Weddings

MALEN-HOWCROFT

On Saturday afternoon, January 22, Eleanor Malen of Plymouth and Richard Howcroft, Seaman 1/c of Edisto Island, South Carolina, were united in marriage at the Newburg Methodist church parsonage by the Rev. Verle J. Carson. Mrs. Isabelle Ruehle of Utica was the matron of honor and Laura Korbal was bridesmaid. Norman Ruehle and William Frink were the best men. The bride wore a white satin dress on princess lines with a sweetheart neckline, leg o' mutton sleeves, two-yard train, fingertip veil, Mary Queen of Scots hat, and a corsage of gardenias and stephanotis. The matron of honor wore a pink gown in torso lines. The bridesmaid was attired in blue. They both wore white and pink carnation corsages. The mother of the bride was gowned in powder blue with a pink carnation corsage, and the mother of the groom wore navy blue with a pink carnation corsage. A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on Warren avenue, Plymouth, at 7 p.m. One hundred and fifty guests attended the reception.

It is the temper of the highest hearts to strive most upwards when they are most burdened.—Sir Philip Sidney.

A Message To Our Patrons

The new store hours effective this week are for your convenience to enable you to come to the market on Friday evening and do your shopping, if you can't do so during the day time. The only drawback is that this will prevent us to take telephone orders and put them up on Fridays as we have been doing in the past. Please remember that we are doing everything humanly possible to give you the best of service under present circumstances and therefore would like to have your comments on this new arrangement of hours. Because the law limits the working hours for women and minors and in fairness to them the Purity Market will continue to be closed every Wednesday afternoon, otherwise our hours will be: Daily Including Sat. 9 to 6 Friday 9 to 9 Signed: DAVID GALIN, Prop. Purity Market

The Navy Mother's club will hold its next meeting Thursday evening, February 10, at the Presbyterian church.

SOLDIERS DIE WHILE WORKERS STRIKE

From Tech. Sgt. James W. Darnell, with the U. S. marine corps somewhere out in the Pacific right up in the front where boys are being shot and boys are dying for America, came a letter to The Plymouth Mail the other day expressing the sorrow of the troops over the loss of Keith Lawson and Don Hunter.

"The real reason for me in writing this letter to you is so that you will express our sympathy to the parents and friends of both Keith Lawson and Don Hunter, who were recently killed in action. They were both personal friends of mine and we all felt mighty badly about it," wrote Sergeant Darnell.

"I wonder if the men who participate in all the strikes we hear about back home ever stop to think how many of our boys are dying every day to put a stop to this war? I wonder if they stop to think how they are helping to prolong this war by their strikes," he wrote.

"I wish that all of the strikers, both men and women, who leave their jobs were forced to spend a year overseas right up at the front we are holding out here in the Pacific. I would like to see if they could take it and see if they could stand the Hell that we go through over night—nights that are long, quiet and damp, filled with minutes and hours of waiting for the sound of the distant, purring of oncoming flight of enemy planes that will tear us loose from the earth.

"I hope that any one who ever thinks about striking will first consider we who are overseas in the front lines and who are not making $15 or $18 per day.

"Everything is quiet right here now, but we do have lots of rain and if you go outside you might just as well jump right in the ocean, as the rainfall is so heavy. It is hard to tell how much The Plymouth Mail is enjoyed."

PLYMOUTH BOYS
MEET IN ITALY
In a letter to Miss Marion Johnson, Pvt. Milo C. Bliss of Northern avenue, who is now in Italy, wrote that he had met Pvt. John Yell LaPeer at a rest camp somewhere in Italy. Miss Johnson, a fiancée of Soldier Bliss, stated that the two boys spent New Year's day together and that they had had a good time.

NO SNOW HERE, BUT PLENTY WHERE HE IS

Douglas Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller, recently sent some newspaper clippings to his parents taken from the San Antonio Light, a Texas newspaper, which told of a blizzard that recently swept the Panhandle country. Highways were blocked by snowdrifts, trains were running behind schedule and bus schedules were cancelled. Douglas also enclosed a newspaper picture showing Robert J. Loring, a Plymouth lad, at work in their small arms repair truck behind the Fifth army front somewhere in Italy. The picture had been published in a Dallas newspaper, where young Loring's soldier companion lived.

HE'S NOW A FLYING SECOND LIEUTENANT

Among the recent graduates of the Army Air Forces Navigation school at San Marcos, Texas, was Carl E. Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin E. Parsons, of 1012 Penniman avenue, who was awarded his wings and given a commission as second lieutenant. In the class that graduated with him were 17 other Michigan boys who had also successfully made the grade.

DONALD PANKOW LIKES ASSIGNMENT

From Donald H. Pankow came a letter a few days ago to the editor in which he stated that he had been assigned to one of Uncle Sam's "best ships in the fleet and that he had about the "best duty" a fellow can get.

"My only wish is to learn my duties and get ahead. I am in the air conditioning gang, which is one of the divisions of the engineering department," he wrote.

