Local Police Will Issue Liquor Permits For County Clerk

At the request of County Clerk Caspar J. Lingeman, the Plymouth city police department will issue liquor permits to residents between the ages of 21 and 25.

The liquor cards are necessary before persons of that age will be permitted to drink in the bars, anywhere in Michigan. The last session of the legislature made such provisions because of the young appearance of citizens who may wish to imbibe, and yet are refused drinks because the bartender may consider them too young.

The liquor drinking cards cost the purchaser $1 each. When making application, the purchaser must submit adequate proof of age, either through a birth certificate, a baptismal record, or such other record as the police may require. They also must have a photograph 1 1/4 inch by 1 1/2 inch in size, which will be attached to the card.

The liquor permit cards will be used only between the hours of 8 and 5 and will be handled by the local police as a convenience for the residents of Plymouth, in order to save them a trip to Detroit.

Sunday Dinner Ducks Take To The Air—One Still Missing

When you buy live ducks for your Sunday dinner, you had better cut their heads off just as soon as you get them, or you may be in for a duckless Sunday dinner.

At least that is the experience of Richard Smith, 47910 Plymouth road who purchased two nice, fat waddlers and then placed them in his garage to await the time for preparation for the duck feast.

Bright and early on the morning of "execution," Dick went out to the garage to prepare his ducks for the roasting pan. He opened wide the door, and away flew the ducks.

Monday, Walter Anderson and Judd Gothard while driving Matt Powell's beer truck by Pleasant lake, saw the two missing ducks swimming around on the edge of the large lake where it was not frozen over.

Slipping and sliding around the edge of the ice, they managed to catch one of the ducks, but the other took to the air again and is still a missing duck. The other duck has already been turned into vitamins.

LIVONIA BRIEFS

Wayne County Council of the Parent Teacher Association will meet on Tuesday, January 11 at the Belleville High School Auditorium. The business meeting will be at 6 p. m., dinner at 6:30 p. m. and the evening meeting will be at 8 p. m. Movies on birds, flowers and animals will be shown by Jack VanCoevering of The Detroit Free Press. These will be natural color motion pictures showing a number of the water falls in Michigan, the home life of the Canada Goose, the courtship dance of the prairie chicken, fishing on the Au Sable river, how to use a fly rod. A deer hunt at Tahquamenon and the Tahquamenon Falls in November. Many more interesting pictures will be shown, but you will have to attend the meeting to really enjoy the northern part of Michigan in these color pictures.

Lloyd Croft To Sub For Harry Robinson

During the time that Auctioneer Harry and Mrs. Robinson are in Arkansas and Florida for a much needed vacation, Auctioneer Lloyd Croft, who has been associated with Mr. Robinson during the past eight years, will take over Mr. Robinson's auctioneer work. Mr. Croft, who resides just west of Wixom, is an experienced auctioneer who has been most successful in his work. He is regarded as one of the comers in the auctioneer business. Sam Spicer will continue to act as his clerk.

To Use Call System For Night Police

City Manager Clarence Elliott was authorized by the city commission at its meeting Monday night to install a call system for the police department as a device for protection for the city and at the same time provide a system of checking on the whereabouts of the police.

Under the present plans, which are being worked out by Mr. Elliott and Chief of Police Charles Thumme, it is planned to use private telephones. Investigation has shown that call boxes are too expensive for installation.

Exposed Gears

Small exposed gears may be lubricated with light motor oil. A light oil usually does not collect enough foreign material to interfere with the operation of the gears.

Auto License Plates On Sale

Every One Must Buy One This Year

Better get your new license plate for that automobile of yours, warns Frank Rambo, manager of the Plymouth office of the secretary of state.

He has received the new plates. There will be only one plate on each car this year, and that must be attached to the back license plate holder.

To the hundreds of war workers who have come to this vicinity from other states, you'd better get a Michigan license this year, or there is trouble ahead.

Secretary of State Herman Dignan has ruled that if you get your washings done here then this is where you are living.

The ninety day rule doesn't prevail, if you are working regularly in any war plant and do not return to your home each week end. In other words, a Missourian who comes into Michigan to work in a factory, rents a room and house and does not return to his home in Missouri, is subject to Michigan registration. This rule would apply to everyone except persons from bordering states who have not established residence here but return to their homes in another state week ends. In such cases the individual has changed his place of employment, not his residence.

Police officers point out that the heavy migration of workers into Michigan from other states has presented an enforcement problem that is difficult to meet and if a person is stopped by an officer because he has out-state plates on his car, the burden of proof that he came to Michigan since he obtained the foreign plates will rest with the owner.

The Secretary of State said persons from another state must present either their home state certificate of title or registration or bill of sale to obtain title and plates in Michigan.

Quality Of Fuel Oil Decreases As Well As The Supply

In addition to the shortage of coal, there is also a shortage of fuel oil, it was announced this week by the Plymouth War Price and Rationing Board.

Information from headquarters of the rationing system said not more than one-third of a consumer's oil supply for the winter should have been consumed before the first of the year.

