 to Say

 ABOUT THIS TOWNSHIP FIRE BUSINESS.

Every time there is a bad fire out in the townships, especially in those which do not have a contract with the city of Plymouth to provide protection, there is generally a lot of talk, one blaming the other, especially if the fire proves to be a disastrous one.

There are several ways in which to look at this matter. In the first place should Plymouth provide people living in the townships with fire protection when those people do not pay taxes for that fire protection?

City officials of Plymouth for years have gone on the theory that if the taxpayers of Plymouth township, Livonia township, Canton or Nankin or Northville want the use of Plymouth's fire equipment, they should help pay the costs of maintaining that fire department.

City Manager Elliott worked out a plan whereby townships could be given city fire protection if they paid for all the calls made in that township. Plymouth township has such a contract with the city.

But always when thinking of this question the thought comes to mind, doesn't the city of Plymouth owe the surrounding townships something?

It is true the residents of these townships do not pay city taxes to support a fire department, but isn't it true that they provide a lot of business for the city of Plymouth which helps this city in more ways than one? Isn't it true that without the so-called "back country" support, this city would be deprived of many of the advantages it now possesses?

And isn't it true that when a neighbor is in distress and a calamity faces him that we owe to that neighbor our assistance?

There's something about it that does not seem right when we see property being destroyed to stand idly by and do nothing about it, especially when it lies within our power to be of aid.

Here's one city taxpayer who believes that more good will be done by stretching a point in favor of the township taxpayer rather than by following some hard-fast rule that prevents giving aid when aid is needed.

UN-AMERICAN THINKING.

Many times we have wished we had space in The Plymouth Mail to be able to use some editorial expressions we see printed in other papers. But of course that is an impossibility.

There was recently published an editorial on the subject of "Intolerance" in The Waverly, New York, Sun-Recorder. It is of so much value and possesses such a timely warning that we are using it in full, as follows:

"Hitler taught us a valuable lesson—maybe. He showed us how a political fanatic could build up a following around a rallying cry of hatred. And in this country it's so easy to stir up just the kind of hatreds any Hitler could want.

"You can hate the Catholics. You can hate the Protestants. You can hate the Negroes. You can do even better than that. You can divide Protestant Americans from Catholic Americans, Gentile Americans from Jewish Americans, Negroes from Whites, workers from capitalists, native born from foreign born.

"You can find something to fit everybody. Some cause of hatred for each and all. And anyone can find something to fit you. You can divide and divide and divide, until all America is in little pieces. And then the conqueror can go in and pick up the pieces, one at a time!

"Hitler showed us how. That's exactly what he did, first in Germany, then in Austria, in Poland, in Holland, Czechoslovakia, Norway, Belgium and France. But in showing us the way, he also showed us how dangerous are those among us who carelessly or deliberately play the same game. We know now who that look for. Maybe.

"Maybe we know that when we hear anyone voicing a slur upon any group in our America, he is helping to destroy America. Maybe we know it. If we don't, that's not Hitler's fault. He did his best to teach us. Any way, we'd better learn. For remember, America being what it is, made up of so many different elements, we are the most vulnerable nation in the world for exactly the kind of game the Hitlers love to play. And, as voluminous evidence shows, there are people right here in America playing this game.

"So, next time you hear anyone talking viciously about any group of Americans, stop him. Tell him it's un-Christian to slander one's neighbors and to stir up hate against them—that it's un-American too!"

STRIKES! STRIKES!! STRIKES!!!

What a shame, what a disgrace to think that our country has got to be thrown into one of its greatest strikes in generations—just at the time when millions of OUR BOYS are coming home from a victorious war!

We have always believed, and we still believe, that labor disputes can be settled peacefully without strikes. But apparently there are some who prefer to strike rather than proceed by peaceful means.

Now the strike is upon us! What will be the result?

Nothing—except more ill-will, suffering and despair. More will be lost than can be gained in a dozen years. No cars for returning war heroes, no homes, no jobs.

Why under the sun cannot we work out a plan whereby these matters can be settled peacefully, with good will prevailing, with mutual cooperation between employers and employees?

Why? Just because the rotten administration in Washington for twelve long years has been preaching hate, suspicion and ill-will.

We believe the time has arrived for a right-about face attitude in these matters—the adoption of a plan whereby the workers IN THE PLANTS and their employers can discuss peacefully and in good will their problems. When that is done we will have peace and production and prosperity. But not until we have kicked out the cheap labor politicians and the insipid Washington bureaucrats.

GOOD TIMES ONLY DELAYED.

We are glad to read in this week's Babson column appearing in The Mail that strikes are only going to delay good times, not destroy or prevent them. But isn't it a shame to think that right now when hundreds of thousands of OUR BOYS are coming home and need jobs, automobiles, clothing, homes and other living essentials, that good times must be delayed even for a day.

OUR PARKING PROBLEM.

Sometime ago attention was called in this column to the serious parking situation that has developed in Plymouth. It is realized that something must be done in the not too distant future, if we are to provide our citizens with proper parking facilities.

James Engelson of South Main street in a recent letter to The Mail suggested the widening of some of the streets near the business center of the city as well as the creation of another municipal parking lot in the vicinity of Wing and Forest street, where it is known much of the future development is going to go. His ideas are good ones and well worth considering.

Popular Picture For Bond Show Dec. 6

For Plymouth's Victory war bond motion picture premier to take place at the Penn theatre on Thursday evening, December 6, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, Harry Lush has booked that popular picture just released and which has been packing the theatres in big cities, "The Dolly Sisters."

The picture is in technicolor, starring Betty Grable, John Payne and June Haver, with S. Z. Sakall, Reginald Gardiner, Frank Latimore, Gene Sheldon, Sig Ruman and Trudy Marshall.

All reports say that the picture is one of the best of the year. In fact the newspaper, Motion Picture Daily, says it is "the best from any studio, any season."

Tickets have already been placed at the two banks and the Plymouth postoffice, where you will be given a free ticket to this picture with each victory bond you buy.

Randall Penhale, who is directing the campaign of the school children, says that the motion picture show has proven a direct stimulant to sales among school children.

Mrs. Walter Kellogg Sumner, who is directing the activities of the tireless army of Plymouth Women Gallants, stated yesterday that announcement of the war bond premier had also created new activity among Gallant workers.

Plymouth is keeping step with the rest of the state in Victory bond sales. The city is half way over the top. It is believed that with Mr. Lush's victory bond premier and the additional sales that will come as the result of Victory bonds purchased for Christmas gifts that Plymouth will go over the top before the campaign ends.

Daisy Mfg. Company Finishing First After-War Addition to Its Plant

Ground was broken this week for a single-story, $10,000 annex to the main shop at the Daisy Manufacturing Co. Providing the construction schedule is maintained the structure should be ready for occupancy by February.

The annex, to be of concrete block construction because bricks are not available, will provide the company with an additional 2,500 square feet of shop space.

It will house several pieces of the most modern automatic plating equipment. These fixtures will be of the latest type. A new bucket-elevator belt conveyor system also will be installed in the structure.

The conveyor system will run from the annex into the main shop, too. This system will be the most modern currently available. It will eliminate most of the hand conveying now prevalent in the shop. Mechanical conveyance in shops like the Daisy tend to reduce the chance of accidents to workers, speed up the movement of parts and finished products.

Right now the one thing that is lacking for the annex is window sashes. Other than that, the project is about complete and ready to be occupied. The annex will be a big improvement and help modernize Plymouth's chief manufacturing plant.

Auxiliary of Jaycees First To Make Gift

Members of the Auxiliary of the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce have the honor and distinction of being the first group in Plymouth to make a cash contribution to the Veterans Memorial Foundation.

This group of young women, who are tomorrow, Saturday, evening staging another one of their popular dances to raise funds for the Memorial fund, offered an immediate contribution of $100 and it is their purpose to offer not only another $100 as soon as it can be raised, but many more $100 checks.

In a letter to Lt. Edwin Schrader, chairman of the fund acceptance committee of the Foundation, Mrs. J. Rusling Cutler, secretary of the Auxiliary, said:

"The Plymouth Jaycee Auxiliary, since its organization in March 1945, has felt that Plymouth was very much in need of a Community Center. We are very pleased that a committee is now formed for the express purpose (Continued on Page Six)

Just So You Will Not Be Overlooked

So that no one will be overlooked at the last minute, The Plymouth Mail is calling attention to the fact that its Christmas edition of Christmas greetings will be issued on Friday, December 21 and its New Year's edition on Friday, December 28.

In past years the experience has been that once in a while some one has been overlooked, much to the regret of The Plymouth Mail. But please mark down the dates, and if you have not been called, CALL The Plymouth Mail at anytime between now and the dates mentioned, about your holiday greeting ads.

Book Exhibit At The Plymouth Library

Considerable interest has been shown in the books recently displayed at the Plymouth Library as suggestions for Christmas gifts.

The exhibit will be shown again at the library for a week, beginning November 30th.

This is a chance to examine some good titles before visiting book stores for Christmas gifts. The librarian will be glad to make other suggestions for Christmas purchases.

Counsellor Service Set Up For Veterans

The city of Plymouth is now offering a full time Veterans Counselling service to its returning war heroes. A Veterans Information Center has been set up in the city hall where discharged veterans may go for advice relative to their rights and privileges under the G.I. bill.

Questions concerning National Service Life Insurance, Disability Claims, Employment, Vocational Training, Hospitalization and Medical Services, Legal Assistance and others may be discussed with Carvel Bentley who is acting as Veterans Counsellor for the city. Mr. Bentley states that he does not know all the answers, and if he is unable to personally help the veteran he will immediately direct him to the proper agency where complete information may be obtained.

There are many agencies throughout the state, each with a well-trained staff ready to help the veteran. Therefore, if the veteran's questions cannot be answered locally, the Plymouth Veteran Information Center is in a position to place the veteran in immediate contact with the proper agency.

Mr. Bentley, a recently discharged veteran, will devote full time to this work until after the first of the year when he will resume his work as coordinator of the Occupational Training Program at the Plymouth high school. However, he will continue to act as Veterans Counsellor and will be available at the city hall evenings and Saturdays after Jan. 1. Veterans! The welcome mat is out! Your city is offering you this service free of charge. Mr. Bentley will be at the City Hall to help you on Monday and Thursday from 1:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Appointments for the counselling service may be made in the forenoon by calling the office of the Veterans Counsellor at the city hall.

John Blyton's Father Dies in England

John Blyton has received a message from England advising him of the death of his father, which occurred November 15 in Duncaster, England. His father had been a lifelong resident of that place. Mr. Blyton has been planning to go to England for sometime to see his father but government control over all ocean travel has prevented him from securing necessary passports up to the present time.

Christmas Clubs Pay Members Here Over $75,000

Nearly $77,000 this week flowed into the pockets of Plymouth residents for their Christmas shopping as the result of payments by the two Plymouth banks to their Christmas Club members.

Floyd Kehrl of the First National bank said yesterday that this was the best year that his bank had ever had with its Christmas Club.

"We are especially pleased with the result," he declared. The Plymouth United also reported a good year with its club.

Plymouth merchants will be the immediate beneficiaries of the payments being made to members of the two local Christmas clubs. While all of it will not be spent for Christmas, a very large part of it will flow into the cash tills of local business men.

Inquiry reveals that probably the next largest amount of the Christmas club checks will find their way into Victory bond purchases.

Throughout the country, over $500,000,000 will be distributed to about 7,600,000 Christmas Club members by approximately 5000 banking and savings institutions and other organizations during National Prosperity Week, starting this week, according to an estimate given out yesterday by Herbert F. Rawll, founder and president of Christmas Club, a corporation.

The total distribution is 10 percent ahead of last year and represents a high since the year of the bank holiday. The average per-member distribution increased to approximately $72.00 as compared with $70.00 last year. The total number of individual members participating this year shows an increase of six hundred thousand over a year ago.

The use of Christmas Club checks this year shows a decrease of 2 percent to be applied to Victory bonds, permanent savings and government urged, anti-inflationary purposes. A recent cross-section survey indicates the estimated fund of $550,000,000, will be used by the recipients approximately as follows:

Permanent Savings	25%	$137,500,000
Victory Bonds	18%	99,000,000
Insurance Premiums	11%	60,500,000
Debt Retirement	10%	55,000,000
Taxes	8%	44,000,000
Christmas Purchases	27%	148,500,000
Unclassified	1%	5,500,000
Total	100%	$550,000,000

In the distribution of Christmas Club funds this year, New York State leads the other States with about $152,000,000; the estimates for Pennsylvania are $62,000,000; for Massachusetts $54,000,000; for New Jersey $42,000,000; New York's Metropolitan area will receive about $94,000,000.