Pfc. Anna Shoner, WAC, 49485 Ann Arbor road, sister of Mrs. Irene Boulton, was one of the Camp Carson, Colorado, WACs recently contributing blood to the Red Cross blood plasma bank. Pfc. Shoner has two brothers in the armed forces, Privates Eugene and Ernest Shoner. At Camp

Carson, Pfc. Shoner is filling a necessary army job well. She is in the stock record section, post ordinance.

She joined the WAC May 22, 1943, through the Sixth Service command, and was sworn into the WAC after her arrival in Camp Carson, August 20.

When Camp Carson WACs unloaded in front of the Red Cross quarters, to contribute blood for the plasma bank, over 71 per cent of them gave their blood for brothers, husbands or sons who are training for combat or fighting overseas.

WRITES OF CHRISTMAS
DOWN IN NEW GUIENA

It was Christmas cards, letters and Christmas boxes that helped to make Christmas day seem something like Christmas way off down in New Guinea, according to a letter that came this week to "Our Boys" page from John E. Stout, who is with a naval air force somewhere down in New Guinea.

"Thanks to everyone. You did a lot to help cheer us up at Christmas time. It would be hard for you to imagine what it would be for you to spend Christmas day in a country like this. We could all have had a much better time if we were at home," he said in his letter.

"But all the boys made the best of it, and we certainly have a swell bunch of fellows in our outfit. We all made a wish Christmas day that we would like to finish this thing up and be home by next Christmas.

"Since leaving home I have spent much time in Australia. But America for me. Have been where I am now for five months and have never seen anyone I know. I just received a letter from my brother-in-law, Harry Dahmer Jr., and he is also somewhere in New Guinea. Once in a while I get letters from Lowell Sweeney and Johnny Maxey. Would like to hear from more of you fellows."

PRIVATE WESTFALL
NOW BACK IN CAMP

Pfc. H. H. Westfall, who recently spent a 10-day furlough with his father and his old girlhood friend, Miss Ruth Sloan, in this city, is now back in Camp Iron Mountain, near Los Angeles. He has been in the field artillery for two and a half years.

CORPORAL RAYMOND
CARTMELL TELLS OF STORM

In a recent letter to his parents, Corp. Raymond Cartmell, stationed at Camp Backley, Texas, enclosed newspaper clippings telling of the immense amount of damage done by a snow storm early in January. On New Year's day that part of the country had the heaviest rainfall in 58 years and that was followed by a blizzard which killed much livestock.

WOULDN'T TRADE MICHIGAN FOR CALIFORNIA

Ken Kleinschmidt, a Plymouth lad stationed at a camp in California, says he wouldn't trade any part of Michigan for California.

Ken writes: "My wife and I just returned from a very pleasant three days spent in Santa Ana, where we visited friends. This visit was looked forward to very much by me as it meant seeing Roger McClain, who is stationed at the Marine Air base at El Toro, who I have not seen for two years. Rod, as we all know him, was one of the three boys who were almost always seen together. Don Passage and I were the other two and a fellow could ask for no better buddies anywhere.

"During the short time Rod and I had together in Santa Ana, we talked over a lot of old times, but the time was too short and our reminiscing was over altogether too soon. No one realizes what it is like to be able to get together with one of his old buddies again after being separated so long until it has actually happened to them.

"While down here we wanted to see Chuck and Louie Dely, who are stationed at El Toro, but at the time, Chuck was nowhere to be found, and Louie was working at headquarters, which was some distance from where we were. It certainly would have been 'Plymouth day' if we could have all gotten together."

"We enjoyed our trip very much, passing through Hollywood on the way back. We saw many interesting things there, including some of the major studios, but we didn't have enough time to really stop and take them in. We both came to the conclusion that we would have to make another trip. Beverly Hills is also a very beautiful place.

"Although the country around Los Angeles is very nice, there is nothing that can compare with Michigan. I'll take a trade anytime. From what Rod tells me, there are quite a few people from Plymouth in and around L. A., and they have started what they call a Plymouth club."

New Hours For Auto License Office

Frank Rambo, manager of the local branch of the secretary of state's office, announces that until March 15 the local license plate bureau will be open each day from 9 until 6 o'clock. Special provisions will be made if necessary toward the end of the period, but to avoid standing in line, all motorists are requested to buy their tags early.

Jellies and jams are best stored in a cool, dark, dry place. If stored on the top shelf of the kitchen or pantry, warm air may loosen the paraffin covering and let spoilage organisms in.

New President Of Michigan Press Assn. Outstanding Editor

W. Webb McCall

W. Webb McCall, publisher of the Isabella County Times-News at Mt. Pleasant, was elected president of the Michigan Press Association at a war conference and 76th anniversary meeting last Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Lansing. He succeeds George A. Osborn, Sault Ste. Marie Evening News.

Attendance records were broken as Michigan newspaper editors assembled at the capital city and heard eye-witness talks about the war by Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press; Leland Stowe, famous war correspondent; Lt. Col. Karl Detzer, Michigan author; Wing Commander Raymond Harris of the R.A.F.; Brig. Gen. Miles A. Cowles, and Capt. Norman C. Gillette, U.S.N. Gov. Harry F. Kelly and 10 state leaders presented an official preview of the state's post-war planning program.