Yet, some users have consumed far more than that, some as much as 60 per cent.

The board said that under present rules supplemental rations cannot be issued except on a physician's certificate in the case of illness or old age.

Some complaints have been received, the ration board said, that oil this year does not have the heat value of other years, which is causing the increased use of oil, but it was stated at the board that a check of the oil companies showed this theory incorrect.

Coupons for Period 2 will remain in effect until February 8, when period four coupons become valid. Period three coupons, already in use, will remain in effect until March 14.

The ration board pointed out that so-called "change" coupons may be used to tide over the period when regular coupons are unavailable.

New Years Eve Was Quiet One In And Around This City

Although there was plenty of celebrating in Plymouth to wish the old year farewell, and give a hail to the New Year, no trouble was reported to the police department.

There was one accident, in which two automobiles were rather badly smashed at the city limits and Plymouth road, but none was injured.

Most of the parties here in Plymouth were in private homes, and were on a moderate scale.

There were comparatively large crowds at the various taverns outside of Plymouth.

Flu Epidemic Has Run Its Course

The influenza epidemic apparently has run its course in Plymouth.

School officials reported that at the reopening of the system after the Christmas holidays that absences were light.

Prior to the closing of school for the holidays, absences ran as high as thirty or forty per cent of the children and about 12 per cent of the teachers.

Rotarians Hear

(Continued From Page 1) civilian production to absorb it. This being so, then the proposal to pay consumers' subsidies would only add to that amount.

The mayor also declared that he is against subsidies because they will set up another bureaucracy in Washington, requiring extensive reports.

"The farmer is fed up with keeping books, making out reports, filling out questionnaires. The time he loses answering investigators' questions plus the interest on the bonds, will require three or four dollars for every one dollar the farmer receives through subsidies."

Mr. Shear charged that subsidies already are being paid under other names such as parity payments, adjustments, adjustment payments, incentive payment, cost plus ten per cent, or "let the unions strike and then allow a wage increase."

"When you boil all these pet names down," he said, "they are nothing more than a subsidy and lead to inflation. The only reason the government wants to pay subsidies now is because they allowed defense labor to run wild and gave the manufacturer a cost plus ten per cent contract."

"We would not be discussing subsidies today if the President had done his duty when Congress passed the price control bill."

"One month after Pearl Harbor, Congress gave the President authority to stabilize prices on commodities and to encourage their production. At the same time, they wanted to give him the authority to restrict wages, but for some reason or other, he refused to accept this authority.

Then in the summer of 1942, he demanded that Congress give him complete control of prices and wages and informed them that in case they failed to do so, he would accomplish it anyway."

In October of 1942, they gave him that authority," said the mayor, but for some reason it wasn't done, and prices on certain articles were allowed to rise to a point where they were inflationary.

Mr. Shear predicted that if the consumer is subsidized now, it will not be long before almost everyone must be subsidized, but he pointed out that the government has no money of its own, and that all money used for subsidies must come through taxes or borrowing, and that if it comes from borrowing, there will be additional money needed to pay the interest on the amount borrowed.

Mayor Shear closed his argument by declaring: Subsidies are inflationary. Subsidies, in lieu of fair prices, will lead to post-war chaos.

Subsidies pass on to future generations the costs this generation should bear.

Subsidies lead to the dangerous doctrine of expecting the state to support the people.

Subsidies lead to political control, and when once used they are politically almost impossible to get rid of.

Mr. Smith said in part: "All costs of goods are dependent upon the cost of living, which reflects itself first in wages and raw materials, which further reflects itself in the cost of produced goods. Produced goods at the present time are more than nine-tenths for war and less than one-tenth for cost of living. There is no disagreement between myself and the first speaker on this subject when subsidies are considered in normal times such as tariffs, aids to agriculture, railroads, etc. Times at present are not normal. With nine-tenths of our production going into the war effort and consideration of possible subsidies for a part of the other one-tenth it is clear, first, that a million dollars used in stabilizing the costs of living, thereby keeping all produced goods from rising, would save more than ten million dollars in the cost of production for war."

"Many people are in the position of the traveler, in Kentucky, who got off the main road onto a mountain highway and became completely lost. Then coming upon a resident of this locality asked, 'How do you go from here to Cincinnati?' To which the resident, after much thought, replied, 'Well, Mister, if I was going to Cincinnati, I wouldn't come down here to start.'"

"Now we are in just such an economic wilderness and even though we do not wish to start from here, here is the only place we can start from. Congress, as a result of a joining of the farm bloc and other minorities, passed in January, 1942, a supposedly hold-the-price-level act which provided for the protection of the farmer. No maximum price shall be established or maintained below the HIGHEST of any of the following prices: 110 per cent of parity; the prevailing market price on December 15, 1941; or the average price for such commodity during the period July 1, 1919 to June 30, 1929."

"This prevented any stabilization because the price of 110 per cent of parity would rise, this would cause the cost of living to rise, and hence the cost of all manufactured goods."