Watches Card Game, Falls Dead

Death was an onlooker last Saturday at a casual card game in the billiard hall operated by Homer Williams in the Consumers Power Company building on Main street.

His presence was made known in a most shocking manner when Paul Last, 76 years old, who was watching the game, gasped suddenly and slumped dead in his chair. It was precisely at 2:30 p.m.

Persons nearby were dazed by the sudden turn of events. The room was thrown into confusion. Somebody remembered to summon a doctor but Mr. Last was beyond human aid. Death was practically instantaneous.

Police Chief Lee R. Sackett was called and after notifying the Wayne County Coroner was given permission to order the body removed to the Schrader Funeral Home.

Funeral services were held there Tuesday afternoon with burial being in Riverside cemetery.

Mr. Last, a retired farmer, had been living in Plymouth the last several years at the home of his brother, William, of 355 South Harvey street, who is the sole survivor.

Paul Ramsdell Is Returning to His Old Buick Position

Paul Ramsdell.

Now that the war is over and that there are prospects some day for new automobiles to be on the market, Paul Ramsdell, vice president of the Buick Motor Sales company of Plymouth, who was long associated with Carl Shear, president of the organization, will December 1 return to his old position with the Buick Sales.

During the past four years Mr. Ramsdell has been associated with the Perfection Laundry as manager of its dry cleaning department.

"I'm glad to get back into the auto business. As I see it after all of these labor disputes are cleared away there will be a tremendous auto business for years to come," stated Mr. Ramsdell yesterday.

Besides his activities in many community affairs, Mr. Ramsdell has given much time to the affairs of the Kiwanis club. He is a past president of the organization and is at present serving as chairman of the inter-club relations committee. He is also a member of the Kiwanis state committee on business standards.

Mr. Shear is highly pleased to know that his former associate in business is returning to his old position.

Lieut. Gust Is On Way Home

Lieut. Kenneth A. Gust who has been serving with the United States navy in the southwest Pacific during the past two years, has informed his family that he has been ordered to report to the island of Okinawa for transportation back to the United States. He will be sent to the Great Lakes Naval headquarters at Great Lakes, Chicago to receive his discharge.

Lieut. Gust enlisted for services with the navy in the fall of 1943 and except for a few months spent at Harvard University he has been on the other side of the Pacific most of the time since. Once his ship was ordered to port in San Francisco for repairs, but it soon returned to the other side of the Pacific.

He has been in nearly all of the combat areas of the Pacific. From the Ellice islands, his ship went to the Gilbert islands area, then to the Marshall islands, Palau islands, Leyte and finally to the Okinawa area.

Ken Olds Named to Appeal Board

Kenyon Olds, veteran Plymouth grocer and summer resort operator at Indian River, has been named to the board of appeal by the city commission. His appointment fills the vacancy created by the resignation of W. S. Bake.

This shift of personnel marks the first change in the appeal panel since its organization. Mr. Olds is well qualified to serve as he has for many years been a civic-minded and public-spirited Plymouth merchant.

His grocery is located at Ann Arbor Trail and Mill street. His North Michigan summer resort is on an island in Indian River.

Seaman 2/c Everett Strong will arrive home Friday from Great Lakes Naval Base for a three day furlough. He is going to Store Keepers School at Great Lakes, Illinois.

How You Can Help a Veteran

One of the most pressing needs for the returning veteran at the present time is housing facilities. Several veterans have contacted the Veterans Counsellor concerning a place for their families to live. Anyone who has housing facilities available at present or who may have facilities in the future could be of great help to a Plymouth veteran if they would call the office of the Veterans' Counsellor at the City Hall and register their housing facilities. The phone number is 93.

93 Year Old Pioneer Dies

Another link was snapped from the chain that ties the Plymouth of today with the Plymouth of Pioneer days when Louis A. Hollaway died suddenly at his home, 216 North Harvey street, Sunday morning, just a week after he had celebrated his 93rd birthday.

Born in Livingston county on November 18, 1852 he came to Plymouth when a babe with his parents and lived in this city continuously until his death.

Possessed of a keen mind that never failed him, Mr. Hollaway could clearly recall the Civil war days and incidents of early Plymouth as though the events had only taken place yesterday.

He was typical of the high-type citizen produced in this country in years gone by. For nearly half a century he did painting and furniture repairing. Two sons, Dewey A. Hollaway, of Plymouth, and Robert Hollaway of Ann Arbor, survive. The funeral held Wednesday afternoon from the Schrader funeral home was largely attended by long-time residents of Plymouth.

He's Back and "Sure Glad of It"

After spending four years and 27 days up on the Aleutians and on the island of Okinawa, Walter Jendrycka, has shed Uncle Sam's army uniform, donned some Davis & Lent civilian clothing and is now back on his old job in The Plymouth Mail office.

His return to civilian life followed that of another Plymouth Mail employee, John Nelson, by less than two weeks. John went through the African, Sicily, French and German invasion until he was blown up by a gas explosion and had to be taken to a hospital where he spent more than four months.

It was in May, 1942 when Walter was shipped with his outfit to occupy one of the islands of the Aleutian group off Alaska. For weeks after he landed, his battalion didn't have a rifle or even a pop-gun to use if the Japs had made an attack on the island where he was stationed.

Finally the Japs were driven out of the Aleutians and Walter's outfit after spending two years and two months up under the shadow of the north pole, was (Continued on Page Six)

Indian War Veteran Dies

Frank U. Durham, aged 80 years, 151 Amelia street, only surviving veteran in this locality of the Indian wars of the west that followed the Civil war, died at his home Monday.

He enlisted in the U. S. Cavalry in the early eighties, for five years and after the end of his first enlistment, he enlisted twice again. He had three honorable discharges. One of the engagements in which he took part was against the Ute Indians on July 15, 1884, fought in Wornington Canyon in Colorado.

He highly prized a letter to him from General John J. Pershing, who was also a veteran of the Indian wars.

He was accorded a military funeral at the Schrader Funeral Home Thursday afternoon. Burial took place in Redford township, where he was born.

Surviving are Mrs. Durham, a son, Burch Durham, and a daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Lowry, both of Plymouth.

Old Newsboys Will See to it That Every Person is Made Joyful at Christmas Time

If the Goodfellows — Old Newsboys—of Plymouth have their way no child will be without a gift and no family without food this Christmas in or around this city.

At a meeting last week Tuesday night in the city hall the Goodfellows organized themselves for the annual newspaper sale which provides the funds to carry on their laudible enterprise.

It has been decided to hold the sale on Saturday, December 22, with a parade led by the Plymouth high school band, preceding the event.

Harold Stevens has been named general chairman of the affair. John Jacobs has been commissioned to arrange the parade.

The Mail will print several hundred special Goodfellow editions for the occasion in addition to their regular issue for that week. Sterling Eaton is chairman of publicity for the group.

Ample baskets of food and gifts, including shoes and clothing, will be prepared by the Goodfellows to insure each and every needy family a joyful Christmas.

The baskets will contain meat or fowl, bread, canned goods, fresh fruit or vegetables, articles of clothing for children or adults, toys, games, candy and other articles such as soap, toothpaste or tooth brushes.

Toys for the Goodfellow baskets are to be decided upon and purchased by a committee headed by Manna Blunk. He will be assisted by Edward Sinta, secretary of the Goodfellows; and Ernie Wilson.

Bob Jolliffe, Paul Groth and Roy Jewell will supervise the purchase of food and decide exactly what will be used for the baskets.

The clothing will be the biggest problem. Serviceable used clothing can be used but in the case of children most of it will have to be purchased. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and Mr. and Mrs. William Michaels have been named to handle that chore.

Indigent families reported as deserving and needing one or more of the Goodfellow baskets will be investigated to determine the seriousness of the need and to confirm the report that the recipients are deserving. This will eliminate all attempts to defraud the donors.

Police Chief Lee R. Sackett, Garnett Baker, George A. Smith and James Latture will conduct such investigations.

Will Make Small Novelty Gifts

Harold Davis, Warren Lent and his brother, Robert, this week announced the purchase of the Pfeiffer Building on Liberty street between Mill and Starkweather.

The building formerly housed the Pfeiffer meat market operated by William C. Pfeiffer, of 333 Plymouth road. It has been vacant throughout the war.

The new owners, brothers of Wendell Lent, Plymouth's genial clothing merchant, plan to open a small manufacturing business there. Right now they are busy engaged in renovating the building and remodeling the interior. Mr. Lent of Davis & Lent is not financially interested in this project.

No name for their business has been decided on yet. But they have told The Mail they will manufacture plaster of paris wall plaques. The small items will be wholesaled in general but a small retail shop for local trade may be maintained in the front part of the building.

Many home furnishings and decorations and gift shops in Michigan cities will be the largest purchasers of the plaques it is expected. The brothers hoped to be in production by Saturday, tomorrow, but said it was doubtful if they would make it.

Last Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kohler entertained at dinner, Pfc. Eugene Shipley and Sgt. Kenneth Brown. Pfc. Shipley is home on a 30 day leave from the Pacific where he has been stationed for the past 28 months. Sgt. Brown recently received a discharge after serving two years in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sylvester Pace are at Palm Bay, Florida, where they are spending the winter.
If the man of the house has been accustomed to taking his daily shower in the morning, reserve this time for him. The children might bathe in the evening, allotting the time according to their ages and when they go to bed. The younger children might be bathed before dinner, older children later. Plan your own bath for whichever hour will give you the most relaxation.

Latest purchases of frontages on fishing waters to provide access to lakes and streams for fishermen, approved by the conservation commission, include 1,200 feet on the Manistee river in Crawford county. Also included are 400 feet of frontage on Big Lake in Osceola county and 200 feet of frontage on Camp Lake in Kent county. Forty cents of each fishing license dollar is allocated by statute for purchase of such access sites.

Deer Hunters Had Best Luck in Score of Years

Returning deer hunters report the best hunting they have had in a score of years. If an accurate check could be made, it would probably be found where nearly one out of every two hunters that went from Plymouth got their deer.

All of them say they have never before seen so many deer as this year.

J. E. Brinks, of West Ann Arbor road was back in Plymouth four days after the opening of the deer season with a 16' point deer, one of the largest that has been brought back from the north. In fact, up to the present time, no one has reported a 16 pointer except Mr. Brinks. It weighed over 170 pounds after being dressed. He did his hunting in the Upper Peninsula.

A buck weighing 229 pounds, with eleven points, was the prize deer that Al Henderson brought back late last week from Alger county in the Upper Peninsula where he did his deer hunting. It was one of the largest deer shot during the season by any of the local hunters. He was hunting with Paul Patterson, Thomas Bates and Steve Marth, all getting their deer.

Plymouth sent well over 350 deer hunters into northern Michigan and from reports so far, most of them were successful in getting their deer. Since the first list of names of those securing deer licenses in Plymouth was published Orla Hooker in his auto supply store, issued more than 50 more. These hunters included:

Frank McCloskey, 4620 Make-on road; Arthur Dahl, R. No. Northville; William Newstead, 34211 Orangelawn; Roy McCallen, R. No. 3 Ypsilanti; Thelma Newstead, 34211 Orangelawn; Evelyn G. Haass, Farm Crest Farms, Northville; Loren Goodale, 196 Hamilton; George V. Donoghue, 543 W. Dunlap, Northville; C. W. Dennis Jr., 6104 Canton Center road; Don VanAtta, 42760 Lake-land; Bert Ruthenbar, 42460 Lake-land; Edward O'Neil, 74674 Ann Arbor; Mahkib Lord, Clayton, Mich.; Joseph L. Hudson, 9610 Blackburn; Marlin J. Holst, 448 Pacific; Lawrence Fornwald, 397 Pacific; B. M. Murray, 4245 Lake-land; Dr. S. N. Thams, 4775 Jener; Theodore Johnson, 9353 Ridge road; Burton Zander, 1923 Marlowe; Raymond Coon, 14665 Eckles; Carl Blaich, 40370 Joy road; Maurice R. Evans, 610 Adams; L. W. Cokes, 345 Pacific; Dr. E. A. Rice, 747 W. Ann Arbor road; Fred Killingworth, 163 Union; James McFaden, 4544 Williams; R. D. Merriman, 383 Starkweather; Donald Clark, 11041 Arden; Ernest W. Smith, 9700 N. Territorial; L. E. Lyons, 164 N. Main; Richard Moffett, 9007 Oporto, Wayne; S. A. Allen, 44881 Ann Arbor; Gerald Allen, 44881 Ann Arbor; Hugh Archer, 208 Ann street; Kenneth Ratcliff, 41619 Cherry Hill; Peter Kucherski, 1663 Hix, Wayne; Irvin A. Ruten, bar, 3541 Six Mile; Wayne Gladstone, 175 N. Mill; Lawrence M. Gladstone, 175 N. Mill; John McLaren, 907 Roosevelt; John J. McLaren, 756 W. Ann Arbor; Eldon Downing, 8113 Dextor Blvd., Detroit; Cecil J. Glass, 282 S. Mill; Lee A. Owens, 1436 Northville; Norwood Dickenson, 42470 Parkhurst.

