Weddings

Rosedale Church Scene of Wedding for Detroit Couple

T/Sgt. Stanley Golemboski, of 18712 Waltham avenue, Detroit, brother of Mrs. Jane Sawka, recently returned from the Canal Zone after 34 months, to take as his bride, Rose Marie Klarich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Stimach of 6340 Floyd, Detroit, on Aug. 18 in St. Michael Church in Rosedale Gardens. The altar was banked with white gladioli and palms.

The bride chose a gown of white satin with an illusion yoke edged in lace. A full net skirt and train further distinguished her gown. Her fingertip veil of illusion net fell from a Juliet cap trimmed with clusters of orange blossoms and she carried a spray of white roses and gladioli.

The maid of honor, Janet Sawka, niece of the bridegroom, and bridesmaid, Ann Bogatay, wore identical gowns of white net with fitted bodices, a peplum, and full skirts. The maid of honor wore fuchsia accessories and the bridesmaid wore powder blue. Both carried colonial bouquets of red roses in white gladioli.

Rudolph Cadez, brother in law of the bride, was best man and T/Sgt. Michael Yanok, Jr., served as usher.

The wedding breakfast and reception were held in the home of the bride. The newlyweds left for Northern Michigan on their honeymoon.

Ruth Parmalee United in Marriage To Wilford Robinson

The wedding of Ruth Nan Parmalee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Parmalee, of Sheridan avenue and Wilfred Robinson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Robinson, of Powell road, was solemnized at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. VonStein, their neighbors, in the presence of 80 relatives and friends. The service was read by the Rev. Mark F. Sanborn of the First Baptist church before a profusion of azalea mums and phlox and a background of lovely shrubs.

Mrs. M. J. O'Conner played the wedding march.

White organdie, made in princess style with lace trimmed jacket having short sleeves, was worn by the bride. Her fingertip veil of net fell from an embroidery band having tiny bows at either side of the head. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. LeRoy Felton of Phoenix, Ariz., attended her sister as matron-of-honor, and another sister, Allene Parmalee, was the bridesmaid. Both wore gowns having bodies of flowered silk taffeta and skirts of white net. They carried pink roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Pvt. Bowen Gover of Detroit, as best man and Lieut. Jack Wilcox.

Mrs. Parmalee wore an aqua crepe dress and Mrs. Robinson wore a blue print. Salmon pink gladioli centered with white rosebuds formed their corsages.

A reception was held on the Parmalee lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are living in Ann Arbor, where he will enter the University of Michigan as an engineering student. He was recently discharged from the army after having been stationed in Germany.

The facts about the ELECTRIC APPLIANCE SITUATION

People come into our offices—and to department stores, hardware stores and other appliance dealers—with one question uppermost in their minds: "When can I get a new electric iron? Or an electric clock? Or a washer? I understand they're being made again. And I've seen them advertised in the magazines."

Here are the facts about the electric appliance situation. Manufacturers are resuming production of a limited number of appliances. Until they can reconvert their plants to full peacetime operation, the number built during the first few months will be small.

The demand will far exceed the supply. At least at first, what appliances are available will be spread so thin among the various appliance dealers that there will be very few on any one dealer's shelves. It may be a year before the supply is plentiful—perhaps longer. The first appliances released by manufacturers will go to department stores, hardware stores, home appliance shops, etc.—dealers whose very existence depends upon the sale of merchandise. The Detroit Edison Company—because it handles appliances only incidentally to its principal business of selling electric service—will be among the last to get them. Our policy has always been "See your dealer first." Until the dealers' shelves are stocked, we shall have very few electric appliances for sale.

Please remember that your dealer's supply will be short. He is anxious to sell you the appliances you want, but he can obtain no more than his limited allotment. We are equally anxious to have electric appliances once more available for all who want them. We hope the time may not be too far off.

THE DETROIT EDISON CO.

Your dealer will be glad to give you helpful information about the particular appliance you want, and answer any questions you may have. When new electric appliances are again available, he will help you select the model to fit your needs.

Mr. Farmer! You Had Better Hurry!

If there are any farmers in this part of Wayne county who desire to take advantage of the AAA new Federal insurance program to cover their fall wheat planting, they had better hurry.

For the vicinity of Plymouth and the rest of Michigan, the final day for filing applications on the 1946 winter wheat crop is September 15.

