

What I Think and Have a Right to Say
Eaton R. Eaton

AGAIN WE SING THEIR PRAISE.
Frequently during the past two or three years the writer of this column has had occasion to say a kindly word about the young "soldier" wives who have been left at home to shift for themselves while their husbands have been away fighting for their homes and their country.

Many of these young wives have small children they have had to care for, serving both as mother and father to the youngsters, during the years while their bread-winners have been in the armed forces.

Oh yes, we know there are vile-tongued scandal mongers who find joy in suggesting some dirty, untruthful piece of gossip. Yes, we know we have a few of these wretches everywhere.

But to the everlasting credit of these young wives of men wearing the uniforms of our country, they have conducted themselves in the strictest of decorum and have leaned over backwards in order to still the tongues of the miserable gossips.

They have been lonesome and lonely, but they have conducted themselves properly and honorably, and they have done a masterful job in maintaining homes without their husbands and without the advise and counsel of the "man of the house."

They have joined, whenever possible, in the various home-front war activities and they have, by their enthusiastic endeavors, inspired others to work a bit harder in order to help win the peace.

Again we say—all honor to the wives of the service men of the nation! They have been as good soldiers at home as were their husbands who faced our vicious enemies in victorious combat.

OUR IDEA ABOUT JAPAN.

Long before the war with Japan ever started, we had our mind pretty well made up as to the type of people they were. And it was not a good opinion. The war has only accentuated our belief. Their stalling, their deception and their trickery during the surrender proceedings is typical of the miserable things that they are. But General MacArthur knows them well and you can bet your last dollar that the "soft" peace that Japan is hoping to get, is going to be a mighty tough peace. Hirohito and his killers will know by the end of another six months just what it is to goose-step to a real commander. The tougher General MacArthur can make it for these two-faced human killers, the better the most of us will like it.

The most oft-spoken word of years — "Fill'er up."

TAKE THAT FILL-IN JOB!

All war contracts in the Plymouth vicinity have now been ended. Many have been laid off and hundreds have made applications for unemployment compensation.

In the very same office in Plymouth where these applications for unemployment compensation claims are made, is located the U. S. employment office.

There are dozens and dozens of GOOD jobs that the manager of the office CANNOT fill.

Last week one local factory asked for twelve men. They only got two to fill the twelve jobs.

For some unknown reason very many who have been employed in the big war plants just will not take jobs in smaller industries.

They insist on demanding their unemployment compensation. That means 20 weeks of forced idleness in order to collect from the state.

Maybe we are wrong, but seemingly it would be best for the worker, best for the state and nation, best for everybody if these other jobs were filled, even temporarily.

Then when the big boom comes that surely will come, the worker can be more choosy about the type of a job he desires to work at.

The thing we are opposed to, is any form of idleness on the part of able-bodied men when there is work to be done. It is better for everybody if everybody WORKS!

HATS OFF TO THE TELEPHONE GIRLS.

During the past four years everybody has been busy, as busy as bees. But probably the busiest place in all the world has been the Plymouth telephone office. It has always been a busy place, even before the war.

But when the war came on it became a bee-hive. Plymouth, as every one knows, was located right in the busiest war production center in the country. Every factory, large and small, overnight became a war production plant of some kind.

Several new factories were erected. Added to all of these war plants, the Plymouth telephone office had its share of regular commercial work to carry on.

During all of these trying years, the young women who are employed as operators in the Plymouth office gave to this city excellent and most COURTEOUS service.

How they did it, we do not know. But they did a remarkably good job—and our hats are off to them. They are entitled to thanks from the entire community.

First Call Issued For H. S. Football

The first sign of fall—football candidates have been asked to report at Plymouth High School at 2 p. m. next Friday for physical examinations.

Coach Wayne Falan has called the first practice for the following morning, Saturday, September 1, at 9 o'clock at the school.

Falan urges all high school boys interested in playing for Plymouth to report for the examination and opening practice.

He hopes to have at least 100 try out for the team. The squad will total about 60 when the season gets under way Sept. 21, with a game at Farmington.

With Peace Here, Church Builds For The Future

Accepting the word of their pastor as he meant it, some 24 or 30 men of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, have been spending evenings of this week in preparing the new church site on Penniman avenue for the new church edifice and school soon to be erected.

In his sermon commemorating our complete victory over American enemies, Rev. Edgar Hoenecke said to a congregation that could barely find standing room in his church that we must now "roll up our sleeves and tackle our job with a will. Long have we set ourselves the goal of a new Christian day school and a new church. Now we can carry out our purpose," he said.

And that is just what many members of his church have been doing since V-J day. They have been preparing for their big project for which the church purchased war bonds since the disastrous Pearl Harbor day.

His sermon, teeming with good Americanism and good common sense, follows in part:

"The final surrender of our enemy in the Pacific and the manner in which it was brought about has made us Americans literally the lords of the earth. It cannot be denied that Victory came to the Allied arms because God had given to America the natural resources, the scientific genius (culminating in an innovation so sensational as to usher in a new era, and the united strength and will of a vast army of workers who supplied a continuous flow of refined tools of war to a great military force, led by men of deep strategy and inspired by boys of high valor on the land, on the sea and in the air.

"But let us never forget that it was by the grace of God that we won the mad race for the discovery of the control of atomic force, and that by a frightfully close margin indeed.

"To what end and for what purpose did God give us the Victory? Certainly, in view of the incalculable cost, not for mere financial, territorial or political security. The neat, white rows of markers over the slumbers of those who sealed their faith in glory, among us as grim reminders of our obligation—these bespeak a meaning and purpose of Victory and Peace far beyond the egoist's goal of the recovery of comfort, luxuries and minor freedoms, so briefly and reluctantly relinquished.

"Victory and Peace must mean more than that. Essentially, theirs is a spiritual significance. They are neither static nor negative; they are positive, active and progressive concepts. They mark no end, but only the great beginning of a new day of reprove. We have, by the Grace of God, done with the preliminary, dirty job of razing the old and unworthy; we may now enter upon the sweet labor of building the shining, new structure with imperishable, spiritual values.

"Victory is but half the battle. Thus far we have won mere military victory over the insidious ideologies of our enemies. The ideologies of luxury and excellence lies before us in the practical, peacetime demonstration of the worth of our ideals. Failing in this, we may well expect the hydra-headed monster to rear up in our midst in a new guise to devour us. The beginning of the Atomic Era finds America significantly and strategically favored; this is plainly an indication that our God, with the preliminary, dirty job of razing the old and unworthy; we may now enter upon the sweet labor of building the shining, new structure with imperishable, spiritual values.

"A clear restatement and reinstatement of our freedoms, and a full exercise of our most precious, our religious freedom, is the most urgent order of the day as an adequate premise and promise of glory and eternity and tomorrow.

"The great burden of asserting and appropriating this religious freedom to the full is placed upon the Christians in the land. Theirs is the task of tearing out incipient evil by its roots in the heart of child and man, and then of planting and cultivating new life in the faith, hope and love through the Gospel of the Christ. The world is at a crossroads; either force will continue to grapple with the solution of man's problems, and we end in miserable suicide; or love will channel incredible, new energies into service for good, and the dawn of a new day is at hand. The decision is before the world's conscience. But the world's conscience is only the cumulative conscience of the individuals in the world.

"Here the greatest force for good the world has ever known must be applied; the love of Christ constraining a man from within to will the good that can make his lot happy and glorious within and without. The Gospel, and only the Gospel can do this, if men would but hear it and heed.

"For our congregation Victory and Peace means this: that we ROLL UP OUR SLEEVES and TACKLE OUR JOB with a will. Long have we set ourselves the goal of a new Christian Day School for our little ones and a new Church to serve our people and the community more adequately; now we can carry out our purpose. Those who piled brick on our new site on Victory Evening may have appeared daft to the horn-tooting passerby, but they fittingly exemplified the spirit and will of the congregation to lose no time, but to get going. And what we build now we build with a view to do our bit toward pulling the world back from the brink of chaos and in bridging the gap to lead men finally back to God and hope."

Ray Danol, one of the former Plymouth Mail employees who went into the armed forces and has been serving at a naval base in the Hawaiian islands for some time, has arrived home on a 30 day leave of absence. He states that the climate of the islands is exceedingly mild, but that the scenery is not what many believe it to be. He will remain back to the navy September 17 and hopes to have his release probably in the spring.

Schools To Open Sept. 5 With 12 New Instructors

Plymouth's public schools will reopen Sept. 5, a week from Wednesday, for the fall term with several new faces on the faculties as well as the face-lifting job on the school structures.

Superintendent Helmer A. Nelson announced that 12 new instructors have been added to the schools' staff to replace those who had retired, resigned, or died.

Besides the new teachers, the pupils will be greeted by more cheery appearing schools, due to the complete redecorating and renovating work that has been done in all buildings during the summer vacation.