Harry Robinson Getting To Be Just Like Soldier Boys

Just like the soldier boys over in New Guinea, Italy and England, who can't wait until they receive their copies of The Plymouth Mail, Harry C. Robinson writes the editor from down in Hot Springs, Arkansas, that he lives from one week to the other waiting the arrival of The Plymouth Mail.

"I had to read it before taking a bath to wash off the Arkansas dust. But it's very nice here, even though it is dusty at times. All three of us are improving. Tell the Rotary boys that they have a good club here. I attended last Wednesday. They have a big attendance. The sun shines every day. Have met several men here that I know. Give our regards to all our friends back home," concluded Mr. Robinson. With Harry is Mrs. Robinson and Miss Rose Hawthorne. They plan to go to Florida after a few more weeks in Hot Springs.

His company commander states that Howard is getting along exceptionally well during the time he has been at the naval training school. Before entering the navy he was employed at the Wall Wire plant.

SPAR RUTH WELLMAN GETS NEW ASSIGNMENT

SPAR Ruth E. Wellman, seaman 2/c, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Wellman, 413 Adams street, has been assigned to the coast guard captain of the port base, St. Augustine, Florida.

SPAR Wellman, who enlisted at Detroit in August, 1943, was indoctrinated at the coast guard training section, Palm Beach, Florida, and received her present rating in October.

A brother, James A. Wellman, seaman 1/c, is serving in the navy and is stationed at Curtis Bay, Maryland.

CORP. ROBERT EGGE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

A note to the editor from Corp. Robert Egge advises that he has been moved from Presque Isle, up in Maine, to Griener field, near Manchester, New Hampshire. He likes the new camp he is stationed in and says that the place has been beautifully landscaped.

LIKES TEXAS AND THE "TEXAS WOMEN"

From Don Leichweiss, recently transferred from Louisiana to Texas, came a brief note in which he said he likes Texas very much because of the "wide open spaces and the women."

Don writes that "they certainly do treat us swell down here around Gainesville. There's another little town close by called Denton. It's a girls' college town. They hold dances every Saturday in the college and, of course, the service men are invited to attend. That's really when the boys go to work. They never miss those dances.

"Texas is a nice state, but I do not like the gumbo after it rains. Do not know how long I will be here, but I hope I get another leave so I can go back to Plymouth before I leave," he added.

TRAINING TO BECOME ARMY AIR PILOTS

Harold R. DeWulf of 29350 Plymouth road, and Donald W. Mielbeck, 15810 Newburg road, have been enrolled at the pre-flight school at San Antonio Aviation Cadet center and have started their training for army air force pilots. Both lads just recently entered the service.

Plan Physical Training For Men Going Into Army

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a class in physical education for all men, but more particularly those who are planning to enter the armed services. It will be essentially a conditioning program, will meet Tuesdays at 8 o'clock at the high school gymnasium and will be taught by John Tomshack, director of physical education in the schools.

Few men on American battle-ships ever see their vessel in action because most battle stations are below deck or under cover. For instance, when the new U.S.S. Iowa goes into her first encounter, at least 2,200 of her 2,500 officers and men will be able to follow the fight only through the description of its progress broadcast to them over loud-speakers.

Discuss Closing Of Amelia St.

A special meeting of the City Planning commission is contemplated to reach a decision on the question of rezoning Amelia street for light manufacturing, or as an alternative the vacating of Blanche street from Amelia street to the Pere Marquette tracks.

One action or the other is being contemplated in order to assure the Dunn Steel Products room to expand its activities.

A petition to prevent the rezoning of Amelia street has been presented to the city commission, which in turn was referred to the planning commission, which heard arguments on the issue, at a meeting last week.

However, due to the fact that all of the members of the commission were not present, the question was tabled for a subsequent meeting.

Unofficially, it was learned that most of the commission favors the vacating of Blanche street, and permission to extend for the Dunn Products company to establish a parking lot on the east side of Amelia street.

Andy Dunn, head of the steel company, said that if Blanche street is vacated, it will give him the room he needs to provide an entry and loading zone, which is not now available.

At the same time, permission for establishment of a parking lot on the east side of Amelia street would permit him to use his present parking lot facilities for expansion of the factory business.

If the city should vacate Blanche street from Amelia street to the railroad, the property would be owned between the Dunn company and the Roe Lumber company.

Only opposition to the plan to vacate the street is based on a statement made some time ago by the county road commission that if and when the county puts in an underpass, Blanche street might be considered as one place for the underpass.

However, the city, on an advisory vote, elected to put it on Main street, and there has been some agitation to place it on Farmer street, making that the through street of the city.

Once loved deeply, all truths are so beautiful that they ravish us beyond ourselves, and the first rapture of life is to point them out to others. Nor does the rapture die, but grows in the using.

To Explain Farm Questionnaire

Registrants To Meet Here February 10

(By E. J. Besmer)

As a result of the Emergency Farm Labor program last year here is on file in the county agent's office in Wayne the names of 2,972 youth who did farm work last year. It is estimated that 5,511 youth from Detroit and Wayne county helped in food production and harvest in 1943.

