Welcome These Volunteer Soldiers Of Victory When They Call At Your Home In Fourth Bond Drive

FOR BULLETS NOW AND BREAD LATER BUY WAR BONDS

Sometime, maybe today or tomorrow—maybe next week—somebody between now and February 15, your neighbor or possibly some lady unknown to you, is going to call at your home to make it an easy task for you to place your order for an extra war bond during the nation's great drive to "Back The Attack" of our boys in Europe and out in the Pacific.

We know you will treat her courteously because that is the Plymouth way of doing things. We know that you will invite her into your home while you discuss the war bond problem.

This is the first time that Uncle Sam has asked the war bond committees of the country to make a house-to-house canvass in the sale of war bonds.

There are two reasons for this, first, the urgent need of funds to support OUR BOYS at the fighting fronts and the other reason is to make it convenient for you to make your extra purchase of bonds. These patriotic women who have VOLUNTEERED to tramp from door to door to help OUR BOYS are just as busy as you are. They have their home duties, their other war work and the additional responsibility of looking after small children.

But they have VOLUNTEERED to give their time, to go up and down the streets of Plymouth in order to help YOU do just a little something extra for Plymouth fighting lads who have gone to the front to die and suffer, if need be, so that you may continue to live in security and happiness.

So when these patriotic women call at your home, please be prepared to welcome them and invest your extra dollars in war bonds. Yes, she will know that your husband is buying war bonds through the ten percent payroll deduction at the factory where he works, but it isn't that little ten percent purchase of war bonds the volunteer workers are interested in. They want you to buy EXTRA war bonds. They want you to do so because our Uncle Sam needs the money and 50 fine, patriotic and busy women of Plymouth have consented to tramp from house to house to help you and to help our nation at war.

Treat them courteously—treat them as the fine, patriotic sacrificing SOLDIERS of America that they are. We know you will, because that is the Plymouth way of doing things—and we know that you will help put this fine progressive little city over the top in the Fourth War Loan drive just as you have, in the other three war loan campaigns.

Inspiring Force

What I Think and Have a Right to Say

By ELTON R. EATON

"People Want Dewey"

The other day a farmer came to the Mail office to pay his subscription. He talked politics a bit. He was strong for Dewey, for president. A waiter in a restaurant as he served the writer a cup of coffee said, "I am glad, Mr. Editor you're for Dewey. I am, too, good and strong." Yesterday came a postcard to the editor from a Territorial road retired farmer who has just gone down to Lake Worth, Florida, to spend the winter. The trip was made by bus. He has been a life-long Democrat. "Every one I've talked with on my trip down here is for Dewey for president. I guess I'll have to be for him, too," he wrote. Dewey is the one man the Republicans can elect President by an overwhelming vote. Still we have silly, peanut politicians in Michigan who are turning heaven and earth to fix the delegation for Bricker of Ohio, or for some other impossibility. Irrespective of what they do or say, our own Governor Dewey of New York will be DRAFTED by the Republicans to run for President and he WILL be elected president!

Victory Over Germany

American guns, American bombers, American fighter planes, American ships, American tanks, American ammunition, American clothing and American FOOD saved the dictatorship of Russia from an overwhelming defeat by Nazi Germany. All of the things used by Russia to defeat Germany were produced in FREE America and in the AMERICAN way. They were produced in a country that world Communists have planned for more than a decade to destroy. We wonder now if these same Communists who tied up our munition plants, who attempted to wreck America's production program and who have kept stirring up trouble in our country— we wonder— if these Communists will come crawling on their hands and knees to the feet of REAL Americans and thank them for saving Russia from a cruel enemy? Let's see.

Why?

Some OPA radio speaker named Rogers stated Sunday in a discussion of prices, that the cost of living had gone down three percent in the last few months. If that is true, then why this ballyhoo about a consumer subsidy to keep living prices from going up?

He Names 'Em

Glad to see where Governor Wills of Vermont took a crack at the political polecats within the Republican party in a speech before the G.O.P. national committee the other day. He named Michigan's Huey Long disciple of greed, bunk and hate, the notorious Gerald L. K. Smith, as one of the stench bombers. Still there are nincompoops within the Republican party who welcome such political trash within the organization.

Youth Arrested Following Local Robberies

Police Catch Boys With Guns—Hunt For Others

Another juvenile crime wave is under investigation by Chief of Police Charles Thumme and the police department. Some arrests already have been made, others are contemplated as the investigation continues.

One 18-year-old youth, who already has a police record, pleaded guilty before Judge J. Rusling Cutler in Plymouth Municipal court to a charge of breaking and entering the Perfection laundry on the night of January 7. Judge Cutler bound him over to the circuit court for trial.

Chief Thumme arrested him at his home, and when he was taken to the city jail, he was wearing a pair of pants stolen from the laundry. A pin-stripe suit was recovered from his quarters. Another brown suit has not been recovered.

In another case, a .38-calibre gun was stolen from the home of Mrs. Robert Smith of 8448 Canton Center road on January 13. It was not a breaking and entering case. The gun changed hands three or four times before it was picked up by Chief Thumme, who traced the gun to the boy who stole it. Whether the gun was used at any time by any of the boys for any criminal purpose has not been determined.

Saturday night, burglars broke into A. R. West's implement store on South Main street by breaking the glass in the door and turning the key. About $1 was taken from the store. The burglars then broke a partition between the West store and the Cloverdale creamery and took $108 in cash.

Although numerous suspects have been questioned, no arrests have been made in connection with this robbery.

Chief Thumme does not know whether this is a juvenile case or whether it was handled by professionals. Thorough investigation is being made, however.

At the Perfection laundry, Kenneth Corey helped the police in tracing the thief through gasoline ration stamps which were stolen at the same time. These were found at a filling station where they had been cashed.

She's Smoked A Pipe 65 Years—Celebrates 94th Birthday Saturday

If you want to live to be 94 years old, buy a good old cob-pipe, get some nice smoking tobacco, and smoke to your heart's content.

That's what Mrs. Susan Lennox, who resides with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Lennox of 258 Joy road, says—and she ought to know.

Saturday Mrs. Lennox will celebrate her 94th birthday, and for 65 years she has smoked a pipe every day. She attributes her excellent health to pipe smoking.

Every morning she takes a brisk walk about the neighborhood and when she returns to her home she pulls out her much-used tobacco can, fills up the old pipe, threads her needle and starts smoking and sewing.

Her eyesight, she declares, is almost as good as it was a half century ago, and since a doctor told her years and years ago that pipe smoking was good for her, she has never had to pay a cent to any doctor.

She takes a keen interest in what is going on in the world and is right up to date on the war news.

college for two full semesters, during which time they will receive all expenses and $50 a month. After this course has been completed, the men will be sent to a naval aviation school as naval aviation cadets. There, they will receive $75 a month and all expenses, and will receive flight training.

All persons who wish to enroll in this branch of the service should see Mr. Dykhouse.

Fighting Plymouth Sailor Lad Brands War Plant Strikers Traitors

Youth Who Was Wounded And Taken Prisoner In African Invasion, Now Fighting In Pacific, Says Men In Navy Discouraged By Strikes

"Jimmie" Mulholland, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mulholland of Ann Arbor Trail, who was wounded and held a French prisoner for three days when the invasion of Africa took place and who was a recent participant in some of the bloody invasions of islands in the southern Pacific, has expressed his ideas of what the American fighting lads think of American war factory strikers in a letter that has just been received from him.

It reflects the attitude of soldiers, Marines and naval fighters in all parts of the world—although not as bitter as some of the comment that has been made in some of the letters that have been received by The Mail.

Here's Jimmie's ideas about the man who works in a war plant and goes out on-strike, as expressed in one of his last letters from somewhere down in the southwest Pacific:

"I'm tired and sick of reading about those people back home yapping about more money and striking all the time. If anybody wants my job, I'll trade with them—and watch them yell their heads off. What I'd would like to see is we throw down our guns and demanded more money and said to h— with everything?"

"We can't quit and we can't strike or yell for more money."

"We could get shot for being a traitor if we were to refuse to do our job during battle—and maybe given a dishonorable discharge, which is a lot worse."

"What's the difference if they strike back home, or we do it? One job is just as important as the next one."

"Are they not traitors if they strike or quit working in the factories, the mines or on the railroads?"

"All these things are necessary to win the war. I'll do my job without complaining and so will the rest of the fellows in the armed services."

"Let's see those people back home do the same. After all, we depend on them for our supplies and equipment."

"The boys out in the Pacific are discouraged by the strikes, and you can't blame them any."

Kiwanis Plans Plymouth Lad Minsirel Show At Tarawa, Home

Event To Be One Of Biggest Of Year Paul McLean Escapes Without Scratch

The mammoth Kiwanis minstrel show is now in readiness, and reports from those who have seen the rehearsals indicate it is one of the finest productions of its kind ever brought to Plymouth.

The "Minstrel Memories" will be presented next Thursday and Friday nights at the high school auditorium, and proceeds of the production will be used by the Kiwanis club for underprivileged children of this area.

The entire show is under the direction of Earl Harrison of Walled Lake, an old-time minstrel man, and Ernie Allison, the general chairman, said that it was one of the best he has ever seen.

The Kiwanis club is keeping secret the names of the interlocutor and the men, who will provide the fun of the evening. The names of the soloists also are being kept secret, but 35 of the best musicians and funsters in the city will be in the cast.

Tickets are now on sale by both the Kiwanis club and the Girl Scouts.

Soldier Sends Jap Money To Bob Todd

"It's Japanese money—it's filthy and I hate to handle anything that ever came out of Japan, but I'm keeping it because it was somewhat cleaned up when the Jap who had it was killed by an American bullet," declared Bob Todd yesterday as he displayed a Japanese bill that had been sent to him by his nephew, James H. Todd, who is serving as a sergeant in the hard-fighting Second division of Uncle Sam's army.

Sergeant Todd, a former resident of Plymouth, who moved to California a number of years ago and then joined up with the army when the war broke out, picked up considerable Japanese money after an engagement in which a number of Japs had been killed.

Schools And Women Take Lead In Bond Drive

State Chairman Here—Inspires Workers To Win

Under the inspiring direction of Frank N. Isbey, war finance chairman of Michigan, Plymouth's war bond campaign was launched last week and it will not end until midnight Tuesday, February 15.