"This act was so bad that in October, 1942, a new bill was passed. But this bill again shows the evil influence of the collusion between the same minorities which wrecked the price stabilization part of the first law. In the second law 'No maximum price shall be established or maintained for any agricultural commodity under authority of this act or otherwise below a price which will reflect to the producers of agricultural commodities the higher of the following prices: (1) the parity price, or (2) the highest price received by such producers for such commodity between January 1 and September 15, 1942."

"The law then says that only in case of a 'gross inequity' the President may suspend the second of these provisions, but never the parity proviso. Then it continues, and note this well:

"Modifications (upward) shall be made in maximum prices, in any case where it appears that such modification is necessary to increase the production of such commodity for war purposes, or where by reason of increased labor or other costs to the producers of such agricultural commodity incurred since January 1, 1941, the maximum prices so established will not reflect such increased costs."

"In fixing price maximum for agricultural commodities and for commodities processed or manufactured in whole or substantial part from any agricultural commodity, adequate weighing shall be given to farm labor."

"It is evident from the above that cost of living products and products made mainly from farm products must maintain a continual rise in price. If this law was built with the idea of granting subsidies to the farmer it could not have been worded in a better way and it is difficult to understand why they should now be opposed to the use of subsidies to prevent rising costs of living."

"Since Pearl Harbor we have had the following increases in costs over the whole United States: Farm incomes increased 90 per cent; industrial wages, 35 per cent; corporation profits (after taxes), 16 per cent, and cost of living, 12 per cent."

"If subsidies were abolished at the present time we would be paying for veal, an additional 6¢ per lb.; for hamburger, 4¢; other meats, 1½¢ to 6¢; butter, 10¢; and cheese, 8¢."

From the above schedule of increases in wages, etc., it is evident that the farmer and the industrial worker are way ahead of the general cost of living rise, but we must remember that, in industrial wages 35 per cent is the average and that four million of fifteen million industrial workers earn less than $30.00 per week. Also, fourteen million citizens with twenty-one million dependents must live on annuities, Army and Navy allotments, teachers salaries, pensions, etc., which amounts are practically frozen."

"The proposition to grant or deny subsidies at this time with our present economic dilemma summarize as follows: First, with our present law on the statute books which provides for rises in the cost of living, it is necessary to use subsidy to meet this increased cost or else allow all wages, salaries, etc., to rise and thereby raise the cost of all produced goods. Second, with our present law in existence, no other solution has been offered because there is none. Third, nobody wants inflation. Fourth, everyone wants the amount of the national debt to be as small as possible and win the war. Fifth, with subsidizing less than 10 per cent of our produced goods (cost of living) and keeping prices of war materials stabilized, the increase of our national debt would be only one-tenth of what it would be if we allowed all prices to rise. Sixth, we must not forget that nine-tenths of our production is for war and we cannot allow the one-tenth (cost of living) to rise and thereby force the other nine-tenths of our production to also rise. Seventh, when it is possible to use a subsidy to stabilize the cost of living and save ten times that amount and save ten times that for war, it is economically sound and financially wise, at this time, to use subsidies."

News of Our Boys

In Uncle Sam's Fighting Forces Defending Our Homeland and Our Liberties.

"WE MUST NOT LET UP IN THE FACE OF VICTORY"

Sgt. Frank Konazeski, stationed at MacDill Field, Tampa, Florida, writes: "Would you kindly send the Mail to my address? I move very much, but this will be it and find me anywhere I may be."

"It has become a reality at last and now we find our many schools and strict training are not regretted. We fly many missions and live in the beyond, with only a prayer and for the day our sights rest on Tokyo. Christmas, we guarded our islands and shores, but it seems they care not to meet our challenge here. Yes, we hate the complaining and some people's conversations, but I will not talk of that. We and others will not rest till total Victory is ours. It is far from won, but is all in our favor, yet we must not let up at all. We need more equipment than ever and I feel Plymouth will never let us down. Production will determine its length. We have a long way yet."

"Arthur Russell and I grew up together and the news sure was good. We of the 483rd, seeing pictures and knowing their work, say, 'A job well done' and wish them rest and loads of luck as we do all."

"Our study never ceases for tactics change and there is so much to the game. I wish I could write to many of my friends, but our work never ceases and oxygen and high altitudes mean but one thing when we're down—sleep. Had a little trouble on one of our missions and most of my crew spent a few days in the rest hospital, but are now and will soon be ready for the big thing."

"I met most of the boys who come back and who have seen the tough parts. I could tell of many of their and our experiences, but at times, it is better to save it. Here, we have one of the Tokyo Raiders, the Berlin Sleeper and a few of the other famed airmen. So I will close saying hello to all and till we meet again, we'll do our best."

Frank is the son of Mrs. Jennie Konazeski of Adams street. He's been in the service for more than a year. His brother, Alex, is a private in the quartermaster department of the army somewhere overseas.