William Rambo and Randall Schuette, hunting up near Lewiston in the camp where they have gone for a number of years, each brought down "their limit." Russell Powell, who hunted with them missed. Some say it was an intentional miss, as Russ prefers bison to venison.

Up to Monday the two frozen food locker employes in Plymouth had dressed out more than 50 deer that had been brought back by people who hold licenses. It is expected by the time the season ends today, Friday, that the number will be more than doubled.

Floyd Reddeman of the Daisy Manufacturing company shot a nice big buck on opening day. He was hunting up near Baldwin. Two others in his camp got deer the same day. They dressed them out, took them back to camp and hung them up, as all deer hunters do. At midnight Floyd looked out of the window and saw the three deer hanging just where they had been placed. When he woke up in the morning at 5 o'clock to get ready to go hunting the next day, he looked out of the window and there were only two deer hanging where there had been three at midnight. He dressed and hurried out to see what had happened. He discovered that the rope which had fastened his deer to the pole had been cut and that some one during the night had stolen his deer. The other two were not disturbed. Of course his deer tag went along with the stolen deer and he could not shoot another one if he had had a chance. So he returned to Plymouth without a deer. Some thief is probably telling his friends how he "shot" his deer.

Albert Hueger was one of the fortunate hunters to bag his deer on the opening day. He was hunting near Fife lake.

Irving Blunk and his brother, Arthur, hunted near Roscommon. Irving brought down a nice young buck, but his brother was not so fortunate. Their stay in the woods was only for three days.

Estel Rowland and Don Lightfoot who hunted up near Avery lake in Montmorency county have returned to Plymouth, each bringing with him a nice deer. They said they saw more deer than ever before in the north woods, and that unless this should prove to be a disastrous winter for deer, hunting next year would be as good as it was this fall.

Loren Goodale took time off from his big rush in his grocery store to run up to Manistiquet river valley in Schoolcraft county to bring down a good deer. Mrs. Goodale and two of their children accompanied him on the trip. Mrs. Goodale did some hunting with her husband, but Loren's lucky shot got the deer.

Robert Willoughby joined the class of successful deer hunters. He shot a big buck up near Munising which dressed out at over 160 pounds.

Al Larson of 45245 Joy road brought back his buck from the north woods again this year. Oren Blackmore of Canton Center road, who accompanied him to the Larson cottage at St. Helens, was also fortunate enough to get a nice eight point buck. There were eight hunters in the Larson camp that "Al" had to cook for besides himself. The "Larson" stew was reported by other hunters to be fit for the Queen of England. Two hunters in this camp became lost but were found by other hunters who returned them to their own camp safely.

Weddings

Jane Ruth Scott and James Robert Farnan Are Wedded

Jane Ruth Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Scott of Plymouth, spoke her marriage vows to James Robert Farnan, son of Mrs. Herbert Warwick Farnan at a double ring candle light service in the First Congregational church in Detroit with Rev. Walter Cole officiating.

The chancel was decorated with lighted tapers in cathedral candle-abras, yellow and white chrysanthemums, white gladiolus and palms.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a gown of white satin and chiffon. The satin bodice embroidered with pearls was fitted at the waist to a flowing skirt ending in a long train. A coronet of pearls held her long tulle veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums with a white orchid center.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Robert E. Scott wore a light pink net gown and picture hat to match and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and blending bebe mums.

The bridesmaids were Misses Ada and Marjorie Farnan, sisters of the groom, Nancy McLaren, Janet Higginbottom, Mrs. Donald Armstrong and Mrs. Robert Roberts, who wore identical gowns and picture hats in pastel shades of pink or blue net. They carried cascade bouquets of chrysanthemums in autumn shades.

Iowa Girl Becomes Bride of Returned Plymouth Soldier

A lovely wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hills when their son Harold was united in marriage to Edna N. Stoner, of Sioux City, Iowa. Rev. Walsh officiated. Baskets of mums and candles formed the background.

The bride wore a pale green suit, with a gardenia corsage. Shirley Hills, maid of honor, wore fuchsia with a yellow rose corsage. Robert Fisher served as best man.

A reception was held in the home of the bridegroom on Blunk avenue.

Genevieve Spaulding Becomes Bride of Charles Myers

Genevieve Spaulding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Spaulding and Charles Myers of Lansing, son of Mrs. Zylpha Myers of Baraboo, Wisconsin, repeated their marriage vows Saturday evening. The ceremony was at 8:00 in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Spaulding on Holbrook avenue. The Rev. William Welton officiated.

The bride wore a two-piece teal blue street length dress and a corsage of white roses. Her only attendant was her sister, Ruth of Williamston, who wore a two-piece rose colored street length dress and a corsage of white carnations and pink roses.

The best man was Charles Spaulding, brother of the bride. Janice Hartz, cousin of the bridegroom, played the wedding march.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Grange hall. Mr. and Mrs. Myers received many lovely gifts. Guests were present from Williamston, Lansing, Lyons, Caro, Adrian, Detroit, Wayne, Northville and Plymouth.

Anita Fisher Becomes The Bride of Walter J. Vogel

Wedding vows were exchanged on Thanksgiving day at Our Lady of Good Counsel church, Plymouth, between Anita K. Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fisher, and Walter J. Vogel of Forest Lake, Minn.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a rayon jersey gown, fashioned after Grecian style, with a draped bodice and sweetheart neck line. It had graceful shirred three-quarter length sleeves and a full straight skirt. Her finger tip veil fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a prayer book, the cover being hidden by a corsage, the center of which was a purple tipped orchid. Her only jewels were a pair of opal earrings the gift of the groom.

She was attended by her two sisters, who were dressed in identical gowns of jersey. Mrs. Clarence Levandowski, matron of honor, chose blue and Doris Fisher a shell pink. Their head dresses were crownless net semi-hats, the brims being made of many ruffles and giving the effect of haloes. Their flowers were graceful arrangements of white mums.

Mr. Vogel was attended by Mr. C. Levandowski, brother-in-law of the bride. Donald Fisher of Notre Dame, Indiana, acted as usher.

Mrs. Ben Fisher, mother of the bride, wore a black crepe, sequin trimmed two piece dress, that was relieved by a powder blue vestee. The blue of her vestee was also carried out in her feathered hat. She wore a corsage of carnations.

The wedding breakfast was served at high-noon at the Pen Mar Inn. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents from three to six in the afternoon.

Candle Light Service For Evelyn Carney and Harry King

The marriage of Evelyn Lucille Carney to MM2/c Harry King took place Saturday evening, Nov. 24, at the First Presbyterian church of Homer. The Rev. Leroy Cabbage of Decatur performed the ceremony at 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Sinclair Carney of 11369 Cavell Ave., Livonia and Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. King of Marshall, are the parents of the couple.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with lace bodice and a fingertip veil of illusion caught to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses showered with bebe mums.

Make Announcement Of Their Marriage

The marriage of Mrs. Harriett White of this city and Fred Nelson of Detroit took place on Tuesday, September 11, in the chapel of Saint Paul Lutheran church in Toledo, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson were at home at 1014 Dewey street, Maplecroft.

Navyman Home To Wed Dec. 12

Ronald Phillips, seaman first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Phillips of 732 Adams street, arrived home last Friday night, Nov. 23, for a 14 day leave from his duties with the United States Coast Guard aboard the U.S.S. General Gordon.

Three nights later, this week Tuesday evening, his brother, Private First Class Douglas Phillips, of the United States Marine Corps, arrived home for a 30 day furlough. He came from Miramar, Calif. Upon completion of his furlough, Douglas will report to Cherry Point, N. C., for his discharge. He is a veteran of the Southwest Pacific where he was stationed more than two years.

Christmas Musical Concert Set for December 12

Clarence Luchtman, director of music in the Plymouth public schools, will present his instrumental and vocal students in the annual Plymouth High School Christmas Music Concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 12. The concert will be held in the Central school auditorium.

You Plymouthites have seen Mr. Luchtman's musicians in action on the gridiron and at various municipal affairs and in Detroit at various parades. The Christmas Music Concert will give you an opportunity to hear them in a different atmosphere and more conservative type of music.

There will be no charge for the concert although many persons have urged that an admission price be set. Instead of charging admission, Mr. Luchtman has announced that there will be a free will collection made. All receipts are to be used for the purchase of band uniforms.

Because a full set of uniforms for the band is not now available the students will play the concert in their school or street clothes, Mr. Luchtman said.

A feature of the concert will be a trumpet solo arrangement of the Christmas favorite, "The Holy City." The high school mixed chorus also will sing several selections.

A man can plan...

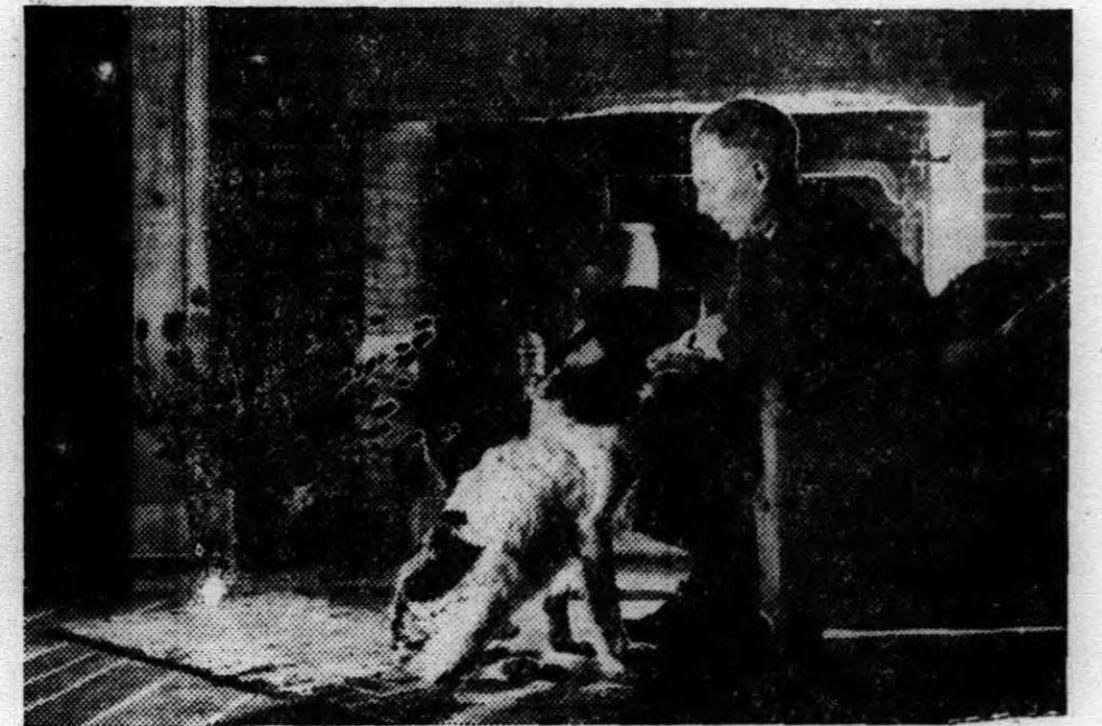

1. I think of a rolling country, and the farm I'll own some day, I'll swap my wrench for a milking bench, my lathe for a load of hay!

2. I've got my eye on a business I can purchase clear and free, I'm saving my pay for the lucky day when I start to work for me!