At a joint meeting of Kiwanis and Rotary members with chairmen of the war bond committee, the newly created U. S. Treasury Woman's committee, the Volunteer committee chairman and the four precinct Volunteer directors, Mr. Isbey made emphatic the necessity of Plymouth and the nation going over the top in the Fourth War Loan drive.

He was accompanied to Plymouth by Assistant Director Cody and Mrs. Adams, chairman of the Metropolitan Woman's committee, who has ably directed the work of women war bond workers among the two million or more residents in this part of the state.

Chairman Isbey stressed the importance of the work of the "Junior Gallants" of the city and county schools.

Present at the meeting was Supt. George A. Smith, who has enlisted the aid of every school teacher in Plymouth in the Fourth War Bond drive. These teachers have organized all of the classes above the fourth grade into Junior Gallant groups, and already they have sold many thousands of dollars worth of war bonds.

At the meeting, too, was Charles Brake, assistant school commissioner of Wayne county, who has been called upon to organize every district school in Wayne county into war bond selling units.

Mr. Brake was selected for this highly important task by Eugene Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction. Like Mr. Smith, the county school official has lost no time in placing these many thousands of boys and girls in the ranks of war bond agents.

"We expect to make the district schools of Wayne county outstanding in this war bond campaign," Mr. Brake advised Mr. Isbey at the Plymouth meeting. "And I know you will," declared Mr. Isbey.

Legion Plans Aid For Returned Fighters Of This World War

At the meeting of the Myron H. Beals American Legion post to be held this Friday evening at Newburg hall, final arrangements will be made for the Millionaire's party to be held Friday evening, January 28, according to Commander Charles C. Cushman.

At tonight's meeting, William Graham of the Detroit field service office of the Legion will be the speaker. He will tell of the importance of the rehabilitation work for the veterans of the present war and of the necessity of raising as much money as possible. Everyone is welcome to next week's Legion event. Commander Cushman states that there will be a good time in store for those attending and at the same time they will have an opportunity to do something for the fighting lads in Uncle Sam's military services.

City's Victory Soldiers Start Big Fourth War Bond Campaign

Determined To Put Plymouth Over The Top In Big Way

Seventy Plymouth Women Soldiers of Victory, under the command of Mrs. Walter Kellogg Summer, have fully organized for the house to house campaign to be made for the Fourth War Loan drive.

It is no easy task these women have been asked to do in behalf of the nation's fighting forces, but according to Mrs. Summer and her chairman of the Volunteer women, Mrs. Kenneth Gust, there has been nothing else than remarkable enthusiasm displayed.

Already the dollars which will "Buy Bullets Now and Bread Later" are rolling in.

War bond workers have been placed in both banks, some will serve in the postoffice, war bond workers have already begun work in the Mayflower hotel, the Plymouth hardware store will write bonds, and Ralph Smith plans to see to it that every business place is checked and double checked.

Lieut. Owen Johnson Lost Over Germany

Youngest To Ever Receive Commission In Air Forces

Lieut. Owen Johnson, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Johnson of 312 Holbrook avenue, the youngest lad to ever be made a commissioned officer in the nation's flying fighting forces, was this week reported by Secretary of War Stimson as missing in action somewhere over Germany.

The telegram from the war department read: "The secretary of war desires to express his deep regret that your son, Owen W. Johnson, has been reported missing in action since January 4 over Germany. If further details or information are received you will be promptly advised."

The date mentioned in the message would indicate that Lieutenant Johnson was probably lost when 60 American bombers were shot down in that raid that wiped out a good portion of Germany's aircraft factories.

The last letter his parents received from their young son was written from England on New Year's day. It was brief and contained little information, except that he was feeling fine and was very busy.

Owen was awarded his officer's commission last summer, and at that time the army news release stated that he was the youngest man in the flying forces ever to be awarded a second lieutenant's commission.

This fact was probably due to some extent not only to his excellent work in the training camps, but to his experience gained at the Mettetal Flying field in Plymouth, where he had had many hours in solo flying before enlisting in the air corps on his 18th birthday.

He won his wings on August 5 and went overseas early in November. Owen was born in Detroit in 1924 and came to Plymouth with his parents in 1938, graduating from the Plymouth high school in 1941.

There are two younger brothers in the family, Wendell, who is a member of the senior class, and Robert, who is in his first year in junior high.

gone to California to be with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ayers left here late in October, driving through to the Pacific coast. At that time he was somewhat improved. A few weeks previous to his departure he had spent several weeks in the University of Michigan hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Ayers have spent the last 20 winters in California because of his illness.

Mrs. John Canning, accompanied by her father, Stewart Dodge, left Tuesday for Panama City, Florida, where Mrs. Canning will join her husband, who is with the U. S. armed forces at that place. Mr. Dodge expects to return early next week.

Old Timers Look In Vain For Familiar Faces In Plymouth

Two brothers, sons of pioneer residents of Plymouth, came back to their birthplace Monday to look over the little country village where they played about the streets and cow pastures when young.

They were H. M. Kenyon of Cashmere, Washington, and C. E. Kenyon of Sage Lake, whose postoffice address is Lupton, Michigan.

It was just 25 years ago when the now prominent Washington state apple grower made his last visit to Plymouth.

Yes, we recognize the layout of the streets and there are a few of the old buildings standing, but their fronts do not look the same.

Collect 20 Tons On Tin Cans

City's Collection One Of The Best

A carload of tincans was collected in Plymouth, Plymouth township and parts of Livonia and Redford townships last Saturday.

There were more than 20 tons of the metal thrown into the car, making it one of the biggest collections since the start of the war.

The tin salvaged from the cans is vital to the war effort.

Mrs. William Rambo is chairman of the drive for the tin cans. The city collection department handled the heavy work.

One half of the carload came from the Detroit House of Correction, six full barrels from the Felician Sisters' institution, and a whole truck load was brought in from Redford township.

Bean and cabbage sprouts have little or no waste and are useful in stews, omelets, soups, and salads or served as a separate dish with drawn butter or cream or cheese sauce.

America's Feed Dealers are Helping Her Win

Sometimes he's called a middle-man.' It's a good name. It surely tells where he stands right now, and no mistake ... in the "middle" of one of the hottest spots on the home front ... at the heart of the fight to keep America eating ... yes, and her Allies as well.

Feed dealers all over America are carrying a heavy load. Theirs is the burden of seeing that each one of millions of feeders gets his rightful share of the available supply. With less help than they have in normal times ... or none at all ... they're handling a record-breaking tonnage of feeds and ingredients. And in addition, they're carrying on as usual helping feeders with all manner of feeding and management problems ... helping them in every way they can to do a better feeding job.

We too, are here to help you with your problems. Please feel free to use our services and make our store your headquarters.

Welcome these Soldiers of Victory!

THE "shock troops" of your Government's 4th War Loan Drive—a drive that must raise $14 billion to put the punch behind the punch that may make 1944 the date of doom for the Nazis—will soon call on you to buy your personal quota of Bonds. For, of the $14 billion that must be raised in this Drive, $5.5 billion worth must come from individuals.

Welcome these American men and women—5 million of them—who are not only buying their share of Bonds but are giving their time to call on you, personally.

Every office, every plant, every home, every individual in America has a quota to meet. Your personal quota is at least one extra $100 Bond. That's above your regular Bond buying.

If possible, buy your extra Bonds during this drive at the plant or office where you work. A volunteer Bond worker will sell you there. Otherwise, welcome him to your home when he calls. Or find one in the thousands of retail stores all over the United States. They want to find you—you must help see that they do.

If you are unable to make your purchases from a soldier of victory be sure to go to one of these other special War Bond stations to buy your extra Bonds:

- BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES
- U. S. POST OFFICES
- SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS
- BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS
- BROKERAGE AND INVESTMENT FIRMS
- MOTION PICTURE THEATRES
- CREDIT UNIONS
- CERTAIN GOVERNMENT AGENCIES
- NUMEROUS CORPORATIONS AND FIRMS FOR THEIR EMPLOYEES
- PRODUCTION CREDIT ASSOCIATIONS
- NATIONAL FARM LOAN ASSOCIATIONS
- MISCELLANEOUS BOND BOOTHS
- RADIO STATIONS
- RETAIL STORES
- NEWSPAPERS

Remember your job in this Drive is to buy more than your share of Bonds. That's the only way you can be certain you are still backing the attack. So be ready to meet your War Bond representative with an open check book.

This sticker in your window means you have bought 4th War Loan securities.

Let's All BACK THE ATTACK!

Find Bradner Marriage Permit 111 Years Old

Issued in Plymouth More Than Century Ago—Found in Tampa

From out of an old book purchased a few weeks ago by Jack Painter of the Tampa Shipbuilding company in a Tampa, Florida, book store, came a record of one of the first marriage licenses issued in Plymouth township—a license that gave Ezra Bradner, son of a pioneer family, a right to wed Catherine Davis, the daughter of another pioneer family who had moved into the "wilderness" of Michigan.

Dated March 26, 1833—just one hundred and eleven years ago, the marriage license, sent to Mayor Carl Shear by the finder down in Tampa, Florida, reads as follows: "Township of Plymouth, Territory of Michigan—Permission is hereby given to Ezra Bradner and Catherine Davis to be joined in marriage and any person legally qualified is hereby authorized to celebrate the marriage rites between the two persons aforesaid agreeably to an act regulating marriages. Given under my hand at Plymouth, the 26th of March, 1833.

"J. F. CHUBB, Town Clerk." Oldtimers recall that Frisbee Chubb was one of the first storekeepers in "Plymouth Corners," as the little settlement in the woods was called. It is possible that the town clerk used his initials instead of the name he commonly went by. But J. F. Chubb was not the first town clerk in Plymouth township. The first clerk was Allen Tibbetts. He was elected in 1827, two or three years after the settlement of Plymouth Corners had started.

The Bradner family did not locate in the village, but settled out north of Plymouth along what is now known as the Bradner road. Early historical mention is made of a fruit exhibit displayed by Andrew Bradner.

