World's Future

saved from the wreckage of the Empire what values it could. The ancient Greeks had the conception of forces moving within the destiny of peoples. These external forces, which occurred as if from beyond the control of man were called by the name of necessity, or force. We would call them in our day, "the given," which is an inescapable part of our environment. When the forces were explosive and destructive in nature, the Greeks called it "Bia," or violence. The violent forces of the day of Rome's fall were the barbarians; the redeeming ideal for a day of despair was Christianity. Yet Gibbons, writing in the silver age of the Renaissance, did not see that the forces that were to destroy his age were mechanical, the power of steam, and the ideal of redemption was Democracy.

"Living in our own day, we may see the play of similar forces. The violence of two terrible wars, World War I, and the present conflict, have brought us so close to the abyss of the destruction of our civilization as to leave us little doubt that we have escaped, if we have, by a hair's breadth: With the destruction of so much that was basic to the world of our times before the war, what shall be the answering ideal or force to redeem the day? Many would put their trust in science; but the evidence of the present day is that though we have more data scientific knowledge than ever before in man's experience, it has only lent power to the forces which are destroying our world. So often, the practical scientific concept is that of an inert nature, acted upon by immutable laws. This is an erroneous concept, for the true nature of Nature is not inertness of matter, acted upon, but integrated creation, in which even molecules bring into their union with one another certain actively determining factors, which help to create the whole relationship of which they are a part.

"Ideals, however detached and not incarnate they may seem, are nevertheless a very real part of every situation on which they touch. The Methodist revival under John Wesley did more to change the nature of life for men than any other single factor in that day. Harriet Beecher Stowe's novel "Uncle Tom's Cabin" roused a world to action, and a bloody war, to end slavery in this country and others. The efforts of men in pursuit of an ideal have been the real saving force of life in every time. Each generation helps to create its own world, the world which is to come. The ideals of a generation are the redeeming force which can save its values, and create new values.

"The ideals of an individual will, to a greater extent than anything else, determine whether or not they will be happy or unhappy. The basic relationships of marriage, the home, the civic community in which one lives, the social order of ones country, and finally of the human race, are the product, not of blind force, but ultimately and finally, of the ideals of men. Each graduate of this class is definitely faced by God with the challenge of what they intend to do about their life. The basic problem is not one of isolated cleverness and mechanical intelligence, it is a problem of what we shall do with what we possess in terms of living relationships. The inventor of the buzz-bomb was an intelligent man, and not a fool, but his intelligence destroyed life, not created it. The ideals which a people bring to their world will determine the nature of that world.

"In this day of destruction and tremendous social change, what you as the generation about to assume the responsibility of power bring to your world as ideals will establish for you, and the generations as yet unborn, the nature of the life you shall live, either as happy or tragic. And God speaks to each one of you graduates, facing you with the decision as to what you will bring to your world."

CORPORAL WILLIAM THOMAS WITH TANK FORCE THAT CRACKED NAZIS.
In the first letter in many a moon from Corporal William Thomas, who helped to crack the Nazi lines with the big General Sherman tank outfit he is with the other boys he states he is somewhere in Germany, like all anxious to get home. They gave Hitler a good licking, now they are "resting."

"Bill," as he is best known to his many friends, writes as follows:
"I guess I should write you a bunch a letter or I'll be in the dog house when I get back to Plymouth. God only knows I wish I was there now. I sure would make a poor member of the Austrian Chamber of Commerce. Since V-E Day our outfit has been laying here in this one spot near Linz. If I stay here much longer on this arm, I'll be seeing the nearest real estate dealer for a farm when I get back there. What would Boyer's think if I came back to be a farmer? My! My!!"

"Well, this mad-house over here is finished. I can say that I'm darned glad that it is. It was no picnic from the time our outfit got into the mess until we stopped it. Just in case you wonder what exact one I was in, this is it. I was part of the 3rd Army, Patton's bunch, and the 11th arm'd division. My job was a gunner in a General Sherman tank. It's a my job is more important than five man crew so I can't say that just like any team.
any other. It takes five to run it. Our division did all right by all reports, but I won't go into details because all of it was in the papers. By the way, thanks for the paper. I've been getting it good. With all the guys from there right along now and it sure looks that I know I still can't find one over here.
"One other thing, that was some write-up you gave me when I got hit. I'm O.K. now and have been back with the bunch for quite some time. I got the purple heart out of it as well as a good rest. But I don't wish that rest on anybody if he has to get hit to get it. It's no fun just lying around thinking and having some guy come in at 3 o'clock in the morning and stick you with a needle with penicillin. But I guess the stuff is O.K. Those Medics deserve a whole lot of credit, more than they get.
"Well, I guess that's about all I can say now. One thing on the subject of strikers, which is a good topic. I won't say what I think of them, but remember every GI has a "little black book" and he remembers. Enough said. Hope you can make all this out and if you care to put any of this in the paper it's O.K. If you want more details on where I've been talk to my folks. They can probably tell you a lot.
"Give my best to everyone back home. I would like to hear from you if you care to write."