Chairman Fred Ernest of the Wayne County AAA says there were eleven authorized agents appointed to sell the federal crop insurance in Wayne county. If these agents have not yet called upon you, it would be well to contact the county AAA office in Wayne before September 15, if you are planting fall wheat and want to get in on this bit of government subsidy.

Highlights of the set-up under the new crop insurance program are:

1. Farmers may file applications for crop insurance with a sales agent appointed by the county AAA committee, or at the county AAA office.

2. Crop losses should be reported to the county AAA office, which is responsible for administrative details of the program.

3. Inspection of crop damage and adjustments of losses will be made by the local adjuster for the county, supervised by the State Crop Insurance Director.

Fishermen Get Longer Seasons

Plymouth's many fishermen who haven't been able to satisfy their fishing desires during the past few years and who in years gone by traveled to distant points to "try their luck," will be interested in knowing that many states have extended their fishing seasons. In fact in many states there is now year-round fishing for many kinds of fish.

Relaxed fishing regulations voted by the legislature in Michigan early this year fall short of those now in effect in 18 states where year-around fishing is permitted for all or some game fish species.

Fishermen in Michigan will benefit principally by a statute change effective next January 1 that will open all lakes except designated trout lakes north of M-46 to year-around fishing for species on which there is no closed season.

Emphasis is placed on protection of certain species of game fish, rather than on the closing of waters to all fishing during certain seasons of the year. For instance, closed seasons on black bass, bluegills, and sunfish remain unchanged.

The statute change liberalizes present law to allow year-around fishing for yellow perch, calico bass, bullheads, and other non-game species in such lakes. It will permit the taking of northern pike, walleyed pike, and muskellunge in such lakes from May 15 to March 15.

States that permit year-around taking of some game fish species, according to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, are:

Alabama—All-year fishing except for bass.

Florida—All-year fishing except for bass.

Georgia—All-year fishing for pan fish.

Illinois—All-year fishing for pan fish.

Kentucky—Year-around fishing for all species in impounded waters.

Louisiana—Year-around fishing for all species except bass and crappies.

Nebraska—Year-around fishing for all species, including bass.

New York—Year-around fishing for crappies, perch, bullheads, and others.

Ohio—Year-around season on all species except trout and black bass.

Oklahoma—No closed seasons.

Oregon—Seasons on bass, trout, grayling, whitefish, and salmon less than 20 inches long; year-around season on all other species.

Pennsylvania—Year-around season on all pan fish.

Rhode Island—Year-around season on white and yellow perch and striped bass.

South Carolina—Year-around season on all species. Size limits only on brook and rainbow trout.

Tennessee—Year-around fishing for all species on all TVA lakes.

Texas—No closed seasons.

Virginia—Year-around season on bluegills.

Rotarians Attend Ball Game In Detroit

Plymouth Rotarians joined last Friday to journey en masse to Briggs Stadium, at Detroit, for an afternoon of baseball. They also had their fill of popcorn, peanuts and hot dogs and yelled for their favorites like seasoned bleacherites.

Of the some 40 plants in this country that are poisonous to livestock, the most peculiar in its reaction is St. John's wort, a species of Hypericum perforatum. It usually poisons only animals having areas of white skin and hair, and then only when they eat it in bright sunlight.

Norman Kincade Made Lt Colonel

Norman T. Kincade, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Kincade, of 40757 Plymouth Road, has been advanced to the rank of lieutenant colonel. He is serving as assistant quartermaster for the Army Air Forces Headquarters of the Middle Pacific Area. They are located in the Hawaiian Islands.

It was the middle of August that Lieutenant Colonel Kincade surprised his sparkling spouse by telephoning her from Honolulu. Needless to say she was thrilled beyond description.

Mrs. Kincade, a member of the Horace Rackham School of graduate studies of the University of Michigan, has been working on her Masters Degree in Education the last two summers. She has resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Hearn, since Lieutenant Colonel Kincade has been overseas.

It was April 27, 1941, that Lieutenant Colonel Kincade entered the Army as a second lieutenant. He has been overseas the last 14 months. He is a graduate of the engineering school at Michigan State College.