DWIGHT PADDAK EATS COCOANUTS AT HIS CAMP

Trying to figure out just where Dwight Paddock, son of E. A. Paddock, Horton street, Newburg, might be somewhat of a problem for the only clues he gives are those of catching a monkey, eating coconuts and description of a city of 22,000 people, mostly dark.

Dwight wrote of having six days of rain at which time his spirits were slightly dampened and he developed a bass voice in order to harmonize on "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep!" He recently had K.P. duty for a couple of weeks but is now working on the "graveyard" shift from 3:30 a. m. to 11. And to show that he and the boys are not the shirking type, Dwight wrote that a recent bond sale at the camp netted $150,000. He says "Hello" to everyone back home.

"A HAPPY 1944" IS A WISH COMING FROM BRITAIN

Staff Sergeant Frank W. Loomis sent his New Year's greetings to all his friends from "somewhere in Britain."

ANOTHER PLYMOUTH LAD BEGINS MARINE TRAINING

Pvt. James Ward received his first copy of the home town paper the other day and "it sure was nice to read of home and what the folks there were doing. Thanks a lot for sending it to all the fellows down here and, in different parts of the world," he wrote.

Jim has started training at the Marine Corps base at San Diego, California, and is on his way to becoming a "fightin' Marine."

JACK WARKUP RECEIVES SERGEANT'S STRIPES

Jack Warkup, stationed with an anti-aircraft unit of Coast Artillery Command in the Caribbean Defense Area, has been promoted to the grade of sergeant.

Sgt. Warkup's duty will remain that of a gun commander with his outpost organization there. He entered the service in October, 1941, and arrived on the Isthmus of Panama in January, 1942, from Camp Wallace, Texas. The soldier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Warkup, reside at 385 Adams street, Plymouth.

TWO HIRZEL BOYS NOW SERVE UNCLE SAM

If the Harry W. Hirzel home on Northville road has a service flag, passersby have probably noticed the new blue star which was recently added to it—the new star is for Pvt. Jim Hirzel who went off to war December 27. He has reported to the Marine Corps base at San Diego, California, for his boot training and toughening-up course.

Jim's brother, Frank, is down in the land of the rumba, colorful music and gayety—Brazil. He's been stationed there for several months as an M. P. in the Army Air Corps and his one comment on the weather there is hitting aerial combat teams lie many months of specialized training in the art of dropping block-busters down the Axis chimneys. But the silver bombardier wings these aerial fighters wear signify more than skill in bombing alone. During their intensive training period, they also have learned the intricacies of navigation, the science of meteorology, the business of blasting the enemy with aerial machine guns. They have learned what bombs to use when and where.

BOMBARDIERS WIN THEIR WINGS AND COMMISSIONS

Among the Axis blasters whose graduation will bring an unhappy 1944 to Hitler and Hirohito were two bombardiers from the Plymouth area. Second Lieutenant Jack P. Crisp, 9917 Cranston, received his bombardier's wings at San Angelo, Texas, and Donald R. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Taylor, Melrose avenue, received his commission and wings at Childress, Texas.

WISHES FOR VICTORY IN THE NEW YEAR

From the Marine Corps Air station at El Toro, California, Cpl. Louis J. Dely wrote, "It has been quite a while since I last wrote to OUR BOYS. Now that I have completed my first year in the service, I feel that I must

What Good Is the Gas You Can Get... Without GOOD TIRES?

Sure, you can get your ration of needed gasoline, but what good is it if your tires are worn? There's no point in thinking you'll get new ones, because there just won't be new tires for civilian use until the end of the war. So be practical and preserve the tires you have now... by recapping! Don't wait until they're too worn for safe repair. You'll be helping the war effort, and yourself, by having our tire experts recap your tires to keep your car rolling. You don't need any ration certificate for this vitally important service.

Now we have HOMOGENIZED VITAMIN D MILK

THIS new Homogenized Vitamin D milk is our regular grade of milk... made more nutritious by the addition of Vitamin D (activated ergosterol) and homogenized. Homogenization breaks up the fat globules, distributes the butter fat evenly throughout the whole bottle of milk... giving every ounce... every sip... an equal share of cream. This means that everyone drinking this milk gets his or her share of the valuable butterfat.

Vitamin D is essential to the proper development of bone and teeth in persons of all ages. It is found in very few foods and is almost non-existent in the daily diet. Now, in Homogenized A.R.P.I. Process Vitamin D milk, you have 400 U.S.P. units of Vitamin D in every quart! Growing children need not less than one quart per day. Expectant and nursing mothers the same. Others at least a pint a day. Serve our Homogenized Vitamin D milk at every meal.

let you know how much I appreciate getting the Mail every week. It sure means a lot to the fellows to be able to read our home town paper regularly.

"I also wish to thank the Mom's Club for the swell Christmas card I received from them."

"Have been at this station for almost two months and believe it is one of the largest and best air stations in the country today."