There are no descendants of the Bradner family or of the Davis family living about here at present, as far as known. There is a direct descendant of the pioneer Bradner family of Plymouth now living in Los Angeles, California, where he is a prominent attorney. His name is B. J. Bradner, and it is possible that he is a grandson or great-grandson of the Ezra Bradner who was given a license to marry in Plymouth 111 years ago in March.

Mayor Carl Shear plans to find out if the California Bradner is a descendant of the Ezra Bradner, and if so, he will forward to him the historic family document that has remained hidden in an old book down in Tampa, Florida, for more than a century. The old marriage license is in perfect condition and was written out in full by the town clerk.

Expect Another Big Poultry Year

Some Believe 1944 Will Be Biggest

Although there probably will be as many chickens grown during the coming summer as there were during the past summer, orders have not yet begun to pour into the local hatcheries. All of them are agreed, however, that business will be as good or better this spring than it was last spring.

Dean Saxton, head of the Saxton feed store, and Carl of Carl's Casco Feeds, said the early business in this area has been reduced by the government's action in asking for 20 per cent fewer broilers this year than last year. The government feels that broilers are not economical in so far as the use of feed is concerned. More eggs are needed and larger chickens. That is, feed, which is short, will produce more if fed into larger chickens and eventually produced into eggs.

Mr. Saxton said that there will be a greater demand for chickens this year than ever before, and that for the most part hatcheries will be able to produce more chickens than they did last year because of a greater supply of eggs. The increased need for chickens is due to the anticipated shortage of large-animal meat.

Despite the current situation, however, the hatcheries are planning on one of the biggest seasons they have ever had.

OF THE some 21,000 men who so far have tried to avoid conscription, about 8,800 have been inducted into the Army, 6,800 have been classified as sincere conscientious objectors and are in labor camps, and the other 5,400 have been convicted of deliberate draft dodging and are now in prison.

Here's Meanest Thief Of All—He Stole Pastor's Butter

The Rev. Leonard Sanders, pastor of the Methodist Church, reported to the police Saturday that sometime Friday evening sneak thieves had robbed his house.

A thorough investigation resulted in the following information: The thief of thieves, entered through the rear door, which is reached from an unlighted portion of the yard by climbing a series of seven steps.

Rev. Sanders said that his daughter Gloria had just finished with the dinner debris, and had gone into the front portion of the house when she heard a peculiar squeak to the kitchen door. Inasmuch as her father and her brother were attending a basketball game at the church next door, she thought it was one of them entering the house, and gave the matter no further attention.

However, Rev. Sanders said that neither he nor his son had entered the door, and when the Rev. Sanders did enter the house, later in the evening he found the refrigerator door open.

Rev. Sanders explained that a spring on the handle of the refrigerator door is broken, and because of war time conditions, it cannot be repaired. He said that members of the family have learned a certain way to close the door and secure it, but that the sneak thieves obviously did not, for when he entered the kitchen, the refrigerator was open.

A thorough search of the premises revealed that the only missing article was—a half pound of butter.

Dick Behler Out For Western Track Team

If Richard Behler of Plymouth makes the Western Michigan track team at Kalamazoo, for which he is a candidate, he will have the chance to compete against top-flight university teams. The Broncos have managed to schedule only two opponents to date, but these adversaries are Notre Dame, which will be slated for dual meets both indoors and later outside in the spring, and Michigan, the defending Big Ten champions. Notre Dame will be met there January 29, and Michigan will entertain the Broncos at Ann Arbor on February 12. The team will also compete in such meets as the Purdue and Daily News Relays.

Behler, a V-12 trainee here at Western Michigan College, was a star dash man in high school,

A NEW "pulsating bed" is now being made by a famous firm after a development lasting 17 years. A noiseless electric motor in the box spring sends eight gentle rhythmic pulsations a second through the mattress, with the result that a tired but tense person becomes completely relaxed and ready for sleep in a matter of minutes.

Dependency No Longer Cause For Deferment

Local Board To Draft Pre-Pearl Harbor Fathers

The Plymouth Selective Service board announced this week that although it has been reluctant to draft pre-Pearl Harbor fathers into the armed services, that hereafter the dependency of families is no cause for deferment.

The board at its meeting Tuesday night issued a formal statement declaring:

"Board No. 61 has drafted no fathers who come under the selective service ruling as such: that is, married before Pearl Harbor and their first child born before September 14, 1942, and maintaining a home with them. However, there are some pre-Pearl Harbor fathers now in service who have volunteered for the various branches of the armed forces where they are now serving.

Because of the reluctance of the board to induct these fathers, we have failed to fill our quotas in some months by 50 per cent and, beginning in February, the processing of fathers will begin. The dependency of families is no longer grounds for deferment."

Temporary deferment may be arranged if a pre-Pearl Harbor father is vital to the war program at home, but even this is no guarantee that the men will not be inducted. War production factories already are filing with the state lists of men which may be released to the armed services.

A new plan of induction will be placed in effect beginning February 1 by the local board in accordance with national rules and issued locally through the state selective service board.

Under the new regulations, physical examinations at the local board will be eliminated and all men called will go to the Detroit induction station. All men, whether accepted for army or navy service, will return home as civilians. Those found physically and mentally acceptable will then form a pool for later call to an army camp. They will go directly to an army camp. They will not be called for at least 21 days after they have taken their physical examination, and they may not be called for a greater length of time. However, when they are called, no furloughs will be extended.

No board hearing or appeals will be granted until the registrants return from the examinations, in order to eliminate the time and work involved in event the man does not pass the physical examination.

BECAUSE copper is urgently needed for war materials, the Treasury Department has recently lent to several new government-owned or operated plants, sufficient silver to take its place in this power distribution line. Silver thus employed will not be consumed or destroyed and can be returned after the war. One installation in Michigan, which would have required $185,000 worth of copper, contains silver valued at $15,000,000 and, therefore, is constantly under armed guard.

Weddings

SQUIRES-ORR

On Wednesday evening, January 12, at 8:30 o'clock, the wedding ceremony uniting Miss Grace Squires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Squires of North Harvey street, and Lt. Robert James Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Orr of Northville, was performed in the Methodist church. Rev. T. Leonard Sanders used the double ring service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown made with long, full sleeves, a round yoke of marquisette embroidered in silk and seed pearls. Her skirt was full and covered with marquisette which fashioned her train. She wore a tiered veil of tulle fastened to a small cap edged in braided satin, and carried a miff of tulle covered with bride's roses. A strand of pearls given her by the groom completed her costume.

Miss Ellen Addington of Detroit, a classmate of the bride's at Adrian college, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" and was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. M. J. O'Connor. Miss Addington's gown was of rose taffeta.

Mrs. Ray Creith, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing pale blue. The bodice was of brocade satin and the full skirt of net. Her headpiece was of matching bows and net which fell to the shoulders. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses tied with wide pink ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Orr, sister of the groom, and Miss Margaret Chesnut of Fenton and Ann Arbor, a classmate of the bride. Their gowns were of pale pink with headpieces to match. Their bouquets were also Talisman roses tied with blue ribbon.

Lt. C. J. Hardesty of Salem, now stationed at Waco, Texas, and a boyhood chum of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Louis Eaton, U. S. N. R., of Northville, and Corp. Ray Creith of the U. S. Army, stationed at Fort Eustis, Virginia.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Squires chose a magenta lame dress with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of white camellias. The groom's mother wore a grey flowered print with black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The rings which were used in the double ceremony were made from a nugget of gold that had been given to the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Hunter, more than 60 years ago.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Ivory satin draperies formed an attractive background for the bride's table, which was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, and on either side were crystal candelabra and flowered vases filled with white carnations.

After a short honeymoon the young couple returned to Plymouth. Lt. Orr left Wednesday for Austin, Texas, to complete his training in the Army Air Corps.

Several showers were given for the bride. On Wednesday evening, January 5, Mrs. Earl Haab, formerly Ruth Keefer, entertained at her home on Forest street; on Thursday evening the young ladies in the office of the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company, where the bride is employed, entertained at dinner in her honor at the Book Casino. On Saturday evening, January 14, the Misses Jean and Dorothy Orr, sisters of the groom, entertained at a miscellaneous shower at their home on Seven Mile road, Northville, and Miss Margaret Chesnut gave a linen shower by mail, the young ladies being classmates of the bride while attending Adrian college.

D.A.R. Members Hear Talk On Holland

Members of Sarah Ann Cochran chapter of the D. A. R. met Monday afternoon in the Presbyterian church for their regular meeting.

Lighted tapers and a birthday cake adorned the well-appointed tables, which were conspicuous with patriotic colors.

The program was prefaced with a few remarks and an original poem read by the chaplain, Mrs. E. J. Cutler.

Out-of-town regents who were guests on the occasion were: Mrs. Dwight Randall of Elizabeth Cass chapter, Detroit; Mrs. Richard Weir, Ypsilanti; Mrs. Mooney, Louisa St. Clair chapter, Detroit; Mrs. Tate, Col. Joshua Howard chapter, Dearborn, and Mrs. Hoagland, Fort Ponchartrain, Highland Park.

The high school glee club of 70 voices, under the direction of C. A. Luchtman, provided several selections.

The vice-consul of the Netherlands, Mr. Von Weller, gave an illustrated talk on Holland, a nation of tolerance, unity and good friendship. He stated: "They do not crave publicity, so their contributions to world service proved a revelation. Our flag had its inception from the flag of this country. From the Netherlands we have the electrograph, fluorescent lights, vitamins, the bomb sight; in fact, a large percentage of our modern scientific discoveries originated from the Netherlands. It also furnishes 60 per cent of aluminum used today. Its famous Edam cheese is no more and the tulip bulbs which furnished beauty to the world have been ground to make flour and coffee."

MEXICO has only one official government party, the P.M.R., or Partido Revolucionario Mexicano.

Jap Preacher's Talk Protested

Some Listeners Do Not Like His Ideas

Some protest against an address by the Rev. Shigeo Tanabe, a Japanese-American minister, at the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church has arisen in the community, it was revealed this week.

The Rev. Tanabe, who is employed by the Detroit Council of Churches as a missionary among the some 400 Japanese-American residents of the community, spoke before the Women's Auxiliary of the church last week.

The Rev. John Fosythe, pastor of the church, said he believed that there was some antagonism raised against the propaganda effect of the address among some people, but he said that generally his address had been received as a statement of fact.