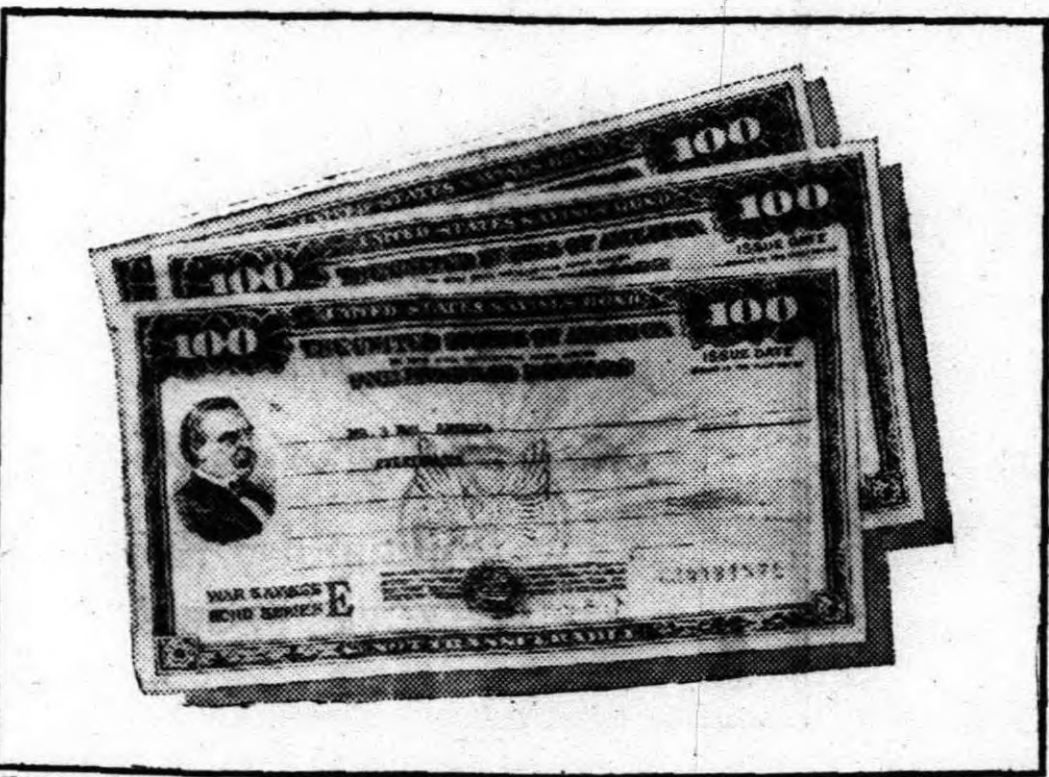

We're planning a year of travel, now the flags of war are furled, Each Bond we keep is another leap in our trip around the world!

4. Some day I want to retire, I'm saving my cash for then, With Bonds around I won't be found in a home for broke old men!

...and his plans can come true!

5. Whatever your plans for the future you'd better buy Bonds by the score, Your dollars won't shirk, they'll pitch in and work... Each three bucks will bring you back four! So buy 'em and buy 'em and buy 'em, and keep every Bond till it's due, The more Bonds you buy will be more you've put by For the day when your plans can come true!

Dear Son

Here's the check for your college expenses... more money from the Victory Bonds we bought for your education.

Money from some of those other bonds we bought back during the war is now fixing up the kitchen for Mother and paying for the new barn. Certainly is helpful to get back $4 for every $3 we invested in Victory Bonds!

Keep up the good work at school son.

Crandall Wasn't Lost, As Reported

Attorney John Crandall and one of the directors of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association reported lost in the woods up in the Porcupine mountains of the Upper Peninsula while on a hunting trip, is safe at home.

"I wasn't lost as reported. The only trouble was that I haven't got the horsepower that I once possessed and I thought it best not to tramp through two feet of snow back to camp after it became dark. So I built a fire and decided to stay right where I was until morning and then go back to camp after daylight" stated Attorney Crandall yesterday.

"We were hunting up on the west branch of Anderson river in the mountains. I didn't realize that night was coming on so fast until it was almost dark. You know it's no fun tramping through the woods at night time especially when the snow is so deep. When I got back to camp the next morning about 10 o'clock the other boys thought I had been lost. They had hunted around the evening before, but of course when it is dark that doesn't do much good. I have always figured the safest thing to do if caught in the woods at night time is to do just what I did. I kept a fire burning all night to keep warm and I'll probably smell the smoke of punk wood for a long time" said Attorney Crandall. And the thing that Mr. Crandall did is just the thing to do when caught out in the woods after dark.

Hunting with Attorney Crandall were Joe Elliott and Elmer Barlow of Plymouth and Luther Rex and David O'Leary of Novi. They got a bear but no deer.

Organize Vet League Here

Veterans in Plymouth who have a love for athletics and particularly like basketball have organized a league here. Games will be played at the Plymouth High school gymnasium possibly two or three nights a week throughout the winter months.

At present the league has enough players for about six teams. The sponsors want more players to come out and participate. They desire a league of eight teams.

It is not necessary to be a veteran to participate. In fact the sponsors are urging that anyone above high school age who wants to play be present at the high school gym at 7 p.m. next Tuesday, Dec. 4.

The league was formed by veterans but is not limited to them. The sponsors want the public to know that they are depending on civilians to help get teams.

Hamill Writes of War Waste

By F. W. Hamill. (Another California letter.) "Quotation from a chief engineer on a large merchant vessel at Manila, P. I. "There is a great waste of ships now that the war is over. I could find an excuse for this long delay in unloading ships during the war but now I find it a bit difficult. This ship should never have been loaded with a cargo that they know they would not be able to unload for months to come.

"Thousands of boys waiting up to three months for transportation home. Permitted no leave and no work, just wait and wait."

"We hear stories daily of almost unbelievable waste. For instance, sailors are allowed two pairs of shoes. When they leave they discard one pair. Truck loads of slightly worn shoes are dumped in the bay while thousands in other countries wear rags on their feet. A ship ties up in the harbor. Practically all the crew get leave. The weekly quota of fifty pounds of butter come out. The steward knows if he sends it back the order will be cancelled and when he does need it government red tape will make for delays so he just takes it and dumps it in the bay.

"A ship load of tires in the Aleutian Islands—sh; needed—tires not needed—so just dumped tires in the ocean. And so the stories go.

"We were at Long Beach Navy Day. Boarded the carrier Shangri La. It was a bloodless invasion but it took two hours in line. Thousands on hand. The carrier was two blocks long and had 103 planes. We wanted to get inside a submarine 'Sawfish' but four hours was too long in line.

"Los Angeles is a wonderful city. From one and one-half million in 1940 they claim three million and to be the third city in the U.S. It is short 90,000 homes. Can't get building material. The papers are raising a rumpus because millions of feet of lumber and other materials have been piled on the docks for months waiting shipment aboard. Thousands of returned service men roaming the streets looking for anything from a house to a room, and none to be found.

"Wonderful weather here. Only two days rain in past month. Flowers in bloom. They don't have even a heavy frost all winter. People in the valley up around Burbank say they would not live in Long Beach on account of the fog. Those in Long Beach say they have the best uniform climate—too hot in the interior in summer. So take your choice. A big drawing card is the old folks retirement pension of $50 each after five years residence for age 65 and up. They are allowed a home $3000 and $500 in the bank."

To make a "dustless" duster, immerse a large square of cheesecloth in a basin of strong, hot soapsuds. Let it soak for a while, then wring out and dry. When the cloth becomes soiled, it can be washed and retreated.

Starts New Real Estate Office

Plymouth residents will be interested to know that Roy R. Lindsay, a former well known real estate dealer in Detroit who has been associated with the Ford Motor Car company during the war period, has entered the real estate business in Plymouth.

Mr. Lindsay plans to handle all types of real estate, residential, as well as business, farm and resort property, no matter where located.

He regards this part of Wayne county as the most promising section of this entire area for future development.

I am sure that the substantial growth, the kind of growth we all want, will be much faster in and around Plymouth than anywhere else in Wayne county," he states.

For a number of years he had charge of the northwest section of Detroit real estate development for the Houseman-Spitzley company.

The Lindsays reside just off Ann Arbor Trail road at 11000 McClumpha road. Mrs. Lindsay has been active in women's affairs of the community and has served as president of the Farm, Home and Garden club.

The pistol was not used in a duel of honor until 1759, or more than 200 years after its invention. Although dueling was gradually being suppressed, the introduction of the weapon increased its prevalence and resulted in the development of the dueling pistol. For nearly a century afterward, the gunsmiths of Europe vied with one another in making these firearms, pairs of which, enclosed in elaborate cases, sold at prices ranging up to $4,000.

Handicrafts for this month have been concentrated on Xmas toys which will be contributed to some worthy Institution by the sponsors of the Pack, the Plymouth Kiwanis.

Last years efforts in this field were most gratefully received and we hope to exceed our precedent this year.

The Handicraft training course completed as of Monday, November 19, graduated thirty or more Cub Scout leaders from districts 7-10.

This means that more and better Cub crafts are on the way into your son's Den through the leaders who have had training in the means, methods and reasons for this type of Cubbing effort.

Scout News of Local Interest

(By Harold R. Schryer)

The Scout leaders of Plymouth are urged to attend the Leaders' Round Table on Thursday, December 6, in order that the final plans for the forthcoming community Court of Honor may be completed. There are still a few details of importance to work out and it is felt that all local troops should be represented in justice to their diverse parts in this event.

Let's all get into the harness and pull for a fine show of recognition for our Scouts who most certainly merit it!

Plymouth Cubbers should not fail to remember that Friday, December 7, is the date of the next Pack meeting. We are expecting a very nice turnout of both Cubbers and Cubs who are to bring the results of their month's efforts in Cub Handicraft.

Last years efforts in this field were most gratefully received and we hope to exceed our precedent this year.

The Handicraft training course completed as of Monday, November 19, graduated thirty or more Cub Scout leaders from districts 7-10.

This means that more and better Cub crafts are on the way into your son's Den through the leaders who have had training in the means, methods and reasons for this type of Cubbing effort.

Comes Back to His Old Home Town to Live in Retirement

William J. Wilson, who ran Plymouth's municipal lighting plant back in the "good old days," has returned to Plymouth to live.

For the past quarter of a century he has been employed by the Detroit Edison company in its boiler plant in Detroit.

Upon reaching the retirement age, he decided to return to "his old home town" to reside with his sister, Mrs. Albert Gunsolly of 235 Amelia street.

"Harry Robinson was village president back in the days when I ran the village lighting system. We used to have some great times trying to keep Plymouth well lighted. But our small plant did a good job" said Mr. Wilson yesterday.

Circled World Three Times

"Other than the letters I received from my family, the Plymouth Mail was my only link with home during my military career."

These were the warm words of Theron Tallmadge, of 612 Blunk street, who was discharged Oct. 10 after three years and four months in the Coast Guard.

Theron dropped into the office of The Mail this week to personally thank the staff for keeping it filled with news from home and the Plymouth soldiers, sailors and marines. He said it was refreshing to receive, even though the issues might be a month or more old.

A personable, genial and married young man before the war, Theron has changed little except to take on a look of wisdom that comes from his participation in considerable action. Like a battle-tried and true veteran he is modest and prefers to relate little of his experiences.

Before the war he was an ordnance worker under the Federal Civil Service System and was assigned to the Kelsey-Hayes plant here. During his period of military service his seniority continued to accumulate.

He has returned to his former job and is now working in Detroit. He was discharged in Detroit at the Coast Guard separation center. Theron disembarked from his ship at Long Beach, Cal.

Entering the Coast Guard as an apprentice seaman, Theron pursued his ordnance work and gained promotions in rank to that of Gunner's Mate, First Class, the rating he held when discharged.

For the first part of the war, Theron was on shore duty at New York city. The last 18 months he served on board a troop transport, the U.S.S. General Randall, with an all-Coast Guard crew.

In that year and a half he sailed around the world once and two other times came within 400 miles of repeating the globe-circling cruise. Three times he visited Bombay, India, and many other ports that hang heavy with Oriental intrigue even in peace times.

One anchorage that he visited is so important that it is not on the maps and to his knowledge has never been publicized so Theron wouldn't tell The Mail about it either.

Theron said his ship was never in any invasion but saw lots of action as it traveled without escort and cruised at 20 knots and often was the target for enemy planes.

His experiences while on liberty in many foreign ports have been highly educational and also amusing. Although cautioned against it, one of Theron's petty officers gave some money to a woman beggar in India. She was a Hindu and one of the untouchables. She promptly threw her baby into his arms and it was 48 hours before the bewildered chap was out of his predicament.

Theron showed the Mail's staff a souvenir ten rupee note he brought home from India. One edge had a piece torn out. He explained that the merchants there string their currency on a needle and thread and then tear a piece from the notes when giving change as they pull them from the strings.

Asked if he would re-enlist, Theron remarked, "I don't know, it sure is a different life. It gets you, but so does Plymouth."

Ford Building Vast Foundry

Postwar rehabilitation projects to cost approximately $10,000,000 are underway in the Ford Motor Company's Rouge production foundry, M. L. Bricker, vice-president in charge of manufacturing, announced recently.

The foundry program is one of Ford's major rebuilding projects. Ford's foundry, which has a pouring capacity of 2,000 tons of molten metal daily, was the first to introduce the conveyor to take the molds to the metal instead of bringing the metal to the molds.