The overcrowding condition which has been evident in recent years, and which has led to plans for a new grade school, no doubt will be increased as enrollment is expected to go up, if anything.

Nelson pointed out that provisions have been made for the return of the four faculty members who are in service, if and when they come back.

"We're expecting them back," Nelson said, "and we're holding their jobs open for them. Conditions are so crowded now that we could use them as once if they came back without any disruption in our present plans."

The teachers will report on Sept. 4 to prepare for the invasion of the children the following day. Following are the faculties of the schools, as now constituted:

Switchman Jack Stroll Retires After 42 Years of Railroading

This was the type of the switch engine used in the Pere Marquette Plymouth yards when Jack Stroll first started work in Plymouth.

Jack Stroll, 42047 East Ann Arbor Trail, for 42 years a switchman, employed most of that period by the Pere Marquette in the Plymouth yards, is no longer a switchman.

He has rightly joined the ranks of those who have won retirement by faithful, loyal and diligent services over a long period of years.

Last Sunday, August 12, he completed 34 years of employment with the Pere Marquette. With this outstanding record of service, the railroad company felt that Mr. Stroll had won a right to all of the happiness that retirement can give to a person.

But the 34 years of switching in the Plymouth yards of the PM does not comprise all of the railroad experiences of Mr. Stroll.

He became a "railroad man" way back in 1903, more than 42 years ago. In his younger days he worked for several different railroads in Michigan and some of the western states. He was at times employed by the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, the Grand Trunk, the Santa Fe, the Rock Island and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway system.

Well does he remember when he worked switching cars for 22 1/2 cents an hour, starting to work at 6 o'clock in the morning and remaining on the job until all of the work for the day was done. Sometimes this was late in the evening. This was in the days before the eight hour a day law was passed for railway employees.

"That was in the days, too, before we had air brakes and when we used the old coupling pins to couple the cars together" said Mr. Stroll.

It was in 1911 when Mr. Stroll came to Plymouth to go to work in the Pere Marquette yards, from Jackson where he was born.

"For 26 years I walked to work from my home on East Ann Arbor Trail to the yard office. Many a cold night when I finished work and took off my overalls before starting home they were so badly frozen that they would almost stand alone" he said.

He plans to devote his time to two hobbies: one his Victory garden, and the other fishing up in Saginaw Bay. His friends say he knows when and where every fish in the bay can be found.

The Strolls have one son, Arthur J. Stroll, who is stationed at present at the Brooklyn navy yard. For 27 months during the early part of the war he served on the battleship Alabama. The U.S. sailor is a graduate of the Plymouth high school with the class of 1937 and as been in the navy ever since the war started.

All "War" Printing in Job Department of Plymouth Mail Ends in a Rush

V-J day came to The Plymouth Mail office a day late last week, a day after all the shouting and the joy raising had ended.

"Stop press work on everything we have on order" came a message over the telephone from the office of the Kelsey-Hayes machine gun factory.

Almost immediately the power on two fast-rolling automatic presses was cut off.

"Thank fortune" said every one in the office. "We're glad that is over."

Few people in Plymouth knew it, but from The Plymouth Mail office during the entire war period flowed millions of specially prepared water-proof envelopes printed with the name and parts number of every part that goes into a machine gun.

For nearly four years two presses, have operated constantly on war work. Sometimes all seven job presses in The Mail office were turning out these envelopes as well as other types of production forms for the war industries in Plymouth.

Frequently the presses have run Sundays, and sometimes all night in order to keep the machine gun parts moving steadily to the battle fronts.

There have been despairing times, times that made the hairs turn gray in order to see it that there was no delay in getting this material out.

As every one knows, the nine male employees of The Plymouth Mail composing room entered the armed forces at the beginning of the war. An entirely new staff had to be recruited, and if any one has had any experience in trying to find help in the past four years, they know something of the problem that faced The Plymouth Mail.

But one by one, an entirely new force was rounded up. At no time has The Mail had all of the printers and pressmen it needed, but these new workers "tore" into the job and saw to it that there was no delay in getting the machine gun envelopes and the production forms to the various war industries of this vicinity

"Mind" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Church throughout the world on Sunday, August 26. The Golden Text (Daniel 2:20, 21) is: "Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his: he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding." Among the Bible citations is this passage (Isaiah 2:4) "And he shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (467): "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."

Mills Circus Is Coming to Town Wars may come and wars may go, but the circus goes on forever! That, to paraphrase Tennyson a bit, is by way of saying that Mills Bros.' great three-ring cir- cuss is coming to town tomorrow, Saturday.

There will be two performances, given under the auspices of the Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion. The big tents will be raised at the Plymouth circus grounds on Plymouth road across from the Burroughs Adding Mach- ine plant.

The circus brings with it all the thrilling, alluring and won- derous features of the enchanted realm of sawdust and spangles. All new and different this year, and greatly enlarged in every de- partment, the Mills Circus, one of America's largest, has a roster of "big top" talent made up of names seldom seen outside the largest cities.

La Celeste lovely lady who is carried completely around the hip- podrome track with her head in the mouth of a great elephant, has been acclaimed by the public and press as the greatest circus "thriller" of modern times, for here a human being literally enters the jaws of death, taking her life in her dainty little hands for the en- tertainment of the public.

The entire performance inter- polated by the rib-ticking antics of Kenneth Waite's troupe of clowns, who stage a successful at- tack on melancholy and lessen the tension of the more thrilling parts of the circus.

Proceeds from the circus will go to help the Passage-Gayde Post send a boy from Plymouth to Boys' State, at Lansing next sum- mer.

The only living identical quadruplets are the 14-year-old daughters of the Carl Morloks of Lansing, Michigan. Although not as rare as the Dionne quintuplets, who also came from one egg cell and whose hereditary factors are likewise identical, the Morlok sisters are more interesting to science because they have always led a normal life, not having been fussed over, isolated from parents and playmates, and kept within a fenced area under an armed guard, like the Dionnes, during their most formative years.

TO THE SUPERVISOR OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN.

You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held Thursday, August 2, 1945, decide and determine that the certain sections of road described in the minutes of said Board, heretofore taken over as County Roads, should be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as public highways, reserving therein the easement as herein set forth.

The minutes of said meeting fully describing said sections of road are hereby made a part of this notice, and are as follows: "Minutes of the meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, held at 3800 Barlum Tower, Detroit, Michigan, at 10:00 A. M., Thursday, August 2, 1945:

Present: Commissioners Brown and O'Brien.

Commissioner O'Brien moved the adoption of the following resolution: WHEREAS, this Board has received a petition from seven freeholders of the Township of Plymouth for the abandonment and discontinuance of all of that part of Firwood Drive (formerly Parkway Drive) lying west of the westerly line of General Drive produced southerly to cross Firwood, as dedicated for public use in Eastlawn Subdivision of part of west 1/2 of east 1/2 of Section 26 and 35, Town 1 South, Range 8 East, Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan, as recorded in Liber 52 of Plats, Page 17, Wayne County Records, said road being a County road under the jurisdiction of this Board; and

Weddings

Alice Pinkerton and Robert Weber Wed Last Saturday Eve

Alice Genevieve Pinkerton, daughter of Mrs. Marshall T. Pinkerton, of this city, became the bride of Robert A. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weber, of Cincinnati, Ohio, at a wedding ceremony performed Saturday evening, August 18, at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church by the Rev. T. Leonard Sanders.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Henry H. Holcomb, of Rosedale Gardens. She wore a floor length gown of blue marquisette made with sweet-heart neckline, bracelet length sleeves and the bodice and sleeves were ruffled trimmed. The fitted skirt had a bustle effect in back and was trimmed with ruffles to the hemline. She wore a Mexican handmade mantilla and carried a white bible and orchid.

Mrs. Clarence Kessler, of Cincinnati, a sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of pink net with pink accessories and a coronet of blue flowers in her hair.

Robert Pinkerton, brother of the bride, was the best man.

A reception followed in the Jewell-Blach hall when about 80 guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Weber are spending two weeks at Batchewana Bay in Canada. For traveling Mrs. Weber wore a pink dress with black floral pattern and black accessories.

Emily Freda Saner Becomes Bride of Fred Casterline

At 8 o'clock, Saturday evening August 18 the wedding of Emily Freda Saner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Saner of Powell road, and Fred Casterline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Casterline of Northville took place in the St. Peter's Lutheran Evangelical church in Plymouth. The Rev. Edgar Hoencke performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Fred Balko, Jr., of Northville, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Roy Schultz of Ypsilanti and Madeline Saner, sisters of the bride, were the bridesmaids and Shirley Saner, another sister, was the flower girl.

The bridegroom was attended by Fred Balko, Jr., as best man and Julius Saner, Jr., brother of the bride, Elmer Bennett, of Salem and Ted Masters of Northville were the ushers.

A reception was held in the bride's home immediately after the ceremony with only the relatives present.