Save Soap by These Methods

With soap one of the scarce items on retailers' shelves, homemakers are finding it necessary to practice soap-saving economy. Says Julia Pond, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State College. Soap is most frequently wasted by using it to soften water. Even when plentiful, soap is an expensive water softener and should not be used for that purpose. Two very inexpensive and effective water softeners are trisodium and sal soda. Sal soda can always be obtained at grocery stores. Trisodium phosphate can be purchased at paint and hardware stores as well as at some grocery stores. When a water softener is used, it should be thoroughly dissolved in the water before the soap is added. This reduces the quantity of soap used and at the same time produces the desired suds. In other words, give the softener an opportunity to soften the water before adding the soap. Save both soap and water softener by measuring the quantities to be used. First, do a little experimenting to learn how much is needed. After this is done, keep the measuring device in or near the packages of softener and soap. Measure, don't guess. When bar soap is used for laundering, make it into a soap jelly or soap solution. It will suds more quickly in these forms and do a better job of cleaning.

CLOVERDALE FARMS DAIRY

Babson Says - -

Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 7. — I have today received a telegram from a returned serviceman who has just arrived from Europe. He states that, after paying certain bills and providing for his board and lodging, he is broke. "But," says he, "I cannot get a job until I pay a Labor union twenty dollars or more. Please wire me some money immediately."

Postwar Employment

I am continually being asked "What will the employment situation be now that Japan has collapsed?" I have replied that we will have a slowdown for a few months during the change-over of factories from war to peace goods; but after that we should have a few years of excellent business and fair employment. Certainly, there need be no serious unemployment while people have excess money in their pockets and bank accounts.

Every employer is prepared to take back such returning servicemen as were in his employ when they were drafted. After this, a difficulty will come in deciding who shall next be in line for jobs, the young fellow who never had a job before entering the service, or the man who has been employed in shipbuilding, airplane construction or munitions manufacture? Certainly, many married women and old people will be expected to step aside and return to their prewar status.

Labor Unions are "Big Business"

But then I am asked a second question:—"How long will this post-war prosperity last?" To this I am prepared to answer: The length of the postwar prosperity depends largely upon the labor union leaders. They can make the prosperity short or they can have it extend over a long number of years, according to how they act. As to what they will do, no one—including themselves—knows. Why? Because the actions of these labor leaders will be determined by the returning servicemen and we do not know what their attitude will be.

There is little real democracy in a big labor union. Members vote as ordered; they have far less freedom than the stockholders of any corporation. Often even the officers of the union are mere figureheads without real authority. The typical labor union today is a "big business" run by dynamic leaders primarily for their own advancement and profit. They make demands and call strikes to have their members think they are doing something.

Watch Returning Servicemen

Labor leaders can bluff their present membership which has become docile from browbeating and blackmail. But these labor leaders may meet their match in the returning soldier. He is no namby-pamby. Hence, the important question is, "What will the attitude of these returning servicemen be toward the labor union leaders?" If the returning soldiers insist upon the open shop and peaceful collective bargaining, the postwar prosperity can be bright and of long duration with little unemployment; but otherwise, there will be much unemployment.

I do not attempt to guess what attitude these returning servicemen will take. They seem to be influenced much by the feeling of their families. Those who came from homes which are independent—especially white-collar homes—are against union domination. This especially applies to boys from Republican homes or from Southern Democratic homes, including boys from the farms. But those who are returning to

Young Gardeners Among the Best

The Wayne County 4-H Summer Achievement Day was held last week at the Wayne Park Recreation Center. It was very successful even though the boys' and girls' gardens were unusually late this year.

The youths entered 93 displays of garden baskets. Among the ten selected as having the best exhibits were Shirley Hersch, Donald Brinks, Doris Waldecker and Marie Duthoo, of Plymouth.

Their entries were sent to Michigan State College for the State Club Show which opened Labor Day for three days.

Winners in the program of races at the achievement day included Robert Mielback, of Plymouth, who was adjudged the tallest boy in attendance.

Salvation Army Seeks $3,500

The Salvation Army's annual fund drive for $3,500 is now under way in Plymouth and officials are urging cooperation of all citizens.

Many public spirited citizens are donating their time to make a canvass for the funds for this worthwhile organization.

The Salvation Army asks that everyone consider the great work being done and be generous within the limit of their means when approached for contributions.

The $3,500 is needed to meet the budget prepared by the Army's executive committee for essential services. The executive committee is made up of leading citizens of Plymouth.

If the Army fails to meet its goal it will necessitate curtailing its program in Plymouth, which includes, among other worthy things, a day nursery for children of working mothers.