FRED BIRD LOCATED NEAR PIKES PEAK.
Fred Bird, well known Plymouth boy, in a letter from Buckley Field, near Denver, says:
"Although I am far away in reality I am brought back to good old Plymouth each week in thought, as I receive The Plymouth Mail. I am now stationed in Colorado where I will receive a course in M.P. training.
"We are bordered on the west by a picturesque range of mountains which include Pikes Peak and many other historical scenes. It was made a temporary medic due to the epidemic of flu. This will be cleared up in a week I believe, and then we can get back to our regular training. Our training will consist of lectures on military discipline and self defense, which includes judo, marksmanship, physical training and guarding prisoners of war. Thank you again for The Plymouth Mail."

LIEUT. GEORGE BIRD WITH EFFICIENT TRAINING AIR CREW
The Tonopah Nevada Army Air field only fourth air force B-24 combat crew training station in Nevada, recently completed more than 50,000 flying hours, (more than 10 million miles of flying without a fatal aircraft accident. The former Fourth Air force record of 33,500 hours was set by March Field, Calif., but eclipsed by Tonopah's airmen on April 4 of this year.
Lt. Col. Alfred V. Walton, of Shattuck, Okla., is the director of operations and training at TAAF. Among the men assigned to his all important division is 1st Lieut. George C. Byrd, of 14905 Farnington road, Plymouth, an instructor-navigator.

CAPT. JAMES McCLAIN AT MAXWELL FIELD.
Capt. James T. McClain of 154 Rose St., Plymouth, is now enrolling in the B-29 transition flying school at Maxwell Field, Ala., as a Superfortress pilot, the leader of the three-man team which handles the flying controls of the giant heavy bombers.
B-29 pilots are selected from the top ranks of flyers who have had experience in four-engine airplanes. The pilot's course lasts six weeks here, and during most of that time they train with the three-man "command crew" which also includes a co-pilot and flight engineer, because it requires three men to handle the flying functions of the complex aerial battleship. After graduation, this crew ordinarily gets advanced combat training with additional crew members and then goes into combat as a unit.

FRANK MURDOCK WINS HONORS FOR SERVICES IN PHILIPPINES.
Maj. Gen. William H. Gill, commander of the 32nd (Red Arrow) division, announces that the Commonwealth government of the Philippines has awarded the Philippine liberation medal to Private First Class Frank R. Murdock of Plymouth.
Pfc. Murdock entered the army in August, 1942, and left for overseas duty in January, 1943. Assigned to the veteran 32d division, he saw his first action in New Guinea when the 126th Infantry landed at Saidor in January, 1944, cutting off the Japs at Lae and Finchav. He made the landing at Aitape, New Guinea, where the Division trapped the enemy garrisons at Madang and Wewak. Next came Morotai in the Netherlands East Indies. There the 32d silenced an important listening post and isolated the Japs on Halmahera, thus opening the road to the Philippines.
On Leyte Island, Pfc. Murdock was in the final drive down the Ormoc Corridor when the "Red Arrow" cracked the "Invincible" Yamashita Line. Now, he is fighting among the mile-high peaks of the Caraballo Mountains in northern Luzon, where the battle-scarred 32d veterans are engaged in destroying General Yamashita's final last ditch defenses along the torturous Villa Verde Trail, the 32d's own Baby Burma Road.

Pfc. Murdock is the brother of Mrs. Mary Eastin of 46315 Warren road, Plymouth.

THOMAS GRADY NOW SHIP'S COOK.
Thomas H. Grady, 37, of 374 South Mill St., Plymouth, has advanced to ship's cook, third class, USNR. He is serving on a destroyer with the Pacific fleet.
Grady entered the Navy in October, 1943, received recruit training at Farragut, Idaho, and reported on board his ship in February, 1944. A veteran of several bombardment missions in the northern Kuriles, he participated in the first Philippine landings at Leyte and in the landings at Lingayen Gulf on Luzon.