Mr. and Mrs. Casterline are in northern Michigan for two weeks after which they will reside on Dunlap street in Northville.

Charlotte Vredevelde Becomes Bride of S. Sgt. Robert Unger

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Unger have received word of the wedding of their son, S/Sgt. Robert Unger and Miss Charlotte Vredevelde, a Cadet Nurse whose home is in Zeeland, Michigan. The ceremony was performed in the Methodist parsonage at Dodge City, Kansas, on Thursday, July 26. They left on a wedding trip to Texas where the groom is stationed at Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, Texas. Mrs. Unger will return soon to her duties in Battle Creek.

Church Wedding For Zella Livingston And John Collon

The wedding of Mrs. Zella Livingston of this city and John Collon, of Caro, took place at noon, Monday, August 20, in the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth with the Rev. Henry J. Walch performing the ceremony. The altar was decorated with lighted tapers and baskets of white gladioli.

The bride was attired in a light blue wool crepe suit with which she wore black accessories. Talisman roses formed her corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Folsom of Rosedale Gardens, a sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, attended them. Mrs. Folsom wore an aqua blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A wedding lunch was served in the bride's home on Blunk avenue following the ceremony with covers laid for members of the family attending the service. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs.

Collon left for a few weeks stay in the upper peninsula before going on to Denver, Colorado, for a visit with his son, John Benson Collon, and family. They will then visit Yellowstone Park, Pemberton, Washington and San Francisco, California, where they plan to spend the winter months.

Mrs. Collon has been a buyer for the Taylor & Blyton store since its organization and Mr. Collon is a retired business man of Caro, having been in the furniture and undertaking for several years. They plan to make their home in Plymouth.

On Sunday open house was held in the home of Mrs. Livingston when members of the two families gathered. Among them being Mr. Collon's mother, Mrs. David Collon, of Bad Axe, Mrs. Irene Weller, of Berkley, Mrs. Stanley Crowson, of Pleasant Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Livingston and family of Royal Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lyke and family of Salem, Corp. J. M. Brackebury, of Fort Knox, Kentucky, and Mrs. Edythe McKinley of Caro.

Arline Hesse Becomes Bride of Wm. Reeder

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hesse of west Warren road, announce the marriage of their daughter, Arline May, to Pvt. William Reeder, USAAF at Biloxi, Mississippi, Tuesday, August 14. The bridegroom is the son of Wilson Reeder and the late Mrs. Reeder of Stockbridge.

Mrs. Reeder is staying at Biloxi while her husband is stationed at Keesler Field.

Both are graduates of the Plymouth high school and for the past year Mrs. Reeder has been employed with the Michigan Bell Telephone company in Plymouth.

Plymouth residents will be interested to know that Evelynne Baily, daughter of Mrs. Irene Baily of 15759 Evergreen, Detroit, both former residents of this city, on July 6 became the bride of Staff Sergeant Clarence H. Smith in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church in Phoenix, Arizona. After a wedding trip the bride returned to Luke Field and the groom went to Ft. MacPherson, Ga., where he is now stationed. The bride is a graduate of the Plymouth high school, with the class of 1929.

Mrs. Kenneth M. Lloyd and two sons, Luther and Kenneth of Youngstown, Ohio, will spend the week-end in the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Luther Peck.

AT LAST! A WELDER THAT PUTS THE HEAT IN THE ARC, NOT IN THE WELDER

The HI-LO A. C. Arc Welder

GIVES YOU TOMORROW'S WELDER TODAY

EASY TO SET RIGHT HEAT

The HI-LO MODEL 250 A-C. ARC WELDER can be set from 20 to 350 amperes, by simply turning one single handle, it will weld the lightest steel sheet to the very heaviest steel casting, without changing any "plug in taps", or changing one single thing except to turn the handle until the right welding heat shows on the one easy to read dial.

FORCED FAN VENTILATION

THE HI-LO A-C. ARC WELDER has been designed oversize in all its parts, especially corn iron and copper, eight coils instead of two or three as in conventional welders, however we have equipped THE HI-LO with a fan as an extra safeguard against over-heating.

With the Hi-Lo Your Money Goes Into the Welding Arc Where You Want it Not to Heat Surrounding Air

PURCHASE PRICE LOW

THE HI-LO A.C. ARC WELDER cost is low, see and try a HI-LO five days at our expense. There is no obligation on your part to buy, we wish you to try HI-LO in your shop. In that way you will learn more about its power and money making ability. Call and obtain a cheerfully conducted demonstration.

Soft, smooth, paper sheets and pillowcases for hospitals. These will take workers to produce.

Whole meals frozen and shipped in paper. How many jobs here?

Sturdy furniture made of paper--more jobs in paper mills.

Postwar Jobs--Wrapped Up in Paper!

WITH VICTORY, servicemen and war workers alike are going to need peacetime jobs. How many there will be, no one can say. But this much is known:

Business management has long since laid plans to meet as quickly as possible the demand for goods that has mounted during the war -- and doing this will make jobs by the thousands.

Consider what will happen in the paper industry. Not only will paper-board, for packing and shipping innumerable products, be needed by the thousands of tons, but new uses for paper--grown out of war discoveries--will even further increase that demand.

Imagine plasticized paper, for example, so tough that roofing tiles can be made of it. Imagine it so sturdy that it can be built into light-weight furniture. Imagine paper so soft, yet so resistant to tearing, that sheets and pillowcases for hospital use can be made of it.

These, and many other exciting new uses, will increase the demand for paper --and demand for goods makes jobs.

The paper industry is only one of many along the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Nickel Plate, and the Pere Marquette, that have planned carefully for postwar employment.

And now that Victory has been won, these industries and others throughout the country will put into operation their plans for the jobs and opportunities all of us want.

Appliance Shop Opens Next Week

The postwar period is here and postwar plans of one newcomer to the city, already are in full swing.

John Wimsatt, who prior to the war was in the wholesale building supply business in Detroit for eight years, will open an electrical appliance store at 287 South Main Street, next Friday.

The store will be known as the Wimsatt Appliance Shop.

It will deal in all sorts of electrical appliances, large and small, including refrigerators, radios, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, toasters, irons, lamps, lighting fixtures and such.

Wimsatt said he also will have a repair department for all electrical items. He expects to greatly expand the radio department when his brother, a radio and radar man in the Marines, returns from the Pacific.

For the last three years, Wimsatt, who hails originally from Kentucky, worked at the Bendix Aviation Corp., plant in Wayne.

Prior to that he was associated for eight years with his brother in the Wimsatt Bros., wholesale building supply firm, until he sold out his interest to try to enter the Army.

After the Army turned him down, he went to work with Bendix.

He said he always liked to tinker and that prompted him to go into the appliance business. And he figured Plymouth was a fertile territory for such a shop. He has taken courses in refrigeration and other electrical lines and feels he is well qualified to do any type of repair work.

What he may lack in stock when he opens, he expects to have in the very near future. Meanwhile, he'll have catalogues and will take orders for what he hasn't in stock.

He'll move here with his wife and two-year old son, John, Jr., as soon as he can find living quarters.

No Wastepaper Pickup Saturday

Due to the fact most of the city's Boy Scouts are absent on vacations, etc., there will be no wastepaper collection in Plymouth tomorrow Saturday.

However, that doesn't mean that Plymouth residents should let up in their salvage efforts, especially where wastepaper is concerned.

Wastepaper still is needed badly, despite the fact the shooting war is over. The war on shortages is NOT over.

Paper can very well become the chief bottleneck to order conversion the Wastepaper Industry Advisory Committee was told by Benton R. Cancell, chief of the Forest Products Bureau, of the WPB, at an emergency session in Washington while everyone else was taking a holiday the day after the Japs' capitulation was announced.

Cause of the bottleneck is the manpower shortage in the pulpwood producing industry, a shortage which is apt to get worse before it gets better, due to the imminent repatriation of prisoners of war who have been assisting in chopping down the trees.

So continue to save that wastepaper—every scrap of it—for the next collection, Sept. 29.

With End of War, Mail Terminates Its Free Service

The war is ended, victoriously for America. The millions of men in the armed forces are being redeployed to various army bases, many of them for immediate discharge and others for peacetime military services. Postal authorities have advised that newspapers will no longer be forwarded to men in the armed forces from their former addresses. It was four years ago in March when The Plymouth Mail began sending copies of The Mail to the boys in service. At the time service was started, it was believed that the total number would probably reach a hundred or thereabouts.

As the war progressed nearly a thousand copies of the papers were being mailed to Plymouth young men who had entered the armed forces. The Mail believes that with the war over, it has completed its "mission." It has been a big problem, especially in the early days of the war to send these papers, as each one had to be wrapped separately.

To Mrs. Walter Harms, Miss Charlotte Walker, Miss Elsie McLow and Mrs. Leslie Evans who volunteered to help address wrappers for many months. The Mail as well as the boys in service, express their appreciation.