Rev. Tanabe is American-born and educated, and was himself confined in a concentration camp at the start of the war until he was thoroughly investigated by the FBI and it was established that his loyalty to the United States was sincere.

In his address at the church, he described the reactions of four groups of Americans of Japanese descent who are being held in concentration camps in the Pacific coast area.

The first group are the high school students, who, he said, like the life of the concentration camp. He said they like it because they can participate in their own student government, which they could not do in the regular institutions of learning.

The second group, he said, were older youth, many of which tried to get into the army, but who were rejected. They are a bit cynical, Rev. Tanabe said.

The third group are the older men who were forced to leave their farms to enter the camp, whose attitude is "What have I done that my America should do this to me?" He described one of these men who had a 1,000-acre peach orchard which was farmed by an "Oakie" or some other transient farmer, who did not take care of it, and even ran away with some of the tools.

And then, Rev. Tanabe said, there is the fourth group of Christian Japanese, who have received some sympathy from the church, which they believe establishes a bond between them and the white Christians.

In this area, he pleaded for sympathetic understanding for the Japanese who have come here to make their home.

Navy Mothers Club Notes

Members of the Navy Mothers' club will hold an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Minthorn, 556 North Mill street, Thursday, January 27, with a potluck dinner at noon. The day will be devoted to sewing and each member is requested to bring her shears.

During the past year 125 quilts have been made and sent to hospitals by the club. Many more are needed, and Mrs. A. R. West, welfare chairman, states that if anyone has woolen material to donate, they may call phone 1465 and it will be called for.

The club is making plans for a Valentine day card party and bake sale to be held at St. John's Episcopal church, Monday evening, February 14.

Edward Murry, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Murry of Sheridan avenue, has returned to Norfolk, Virginia, after a 10-day furlough.

THE visible value of the white star on the planes of the Army Air Forces was increased recently by 60 per cent through the addition of a white rectangle on each side of it and a red border around the entire insignia.

Obituaries

George Britcher

Following an illness of only a week, George Britcher died on January 11, the funeral being held Sunday, January 16, at 2 o'clock from the Wilkie Funeral home on North Main street.

Mr. Britcher was born May 8, 1874, at Waterloo, New York, and resided in Plymouth during the past 17 years. His first wife, Harriet, died June 7, 1934.

He is survived by his widow, Yvonne, one son, Jack, and four daughters, Mrs. Harriet Ingall, Mrs. Bernice Burkart, Mrs. Georgia Rowland, of Plymouth, and Mrs. Beatrice Brown of Grand Rapids. Two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Eckler and Mrs. Charlotte Van Antwerp of Johnstown, New York, and 13 grandchildren, also survive.

The funeral services were in charge of Plymouth Rock Lodge No. 47, the F. & A. M., with members serving as pall bearers. Interment was in Parkview Memorial cemetery.

Mrs. Nellie Louise Wilcox

Mrs. Nellie Louise Wilcox, who resided at 932 Penniman avenue, passed away Wednesday evening, January 12, at the age of 82 years. Mrs. Wilcox had been a resident of Plymouth her entire life. Surviving are her husband, Clinton L. Wilcox; two sons and one daughter, Edgar Bennett Peck of Plymouth, Bennett Wilcox of Highland Park, and Mrs. Kenneth Harrison of Plymouth; two grandchildren, Bennett Wilcox Jr. and Margaret L. Wilcox, and a host of other relatives and friends. The remains were taken to the Schrader funeral home, and later taken to her late home, from which place funeral services were held Saturday, January 15, at 2 p.m. Rev. Henry J. Walsh officiated. Interment was in Riverside cemetery. The active pallbearers were Messrs. Neil McClinton, Harry Bennett, Lawrence Lyons, Maxwell Moon, Austin Whipple and Robert Randall.

The passing of Mrs. Nellie Wilcox brings nearer the end of the early era of Plymouth when the town was known by the railroad officials as the "seal skin town" along the road to Detroit. The town was like a large, happy home and the ladies shopped regularly in Detroit, going by train, buying each a 3-000 mile transportation ticket.

Nellie, as she was best known to her host of friends, was one of Plymouth's favorites, always gentle, most generous, and a beautiful singer. Older residents remember her singing "Under the Daisies" and commencement exercises "were never considered complete without Nellie Bennett's singing."

In the early days of Plymouth, one of the favorite entertainments was theatricals furnished by home talent. In these, Nellie was in great demand as she possessed excellent talent as an actress. Nellie Bennett and Kate Allen were the social leaders of the town and prominent in Detroit's social life. In Nellie's frequent trips into Detroit, she always hired a handsome cab, complete with coachman and horses, and spent the day taking her friends shopping and on social calls. In those days, Plymouth was like one family and was a gay and charming dwelling place. In this, Nellie was a friend to all and was considered one of Plymouth's "belles" of the 90's.

This era was closed with the entrance of modern inventions and commercialism, and those who are left of that era mourn the passing of the olden times as well as the loss of a favorite, and can only say "God night" here and "Good morning" there.

Nellie Louise Wilcox was born November 10, 1862, in Plymouth, daughter of Charles Henry Bennett and Amelia Bromfield Bennett, in the colonial home on Main street now owned by Geo. Haas. Here she spent her girlhood days.

Build Your Future While You Can—Use E War Bonds For Security

Every Penny You Now Invest With Our Government Helps Boys And Girls In Uniform—And Will Help You Later

(By Frank N. Isbey.)

Today, tomorrow, and every day for a long time to come, every man, woman, and child in the United States who has as much as $18.75 ready cash has, and will have, the opportunity to increase his or her personal security in this uncertain world in three different and very important ways: One, by helping to win the war; two, by helping to create general employment after the war and, three, by helping to create a fund to buy education, a home, old-age security or other benefits for himself, herself or his or her dependents.

All he or she has to do to get in on all three is to buy an E Series United States War Savings Bond.

If this were an ideal world and everybody were prudent and provident, the Government would not have to try to sell these bonds—the people of the United States would crowd every bond dispensary day and night in their efforts to BUY them.

On Tuesday, January 18, our government will again formally offer these investment bonds and other securities for purchase, generally, from coast-to-coast—14 billion dollars worth of them.

—This does not mean that E Bonds cannot be bought today or any day—they can be bought on Sundays and civilian holidays at the pay windows of thousands of war industries all over the country that work seven days a week and, on week days, at tens of thousands of banks, postoffices, store and theater bond booths and other dispensaries. It is the very commonness and simplicity of purchase of these investments that makes the OPPORTUNITY TO BUY them so unappreciated by the public.

One of the reasons for this special sale that is to begin nationally on January 18 and end February 15 is to make the public CONSCIOUS of this opportunity which they have every day. The sale is to be known as the Fourth War Loan Drive.

THE OTHER basic reasons for this special sale are:

1: Our Government can use the money derived from the sale of these bonds to continue fighting the war. Victory over Germany is nearer than it was a year ago, but it is not yet WON. We MUST continue to fight with everything we've got, for unless we crush Germany, Germany WILL CRUSH US and then, nothing we have of value, including our personal liberty, will be OURS any more. Our war effort in 1944 is to cost about 66 billions of dollars. The 14 billions our Government gets from this special bond sale will pay a lot of it. With everything to gain and nothing to lose, smart Americans are going to put every dollar they can get into these E Bonds.

2: Peak war wages have brought to tens of thousands of Americans more cash money than they have ever had before. Never before having had much money, they are now untrained in its proper use and function—they spend it foolishly, purposelessly, prodigally for anything they fancy, often for mere show. At the same time, right now, because all our great manufacturers have been turning out war goods, civilian goods (automobiles, refrigerators, clothes—anything the public buys in volume for use) are scarce. Foolish spenders with lots of money are willing to pay ANY PRICE to get what they want. That tends to force all prices up. Soaring prices force higher wages, which only bring on more money to spend foolishly. That alternate rise of prices and wages is called "inflation." When it gets out of control, it ultimately brings on national bankruptcy, ruining everyone, rich and poor, dragging everyone down to misery, millions to starvation. By inducing tens of millions of Americans to put their surplus money into E Bonds, our Government fights off inflation. For this reason, all foresighted Americans will put every dollar they can get into E Bonds.

3: Once the war is over, with both Germany and Japan licked, Americans who own E Bonds will find themselves in an especially advantageous position. They will be able to get more money, at once, than if they had saved mere money. E Bonds can be cashed anytime after sixty days of their issue. Americans who buy E Bonds now and hold them until after the war then cash them, getting every cent they paid for them, plus the interest the bonds have earned, and then use the money to buy a house, a farm, an automobile or whatever else they want. Millions of Americans will do that and their COMBINED PURCHASES THEN WILL create MARKETS which will help MIGHTILY to get our industries working again, giving jobs to our returned soldiers and sailors and everyone else. That will make prosperity for EVERYBODY. For this reason PRUDENT Americans will buy E Bonds to the very limit of their present earning and saving capacity.

Why do I put so much emphasis on E Bonds? Because they are the most nearly perfect COMMON PEOPLE'S INVESTMENT SECURITY that, in the entire history of national finance throughout the whole world, have ever been BROUGHT WITHIN REACH OF ALL THE PEOPLE.

Consider these FACTS: E Bonds are a first lien on the total wealth of the United States. They are of greater value, because of greater security, than the green paper dollars which we use every day and are known as currency money.

Then, too, paper dollars never increase in value. E Bonds constantly do so. If held to maturity—that is, until they are due and payable in ten years, they will bring to the buyer $4 for every $3 put in them.

E Bonds are not negotiable—they can never be traded outright or given, directly in payment of a debt. Nor can they be put up as security for a loan. But once they are bought and held for sixty days, they can, if necessary, be immediately cashed at any Federal Reserve Bank or other banks for every cent of their cost, plus what they have earned. Every bond carries a table showing the exact amount at which they can be redeemed at any given month after the first sixty days.

E Bonds cannot be transferred, traded in or discounted. If, because of sickness or other necessity, an owner must turn his bonds into cash, he cannot do so through a broker, who would charge him a fee or discount; he can cash them only at a Government agency, which MUST pay him their full cost, plus their accrued value.

