying he was wounded and gassed on September 6th, and was in a hospital.

Word has been received from Walter J. Ebert that he had arrived safely overseas.