Later the mailing became such a big problem that it was necessary to employ a regular force in The Mail office to do the work these patriotic young women had done so well and so willingly for several months.

The Plymouth Mail feels gratified in the extreme that this little service to Our Boys proved so satisfactory to them. No matter in what part of the world they were located, The Plymouth Mail went to them, in India, to Persia, to Australia, to Iceland, to the Aleutians, to Asia, Africa, and European countries.

Let us all pray that never again will it be necessary for a single young man from Plymouth or any other place in the world to enter into armed combat with any nation or any people.

With the returning of most of our boys to their homes and the end of the war, the soldier list of The Plymouth Mail is hereby terminated.

This newspaper is one of the very few in the state that extended this service to the young men in uniform.

High Rotary Official Here

Helmer Nelson, new Plymouth superintendent of schools, and Evedred Joffiffe, had the distinction last Friday of being welcomed into the Plymouth Rotary club by Harry O. Palmer, district governor of Rotary. Mr. Palmer, a prominent business man of Canada, was on his first official visit to the local organization and President Harold Curtis extended to him the courtesy of welcoming the new members into the club.

Briefly he told of the efforts of Rotary in world peace, of the hopes of the club to broaden its worldwide activities and of the restoration of Rotary in countries where it had been suppressed by the dictators.

"History is made by the activities of progressive minorities, such as Rotary," he said.

He predicted an amazing development in Rotary in the next few years and asserted that the club should devote its time and efforts in helping to maintain conditions that will permit peace to prevail for all time throughout the world.

Not long ago, a new Nazi method of financing subversive activity in this country was quickly discovered and stopped by the FBI and the Foreign Funds Control of the Treasury. The Germans produced several new issues of postage stamps and sent them to a shady American dealer through a Nazi agent in Argentina. Then the dealer, upon selling them, turned over the money to German agents living here.

Gerald Norgrove Returns Home

Gerald Norgrove, who has been in an anti-aircraft outfit over in the southwest Pacific for thirty months, returned home a few days ago on a 45 day furlough.

It is his first visit back to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Norgrove, 241 East Pearl street, for the first time in nearly four years. The anti-aircraft gunman has won for himself the rank of corporal, a good coat of tan and considerable more weight than he had when he enlisted in the armed forces.

"You can tell the folks of Plymouth and the rest of the world that I'm glad to be home. I will not know until I return whether I will be kept in the armed forces, but I do know I have more points than necessary in order to get out," he states.

Gold has been mined in nuggets that weighed more than 200 pounds and in particles so fine that ten billion of them barely weighed an ounce.

Have Hospital Beds For Use

Announcement has been made by the Myron H. Beals Auxiliary of the American Legion that it now has available for public use two hospital beds for families of veterans or others who are unable to secure this sick room necessity.

There are certain rules that must be complied with in order to secure the use of these beds. Any member of the Legion or of the Auxiliary can advise those who might be interested in using one of these beds how they may be secured.

Phone Call Home Is Visitor Prize

Too late for last week's edition, but nevertheless of timely interest, was a clipping sent to The Plymouth Mail from New York by John Blyton while he was in that city, showing a picture of Mary Donnelly of Plymouth visiting the canteen of the National Catholic Community Service at 17 East 51st street in New York.

The picture, published in the New York Daily Mirror, showed Miss Donnelly, who recently joined the WACS, and a soldier making telephone calls.

She was the 83,000th service guest and the soldier was the 83,000th visitor at the third anniversary of the K. of C. breakfast program at the canteen.

Miss Donnelly after her enlistment in the WACS was sent direct to the eastern seaboard for her training. The prize in being the 83,000th visitor was a telephone call to Miss Donnelly's home in Plymouth and a free call for the soldier to his home.

Another clipping was sent to the Mail by Frank F. Trombley, a former resident of Plymouth who is now in New York city associated with the Federal Telephone and Radio Corporation.

Ken & Ork Feeds Threshing Crew

How times do change! Time was when threshing day provided some of the best meals of the year on the farms.

Thanksgiving feasts were nothing like the roast beef or roast pork dinners the farmers' wives served when the threshing crews came to separate the wheat from the chaff.

There was generally great big hunks of braised beef or pork, new potatoes with rich, thick brown gravy, newly home baked bread, fresh blackberry, peach or apple pie—pie that was cut four pieces to a tin, and all of the other "fixins" that made a swell dinner for threshers.

But! Would you believe it! A threshing crew got their meals last week at Ken & Ork's! They drove into town and ate the same things that other folks eat.

The farmers' wives didn't have a thing they could serve—points, you know—so the farmers just called up Ken Grouth and said: "Ken, can you feed a threshing crew?"

Ken said he could feed anybody who was hungry. So 14 hungry threshers walked into his place the other noon and ate the same sort of a dinner anybody can get these days—and they went away thoroughly satisfied.

Maybe, if times keep on changing as they have, it will not be long before they'll be holding pink teas out under the old apple tree for the threshing crews of tomorrow.

A remarkable photograph of the U.S.S. Missouri, which was taken as six of her 16-inch guns fired salvo and which pictures the shells in flight, shows that, although such discharges appear to be simultaneous, there is a fraction of a second between the firing of the projectiles, so they will not collide in the air.

Phone Co. Aided Radar Victory

The Bell Telephone System through its research and manufacturing branches has served as the nation's largest single source of radars during the war, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company announced.

Radar is a powerful electronic "eye" which uses high-frequency radio echoes to determine the presence and location of unseen objects in space. The two main types of radar are: First, the "search" type which scans wide and distant areas to detect the approximate position of a target; and secondly, the "fire control" type which uses a narrow beam to determine precisely the position of the target so that shells can be aimed properly or bombs re-

Bell System radars point all large guns on U. S. Navy ships and were standard equipment on B-29's for navigation, target location and high altitude bombing in the Pacific. Anti-aircraft radar has played a major role in bringing down enemy aircraft and buzz bombs. The Bell System also developed and produced low altitude radar bombsights, used largely for attacking enemy shipping.

Up to June 30, 1945, Western Electric Company, manufacturer of the Bell System, had supplied to the government more than 52,900 radar systems of 64 different types, valued at more than $800,000,000. With the aid of hundreds of sub-contractors to which it provided specifications and details of manufacturing procedure, Western Electric has supplied more radars—all of them of Bell Telephone Laboratories design—than any other manufacturer.

Bell Laboratories has had a larger group of scientists and engineers than any other industrial organization working throughout the war in advancing the radar science and in designing new radars for the army and navy. Not only have more radar designs come from these laboratories than from any other industrial laboratory, but also a much larger volume of completely new and essential components have been developed there. In all, the Laboratories scientists and engineers have designed some 100 different radars for use by the army, navy and Marine Corps in all fields of application.

Every V-2 bomb launched by Germany against England consumes five tons of alcohol obtained from 50 tons of potatoes—the weekly ration of 25,000 people.

News of Our Boys In Armed Forces

PFC. ALVIN BUTLER LEAVES FRANCE FOR AMERICAN SHORES.

Pfc. Alvin F. Butler of 15323 Mayfield avenue, Plymouth, is on the first leg of his return to the United States after four months overseas. He has completed processing for redeployment at Camp Brooklyn, near Suippes, France, says a press release from France.

Pfc. Butler, a member of the 767th Field Artillery Battalion, will receive a furlough at home prior to departing for the Far East.

His records, physical condition, personal clothing and equipment have been checked and appropriate corrective measures applied as part of the processing given every man being redeployed in the Assembly Area command. The 17 tent camps in the area, each named after an American city, process about 8,000 men daily.

The 767th landed at LeHavre, France, on March 11, 1945, and proceeded by way of Dieppe, where the outfit stayed for two weeks, to Trier, Germany. Assigned there to the XXIII Corps in the 15th Army sector, the unit engaged in occupation duty over a wide area until ordered to Camp Brooklyn.

DECORATIONS FOR CAPTAIN DENTON WINS HEROIC ACHIEVEMENTS.

Capt. Carlton G. Denton, commanding officer of B Battery of the 482nd AAA AW Bn has been decorated by the Commanding General of the famed Ninth Armored Division, for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on 22 Dec. 44 near St. Vith, Belgium.

Capt. Denton was a member of the class of 1930 of Plymouth High School and entered military service with the 210th CA (AA) Michigan National Guard. Battery B has an enviable record of twenty-three (23) German planes shot down and being the only anti-aircraft battery to participate in the seizing of the Ludendorff Bridge at Remagen. Battery B has also captured over 2500 German prisoners. Captain Denton is currently stationed in Munich, Germany.

SGT. CHARLES HIRSCHLIEB IS RETURNING HOME.

Sgt. Charles K. Hirschlieb, Plymouth, airplane mechanic with the First Fighter Group, oldest fighter outfit in the AAF, soon will leave for the United States for redeployment or release.