DONALD DUNN TELLS OF CAMP ON COAST IN THE PHILIPPINES.
Donald Dunn, who has been transferred from Boreno to somewhere in the Philippines, has written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Dunn of Wang street in which he describes his life in the Philippines. He writes in part as follows:
"Been pretty doggone busy since we got in here but as usual the kinks get ironed out and we get to moving along quite smoothly. Of course there are always little things that need adjusting, but who would want it to run smooth as oil. Seems like its the little things that keep a fellow up on his toes and ready for the next thing to happen.
"We were glad that the European campaign is closed as it more or less makes us feel that this one is coming to a close, too. That will be the day, believe you me. Maybe rotation will get rolling along one of these days and this guy will get a furlough back home. I sure do hope so.
"I imagine that everyone is or has their garden well on its way by now. I'd like to be there when the red raspberries ripen. We get a few in Jan now and then. That's what it says on the can so it must be. It sure is a camouflaged job though, to my way of thinking. Just like the dehydrated potatoes.
"Well, our gang is still pounding the China coast, Boreno and surrounding territory whenever and wherever they are needed. Plenty of work to do yet in that line. I will go so far as to brag about it, that they are doing a good job of it too.
"I don't think you folks ever hear of the 13th A.F. ever here, but we're here, that's for sure. A lot of the little yellow fellows have come to find that out, to their sorrow. As some of us say, 'So sorry Challie, NOT American.' Well, to make a long story short, there's a job to do and its being done. I ran into a fish peddler the other day and bought a nice mess of thirty fresh fish. Don't ask me the name of them because I don't know. They were a cross between a sun-fish, blue-gill and black bass.
"All were about eight and ten inches long. They were just as nice to eat as any I ever had before. It's funny how five fellows can clean up two dozen or more fish in an hour. I never knew I liked them so much, even if I did have to help fry them and keep pumping more air into the burner all the time. It turned out to be just a plain meal of dry bread and fish, but I wouldn't have missed it for twenty pence. It really was a treat. You see, the only time we get fish over here is when we go out and get them ourselves.
"We've been pretty lucky since we got here. We manage to keep a stock of bananas around the tent just to eat when we get hungry at night or between meals. They grow as common here as weeds in the garden. They aren't as big as the ones sold in the store but they have the flavor so who are we to kick, especially when they don't cost us anything. Even if we had to buy them we still wouldn't kick as they are the only fresh fruit available around here.
"We really have a swell campsite at this station. It's right on the beach in a coconut grove, with miles of room to go swimming or shell hunting, plenty of room to exercise with a ball and bat or football or any other sort of sport you'd care to indulge in. It is, without a doubt, the best yet. It's almost too good to last. After the woods or jungles of New Guinea, this is paradise. The roads are fairly good, too. Of course, after the army moves in, it's a wonder if any road would hold up long except if it was concrete like back home. But we are a long way from home and the roads are more or less in comparison with it.
"I saw Bob Burley yesterday. He is in the outfit next door. You know him for he used to work in the Shell station on Main and Mill street. He said he hadn't heard any news in a few days. The mail has been tied up somewhere lately. Hoping this finds you all in the best of health and I hope to see you soon."

FORBES SMITH'S DOG DIES FROM SHELL-SHOCK OVER IN GERMANY
In an interesting letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, S. Sgt. Forbes Smith, says his dog "Minnie" recently died somewhere over in Germany from shell shock.
But let his communication tell about his dog "Minnie" and the final days of the war against Hitler's gang. It follows:
"Well the fuss is ended in Germany and restrictions are off and I can tell you more of what I have been doing lately. My dog Minnie died from shell shock and all the boys feel terrible about her. She was a lovely dog and a real pal. You should have seen the funeral the boys gave her and she deserved it. But this is war and we have to take what goes with it.