E Bonds come in amounts within the reach of everybody—$25, $50, $100, $500, and $1,000. They cost, now, but 75 per cent of what they will bring in ten years—a $25 bond costs $18.75; a $50 bond, $37.50; a $100 bond, $75; a $500 bond, $375; and a $1,000 bond, $750.

For youngsters looking forward to marriage, or college, or going into business; for everyone wishing to build up a competence for old age; for persons wishing, now, to start a fund for any future use, E Bonds are the soundest investment in all the world today.

Of the 14 billion dollars worth of securities which our Government will offer for purchase on January 18, Michigan's quota is 440,000,000. Of this the available amount of E Bonds is but $165,000,000. In Michigan there are but approximately 1,320,000 families; $165,000,000 worth of E Bonds is only $125 worth per family. It's going to be "first come, first served." Every family in Michigan should try to buy an EXTRA $125 worth of E Bonds—because buying E Bonds is the people's way, the democratic way of both fighting this war to preserve our freedom and to make America strong and our economic life secure AFTER the war.

Farm Machinery Problem To Be Eased Soon

At the moment, the farm machinery situation is worse than it ever has been before, but there is every prospect that there will be more machinery available this spring and summer than there was last year.

That is the opinion of A. R. West, Plymouth farm implement dealer.

"We are now taking orders only when we have the merchandise on hand," he said, "but we are operating a card system, whereby a farmer tells us what he wants. If we think there is a chance of getting it, we say so and put his name on a card. We then set about trying to get the implement he needs. If and when it finally arrives, the farmer is notified. If he still wants it, he gets it. If he doesn't want it, it goes to the next farmer on the list."

Although more steel has been allotted to the farm implement manufacturers, it is by no means certain that there will actually be any great increase in the number of new tools available.

A corn picker ordered four months ago has just arrived. The farmer who ordered it was not able to use it for last year's crop, but he will, of course, use it for the coming year.

Ten plows have been allotted to Mr. West for the spring season, which is not enough to go around, but is considerably better than last year.

Demand in the Plymouth area for farm equipment is greater than it ever has been before. Mr. West said there are a variety of reasons for this increase in demand. The regular farmers in this area, who normally will turn in their old equipment every three years and buy new equipment, are having their equipment repaired, but they want new material whenever they can get it.

But in addition, Detroit workers, who own land in this area, have money for the first time, and they are anxious to buy equipment and farm that land themselves.

Smaller dealers in the surrounding country have not been able to supply the demand of their regular customers, and these farmers are therefore flocking to the larger markets to buy.

To a large extent, Mr. West feels that he will be able to supply the regular customers, but many of them will have to take repairs rather than new equipment.

He has two tractors in stock, but the OPA is not issuing any priorities until February 1.

Mr. West said that in his conversation with the farmers that he has learned that there will be as much produce grown in this area this year as last year.

There has been some grumbling among the farmers over the ceiling prices established by the OPA. One cabbage grower who normally plants 100,000 early cabbage plants said that the price of the plants has gone up this year from 60 cents to $1 for 100 plants. He said that it was doubtful if he would make a profit on plants at that price.

However, most of the farmers are going ahead with plans to grow everything they can grow for Victory.

Women Take Over, Get Results—Canteen Club Opens Saturday

When members of the Mom's club and the Navy Mothers take things in their own hands, they move just like the United States navy and army, quick and decisive!

That's why, after months of delay, the club room is going to be opened Saturday afternoon to OUR BOYS wearing the uniforms of the armed forces.

These patriotic, energetic mothers decided there was no more reason for delay, so they went to work—and how they have worked during the past week or so!

The result is that the Canteen club over the Taylor-Blyton store on Penniman avenue will be opened Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock and will remain open until 10 o'clock in the evening. These will be the regular hours.

Free coffee, home-made pies, doughnuts and sandwiches will be served to men and girls in uniform. Other guests may purchase light lunches. Mothers, wives and sisters of soldiers, sailors and marines will be in charge of the club. The executive committee is composed of Mrs. Don M. Granger, Mrs. E. J. Mulry, Mrs. T. N. Bridge, Mrs. Melvin Alguire, Mrs. A. R. West, Mrs. Raymond Bachelder, John Jacobs, Melvin Alguire and Earl Gray.

A RECENT report on elevators shows that New York City has elevators in this country, and that 50,000, or one fifth of all the they carry approximately 17,500,000 passengers daily, or nearly three times as many as all the city's busses, street cars and subway and elevator trains combined.

BUY WAR BONDS

The day you threw a party instead of buying a bond

It was the 26th of May, 1943.
To you, it was a heavenly Spring day that just had to be celebrated in some way. Besides, you were so bored with all the talk and headlines of war.

To our men on Attu, it was the fiftieth day of incessant fighting. That is, to those who had not been killed, or put out of action with wounds or frozen feet.

They hadn't slept for days; their sun-burned faces ached; their heads and beards and wool-covered bodies itched; their feet were never dry. The dead lay all about them in the fog and snow—an occasional Jap, twisted grotesquely in death, over the body of an American.

But the biggest push of the battle was just ahead.

They had to attack a Jap-held plateau called the Bench, which meant scaling a steep cliff, in the face of continuous gunfire from the Japs, smugly entrenched on top. The final 25 yards were so steep, the soldiers had to drag themselves up by plunging their rifle butts into the snow.

The Japs lay quietly in wait, until our men were almost to the summit. Then, without rising from their fox holes, they rolled grenades down on them. Three times new groups of Americans scaled up the cliff to be blown to eternity.

And suddenly — one American stood alone on the Bench. With his rifle pointed down, he walked deliberately from one fox hole to another, shooting into them with deadly accuracy. Impervious to the Jap grenades all about him, he went on, finally using his gun butt to bash the Japs as they trembled in their holes.

He was still bashing away when our troops finally reached him.

Asked later how he did it, he explained his best friend had been killed as they started up the slope and he didn't remember anything after that.

Asked by his Colonel what he wanted, he said since he'd been a Corporal so long, Sergeant's stripes would be nice.

He got his stripes and he's mighty gratified. He did not get an invitation to your party, but that's all right—he was too busy to attend.

Did you have a good time?
(Incidentally the price of that party would have bought an extra Bond. The 4th War Loan is now on. Every American is asked to put at least $100 extra into Bonds while this Drive is on. Not your regular Bond investing, but extra $100 at least—or $200, $300, $500.)

SOLDIER GEORGE H.
 ROHDER WRITES IN VERSE

Mrs. Warren Thomas, 8470 Wayne road, the other day received an interesting Christmas letter and poem written by her son, George H. Rohder, now stationed somewhere in the South Pacific.

"Merry Christmas From Across the Seas," the soldier's verses follow:
 I am far away this Christmas
 From you, Dear Mother,
 But I am close to Jesus,
 Who is watching over me.

There will be no exchanging of presents.
 On a beautiful Christmas tree,
 But I'll find joy in remembering
 How our Christmas used to be.

There are no stores where I am
 To purchase anything.
 I've bought my gifts with faith and prayer,
 From the new born Infant King.

Here is a little Christmas gift
 That money cannot buy.
 I am sending you this spiritual bouquet.
 As a gift from Jesus and I.

A special hosanna to the little flower.
 Is included in this bouquet,
 I've asked Him to send down a shower
 Of roses, upon you today.

It is these workers of miracles,
 Patron of service men,
 Countless thousands she has brought Back to faith again.

These prayers have a lot more value
 Than any earthly treasure;
 The peace and happiness they bring,
 Is far too great to measure.

As I kneel in adoration,
 On the day that Christ was born,
 I pray that I will be home with you
 Next year on Christmas morn.

May the shining star of Bethlehem
 Shine o'er till the battle is won;
 God bless you and Merry Christmas,
 From your devoted soldier and son.

HE IS IN ARMY MEDICAL CORPS

From Private Lawrence Jones comes word that he has been assigned to the army's medical corps and is now located in Camp Blanding, Florida.

"I like my work—but like The Plymouth Mail, too. I've been moved around a whole lot, but it follows right after me. Sometimes it's late, but it is always good to get it. Read in The Mail about Ruth Wellman being stationed at St. Augustine, so I went over there a while ago. We had a good time talking about our good old home town and our friends. She likes her work, too," wrote Soldier Jones.

SAYS "IT'S A GIFT DIRECT FROM HEAVEN"

Joseph Gates, a Plymouth soldier stationed somewhere in England, has found time to write a brief note to The Mail.

"There isn't much I can say about our outfit because of the censor. It's pretty rough, but interesting in a peculiar way," he stated.

"The Plymouth Mail comes regularly. It's like a gift from Heaven. It's always read word for word. It keeps me in touch with news about Plymouth boys.

So far have met only one Plymouth boy over here—Jack Ross. Give my regards to every one in 'ye Olde' home town and tell my old buddies I would like to hear from them."

John A. Langendam, fireman, first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Langendam of 882 Sutherland, has just completed his basic training at the Submarine school at New London, Conn., and is now gaining further experience on a submarine as a fireman. The new submariner was graduated from the Henry Ford Trade school and joined the navy last February.

RUSSELL EVERSON TELLS OF NEW CALEDONIA

In the following interesting letter, Russell H. Everson, with American troops stationed in New Caledonia, down in the South Pacific, tells of the high prices charged by island dealers. His letter follows:

"According to new censor regulations I'm 'Somewhere in New Caledonia.' You'll have to get out the largest map you have in order to find it. The island consists mainly of mountains. The main town is Noumea, a typical French town (so they say). The business places have wooden roofs extending over the sidewalks which come in very handy when it rains. Of course it never rains down here, much!

"At 5:30 every night all the stores cover up their glass windows with wooden shelters, or iron covers. I guess this is done in place of rolling up the sidewalk. The chief product of Noumea is lemonade, made from lemon extract, sold at every other place of business for ten cents a glass. If you look like a newcomer you'll get your change in French money and you won't get all you've got coming. "Souvenir shops abound. When they make one sale they close for a week to celebrate. Ten cent handkerchiefs with the words "New Caledonia" sewed on them sell for $1.50 up. Twenty dollar watches sell from $60.00 up. Cheap jewelry (dime store stuff) sells upward of $2.00. This should give you a sample of the prices.