Sgt. Hirschlieb is a member of the 27th Fighter Squadron, which is one of the two squadrons which fought through two wars and 17 campaigns with the group. The 27th Fighter Squadron was one of the five units which were incorporated into the old First Pursuit Group when it was activated at Villanueve-Les Vertus, France, March 5, 1918. Among the famous fliers of World War I who were members of his squadron were Raoul Lufberry who originated fighter tactics used in this war, and Frank Luke, one of the most colorful fighter pilots of all time.

His squadron led the group for victories in this war, with a total of 182 enemy planes shot down by its pilots. The squadron was honored by being chosen to escort all of the principals of the Big Three Conference on the last leg pilots remained at Yalta, during their trip to Yalta, and the talks.

His group has a long string of "firsts," including: first to fly across the North Atlantic as a unit; first to shoot down an enemy plane over the North Atlantic; first to fly the P-38; first fighter ace in two world wars; first to fly a thousand missions in this theater.

Sgt. Hirschlieb has been overseas for more than a year and has participated in seven campaigns in the European-Mediterranean-Middle Eastern Theater.

FIGHTS JAP SUICIDE PLANES, ROBERT ROMANSKY WINS COMMENDATION.

Robert Romansky, seaman, first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Romansky, 8101 Newburg Rd., has received a letter of commendation from the commanding officer of a minecraft vessel in the western Pacific for untiring efforts in successfully carrying out his assignment during the Okinawa campaign.

The ship was under battle alert for nearly one-seventh of the 40-day stay in the Ryukyus Islands, fighting off Japanese air and sea suicide attacks. The auxiliary not only carried out her assigned mission, but shot down two enemy planes and assisted in downing a third.

An outstanding feat accomplished by a gun crew was to down a night suicide raider with six hits in only eight shots. The enemy twin-engine bomber was set afire. It crashed into the sea.

During a daylight attack, the ship's guns blasted the wing off an enemy plane and knocked it into the sea before it could plunge into a nearby vessel. One time the ship was under fire from an enemy shore battery, but moved out of range without casualty.

Besides the 12,000,000 foreigners sent to the Reich to work in war industries, the Nazis also transported approximately 300,000 men and 500,000 girls from the occupied countries and auctioned them off as chattel slaves at prices ranging from 10 to 15 Reichsmarks ($4 to $6) to housewives, farmers and small businessmen.

DONALD NORVIEL LANDS IN MIAMI FROM ITALIAN BASE.

Among the most enthusiastic observers of Army Air Forces' day down at Miami was a group of Michigan and Ohio soldiers, which included Pvt. Donald L. Norviel of 1101 Beech St., special reason: The Army Air Forces' Air Transport command was speeding them home from the wars.

Wiping out a distance of 7,300 miles as if by magic, the ATC planes put them into Miami Army Air field just hours after taking off at Casablanca, North Africa. Twenty-four hours later, the big ATC port of aerial debarkation had them on their way again for Camp Blanding, Fla. From Blanding, they move on by rail to centers nearer their homes, where they will be separated from service or given furloughs before taking on new assignments.

JOE BEACH WINS PROMOTION BECAUSE OF SKILL IN COMBAT.

Pfc. Joe R. Beach, husband of Mrs. Mary W. Beach, 14991 Bainbridge road, has been promoted from private in recognition of his skill and ability in combat against the Japanese in Northern Luzon. Pfc. Beach is a rifleman with Company E, 136th "Bearcat" Infantry Regiment, 33rd Division, states a news release from the headquarters of the 33rd Division on Luzon.

Pfc. Beach has participated in heavy combat against the Japanese in the mountains around Baguio, the summer capital of the Philippines.

Before his induction in Sept. 1944, Pfc. Beach was farming with his father. He received his basic training at Camp Hood, Texas, and joined the "Bearcat" Regiment on Luzon in May 1945.

Pfc. Beach is entitled to wear the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre Ribbon with one battle star, and the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with one battle star.

ROBERT FULTON SENT FROM OKINAWA TO A REST CAMP.

Robert L. Fulton, radioman, second class, USNR, of 8880 Hix Rd., is enjoying a rest in a rear area with other members of the crew of his vessel, which put in a strenuous two months on patrol at Okinawa, according to an announcement from the Pacific fleet headquarters.

Fulton, who has four campaign ribbons, has been in the Navy since 1943. For the last 19 months, he has served aboard a destroyer escort.

His ship, a veteran of a year's convoy duty in the Atlantic and Mediterranean, has participated in three major Pacific invasions. She has to her credit two enemy aircraft, both shot down in the Okinawa campaign.

NORMAN DAGGETT NOW STATIONED IN BERLIN, GERMANY.

Entering Berlin with elements of Major General Floyd L. Park's First Airborne Army, occupying force in the former German capital, was Norman W. Daggett of 528 Maple street.

Headed by General Parks, Brigadier General Paul Ransom, Chief of Staff from Galesburg, Ill., and Brigadier General Stuart Cutler, of Auburn, New York, Commandant of Headquarters Command, the Quartermasters joined with the combined force of paratroopers and gliderists and marched into the American sector of the city that was taken some months ago by the Russian Army.

Forming a part of the supply division, headed by Lieut. Col. Roy N. Bailey, of East St. Louis, Mo., the Quartermaster men will assist in the supplying of the headquarters unit. Procuring food, clothing and office equipment the 4143rd Quartermaster company is assigned the task of adequately maintaining both the Berlin District Headquarters and the Military Government, headed by Lieut. Col. Frank Howley, of Philadelphia, former governor of both Cheshburg and Paris.

The former airborne fighters of First Airborne Army in the new assignment as Headquarters Berlin District, will provide the military security for the occupational government. Guarding against possible sabotage, uprisings by Nazi fanatics, and looting by German criminals, the airborne men will generally maintain discipline and law and order among the conquered peoples.

Coordinating the procurement of food and clothing and directing the rebuilding of the former German capital, the First Airborne Army and the 4143rd Quartermaster Service company were assigned as military occupants of Berlin shortly after the capitulation of Germany. Beginning the movement towards Berlin several months ago the troops have progressed rapidly through several of Germany's larger cities, reaching the final staging area for the now historic occupation.

FORMER NEWBURG BOY IN OUTFIT THAT WON PRESIDENTIAL CITATION.

Pfc. Charles M. Rivers, of 8241 Hugh St., Garden City, former Newburg boy who attended Plymouth high school, is a member of the 80th "Blue Ridge" Infantry 2nd Battalion of the 318th Infantry Regiment, which recently received the coveted Presidential Unit Citation in the name of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, as announced in orders of the War department, Washington, D. C., signed by Chief of Staff General of the Armies George C. Marshall. The decoration accompanying the citation is a gold-framed blue ribbon, worn on the right chest, the only American decoration so worn.

Led by youthful Lt. Col. Glenn H. Gardner of Parkersburg, W. Va., the 2nd Battalion of the 318th Infantry Regiment relentlessly ground through the ring of Nazi steel around Bastogne to reach the encircled garrison within the city. The vital, valiant role of the battalion in this epic drive which stemmed the tide of Von Rundstedt's winter offensive will go down in military annals as one of the finest chapters in the glorious history of the United States Army.

The battalion's official citation, dated April 8, 1945, reads in part: "The battalion was heavily engaged with the enemy in the vicinity of Eitelbruck, Luxembourg, when it was withdrawn from the front lines for the movement to the Bastogne, Belgium area. Its effective rifle-fighting strength had been reduced to 200 men. Attacking on Christmas day after several days without rest, the battalion began its assault of the enemy positions encircling Bastogne, Belgium. Throughout the next four days and three nights the depleted battalion battled its way through the strongly held woods and villages separating our troops from the besieged forces in Bastogne. The stubborn resistance of

Japs' Fanaticism
Is Explained by
Sgt. Earl Wilson

To qualify as an American Marine, a man must kill either his father or mother.

That's the sort of propaganda with which Jap commanders filled their soldiers and in part explains their fanaticism, according to Marine Staff Sgt. Earl H. Wilson, 23, who has just returned to Plymouth after 26 months in the Pacific.

"While I myself didn't hear that direct from any Jap prisoners," Wilson said, "Several of my buddies told me of having been told that by the prisoners.

"I did ask some Jap prisoners what they feared most and they said it was the American aviators. They said our fliers were unfair. They couldn't appear to understand why we bombed them. They couldn't get away from our bombs, they said."

The former Plymouth High School athlete told of seeing whole families leap off cliffs, hand-in-hand, rather than face capture.

Wilson, son of Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, of 681 Deer street, said he never did get to see Art Russell, whom he had told in a letter of having seen in the distance on Tarawa.

"When I went back to find his outfit after things had died down, they had already left the island," he said. "I never was able to locate several other Plymouth boys whom I knew to be nearby, either. I just couldn't catch up with them."

He told of seeing the grave of Ronald Tobey on Tinian, about a month after he was killed, and of photographing it. Tobey was a friend of the Wilson family.