News of Our Boys

"Now I am going to tell you the story of - E.F.O. trip from beginning to end and the experiences I have gone through since I left the States. You see, I could not give you much information as to where I was and what I was doing. I think I have a good chance to come home on this point system, so let's hope I do. Of course, it is up to the army.
"I am fine now and enjoying France very much. Will tell you more about it next time.
"I left Syracuse 21 months ago on the Flying Fortress named 'The Dry Martin'. Captain Martin's ship, sister ship of the famous 'Memphis Belle' you have read about. We flew directly to South America then refueled and came to England. We lost four ships in the ocean on our flight across to England out of 46, so that wasn't bad.
"We landed at Peterborough, England, just three days after we left the States and then started hops across the front. I was an Aerial Engineer waist gun man on 18 missions and am telling you they were some missions, you can bet your life on that. There were many boys who did not come back at night. We would wait up till all hours hoping and keeping our fingers crossed that they would be coming home. People can't realize how we felt when they would give the report either dead or missing. We would eat before going out and there would be jolly fellows at the table, but everyone with tense nerves. Then there would be vacancies all over the tables when night would come.
"Some of the boys were superstitious and would carry rabbits foot or a black cat or a dog like Minnie, but it didn't do any good because Jerry was a good shot and a trick artist. Then a new boy that used to talk a lot went to town and got drunk and told a German agent our plan to bomb the big ball bearing plant at Schweinfurt in Germany. Well Jerry waited at the channel and knocked 63 flying fortresses down. So one boy caused the deaths of many good men that could have finished their missions and come back. Well they got him at that was the last we heard of him, his drinking days were over.
"Well one day I was in high altitude and my oxygen mask sprung a leak. I can thank the pilot, I called him on my mike and he came down in a power dive to save my life or else my breathing would have stopped. I ended up in the hospital with double pneumonia and was in an oxygen tent for six days and now my mission days are over, but I received the DFC and the Oak Leaf Cluster from Brig. Gen. I. E. May for my task.
"We have received the presidential citation with an Oak Leaf cluster with three little stars since we left England and we have really earned them. We followed Patton's army all the way to Germany. Just now I am at Strasbourg. It is a nice place and I like it here. It is a summer resort and plenty to do.
"Things in France are all knocked out everywhere you go, except Paris, but in other cities you have no idea what happened in the last few weeks here. I am glad I can write you about it. Boys are still getting killed by ground mines over here and you have to be very careful where you go. Thank Mr. Eaton for the Mail, it is good to read all the news. Best regards to all my friends and love to you and all relations."

Edison Prepares for Peace Time
While it still powers the war industries of Southeastern Michigan, the Detroit Edison company already is launched into its program for meeting the pent up demands for an era of peace.
Millions will be spent in reconditioning and re-converting Edison plants and facilities as the need for tanks, planes, ships and guns is superseded by the market for the elements of peace.
The best evidence on how the company may be expected to meet those demands is contained in the record of how it met the obligation and the challenge of war.

It means little to say that in 1944 The Detroit Edison company put 3,400,000,000 kilowatt-hours of power into the life lines of industry, but it is a bit clearer when it is explained that that power was equal to the strength of 40,500,000 men working eight hours a day for 300 days.
In 1944 Detroit Edison produced 88 per cent more power than it did in 1939 when the war started in Europe. It accomplished that remarkable increase in production with an increase in power house capacity of only 21 per cent. It was accomplished with an actual decrease in the number of company employees. In 1939 the Detroit Edison company was employing an average of 6,550 persons. In 1944 the total was down to 6,227.
While other costs of living and manufacturing rose steadily through the five-year period, the average price of all electricity sold by Detroit Edison decreased from 2.07 cents to 1.71 cents per kilowatt-hour. This reduction in the cost of power was accomplished in part by direct rate cuts and partly by the operation of the company's step rates which provides for lower unit prices with the increased use of power.
Net earnings of the company did not rise during this period of tremendous output. On the contrary they were reduced.
Of the increase in gross earnings which came from the gigantic war demand, a total of nearly $7,000,000 went to Edison employees. In 1939 the 6,550 employees were paid a total of $14,565,650. In 1944 the 6,227 employees were paid $21,188,667. Much of this increase is due to the longer work week. The company's contributions to government, through taxes, increased from $8,670,997 in 1939 to $14,128,985 in 1944.

While this tremendous and endless stream of power poured into the great war industries, no "little man" was forgotten or neglected. The lights still burned in the living room, the toaster clicked in the breakfast nook, the corner store still had its refrigeration and the farmer continued to pump his water and milk his cows with electricity.

Scouts Schedule Another Pickup of Wastepaper

Plymouth's Boy Scouts, whose wastepaper collections are coming in at a slightly lower clip than in 1944 when they picked up 193 tons, have scheduled another city-wide collection for Saturday, June 30.

The Scouts have collected 75 tons so far this year, according to figures compiled by Mrs. Maurice Woodworth, Plymouth wastepaper salvage chairman. They are hoping to boost that total over the 100-ton mark in their next pickup. That would put them ahead of the pace necessary to beat the 1944 total.

Wastepaper is more urgently needed now than ever before, said Mrs. Woodworth. Every war item to be shipped from Europe to the Pacific must be repacked to protect it from the damaging effects of tropical climates.