SOLDIER PICTURES HIS OLD HOME TOWN

No matter where Plymouth boys have been sent, they have a very vivid picture of their good old home town of Plymouth in their mind. From the deserts of southern California comes such a "word picture" of Plymouth from Pfc. John A. (Bert) Donovan. In part it follows:

"This letter is from just one of the home town boys who wants to thank you for getting your weekly BIG letter from home. In fact I want to thank you for all the boys in service. You don't know how much we appreciate The Mail.

"It seems that our little town of Plymouth is and has been more than doing its part, even though all the street corners are empty of we boys, and the auto horns and the shouts of greeting are quieted.

STRIKERS HELPING HITLER AND JAPAN

From somewhere far out in the Pacific has come an interesting letter from Erlend Bridge, better known to his old home town friends as "Sonny."

The lad, who saved himself from death when the great aircraft carrier Wasp was sunk by jumping 70 feet from the flight deck into the ocean, is back on another carrier.

"I have just received the last eight issues of The Plymouth Mail. They all came in a bunch. Boy, you don't know how good it seemed to get them. Have read them all through once, and am going over them again," he wrote. "Can't find words enough to thank you.

"Thank everybody back home for the swell job they are doing. We have been very busy trying to show the Japs that Uncle Sam hasn't much use for a race of people who think only of greed and hatred.

"You can tell the people for me that strikes are just what Hitler and Japan want. When I was last ashore I walked by a factory and saw a sign on it that I thought some of the people back home ought to read. It said: 'STRIKES CAUSE THE DEATH OF OUR SERVICE MEN'.

"If people would only stop and think of their sons in the service and how much we depend on them, there would be no strikes in America. "Would be glad to hear from my old friends."

WILL TELL OF BATTLE WHEN HE COMES HOME

From Sergeant Earl Wilson, with the Marines somewhere in the Pacific, came a letter in which he stated that he was "involved in a recent big battle with the Marines, but that was all, as the censor took out the rest of what he had said.

His interesting letter, written on Christmas day follows in part: "This letter is written in deep appreciation for your grand efforts in the past year to make each serviceman's unpleasant task as pleasant as possible. I only wish it were possible to be there in person to thank each and every one personally but I am there in spirit to wish everyone the merriest Xmas and offer a solemn prayer that the coming year brings victory and an end to this war."

Former Miller Service Station Is Opened Again

Earl Merrill and William Raith of Farmington have taken over the Jack Miller service station at Pearl and Starkweather, and will operate it with all types of automobile services, including general repairing, tire and battery service. They will handle a complete line of Sinclair gasoline products. One-day service is planned, and the firm will stock a complete line of parts for service.

Change Fees For Riverside Cemetery

The city commission passed, Monday night on first and second reading an amendment to city ordinance No. 90, which sets the schedule of fees for services at Riverside cemetery. The amendment, instead of specifically setting the fees, gives the commission authority to set the fees by resolution.

Two Candidates For Commission

Henry Hondorp And Vaughn Smith To Run

Just a little over one week remains for prospective candidates for election to the city commission to file petitions for the city primary. Final time for filing petitions is before 5 o'clock, February 1.

City Commissioner Henry Hondorp, who has made an outstanding record, it is stated, is being urged to run again and will become a candidate.

It also became known yesterday that former Chief of Police Vaughn Smith, who placed police administration of Plymouth in top place in the state, has been induced to become a candidate for the city commission.

Mr. Smith during the time he served as police chief, frequently handled much of the work of the city manager and is probably as well acquainted with city affairs as any person in Plymouth.

He is at present acting as chief of the protection force of the Continental Motors company in Detroit, having under his jurisdiction a force of over 100 men. He was given this responsible position upon the recommendation of the FBI in Washington and has maintained a remarkably successful record at this vast munitions plant. He maintains a keen interest in his home town affairs and if nominated and elected, his friends say, will make a commendable a record for the city as any member who ever served on the commission.

No other announcements have up to the present time been made.

Remove Trees That Are Traffic Hazard

The city street department has removed about 20 trees throughout the city, which are considered a traffic hazard.

Some of the trees were dead and others were dying, and in cases of heavy sleet or windstorms, they have blown over on cars, and have otherwise impeded the movement of traffic.

Such work is usually handled by the city during the winter months when other work cannot be done.

Rocks Win From Ypsilanti

Playing a very close game throughout, Plymouth's second team was able to win in a five-minute overtime by a score of 28-24, with Brink and Bentley scoring the winning points in the game at Ypsilanti Friday, January 14.

The first and second quarters were very fast, for the Plymouth boys scored 8 points to their opponents' 3 in the first quarter, and split in the second quarter, each team scoring 7 points. Bobby Brink was the high scorer for the first half, making 6 points. The score at the half was 15-10 in favor of the Rockets.

Ypsilanti went ahead in the third quarter, scoring 10 points while the locals could pile only 3.

Plymouth, coming back in the fourth quarter, tied the score 24-24 at the end of the fourth quarter. In the five-minute overtime Bob "Squirt" Brink and Dale Bentley each made a field goal, winning the game 28-24. Bob Brink was high scorer with 10 points and Bell scored with 10.

Exam Daze

Thinking is a definite process, although thoughts pass so swiftly through the mind that we are unconscious of following any logical order. Here is what some students think right about now.

Feeling the difficulty: "Gee whiz, here it is exams again. I wonder if I will get through this time. Oh! unhappy daze."

Recognizing it and defining it: "I guess I just didn't do very much work this semester as far as my studies are concerned."

Examining possible solutions: "Maybe if I listened to the teacher instead of writing notes to the big moment, gazing out the window, and such, I might not be cramming like this. But then I like to go to the show with the gang during the week and, heck, who wants to do homework?"

Choosing the best solution: "Come to think of it, this war is serious. Maybe I could be helpful to my country if I would learn all the things that the U. S. is teaching us in the public schools. Why, we kids are getting quite an education if we would realize it. Oh, yes, I hate to cram. Next semester I am going to get all my homework and it might be possible to hit the honor role. Anyway, if I did the work right along, I could avoid premature gray hair and I could be having a swell week-end."

Odds And Ends

A senior girl who was puzzled over her physics, asked the aid of a bright senior boy.

He: "It would be easy if you knew anything."

She: "People like you shouldn't be born."

This is an example of a limited vocabulary. A service woman in the lunchroom asked a toddler of six if she would like a half or whole serving of potatoes.

The little girl replied: "I'll just take mashed potatoes if you have any."

While the journalism class was discussing television one student remarked that no one would pay one or two dollars to go to a show when they could see the same thing at home for nothing. Student member two replied: "They would pay that much to get away from home."

Senior Sketches

Downing Jewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Jewell, lives at 11473 Rockland, off East Plymouth road, and is following a college preparatory course. He has been on the J-Hop and Senior Annual Committees and was chairman of the construction committee for the Senior Prom. He was in the Junior play and is a member of Boys' Chorus and Hi-Y. Downing's hobbies are photography and aviation. Girl smokers are his pet peeve. After graduating he hopes to join the Army Air Corps.

Two-faced people are Martha Dougan's pet peeve. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dougan of 685 Herald street. Martha has been active in Girl Reserves, Home Ec. Club, and in sports. Her ambition is to become a stenographer and she has been preparing herself by taking a commercial course. Her hobbies are dancing and all sports.

Florence Konazkeski, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Konazkeski of 679 Adams street, has been taking an apprentice course. She was captain of the girls' basketball team in her freshman year and participated in all sports. Her hobbies are dancing, skating, and basketball, while she says her pet peeves are too many to mention.

Wilma Lounsbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lounsbury of 638 Harvey street, plans to enlist in the U. S. A. Nurse Cadet Corps at the University of Colorado in Denver. Her pet peeves are conceited boys, while her hobbies are sports, dancing, and men. She has been taking a college preparatory course and been active in Girl Reserves, Leaders Club, Prom and J-Hop committees, Junior and Senior play committees and Senior-Freshman reception committee.

Women who smoke are the pet peeve of Norman Livernois, son of Jacob and Vinnie Livernois of 37862 Plymouth road. He has played football, basketball and baseball but his favorite is ice skating. Norman hopes to join the Marines.

Rocks Drop Again To Ypsi

Trailing their opponents' scores closely through the entire game, Plymouth lost its sixth contest in the game with Ypsilanti Friday, January 14, at Ypsilanti.

Through the first quarter it was "nip and tuck," the score at the end of the quarter being 7-7, but the second half was another story.

Ypsi scored 12 points and the Rocks were able only to scrape 6 points. High scorer in the first half was Bauer with 7 points and Miller with 6.

As the third quarter proceeded, Plymouth almost reversed the second quarter's scores with 12 points for Plymouth and 7 for Ypsi. Score at the end of the quarter was 25-24 in favor of Ypsi.

The last quarter was very bad for the local boys with Ypsi scoring 11 points to Plymouth's 8. Bennett was high scorer with 15 points; Miller second with 13, and Rienas third with 10 points. The final score was Plymouth 33, Ypsilanti 37.

The Drama Club and the Spanish Class will present plays for the Central P.T.A. meeting on January 25. The Spanish play will be an old fashioned "melodrammer" with Loraine Nichol as the heroine; Raymond Kunkel, the hero; Nan Thornton, the Grandma; and George Waters, the Villain.

Wood Explains Token Problem

Consumers Will Soon Have "New Money"

Chairman William Wood of the Plymouth rationing board has answered numerous questions for The Plymouth Mail that will be of more than interest to consumers as it pertains to the new rationing currency.

The questions and answers are:

Q. When will I begin to use ration tokens?

A. Consumers will begin to receive tokens in change from their retailers on February 27. They can be used immediately.

Q. Will OPA give each consumer a certain number of tokens when this new program begins, just as everybody was given a supply of ration stamps?

A. No. The only tokens you will get are those your retailer gives you in change.

Q. Why will I need ration change? So far, except for receiving 1-point meat stamps in change, I have just counted out the right number of stamps to give my retailer when I have bought rationed goods.

A. You will need change when tokens go into use because each red and each blue stamp in your ration book will be worth ten points. It will no longer be so easy to give your dealer an exact number of points as it was when you had 8, 5, 2, and 1-point stamps to use.