A mess sergeant, Wilson said he would much rather tote a 50 caliber machine gun. He applied for that branch, but never was able to make it.

He did get plenty of action, though, since in the Marines a man is a fighter first and then a specialist (cook, etc.) During a campaign, cooks and everybody else are in actual combat.

Wilson told of showing some prisoners pictures of the American flag flying on Okinawa and Iwo Jima.

"They wouldn't believe the pictures, though," he said. "They called them propaganda. But apparently those atom bombs made believers of them."

"Now that they have been brought to their knees, I can tell you, I knew it wouldn't be long. I saw the power we had amassed at our advanced Pacific bases, and I don't see how they could have stood up against us very much longer."

Coming home, he said, made him feel very morbid. He described it as being "all fouled up."

"Missing all the guys you knew when you come home sure does something to you," he said. "It just isn't the same. I miss especially my cousin, Harold Leach, who was killed serving in the Naval Airforce. Losing him was just like losing a brother. We grew up together."

Wearing the Presidential Unit Citation for the battle of Tarawa and battle stars for that battle and the Tinian campaign, he wouldn't say whether he had "got" any Japs.

However, he did admit: "There are very few Marines out there who haven't gotten their quota—and it's open season on Japs."

He also disclosed that shortly before Roosevelt died there was some "scuttlebutt" that the President had promised a big surprise for the Marines in the Pacific. The promise was supposed to have been taken over by Mr. Truman. He said they're still waiting and hoping for the surprise.

Wilson worked at the Daisy plant before enlisting, April 2, 1942. He's on a 30-day leave, after which he'll leave, Sept. 4, for limited duty with the Marine detachment at Annapolis.

At Plymouth High School, from which he was graduated in 1940, he was a member of the football, basketball and track teams.

He's hoping to see a post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars established here in Plymouth. He joined the VFW at Pearl Harbor.

Gas Stations Do
Big Business

The announcement of the end of gasoline rationing last week Wednesday brought an avalanche of business to those stations which were open.

Several stations opened for business as soon as they heard that gas rationing had been lifted. Very shortly after the first announcements were made over the radio, most of the gas stations that were open had long lineups waiting to get gas.

The "land office" business continued until they either closed for the evening or ran out of gasoline. Released from the restraints that had held them near home for nearly three years, auto owners just couldn't resist the urge to say "fill'er up" again.

Officials said, as rationing was lifted, that there is plenty of gas available. However, fires probably will remain on the ration list for at least three months. The rules will be somewhat liberalized though.

Fuel oil, oil stoves and all blue-point foods, including canned goods, fruits and vegetables, also were removed from rationing.

Meats, fats and oils, butter, sugar and shoes, however, will continue on the rationing list until perhaps as late as mid-1946. It is expected, of course that rationing of such items will be relaxed gradually.

It may be possible to take some grades of beef off the ration list by next winter. Continued acute shortages in war-torn areas of Europe and the Pacific, unchanged by the war's end, makes the continuation of rationing necessary.

Air Medal Won by Lieut. Mettetal

Mrs. Robert Mettetal has just been advised that her husband, Lieut. R. J. Mettetal, has been decorated with the Air Medal for meritorious achievements in the South Pacific air forces.

Mrs. Mettetal was delighted when she received the letter from General George C. Kenney, commander of the U. S. army forces in that area, telling her of the honors won by her husband.

He enlisted in October, 1942 and has been overseas since June, 1943. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Mettetal of Lilley road. Lieut. and Mrs. Mettetal are the parents of two small children, Nancy Lee, three years old, and Bobby, eight months old, who has never yet seen his father. Mrs. Mettetal is the former Jane Compton.

General Kenney's letter follows: "Dear Mrs. Mettetal: "Recently your husband, Lieutenant Robert J. Mettetal, was decorated with the Air Medal. It was an award made in recognition of courageous service to his combat organization, his fellow American airmen, his country, his home and to you."

"He was cited for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flights in the Pacific Area from March 8, 1945 to May 30, 1945.

"Your husband took part in sustained operational flight missions during which hostile contact was probable and expected. These operations, consisting of bombing missions against enemy airfields and installations as well as attacks on naval and cargo vessels, aided considerably in the recent successes in this theatre.

"Almost every hour of every day your husband, and the husbands of other American women, are doing such things as that here in the Pacific.

"Theirs is a very real and very tangible contribution to victory and to peace.

"I would like to tell you how genuinely proud I am to have men such as your husband in my command, and how gratified I am to know that young Americans with such courage and resourcefulness are fighting our country's battle against the Japanese aggressors.

"You, Mrs. Mettetal, have every reason to share that pride and gratification."

News of Our Boys

the enemy and well dug-in positions required constant use of the bayonet and hand grenade in their destruction. Suffering heavy casualties, constantly exposed to raking enemy machine gun and small arms fire from flanking positions the battalion fought on with an unrelenting determination that overcame all obstacles, routed the enemy and established contact with the forces within Bastogne. The aggressiveness of the heroic infantrymen of the Second Battalion, 318th Infantry Regiment reflects the finest traditions of the Army of the United States."

History was first written by the renowned battalion when, fighting beside the 80th Division's 317th Infantry it smashed into Argentinian to close the Argentinian-Faaise Gap and liquidated the Shattered Seventh Army in the shattered remnants of the trapped greatest Nazi debacle in the entire Battle of France.

Dashing across France with other 80th "Blue Ridge" units in the vanguard of General George S. Patton's 3rd Army, the blue ribboned battalion participated in the bloody Moselle River fighting of September 1944 and the 80th's successful surprise frontal assault of 1400-foot high Delme Ridge in the campaign to outflank Metz.

Piercing the Maginot Line within one hour and twenty-five minutes after launching their attack and playing a prominent part in rolling up the Germans on the Lorraine plain to open the rich Saar Basin for the Allies, the "Blue Riders" roared northward 150 miles to Luxembourg to halt Von Rundstedt's winter threat and play their historic role in the relief of Bastogne. Upholding their battle-coined division motto, "The 80th Only Moves Forward," the honored battalion went on to fight in the fierce Our and Sauer River crossings, twice smashed the Siegfried Line, and added its weight to the fall to the 80th Division and the Third Army of such key German cities as Bitburg, St. Wendel, Kaiserslautern, Weisbaden, Kassel, Erfurt, Weimar, Jena and Gera. V-E Day found the battalion south of the Danube, after the Third Army's southeastward shift and across the Inn River at Braunau, Austria, birthplace of Hitler and the Nazi scourge. Numerous awards, in addition to its Presidential Unit Citation, of the Congressional Medal of Honor, Distinguished Service Crosses, Silver and Bronze Star Medals for heroism totaling over 300, make the 2nd Battalion of the 318th Infantry one of the most highly decorated combat units in the European Theater of Operations.

At stock Auction

Herman Bakhaus, John Schifle, and Irving Johnson, manager of the Cesor farms on Grand River near New Hudson, owned by Charles E. Sorenson, have returned from Kansas City where they attended the National Hampshire Type conference and auction of pedigreed hogs.

One boar for the Cesor farms was purchased at the stock conference, the price being around the $500 figure.

Mr. Bakhaus states that interest in the development of high bred porkers throughout the country is rapidly increasing.

Attorney Perry Richwine accompanied the three who attended the Hampshire conference, to look after some legal matters he is interested in near Kansas City. We cannot eat the fruit while the tree is in blossom.

How Plymouth Men Far Out In Pacific Received News Of Jap Surrender

"The motion picture show was just over. The picture we saw was 'The Valley of Decision'. Then came the word that the Japs were willing to surrender if we let Hirohito still rule. All Hades broke loose!"

news broke as to Japan's intentions, telling vividly of the way the news was received by the naval forces stationed in that distant part of the world. Lieut. Kenneth Gust, of the U. S. Navy, in his description of the night of wild celebration among American fighting lads, continued: "All the ships in the harbor turned on their searchlights that lighted the sky as clearly as day. Then all the ships began firing rockets and star shells. These were of all colors and the sky was filled with them for about three hours. "It was a spectacle one who saw it will never forget. I sure wish everybody in Plymouth could have seen it. It was TERRIFIC. "All work immediately ceased and everybody on every boat celebrated—and how they celebrated! "Consequently we had holiday routine today (the day after) so everyone could rest up a bit, as everyone was up nearly all night celebrating. I am sure there must be a lot of bad headaches this morning. "Maybe it seems a little premature to you folks back home, but out here it seems only wonderful to all of us. It means that this war can't last much longer. Japan must be very weak or they would not have offered to surrender. "We could probably finish them off completely, anyway, in another month or so. I am sure we can if they will use a few more of those atomic bombs. It means that maybe we can be back home by Christmas, and if not by Christmas, surely by Easter. It is all so wonderful that we can hardly believe it. And what a great day it will be when all of the young men from Plymouth and the rest of these great United States have returned home.