Postwar projects in the Ford gray iron foundry program include: enlargement of the core rooms and building of a large new core room, utilizing the space formerly occupied by the magnesium foundry; rebuilding four systems for producing motor cylinder blocks; installations making possible more efficient handling of hot metal—such as designing and installing new cupola charging equipment; installation of new dust collector systems and the installation of bulk material handling systems.

Other foundry improvements will be: installation of a sand reclaiming system; building a new layout for grinding and chipping motor blocks; erection of a new cylinder shot blast cleaning system; enlargement and consolidation of heat treat department; building an improved system for casting intake and exhaust valves; installing improved facilities for cylinder head molding; erection of new cylinder block welding department and alterations to small parts cleaning room.

The sand distribution system will be rearranged to eliminate trucking sand to points not reached by conveyor belts. Sand from the reclamation system eventually will be distributed over this.

There will be many miscellaneous changes, including installation of new shot blast equipment for tractor castings and new tractor delivery conveyor; rearrangement of two casting lines for cylinder heads; the rebuilding of crankshaft core ovens; oxygen gas distribution lines are to be installed as well as additional crankshaft cleaning equipment.

Ford's present foundry contains five major core rooms, all of which will be modernized from the standpoint of core-making facilities and improving material handling methods.

Ford proposes to cast enough motor blocks on its four rebuilt lines every 16 hours, requiring pouring 1,500,000 pounds of molten metal each day—making a line of cylinder blocks more than two miles long.

The handling of molding and core sand is an enormous operation. Each mold contains nearly 600 pounds of sand. For making 5,000 molds, approximately 3,000,000 pounds of sand a day will have to be mixed and handled.

Approximately 6,000,000 pounds of powdered materials such as cereal binders, clay, silica flour and bentonite will be used every 30 days in the foundry.

Much of the handling of powdered materials is to be eliminated by having them pumped or sucked through pipe lines to storage tanks above the location where they will be used.

Ford foundry consumes nearly 55,000 tons of sand a month which will be reclaimed. Other than being discolored, coated with oil, binders or clay, or some other foreign material during the molding or core-making processes, the sand is as good, in most cases, as the original product.

Box Social for Elm PTA Members

Members of the Elm School PTA are hard at work on plans for the new kitchen to be built at Elm school soon. Renewed emphasis is placed on securing contributions to carry on the project successfully.

Mr. Grandell, committee chairman, and his helpers will begin the building of the kitchen as soon as blueprints can be obtained. However, with cash expenditures for material and equipment the full cooperation of all concerned will be necessary. With the help of parents and friends of the school children it is hoped that the program can be maintained in the very near future.

To those who have contributed so generously, members say, "Thank you," and to everyone else who is interested in the welfare of the children so benefitted an invitation is extended to give, either of your time, your cash, or material, in any amount you wish.

Following the next regular Elm PTA meeting on Tuesday evening, Dec. 4, at 7:30 o'clock there will be a box social, proceeds from the auction will go to the children's Christmas party.

On Saturday evening, December 8, Mr. Grandell's committee will stage a public party. Those who have donated to make the party a success are as follows:

Next week more names will be added to the following list: DeWolf's Market, basket of food, $5; Tower's Feed Store, 9 lb. poultry; John's Market, 1 fruit cake; H. & F. Hardware, fruit juicer; Redford Cleaners, $3 cash; Bob Erner's Service, 02 cash; Clark's Market, 2 fruit cakes, $5; Leadbetter's Coal & Lumber Co., $3 cash.

Sergeants Given Welcome Home

About thirty guests were present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Denski, Lilley road, for the reception given in honor of Sgt. John E. Johnson of Plymouth, Michigan and Sgt. Arthur E. Sedillo of Denver, Colorado, who returned home very recently. Both boys were overseas two years with the 1st Army and saw action in Normandy, Northern France, Rhineland, Ardennes, Central Europe; being close pals they received practically the same decorations.

Sgt. Johnson received the African Middle Eastern Service medal, Distinguished Unit Citation, 1st Army Bronze Arrowhead, 348th Engineers Battalion Good Conduct medal, Meritorious Service Wreath and the Purple Heart. Sgt. Sedillo has the same as Sgt. Johnson with the exception of the Meritorious Service Wreath and the Purple Heart in which place he received the Distinguished Unit Citation with Cluster. Croix de Guerre with Palm, and French Fourragere.

Needless to say both boys are happy to be home and so are

Mrs. Johnson the former Elaine Lock and two small sons, John E. Johnson III, and James Earl, wife and sons of Mr. Johnson. During the reception the announcement of the engagement of Nora Lillian Lock to Mr. Arthur E. Sedillo by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lock, came as a pleasant surprise to their many friends.

Besides the thousands of geographical names we have borrowed from American Indian languages, about 1,700 other Indian words have come into English usage, among them being barbecue, chipmunk, hickory, hominy and toboggan.

THERE ISN'T ALWAYS ROOM FOR ONE MORE

THE odds are against Casper's breaking this manpower bloc. There's just one too many! And in a home that has inadequate wiring, your electric toaster may be one appliance too many for the circuit to carry. It isn't a happy home where Mother hasn't her brand-new frozen-food cabinet where she wants it, because there's no outlet—or where Sister can't have a light for her dressing table without moving it. It's great to have that favorite lamp by your easy chair—if that outlet isn't on a circuit that's "overloaded" because of improper distribution of outlets per circuit. Have your home as adequately wired as a new house—as well prepared for every new electrical appliance. It will pay you in comfort the few dollars it costs to modernize your wiring system. And if you plan on building your own home, be sure there are plenty of outlets, conveniently located and served by enough circuits properly distributed. Good lighting insures good housekeeping, more comfortable living and more convenience for the family.

This is one of a series of advertisements prepared in cooperation with the Electrical Contractors in your area in the interest of insuring adequate wiring for every home. When you build or remodel, be sure your home is properly wired. For wiring recommendations, call your local Detroit Edison office.

THERE ARE NO "HIDDEN" STEEL PROFITS

United Steelworkers of America-CIO charges that steel companies piled up huge "hidden" profits during the war. It insists that the steel companies now can use their "swollen" wartime profits in order to pay a $225,000,000-a-year wage increase.

The Union's charge of "hidden" profits during the war is false. That was shown conclusively by the fact-finding panel of the National War Labor Board. In September, 1944, that government agency declared in an official report that what the Union calls "hidden" profits are necessary reserves, and that such reserves "are proper and cannot be considered as steel profits."

The truth about profits in the steel industry during the war is that they were not "swollen." They were less than in any good peacetime year! After all bills were paid, net earnings after taxes during the three war years, 1942 to 1944, represented an average return of 5 percent on the money invested. That was a lower return investment than in any peacetime year of high steel production.

There is no mystery about reserves in the steel industry. Workers as well as stockholders are protected by these reserves. Machines wear out and must be replaced. During the war the wear and tear under capacity operations was without precedent. When necessary reserves are not provided, any company will run down. Then there are fewer jobs, smaller pay checks. These principles of sound management apply to a one-man garage or any small business as well as to a million-dollar corporation.

Every cent that steel companies set aside for future needs is checked by your Government. Nothing can be hidden. The tax collectors, renegotiation boards, and many other government agencies have reviewed the figures year after year. They recognize reserves as an essential part of the cost of doing business.

Reserves set aside for wear and tear of facilities and for contingencies do not constitute a fund out of which wages can be paid. To do so would quickly exhaust the reservoir on which the steel companies depend for their future lives.

Any solution of the present wage-price issue in the steel industry must take into consideration these clearly established facts.

Jesse Tritten Back From War With Valuable Trophies—Hunts, Gets Buck

Jesse Tritten, after 27 months service of which 18 months were spent overseas, received his honorable discharge from the army October 31, at Indiantown Gap, Penn. He arrived in Newport News, Va., October 26, after being delayed more than two weeks by strikers before sailing from Marseilles, France.

He was with the 598th Motor Ambulance Company working with the Third Army, and served nearly every division of that army at one time or another from D-day to V-E day. During his 27 months service he has been in nine foreign countries; Canada, Scotland, England, France, Luxemburg, Belgium, Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia. He also saw about 30 states in this country during the period he was in service. He wears the Victory ribbon, ETO ribbon, with 4 battle stars, for the battles of Northern France, of Ardenne, of Rhineland, and of Central Europe, also the good conduct ribbon.

Mr. Tritten helped to clean up some of the German concentration camps and reports that none of the horrors of which we have heard could possibly be exaggerated. His work did not end with V-E day because of the thousands of prisoners of war and displaced persons that had to be handled for months after the fighting stopped.

Mrs. Tritten accompanied Mrs. Russell Swartz of Lincoln Park to Harrisburg, Pa., where they met their husbands who had served together for the past 27 months and had received their discharges together. After a few days trip to Gettysburg, then over the Skyline Drive through West Virginia to Ohio and into Indiana they arrived home on Saturday, November 3. Since returning home the Tritten's three year old son, Norman, whom Mr. Tritten had not seen for 22 months, has occupied much of his time.

Mr. Tritten has sent or brought home many trophies among which his gun and coin collections are outstanding. In all his travels he is not convinced that the world is a small place, since he only saw one person whom he had known before from the time he completed basic training until he was discharged.

Mr. and Mrs. Tritten and son Norman visited relatives and friends in Manistee County last week where Mr. Tritten went deer hunting and got his buck on Saturday. They returned to their home on Ann Arbor Trail Nov. 20.

Mr. Tritten expects to return to Wall Wire Products Company soon, where he had been employed since soon after that company started in Plymouth and until his induction into the army.

Gertrude Fulton Becomes Bride in Church Wedding

Candles and palms decorated the altar of the Nazarene church for the marriage of Gertrude Ida-mae Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gwynne Fulton of Hamilton street to Cpl. Paul J. Alberts, son of Peter Alberts of Marion. The bridegroom is stationed at Camp Campbell, Kentucky.

The bride chose a gown of angel white satin, and a finger tip veil of white netting caught by an orange blossom crown. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Reva Hopper was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Beatrice Jerkenson and Dorothy Fulton, sister of the bride. Their gowns were made along the same lines, with bodices of blue and pink satin and full skirts of net of the same color. Her honor attendant wore a tiara of pink roses and a short pink veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow-bebe mums. The bridesmaids wore similar head-dresses. Their bouquets were of yellow bebe mums.

Lavern Alberts, best man and brother of the groom, was discharged from the army.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Fulton wore a gray pencil striped dress with brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The reception was held at the Grange Hall after the ceremony, 175 guests being present.

The bride will make her home with her parents while her husband awaits his discharge from the army.

Badminton Champs To Stage Exhibit Here

Badminton enthusiasts here will have their inning next Monday night, December 3, when Ted Brooks and Ray Ickes, of the Detroit Badminton club, give an exhibition at the Plymouth high school gymnasium.

They not only will give an exhibition of the game and the correct way to play it, but also will offer instruction to those who would like to play but know little about the game.

More than 35 local enthusiasts have already signified their intention of being present to receive instructions. Any others who want to attend are welcome to do so.

According to the latest American Legion survey, 166 World War II Congressional winners survived the global war, or about 40 per cent of them.

Special Film For Veterans

"What Every Veteran Should Know," a specially prepared and produced movie "short" which is being distributed by Universal Pictures in cooperation with the Office of War Information will be shown here at the Penn Theatre this week Friday and Saturday, tonight and tomorrow night.

The "short" eventually will be screened throughout the nation at all theatres regardless of size. It was prepared to provide a comprehensive portrayal of the nation's Selective Service System in the Veterans Assistance Program.

All veterans, whether discharged or still in the service, are urged to see this film. All local Selective Service personnel also have been advised by the state director of selective service to avail themselves of the opportunity to see the film when it is shown here.

Urge Farmers To Buy Fertilizer Now—Predict 1946 Shortage

Plymouth farmers who expect to get their share of fertilizer for the 1946 crop season should place their orders at once with their dealers, advises C. E. Millar, head of the soil science department at Michigan State college.

Supplies of fertilizers for 1946 will not be sufficient to meet the demand, according to present indications, he says. Several factors are contributing to this situation.

Labor problems are causing manufacturers more concern than a year ago. Lack of shipping facilities is restricting production by limiting the shipments of potash from the mines in New Mexico and California to the fertilizer factories. Although termination of the war has reduced the requirements for sulfuric acid to make explosives, thus permitting the manufacture of more super-phosphate, the limitations in shipping are restricting production.

So, in general, Millar believes the prospects for plenty of fertilizer are not bright. By placing orders now, delivery can be made whenever the local dealer gets a supply. The fertilizer can be stored then for use when the spring planting season opens.

For 56 years after the first printing press was set up in Massachusetts in 1639, all religious works as well as secular publications were subjected to censorship.