"I must congratulate Plymouth on the way they are putting over the Bond drives. When a service man reads good news like that he knows that every one is pulling for him. The way Plymouth has been putting them over, it leaves no doubt in my mind that everyone is."

"Would also like to extend holiday greetings to my friends who are also in the service and to my friends that are at home. Here's hoping the New Year will bring us what we are fighting for."

Closes Barber Shop; Goes To Florida

After spending 38 years in continuous operation of a barber shop in Plymouth, Charles McConnell has decided that the time has come to take a good long vacation. In company with Mrs. McConnell, he left Tuesday for Lake Worth, Florida, where the two expect to remain until late summer.

Mr. McConnell has closed his barber shop and stored his equipment until his return. He will not decide until late in the summer upon future plans for resuming his business. Mr. McConnell came to Plymouth from Yale in 1906 and has been a resident of this city continuously since that time. He has been active in the Townsend club organization of this vicinity and is at present serving as president of the Plymouth group.

If there be anything that can be called genius, it consists chiefly in ability to give than attention to a subject which keeps it steadily in the mind, till we have surveyed it accurately on all sides.—Thomas Reid.

President Lynwood Snow Makes 1944 Appointments For Northville Fair

Selects Energetic Workers—Fred W. Lyke Elected Secretary

Plymouth residents will be interested in knowing that Fred W. Lyke, for years a well known business man of Northville, and former executive secretary of the Northville-Wayne County Fair Association, has been again elected to the office from which he retired a number of years ago.

Mr. Lyke, one of the original members of the Northville association, has for more than a quarter of a century been one of the consistent workers who has helped build the Northville fair into one of the most successful in the state.

With Our County Farm Agent

(By E. I. Besemer)

Fruit growers and other farmers are urged to accept delivery of fertilizers immediately in order to avoid acute labor, storage and transportation shortages next spring.

Fruit growers will find a shortage of ammonium sulfate and nitrate of soda but they can be replaced by ammonium nitrate which is a by-product of munitions manufacture. Ammonium nitrate is 30-35% available and is used at the rate of 1/2 as much as of nitrate of soda or 2/3 as much as of ammonium sulfate.

Victory Gardeners in 1944 may expect more tools with the exception of garden rakes. Manufacturers are restricted to 60% by weight of rakes made in 1940 or 1941. In 1943, 220,000 dozen garden rakes were made, in 1944 it is estimated there will be 121,000 dozen.

Victory Garden Chairmen of Wayne county will meet at the OGD Office, 2631 Woodward avenue, Detroit, on January 5 to formulate plans for the 1944 season.

Farmers are to be permitted to use binder twine for any part of the growing, harvesting or shipping of agricultural products, according to the War Production Board. Previously an order limited twine use by farmers to mechanical self-tying binders.

Fruit and vegetable growers are urged to order and take delivery of insecticides and fungicides at once. Manpower and transportation are becoming increasingly uncertain and delivery in the spring may not be possible.

Roteneone supplies will be extremely tight. While amended FPO-13 permits expanded uses, this does not indicate an improved supply situation.

Youthful Thieves Steal Pocketbook Of Girl War Worker

A Plymouth girl, who works at the Diesel plant, is happy that she carried only a small amount of money with her.

She reported to police last week that she was waiting on a bus at the intersection of Plymouth road and Outer Drive when a car stopped and asked her if she wanted a lift.

It was cold, and there was some little time before the bus was due, so she accepted.

There were three men in the car, all very young, all having the appearance of toughies. But by the time the girl realized her predicament, the car was moving.

She sat quietly and finally arrived in Plymouth, where according to her report to the police, they took her purse from her. Took $6 in cash out of it, plus about $10 in tool slips for Diesel.

Plymouth police sent a teletype, but no record of the lads could be found.

Don Cossack Chorus At Masonic Temple In Detroit Saturday

The General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus, one of the most famous body of singers in the world, who appear on Saturday, January 8, at Masonic Temple, will, there is no doubt about it, sing their way into the hearts of Detroit in just the same way they have done in all the most important cities of the world.

The reputation of this band of 27 Russians, who are sometimes picturesquely known as the "twenty-seven singing horsemen of the Steppes," has preceded them wherever they have traveled, a fame which is due not only to their brilliant phonograph recordings and sound films, but to their remarkable stage successes.

These perfectly matched solo voices cover the range from high soprano to the lowest bass, singing vivid homespun ballads, opera choruses and soldier songs, with a gladness and grandeur that is characteristic of their race.

The chorus is really like one great organ, and the conductor, M. Nicholas Kosturkoff, is, as you might say, the organist. With his magnetic personality he controls the voices as one would the organ stops, bringing out quick changes in emotion and strength and hushing the music to almost a whisper.

Under his tuition the chorus has built up a repertoire of songs, including old Cossack melodies, legends of folklore, battle songs and beautiful lullabies. The musical sense of these twenty-seven singers is so keen and the precision of their singing so clever, that they can produce the most delicate tone colours with as much ease as they can obtain their battle song effects.