John Blyton In New York During Celebration, Says It Was Thriller

"It was the most remarkable demonstration I ever saw in my life," asserted John Blyton of Taylor & Blyton just after his return from New York city where he witnessed the Jap surrender celebration. "As a matter of fact it really started early last week Tuesday morning. It continued all day. The intensity of the enthusiasm increased as the day wore on and when evening came, there are not sufficient words in the dictionary to describe it," said Blyton. "The stores began closing by noon. By midafternoon everything was closed tight. It was difficult to find a place to eat. "The shower of paper started early in the day and it wasn't many hours before the streets were completely covered. Newspapers later said the city removed 385 tons of paper from Times Square alone. "It was not only an amazing sight, but it was a thrilling one. There was no damage done anywhere in New York, said the papers, and I saw no rowdiness and no drunkenness. In the crowds were thousands and thousands of soldiers and sailors. The Jap surrender quickly ended my buying trip. There was no one interested in trying to sell anything, and as a matter of fact people who had gone to New York to do some buying for their stores, were not much concerned about buying anything. I'll have to go back later, but it will be after things have settled down a bit and we know what is coming on the market," said Mr. Blyton. "One thing is sure, the Jap surrender has driven the black market out of existence," he added.

Mrs. Harvey Aldridge and daughter, Bobby Jean of Detroit have been spending the past week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Simmons and Richard spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn, of Brighton. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Thompson of Dearborn, visited Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. MacIntyre. Mr. and Mrs. Don Ryder and Doris were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ayers, of Ann Arbor Trail. On Monday evening a surprise party was given by Mr. and Mrs.

Roy Kidston in honor of Mrs. Don Ryder, the occasion being her birthday. It was learned that four other birthdays will be celebrated this week so the celebration was a multiple one. The birthdays are those of Miss Doris Ryder, Miss Marjorie Lee Kidston, Mrs. Roy Kidston and Mr. Don Ryder. There were about 25 present at the party and everyone had a most enjoyable time.

Bee Keepers To Meet Sunday

Wayne and Oakland County Beekeepers Associations will hold a joint meeting on Sunday afternoon, August 26, starting promptly at 2 p. m., rain or shine. It will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bayless, 46500 West Eight Mile road, one half mile west of Northville's limits between Taft and Beck roads. This is a 40 acre farm, 23 acres of which is planted to many different kinds of fruit. He was keeper of Ford's bees for a number of years. The officers have succeeded in getting some of the best men in Michigan beekeeping for the program. Don Barrett, Chief Apiary Inspector, Russell Kelly, Extension Apiarist of Michigan State College, Floyd Markham of Ypsilanti, Mr. Victor, Queen breeder and Ruth Hoover of Clinton will be present. An invitation is extended to every beekeeper to be present at this meeting. You do not have to be a member of either association to attend. If you have any problem or criticisms be prepared to express yourself. With the list of speakers for this meeting it is very necessary to start promptly at 2 p. m. At the Frankenthuth meeting of August 2nd, the following members of Oakland and Wayne Association were present: Messrs. Markham, Good, Denis, Becker, Blakley, Staack, Tennessee, Pratt, Reiter, Brown, Godfrey, Sager, Willworth, Ezenke, Newman, and Gubert.

Killed During Iwo Jima Fight

Many former Plymouth friends and acquaintances of Pfc. Edward J. Palmowski, a former employe of the Allen Industries who resided with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goulder at 1135 Starkweather during his residence in Plymouth, will regret to learn that he was killed in action during the invasion of Iwo Jima. He enlisted in the army when 19 years of age and was sent from Plymouth to Camp Lee in April, 1942. He came here from Poughkeepsie, New York, where his mother lives at the present time. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ray, of 1125 Starkweather, who knew the young man well, have been advised that he was awarded the Silver Star (posthumously) for heroic action during the invasion. His captain has written to Mrs. Ray that a patrol the young soldier was with spotted a cave where several Japs were hiding. He volunteered to enter the cave and drive the Japs out. He did so, but was hit by a hand grenade and died from his wounds in a few hours. He was buried on Two Jima. During a recent four-months period, Franco permitted approximately 100,000 Germans in Spain to become Spanish citizens because they had helped the Falange Party.

Floyd Schroeder Wins Air Medal

Floyd Schroeder

In a letter from General George C. Kenny, commander of the Allied Air forces in the Southwest Pacific area, Mrs. Bertha N. Schroeder, 645 Forest avenue, highly commends her son, Staff Sergeant Floyd W. Schroeder, for his services in connection with aerial operations in the war against the Japs.

The letter came as a result of the awarding to S. Sgt. Schroeder of the Air Medal. "Dear Mrs. Schroeder: Recently your son, Staff Sergeant Floyd W. Schroeder, was decorated with the Air Medal. It was an award made in recognition of courageous service to his combat organization, his fellow American airmen, his country, his home and to you.

"He was cited for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flights in the Southwest Pacific Area from March 27, 1945 to June 12, 1945. "Your son took part in sustained operational flight missions during which hostile contact was probable and expected. These flights included bombing missions against enemy installations, shipping and supply bases, and aided considerably in the recent successes in this theatre.

"Almost every hour of every day your son, and the sons of other American mothers, are doing just such things as that here in the Southwest Pacific.

"There is a very real and very tangible contribution to victory and to peace. "I would like to tell you how genuinely proud I am to have men such as your son in my command, and how gratified I am to know that young Americans with such courage and resourcefulness are fighting our country's battle against the Japanese aggressors. "You, Mrs. Schroeder, have every reason to share that pride and gratification. "Sincerely, George C. Kenney."

Although the larger floating drydocks of the U.S. Navy are too wide to enter the locks of the Panama Canal, the job of towing one through this waterway was accomplished recently by filling one of its hollow side walls with water and tilting the huge craft on its side.

"SOON!— Will be turning on the electric life"

"We've just bought a house—and we're awfully anxious to move in. For that house was built before the war by a man who recognized the wonderful advantages of electric living . . . and he built and equipped it for full use of electricity. It has an all-electric kitchen . . . I'll certainly put that dishwasher to work for me! And, of course, it has the biggest labor-saver of all—an all-electric laundry. I think I'll find it a little hard at first to get used to the convenience of frozen food storage and all it means in making shopping and planning meals easier. Of course the house is air-conditioned. And the lighting is a dream! The whole spirit of such living is modern to the utmost . . . we're going to be living as we never have before!"

ELECTRIC KITCHEN There is a wealth of enjoyment in the all-electric kitchen with an automatic electric range, electric refrigerator, electric dishwasher and electric garbage disposal unit.

ELECTRIC LAUNDRY Any day or every day can be an almost effortless washday with an all-electric laundry. The electric dryer and ironer do away with long hours and fatigue.

FROZEN FOOD STORAGE Frozen food units for the home are on the way—compact units that will keep food-stuffs indefinitely. The family can have fresh foods at any season.

AIR-CONDITIONING Proper year-round temperature in the home, together with removal of dirt and dust, is the advantage in electric air-conditioning.

Electric equipment is not generally available for sale now. Some is being manufactured and distributed. It will be to your advantage to have your name on your electrical dealer's list, so that you will be able to get it at the earliest possible time.

J. T. Sheafor

Jean T. Sheafor, of Detroit, secretary and treasurer of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, will speak at the Plymouth Rotary club meeting at the Mayflower hotel, today, Friday noon.

Sheafor will speak on Michigan Bell's $120,000,000 postwar expansion and improvement program with particular reference to its application to the Plymouth exchange.

Starting as a student clerk in the company's Detroit business office, Sheafor went with the Michigan Bell soon after his graduation from the University of Wisconsin. He was successfully district manager, special agent, and assistant to the president in charge of personnel and public relations. He became secretary and treasurer for the company in 1940.

Active in civic affairs, Sheafor long has been identified with the Detroit Community Fund and War Chest, having served as general chairman of its campaign organization and as a member of its board of directors.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—ORDER OF THE CONSERVATION COMMISSION—POINT MOUILLEE STATE GAME AREA—MONROE AND WAYNE COUNTIES.

To facilitate the orderly management of public hunting and other recreational activities the Pointe Mouillee State Game Area shall be divided into three units described as follows:

Seek Public's Aid on 'Depredations'

An "unusual increase in depredations and nuisances committed by juveniles" has caused the Michigan Railroad Police Association to issue a plea to parents, school authorities and other groups to aid in an educational program to bring an end to the condition.

"The railroad police dislike very much to appeal to the Courts and would much prefer to curtail these depredations and injuries by educational programs," said Patrolman James Gillis, of the Pere Marquette's Plymouth branch.

In this connection, school authorities, parents, service groups, patriotic citizens and churches could render a real patriotic service by insisting that their children stay away from railroad rights-of-way," he added.