Farmers are now registering with the county agricultural agent for farm help during 1944.

O. E. Shear, extension poultryman, will be at the third of the food production meetings to be held this year.

This will be in the form of a poultry clinic where poultry raisers are invited to bring their poultry problems.

The meeting will be held in the Romulus high school February 9 at 7:30 p.m.

A selected group of 2-C and 3-C registrants will be invited to a special meeting in Plymouth at the local board offices at 7:30 p.m., February 10, so the agricultural questionnaire for them can be explained and made out.

J. A. Wilson, field supervisor of the emergency corporation and feed loan division of the department of agriculture has received an announcement from his St. Paul regional office that 1944 crop and feed loans are now available to all eligible farmers in Wayne county at the office of the county agricultural agent in Wayne.

Mr. Wilson reports that there has been no change in the law regulations under which loans have been made during the past few years, but he stresses the fact that loans are not available to applicants who can obtain credit on reasonable terms from other sources, including local banks and production credit associations.

As in the past, farmers who obtain emergency crop and feed loans will give as a security a first lien on the livestock to be used in the money borrowed is to be used to produce or purchase feed for livestock. Loans draw interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum from date of disbursement and the amount which may be loaned to any one farmer in 1944 may not exceed $400.

Loan funds may be used for any and all crop production purposes, including the purchase of seed, fertilizer, gas and oil, feed or workstock and necessary repairs for farm machinery. The amount loaned per acre shall be used with due regard for the potential yield of the crops and in no case shall the total amount loaned be greater than the productive net sales value of the crops to be sold.

YOU KNOW that this year may bring great victories—if every American, civilian as well as soldier, stands loyally at his or her post. And, whatever else your duties may call for, there is one job that concerns every citizen—that concerns you: That is to help make 1944 one of the decisive years of human history. So make whatever sacrifice may be necessary to help make the 4th War Loan Drive the success it must be if we are to realize our great objectives this year.

Ask yourself honestly—how much of a sacrifice is it to give up some luxury just temporarily in order to buy the best investments in the world? When you've answered that question, buy at least one extra $100 Bond now—at your office or plant, if possible. And if you've already bought, buy again this month—and keep 'em!

Thanks To Colonel Cass Hough Of This City, Our Fighting Pilots Are Beating Germany And Living To Tell The Story

The following article pertaining to the remarkable air exploits of Col. Cass S. Hough of this city appeared in a recent issue of the magazine Air News and was published in the February issue of Reader's Digest as follows:

This is the story of an American fighter pilot who deliberately exposed himself to one of the most dangerous experiments in aviation history—the airman's equivalent to sitting on a keg of gun-powder and lighting the fuse. Our fliers throughout the world have a warm place in their hearts for Colonel Cass Hough of Plymouth, Michigan. But for him, hundreds of them might now be dead, and to him must go at least part of the credit for the fabulous score of enemy planes chalked up by the now-famous Lightning P-38.

When this two-engine, twin-fuselage fighter arrived in England the British tried it out, shook their heads, said it wasn't good enough to fly against the Luftwaffe. In a mock battle with Spitfires, staged at Hough's request, RAF pilots flew circles around him. Had it been actual combat, the Spits would have shot the Lightning down.

But Hough refused to be discouraged; he knew the American plane was basically a superb fighting machine. Grimly he set to work with hand-picked mechanics to sweat out improvements, using every trick of engineering know-how. Then he appeared at the British testing depot for another mock-battle test.

This time it was an entirely different story. Hough put on a performance the English skies had never seen before—a foreign plane giving points to a Spitfire. Then the RAF pilots tried captured German Focke-Wulfs and Messerschmitts against him, and saw the remodeled American plane outperform them all. Cass Hough's faith had been justified, and a sensational new fighter plane would take the skies against the Luftwaffe.

But then the blow fell. An experienced pilot, putting one of the new Lightnings through a standard routine at 34,000 feet, got into a vertical power dive. When he tried to pull out, his wings came off.

This pilot had been dead only a few hours when another American slipped his Lightning into a similar dive seven miles above the earth. Hurling down at unprecedented speed, he too was unable to pull out although he tried every trick in the book. Desperately making a final bid for survival, he grabbed the emergency release that operates the sliding canopy above the cockpit, whereupon the whole canopy was immediately snatched away. Monster suction tore him from his seat, breaking both his legs against the straps of his safety belt, whipping him up through the hatch like a straw in a tornado, and flinging him, at 700 miles an hour, onto the screaming air.

With extraordinary presence of mind, the young pilot waited to decelerate before pulling his parachute ring. If he had pulled it at once, the jerk of the opening chute would have ripped him limb from limb. As it was, he survived a parachute landing—equivalent to jumping from a 15-foot wall with two broken thighs—and returned practically from the grave to give Cass Hough a blow-by-blow account of his experience.

Hough went back to headquarters and pondered. The Lightning was a military weapon of great potential value if some way could be found to make it survive the vertical dive which is a necessary maneuver in air fighting. After days and nights of unsparring work he arrived at one possible solution: to use, as a brake for the dive, the trim tabs—final segments of the tail by the adjustment of which the nose of a plane can be raised or lowered to keep it in level flight. That might work.