More than 700,000 items vital to the prosecution of the war depend on wastepaper, either for packaging or as an essential ingredient.

Michigan mills supply more than a third of the necessary paper items for the war effort. And they're operating on a week-to-week basis due to the shortage of wastepaper.

This isn't information furnished by bureaucrats in an effort to let people "know there's a war on." It's factual information obtained from the Michigan paper mills themselves.

They're in such dire straits that they have assigned several of their regular employees to devote their full time to get in more paper. The need is really great.

And to make the situation even more serious is the fact that, with a million more tons of wastepaper needed nationally in 1945 due to the stepped up war program, there are a million tons less available for salvage.

So it behooves every housewife—in fact everyone—to save every scrap of paper possible. You'll be doing a big part in the war effort, just by saving that wastepaper for the next Boy Scout pickup, June 30.

Safety Hints by Ernest Henry

Following are some hints on safety submitted by Ernest L. Henry in connection with the Kiwanis club safety campaign being conducted by the Safety committee of the club:

"A lot can and will be said and written concerning safety in order to make each of us safety conscious.

The insurance companies in compiling their statistics, find that most accidents happen around the home. Although it appears that the home is the most dangerous place to be, it can also be proven that a large percentage of these home accidents could be avoided if we would use a little more care. In other words the main cause of accidents is carelessness.

"If we could as a group encourage safety, prevail upon people to be more safety conscious, needless accidents that cause so much unhappiness and suffering could be avoided."

Accepts Position With U. S. Army Map Service

Janette Strachan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strachan of Ann Arbor Trail, a graduate of the Plymouth high school who has been a student at Stephens College at Columbia, Missouri, during the past year, leaves today for Washington, D. C.

She has accepted a position as an engineering aid in the army map service, a position she will retain until the war is over.

During her high school days in Plymouth, Miss Strachan was active in many school activities. Mr. Strachan is Michigan representative for the Plaudler Company of Pittsburg.

Friendship Fund Sought by Scouts

The Boy Scouts of America have set up a World Friendship Fund to help set Scouts on their feet in the war devastated countries.

In some of these countries, notably Italy, Boy Scouts have carried on underground during the years of oppression. Now since the liberation of their lands these Scouts can again carry out their good turns in the open.

The boys of Plymouth Troop P-1 had good reason to vote a ten dollar contribution to this fund the other night. Bob Dailey, a sergeant in the army, stationed in Italy, has been a P-1 member for 10 years and now rates as an assistant Scoutmaster in service.

Some Plymouth Mail readers will remember a letter from Bob a few months ago telling of the Italian Scout rally on the slopes of Mount Vesuvius. Bob is also a member of the Italian Scouts and has been assisting the young Italian leaders in their work of developing the scout program again in that country.

He has received a couple of P-1's scout handbooks and now to some small degree will benefit with many others from the contribution of his old troop and of many other units similarly interested in doing an international good turn.

Cloverdales Win 4 Straight

Plymouth's fast Cloverdale baseball team Sunday made it four straight wins when it gave the South Lyon, Seamless Tube team a 11 to 4 trimming.

Warren Hoffman sparked the team by hitting a home run and accounting for four of the eleven runs. Warren Bassett had a perfect day at bat with two hits and a walk out three times. Bassett has an average of .663. Howard Schryer in the last inning hit a single, stole second and third and as the catcher threw to third he hit "Howdie" who came home as the ball bounced into the outfield. "Howdie's" batting average is .470 he is followed by Deal who is batting .450.

Cloverdale plays DeRoy's of Redford at Riverside park Sunday. The game starts at 3 o'clock sharp.

Predicts That Northville Race Track Will Become One of Country's Best

(By Bob Kenefick)
Publicity Director of United States Trotting Association.

Horsemen from seventeen states and Canada who have gathered at Northville for the 24-night spring meeting at the Northville Downs track are loud in the praise of racing conditions at this new Michigan twice-around oval and especially the way that General Manager Sam Wiedrick is making the horsemen happy with excellent purses.

The Northville track is regarded by the horsemen as one of the best in the country, and if it continues to develop as it is, it will within a year or so be excelled only by the Roosevelt track in New York.

Wiedrick, who made his debut in the harness horse sport last summer after being connected with boxing and baseball for many years, learned early that the best way to get along in sport is to keep everybody happy and that is what he is doing here.