An increase in fatalities, particularly to children, ages five to 12, and personal injuries to passengers, employees and others, as well as damage to property, are also cited as reasons for the necessity of seeking aid in the educational program.

The tremendous task of protecting against sabotage, coupled with the loss of many of its experienced men to the armed forces, by retirement, etc., has contributed to the inability of the association to carry on the type of program in safety and delinquency prevention such as was done prior to the war.

Through its Safety Committees, in collaboration with local, county and State law enforcement agencies, the Michigan Railroad Police Association has utilized every possible means to protect the safety of school children, the traveling public, railroad employees, and others.

"With the many school children throughout the State on vacation," said Gillis, "it is the purpose of the association to place these facts before the public in the hope they will give their fullest co-operation in the curtailment of such acts."

The general run of serious acts committed, which have resulted in accidents involving delays to trains carrying troops and vital materials are:

1.—Switch lights, signal lights, etc., are being made targets for boys throwing stones, using slingshots, beebee guns or .22 rifles. These signals play an important part in the movement of trains. Unprotected switches, because of damaged signal lights, cause delays and may result in train wrecks, causing loss of life and damage to irreplaceable materials and property.

2.—Removal of dope from journal boxes or placing of sand and gravel in them, likewise can cause serious consequences. Removal of car carding and breaking of railroad, private or government war department seals on cars carrying vital war materials results in serious delays, causing badly needed materials to miss their scheduled connections.

3.—Throwing of stones, shooting guns or rifles at cabooses and moving trains usually results in injury to both railroad employees and passengers. Injuries sustained in this or any other manner causes a badly needed worker to lose time from his duties.

Placing of obstructions and tampering with switches produce the same results. Throwing of stones, damaging insulators, has a very serious effect towards disrupting communications.

Building fires in empty box cars is another serious matter which can cause undeterminable loss of property, life and facilities and tie up railroad cars which are so urgently needed.

THE JOB AHEAD

The news that made August 14 a never-to-be-forgotten date in history has been followed by glorious days of rejoicing and thanksgiving.

Now, as we enter the long-awaited era of peace, we face new tasks, new responsibilities—new opportunities. Immediately ahead is the job of swift reconversion to civilian production.

Your Telephone Company has its reconversion problem, too. For Michigan Bell has been on a war footing through all the 44 months since Pearl Harbor. The needs of war took over the raw materials and manufacturing facilities which normally would have allowed us to expand. At the same time, the armed forces and war industry required a vastly increased use of the telephone.

Under those circumstances, there was just one thing for Michigan Bell to do—take care of war needs and essential civilian needs first. All of them were met. But in many instances we were unable to provide telephone service to others who asked for it.

The patience and understanding of the public throughout the war has served as a constant encouragement to our 14,000 employees and has helped them maintain a traditionally friendly and courteous service under trying circumstances. We are grateful for the tolerance of those who have had to do without a telephone, or have had service from us that was not as good as we wanted it to be.

Now we mean to remedy conditions just as fast as we can. We are tackling the job with all we have.

Even in the dark days when victory seemed far away, Michigan Bell engineers were busy designing a post-war program. Their plans call for spending $120,000,000 for expansion and improvement in the next five years—to provide all needed service—to catch up with normal growth and assure safe margins for future development—to utilize scientific improvements—to extend the rural telephone system.

The program will include the erection in Michigan of 46 new buildings and major additions to present buildings, the purchase and installation of $50,000,000 worth of switchboards and other central office equipment, the placing of long distance cable containing 50,000 miles of wire, and local cable containing 2½ million miles of wire—enough wire to encircle the earth a hundred times.

We recognize as our first obligation the supplying of service to 125,000 Michigan families whose orders have been held up because of war. But this part of the job, too, will take time.

Bell System's Western Electric Company—manufacturers of vital communications equipment for both Army and Navy, makers of 5,000,000 military telephone sets for war use, biggest producer of radar systems—is already reconverting its huge factories to the production of civilian telephone equipment to speed relief of the serious telephone shortage.

Nearly half of the waiting applicants can be served as soon as enough telephone instruments roll off the production line—a matter of months. But telephones are only part of the need. To fill the other orders, cable must be produced, placed and spliced; complex central office equipment must be engineered, manufactured and installed in telephone buildings. Much of this manufacturing and installation involves hand-soldered connections—millions of them—and it must be done in close quarters where only one or two men can work at a time. It's a long slow process.

Many of the projects in our post-war program are already engineered and the equipment ordered. The job is started. It will be accelerated as rapidly as manufacturing facilities, materials and trained men become available.

We already are hiring and training inexperienced men and we hope to have back with us soon our 2,800 experienced employees still in the armed forces. The expansion program will mean jobs ultimately for about 2,000 new workers in addition to our own returning veterans. Thousands of other workers employed by contractors and suppliers will also benefit from Michigan Bell's program.

While the work will be pushed forward with as little delay as possible, we still must ask your co-operation and your patience. The magnitude of the manufacturing and installation job is such that many of those now waiting will not have telephone service for a long time. It may take as much as two years before telephones can be installed generally without delay.

We intend to keep the public advised as to the progress we are making, not only in meeting immediate needs but in moving toward our long-range objectives. And with every confidence we look forward to the day when we again can provide good telephone service whenever and wherever it is wanted.

Babson Says - -

Discusses Atomic Bomb
Babson Park, Mass., August 24.—World War II is over. Numerous scares may occur in connection with working out details, especially during the Peace Conference when the spoils will be divided amongst the United Nations. I am just as certain, however, that these coming threats will amount to nothing, as I was last year when I said: "Germany will collapse next Spring and Japan a few months later." Last week, when the news of Japan's surrender came, I wrote a column for farmers, who, I fear will be the greater sufferers from an economic standpoint. This week I will write for investors.

Securities To Avoid
Considering industry as a whole, peace must be bullish. If destruction and death are bearish, the end of World War II must result in improved fundamental conditions. Of course, certain war industries, such as shipping, aircraft and munitions, face a tremendous readjustment. On the other hand, these stocks have already discounted much of this readjustment. In fact, the total value of the stocks of some of these companies are selling for less than the net liquid assets of the companies. However, even this is no assurance that their stocks will not sell at even lower figures than at present.

The industry, which is strictly a war industry, which has not yet discounted peace is the railroads. I have already called readers' attention to this; but I again say that railroad stocks and second-grade railroad bonds are selling too high. It is true they may have another good year in "getting the boys home", but they are threatened both by lower earnings and higher operating costs. Railroad securities which paid dividends before the war may be expected to continue to do so. But the "war babies" will soon begin to pass their dividends. I believe the stocks of all railroads—good and bad—will go off in price.

Tax Legislation All Important
Now that World War II is over, Congress should immediately reconvene and repeal the war taxes, especially the greater portion of the excess-profits tax. For political reasons I presume all taxes must be reduced somewhat so that all groups will receive some relief. This reduction, however, should be in proportion to their former increases. Thus, the excess-profits tax could be 80% reduced against a 20% reduction in other taxes and yet all groups would be treated alike.

Unless Congress very soon greatly reduces the excess-profits tax, many industries will be obliged to shut down causing much unemployment. Surely the labor situation has now been entirely changed. Already newspaper advertisements, that heretofore asked for more employees, are being pulled out of the papers; while the "Jobs Wanted" columns have begun to increase. Employers need no longer worry about the help situation; but workers may well change their attitude. If you now have a job; give your employers the best service possible.

Atomic Bombs
Now let us consider the possible long-range effects of the new Atomic Bomb on investments. Briefly these are as follows: The Atomic Bomb is bearish on downtown city real estate, but bullish on suburban and country property. It is bearish on the airplane manufacturing industry, but bullish on the automobile industry. It is bearish upon large department stores, but bullish on chain stores. It is bearish on naval developments, but should help peaceful pursuits. The Atomic Bomb should aid appropriations for high school and college science courses; but it will kill present plans for compulsory universal military training. It is a warning to investors in public utilities to watch cash book values.

It these Atomic Bombs are as powerful as the reports indicate, it means that a world organization with teeth is absolutely essential to save civilization. The manufacture of these bombs cannot be kept secret. Every nation will know how to make them. There will be bootlegging in Atom! However, even this is bullish and insures world peace for a long time to come, if accompanied by a spiritual awakening. Hence, I am more optimistic today than for many years.

Celebrate 59th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson last Thursday received congratulations of their host of friends, the day marking their 59th wedding anniversary. The day was spent quietly at their attractive home on Bradner road. Both Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are in fairly good health, although Mr. Robinson has found it necessary to spend a few days now and then in the University of Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor.

This "young" couple were married back in the days when Mr. Robinson provided the only type of transportation this district had outside of a railroad to Detroit. He ran the livery stable and his village "hack" met all the trains and took Plymouth visitors to and from the old Plymouth house to the depot.

"We're going to celebrate many more of them", Mr. Robinson told his friends the next day at the meeting of the Rotary club when he was reminded of the event by a fine.