Q. If each stamp will be worth ten points, will I have more points to spend than I do now?

A. No. You will have almost exactly the same number of points as you do now. You will simply use fewer stamps during any one ration period. That's one advantage of the new plan since handling fewer stamps will cut down the work of your retailer and will make your ration book last longer.

Q. When each stamp is worth ten points, how will OPA adjust the rationing program so as to give me the same number of points per month as I have now?

A. At present, three sets of processed foods stamps, a total of 12 stamps are worth 40 points. This small difference of two points can be adjusted by a slight change in the point value of processed foods.

Q. Will meat stamps be handled the same way?

A. They will use them very much as they now do pennies. A consumer who buys items worth 23 blue points, for example, will give his retailer 2 blue stamps (a total of 20 points) and 3 blue tokens (each worth 1 point). If he has no tokens he will give his retailer 3 blue stamps (30 points) and receive 7 blue tokens in change.

Q. Is there any difference between the meat and the processed foods tokens?

A. The only difference in the two kinds of tokens is in their color. The colors match the stamps with which they will be used: blue stamps and blue tokens for processed foods; red stamps and red tokens for meats and fats.

Q. If I have no blue tokens, may I use red ones to pay for processed foods?

A. No. You will use two kinds of tokens just as you have always used two kinds of point stamps—one set for processed foods, the other for meats.

Q. What is the advantage of using tokens?

A. Tokens are expected to make rationing simpler both for consumers and for the trade. There will be point currency of only two denominations—all stamps will be worth ten points; all tokens, one point. Consumers who have long used dimes and pennies will find it easier to figure than when they handled ration stamps worth 8, 5, 2 and 1 points. It will be easier for retailers to count stamps and to make change than when they had to examine each stamp to determine its point value. Tokens are also easier to handle than stamps.

Q. Will I turn in my ration tokens at the end of each ration period?

A. No. Tokens have no expiration date.

City May Buy Lot Near Booster Station

The city commission Monday night discussed the purchase of a lot across from the booster station in the north edge of the city. The lot is owned jointly by Charles Fisher, Mrs. Frank Pierce and Glen Jewell. They have set a price of $4,200 on the lot, which has an assessed valuation of $1,356.

The lot is needed at the moment to make water connections for a 12-inch water main from the new well, which will extend to the water tank.

City Manager Clarence Elliott pointed out that the health department has ruled that no sanitary sewer can be installed within 200 feet of the new well. If this ruling is maintained, no building could ever be built on the lot, it was pointed out by city officials.

A conference among the city commission and the owners of the lot is scheduled.

FOR having inflicted upon the German army the greatest defeat in its history, the city of Stalingrad is scheduled to receive a number of gifts, one of which will be a Sword of Honor from King George of England.

Pin-up picture for the man who "can't afford" to buy an extra war bond...

YOU'VE HEARD people say: "I can't afford to buy an extra War Bond." Perhaps you've said it yourself... without realizing what a ridiculous thing it is to say to men who are dying.

Yet it is ridiculous, when you think about it. Because today, with national income at an all-time record high... with people making more money than ever before... with less and less of things to spend money for... practically every one of us has extra dollars in his pocket.

The very least that you can do is to buy an extra $100 War Bond... above and beyond the Bonds you are now buying or had planned to buy. In fact, if you take stock of your resources and check your expenditures, you will probably find that you can buy an extra $200... or $300... or even $500 worth of War Bonds.

Sounds like more than you "can afford"? Well, young soldiers can't afford to die, either... yet they do it when called upon. So is it too much to ask of us that we invest more of our money in War Bonds... the best investment in the world today? Is that too much to ask?

Plymouth Mail Want Ads Bring Results

This Is Birthday Of Jaycees

Organization Now 24 Years Old

J. Rusling Cutler, president of the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced today that this week is being observed nationally as "Junior Chamber of Commerce Week." On January 21 the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce will celebrate its 24th anniversary, with its 850 local organizations joining with the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce in staging Founder's Day banquets.

It was on January 21, 1920, that the Junior Chamber of Commerce movement was founded in St. Louis with twelve organizations as the original nucleus. The Junior Chamber of Commerce in Plymouth was organized and given its charter in 1939.

President H. Bruce Palmer of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce has clearly defined the purpose of the movement in wartime by stating that "What tomorrow's world will be depends in great part on us today; that which develops in tomorrow's world will be the result of the seed we sow today; and lest the world of tomorrow catch us unawares the time to use imagination, vision and foresight—the time to make plans and put them in effect—is today." Toward that end, all the energies of the Junior Chamber of Commerce have been directed for the purpose of winning the war and helping to build a sound and lasting peace.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce movement has converted its activities to all-out war projects and in the same period of time has contributed over 50% of its personnel to the armed forces. Over 65,000 Junior Chamber members are now in uniform, and an equal number are working on home-front war projects in local communities.

Plans are already under way by the organization to help guarantee employment for servicemen returning from war and to preserve for him the freedom of opportunity which will enable him to regain his place in civilian society and to successfully forge ahead in his chosen field of vocational endeavor.

Referring to Junior Chamber of Commerce activity in matters of national military security, President Cutler of the Plymouth organization called attention to the fact that the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce had advocated compulsory military conscription in 1940 considerably in advance of national legislation on the matter. This was done in the full knowledge, that the age requirements of the Selective Service Act and the age limits of membership of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce being identical, the Junior Chamber of Commerce movement would be one of the first to be called to make the sacrifices demanded by passage of such legislation.

New Auto License Plates Now On Sale In Plymouth

New 1944 automobile license plates have gone on sale at the Plymouth branch of the secretary of state's office in the Mayflower hotel.

Only one plate is being furnished this year, which will be placed on the rear of the car, and there are some persons who feel that the state will never go back to the use of two plates on a car.

The single plate is being issued because of the shortage of steel. Only full-year plates have arrived at the office thus far, but half-year plates will be available later.

The state asks that old plates be turned in because of the shortage of scrap steel.

The state advises that when the new plates are issued that holders of ration books make no effort to erase any figures already on the ration books or the ration coupons for gasoline. They should be used with the old number as long as the markings have already been made, but the new ones are obtained, then the new number should be written on the face of the ration book. When old ration coupons expire and new license number will take effect.

Seek State Funds For Post-war Work

A resolution, requesting the state legislature to appropriate $5,000,000 for post-war work was passed by the city commission at its meeting Monday night.

The resolution specifies that return for this allotment of funds, participating cities will match dollar for dollar locally any appropriations allocated to an individual community.

While it is anticipated that out of a $5,000,000 appropriation Plymouth would receive about $5,000, there is nothing binding in the resolution to require the city to participate in any such program.

MOTHER PIPE SMOKER PLANTER HATES THE WEED

Like many women of her time, George Washington's mother puffed on a pipe, according to many writers. Her son abhorred the "weed" even though he was a tobacco planter, and made a wry face when custom compelled him to take a weak pipe-of-peace with the Indians.

It does not so much matter what is done, as how it is done, that God minds.—It is the well-doing that meets with the well-done.—Venning.

I (Lord God) will overturn, overturn, overturn, it; and it shall be no more, until he come whose right it is; and I will give it him.—Ezekiel 21:27.

Farmer Tips By County Agent

Besemer Passes Along His Ideas

(By E. I. Besemer)

Wayne County farmers can make another contribution to the war effort by selling logs from their farm woodlot. It is needed for boat building, construction timbers and truck bodies. Farmers are urged to process their own logs or have them sawed in nearby sawmills for their own requirements. Mills producing more than 10,000 board feet in a day are not permitted to release hardwoods except on government orders.

Many Michigan farmers have recognized the value of farm records for various purposes. The thing that is perhaps uppermost in your mind at present, however, is the need for records when making out an Income Tax return.

Many farmers keep a record of the income part of their business, but frequently expenses are neglected. For a person who must pay an Income Tax, it will cost at least $2.20 for each $10 expense that is overlooked. No special type of account book is required, but the Michigan Farm Account Book prepared by the Farm Management Department of Michigan State College is complete and is set up especially for Income Tax purposes. The cost of this book is 30 cents and is available at your County Agricultural Agent's office.

Michigan farmers, normally re-seeding half a million acres annually to legumes, will practice thrift in seeding rates in 1944 if the seed supply stretches to cover the acreage. Usually alfalfa seed is applied at the rate of eight pounds to the acre, but a well-distributed six pounds to the acre and covered only lightly will do the job. Essentials are: be certain the land is well supplied with lime, that 400 pounds of high analysis fertilizer is applied to each acre and a fine, firm seed bed is prepared before seeding.

Dairymen and livestock growers of Wayne county will have an opportunity of discussing feed and marketing problems at a meeting in the Romulus Township Hall January 20, 1944 at 1:00 p. m. A. C. Baltzer, dairy extension, Michigan State College will discuss dairy problems at 1:00 p. m. Wayne county members of the Michigan Live Stock Exchange will elect 18 delegates to attend the annual meeting in Lansing, February 19, 1944. The feed and marketing situation will be discussed at this portion of the meeting.

Meat Ration Points Made Available For Farm Pork Buys

Two hundred and sixteen meat ration points have been made available for immediate use for "on-the-farm" purchases of pork and other meats, it was revealed this week by the Office of Price Administration.

The Plymouth Price Rationing board pointed out, however, that such purchases can be made only with farm slaughterers who have registered with the county agent, and who have registered with the local office of OPA and have obtained permits to receive the ration stamps.

The 98 brown points remaining in Ration Book 3 are now made available for immediate use, but only for purchases direct from the farmer. The red stamps in Book 4, numbered eight, and lettered "A" through "M," which are worth 10 points each, also are made available for immediate purchase of "on-the-farm" rationed meats.

The OPA pointed out, however, that use of these stamps immediately does not mean any increase in the amount of meat for each individual. Persons who use the stamps now, for large purchases of meats, will not be able to use them later.

In some sections of the country, and around Plymouth is a good example, it has been the practice of some families to buy a whole or a half of a hog, slaughtered by the farmer. The large supply of pork now on the farms makes it advisable to continue this practice wherever possible.

Numerous Grass Fires Keep Firemen Busy In January

A series of grass fires throughout western Wayne county over the past week has kept all the fire departments busy.

The Livonia department has made almost 20 runs to put out the fires, which threatened orchards and in some cases buildings.