Always believing that it pays to get the best, Wiedrick brought here Steven Phillips of Erie, Pa., top starter of the country and Harvey Hartman, another high ranking starter of Philadelphia to be the starting judges. Phillips starts the horses on the Grand Circuit and annually is the man to say "go" for the $40,000 Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y. in August.

On top of this Wiedrick engaged Tom Gahagan, best known of all harness horse scribes and top clerk of course of America here as clerk and associate judge. For presiding judge Wiedrick went to Cleveland to engage Wayne Groves, another Grand Circuit official and for the other associate judge with Gahagan Sam hired M. S. Van Gieson of Flint.

Commissioner W. J. Dowling wanted to have class as steward representing the Michigan State Commission and he brought the veteran Joe McGraw of Washington, Pa., to be in the stand.

Wiedrick and his associates engaged one of the top racing secretaries of the land in Ed Keller of Norway, Maine, who is manager and secretary of many Grand Circuit meetings to arrange the racing program here.

That Keller has done a good job can be seen by the fact that there are over 300 head of horses here and although the meeting is only a few days old the racing has been keen and is attracting banner throngs who are wagering better than $40,000 nightly through the windows.

For this week Keller has a card that will have the spectators on their feet all the time.

Of course, the top event of the week will be the free-for-all pace Saturday night which will bring together Anton Lang, winner of last Saturday night's feature, Prince Yakima, Eddie D. Volo H. and several other pacing whirlwinds. This race will bring out the fans in droves for all will want to see whether Anton Lang, 2:00 1/2, the Wisconsin power horse can defeat the prides of Dearborn, Prince Yakima and Volo H.

Friday night has two great features in the free-for-all trot and the 2:16 class pace for $1,000. In the fast trot will be Mary M. Troublemaker, Summer Son, Luckette, the Oregon, Ill stepper which will be driven by Mrs. Forrest Burright, 62-year-old woman driver, who celebrated her birthday here Sunday. And if Jake Mahoney gets into town with his string from Lexington, Ky., he will start Blue Boy, winner of the last two Transylvanias at Lexington, Ky.

The meeting lasts until July 4 and the post time each evening is 8:30 with the daily double windows closing at 8:20.

Wiedrick is making improvements on the plant daily and those in the know are saying that there are only two drawbacks, first the lack of parking space and room in the grandstand, especially when Uncle Sam loosens up on the gas rationing.

As Commissioner Dowling says: "The Northville Downs racing association is putting Michigan for many years. She was the teacher of its Bible class. Through The Plymouth Mail she wished to express to the members of the church her appreciation for their thoughtfulness.

Mr. and Mrs. Robyn Merriman entertained Sunday at a family dinner at Botsford Tavern followed by a tea in their home during the afternoon complimenting their daughter, Margery Jean, who graduated from Michigan State College on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Merriman and children, Teddy and Daphne, of Adrian were the out-of-town guests.

There are a number of members of the family still living in that locality, a daughter and her family residing near Adrian.

Last Thursday evening members of Calvary church gave Mrs. Root a delightful surprise and left with her a most acceptable gift. Mrs. Root has been one of the active members of the church

Mrs. John F. Root Moves to Adrian

Sends Jap Flag To His Parents

An exhibit of a Jap flag and banner captured by Cass Denski, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Denski, of 5775 Lilly road, on Davo in Mindanao Islands, in one of the display windows of The Plymouth Mail office during the past few days has attracted more than usual interest.

There is plenty to indicate that the flag and banner were used for a considerable period by some Jap.

Some of the toughest fighting of the Jap war has taken place on the island of Davao, where the Plymouth boy is now stationed.

His parents say that Cass, a former Plymouth high school student, has in his letters indicated much to reveal the toughness of the Jap fighters.

11 Local Men Spared in Draft

Eleven Plymouth area men received pleasant surprises when they reported at the draft board for their induction at the last call. As a result of the new ruling deferring all men more than 30 years of age, they were sent home again. They didn't mind in the least having arisen that early in the morning for such good news.

The 11 who were sent home again were: Leland Laskey, of 419 North Main street; Arthur Albrecht, of Detroit; Gerald E. Seitz, of Detroit; Russell Holbert, Detroit; Noel Catlett, Farmington.

Leslie F. McNeil, Detroit; Joseph E. Cieslak, Detroit; Charles T. Reed, Farmington; Frederick Arnold, Mt. Clemens; Louis Tiffin, Northville, and Kenneth Palmer.

Poor Prospects For Sweet Corn

How would you like some sweet corn, right fresh out of one of the fields around Plymouth? Wouldn't it taste swell?