The next morning Hough took his own Lightning up to 43,000 feet—eight miles into that pale, thin air where it is 60 degrees below zero. "I had a touch of the bends—pains in my arms and legs," he says, "so I cruised around for about 15 minutes. I guess I was really trying to get up nerve enough to dive."

He proposed to send seven tons of airplane, with two 1200-h.p. Allison engines wide open, hurtling down a 43,000-foot plumb line. Today, American airmen all over the world, streaking after outclassed Zeros and Messerschmitts, marking up Lightning victories at the rate of five for one, have profound cause to be grateful that there was nothing the matter with Cass Hough's nerve that morning.

After one last look around, he dived. For the first 5000 feet everything was normal. The speed rose. Then "all hell broke loose. It seemed like something went 'Whoo-o-ff' and left me hanging there."

Hough had now reached that fabulous speed at which tail surfaces flap in a weird vacuum. The air-speed indicator reached its limit of 500 m.p.h., and then started around the second time. The needle on the altimeter, which makes one complete revolution every thousand feet, was spinning like a wheel. At 35,000 feet the plane started to buffet—that is, to undergo violent surges in speed which make a pilot feel as if he is being dashed against a concrete wall. Hough pulled back on the controls, but the nose didn't lift an inch.

Next he tried to throttle down the roaring engines. But this was a nearly fatal mistake. The plane started into the dreaded outside loop which spells certain death. Quickly he resumed full throttle. The Lightning tore on.

He had now plunged 13,000 feet in about the time it takes to cross Main Street. The earth was racing toward him at incredible speed. The buffeting had become so violent that he could hardly keep his hands on the controls.

He was traveling about 800 m.p.h., faster than the speed of sound, faster than any living being that had ever traveled before. The pain in his ears was torture. He had about 22 seconds left. "At this point," says Hough, "I was beginning to get pretty scared."

All known methods of recovery had failed. If he was going to get clear by parachute, this was the last instant to jump. But Hough was hurling himself down through space to try one particular thing, and he was determined to go through with it. Abandoning the controls, he turned the little reel which raises or lowers the trim tabs. Then he waited to see if the tabs would bite into the air. At 25,000 feet the speed was still unchecked. As he flashed below, 20,000 he had slightly over 15 seconds to live.

It was then that he felt the initial sign of recovery. The split second had arrived when seven tons of runaway metal, streaking out of the blue, gave the first faint intimation of willingness to come under control. At 15,000 feet—12 seconds to go—the plane was beginning to turn away from the vertical. "It was a welcome feeling," he says.

But the scorching plane had still to be brought safely through onrushing tons of air pressure. One uncertain move meant tearing the wings asunder. No plane had ever before been successfully subjected to such a fearful test.

Forcing himself to move deliberately in this madhouse of speed and sound, Hough eased up on the trim tabs just as the nose started to sweep up in real earnest. The plane was going over 700 miles an hour when all the controls took hold at once. He had one last question: "Will the wings hold?" before the tremendous force of pulling out from the great dive blacked him into semi-consciousness.

When Hough came to, he was 5,000 feet higher up, with the plane climbing almost vertically. He looked around. Everything was still there. His faith in the Lightning had been justified.

"My gas was running low, so I returned to the field and landed."

It took him three minutes to steady down enough to light a cigarette.

That his heroic dive and his scientific brain had at last made the Lightning P-38 a super-weapon was proved a short time later when ten young American pilots, armed with Hough's hard-bought experience, took their revamped Lightnings down in a blinding dive at 25 Messerschmitts. They shot down 16 Me-109's for a loss of only one Lightning.

As for the man whose patience and supreme daring was responsible for this and for hundreds of victories that followed, from the English Channel to New Guinea, his Air Force citation said: "Colonel Hough achieved the longest terminal velocity dive in history. . . . He knowingly and deliberately entered unknown regions of the air. . . . The courage, skill and devotion to duty displayed by this officer reflect the highest credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Accompanying the citation was the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Floyd Starr Speaker At Newburg Father And Son Banquet

Floyd Starr, noted boys' worker, will be the guest speaker at the annual Father and Son banquet at the Newburg Methodist church on Friday, February 11. The banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. Starr, founder and head of the Starr Commonwealth for Boys at Albion, Michigan, has won national recognition for his work among boys. Working on the principle that "there is no such thing as a bad boy," he has helped countless boys to readjust their lives and become useful citizens.

The toastmaster at the banquet will be J. M. McCollough. Robert Snyder will give the toast to the fathers, while Emile Casselle will respond with a toast to the sons. A real treat of the evening will be a return engagement of Faron the Magician. Faron was at the banquet two years ago and proved a real hit with both fathers and sons. Mr. Starr will bring the boys' quartet from Starr Commonwealth to provide special music.