How Farmers Can Make Money By The Way They Plant Crops

That Michigan farmers can put money in their pockets by planting across the slope instead of up and down hill was further proved by soil conservation experiments during the past summer.

An increase of eight and one-half bushels of corn to the acre was secured with contour planting as compared with the ordinary method, according to a report by G. A. Thorpe, assistant state conservationist at Michigan State college.

The tests were conducted on the soil loss plots located in Tyrone township in Livingston county. The corn yield on the plot where the crops have all been planted up and down hill since 1938 was 35.8 bushels an acre this fall. The yield on the plot where planting had always been on the contour or across the slope was 44.3 bushels an acre.

As both corn plots had abundant rainfall this year throughout the growing season, it is believed that the greater soil losses occurring on the up and down hill plot since 1938 were responsible. This plot lost more than 40 tons of soil to the acre from 1938 to 1944, while the contour planted plot lost only a little more than 7 tons of top soil an acre for the same period. This was a difference of more than 33 tons of soil in favor of contour plowing and planting.

Mr. Thorpe points out that soil erosion removes soil minerals as well as organic matter from the soil. This cuts crop yields because valuable calcium, potash, phosphorus and other minerals needed for plant growth are missing. Planting across the slope, especially on slopes under 12 percent, helps hold the soil with its minerals, and helps retain moisture.

Ate His Thanksgiving Dinner Last Year Through a Glass Tube

"It's a lot different this year the way I'm eating this Thanksgiving turkey than it was last year when I was in a hospital over in England. I ate my Thanksgiving dinner last year through a glass tube. In fact I ate all of my meals through a glass tube for nearly three months," asserted John Nelson, one of The Plymouth Mail boys who is back on his old position after having done a great job for Uncle Sam.

John was eating a deliciously roasted turkey when his thoughts reverted back to what his Thanksgiving dinner was a year ago.

"But we did have a lot to be thankful for. We were thankful for the way the doctors took care of us and the kindly way the nurses treated us. They acted just as though they were our mothers. But it's all over now and I don't want to think any more about it," he said. No one blames him for thinking that way. He saw plenty of tough going.

Because of the low wages paid in England, marriage is discouraged among the male employees of most banks, government departments and large commercial and industrial firms. Even after a man has attained the required age, salary or position, he must still secure permission to marry from his superior, who may or may not grant it. Consequently, in some British organizations before the war, as few as ten out of every 100 men were married.

Inspired by Civic Unity Spirit

I've lived quite a while and I've seen a whole lot, but never before such a fine spirit of community and religious and fraternal cooperation as Vaughn Smith and myself witnessed at a Shrine ceremonial in London, Canada a few nights ago," stated William Rose yesterday.

Mr. Rose and Mr. Smith went to London with a Shrine group from Detroit.

The London Shrine members have for a number of years, like Michigan Shriners, been active in the welfare of crippled children.

In London a large hospital project has been maintained by the Canadian Shriners for unfortunate crippled children.

At the Shrine ceremonial affair last week in Canada, present were high ranking officials of the Knights of Columbus. They had raised $6,000 for the Shrine crippled children work.

"I was never more impressed in my life by the remarkable spirit of cooperation and good will that was displayed at this meeting between Masons and Catholics. It was an example that any city could well afford to follow. I learned that this spirit was the outgrowth of the acceptance by the Shrine of children of all faiths into their hospital. Frequently there have been more Catholic children as patients than Protestants. It was a wonderful and a most inspiring meeting," said Mr. Rose.

Auto License Plates on Sale

Plymouth motorists so desiring will be able to purchase 1946 full year auto license plates Saturday morning. That's the day the annual license sale will begin here and throughout the state.

Frank Rambo, manager of the local license bureau which is located in the Mayflower Hotel, has his staff already and is expecting a big sale the opening day.

Mr. Rambo informs The Mail that the state is issuing only one plate per car again this year. It also is to be attached to the rear of the vehicle.

The 1946 plates, according to Mr. Rambo, are green and white. Plymouth's series for full year plates will start with CN 3701 and run to CN 9950. Persons with that peculiarity that causes them to want "trick" or "special" license numbers are out of luck. No plates will be held back or sold out of sequence for any individual.

Half year plates, the state's biggest folly, are still in the process of manufacture and will not be available until sometime in January.

Donald Lewis is Home to Stay

Donald Peter Lewis, son of Mrs. Claude W. Lewis of 34208 Orange-lawn avenue, has arrived home after 29 months in overseas duties with the U. S. army. He enjoyed the unusual experience of returning home through the same port from which he was sent overseas, at Newport News, Virginia on the big transport U. S. Gen. Breckenridge.

With him on his return were 5,200 other veterans. They shipped from Marseille, France.

Don had won 88 points and because of this he was given almost an immediate honorable discharge. His return home was his first visit back to Plymouth since February 3, 1943.

He has seen plenty of tough action, having started out in the African campaign, then Sicily, Normandy, France, Germany and Central Europe.

He was an anti-tank gunner and radio operator with the 39th Infantry of the 9th Division. During his services in the army he won the medal as an expert anti-tank gunner, the combat infantry badge, a good conduct medal, the European, African Middle-Eastern service medal with six bronze stars and the Arrowhead and soon will be awarded the Bronze medal.

Thunder Storm on 'Turkey' Eve

Maybe it has happened before. Maybe lots of times. But few recall of a thunder storm on Thanksgiving "eve" such as took place this year in Plymouth.

The day before Thanksgiving was a pleasant day, something like a warm, cloudy spring day.

As evening darkness descended over the earth, the wind began to howl, black clouds covered the skies and lightning flashed and thunder shook the houses.

Maybe it was all because the Michigan legislature at the last session fixed the fourth Thursday of November as the legal holiday for Michigan. In years gone by, Thanksgiving was always on the last Thursday in November.

Then came along the Washington political jugglers and haters. They began moving even holidays around and the traditional Thanksgiving date was changed.

Many people wouldn't follow the Washington idea and so in Michigan and elsewhere throughout the country, there were two Thanksgiving days each year.

The Michigan legislature decided that it was time to end this foolishness, so they passed a law making the fourth Thursday in every November Thanksgiving day. It seems that the rest of the country followed suit.

Maybe Old Man Weather was so pleased over it all that he staged the thunder storm to applause the action.

At any rate it turned cold the next day, snowed a bit and it's been pretty snappy ever since.

Plymouth Veteran Home from Europe, Raps "Bottlenecks"

Striking examples of serious "bottlenecks" in the army's arduous task of returning millions of its soldiers to civilian status were illustrated by Ernest Epps, recently discharged from the service. Ernie started his long trek back to Plymouth in August with an accumulated total of 92 points and a promise that he would set foot in his home at 599 Ann Street no later than the 15th of September. He arrived in this city October 27th.

"The biggest delay was in France, where we did nothing but sit around waiting for shipment for an entire month," he related. "When they told us the reason for the delay was because of a 'ship shortage,' everyone wanted to know what had happened to all the ships we had seen massed for the invasion, but there was no answer."

A member of the 4th Cavalry Group, the oldest unit in that branch of the United States Army, Epps saw action in five campaigns beginning with the invasion and ending with the battle of central Germany. Elements of the 4th landed on French soil two hours before the main body began their assault at H-hour and thus gained the distinction of being the first ground troops to conquer French territory.

When asked to comment on some of his experiences, Epps recalled, "The one experience that will always stick with me was the 'Battle of Bogheim, Germany. I know that name means little, if anything to most of the folks back here, but to the men who were there I'm sure that Bogheim will hold the spotlight long after Aachen, St. Mere Eglise and Colgne have faded from memory. We lost nearly sixty per cent of our total strength that day trying to erase the Germans last foothold on the western bank of the Roer. The battle raged unchecked for 15 hours and when it was over the only Germans still on our side were dead ones. We were awarded the Presidential Citation for that engagement and we are pretty proud of it."

After the Germans capitulated, Ernie decided to write a book about the campaigns of the 4th Cavalry. The book was published four months later in Frankfurt, Germany and presented to all members of the unit as a souvenir.

Now that he's a civilian again, young Epps plans to capitalize on his publishing experience by working for the Plymouth Mail. Mrs. Wilma Epps, also of Plymouth, is his mother. Since the start of the war, Mrs. Epps has watched all five of her sons go into the service. Now that Ernest, William, Lindsay and Harold have been discharged, she has only one star in the window. That one's for Chuck, now stationed at the Sampson Naval Base, New York.

Peter Miller Writes Interesting Series of Articles About Mexico

Plymouth residents interested in a vacation trip to Mexico will find factual information in a series of articles written by Peter R. Miller of Shady Side Farm, East Ann Arbor Trail, accepted for publication by Motor News, the official publication of the Automobile Club of Michigan. The first of these articles is entitled "It's Pronounced Wa-HA-Ca" and appears in the November issue. It pictures the little-known section of southern Mexico centering around the city of Oaxaca. A second article captioned "Busman's Holiday" concerns itself with Mexico's famed Pacific seaport, Acapulco. This is scheduled to appear in the January number of "Motor News." Miller, who is executive secretary of the Michigan State Athletic Board of Control and partner in the Detroit advertising agency of Mutschall & Miller, also finds time to carry on the successful operation of a 15-acre fruit farm east of Plymouth. He is already planning his eighth trip to Mexico. With Mrs. Miller he will fly to Mexico City late in December, and from there by a second plane to Guatemala City in Mexico's southern neighbor republic. After a week on the Guatemala highlands, they will cross the border into Mexico to spend the balance of their vacation as guests on a 10,000 acre ranch carved out of the jungle in Chiapas, Mexico's southernmost state.

Large Audience Hears Lecture on Christian Science Last Friday Eve

Last Friday evening, November 23, in the Plymouth high school auditorium a capacity audience heard Dr. John M. Tutt, C.S.B., of Kansas City, Missouri, a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientists, deliver an interesting free lecture on Christian Science. His subject was "Christian Science; The Science of Soul, God."

His lecture, in part, follows:
More Than a Prophet

Always the recurring tragedies of history have been marked by prophetic voices, seers calling upon the people to repent their materialistic backsliding; and assuring to the spiritually minded the four freedoms of Soul—mental, physical, moral, spiritual. Climaxing the progressive appearance of such Godlike characters as Noah, Moses, the Prophets, John the Baptist, names undying in the annals of mankind, came the final revealer of Truth, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy. Contemporary with the insurgence of liberty in the freeing of the African slaves in the United States of America, Mrs. Eddy, as she herself put it in her book, the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, "sounded the keynote of universal freedom" (p. 226). And in the revelation of divine Science, which this God inspired scribe envisioned and reduced to the needs of humanity, in what she called Christian Science, full liberation is assured to all from every enslavement. For example, Mrs. Eddy revealed, and amazingly exemplified, the Motherhood of God; and in so doing she lifted the curse of womankind. And for every mother's daughter and son, whose heart is contrite and whose thought is humble, she opened the way to independence. Such an emancipated child can now say with Jesus (John 16), "All things that the Father hath are mine, and with Mrs. Eddy: All things that the Mother hath are mine. Mother-God has no fears for Her child, and I have none. This Science, prophesying and demonstrating as it does, mental, moral, physical and spiritual freedom had to be the emanation of supreme power and intelligence, and be brought to earth by a worthy messenger. Hence the life preparation of Mrs. Eddy, from earliest childhood all the way to the mount of revelation. Her words and works were the outcome of "a contrite heart, a humble thought."

Christian Scientists read in the Bible, the prophecy of the appearing of God's "two anointed ones" (Zach. 4). And Christ Jesus himself foretold the coming of the Comforter, the spirit of Truth, which, he said, would guide into all truth. (See John 16.) From experience Christian Scientists know they have found in Christian Science the promised Comforter. Mrs. Eddy experienced sickness pain, poverty, injustice. But through all vicissitudes she clung to her faith in God, and the healing power of Christ. And in direst extremity she was healed, and freed from the bonds of material sense; which alone, she found, had enslaved her. Through this healing by prayer she was divinely led to discover Christian Science, and to found the Christian Science movement. And she was led to establish Christian Science as a healing and saving evangelical system. So that anyone to whom the final revelation of Truth comes also can establish his faith and demonstration on that foundation of Christ healing and saving. Mrs. Eddy's was the true missionary and healed the sick, not only by her own individual efforts, but also through her published writings; spirit, for she preached the gospel through the establishment of The Mother Church with its world wide branches and their activities; through The Christian Science Publishing Society, with its weekly, monthly and quarterly periodicals and the great daily newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor; and through The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. All of which institutions she founded to advance the religion of Christian Science, and so to bring salvation to humanity. From grateful hearts Christian Scientists acknowledge her prophetic calling and her Soul-inspired Leadership. Recognizing in their Leader more than a prophet, they follow her even as she followed Christ. And they believe, and are sure, that she who has led them through the Red Sea of materialism, will also guide them in the wilderness, over Jordan, and into the promised land of Soul.

