

What I Think and Have a Right to Say

By Eaton R. Eaton

VICTORY THROUGH SORROW
Twenty-seven!

Yes, that is the total number of lives this little city of Plymouth has already contributed to the smashing military victory our nation is about to win.

Twenty-seven boys—clean, bright, energetic, ambitious and hopeful!

Young men who would have been among the leaders of tomorrow if their lives had not been sacrificed on the altar of the nation!

"Jim" Sexton, "Nick" Circirelli, Jack Dalton, Wesley Hoffman—these are the latest from Plymouth to make the supreme sacrifice for you and me.

Little did we dream when the nation was plunged into war that so many of OUR BOYS would never return to their homes. Little did we dream that the sacrifices of Plymouth would seemingly be so much greater than other communities of similar size.

But it is the way of war.

To the parents and relatives of all of these young men, every one in the community expresses their deepest sympathy. But that doesn't mean so much when one realizes that the toll, the sacrifices, the fears and the hopes of fathers and mothers spent in rearing their boys to young manhood have all been spent for naught.

But has it been spent for naught?

Haven't these boys made possible the continued existence of a nation by their willingness to surrender life itself—a nation dedicated to freedom, opportunity and the right to hope for eternal being?

The answer is YES!

True, patriotic Americans will forever and forever honor and bless the names of the young men who have died and those, too, who have faced the terrors of war so that the Americans of today and tomorrow and the generations to come might enjoy the blessings of our United States of America!

One of the tragedies of mankind, however, lies in the fact that the kind of victory we must win can only come through the deepest of sorrow.

"WE CAN'T LET THE BOYS DOWN"

Newspapers the other day carried Washington dispatches which quoted certain self-styled labor leaders who went to France apparently on a political trip saying that "We can't let the boys down" after they had seen the vast new cemeteries and hospitals filled with dead and wounded American lads.

On the same page of the newspaper in which we read this news dispatch was another news item which told how an official of a labor union was booed and howled at when he urged Ford strikers to return to their jobs, jobs from which flow vital war materials for our fighting lads.

Might we ask, who has been letting OUR BOYS down?

We have talked with many, many workers in war plants. All of them say they are bitterly opposed to the strikes that have tied up badly needed war supplies for our fighting boys at critical periods.

For the life of us, we just cannot understand how it is possible for a mere handful of trouble-makers in various war plants to tie up great industries when the thousands and thousands of patriotic American war plant workers say they are opposed to these strikes.

Maybe the politicians who are running the administration's labor affairs can explain this double-dealing policy that has become a standard form in the conduct of public business under Nudalism.

Or have we the people become so accustomed to regimentation that a group composed of less than one percent of the population of the country, can call strikes and tie up war industries against the will of the other 99 percent?

If we have reached the stage where this condition can and does prevail in America, then we have already accepted the theory of dictatorship and Communist practice.

But here is one editor who does not and will not accept the belief that OUR AMERICA has been sold down the river.

We believe that rule by the will of the majority can be and will be maintained in these United States. We believe that REAL AMERICANS are not going to permit the rabble-rousing revolutionists who fled Europe and found refuge in free America to control the destinies of this nation.

And we believe that the results of the national election on November 7 will confirm our faith in the loyalty, patriotism and idealism of the vast majority of American workers and citizens.

GIRLS IN MILITARY SERVICE

One of the developments of the present world war is the use of large numbers of young women in various branches of the military forces. While it is not the first time women have gone to the front for the preservation of America, never before has the army and navy used such a large number of them.

The ranks of these all-girl military units have been filled with the highest types of American girlhood. To the everlasting honor of these young women, they are conducting themselves in such a commendable way that they will forever reflect credit upon themselves as well as their organizations. In years to come, it will be a badge of honor for one to say "Yes, I was a Wave, a Spar, or a Wac."

Plymouth has many young women in these various groups—and we are proud of their conduct and their record. They are adding more glory to a glorious nation.

"ONE JOB AT A TIME"

Nelson Brown, youthful, alert editor of The Ingham County News, seems to have gotten all "het-up" recently about the dual job racket that has flourished like a lot of Canadian thistles in Wayne county's courthouse since the advent of the Nudal.

It was in Mason where a lot of these Nudal Detroit grafters were tried and found guilty of selling their souls for a mere mess of pottage.

Says Editor Brown:

"The conspiracy trial at Mason is bringing out some information not generally known heretofore and the people of the state of Michigan will be foolish unless they use that information to make some needed reforms."

"Practically all of the Wayne county legislators on trial held two jobs at once. They had city and county jobs passed out by the Democratic machine in Wayne county while they were drawing pay as legislators. Most of those who didn't draw two pay checks, one from the county and one from the state, were fixed up with county jobs upon adjournment of the legislature. Some of the defendants have testified that they did little or no work for the city or county while in the legislature and drew their county or city pay under the guise of influencing the legislature to be "good to Wayne county."

"There should be a clause in the state constitution prohibiting any senator or representative, or any other state official, from drawing pay from any city, county or school district. Senators, representatives and state officials are selected to serve the state, all the people in the state, not to grab things for their own communities."

"Then there is the matter of Charlie Gadd and Charlie Gadd's room in the Hotel Olds, a poker-playing, liquor-drinking hang-out for legislators. To think that the Detroit board of education from tax money it receives locally and from the state operates such a joint is appalling. Further reflection that the joint is maintained under the guise of getting more state money for education of Detroit youngsters makes one wonder if such educational support is worthwhile; if money obtained by such means can be used for any good purpose."

"Institutions which use public funds, whether they be university, school district, city or township funds, for buying whiskey and operating a card room to influence legislators should have all state funds denied them."

"The conspiracy trial is costing Michigan a lot of money. It may prove to be a good investment, however, if Michigan people take steps at once to correct some of the abuses disclosed."

No, the graft trials in Mason did not reveal for the first time the dual job racket in Wayne county. Seven or eight years ago the writer presented to the state legislature a list of its members who were drawing two or three different salaries from the taxpayers of the state. These fellows were getting paid by the state for "services" in the legislature. They were getting paid by Wayne county taxpayers for getting their names on the payroll in some Wayne county department and some were getting a third salary by getting their wives on the same public payroll.

It was back in the high-day of the Nudal when these facts were dug out and made public—back in the days when any kind of legalized thievery was supposed to be O. K., just as long as the "dough" came out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

When these facts were first presented by the writer to the legislature, what did the Ingham County News say then?

Nothing at all. The putrid business was accepted as a matter of fact. However, the exposure at that time did result in some sort of

Flowers On Plymouth Lad's Grave In Far Away Australia Show People's Appreciation

There is gratitude—there is goodness in the hearts of the people of Australia—there is a desire to show to America that the residents of the far away country appreciate the sacrifices OUR BOYS have made for the preservation of the rights of all the people of the world.

This is evident from a letter received a few days ago by Mrs. Edith Micol of Shearer drive, mother of Leslie C. Huger, who was killed November 17, 1942 in a military accident in Australia from Mrs. Rose Manson, Salisbury road, Ipswich, Queensland, Australia.

The letter tells best the story of gratitude. It follows:

"Dear Mrs. Micol:

"I thought you would like to know that some one in far away Australia places an occasional bunch of flowers upon your son's grave. Our garden overlooks the little cemetery. Surely we have a lot to thank your country for. So we can at least show our appreciation with flowers. If there is anything you would care to know, please write. The writer would count it a privilege to be of service to you. Best wishes."

City Speeds Ballots To "Our Boys" In Service

City Clerk Clarence Elliott has completed the mailing of absent voters' ballots to men in the armed services who have requested them.

Under the law, the ballots can be mailed only when requested, and failure to request the ballots by October 1, gives the soldier the right to petition for a special federal ballot on which the soldier would cast his vote only for President and Vice President.

Ballots mailed from Michigan are complete and give the soldiers their full voting rights. As a matter of fact, six ballots were mailed to each of the soldiers who requested them from Plymouth.

This included the federal ballot, regular state ballot, which included the names of candidates for federal, state and county offices except the judges. These require a separate ballot for non-partisan voting. Then there is a constitutional amendment ballot, and finally a county bond issue ballot, to be voted only by property owners.

The ballots are addressed to the soldiers with the same address used by everyone else. Where the soldier or sailor or marine is overseas, the ballot will be addressed to San Francisco or New York, and from there the army and the navy take over the distribution.

When the ballot is received in Plymouth, it will be placed unopened in a vault of the city, and finally will be opened in the presence of the election board on election day, and dropped in the ballot box in the usual manner.

About 125 requests were received altogether in Plymouth for soldier ballots. There is time left for soldiers to make application, but it should be done immediately.

Want To Vote This Fall? Then Register Now!

There still are a lot of people who have not registered in the coming November elections, which is generally admitted to be the most important elections in the history of the nation.

As one prominent citizen said:

"We know we can lick Germany and Japan, but it is up to us to lick our own complacency about our public officials. If we don't vote we have no right to complain about the government we have."

And yet there are a lot of people who have not made their proper arrangements for voting.

City Clerk Clarence Elliott has made arrangements to renew the voting license of citizens of this area by telephone, where an original registration has been made but not utilized for the past two years.

Mr. Elliott also pointed out that those persons who know they are going to be out of the city on election day, should make their applications soon for absent voters' ballots.

But here is one editor who does not and will not accept the belief that OUR AMERICA has been sold down the river.

We believe that rule by the will of the majority can be and will be maintained in these United States. We believe that REAL AMERICANS are not going to permit the rabble-rousing revolutionists who fled Europe and found refuge in free America to control the destinies of this nation.

And we believe that the results of the national election on November 7 will confirm our faith in the loyalty, patriotism and idealism of the vast majority of American workers and citizens.

State Legion Commander Warns Of Mistakes Of First World War Peace

Officers Of Three Legion Posts Are Installed Here

"I'm not an alley fighter, but I hope when peace terms are written this time in the World War, they are written in the right place. The soldier did his job before, but the politicians didn't." State Commander Charles J. Gray of the American Legion told members of three American Legion posts here last Friday night when new officers were installed.

"We thought when World War I ended that we had licked the world, that we had made it safe for Democracy. But we did not half finish the job. General Pershing was right when he wanted to go right through to Berlin to dictate the peace terms for the world."