And in addition to their brilliant singing, the Platoff Chorus will give a display of Cossack dancing that will add to their astonishing artistic repertoire.

An outstanding feature of the entertainment is the knife dancer, who performs the spirited movements of the Caucasian Cossacks, carrying twelve knives in his mouth and hands, on his chin, his lips, and his shoulders. This is an art that few dancers can learn. It is a family accomplishment, handed down from father to son in Caucasia, from one generation to another. Another attractive feature of the performance is the marvelous whirlwind dancing of the singers.

Plymouth Stores Post "No Butter" Signs Early In Week

Sixteen points, or twenty-four points, or more, there is just no butter in Plymouth—or at least there wasn't at the start of the week.

Some stores have a small amount of butter, which they stock primarily for their regular customers, but they are not selling it except to those persons who are steady purchasers of other products.

The chain stores, on Monday, had no butter at all, and didn't know when there would be any.

Even some of the independents reported no butter at all, while others said they had their regular normal supply, but that it was being sold only to their regular customers.

Some stores tacked "no butter" signs on their store windows to save themselves being bothered for that one commodity alone.

Dr. Kelly Advised That A Son Has Been Promoted To Captain

Dr. John F. Kelly of South Main street, has just been advised by his son, William W. Kelly, that he has been promoted from lieutenant to captain in Uncle Sam's air forces. The letter came from England and is the first word his father has had from him in sometime.

During the last World War, Dr. Kelly completed his services in the armed forces with the rank of captain.

"My son has told me he hopes to hit a higher place in the armed forces than I did during the last war," stated Dr. Kelly yesterday. "Another son, John Kelly, is an ensign in the navy and is at present somewhere in the Atlantic."

Sister-in-Law Of Mrs. Thad Knapp Expires

The many Plymouth friends of Mrs. Thad J. Knapp of Northville, will regret to learn of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frances Spalding Copeland, at her winter home in Sarasota, Florida. Mrs. Copeland was the widow of former Senator Royal Copeland of New York state. Mrs. Knapp was a sister of the late distinguished eastern statesman. Mrs. Copeland had frequently visited in Northville and during her visits to this locality, had made numerous friends in Plymouth. It was only two years ago when she wrote and published "Guest Book," a publication telling of national and international celebrities entertained in Washington during the many long years she was a resident of that city.

Ten Fire Calls Made In December

The Plymouth city fire department answered ten calls during the month of December, one of the heaviest fire months in years. The last call of the month at the home of Ralph L. Brown at 561 Virginia, where the Christmas tree caught fire. Damage was estimated by the department at about $200.

To Build Walk And Fence Around Memorial For "Our Boys"

The city commission at its meeting Monday night authorized construction of a sidewalk and a picket fence around the memorial obelisk in Kellogg Park which was erected by the American Legion in honor of the men from Plymouth who have gone into the armed services.

The petition for the sidewalk was made by John Jacobs on behalf of the American Legion, which erected the monument. Mr. Jacobs said that during the construction period, the obelisk is to be taken to the Detroit House of Correction where the names of the men are to be placed directly on the monument with gold leaf. At present, the names are painted on small plaques which are attached to the obelisk.

The fence and walk was requested to prevent destruction of the monument by vandals. The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well; and doing well whatever you do, without a thought of fame.—Longfellow.

Don Baron Home From Atlantic On A Brief Navy Leave

Donald Baron, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hoffman, 1069 Stark weather avenue, who was on the great aircraft carrier Wasp when it was sunk by the Japs over in the Pacific in the summer of 1942, was home on a brief leave of absence from his ship during the present week.

Don is now sailing the Atlantic instead of the Pacific—and he doesn't like it so well.

"It's much colder and rougher on the Atlantic than on the Pacific. Outside of the weather, however, there isn't much difference," he states.

He is still serving the navy on an aircraft carrier.

"It's mighty good to get home even for two or three days," he commented.

Richard, his brother, who was with him on the Wasp when it was sunk, is now at an air sta-

DON'T WASTE GAS... IT IS NEEDED BY WAR PLANTS

AND war plants need it to back up the boys overseas... and those who are going overseas.

GAS is helping to make the guns, ships, tanks and planes.

GAS is vital to our war effort. DON'T WASTE IT.

Everytime you leave your gas range burners on when you're not actually cooking... use more hot water than you actually need... you are wasting vitally needed gas and the materials and labor needed to deliver it to your home.

Here are things to do and check that will save and help.

COOKING Use your Gas Range Oven for Cooking Only—Not for Kitchen Heating

- Use a low blue flame... remember... violent boiling will not speed up your cooking.
- Cut down on amount of water used in cooking vegetables.
- Cook more one-dish meals... don't overcook food.
- Place utensil over top burner before lighting the gas.
- Turn the gas off before removing utensil from burner.

WATER HEATING Don't let hot water run while washing hands, dishes or shaving. Put stopper in basin.

- Repair leaky faucets.
- Insulate tank and hot water pipes.
- Don't waste hot water by using more for the bath or in the basin, than necessary.