Prepare for a disappointment. If you get any sweetcorn at all this year that is grown in Michigan, it is going to be late sweet corn—very late. And there is no sweet corn grown in the country that has the delicious flavor of sweet corn grown in and around Plymouth.

Local growers say that only a very few fields of sweet corn have been planted. It will be a few days before they know whether the seeds have rotted in the ground.

At any rate, the prospects are that you will not get much local sweet corn this year.

Sympathy Plea Doesn't Work

There must be a lot of sick folks down in Detroit. Farmers around Plymouth say that dozens and dozens of automobilists drive into their places and want to buy chickens. The story is nearly the same at every place.

"We got a sick person at our house and the doctors say they must have chicken broth. We can not get any chickens in Detroit. Wonder if you will sell us just one or two chickens?"

Up to the present time, there are no reports of any one having fallen for the sob story. But Detroiters are so insistent in their efforts to purchase chickens and eggs that some farmers are finding it hard to resist the pleas. Outrageous prices are also being offered.

CIRCULATING PETITIONS

A national petition drive to speed enactment of the Townsend plan was unanimously voted by the Townsend National Council at a recent meeting in Chicago. The thousands of Townsend clubs throughout the nation will soon circulate petitions urging congressmen to support Townsend legislation and to vote favorably on HR 2229 and HR 2230, the twin Townsend bills in the House.

Has Praise for Lake Worth

After spending the winter in Fort Worth, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Goodhue of Blunk avenue have returned to spend the summer in Plymouth.

Mr. Goodhue is president of the Michigan Society of Lake Worth and is well acquainted with nearly every Michigan person who spends the winter in that interesting Atlantic city winter resort.

"We think Lake Worth is one of the finest places in all America to spend the winter. It is a beautiful little city with every convenience one could desire. And there is plenty of amusement for all age groups. Another big advantage is the fine class of people who make their home in that place the year around. They are just the kind you like to know and associate with," he stated.

Sgt. Robert Amos Is Visitor Here

S/Sgt. Robert W. Amos, veteran of 32 months in the Pacific, recently spent a week with his sister, Mrs. George Blantz, on Sunset street. Until then, they had not seen each other for four years. Bob has taken part in the battles of Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan and many of the smaller islands in the Pacific. He told many interesting stories about these places. While he was here he met Rev. Francis Tetu of the St. John's Episcopal church and they had a most interesting conversation, since Rev. Tetu knew about many of the places Bob had seen.

Bob says he would like to live in or around Plymouth after the war. He was serving with the second division of the Marine corps and will spend a week in Kalamazoo before returning to Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, where for the past eight months he has been instructing marines. He expects to be sent back to the Pacific when he reports for re-assignment. In the line of honors, he has received presidential citations from Guadalcanal and the Gilbert Islands.

Babson Says - -

Babson Park, Mass., June 15.—Rich people may not now be interested in income from securities because they have to pay so much of it back to the government in taxes. The great mass of people, however, prefer to have their money well invested and paying good interest. Then they like to spend this interest and not disturb their principal. Hence, in the long run, the question of income is the basic factor in the stock and bond markets. This should be even more true later because next year, personal and corporation taxes will probably be reduced.

People Should Take Profits
For the above reason, Wall Street has the saying: "Idle funds soon burn holes in peoples' pockets." Most people do not work and slave just to keep money idle. They want to see it work and earn so it will help support them. This will be all the more important when the cost of living goes up as it will after Japan collapses. In fact, this will be especially true of those who must live on the interest which they get from invested capital.

Most investors do not look at the price at which their bonds or stocks are selling; but only at dividends which they get. They may have bought a 6 per cent stock for $100 which has gone up to $150; and hence, from a mathematical viewpoint, now yields only 4 per cent. Yet they refuse to sell it because the dividend is still $6 per year. This stubbornness on the part of most investors may sometimes be a mistake. Certainly it is one reason why the market steadily goes up. The buyers are increasing, with few people willing to sell.

How to Get 6 Per Cent
Now your banker may tell you that the 6 per cent days have gone by and if you do sell 6 per cent can no longer be secured elsewhere with even fair safety. But I disagree with him. Some of the good public utilities still earn 6 per cent and should earn more after World War II is over and corporation taxes are reduced. Of course, you must hunt for them. Such investments do not "go begging"; but you can get them if you insist.