"Unless we go smashing through to the very capitals of our enemies and tell these Junkers what is what, we will make the same mistake that we did before and our boys will have died in vain. I thought then that it was a mistake not to go right through to Berlin."

"It begins to look as though things may crash over there at any time now. Our job is to see to it that our officials do not make the same mistake that they did before."

He outlined briefly work that the Legion faces in the future.

"There are three major projects: child welfare, hospitalization and rehabilitation. As the boys begin to come back from this war we will find that our responsibilities will increase, that we will have much more to do than ever before," he said.

The joint installation of the officers of the Myron H. Beals post of Plymouth, the Lloyd H. Green post of Northville and the newly organized Passage-Gayde post of Plymouth, composed of discharged soldiers of the present World War, was most impressive.

The named Legion team from the George Washington American Legion post of Detroit, conducted this part of the program.

Charles H. Cushman, retiring Commander of the Plymouth post, presented the newly elected Commander, John M. McCollough, who resides on Halstead road near Northville. The new Commander, like his predecessor, has been most active in Veteran affairs.

Officers of the Myron H. Beals post for the ensuing year are: Commander, John M. McCollough; Vice Commander, Andrew McDonald; 2nd Vice Commander, Roy Lawson; Adjutant, Dean F. Saxton; Finance Officer, Chauncey B. Evans; Chaplain, Charles C. Cushman; Historian, Sven Erik.

Beer Garden Robber Jailed; Confesses

By the arrest of Anthony Schmidt, 29, single, living at 8864 Schaefer Road, Sheriff Andrew Baird seems to have cleared up the series of robberies of out-county taverns which have been reported in the past few weeks.

Schmidt was arrested in the act of robbing Ernie's Bar on Ford Road at Middle Belt Road in Garden City in the early hours of Wednesday morning. In Schmidt's car, a 1941 Chevrolet sedan, Sheriff detectives found a pistol as well as a Deputy Sheriff's badge, bearing the name of Michael Butler, and a money box from a music machine.

Brought to the County Jail and questioned, Schmidt admitted the holdup and robbery of the "Hollywood Cafe" in the early morning of August 19th in the act of which he bound the proprietor, Michael Butler, and stole 12 cases of whiskey and a wallet containing $900 in cash.

He also confessed to robbing the "Three Trees Tavern" on Schaefer Road where his loot consisted of ten cases of whiskey, five cases of beer and about $50 in cash; the "Nankin Mills Tavern" on Ann Arbor Trail where at the point of a gun he took four cases of whiskey and about $80 in cash; the "Joy Bar" at Joy and Middle Belt Roads where he stole two cases of whiskey and $35 in cash; the "Paradise Palms" where his booty consisted of four cases of whiskey and five cases of beer; the "Trail Bar", Ann Arbor Trail, where he took six cases of whiskey; the "Palace Inn" Ann Arbor Trail, where his take was one case of whiskey and several cartons of cigarettes; "Longton's Bar" on Seven Mile Road, where he stole one electric fan; "Smitty's Bar" on West Seven Mile Road, where his loot consisted of seven cartons of cigarettes and an auction house on Middle Belt Road in Garden City where he stole $20 in cash besides a large amount of other plunder.

Schmidt also confessed to stealing a public address system from the Parkside Roller Rink on Plymouth Road sometime ago. At Schmidt's home the detectives recovered nine cases of whiskey besides other plunder which had been reported stolen in other robberies.

Schmidt made a formal confession and, upon the issuance of a warrant charging him specifically with the robbery of the Hollywood Cafe, he was arraigned before Judge Mokersky in Inkster, pleaded guilty, and bound over to the Circuit Court for sentence. He is held in the county jail awaiting further court action.

Poor Fido! No Freedom Here

Within the past week, the state's quarantine on dogs has been lifted in Wayne county, but don't get the idea that dogs can run loose in the city of Plymouth.

The state quarantine was levied against the city of Plymouth, Michigan to prevent the spread of rabies, but in the city of Plymouth, there is a very specific dog ordinance.

Under that ordinance, dogs must be kept tied, or inside a fence through the summer months, which carries to the first of October. Even after that time, dogs are not permitted to run loose on the streets unless they have been vaccinated against rabies.

University Press Club Fixes Dates For Meeting In November

Michigan newspaper editors were notified this week by Elton R. Eaton, president of the University Press Club of Michigan that the 1944 meeting of the organization will take place in Ann Arbor on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, November 9, 10, and 11.

The program will be devoted chiefly to a discussion of problems growing out of the war and the part that newspapers can play in helping to solve the questions that will arise.

The editors will be guests of the University on the last day of the session at the Michigan-Illinois football game.

Plymouth Schools Not To Open Until September 18

Ready To Start Night Races At Northville

The greatest Fall trotting race meeting Michigan has ever had gets under way this Friday night at Northville Downs, the trim little half-mile track here where 30 nights of horse racing will be inaugurated by the Northville Downs Trotting Association. Eight races will be had nightly with the first to start promptly at 8:30. Association officials have everything nearly ready for the opening night, a crew of workmen having been busy at the track and grounds for the past two weeks.

Many improvements will be found when the meet opens. One of the finest lighting systems at any track has been installed. Lights extend completely around the track and, with a white canvas wall as a background, the fans will be able to see the races as clearly at night as they can in the day time. The track lighting alone consumes 121,000 watts, assuring everyone of a splendid view of the entire track.

Work now being rushed to completion includes widening of the home stretch to enable fields to race over the 5/8 mile distance, a paddock out of which the horses will race and the pari-mutual department. A chute has been constructed at the head of the home stretch to eliminate the tedious and tiresome scoring which has so often held up races. The photo-finish camera is installed and all set to decide any close race. With this camera, electric odds board, pari-mutual

Fear Delay In P. M. Ry. Plans

City Manager Clarence Elliott said this week that it now appears that reconstruction of the Pere Marquette Railroad station and surrounding territory will not be possible until sometime next year, and possibly not until after the war.

Mr. Elliott received a letter from C. I. McCrain, general superintendent of the division of the railroad, which enclosed plans for the remodeling of the station itself along with other territory, and stated that the War Production Board has refused permission for the construction at this time.

Reapplication under another form is contemplated, but even so no action is expected until next year.

Mr. Elliott said that installation of curb and gutter and street paving cannot be undertaken until after the railroad completes its part of the program.

Lieut. Tonkovich In Hospital

Lieut. George Tonkovich, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Tonkovich, 769 York street, flying one of Uncle Sam's big bombers somewhere over Italy, was recently wounded by flak and has been hospitalized, according to a message received recently by his parents.

The report stated that he was getting along satisfactorily.

"It sure feels good to sleep on a mattress and have sheets" he wrote his parents.

He stated that Madeline Carroll is stationed at the hospital where he is a patient and that she does much to keep up the spirit of the wounded.

Lieut. Tonkovich had over 30 missions to his credit before he was wounded.

Fred Stocken entered St. Joseph hospital, Sunday, and early Monday morning underwent an operation.

Epidemic Fear Causes Action

All schools in Wayne county, including those in the city of Plymouth, Northville and Livonia township have delayed their opening until September 18 because of an epidemic of infantile paralysis.

While there are no recorded cases of the disease in the city of Plymouth, there have been three in Livonia Township and one of these is still active.

The Livonia township board of education met Monday night and voted to delay the opening until September 18, and a special meeting of the Plymouth Board of Education was held Tuesday noon at which the same action was taken.

The original request for the delay in opening the schools came from Dr. William DeKleine, state health commissioner, who also requested that schools in Monroe, Lenawee, Washtenaw, Macomb and Oakland counties delay their opening because of the epidemic.

Wayne county seems to be the center of the epidemic in the state especially the city of Detroit, where 176 cases have been reported through the summer, and the Detroit city schools were the first to announce the delay in school opening. The County Board of Education met Monday afternoon and voted to request the various individual boards to follow that action.

Superintendent of Schools George A. Smith in Plymouth talked with Dr. Luther Peck, the city health officer Monday evening, and although no cases are reported in Plymouth, Dr. Peck said that he occurred heartily in the plan.

Dr. Peck urged parents to keep all children at home throughout the epidemic. He urged that they not attend the school or any other place of congregating in large groups.

It has been determined that 77 percent of all of the cases reported are among school children. While it does affect grown-ups, also, it is not so prevalent among them.

Physicians admit that they do not know what causes poliomyelitis, nor even whether congregating has any effect on transmission of the disease, but they are taking every opportunity to prevent its spread.

It has been determined that most infections of the disease follow excessive fatigue. For that reason, parents are urged to prevent too great exercise of their children.

Teachers in Livonia township will report for work on September 5th as scheduled, but teachers in Plymouth will not report until the twelfth.

The time will be spent in between with organization of the school year, teachers' institutes and in holding the rationing of the "A" gasoline coupons.

Effective with the opening of schools in Plymouth, regular school hours will prevail, beginning at 8:30 in the morning. Delay in the opening of school in Plymouth will permit the opening of the cafeterias in high school and Starkweather school at the same time that school opens.

The Starkweather cafeteria, which was started last year by the Parent Teacher Association, will be operated by the school, with Mrs. Virgil Wellbaum as cook.

The school has been rewired and repaired during the summer months, most of the work being done by the teachers.

Parents of school children in the Plymouth district are requested to read the school advertisement on Page 6.

Sons, Wounded In Action, Recover

Worries of Mrs. Maggie Singleton 1012 North Mill street about her two boys wounded during the invasion of France have been ended by messages from both of them which state they are getting along nicely.

Roy in his letter, advised that he had been awarded the purple heart. The other son, Staff Sergeant James Singleton, did not state the nature of his injuries, but wrote that he is making an excellent recovery.

Both boys have been located in England for sometime previous to the invasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Steng have a farewell party in their home on South Harvey street last Thursday evening for Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Moles who have left for Florida, where they will make their home.

We never mean to allow a single person leave our church without a warm and friendly greeting, and especially if that person be a stranger. Worship with us next Sunday and let us pray our claim. The Rev. George Field, a missionary whom we help to support and an executive secretary for the Children's Bible Mission which operates in several southern states, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening. In the evening after a short gospel message, Rev. Field will show pictures in color of the work done by the Mission. "Faith of our fathers, living still" was sung by the congregation last Sunday responding to a request in a letter to the church written by Staff Sergeant Glenn Ford who is in Italy. Glenn's star is on our service flag. Dr. Howard A. Kelly says "I never have in my whole life met a man who really knew the Bible, and rejected it. The difficulty has always been an unwillingness to give it an honest trial. Our Lord Himself says, 'Ye will not come unto me, that you may have life.'"