"The Nature, Essence and Wholeness of Deity"

Christian Science is pure monotheism. Many religions have claimed to teach one God, but one and all, religions other than Christian Science have admitted besides good an opposite called evil; and besides Spirit another substance called matter. Mrs. Eddy proclaimed one God, synonymous with good, and His wholly good creation, spiritual man and the universe. To indicate the one absolute good, and also as she put it, to express the nature, essence, and wholeness of Deity" (Science and Health, p. 465), she was directed by unerring intelligence to designate seven particular terms for God. These synonyms are Mind, Soul, Spirit, Principle, Life, Truth and Love. Mrs. Eddy found them in, or implied in, the Bible. Capitalized by Mrs. Eddy, they serve to present not many gods, but one God in many shades of meaning. Study of these synonyms broadens and deepens one's understanding of God, and so of God's image and likeness, man, one's own true selfhood. And study of the synonyms for God is peculiar to Christian Science. For our consideration at this time let us take the synonym Soul. Perhaps the least known, to most people the least meaningful of the terms for Deity, Soul eludes many, and to them remains largely the unknown God. Else it remains, in belief a somewhat nebulous element in mortal man; which somehow is supposed to survive the passing of the body, and to be blessed or punished according to its merits or demerits. Yet, since Soul is God, many souls would deny the oneness of God. And many not this misapprehension and ignorance of Soul be the main reason why there is so much trouble, worry, pain, disease, ugliness, distress, and unfinished business in the human experience, at the expense of harmony, health, joy, serenity, beauty, peace and poise. Hence the grave need is for us to know more of Soul, its attributes, faculties and functions. Science and Health declares: "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul" (p. 60).

Soul Defined

In her book, Rudimental Divine Science, Mrs. Eddy has defined Soul as "the only real consciousness which cognizes being. The body does not see, hear, smell, or taste. Human belief says that it does; but destroy this belief of seeing with the eye, and we could not see materially; and so it is with each of the physical senses" (p. 5). Soul then, the only real consciousness, is God and so Soul is the supreme intelligence or Mind. That God, the creator of self-contained Father-Mother, may be real to us as Soul we must grasp Soul as the infinite Person, or self-conscious Being.

What is the Science of Soul?

The Science of Soul is the knowledge of God in all the varied meanings and significance of that self-consciousness which is above and opposite to matter and the material senses. And it is the application of such knowledge to humanity. Thus the Science of Soul establishes Soul as the source of spiritual or real sense, and exposes and disproves the opposite material senses, or what is commonly called the soul. In Christian Science we search for God through the Soul senses, and find all in Soul, God; but we do not thereby lose the individuality of either God or man, or true selves. As your real selfhood is seen, the falsely personal vanishes. The spiritually personal, or individual man you are, needs no apologies. It blesses the world and glorifies God. Your indispensability to God is as real as God's indispensability to you. This self knowledge is the spiritual or Soul-sense of being. The faculties of Soul are spiritual sight, taste, hearing, touch, smell, plus all other Soul, senses. Spiritual sense or understanding is the manifestation of Soul, and it is God's agent for salvation in the human consciousness. It destroys the false sense of confusion opposed to clarity, of discord versus harmony, lack versus abundance, poverty versus wealth, disease versus health, poison versus functioning, loss versus gain, stasis versus activity, retrogression against progress, sin versus rectitude.

The Qualities of Soul

We must come to comprehend, to love and to live God as Soul. For through Soul we come to health, harmony, normality, and all the finer things of life are made secure to us.

There is the Soul quality radiance. The textbook says, (p. 247) "Immortality, exempt from age or decay, has a glory of its own—the radiance of Soul." Now, for example, Soul radiates the loveliness of Love, the truthfulness of Truth, and Soul's own harmonies. Even as the sun throws its rays as light, color, and heat, and without diminution, so Soul radiates the qualities of God, to comprise one grand divine radiation or expression of being.

Conclusion

The world presents today a gravely dislocated sense of morals, law, order and harmony. Yet Christian Science has come, and the harvest has been and will continue to be plentiful. That error seems much more to abound where harmony alone should be seen, deeply concerns every disciple of Christ Jesus, and every follower of our Leader. When the original Mother Church building was erected in the Back Bay in Boston, there also grew up around it all sorts of riff-raff. All about the sacred edifice there sprang up questionable rooming houses. Across the narrow street was a cheap saloon and a mean drug store. Quack doctors, mental scientists, palmists, astrologers, numerologists, fortune tellers, and spiritualists crowded the immediate vicinity. But these were not native to the character and influence of The Mother Church. Where are all these anti-Christ now? After a brief day vanished, gone with the evil wind that blew them right up to the very doors of the Church of Christ, Scientist. Even so will error's seeming obstruction upon men and nations also disappear. The evil growth of schemes aimed against individual and private enterprise, culminating in regimentation and the violation of democracy, is contrary to Christian Science. God through Christian Science preserves individuality. He does not annihilate identity. Heaven is realized through the impersonalization of evil and the glorification of good, of God and His spiritual reflection, man. This is the scriptural answer to all defections from the straight and narrow way in Science, and this is the assurance to the remnant who walk consistently in the path of the Principle and practice of the Science of Soul, who adhere strictly to its code of ethics: "The righteous shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger" (Job 17). And not only stronger and stronger but gladder and gladder for the true follower of Christ gains joy through strength. The day of permanent peace can dawn upon the nations only as the love of peace is born to the human consciousness and grows in favor with mankind. This babe of Soul, which every Christian Scientist should cherish comes to and dwells with those only that love good supremely and walk steadfastly in the steps of the great Wayshower, Jesus, the Christ. A pastor once said to a convert, who had come out of great tribulation and waywardness: "Brother, you never fail to come into the house of God when the doors are opened, and your enthusiasm and devotion to the church inspires and comforts me." The reply should be broadcast to every Christian of wayward foot and chilled heart. "Well," he said to his pastor, "some of us have come to know where our joy is." Peace and joy will come to individuals and nations only as Christ, the idea of Soul, becomes more and more exclusive in human consciousness. In the transition from sense to Soul, there is no substitution for "a contrite heart, a humble thought!"

"Phonographic" Record Concert

Thumbing through his collection of old papers, magazines and printed mementoes of special occasions, William Smith, of South Harvey street, discovered a 45-year-old handbill printed by The Mail.

The aged but surprisingly well preserved document heralded a "Phonographic" baseball benefit concert at the "Village" Hall. It was scheduled for April 25 in the evening. Admission was ten and 20 cents.

A very extensive program was printed. It all was presented on record. Sort of a transcribed feature in person.

There were vocal solos, instrumental solos, recitations, quartet numbers and band selections. Popular at that time were such ballads as "Molly and I and the Baby," "Old Black Joe," "Coming Through the Rye," "One of His Legs Is Longer than It Really Ought to Be," "He Was a Pal of Mine," and "Caliope Song."

Farmers to Elect New Committee

Farmers around Plymouth and throughout Wayne county will during the next two weeks take time out for the purpose of electing AAA community and county committee members for the coming year.

Three community committees and two alternates, as well as a delegate to the county convention, will be chosen in each of the county's eleven farming communities. The delegates will later elect the three-man committee which will administer AAA activities within Wayne county.

Chairman Fred C. Ernest, of the county AAA committee, said today that dates, hours, and places for holding the annual election are now being determined. Announcement will be made next week.

Mr. Ernest says approximately 1500 farmers are eligible to vote on committees this year. "Eligible" farmers are those who participated in the 1945 agricultural conservation program, the sugar program, or who signed a crop insurance application.

The solution of the postwar problem ahead is the vital concern of every farmer. Consequently, it is to his own best interest to vote in the coming elections—to make sure that the men administering AAA programs in the county are the ones he wants to represent him.

P.H.S. PURCHASES NEW MOVIE PROJECTORS

Because the Plymouth High School visual education equipment was in very bad condition and the facilities were not adequate the school board purchased three new Ampro Premier "10" sound on film movie projectors for the school system. The plan is to purchase another projector soon so there will be one machine for each grade school and two for the high school.

The new Ampro equipment is in excellent condition and it is expected to stay that way. In order to make sure that it will remain so, the school is training operators who will carry special cards designating them as operators. Any student not carrying one of these operator's cards will be forbidden to use the movie equipment until an authorized operator is secured.

Visual education is becoming more and more important in the schools throughout the country as a method of teaching and is considered in many places more valuable than text books. In the Plymouth school system there has been great difficulty because all of the classes that desired to see movies were not able to because there was not enough room, equipment, operators, or the equipment always failed at a decisive moment.

WALLY GARDNER BECOMES SONGSATION OF P.H.S.

Singing from the bottom of his heart, Wally Gardner, made the student body breathless last Friday evening when he became an immediate songsation singing "Till the End of Time."

On most occasions there is only an orchestra at the high school dances, but never is there a special feature, however when our own Wally Gardner placed himself before the audience, grasped the mike and began to utter those tones never equalled before, the dancers stopped in their tracks to hear him.

Everyone hopes that the Sophomore dance of Friday evening will not be the first and last time they will have the privilege of hearing Mr. Gardner and that he will not fade into the background, but that he will continue with his splendid vocals and give the students of P.H.S. the thrill of a life time.

YOUR FUTURE TELEPHONE SERVICE DEPENDS ON ADEQUATE TELEPHONE EARNINGS

THERE's a big job ahead for Michigan Bell. To supply the quantity and quality of telephone service needed in the future will require an expenditure of $120,000,000 for expansion and improvement in the first five post-war years.

Such a program will enable us to fill waiting orders. (Today more than 125,000 Michigan families are waiting.) It will permit us to care for future growth . . . to give you a telephone, promptly installed, wherever you may want it, wherever you may move . . . to resume extension of rural service . . . to put into use new technical developments . . . and to give you the kind of service you expect in the future.

Where will the money for this post-war program come from? It must be obtained from investors—thousands of thrifty Americans who are willing to put part of their savings into Bell System securities.

In order to attract their money, telephone earnings must be sufficient to assure reasonable dividends—now and in the future. If telephone earnings are not attractive compared with those of other companies, investors will place their savings elsewhere.

The future quality of your telephone service depends on telephone rates sufficient to produce earnings attractive to investors. Too long a continuation of inadequate earnings would weaken our ability to meet expected post-war telephone needs.

Michigan Bell customers want good service. The telephone bill is so small an item in their regular expenditures that customers want really good service even though it might cost a trifle more than they would need to pay for inferior service.

OUR $120,000,000 POST-WAR PROGRAM MEANS JOBS FOR THOUSANDS

ON BEING A JOURNALIST OR LET'S HAVE A HEADACHE

Journalism. That sounds like a good course to take in high school and it is only a one semester course. That last statement was the thought of six girls and one boy in September and so they eagerly signed up for a course in learning how to write and publish a school newspaper.

After a week in their new field the students were compelled to move from the third floor to the second floor so they could use one typewriter. Yes, one typewriter to compile all of the news. However, because classes were held in this room the class could only meet there the first two days of the week and the rest of the time in the other room on the third floor. At last the journalists have found a room which they can call their own. Where is it? Why, in an old clothes closet in the commercial building. Oh yes, it really resembles a newspaper office. Oh, there are a few things that haven't been cleared up yet such as a door knob on the main door to the office. More than one door? Yes, there are four doors in the closet, one in each wall. And then there is no radiator in the room, no typewriters, no wastebaskets, no pencil sharpener and a few other things. But as we say "Keep Smiling!"

The deadline for news is Monday at 3:30. So on Friday the staff decides that they better find some news and then they begin to write it up. Of course there are no typewriters so they have to wait until Monday when they can go over to the room on the second floor to type. When Monday arrives the staff rushes like mad to get everything done—they never do! About this time the student body jams the drop box in the library with society news from the week-end, or gossip and idle chatter. And the staff tries to satisfy everyone, for if they do not there will be criticism. Criticism well earned, no doubt.

At last the news is written and all feature stories are thrown in the wastebasket because they do not sound quite right, and then the material is taken to the newspaper office. Then Friday comes and every student comes tearing into the editor's hair or at the reporters and wants to know how they dared to leave Johnny's name out of the paper, or why Dickie's feelings were hurt or why an article was left out.

Yes, we of the Pilgrim Prints staff thoroughly enjoy being "Ace" journalists!

HOW DOES CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEAL?

The disappearance of organic and functional disease, as well as of trouble in other forms, is continually recorded among those who have turned to Christian Science for help.