WINTERIZE YOUR HOME by INSULATING and WEATHER STRIPPING.

IT'S THE DUTY OF EVERY ONE OF US TO CONSERVE TO HELP WIN THE WAR

VICTORY'S SONS

THEY were smashing up the submarine base at St. Nazaire last May Day, when an incendiary bullet set their Flying Fortress afire. Three of the crew, believing the situation hopeless, bailed out.

Little Sgt. Maynard Smith of Caro, Mich., the ball turret gunner, was on his first mission. He saw that one man was wounded, and the other five were trapped, or overcome by smoke. Using all the extinguishers and water bottles aboard, he fought the fire, finally beating it out with his hands.

After hastily giving first aid to the wounded crewman, he leaped to the waist guns, to drive off the Focke-Wulfs that were attempting to finish off the big bomber. For 90 minutes he kept up this one-sided battle. Meanwhile the pilots recovered sufficiently to bring the ship home.

Sgt. Smith's officers say that he saved the Fortress, and the lives of the crew. The Secretary of War personally hung the blue ribbon of the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest decoration, about his neck.

Babson Says --

Much Of Interest To Wives Of Men In The Armed Forces

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 7—I want to start 1944 by writing to the millions of service men's wives. So many of you are wondering what your husbands are to do after their return. Certainly you should not wait until your man gets back before you and he discuss the future. Why not devote to this subject your very next letter to him? Perhaps you will send him this message from me.

Former Employers Will Be Helpful

If your husband had a job when he was drafted, the chances are nine out of ten that his former employer will be proud to take him back. Not only does the Draft Act require this of employers who are able to do so, but employers will find it good business. This will mean that many women and girls will be obliged to quit industry; but this will be only fair and just.

I wonder, however, if your husband will be content to again be a mere cog in a big wheel after he returns? Men differ. Some are born to work for others and will be happier doing so; while some men will do better in a little business by themselves. Some prefer large cities; while others like small cities and towns. Don't try to make your soldier over into someone else. Try to find out what he likes best; for what he is best fitted and then help him make good. But begin your planning NOW, don't wait until he gets home.

Big Opportunities Everywhere

Opportunities exist today which will not exist after the War is over. I see them everywhere I go—vacant stores, closed real estate offices, run-down garages and auto sales rooms, etc., etc. As an illustration, consider the closed and boarded-up filling stations which can be bought today for a third of their cost. To buy now one of these, properly located where a family can live on the property, is like finding money. After the War, they will again be "worth their weight in gold."

Small stores and lunch rooms, where the owner can live upstairs or adjoining, are now for sale cheap. They will be in big demand after the War. No one will get rich in such a place; but it gives independence and assures work to all the family. The same applies to scores of little businesses from barber shops to repair shops of all kinds. There will always be good opportunities for anyone who knows more about any one thing than anyone else in his neighborhood. Yes, it is very easy today, through trade papers and technical journals, for anyone, willing to study evenings, to become a real expert.

Good Land Is Good Insurance

I think that a piece of land will appeal to many returning soldiers. They have seen that it is for land that this War is being fought. If they are wise, they will want a little themselves. Now, don't buy your husband any isolated land in the woods. Buy within easy walking distance of schools, stores and a church; also reasonably near his job or a bus line to his job. Don't make him dependent on an auto. Incidentally, the easiest property to sell in every community is that adjoining a good, live church. Sensible parents like to bring up children near a church.

If you and your husband came from a farm and want to go back to it, this is wonderful. However, unless you know farming, you had better be content with an acre or two of good land located as above suggested. Don't buy too much land. Better pay $500 for an acre of rich land nearby than $50 per acre for poor land further out. The number of acres is of little importance. The value of land lies in its richness and location. The latest scientific agricultural experiments indicate that you can feed your family on a very small plot provided your husband has some "job on the side" to get spending money. I cannot take more space here to explain this. Those interested should send one dollar to Fleming H. Revell Company, 158 Fifth Avenue, New York City for a little book entitled, "Better Living For Less Money."

Buy Merchandise And Bank Stocks

In almost every community there are one or more stores belonging to some national chain. They may be grocery chains or variety chains such as the "5 cents to 5 dollar" kind. Ask your local banker to tell you which of those in your town has its stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Buy a few shares. They should be a good hedge against inflation and might also help your husband get a job at merchandising with a growing concern.

Perhaps before buying a chain store stock, it would be well to buy a few shares of stock in your local bank. Now, banks are making very little money; but banking is fundamental. Bank stocks will some day look good again. Besides, it may help your husband get started right to have a few shares of local bank stock and to know the men who run the bank.

Parents Should Help More

Soldiers who go overseas are coming home with better ideas than when they left. They are learning that much upon which they had heretofore spent time and money was sheer waste. Many will realize that the only things worth while for a family or a nation are: (1) good land; (2) good babies; (3) good education and (4) good character. All else, however much advertised, is only baloney.