Blessed is the man whom thou choosest, and causest to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts." Among the Bible citations in this passage (Genesis 1:26): "In the beginning, God created the heaven and the earth. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (591): "Man, the compound idea of infinite Spirit; the spiritual image and likeness of God; the full representation of mind."

Archery Club Holds Contest

The annual tournament of the Rosedale Gardens Archery club was held on Sunday afternoon, August 27th. Seven scheduled special events provided an interesting program throughout the afternoon which was enjoyed by spectators and contestants alike.

Numerous prizes were awarded among which were arrows, bowstrings, metal arrow tips, arrow nocks, bowstring wax, instruction books, etc. Several grand prizes were also awarded which were made and donated for the occasion by members of the archery club. Among these were three beautiful novelties blown in glass by archer Dave Elwart, formerly employed at Greenfield Village glass works, now at Rouge Plant. Mr. Elwart donated his time and talent toward making one glass deer and two glass swans, arranged for holding water and plants. Archer Roger Cooper also donated one fine leather archer's pouch which he made by hand for the occasion. It was deeply regretted by all fellow members that Mr. Cooper was unable to witness or participate in the tournament due to illness. Grand prizes were awarded to the three highest overall scores (total of all events, including handicaps) and were won by the following:

Adults: Dave Elwart, Clifford Bennington and Martin Pitts. Juniors: Gerry Ropers, Bobby Pitts and Richard Bucknell.

Winners of various individual events were as follows: Adults: Deer Hunt Game: Ranges from 20 yards up to 109 yards; Martin Pitts, Dave Elwart, Richard Duncan.

Juniors: Competitive Round: 20 yards and 30 yards; Gerry Ropers, Tommy Lenfesty, Billy Sayre.

Adults: Moving Target: Range 30 yards; Geo. Hamilton, Clifford Bennington, Les Bookout. Elwart donated his time and talent toward making one glass deer and two glass swans, arranged for holding water and plants. Archer Roger Cooper yards, 40 yards and 50 yards; Clifford Bennington, Dave Elwart, Richard Duncan.

Juniors: Deer Hunt Game: 10 yards to 40 yards; Richard Bucknell, John Pitts, Stuart Culbertson.

Adults: Playoff of 3 highest actual scores: 30 yards, Woodrow Saur, Dave Elwart, Martin Pitts.

Sugar Famine Believed Over

Grocers have good news for the housewives of Plymouth and vicinity!

It begins to look as though the sugar famine that has prevailed in the city during the past week or ten days is about over.

One grocerman stated that he had received a small shipment and expected more.

The sugar shortage is not due to a small crop, but entirely to inability to ship it from the warehouses to the various communities of the state.

Shortage of help in handling the sugar is one of the reasons given.

The butter shortage will be ended soon, it is believed, as the government has found that its supply will probably be sufficient for both the army and navy for some time to come.

Talk Plans For Victory Celebration

Although the defeat of Germany is still some weeks, perhaps months away, Plymouth, like other Michigan cities is already looking forward to a victory celebration. The city wants to have a spontaneous celebration as possible, but at the same time to prevent possible damage inside the city. Plans are now under way to maintain some control. Theatres will remain open continuously on the day of the end of the war in Europe. Churches also will remain open for those whose celebrating turns to more solemn channels. The state Liquor Control Commission already has ordered the closing of liquor stores and bars. There is some consideration being given to having the auxiliary police in readiness in event the celebration goes beyond the bounds of reason. But for the most part, the city wants to let the celebration take its course. There is fear expressed in some quarters that production will cease on that day, and it is pointed out that although the war in Europe may be over, it is not over in the Pacific. There is bound to be some reaction among those people who have friends and relatives in the Pacific in celebrating a war which for them is not over. Production will still be needed for the war against the Japs. There is some effort being exerted to have various organizations in the city make plans for their own private celebrations which will tend to eliminate a celebration which might reach unheard of proportions. He that resolves upon any great and good end, has by that very resolution scaled the chief barrier to it.—Tryon Edwards

Irwin Asks For Cooperation

Transportation and communication systems are important necessities in any emergency. The present emergency is no different, in fact its magnitude has severely burdened these systems. Despite the loss of experienced help the postoffice department has not only shouldered this additional burden but also encouraged the sending of frequent morale building gifts and messages to the armed forces, both in the United States and overseas, says Postmaster Harry Irwin. Ways and means have been and still are sought to simplify mail handling, in an effort to avoid delay in this added burden. Many have been suggested and adopted; others have proven to be of no benefit. Many require the cooperation of the mailing public in preparation, presentation and addressing of mail. The greatest boon to prompt mail handling has been the Postal Unit Numbering System, which was inaugurated in 122 large cities about 15 months ago to offset the loss of experienced mail clerks to the armed services. Addressing mail to these cities with the zone number after the name of the city identifying the unit effecting delivery has most successfully provided an opportunity to use inexperienced help on a part time basis. Currently a good share of available help is school youngsters, working only a few hours each day or every other day, in order that school work may also be kept up. Thus far a fine response has been shown by the mailing public in adopting the number system. Without it and this cooperation serious mail delays would be common and prompt handling extraordinary. While good results have been achieved, there are still many mailers who fail to address mail in this manner. This has been especially noted with respect to mail sent by people residing in cities where the numbering system has not been instituted, to correspondents living in those that have. There are six cities in Michigan to which mail matter should be so addressed, namely Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Pontiac. If your friends reside in these cities, ask them for their delivery zone number, jot it down and always use it when addressing mail to them. Postmaster Harry Irwin will be glad to tell you the name of the other cities in the United States to which mail should be so addressed. Persons having lists of addresses in these cities should submit them to the Postmasters concerned to be keyed to show zone numbers. We will soon be into another holiday making season which always severely overtaxes the facilities, equipment, manpower and space of post offices. Now is the time to check mailing lists and learn the zone numbers of each address in large cities. Now is the time to shop because of scarcity of gift merchandise and start saving boxes and packing material which are difficult to obtain. The mailing period to the armed forces overseas is September 14 to October 15. Do your part, plan now to prepare and address mail correctly and also be ready to mail early.

Prevents Coffee Loss

Coating the roasted coffee beans with a solution of glycerine and sugar, dissolved in equal weight of water and sprayed cold, is the newest way to prevent loss of volatile constituents. The water evaporates immediately and the glycerinated sugar coating seals the aroma constituents within the beans.

Poison Ivy Treatment

Rubbing the skin with alcohol soon after exposure to poison ivy may help prevent its spread or development. After eruption appears, bathing the skin with lead acetate or baking soda will ease discomfort, combat spread of the trouble and help to dry it up.

Maple Sirup

To make maple sirup use one-half pound of maple sugar and one-fourth cup of hot water. Crack the sugar in small bits, add hot water and let simmer a few minutes until clear. Take from fire, stir and add butter or margarine to enrich the sirup.

Remedy for Hemophilia

Hemophilia, uncontrolled bleeding, said to have been inherited in some of the present and former royal families of Europe, may be cured by the recently discovered plasma chinin, a substance of the human blood.

Copper Soap

A new soap developed by the United States agricultural and army specialists from copper proves a protection of fabrics from destructive action of insects and microorganisms. The new soap is called copper naphthenate.

Vitamin in Sauerkraut

There is little loss in any nutrients except a major loss in vitamin C when sauerkraut is made from fresh cabbage. When sealed in cans there is little loss in minerals or vitamins during the storage period.

Spaghetti Speeds War

Raw spaghetti is being used to speed the manufacture of electronic tubes. A stick of spaghetti is placed inside a tiny wire coil while it is being welded. The spaghetti can be burned out in a flash.

Fritz Scheffer Killed In Guam

Sgt. Francis Scheffer, better known among his many Plymouth friends as "Fritz", son of Mr. and Mrs. George Scheffer, former residents of Plymouth now living in South Lyon, was killed during the invasion of the island of Guam on July 20, his parents have just been advised. The family resided on Plymouth road near the Triangle until about 1941 when they moved to South Lyon. "Fritz" attended the Newburg schools and after completing the grades, enrolled at Plymouth high school where he was a student for several years. He was employed by the Ford Motor company before enlisting in the Marines early in 1942. He was sent overseas almost immediately and had participated in nearly all of the various island invasions. It was his outfit which was the first to raise the American flag on Guam. Mr. and Mrs. Scheffer have three other sons who are now in France.

Finds Thrill In Print Shop Visit

Nearly 60 years ago, Mrs. Ada Lovewell, mother of Miss Neva Lovewell, helped to set up the type that provided Northville with the news of the day.

Back in those days, there was no such a thing as a type-setting machine. Type setting was all done by hand, and a compositor not only had to know how to set type by hand, but to read it upside down.

Old-timers in Northville recall that the "galleys" set by the "little Record girl" were almost letter-perfect.

Then she was married and her type-setting days were over.

In July Mrs. Lovewell went up to northern Canada with her daughter to spend the hot months. Miss Lovewell has a cottage on Pine Island, just off the Canadian shore in St. Mary's river where she has for many years enjoyed the summer months.

A few weeks ago Miss Lovewell and her mother had occasion to visit Bruce Mines, one of the old established communities in northern Ontario.

The two happened to walk by the office of the little newspaper published in that place.

"Let's go in and look it over" said Miss Lovewell.

The editor was glad to greet his visitors, especially after he learned that Miss Lovewell's mother had at one time worked in printing office.

"I believe I still know the case," said Mrs. Lovewell. She walked into the composing room. There was a type case just like the one that she had worked over 50 years ago. Sitting in front of the case was an old-fashioned printer's stool.

Mrs. Lovewell climbed up on the stool, picked up the same kind of "stick" she had used a half century ago, properly adjusted the "rule", and started to set type.

Amazing as it may seem, after 50 years she knew where every letter, every punctuation mark and all the caps could be found.