Thousands of Army and Navy men are getting high school or college credits by following correspondence courses conducted by the Armed Forces Institute. The Institute offers 64 separate subjects, including English, mathematics, science, business, architecture, and mechanical, electrical, and civil engineering. A Certificate of Proficiency is awarded upon satisfactory completion of each course.

Science Teacher Gets A Commission

Mr. Keeslar, teacher of chemistry and physics, has received his commission—lieutenant (j.g.)—in the navy, where he will be a special service officer in naval aviation. He resigned his teaching activities January 28. He will leave March 4 for eight weeks of indoctrination and will move his family to Sturgis, Michigan, for the time being. He will spend the next five weeks working full time on his dissertation leading to the Ph.D. degree in secondary education in an attempt to finish it. He is working under the direction of Dr. Francis D. Curtis, author of our general science text "Everyday Science." The dissertation involves a study of scientific method, followed by an analysis of the contents of 24 motion pictures in science to determine the extent to which the films contribute to the major objectives of science teaching in high school.

Little Shop Repairs Household Articles

If one should visit the little shop, he would see Jack Scheel, Ted Thrasher and Herbert Swanson adjusting bar clamps on a recently glued chair from the school dining room. Several others are ending the semester with household mechanics. These jobs include sharpening and reconditioning home shop tools such as hatchets, axes and knives, putting in new handles, repairing furniture, and the like. John Wiltse sharpened his mother's scissors; Kenneth Erdelyi and Roderick Cassidy are repairing a bulletin board for Mrs. Carey; Robert Cram is repairing a chair for Mrs. Hecox; Allen Leslie brought three all-wooden smoothing planes to recondition; Roy Vershure contemplates repairing a coffee table for his mother, while Jack Scheel plans to repair the cord on a toaster.

Here and There

The girls' double quartet sang at the Episcopal church January 26, when the St. John's Episcopal league entertained the other Episcopal women. Marion and Bernice Miklesky, Beverly Ash and Audrey Noble went ice skating Sunday, after which they went to Audrey's home for dinner. Phyllis Lee attended the Michigan theatre last week and saw the Andrews' sisters in person. Since this is the last issue of the PILGRIM PRINTS for this staff, we are wishing our successors may have as good a time as we did. We have learned something about newspapers. We have enjoyed doing so.

The chemistry and physics students bought Mr. Keeslar a war bond, and a chain for his dog tag (identification tag) as a farewell gift, since he is leaving for the navy.

Senior Sketches

Henry Schmaedeke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmaedeke, lives at 11785 Stark road. He is taking a machine shop course. His hobbies are making things of steel in the machine shop. He has played baseball for P. H. S. After graduation he plans to go into the army or navy.

To be a nurse is the ambition of Dorothy J. Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyce of 11676 Butternut street, Robinson subdivision. She is pursuing a commercial course. Dancing and collecting odd salt and pepper shakers are her hobbies, while boys who swear are her pet peeve. She has been a member of the Library club.

Doris Langendam, daughter of Moritz and Dora Langendam of 882 Sutherland street, plans to earn money, then make tours of the United States scenic spots. She has been taking a commercial and apprentice course and has been a member of Girl Reserves and participated in junior basketball. Her hobby is clothes, while her pet peeves are vulgar girls and people who think they are too good.

Girls who wear red slacks are Jack Schoof's pet peeve, while art work, swimming and hiking are his hobbies. Jack plans to go to art school and become an artist. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schoof of 195 Rose street. While in school he has been vice president of the senior class; president of the sophomore class at Central Lake high school, Central Lake, Michigan; chairman of decoration committees for the J-Hop and Senior Prom; general chairman of the Freshman Reception; art activities, Junior Play, Senior-Junior Play and stage manager for it; chairman of the yearbook, and general chairman of Christmas card sales. He has been taking a general course.

Barbara Litsenberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Litsenberger of 1085 York street, plans to become an oral hygienist after graduating. She has been taking a commercial course, has been a member of the Girl Reserves, and has been on the J-Hop and Senior Prom committees. Barb's pet peeves are snobs, while her hobbies are dancing and all sports.

William Schoof, son of William C. Schoof of 137 South Mill street, has been taking a general course and has been in the Junior Play, Junior-Senior Play, band (president of it this year), editor of Senior Annual, president of freshman class, and on the student council. He plans to enter the armed forces after graduating. Bill's hobbies are skiing, skating and playing ping-pong.

Majorettes Stage Cupid's Cabaret

The Plymouth drum majorettes are sponsoring a dance, the "Cupid's Cabaret," February 11, from 8:00 to 11:00. They are giving the dance to raise money for six new uniforms. It is hardly expected that enough money will be raised to purchase all six uniforms, but it will buy at least one or two. The majorette uniforms will be used just as are the band uniforms; that is, kept at school and passed on to new members each year. Caroline Goodale is general chairman; Lois Mills, tickets; Jane Burr and Marion Bakewell, decorations; Betty Lou Arnold, floor; Edith Nolte, refreshments, and Kathleen Fisher, clean-up. The girls' double quartet will sing and Doris Cole will do a tap solo during intermission.