"Why is it" you ask "that one can get 6 per cent from utility stocks with fair safety?" There are three reasons: (1) Because the Roosevelt administration persecuted honestly-operated utility companies along with the bad ones. This persecution has now stopped. (2) Because most utilities are now being operated by old men who are discouraged and disappointed. They have seen their own fortunes fade away and have not the guts to wake up and make another fortune. This can be remedied by replacing them with young men who never knew the "good old days." (3) Because many bankers fear public ownership. This can be insured against by buying stocks selling on the basis of the cash invested.

Utilities Growing
The most important considerations when investing for income are (1) Honest management, (2) Market price and (3) Growth possibilities. The utilities are now being honestly operated even if some are still handicapped by old work management contracts. Utility securities are fairly priced and are growing every day. They may have some postwar slump; but are far safer than the railroads. Industrial low-rate business may fall off; but profitable domestic and household business should increase. Every house built every couple married and every child

Beals Post Auxiliary Meets in Legion Hall

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Myron H. Beals Post of the American Legion will hold its regular meeting tonight in the Legion hall, on Newburg road.

The meeting will follow a potluck dinner—which is strictly potluck—at 7 p.m. The committee will serve only coffee instead of having the usual meat—a sign of the times. Members must bring their own.

No book ever caused more commotion in this country than The Impending Crisis of the South, written and published in 1857 by Hinton Rowan Helper, a native of North Carolina. As it was not only a vitriolic attack on the South for owning slaves, but also one written by a Southerner, the sale and possession of the book was prohibited by law in every state in the South. Owing to the notoriety that attended the hanging of three men and the beating of scores of others for owning copies, it passed through more than 100 editions within two years.

25 Years Ago

News items of a quarter of a century ago taken from the files of The Plymouth Mail.

The business men of the south end of the village will give their first free street entertainment Saturday evening.

On Tuesday evening about twenty-five friends of Miss Grace White gathered at her home to help her celebrate her nineteenth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Kaiser and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kaiser and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kaiser and son, Wesley; Fred Kaiser and two sons; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kohnitz and family spent Sunday at Straits Lake. Boating and fishing and a picnic dinner was the order of the day. The fish knew it was Sunday and would not bite.

William Bake and Ruth Hamilton of the third and fourth overflow room of the public schools have had 165 perfect spelling lessons.

The Plymouth Good Study class will meet at the Domestic Science laboratory of the high school on Thursday afternoon. The class was organized on May 17, a course of fourteen lessons. The following women have joined the class: Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. Frank Palmer, Mrs. Louis Hillmer, Mrs. Forest Smith, Mrs. Will Renger, Miss Chloe Powell, Mrs. Olive Packard, Mrs. Dan Murray, Mrs. F. L. Becker, Mrs. Guy Kennedy, Mrs. Arthur Sharrow, Mrs. James Gates, Mrs. Alice Robertson, Mrs. Robert Gibson, Northville, Miss Bertha Warner, Mrs. H. S. Doerr, Mrs. Howard Brown, Mrs. A. L. Hanchett, Mrs. Charles Larkins, Mrs. M. J. Smith, Rose M Hillmer, Mrs. Ernest C. Vealley, rs. I. N. Dickerson.

E. C. Hough and C. H. Rauch motored to Culver, Indiana, this week, where the former's son, Cass is attending military school.

Mrs. R. E. Cooper left Tuesday on a several weeks' western trip. Enroute to California, she will visit Grand Canyon and after a few weeks visit with relatives at Pasadena and Oakland, California, she will return home by way of Yellowstone Park.

There is a very low water pressure and the village commission has established restrictions in the use of water for sprinkling purposes.

An alarm of fire was given early Wednesday afternoon, when the roof of Charles Smith's house on Mill street was discovered on fire.

Plymouth has a town clock, which is something this village has long felt the need of. It is located on the new bank building, facing Main street. It is one of the latest and most approved clocks of its kind built today, and an accurate and reliable time-piece, that will give many years of service. A plate on the front of the case bears this inscription: "In memory of Lewis Cass Hough, one of the founders of this bank and its vice president at his death on January 11, 1902." The clock, which is a gift of the L. C. Hough family not only provides a great convenience to the citizens of the community, but it will become a part of the community life itself, and the generosity of the donors will be appreciated more and more as the years go by.

Willard Tatzka Now in Philippines
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tatzka of 676 North Hulbert have just been advised that their son, T5 Willard F. Tatzka has been sent from New Caledonia where he spent more than 22 months, to the Philippine Islands.

While it had been expected that most boys who have been in the south Pacific for nearly two years would be sent home for at least a brief furlough, Soldier Tatzka apparently has jumped from one "hot spot" right into another, like hundreds of thousands of other fighting American boys.