Right then and there she was offered a job—but having retired from the printing business more than a half century ago, she decided that maybe she hadn't better go back to the type cases at which she worked so proficiently years ago.

But the visit to the old Bruce Mines printing shop proved a real delight to Mrs. Lovewell, as its entire equipment resembled very much the same kind of printing equipment that she had worked with in Northville more than a half a century ago.

Neighbors Aid Fire Sufferers

Blame world? No friendship? No neighborliness? That's the charges that have been leveled at America in the last decade.

But it isn't so. When the chips are down, and somebody needs a little help, they get it, willingly and in a great mass.

Take the case of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearce of 14575 Bainbridge in Livonia township.

On the evening of Sunday, August 20, Mr. and Mrs. Pearce attended the rodeo at Northville, leaving some of their many children at home in the care of their 15 year old daughter, Madeline.

The house burned to the ground. With it went their savings, their furniture, their clothing—everything.

There was no insurance.

Left homeless were Mr. and Mrs. Pearce and Madeline along with the other children, Irene, 19; Junior, 16; Robert, 13; Barbara, 12; Shirley, 9; James, 8; Richard, 6; Dorothy, 5; Betty Lou, 4; Regina, 2 and Dennis four months. Another son is in the navy.

The American Red Cross provided bed linen for the family, neighbors chipped in with much of the rest to make a home available to them. Much of this work was done by Mrs. Donal W. Donnelly, who gathered together clothing, and furnishings for another home rented to them by a friend.

A few things are still needed—some dressers, or chests of drawers.

Anyone who would like to contribute to this fund, is asked to call Mrs. Donnelly at Livonia 2007.

Library Books In Big Demand

Mrs. Ada Murray, Wayne county branch librarian in Plymouth reported this week that the intense interest of the people of Plymouth in public affairs is shown by their call for a large number of books, which the library is unable to supply immediately.

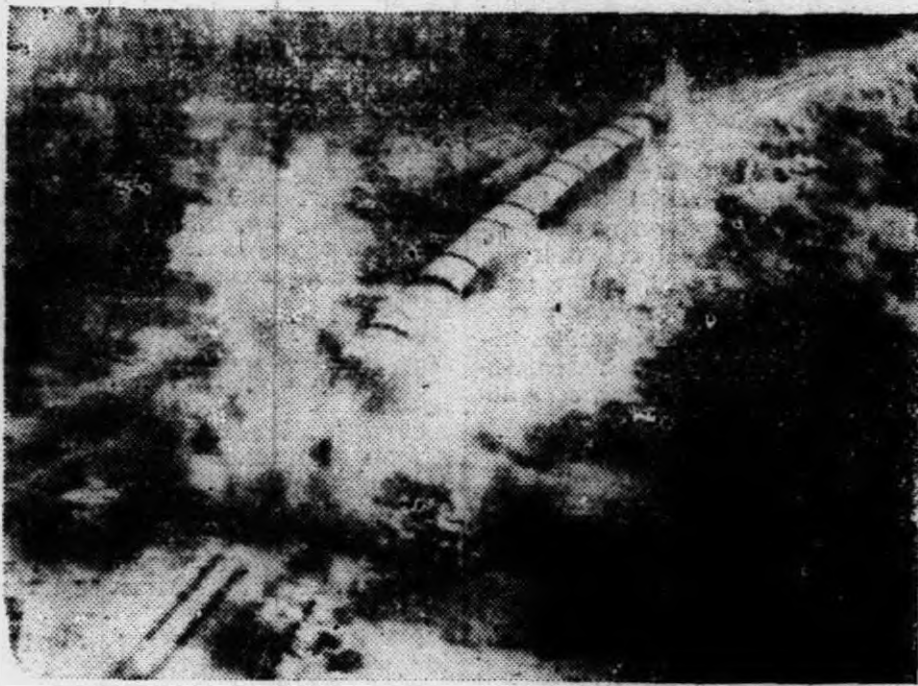

Mrs. Murray reported that the small size of the library here limits the number of books which can be kept there.

The result is, she said, that the library has numerous requests for books which require time in asking for them from the downtown library.

Inspiration to its possessor—it bears him on in security either to meet no danger, or to find matter of glorious trial.—Milton.

Harold Johnson Back From Italy

Harold Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson of 25314 Mary street, Dearborn, former residents of this city, who has been through the African and Italian invasions, is right now enjoying a brief furlough at his home with his old friends in Plymouth.

He is wearing five combat stars and from all hints that he makes, he has seen plenty real service.

"I've seen a lot of the world, but you can tell everyone for me that this part of Michigan looks the best of all to me," he stated.

He has been serving as an aerial engineer. After Harold left school in Plymouth he was for a time employed by Earl Demel at his farm on Territorial road.

Final Rites For Ensign Sexton

Final rites for Ensign James Sexton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sexton, 1043 Penniman, killed August 21 when two navy planes collided in mid-air, held Monday forenoon from the home and Our Lady of Good Counsel church, was one of the largest funerals this city had ever witnessed.

Seemingly the entire community wanted to pay homage to one of its lads who had sacrificed his life in the services of his country.

A naval group of 16 young men from Grosse Ile acted as escort and served as a firing squad at the grave in Riverside cemetery.

Father Alfred Shavey of Detroit serving Our Lady of Good Counsel church during the absence of Father Mooney, spoke eloquently in his tribute to the youthful Ensign and the cause for which he had given his life.

Ministers of Plymouth's Protestant churches, Rev. T. Conrad Sanurs of the First Methodist church, Rev. Tetu of the Episcopal church and Rev. Henry J. Walsh of the Presbyterian church made known to the family their sympathies in the sacrifice that they had made to the nation. The funeral was under the direction of the Wilkie Funeral home.

Miss Clarice Johnson of Minneapolis, came from that metropolis for the final rites of the young flyer. The two had met while Ensign Sexton was in training at that place.

Details of the death of Ensign Sexton were revealed by his close companion in the service, Ensign James Shealy, of Sycamore, Ohio, who came from Aberdeen, Washington, with the remains.

Ensign Sexton and Ensign Jack Kalwiter of Buffalo, New York, had been ordered to participate in some special air maneuvers. Although both were regarded as outstanding flyers, their planes apparently collided some 5000 feet above the earth.

The plane flown by Ensign Kalwiter crashed to earth and he was instantly killed.

Apparently Ensign Sexton had been able to partially regain control of his plane, but realizing that he was going to crash, he freed himself from the plane and was able to bail out about 100 feet above ground. His parachute did not have time to open and he was killed instantly by the fall. Both boys had been close friends from early days in the service.

Ready To Start

(Continued from Page 1) betting, and odd distance racing of 5/8, 3/5, 1 mile and 1 1/16 mile, the meeting opening Friday night shapes up as one of the best of the season.

But probably of greatest interest is the pari-mutuel system starting which will eliminate prolonged scoring. After the horses parade to the post and take their two warming up scores, they go to the starter and it will be but a few seconds then before they are off. With only 22 minutes between races it will be possible to finish the eight race program around 11 o'clock each night.

Presiding judges will be Wesley Gibbons, of Syracuse, while Dr. Plym Earle, of Jackson, and Melville C. Hart, of Birmingham, will serve as associates. H. D. Clark, of Northville, will be paddock judge. Chief timer is Edmund P. Yorkes, of Northville, who will have as his associates J. Rusling Cutler, of Plymouth, and Fred Van Atta, of Northville.

The daily double, now one of the popular features of all racing programs, will be the first and second races each night with the DD windows closing five minutes before the first race.

Secretary H. B. Dennison and his associates have made plans to take care of a record crowd on opening night. A new attendance record for the Northville track should be established for the inaugural, while banner crowds also are expected for both the second and third nights, Saturday and Monday, Labor Day.

Boys Lived Well On Wild Game

Caribou tenderloins! Delicious fried salmon steaks, direct from the ocean to the frying pan!

Bering sea herring, fried to a crisp!

Who says life was tough up in Dutch Harbor for OUR BOYS during the past two years?

Harold Hills, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hills, who is enjoying a furlough at his home in this city says the boys who were stationed at Dutch Harbor, found various ways to ease the boredom of the long days and nights in that desolate part of the world.

"We had such good luck hunting caribou that they had to close the season. Then some of the old time fishermen up there showed us how to make nets to catch fish. We certainly got a dandy lot of them—and were they good!" said Harold the other day in talking of his experiences in the north.

There are both red and blue fox on the island. We used to feed the red fox, and they would follow us as we walked our posts at night time. The foxes became so tame that no matter where we went, they would go with us. One fellow went out at night on the post and he didn't know about how tame the foxes had become. One started trotting along with him as he walked his post. It scared him so that he ran for the barracks with the fox right after him. The fellows gave him a great laugh," said Harold.

"Yes, I was there when the Japs bombed Dutch Harbor, but I escaped without injury."

Livonia Schools Open Sept. 18

The Livonia Township Schools will open September 18 with a Center School.

The Board of Education has decided to close the Briggs School, at least temporarily, because of sanitary conditions and because only 10 or 12 pupils would be in attendance. The pupils who attended Briggs school who live along Seven Mile Road will be transported to the Pierson School. Those living along Six Mile Road will meet the school bus at the Briggs school and all others will meet at the intersection of Five Mile and Newburg Roads.

Because of the overcrowded conditions in several schools in the township, the Board of Education has decided to transport pupils to other schools where crowded conditions do not exist. Two 7th and 8th grade Junior High Schools will be established, one at Newburg and one at Livonia Center. The 7th and 8th grade pupils who formerly would have attended Rosedale, Stark, and Newburg schools will be transported to Newburg; and those who formerly attended the Wilcox, Pierson, Elm, and Livonia Center schools will be transported to the Livonia Center School.

The Livonia kindergarten will be divided between Pierson and Livonia and the 1st to the 5th grades will be divided between Pierson and Wilcox. The Livonia 6th grade will go to Wilcox.

There will be kindergartens in four schools: the Pierson, Wilcox, Rosedale, and Stark. The Pierson kindergarten pupils will attend in the morning and the Wilcox kindergarten will attend in the afternoon. The Rosedale school will have two sections of kindergarten pupils from Elm will attend in the morning and will be taken home at noon. The Rosedale group will attend in the afternoon. At the Stark, the Newburg Kindergarten pupils will attend in the morning and will be taken home at noon. The Stark Kindergarten will attend the afternoon session.