Bill Bennett and Steve Filino stole the show throughout the Northville-Plymouth basketball game at Northville Friday, January 25, by scoring 13 and 18 points respectively, in a captains' battle. Steve Filino opened the game, scoring the first basket, but MacGregor scored the next two field goals only to see Slessor score two more for Northville in the next two minutes. MacGregor then came back with another basket, leaving the score 6-7 in favor of Plymouth. Then Steve Filino tied the score with a free shot and Ronnie Nicol drove the score ahead with another free shot. Steve Filino dropped a basket to go ahead, Bennett following with another basket and MacGregor dropping a free shot to tie the score again with a basket, also leading with a free shot. Filino dropping a basket to make the lead 3 points, Amerinian dropping another free shot, leaving the score 14-11. Filino then dropped two free shots and Amerinian followed, with Rienas then coming back with a basket and Amerinian also making one, with the score at the half 20-14 in favor of Northville.

Filino opened again, scoring the first 3 points, starting a rally. Slessor helped with a basket, Filino scoring another and Greene also scoring another basket. The Rocks also had a rally, with Rienas scoring two baskets, Bennett getting two, and Newton getting one. Bennett and Filino started a scoring duel with 7 points for Bennett and 6 for Filino in the last five minutes. Slessor also dropped two baskets for 4 points. Newton and Hall also dropped baskets. The final score: Northville 40 and Plymouth 35. Filino was high scorer with 18 points, Bennett next with 13, and Slessor third with 12.

Good Health Is Essential...

Here's one "campaign" that will reap rewards in healthful energy for you and your family now and in the future. See to it that your children drink at least a quart a day, and that each adult drinks his daily pint or more. Serve milk as a delicious beverage, use it to enrich other dishes, but never waste a drop! Remember, milk is a valuable wartime ally... essential to building a strong America!

Essential NUTRITION

Calcium is the chief builder of strong bones and teeth. A half pint of milk contains 38% of your daily calcium requirements. Vitamins are more abundant in milk than in any other food!... insuring healthy body functions. The phosphorus content in milk helps cause healthful growth of body tissues... resistance to illness. Proteins are found chiefly in milk... the building blocks of muscle, skin, and hair, necessary to replace day-to-day wear and tear on the body. Iron is the principal mineral necessary for healthful blood and bodily processes. Milk is rich in iron.

Babson Says - -

When Buying Farm Land Be Sure And Buy Good Land

Babson Park, Mass., Feb. 4.—Without doubt land is one of the best hedges against inflation. Hence, it is reasonable that a land boom is now starting in the middle west. To such readers as are now tempted to buy agricultural land, I wish to say a word in my column this week. Land varies so much in productive qualities that it is foolish to talk about any price as "fair" for land. The price should depend upon what kind of men it produces. Insist on Highly Productive Land To begin with, there is the question of crop productivity. Some land in Nebraska, Kansas or Iowa is much cheaper at $200 per acre than other land in the Dakotas at $20 or even at $200 per acre. The quantity of corn, wheat or whatnot that any acre of land will raise on a 10-year average is the first step in determining a just price. Hence, before buying or selling land get the figures on what it has produced in the past. By all means avoid buying UNPROVEN RAW land.

The second question to consider is what the land's location and climate are best suited to produce. For instance, I have four tracts of land in mind in Florida which all look the same to a novice. Yet for one tract, suitable only for pasture, $15 per acre is a fair price; for another, suitable for only citrus, $40 per acre is a fair price; for another tract on the east coast, suitable for beans, $200 per acre is a fair price; while the best bargain of all is a tract in Sanford, Florida, at a price of $1,600 per acre, which is ideal for celery. Yet land may be highly productive and profitable commercially while the stuff which it raises may have very little nourishment. Hence, it will not raise strong families.

Have Soil Analyzed For Minerals

For those readers who want not a commercial farm but a small sustenance farm for raising and feeding a good family of children, there is a third series of questions to consider. The farm should be within walking distance of schools, churches and stores, or else on a bus line; it should have drained fertile land, and it should have good neighbors. In addition, the land should contain the right materials for making brains, brawn and character. All we are—except for our spiritual and physical heritage—comes from what we eat, drink and breathe. This means that the soil in which our food and fruit are raised is of great importance in determining our health, intelligence and character.

Why do the best trotting horses come from Kentucky? The answer is in the soil and this applies only to certain small sections. Why have the best grains grown in certain valleys of New England, New York state, Pennsylvania and Virginia? The answer is that the soils of these valleys—washed down during the centuries from rocky hills—contain the needed minerals to make the best brains. I have especially in mind potassium, phosphorus, iron, iodine, calcium and magnesium. If you doubt me, ask the publishers of "Who's Who" to give you their opinion on this subject.

The third factor of the mineral content of the soil, including the treatment of the soil, is now very seldom discussed. The department of agriculture has avoided reporting on it because it is a "hot potato loaded with dynamite." However, it is of prime importance to every family planning to live on the products of its own land. Furthermore, the time is coming when vegetables and fruits will be sold under the pure food and drug act according to their mineral content, whether sold fresh, canned or dehydrated. Some beans may be cheap at $10 per barrel, while other beans, which appear just the same, may be worth only $1.50 per bushel and good only to eat for bulk-ge. Hence, by all means consider this mineral content, needed for brains and character, when buying land. If you cannot afford to consult a high class soil expert, GO TO THE NEAREST GRAVE YARD, STUDY THE HEADSTONES, AND SEE HOW LONG THE PEOPLE LIVED.