I trust that fathers and mothers, as well as wives and sweethearts, will encourage these sensible ideas. Only by so doing can America hope to get something back for the lives and billions spent on the War. Parents, especially, should loosen up and help their young people get started right when they return. Begin to plan for them NOW; remember, "shrouds do not have pockets."

A Final Thought

Has it ever occurred to you to get a job with the understanding that your husband can have it upon his return? This is a practical idea. It should appeal to every sensible employer and housewife. Your first choice should be where he was employed when leaving for the service; your next choice should be where you would like to have him employed. But the important thing is to forget your wishes and present pay—think only of him!

Mankind never loses any good thing, physical, intellectual, or moral, till it finds a better, and then the loss is a gain. No steps backward, is the rule of human history.—Theodore Parker.

25 Years Ago

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

Miss Elizabeth Olms became the bride of Paul Becker December 26 at the home of the bride's brother, Charles Olms. Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rorabacher attended the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Becker are making their home in the Hix home.

A thief or thieves, having a large appetite for cider, have stolen some forty-five gallons of cider, which was being made into vinegar, from the O'Bryan premises.

From Ponta Mission, France, came greetings from Irving Blunk who wrote that he was happier than ever over "our great victory." He was writing the letter in a mansion which the soldier boys had occupied since peace had been declared.

Born, a little daughter Saturday, December 28th, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ritchie. Mrs. Ritchie was formerly Miss Ethel Andrews.

Miss Esther Strasen of Detroit has been spending the holiday vacation at home.

The marriage of Mrs. Emma Seidelburg to William Lowe, took place at the former's home on Elizabeth street Tuesday evening, with the Rev. F. M. Field officiating.

Russell Penney, of the Naval Air Station, Miami, Florida, is home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Czar Penney.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Smith, of Birmingham, were entertained at dinner New Year's day at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Smith on Ann Arbor road.

The Christmas carol services of St. Peter's Lutheran church on Christmas evening were most impressive. The prelude, a duet of variations of "Silent Night" was played by George and Miss Strasen.

Roy Amrhein and friend, H. K. Burns, returned Sunday to the Naval Experimental Station at New London, Connecticut.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy, Newburg, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Ostrander and Mrs. Hattie Ostrander New Year's day. Mesdames Clemens and Ryder of Newburg called on Mrs. E. Woods of Plymouth last Saturday.

The devotion of thought to an honest achievement makes the achievement possible.

Pioneer Advocate Of Rural Electrification Retires From Edison Co.

Retirement of Miss Sarah M. Sheridan, vice-president of Detroit Edison, and for many years its sales manager, has been announced by Alfred C. Marshall, president. While Miss Sheridan will not formally retire until March, she has already turned over her duties and responsibilities to the organization she has built. Angus D. McLay is now responsible for the sales department, having been appointed sales manager in 1938 and elected a vice-president in September, 1943. Roy T. Duncan is commercial superintendent of the sales department, the announcement said.

"Detroit, Miss Sheridan and The Detroit Edison Company all grew together," said Mr. Marshall, in commenting on Miss Sheridan's retirement. "I have worked closely with Miss Sheridan for many years and know her first as a fine and gracious gentlewoman and secondly as a business woman, outstanding in the city and our whole industry in the technique of handling people and gaining their respect and cooperation. Miss Sheridan is largely responsible for the public respect and trust that this company has gained for itself, not only in our service area but in the industry."

"Miss Sheridan's strong belief more than 20 years ago that farmers, as well as city people, needed and should have electric service, drove us to new engineering adventures in farm-line construction and supply. Her insistence on continuous service, easy lamp renewals, fuse service and low rates are all taken for granted today but were bold pioneer steps 40 years ago when Miss Sheridan was first responsible for the company dealings with customers," Mr. Marshall recalled.

Employees of the sales department recently presented the company with a portrait of Miss Sheridan who is widely known in civic and electrical utility fields. She was one of the first women in this country to be elected to an important executive position in a large business, when, in 1921, she was made a vice-president of the company.

She has actively worked in such organizations as the American Red Cross, the Community Fund, the Women's City Club, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the Franklin Street Settlement.

Question:
What is wrong in this EMPTY ROOM?

Answer: The light has been left burning though the room is unoccupied. And while that isn't serious in normal times, today such thoughtlessness means a waste of coal, transportation, manpower and other critical resources. All of these things are necessary to manufacture electricity, and the Government has asked for voluntary conservation in your use of electric power.

Every time you snap an electric switch, you have an opportunity to SAVE—in your home, store or office. Electricity is not rationed and there is no shortage in this area. But conserving fuel and critical resources is vitally important today. Conserve wherever you can, as much as you can. The Detroit Edison Company.

AN OLD TRADITION IN A NEW HOME

The tradition of public service is the bedrock of our profession—and it is our sincerest wish to live up to all it implies.

To many in our community we are still unknown. Only those whom we have served can tell of our skill, sincerity and reliability.

To them we send an invitation. Come in and see for yourself how we are prepared to serve when needed.