Besides the kindergarten, the Pierson will have five grades. The sixth grade pupils will be transferred to the Wilcox school. At Wilcox, the school will be operated as a six grade school, with two sixth grade sections. At Elm, there will be no kindergarten, but the first five grades will be located there. The Rosedale Gardens school will operate as a six grade school. There will be two sections of the sixth graders. The Kindergarten and sixth graders from the Elm school will attend the Rosedale school. The Stark school will operate as a six grade school and pupils from the Newburg school will be transported to this school.

The number of rooms in each school has been a determining factor in assigning pupils to grades. The number of rooms in each school is as follows: Rosedale, 8; Pierson, 6; Wilcox, 8; Elm, 5; Stark, 7; Newburg, 4; Livonia Center, 7. According to this plan every grade will have a full-time teacher who will spend her entire time with the pupils of that grade. In former years, many of the teachers have had to teach two or three grades. In one instance, during the last year, one teacher handled 87 pupils in half-day sessions. This year, according to present plans, no teacher should have more than 37 pupils and only one grade. The janitorial staff has been busy all summer getting the schools cleaned up and ready for occupancy. All floors have been thoroughly scrubbed, varnished and waxed. In practically all schools, the interiors have been painted.

The teaching staff this year is as follows:

Pauline Isham, Jane Bowser, Elsie Bingel, Doris Smith, Elizabeth Edgar, Dorothy Smith, Effie Searle, Winifred Johnson, Gladys Ryder, Irene Weller, Esther Simpson, Erma Bridge, Louise Helwig, Margaret Laine, Lillian Anderson, Bernice Roberts, Lucille Reeves, Edith Cooper, Marjorie Becker, Myrtle Funk, Mary Robb, Hester Leavenworth, Catherine Thurman, Audrienne Gates, Alice Weaver, Eunice Young, Gladys Swanson, Edna Huff, Grace Brenningstall, Louva Waterman, Florence Gerdes, Agnes Lee, Edna Brake, Elaine Radke, Margaret Gollinger, and M. Adeline Lee.

The principals are as follows: Beatrice Bowen, Ruth McBride, Floyd Bingel, James Rossman, Dorothy Wheeler, Iva Minehart, and G. Cramer.

Miss Helen Graves will be the Grade Supervisor.

The razor blade used by G. R. Henley, of Cheney, Kan., is more than a hundred years old and has shaved four generations of Henleys.

Weddings

Johnson-Overholt

A double ring wedding ceremony was read by candlelight late Sunday afternoon for Miss Jane Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Johnson of Plymouth, and Pvt. Gene R. Overholt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Overholt of Huntington, Indiana, at the First Methodist church of Plymouth by Rev. T. Leonard Sanders.

The bride, given by her father in marriage, wore a wedding gown of ivory satin with lace insertions, fashioned with a fitted basque buttoned below the waist in the back, long sleeves, and a sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a cluster of white flowers. She carried a white bible covered with white asters and streamers.

Miss Betty Grammel, the maid of honor, was dressed in powder blue chiffon with matching head-dress of flowers and tulle. Her arm bouquet was of pink asters with matching satin ribbon.

George F. Haines S 1/c of San Francisco, served as best man. Seating the guests were Earl Overholt, of Huntington, Indiana, and James Gretzinger of Plymouth.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of the bride wore a soldier blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink asters. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Overholt wore a black and white dress and a corsage of pink asters.

Candles formed a decorative theme for the reception held in the church parlors following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with an all-white wedding cake in three tiers topped by a miniature bride and groom and flanked by tapers.

The couple left for a short wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a gold wool suit with brown accessories.

At the expiration of his furlough, Pvt. Overholt will report to New Jersey.

Waack-Marshall

The wedding of Shirley Marion Waack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waack of Stark road, to Chief Stewart Robert Marshall of the U. S. Navy took place in St. Patrick Cathedral Rectory in New York City, August 22 at 5 p. m.

The bride was dressed in white, and wore a corsage of red roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor, Mrs. W. M. Mills, wore a blue crepe dress, with a corsage of yellow roses. The bride's mother and aunt came to New York for the wedding. A reception, following the wedding, was held at the Waldorf hotel, given by Chief Marshall's shipmates.

The bride is spending a two weeks' honeymoon in New York city. Both are graduates of Plymouth high school and are well known here.

Allison-Burden

At a double ring ceremony, Miss Adeline H. Allison, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Allison of Monmouth, Illinois, and Mr. Arvid E. Burden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burden, of Plymouth, were united in marriage, Friday afternoon, August 25th, at 3 o'clock. The ceremony took place at the Baptist Church of Williamston, Michigan, the bride's father officiating.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Harold Reese, sister of the bride. Rev. Harold Reese, pastor of the church, served as best man. Master Timothy Reese acted as ring bearer; Miss Ruth Reese, as flower girl.

Just before the vows were spoken, Mrs. Frances Barrett rendered two soprano solos: "How Welcome Was The Call" and "O Perfect Love." Miss Ruth Gardner was the accompanist. A third solo by Mrs. Barrett, "Saviour Like A Shepherd Lead Us," closed the service.

About eighty guests gathered for the reception. Rev. Reese was Master of Ceremonies. Two soprano solos were rendered by Mrs. Richard W. Neale, of Wheaton, Illinois: "Because" and "Make Me A Blessing." Congratulatory remarks were offered by Richard W. Neale, director of the Youth Gospel Crusade, with which the bride and groom are affiliated.

The following served refreshments: Miss Vella Austin of South Haven, Michigan; Miss Hildur Johnson of Chicago, Illinois; the Misses Doris Johnson and Helen Hitchcock of Williamston. After the ceremony, color motion pictures and slides were taken of the bridal group and friends. Mrs. Harold Reese was hostess to a bridal group and out-of-town guests at a 6:30 dinner in her home. The happy couple received many beautiful and useful gifts. After a week's honeymoon at the Maranatha Bible Conference, the young couple will return to their pastorate at Cleveland, New York.

Cavell-Cassady

Banked palms, baskets of white gladioli and tall candelabra in the music room of the E. B. Cavell home on Griswold road was the setting for one of the season's prettiest weddings when Marilyn Ann Cavell became the bride of Robert Warren Cassady, of Los Angeles, Cal., on Saturday evening, The Rev. Harold Fredsell, of the Presbyterian Church, officiated at the candlelight service.

Marilyn, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an embroidered white marquisette gown, fashioned with a tiny bodice, full skirt and long train. The sweetheart neckline of her gown was outlined in lace to match the lace coronet which secured her fingertip net veil. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias, white roses and stephanotis.

Ruth Frank, the bride's only attendant, wore a pink Grecian gown with a jersey bodice and net skirt. She carried a sheaf of pink carnations, white roses and bachelor buttons and wore like flowers in her hair. Dr. E. B. Cavell, Jr., was the best man. Before the ceremony, Mrs. Sterling Eaton of Plymouth, the bride's sister, sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Because." She was accompanied by Mrs. F. Earl Reh, also of Plymouth.

As Marilyn descended the staircase and walked to the improvised altar at the entrance to the music room, Mrs. Reh played the wedding march on the organ at the foot of the stairs. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cavell chose a deep purple crepe dress with a pattern of gold nailheads across the skirt. She wore an arrangement of purple violets and net in her hair and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served to 62 guests who were present from many neighboring cities. The young couple, who left that evening on a brief wedding trip to northern Michigan, will, on their return, make their home with the bride's parents. For traveling, the bride wore a pearl gray gabardine suit with orchid accessories.

The bride, who was the president of her graduating class at Northville High school, later attended Cleary Business College where she affiliated with Beta Sigma Phi. She was employed by the Automotive Rubber Co. in Detroit and was Assistant Sales Coordinator of Warner Mfg. in California. Mr. Cassidy attended Hollywood High School and was an Automotive Advisor for the Army Service Command at San Bernardino.

Several showers were given for the bride in the week preceding the wedding. On Monday, Aug. 14, Mrs. F. J. Broad and daughter, Ruth, of Detroit, were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower and on Thursday evening, Ruth Frank and Ruth Parmenter were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at the Parmenter home on Orchard Drive.

P. T. A. Urges Health Checks

One of the most progressive steps in the protection of the health of the school child is the "Summer Round-up Program" which is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association throughout the nation.

This program includes a complete physical examination of all children entering school for the first time at the beginning of the new school year. The objective of this is to determine the physical condition of the child and if any defects are present, to have them corrected if possible, so that the child may enter the school without handicaps which might otherwise interfere with his educational progress.

It is also important to find those children who may have some defect which cannot be corrected. This enables the teacher to adopt measures which will enable the child to get the maximum benefit from the educational program.

Children who have not been protected against those communicable diseases for which safe and reliable methods are available, should be so protected at the time of this preschool examination, and those children who have been immunized in infancy should be given an additional treatment at this time to insure a continuation of their immunity against these

Hunting Season 10 Days Longer

President Brick Champe and members of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association, as well as other sportsmen in this part of the state are elated to know that the fall hunting season will be ten days longer than in past years.

The state conservation department has just issued its regulations for the fall season, which shows the added time.

One wood duck may be taken daily, one held in possession, during the 80-day migratory game bird season which opens September 20 in Michigan and closes December 8.

Protection is removed from the wood duck "to take care of honest mistakes," according to Harry D. Ruhl, chief of the conservation department's game division.

The conservation commission has approved 10 extra days of shooting this fall, adopting liberalized federal regulations for Michigan. It has fixed the season opening on rails, sora rails, gallinule and coot as September 20 also, instead of September 1 which was the date recommended in United States Fish and Wildlife Service regulations, with November 30 as the closing date on the above named species except for coot which be taken through December 8.

Open season on woodcock in the northern peninsula is October 1 to 15, in the lower peninsula, October 15 to October 29.