The Plymouth fire department also has made a number of runs. This has been one of the driest winters in memory, and is causing some concern to farmers in the area, who are worried about the protection to the ground usually protected by the snow and, at the same time, they are worried because of an abnormal fall in the normal water level. This may have a severe effect on next summer's crops.

Better Homes For Everybody Is The Greatest Need

Babson Park, Fla., Jan. 21—The ban on residential buildings has resulted in a pent-up demand for new houses that is unprecedented. Potential markets exist for at least one million units. Housing is still critical in many localities. Real estate dealers are hard put to find small homes. In co-operation with builders, however, they can look forward to merchandising the greatest residential crop of their careers. Aided by far-seeing city and suburban planning and by new techniques in construction, home owners can also look ahead—in their instance—to lower costs and greater conveniences in living.

Much of the shortage of city dwellings is largely caused by the war. In some defense areas the peak demand has passed. There present scarcity may turn into an over-supply. But not so everywhere. Many migrant war workers from farms have occupied new, and attractively fitted up, Government Housing homes. Once back on the farm they are not going to be content with their old way of living. Those who have saved a few thousand dollars will want to invest in a new home. This may be a decided factor in boosting both building volume and land values in smaller and rural communities.

New residential building totals will be very large but may be spotty, geographically. All localities cannot look forward to an equal participation. Geographically, the southwest coastal states can expect increased housing activity. This is also true of New England and the north west states. Builders and dealers should take time out now to consider carefully the prospective demand for new homes in their respective communities. Stock market booms benefit most all securities, but real estate or building booms may well be confined to certain definite areas.

In pre-war years, considerable progress was made in pre-fabricated construction. Methods of insulating, heating, wiring and plumbing have been so improved during the war that the pre-fabricated house industry may make quite a showing. A recent survey covering 27,000 houses of this type shows that they can be built for from 10 per cent to 20 per cent below the cost of the conventional house. A very large number have been built for defense workers. Many of these may be moved to new sites. This, however, is an expensive job.

As pre-fabricated house manufacturers profit from recently learned construction lessons and as the idea catches on, I expect to see a real market for houses of this type. Five or six years after the war 50 per cent of our new homes may be pre-fabricated in whole or in part. A great deal of material can be saved and these savings passed on to the home owner. It may not be long before chain stores and department stores can carry a regular line of partially pre-fabricated houses. It is as reasonable to expect that houses can be mass-produced as are automobiles.

Like pre-fabricated houses, there is nothing new in city planning although it is still in its infancy. The idea is maturing slowly but surely. During these savings passed on to the much to spend on municipal improvements. In many communities, however, planning boards have been busy preparing studies of housing, recreation and educational requirements. Many of their recommendations, designed to meet the maximum living requirements in terms of health, efficiency and convenience, will take concrete form.

Studies in planning should consider a town or city's future in relation to its state, or region and even to the nation. Even a community's place and the service it might render in any new world economy should be determined. Population trends, industries, resources, available land, soil analysis, climate, transportation, sanitation and many other factors enter into intelligent city or suburban planning. It should represent much more than an efficient layout of streets, parks, homes, business areas and educational or municipal services. My readers should get acquainted with their local planning board members. They are not a municipal luxury; they can stabilize real estate values by bringing better people to your community and making everyone healthier, happier and more prosperous.

25 Years Ago

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

H. W. Murray has purchased the building owned by the Plymouth United Savings bank and formerly occupied by the Pettin-gill and Campbell grocery and will move his ice cream and candy store from the Gayde block to that location about the first of February.

Mrs. Edith Rhead of Lapeer is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. William Glympe, on Maple avenue.

Last Sunday and Monday were considerably different than January 12 and 13, 1918. The snow then was "teen" feet deep everywhere and the thermometer was 24 degrees below zero. Business in every line was at a standstill. The Newburg news reporter, Mrs. Ryder, writes of the weather this year in this manner: "The dust flies on Plymouth road as badly as it did in the summer. Quite different than a year ago."

Clyde Bentley announces that he will build a modern garage on the vacant lot owned by him opposite the Plymouth Hotel and known as the old Fuller property. Mr. Bentley expects to move from Redford to this village next month.

Wednesday was the last day in which to file nominating petitions for the office of village commissioners. Only five petitions were filed. Commissioners W. T. Conner and E. R. Daggett are up for re-election, while A. V. Jones, George H. Robinson and Edward E. Foster are the other candidates. The election will occur Monday, March 10.

H. F. Brown and wife of Detroit and Miss Caroline Babbitt of Northville were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McLaren.

Born, a daughter, to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lang of Detroit, Friday, January 10. Mrs. Lang was formerly Miss Alice Mott of this place.

Miss Cleo Willett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Willett of this city, was quietly united in marriage to William Norrgrove, also of Plymouth, Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will reside in the George Wilkie house on Mill street.

F. W. Hamill, wife and two children, Doris and Alta, left last week, Thursday evening, for a several weeks' trip to California. Ray Bloxom is taking Mr. Hamill's place as agent at the Pere Marquette depot during the latter's absence.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Harrison of Detroit Thursday, January 9. Mrs. Harrison will be remembered as the former Celia Brown of this place.

Miss Edna Richwine leaves today for Chicago where she will spend two weeks with her brother, Alton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Williams are the parents of a daughter born January 14.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Eckles have received word from their son, Floyd, saying that he is in the hospital at Toul, France. He said that he had been gassed and had been in the hospital for the past two months but is now slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sackett and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Shannon of Detroit, Albert Minehart, Charles Minehart and Mary Hill were guests at the Butler home Sunday.

Otto Beyer, Elm, has moved from the George Green farm to the farm lately occupied by Charles Gardiner at Bell Branch.

VICTORY'S SONS

ATANK CREW stationed in North Africa picked up a message informing them that seven enemy tanks were attacking a command post and that some artillery vehicles were attempting to withdraw to a new position. Warrant officer Clarence W. Coley was commanding the only Allied tank within reach.

Though outnumbered seven to one, he unhesitatingly dashed to the rescue. The American tank came within range of the Panzer unit and opened fire. After a hot exchange, four of the enemy tanks were destroyed. The other three "got away" by precipitate flight. Meanwhile the artillery trucks and halftracks had moved on to safety.

Somehow, that one American tank defeated seven Axis tanks doesn't seem to surprise us so much. That's always been the American way. But what do they think about it in Berlin and Rome?

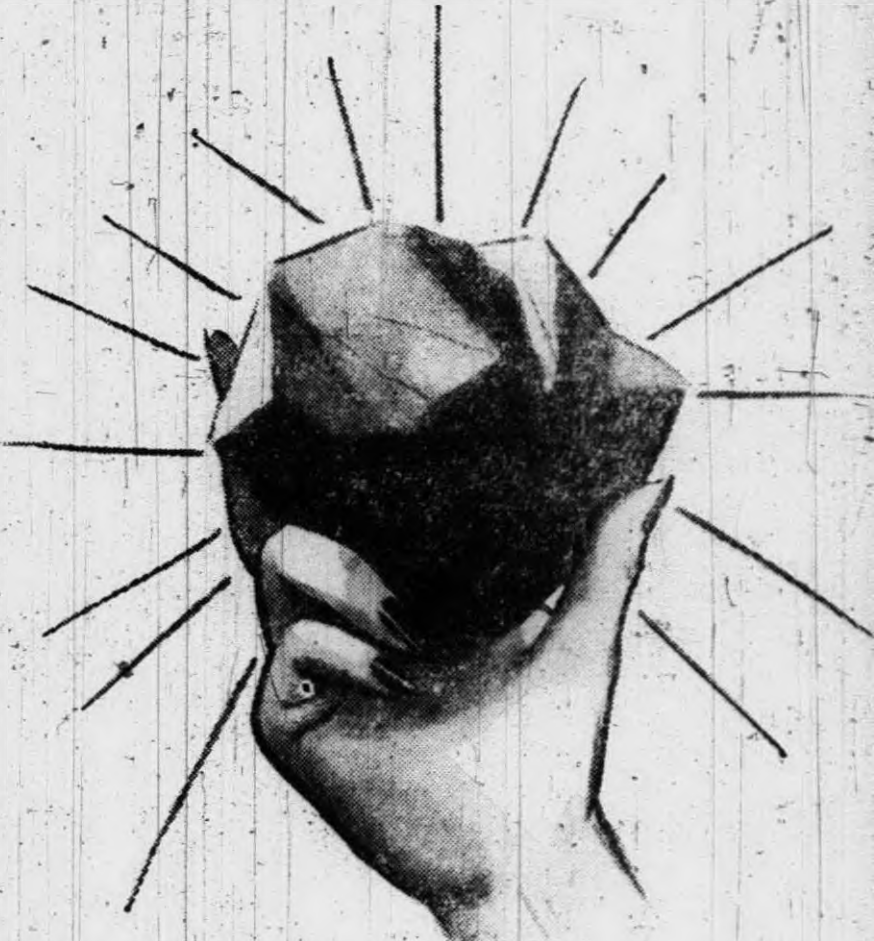

The silver star for gallantry in action was awarded to Clarence Coley, Leewood, Virginia, and to his crew, Sgt. Merton C. Clark, Queens, Kan., Corp. Austin Dyer, Jr., LaPorte, Ind., and Pvt. Earl Agce, Rector, Ark.

Done in true American style, boys!

World War II BLACK DIAMOND:

Help to save coal by conserving electricity

Long ago, coal acquired the title "BLACK DIAMOND." Coal is precious today because it is a critical war material, because it is needed to run steel mills and railroads and power plants as well as to heat our homes.

Thousands of tons of coal are required every day in Edison power plants to make the electricity used by war plants and homes and business places in this area. If you use less electricity, less coal will be burned. The problem is as simple as that. Anything you can do to save electricity also saves coal.

That is why the Government asks for the utmost conservation in your use of electric power. Be careful in your use of electric appliances and equipment — turn off immediately when the task is completed. In home or office or factory, turn off lights not in use. Clean lamp bulbs and reflectors regularly. Don't leave the radio turned on when not listening to it. "Share the light" so that one lamp can serve two or more people.

These things are small in themselves. But this conservation program, which includes ALL utility services, will save thousands of tons of coal vitally needed for war. The Detroit Edison Company.