Why Germany Is Hard to Lick

I pass on just one more thought for readers to ponder over. It is this: Some years ago when I was in Switzerland making a study for the New York Times, a Swiss scientist said to me: "Europe will always have trouble with those Prussians. There is something in the soil of Prussia which grows people with that fighting instinct. European peace is unalterably linked up with the minerals of the soil. Permanent peace in Europe will come about only by systematically moving people about. That is the only physical, economic and spiritual opportunities can be equalized." Certainly there is a relation between soil and fatigue. For a scientific study of fatigue, send 10 cents to the Medical Journal and Record Publishing Co., 667 Madison Avenue, New York City, for Dr. Max B. Gerson's article published in the Medical Record of June, 1943.

P. S.: Churchill believes in the importance of soil. This is why England will try to take Belgium, Holland and the other Low Countries into the British commonwealth and is willing to leave Austria, Czechoslovakia and the Baltic States to Stalin.

25 Years Ago

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

Mrs. Phila Harrison received Tuesday, two German officers' helmets, a U. S. revolver and a French flag from her son, Kenneth, who is with the A. E. F. at Bizon, France.

Our Passage won three firsts and one second prize on his Rose Comb Rhode Island Whites at the big Detroit poultry show this week.

Miss Camilla Ladd, who has given efficient service as assistant postmistress for several years at the Plymouth postoffice, has tendered her resignation to that office.

Mr. and Mrs. William Petz pleasantly entertained a company of friends at their home on Blunk avenue last Saturday evening in honor of their nephew, Irving Bertram of Detroit, who has lately returned from overseas, and also Mrs. Petz's brother, Adolph Bertram of Rogers City.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whittaker of Orly and Mrs. Goldie Bender of Lapham's Corners, spent a day last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tait at Plymouth. George Walker and daughter, Mrs. Coda Savery, and Norma and Marilla of Lapham's Corners, spent a few days last week in Pontiac with the former's daughter, Mrs. Ila See.

About 90 members of the Millard band and their families gave their leader, Frank Millard, a pleasant surprise Wednesday evening of last week in the hall over the O. F. Beyer pharmacy, the occasion being his birthday. The forepart of the evening was devoted to music, a delightful concert being given by the band, after which cards and dancing were indulged in. Later in the evening a dainty supper was served by Mrs. Frank Millard and Mrs. O. F. Beyer.

F. W. Hamill, wife and two daughters returned Wednesday from a three weeks' trip visiting and sightseeing in Arkansas, Missouri and Colorado.

At their first appearance in the services in the Methodist church last Sunday morning and evening, the Methodist Minute Men were received with warm enthusiasm. Robert Jaffe spoke in the morning on "What Will We Do for the Returned Soldier?" and Warren Lombard in the evening on "The League of Nations." They were two fine speeches.

With approximately 750,000 farmer members in its 8,000 granges in 37 states, the National Grange at its 77th annual convention adopted a platform for agriculture which included this plank: "Subsidies in lieu of fair prices are wrong in principle. They encourage inflation, increase public debt, are expensive to administer and open the way to bureaucratic control over those to whom they are paid. Consumers who actually need relief should receive it in the form of income tax deductions or by applying a food stamp plan."

Trees the most lovingly shelter and shade us when, like the willow, the higher soar their summits, the lowlier droop their boughs.—Bulwer-Lytton.

VICTORY'S SONS

25 FLIGHTS over enemy territory, the high command believes that a flyer has had enough. Enough dodging of flak, machine gun bullets, and dirty weather.

Sergeant Clarence F. Winchell from Oak Park, Ill., has made those 25 flights. He has gone over Germany from a base in England. While his mates dropped the giant bombs, he manned his gun in the waist of the Fortress, beating off the fierce German fighters. He has definitely shot down two enemy pursuit ships, and is credited with the probable destruction of five others, and with damaging 12 more. All this in 25 trips, over the most hotly defended corner of Europe.

Now Sergeant Winchell is retired from active duty. Not that he wants to quit the game, to get away from the tension, the constant danger. Did you ever see a real fighter who was ready to get out of the combat?

Sgt. Winchell wears the distinguished flying cross, and the air medal with three oak leaf clusters, as do the other members of the crew of the "Memphis Belle."

Don't leave lights burning in STOCKROOMS AND STOREROOMS—

... save electricity to SAVE COAL

An unneeded light left burning in one corner of a storeroom wouldn't matter much in normal times. The cost is only a fraction of a cent an hour—for electricity is cheap. But today ANY waste of electricity is serious because it wastes COAL—as well as transportation, manpower, and other critical resources. That is why the Government asks you to conserve electric power voluntarily, in your store and factory and home.

Even though electricity is not rationed and there is no shortage in this area, save whenever you can, as much as you can, because it saves coal.