Regulations, as approved by the commission, provide that it shall be:

"Lawful to take 10 ducks per day of which not more than one may be a wood duck. Five additional widgeon, pintails, or greenhead mallards, singly or in the aggregate, may be taken in a day. (The three bird limit is removed from the redhead and bufflehead ducks.) Any person may possess not more than 20 ducks, including not more than one wood duck, and in addition 10 singly or in the aggregate of greenhead mallards, pintails, or widgeons. Twenty-five American or redbreasted mergansers, singly or in the aggregate, may also be taken in a day, with no limit to the number which may be held in possession;

"Lawful to take six geese and brant (except Ross' geese) in one day of which not more than two may be of species other than blue geese. Lawful to have in possession six geese and brant (except Ross' geese) of which not more than four may be of species other than blue geese;

"Lawful to have in possession 25 coots and sora rails in the aggregate;

"Lawful to have in possession 15 rails and gallinules (other than sora and coot) in the aggregate of all kinds.

.... I'm worth more to my boss now that he's installed a SCHULTZ Electric Milk Cooler

Because Schultz Electric Coolers quickly cool my milk—and keep it cool they insure my boss, the full butter fat test I have worked so hard to produce. Schultz Coolers also halt bacteria growth and make my milk more salable.

The Schultz principle is that of floating ice and top cooling without the need of a circulating pump of any kind. The coils automatically manufacture the ice on the smooth inside surface of the cabinet walls. This allows the ice to release and float on top of the water where it is needed. Schultz coolers effectively reduce labor costs; keep the nights milk under 40°. Many users say, "I wouldn't sell my Schultz Cooler for $1,000.00 if I couldn't get another."

Available in sizes to cool from 2 to 12 cans at one time. Buy the cooler to fit the job—not the milk house. Can be very easily installed in the average milk house. Easy payment plan can be arranged. See us today for further facts and prices.

Prepare Now For Christmas, Urges Postmaster

Postmaster Harry Irwin again this week emphasizes the necessity of being prepared to do your Christmas over-seas mailing promptly and correctly.

He has given to The Plymouth Mail the following Press release issued for publication:

"Save strong string and box material and start to plan shopping," Postmaster General Frank C. Walker advises Americans in announcing the rules for mailing of Christmas gifts for Army and Navy personnel overseas.

This year the Christmas mailing period for both Army and Navy overseas forces is the same, September 15 to October 15. After October 15 no gift parcel may be mailed to a soldier without the presentation of a written request from him.

The great demands upon shipping and the need for giving preference to arms, munitions, medicine and food is the prime reason for the mailing date. Moreover, gift parcels must travel great distances to reach Army and Navy personnel who are located at remote points, and frequently the transfer of large numbers to new stations necessitates forwarding of the packages and additional time is required.

"The response that our people made last year during the overseas mailing period demonstrated that they will cooperate in any measure designed for the welfare of our armed forces personnel," Mr. Walker said. "It is not easy to concentrate on Christmas gifts in the midst of warm weather here at home but our people recognized the need, and because they want the men and women who are absent from their homes to know that they are not forgotten at Christmas they took the pains to assure prompt delivery of Christmas gifts."

"I know that our people will observe the overseas mailing schedule once more this year but I do wish to stress this fact: More care must be taken in wrapping and packing parcels securely and addressing them clearly and correctly.

"It is not a pleasant thing to visit a postal concentration center and see the number of Christmas parcels which will never reach servicemen and servicewomen. Post office personnel have orders to do everything they can to effect delivery of such gifts because we know how important they are for the happiness of the armed forces. Too frequently, nothing can be done.

"I am sorry that anyone ever mentioned that the size of a shoe box is the approximate limit for packages intended for gift mailing overseas. Unhappily many people became convinced that a shoe box is the best possible container. We must be mindful that these gifts must travel far, with shipping space crowded. If the gifts are to be protected in transit they must be packed in boxes made of metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard, reinforced with strong gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine; if both tape and strong twine are used, so much the better. If the outer wrapper is crushed—and this is likely to happen—the loss of contents may be prevented if fiberboard boxes are wrapped in heavy paper.

"We were unable to send many parcels which families and friends sent to men and women overseas last year because they were crushed in transit and the gifts and the outside wrapper became separated. We would have been able to make delivery if the address had been shown on the inside wrapper. We advise that everyone write the address of the sender and addressee inside the package as well as outside.

"Christmas gifts mean much to our people overseas. Because strong twine, heavy paper and boxes and fiberboard will prove of real help in making delivery of gifts possible I urge those at home to begin saving these materials now. As time goes on they are going to become even more scarce than they are now."

Among the more important rules for Christmas mailings to the armed forces overseas are the following:

The parcel must not exceed 5 pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed force by or in behalf of the same mailer.

When combination packages are made up of such items as miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soaps, etc., the contents should be tightly packed so that they will not become loosened in transit and damage the contents of the cover. Hard candies, nuts, caramels (including those covered with chocolate), cookies, fruit cake, and chocolate bars individually wrapped in waxed paper, should be enclosed in inner boxes of wood, metal, or cardboard.

Perishable goods, such as fruits and vegetables that may spoil, are prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Relatives and friends who know that the personnel in the armed forces to whom they plan to send gifts are at far distant points should begin to mail their packages on the opening day—September 15—of the mailing period.

Last year late mailings, causing concentration of great numbers of packages in the final days of the mailing period, threatened to defeat the program. It is stressed that success can be assured, with the limited personnel and facilities available, only if the public gives full cooperation through prompt mailings of the overseas gift parcels from the opening of the mailing period.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The more I read about it, Judge, the more I realize the tactics and requirements of this war are as different from the one I fought in 25 years ago as night is from day."

"Yes, and I can give you an example of how true that is, Fred. In World War I the chief uses of alcohol produced for war purposes were found in smokeless powder, medical supplies and chemical warfare materials. In this war the need for this product is far more vital because it is also used as a fuel to propel torpedoes, to make shatterproof glass for airplane windshields and instrument covers, to make lacquers used in camouflaging equipment and as a base for synthetic rubber needed for tires, gas masks, paratroop equipment and dozens of other things.

"Every time I think of it, Fred, I realize how fortunate we were in having a beverage distilling industry in existence when war broke out... ready and eager to convert 100% to the production of this critically needed war product. I'm mighty sure bootleggers wouldn't have been of much help."

"Where Your Money's Well Spent"

Suppose every man, woman and child in this town should be KILLED!

This is a typical American small town, with a population of about 3000.

If every living soul in it should suddenly be struck dead, what a fearful shock it would be to America!

Well, 3288 Americans were struck dead in a single day not so long ago—on just one of the many battlefronts on which we're fighting. But the papers didn't scream with horror. On the contrary—they blazoned forth the good news: "LOSSES LIGHT!"

Maybe the fact that it's good news when only a townful of Americans are wiped out will give you an idea of the gigantic war we're fighting today. Maybe it will help drive home to us the fact that now—right now—we're making the supreme military effort of this whole conflict.

That effort must be matched by the supreme financial effort of the war—at home!

Right now, it's up to us to buy War Bonds as we've never bought them before—and to keep on buying War Bonds until the last vestige of a will to fight has been thoroughly knocked out of every Jap and Nazi!

It will mean sacrifice—certainly.

But when American youngsters are dying bloodily by thousands, "sacrifice" is not a word that's ours to use.

And here are 5 more reasons for buying Extra War Bonds!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the War.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

Plymouth Spar Meets Coast Guard Sailor, Falls In Love--and They Wed

"A most important event in my life has taken place," wrote Spar Ruth Wellman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wellman, 1114 Spark road, to the editor of "Our Boys" page the other day. It certainly was important!

Miss Wellman, the first Plymouth girl to join the Spars, had met a Coast Guardsman, fallen in love with the sailor and had married him.

Mrs. M. Dennis Ostlund

The marriage of Miss Wellman to Coast Guardsman M. Dennis Ostlund, whose home is in Minneapolis, Minnesota, took place in South Mills, South Carolina, August 14.

Soon after the ceremony, Coast Guardsman Ostlund returned to active service somewhere at sea and the bride was sent to Norfolk, Virginia, where she is attending a radio technical school at Berkeley, a suburb of Norfolk. Before going to Norfolk she had an opportunity last week to go to Baltimore to see her brother, James, who is stationed at the U. S. Naval magazine at that place.

The bride is a graduate of the Plymouth high school and was for sometime employed at the Dodge drug store before enlisting with the Spars. She was first sent to St. Augustine, Florida where she was located for ten months. Later she was transferred to the Coast Guards air station at Miami. Her husband was formerly stationed at St. Augustine and it was in this historic city where the romance of the two started.

Saying her husband delayed supper by drinking three pints of beer before he would sit down at the table, Mrs. Ruth Kuntz sued for divorce in a court in Los Angeles.

Because of the present critical tire shortage...
Please DON'T TRAVEL OVER LABOR DAY!

In the whole period of the war this Labor Day will be the most critical for transportation. Intercity buses simply cannot carry all the people who will need or want to travel—because hundreds of these buses are temporarily standing idle, without tires.

Your help is needed in meeting this crisis. Even if your Labor Day trip is highly essential, postpone it a few days if you possibly can. If you must go, please be prepared for possible delays and unavoidable crowding.

Nothing would give us greater pleasure than to serve you now—but the urgent needs of war come first. We know you will understand and cooperate as you have always done. We feel sure that it won't be long until all our buses are back in service. With a proud war record behind them, and an urgent job of transporting manpower still ahead, America's buses must be kept rolling!

"JUST A LITTLE HEADACHE FROM WOUND" WRITES MONTE HINES.

From somewhere in the southwest Pacific came a letter the other day to Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hines of 14488 Northville road, from their son Monte, in which he urged them not to worry in the least about him.

"I've heard some of the boys in the hospital say that when one gets wounded in action, they send a telegram home telling their folks about it. If you should get such a telegram please do not worry about it," wrote Monte.

"It was only a scratch above my right ear, but it gave me a nice headache for a couple of days, which I spent in the hospital sleeping and eating like a king. There are three of us from Plymouth out here, so be sure and see to it that we get The Plymouth Mail at our new address," he concluded.

STAFF SERGEANT DONALD BARKER WINS CITATION ON 100th MISSION.

Staff Sergeant Donald G. Barker, RR. No. One, Plymouth, Gunner on a B-24 Liberator, has received the Air Medal for meritorious achievement in combat over Europe, Maj.-Gen. James P. Hodges, then commanding general of an 8th AAF Liberator Division in England has announced.