The method of such overcoming of difficulty is prayer—a spiritually scientific manner of thinking based on the teaching of Christ Jesus.

What this prayer is and how anyone can understand it and use it effectually in accordance with his need are fully explained in the Christian Science textbook,

SCIENCE and HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy

This remarkable book, other works by Mrs. Eddy, and all other authorized Christian Science literature may be read, borrowed, or purchased at the Christian Science Reading Room.

KNOW YOUR LIBRARY

It has come to the attention of the staff that many students of P.H.S. do not use their school library nor do they know how to use it properly. Persons who take books from the library without signing their names and home room numbers on the card and date slip or bring books back and try to put them on the shelves themselves, do not realize the infinite amount of work and wasted time it causes the librarians to correct these matters.

Below are listed a few simple rules which if each and every one of you will follow will tend to put the school library into more orderly place and make things easier for all.

1. If you don't know the name of a book or its author and don't know how to use the card file, ask the librarian. Do not take up the hour looking for the book and then find that it is not in the library.

2. After receiving a book from the librarian sign your name and home room number on the card which is found inside the front cover of the book and also sign the date slip pasted inside the front cover. Make sure the librarian stamps the due date on the (Continued on Page 5)

YKNITS
 Your daily horoscope for the week of Nov. 30 to Dec. 6.
 Friday, Nov. 30—Take "Tums" for Thanksgiving indigestion. Boys! Don't spend that extra cash. Remember the Prom. Yknits foresees tests 5th hour today.
 Monday, Dec. 3—Your fourth house will be in the solar moon of the third triumph today and tomorrow. Follow same.
 Tuesday, Dec. 4—Yknits sees that many girls will be knitting mittens for the frost and snow are upon us. Jean Murray will continue knitting her red sweater.
 Wednesday, Dec. 5—Boys should order or have ordered flowers by today. See a movie tonight. If you have home work to do stay home under all circumstances and do it.
 Thursday, Dec. 6—Girls. Go to school. You will have plenty of time between today and tomorrow night to make ready for the Prom. Teachers are expected to make heavy assignments today in the eyes of Yknits and Mr. Latture will, no doubt, have dug up another joke from its grave.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL

Did you happen to notice some startled faces gazing into the gym last Friday? Well, yes, the girls were playing against the boys in a volley ball game.

It was not quite the usual thing for girls to play against boys, but leave it to Danny Wisley to dream up something like that. Danny challenged Margaret Jackson and her team to the game and his challenge was quickly accepted by the girls.

Playing fast and exciting games the boys defeated the girls five games to nothing. Even though they lost the girls felt better when they heard some of the boys remark: "They gave us quite a bit of competition though." Although the girls were beaten they are still ready for more and are challenging the boys to another game in the near future.

The two teams were: Danny Wisley, Capt.; Don Hayes, Ed Sommermann, Bill Strautz, Jim Dudley, Bob Newsted, Bob Brink. Margaret Jackson, Capt.; Eleanor Hart, Irene Newman, Jeanne Schuler, Marjorie Bassett, Phyllis Christensen, Irene Fegal, Gussie Phillips, Marilyn Vershure.

HOMEMAKING CLASS NEWS.

The last hour Homemaking class has been very busy this year. The girls have discovered that learning to be a homemaker includes numerous tasks.

One of the biggest jobs was the selection and hanging of drapes in the cafeteria. Donna Wisley and Joyce England had the drapery pale made at the lumber yard. The shop boys stained the pale and put up the hooks to hold it after Jane Hauk and Jean Agosta did the preliminary work of sanding and buying the hooks. Several pair of drapes were brought from the store for the girls to make the selection. Having decided on a floral design, the job of hanging was commenced. When finished the girls were well satisfied as it improved the appearance of the cafeteria very much.

Other jobs cared for by the girls are bookkeeping for the food expenditures, exhibit case, inventory for the cafeteria, bulletin boards, and holiday decorations. A field trip on selection and buying of vegetables is being planned for in the near future.

George Rathbun Proud of Ship

There's one thing about it, no matter what kind of a ship any Plymouth boys were assigned to, they are mighty proud of the record their war crafts made during the war.

From George Rathbun, Y3/c, The Plymouth Mail has just received a history of the U.S.S. Tate, known to the navy as AKA70. It is an interesting story and well worth reading. It follows:

The keel of the USS Tate (AKA70) was laid 22 July 1944 in the yard of the North Carolina Shipbuilding Company, Wilmington, North Carolina. On the same day, in Newport, Rhode Island, the first member of the crew assigned to the USS Tate pre-commissioning Detail reported for duty at the Naval Training Station. Simultaneously, at the U. S. Naval Amphibious Training Base, Fort Pierce, Florida, the Landing Boat Group was in training. These three elements were joined on 25 November 1944, when the USS Tate was placed in full commission at the Charleston Navy Yard, Charleston, South Carolina. Lieutenant Commander William Jordan assumed command.

The development and activity of the USS Tate followed in general the program designed for transport and cargo assault vessels. The shakedown cruise in Chesapeake Bay occupied the first two weeks of December, when firing tests, speed tests, and other training exercises were conducted. On December 16, Lieutenant Commander R. E. Lyon relieved Lieutenant Commander William Jordan as Commanding Officer and the ship sailed several days later on its first assignment, to Davisville, Rhode Island, to load general cargo for Pearl Harbor, T.H.

The USS Tate left Davisville, and the United States, on a cold December morning and set her course for the Canal Zone and the troubled skies and waters of the Pacific. After a brief stop at Cristobal, and another at Pearl Harbor and Port Allen, Kauai, T. H., for discharging and loading cargo, and personnel, the ship sailed for Eniwetok, in the Marshall Islands. There she met her sister ships of transport Squadron 17, with whom she was to share so many adventures. In February, in convoy for the first time, she sailed for Leyte Gulf, P.I. On 22 February 1945, after stops in Ulithi, the Caroline Islands, and Kossol Roads, Palau Islands, the USS Tate arrived in Leyte Gulf, from which point she proceeded to Samar, P. I., to discharge cargo and personnel. It is to be noted that exactly seven months after her keel was laid, and less than three months after commissioning, the ship was completing its first mission in the forward area—her second wartime mission.

In March and April, the USS Tate trained for and participated in the amphibious operation for the capture of the Okinawa Gunto. She was combat loaded off Tarragona, Leyte, with personnel and equipment of the U. S. Army 77th Infantry Regiment. On the 21st of March she sailed as a unit of the Western Islands Attack Group, Rear Admiral Kiland in command, for the assault and capture of the Kerama Retto, a small group of islands to the South and West of Okinawa. Landing craft and personnel of this vessel participated in the invasions and subsequent transportation of personnel and supplies to the beaches of Aka Shima, Kubo Shima, Yakabi Shima and Zamami Shima. All operations were successfully completed, and the ships withdrew to a waiting area.

Three weeks later the USS Tate was again participating in the assault and capture of an enemy island: Ie Shima, where the famous war correspondent, Ernie Pyle, was killed. From 16-22 April her small boats successfully carried personnel, ammunition and cargo to the beachheads.

After 28 days in the Okinawa area, the USS Tate withdrew to quieter waters. During these four weeks she had been subjected to attacks by enemy aircraft, submarines, and suicide boats. Enemy suicide planes struck vessels ahead and abeam of her position in formation, and an escort vessel was exploded and sunk.

On less strenuous days, the ship sailed to Saipan, Marianas Islands and from there to Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands, where she loaded marine personnel and cargo for Guam. In June she set her course from Guam for the United States, and arrived in Seattle, Washington. After a short yard availability, she sailed once again with a load of personnel and cargo, via San Francisco, where she took aboard a full complement of landing craft, from Guam. There, only a few hours after arrival, the news of the Japanese offer of surrender was announced, and with it, the war time cruise of the USS Tate came to an end.

Subsequent to the Japanese surrender, the ship has been employed in the occupation of Japan, Korea and Tientsin, China; also the transport of Chinese troops from Hong Kong, Kowloon and Chinwangtao, China to Darwin, Manchuria.

On 25 November 1945, the USS Tate will have completed one year in full commission. In this period she will have traveled approximately 253,000 miles, carried a total of 16,000 tons of cargo, expended 2,471 rounds of ammunition in action against the enemy, and anchored in smoke screens made by her own boats a total of 64 hours to evade enemy detection.

Are Stocks Too High?
New York City, November 30. —I am still bullish. Although the stock market may have a break to correct technical conditions, I believe that it will be some time before the current bull market collapses. There are many reasons for this:

1. The tremendous backlog of unfilled orders
2. The tax reductions for 1946
3. The very low interest rates, which mean that even at present stock prices one may secure with safety a better interest return than from banks or bonds
4. The scarcity of good stocks. There are today fewer stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange than there were five years ago; with five times as much idle money awaiting investment.
5. The wage rumpus and accompanying strikes will only delay good times; not destroy or prevent them. Besides, merchandise stocks and leisure stocks should benefit from all wage increases
6. The fact that stocks are mostly owned outright and that total stock exchange transactions are today only 6% of national income compared with 10% in 1929

Keep Some Cash Idle

In view of the above, some readers wonder why I also advise keeping some cash and Government bonds on hand. The reason is because of the one chance in ten of a severe break in the market. This might give such extraordinary opportunities for re-investment that it is always advisable to keep a certain amount of cash on hand for this "one in ten" chance!

As an illustration of what I have in mind, let me refer to an Investment List recently issued by a very high-grade Stock Exchange Firm. It is titled "Eight Attractive Stocks." These stocks today sell at an average price of $55.50 and give an average yield of 3.65 percent. Yet these same eight stocks sold at an average of only $5.00 in 1932.

The above does not mean that in the next bear market these eight "high-grade" stocks will reach their 1932 lows, but most of them may go down to nearly these figures. At any rate, the discrepancy is so great that it pays to keep a certain amount of funds available for such rare opportunities when, as, and if they return.

More Inflation is Ahead

It is nonsense to attempt to prevent either price increases or labor increases. Inflation has followed every great war. There is no other way of paying for such a war. We must take our choice between more inflation or government repudiation. I have been warning readers of this for the past five years. Those who took my advice are sitting pretty today.

There are two things that can happen in the present situation: (1) Unreasonably high prices and profits which will result in increased employment; (2) Unreasonably lower prices and high wages which will result in much unemployment. Neither of these will win out, but there will be a general compromise by both groups yielding something. This compromise may not suit anybody, but it should result in higher stock prices. On the other hand, it is well to keep some funds liquid in case—one chance out of ten — something unexpected should happen.

My Personal Conclusion

This column has always been successful in advising when to get into the stock market. As to getting out, it is always more difficult. Preceding 1929 there were many danger signals, but there were almost none preceding the decline in 1937. Certainly, conditions are very much better today than in 1929 or 1937 when business was uncertain and when 80 percent of the stocks were held on borrowed money.

Yet both of these bull markets —1929 and 1937—were followed by a nose dive in general business; certainly, this is not evidence at the moment. Furthermore, money rates were high in those years, while they today are very low with no immediate chance of their going higher. The only fly in the ointment at present is in connection with labor strikes; and I have never known anyone to make money by selling stocks during labor troubles. Hence, my personal conclusion is that both the labor leaders and Mr. Bowles will retreat from their present absolutely unreasonable stands. If so, much more prosperity surely is ahead and the stock market is not too high. Moreover, only by such a compromise will much unemployment be avoided.

Smelt Dippers Will Be Glad Over This News

Smelt may be staging a comeback in Michigan waters of the Great Lakes, particularly in northern waters of Lake Michigan.

Fifteen hundred pounds of the silvery fish were shipped to Chicago in one day recently by commercial fishermen operating out of Michigan ports in upper Lake Michigan and daily shipments of several hundred pounds are common.

Hook and line fishermen at Boyne City on Lake Charlevoix also are having good success fishing with Great Lakes shiners from municipal docks in the town.

The smelt run from five to 10 inches in length.

A mysterious epidemic during the winter of 1942-43 greatly reduced the numbers of smelt in waters of Lakes Michigan and Huron, dead fish washing ashore in many places to a depth of a foot or more. Daily shipments of smelt to the Chicago market often reached a total of 30,000 pounds before the epidemic struck; ceased entirely afterward.

Recent success of smelt fishermen is the first real indication that the fish may be reestablishing themselves.

Hunters' back tags next season may display a combination of letters and numerals similar to the system of numbering used on Michigan auto license plates. With 550,000-odd small game hunters and a quarter of a million deer hunters in the fields and woods, the present system of consecutive numbering has become unwieldy, according to the conservation department. A combination of letters and numerals will be easier to read and to remember, it is believed.