The medal was presented by Lt. Col. Lorin L. Johnson of Payson, Utah, Liberator Group Commander. The citation read in part:

"For exceptionally meritorious achievement, while participating in bomber combat missions over enemy occupied Continental Europe. The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this man on these occasions reflect great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Sergeant Barker entered the service in May 1942. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Barker, live at RR. No. One, Plymouth.

Sergeant Barker's Group recently completed its 100th mission which was made in support of the initial landings by Allied Forces invading Europe. The Group was also cited by General Hodges for distinguished and outstanding service on these five score missions.

MARINER VIRGINIA GARRISON IS SENT TO CALIFORNIA.

Private Virginia L. Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David T. Garrison of 537 North Mill st., Plymouth, and a member of the Marine Corps Women's Reserve, has recently finished the six-week "boot" training course at Camp Lejeune in North Carolina. This course includes such subjects as military courtesy, Marine Corps history, close order drill, chemical warfare, map reading, and other subjects pertinent to carrying out future assignments in the Marine Corps.

Her first assignment will be as a bookkeeper at the Marine Corps Air Station at El Toro, California.

SERGEANT Wm. FANN SAW TOUGH SERVICE IN NORMANDY.

Sergeant William E. Fann of this city, a member of a parachute infantry regiment, 82nd division dropped over a wide area on D-Day, on Normandy, was with an outfit that was unable to assemble as a tactical unit until the fourth day of the invasion, states a news report sent to The Plymouth Mail from the U. S. Army headquarters in France.

The regiment, nevertheless, played a brilliant role in carrying out the mission of the airborne troops, which was to prevent the Germans from interfering with the ground assault force until the beach landings had been accomplished.

To achieve this, the 82nd captured the town of Ste. Mere Eglise and fought for and held bridges over two rivers, the Merderet at La Fiere and at Chef du Pont, and the Douve at Pont l'Abbe and at Beuzeville la Bastille.

A large pocket of Allied resistance within enemy lines was set up. In the campaign it stretched from Ste. Mere on the east to St. Sauveur le Vicomte on the west, and from Le Ham on the north almost to La Haye de Puits on the south.

This was accomplished in 33 days of action, without relief and without replacements. Every mission was accomplished. No ground gained was ever relinquished. For nearly 34 hours, or until noon of the day after D-Day, the paratroopers were without contact with friendly forces. And though heavy casualties were sustained throughout the campaign, nothing stopped the troops for long.

The paratroopers of this regiment were dropped in several groups and at first these groups fell in with other units of the division rather than their own. It was not until four days after D-Day that the regiment assembled as a tactical unit. Before this, however, they had struck terrific blows.

With other units of the division they forced the enemy west of the Merderet River at the start. Another element joined in the heavy fighting at Chef du Pont, finally contacting an isolated battalion and establishing a bridgehead on the west bank of the Merderet opposite Chef du Pont. Other elements went south to clear out Carquebut; crossed the river at La Fiere and assaulted Guetteville. The latter action was assisted by a naval barrage from the sea arranged by a naval liaison officer with the regiment.

After being pulled together as a unit, the regiment jumped off for the attack on Beuzeville la Bastille. After crossing Douve, it swept on through the Cretteville-Baupre area. During this drive many enemy tanks were encountered and many were knocked out. Trucks moved the regiment to Pont l'Abbe for the general attack toward St. Sauveur. The regiment followed another of the division, driving the enemy west, north, and south.

Participating in the drive on Pretot, a squad encountered a Mark IV tank 600 yards north of the town and succeeded in knocking it out with a hand thrown British grenade. The regiment took up a defensive position at Vindfontaine before joining in the drive toward La Haye de Puits. Heavy fighting was experienced in the Bois de Limors, and one element which eventually took "Hill 93" sustained heavy casualties.

SERGEANT LEWIS GILBERT RETURNS FROM SOUTH PACIFIC TO MIAMI.

T/Sgt. Lewis F. Gilbert, 24, returned from service outside the continental United States, now is being processed through the Army Air Force Redistribution Station No. 2 in Miami Beach, where his next assignment will be determined.

This is one of the Redistribution Stations within the AAF Personnel Distribution Command. At an AAF Redistribution Station, AAF returnees from theaters of operation are examined by specially selected medical and classification officers whose joint findings are used in recommending new assignments. Theme of the AAF Redistribution is designation of each man to duty for which he is best fitted. Returnees under conditions that encourage natural response to processing, live at a Redistribution Station the greater part of their two-week stay being devoted to rest and recreation.

THIS SAILOR HELPS FEED HUNGRY BOYS AND GIRLS OF ENGLAND.

An American "sailor" lad who does not desire to have his name used, has written a most interesting letter to "Our Boys" page in which he tells of the serious plight of the little boys and girls in England. Ordinarily The Mail does not use letters without using the names of the writers, but in this case, there is so much good, that the usual procedure is not being followed and the letter follows:

"If I remember correctly at outbreak of the war when the people back home, you folks, were asked to give your fullest cooperation towards defense, you did not hesitate.

"Mothers and fathers rushed around getting jobs where they could do the most good. Dad worked the midnight shift and Mom worked days and Johnny stayed with Mrs. Jones.

"Little Johnny is the kid I would like to say a few words about. Johnny here in England as well as Johnny back home.

"The people here in England were up against the same problem as you folks back home. They didn't know what to do with the kids while Dad and Mom worked.

"Some solutions were found but in a great many cases the kids were left to shift for themselves.

"A lot of folks at home have children and if you don't have any, you do know the neighbor's kids. You know how they are, how they like to wander off and all those little things they do, that make them kids. Well, the kids here are just like our own. They do the same mischievous things.

"A lot of the kids here have lost their parents during this war. They have no toys to play with, they have no candy. They have nothing because all their things have also been used towards defense.

"The kids here can spot an American for a mile off, even if he is in his civies, which we of the Merchant Marines are permitted to wear.

"The kids will always call you "Yank" and they always run up to you and say "Have you any gum, chum" or "I say Yank, don't you have any gum or candy or something for me?"

News of Our Boys

"Well, I remember how my little kid brother would get into my pockets and help himself to some gum and when you bawled him out, he'd look at you and you could see the tears forming in his eyes. You remember those things and you haven't the heart to refuse the kids."

"After you change a couple of pounds of English money you have a whole flock of coins and loose change in your pockets and as you walk down the street with your hands in your pockets jingling the money, you accumulate quite a few little followers."

"Well, by the time you get back to the ship you've only got a shilling or two left to your name and then you wonder what they can buy for those few pennies because there really isn't any thing they can buy, no candy, gum, cracker jack, absolutely nothing."

"Some of the older boys of 12 and 14 belong to the Junior air corps where they are now learning ground work and later become pilots in the R. A. F. Others act as messengers, etc."

"It so happened four of these messengers came aboard our ship the other day on official business. After they completed their business they walked around and hung around the galley and seeing it was meal time we knew they were hungry and could go for some pork chops, good fresh vegetables, pie and maybe some apples or oranges, so the steward invited them into the mess-room and really made a fuss over them."

"Gosh, I never knew of kids that could eat so much. They cleaned out the galley and when they were leaving they had their pockets full and they couldn't thank us enough for the food."

"I hope that someday these kids can have as much as our kids back home and I also know that I will never complain again about not being able to have and enjoy certain things we are deprived of at the present time."

"These kids have nothing and they won't have anything until we people here at home give up just a little bit more than we are giving."

ALL THE BOYS LIKE TO READ THE PLYMOUTH MAIL.

George Rathbun, well known Plymouth lad who is now at the Great Lakes Training station, writes to "Our Boys" page that he finds his work very interesting. He says in part:

"I want to thank you for the copies of the Plymouth Mail which I have been receiving. They are just like letters from home, and are looked forward to just as much. Like most of the town papers here they are circulated throughout the barracks and enjoyed by everyone."

"The 'Our Boys' page is especially interesting and one can always find the whereabouts and happenings of friends they didn't know about."

"The training here at Great Lakes is wonderful. The first few weeks of training are the hardest and after that everything becomes easier and more enjoyable."

"The only way to get along in the Service is to receive, accept and obey all orders that are given, whether liked or not, and one will get along satisfactorily with their officers and shipmates."

"I wish to say 'hello' to all my friends and urge them to write. There is nothing like mail from home to keep up the spirits of the fellows in camp. No one can write too often."

"I was disappointed that I didn't get to see Dick Reamer while he was here at Great Lakes. Will close, hoping the MAIL, one of the best letters from home keeps coming through."

WINS BRONZE STAR FOR MERITORIOUS SERVICE IN ACTION.

Sergeant Robert E. Houghton, 571 Mill Street, has been awarded the Bronze star for meritorious service in action on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

Sergeant Houghton, radio operator of a forward observer party in a field artillery battalion of the 88th Infantry Division, kept constant and effective radio communication in the face of heavy enemy mortar and artillery fire during the assault on Santa Maria Infante. At one time he was forced to repair a radio cable cut by a shell fragment, and made possible the directing of artillery fire and kept both the artillery and infantry commanders informed of the situation. Sergeant Houghton's courage and high sense of duty exemplify the highest tradition of the United States Army," the citation read.

SECOND LIEUT. RITZLER SENT TO OKLAHOMA ARTILLERY SCHOOL.

Second Lieut. Leonard C. Ritzler, has been selected to attend the full track vehicle course of the Field Artillery School at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Lieutenant Ritzler, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ritzler, New Buffalo, Mich., is a graduate of Michigan State College. His wife lives at 38906 Plymouth road. He has reported here from San Luis Obispo, California.

ROBERT BACHELDOR HELPS PARATROOPERS IN AN EMERGENCY.

Private Robert W. Bachelidor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bachelidor of Main Street, was one of four Michigan boys who played an important part some weeks ago in England in helping to prepare paratroopers for the invasion of France.

By working 12 hours a day, cutting lunch periods in half, eliminating days off, and establishing a smoothly running production line, officers and men of a Quartermaster Salvage Company turned out 14,000 two-piece parachute suits for use by two airborne divisions which landed in France. And the suits were ready ahead of schedule.

A few weeks before D-Day headquarters of the two airborne infantry outfits telephoned the company commander, Captain Harold G. Kayne, and asked for a rush job on the suits. As a former member of a task force in the Southwest Pacific during the critical months after Pearl Harbor, Captain Kayne knew the way in which emergency tasks could arise.

"Give us the specifications and samples of the work you require," Captain Kayne said. "We're at your service."

Three days before the deadline the suits were on their way to the airborne outfits, which used them in the first landings in Normandy during the early hours of D-Day. The Quartermaster Company is proud to know that the first two divisions have already been cited for outstanding achievements in the first month of the liberation campaign.

The making of parachute suits was only one of the many jobs carried through in swift and efficient style by the company. Tent fixing teams of three or four men are working on calls from field hospitals, bakery companies and similar installations in many parts of England. When these teams complete their specific assignments, they return to the company after they have instructed the other units in the maintenance and repair of tents and have left tent-repair kits.

Some of the men in the organization, while on detached service, have participated in far shore operations. More than 60 per cent of the men in the unit are proficient in more than one trade. All have been trained in the use of rifles, machine guns, hand grenades, and bazookas, and all are eager to get to France.

VICTORY'S SONS

COMING out of the sun—an old trick of fighter pilots—Major Gregory Boyington and his mates surprised a large Jap formation hovering over their base at Kahili, in the southwest Pacific. Attacking from the rear, Major Boyington opened his guns on a Zero just ahead. It wavered, tried to right itself to get into a fighting position, but the Jap pilot never had a chance. Bullets pierced the tank and then the fragile ship exploded. A minute later another Jap got into range. Again Major Boyington, maneuvering skillfully, fired a burst. Down went the second Zero in flames.

The third Jap flyer, seeing what he was up against, did not wait long to act. A few shots tickled his plane and, deciding that discretion is the better part of valor, even for a Samurai, he tipped his ship sideways, and bailed out.

These three made the 19th, 20th and 21st victories for Major Boyington. He is now credited with 15 craft shot down while a Marine, and six while flying with the American Volunteer Group in China, the famed Flying Tigers.

Urge Filing Of Oil Applications

Officials of the Plymouth War Price and Rationing Board announced this week that all applications for winter fuel oil supply now have been filled and mailed to the owners.

At the same time, it was announced this week has been started on supplying oil coupons to users of single unit heaters. Single unit heaters are usually stoves which are used for heating specific rooms as distinguished from central heating units.

All oil users who have not made applications for their fuel oil for this coming winter are asked to do so as soon. Not only is it necessary to process all of the applications, but it is vitally necessary that all possible oil be delivered by the oil distributors during the summer months.

Oil distributors like everyone else are handicapped by a shortage of help. All the oil which can be delivered this summer will merely lighten the burden for the distributors when cold weather arrives.

Therefore, every person who possibly can is requested to complete fuel oil renewal applications at once, and as soon as the ration coupons are received, order oil.

Local Peaches Ready For Market

Peach growers of western Wayne county reported this week that a heavy peach crop will be ready for the public in from one to two weeks. Some of the early "eating" peaches already are on the market, but the "canning" peaches will be later.

Because of the excessively dry weather and because of the huge crop itself, the peaches this year will be slightly smaller than last year it was reported, but there are far more of them.

The price of the peaches has not been announced thus far.

25 Years Ago

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

Born, a little son, to Mr. and Mrs. John Stroll, Sunday, August 31.

Several ladies gave Mrs. Joe Tessman a surprise party, last Thursday afternoon, at her home on North Harvey street, in honor of her birthday.

Mrs. Almira Tomlinson and Mrs. Charles Rathburn and daughter, Coraline, left Tuesday for a three week's visit with the former's two sons at Superior, Wisconsin, and will also visit relatives at Ashland, Wisconsin, and Duluth, Minnesota.

Miss Verne Rowley and Juanita Coe left Friday for a two weeks' trip to Grand Canyon, Arizona.

Mrs. William Gayde has returned home from a three weeks' visit with her sisters at Gaylord, Michigan.

Burglars broke into A. H. Dibble & Son's store, Wednesday night, entrance to the building being gained through a basement window. The thieves took two traveling bags, two pairs of shoes, caps, socks, etc.

About thirty neighbors gathered at the home of Miss Anna Mc Gill on Ann Arbor street, last Tuesday afternoon. A social afternoon was enjoyed and refreshments were served. Miss Mc Gill expects to soon move into new bungalow recently purchased from John Fisher on Harvey street.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chambers spent Saturday and Sunday at Silver Lake, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George McClaren and Mr. and Mrs. James McKeever, who with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reebbs of Bowling Green, Ohio, are enjoying a week's outing at the Draper cottage.

The roof of the Plymouth Hotel was discovered to be on fire, last Tuesday afternoon. The fire department responded promptly and soon had two streams of water playing on the blaze, which was confined to the attic and the roof around the chimney, where the flames seemed to originate. Considerable damage was done by the water to some of the sleeping rooms and furniture on the second floor.

A pretty wedding took place last week Thursday at four o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lucht, when their only daughter, Emma, was united in marriage to Walter Liverance. Rev. Carl Lorenz, pastor of the Lutheran church at Clarenceville, performed the ceremony in the presence of about seventy friends and relatives. The happy couple left the following day for Niagara Falls, and after their return they will spend a few days with relatives in Detroit. The bride and groom are two of Livonia township's most popular young people and they have the best wishes of many friends and acquaintances for a long and happy wedded life. The groom is a member of the new firm of Liverance Bros., who will shortly open a garage in Plymouth.

DETROIT EDISON LINES

Timely items concerning your electric service, suggestions about cooking, lighting and appliances, and many other things of interest and value will appear from time to time in "Edison Lines." Make "Edison Lines" a reading habit!

DOGS FOR WAR... Lance V. Liebestraum and Rhett of Palm Hill have joined the Marines! These two registered German shepherd patrol dogs of Detroit Edison, their home-front duty ended, recently left for active roles with the "Devil Dogs" of the U. S. Marine Corps. Two years ago the dogs were acquired to assist in patrolling the company's outdoor 120,000-volt step-down stations. Intelligent, alert and highly trained, these dogs increased the effectiveness of each company patrolman, thus saving manpower for other important war work. For donating the services of these two canine warriors, the company has received a citation from Lieut. General A. Vandegriff, Commandant, U. S. Marine Corps.

WAGES 1c AN HOUR... Your household electric servants work for a few cents a day. They do such a big job in the average home—washing and ironing and cleaning and cooking—that most people do not realize how little they cost to operate. Actually, many of them operate for only a fraction of a cent per hour. Here are the wages of some of your common electric servants: clock, 3 1/2 cents per month; vacuum cleaner, 5 cents per month; toaster, 6 cents per month; coffee maker, 11 1/2 cents per month; electric fan, 1 cent for 10 hours; shaver, 5 cents per month; clothes washer, 6 cents per month; electric iron, 5 cents per week; electric range, 6 cents per day (average cost for family of four).

SUMMER RECIPE... Our Home Service Department suggests this recipe for an appetizing lunch:

Shrimp Luncheon Dish
In a skillet melt 3 tbs. butter. Add in order given: 1 onion, minced; 1 green pepper, minced; 1 clove garlic, minced; 1/4 cup pimiento, minced; 1 cup rice, washed well. Clean and add 1/2 cup mushrooms, 1 1/2 cups shrimp. Add 1 tsp. salt, 1 bay leaf, 2 cups water. Cover skillet and place on unit turned to "high." When steaming freely, turn off for 45 minutes.

THANKS!... We hesitate to say anything like this about ourselves. But when someone else sends it in as his own opinion, unsolicited, we cannot resist passing it along. It comes from an officer in the U. S. Army:

"... Thanks again for the best residence electric service in the world. At least, I have heard it so described, and from 18 years' experience, I believe the compliment justified."

FUNERAL HOME

Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 1. I have received numerous letters asking advice as to what part of the United States is the best for a small sustenance farm of five acres. Some are from people who are about to retire on a pension; while others of these letters are from the wives of army officers who are now in the service. These people are not intending to operate commercial farms. They merely want a place, close to a town or small city, where they can raise enough food to feed them and be independent. Then their only money expense will be for taxes and the cost of clothes, church offerings, recreation, etc.

In addition to answering these letters I am passing my four conclusions on to my five million weekly readers. My first conclusion is that soil is of prime importance but that every state in the Union has one or more pockets of excellent soil. This means that you, yourself, can select the State in which to live. My second conclusion is that different good "soil pockets" should be considered according to your health, age, culture, recreational and other factors involved; also according to where your relatives are located. Hence, every reader can for himself select a State in which he should be happy; but needs help in selecting the state's special "soil pocket" best suited to his needs.

This means that, after selecting a State in which you desire to locate, you should write to its Agricultural Department. Address the letter to the State's capital city where the Department has its headquarters. Explain to the Department just what you want to do, how much money you have to spend, etc. Tell them your age and of what your family consists. Be sure to explain that you wish only a sustenance farm and that you do not wish to go into commercial farming. Then ask their advice as to which part of the State will best fill your needs. You can continue to correspond until you find the right location.

Be sure to ask for a list of the localities in the State where either the State or the Federal Government has an Agricultural Experimental Station. You needn't tell them the reason for asking this question, but you need the answer in order to check their answers to your questions. As a rule, these Experimental Stations are located in the good "soil pockets" having the best temperature and rainfall conditions. Therefore, you should try to locate in one of the good "soil pockets" which has been selected for an Experimental Station. This is my third conclusion.

There, however, is another even more important reason why you should be near one of these stations:—You are to be more or less a novice as to farming. Yet, the raising of crops and live stock is fast becoming a science. By knowing what to plant and the best methods of fighting insects, fungus, etc. you can cut your work in half and double your crops. By being located close to an Experimental Station, you both enjoy good soil and you are in a position to visit the Station and ask questions and get very valuable help. Hence, my fourth and final conclusion is that you should buy your five acres as near as possible to an Experimental Station.

One other thought: The time may come when you or your family will want to sell your little farm. Such homesteads are, as a rule, like most everything else in this world,—easier to buy than they are to sell. This rule, however, usually does not apply to locations close to an Experimental Station. If it directly adjoins government land the government may be a possible purchaser at a good price when you desire to sell. Hence, by locating according to these conclusions you are not only sure of good soil and valuable free help to get started right, but you are pretty sure to have a fair market for your place whenever you wish to sell it.
