

What I Think and Have a Right to Say

SCHOOL DISTRICT CONSOLIDATION.

Have noted considerable comment in recent weeks in several rural weekly newspapers strongly favoring district school consolidation. They point out that the "one room" school house is a thing of the past and has no place in our present educational system.

To this we heartily agree. One does not like to say or write anything which can be regarded as a criticism of our own state, but we must admit that Michigan has long neglected its rural school educational responsibilities.

In fact that neglect has been so bad that Michigan stands among the "bottom" states in rural educational standards. It is a shame to admit such a thing, but nevertheless it is true. Even the "backward" southern states rank far above Michigan when it comes to a comparison between rural school standards.

As we see it, consolidation of rural school districts is the only way out of the plight we are in in Michigan.

We certainly want to commend the residents of Livonia township for the forward step they took sometime ago in consolidating many of their school districts.

While there are many problems right now that are most difficult for the newly created district to solve, these will be cared for in time. But even under present conditions, there has been a decided advancement in the school standards of Livonia.

It is going to take a little time, but progress has been made in convincing the officials in Lansing that Michigan's public school system is in need of far greater help than it has received in past years.

The education of our boys and girls is a DIRECT state responsibility.

The framers of our state constitution wrote an entire chapter in the basic laws of the state pertaining to education. The constitution doesn't say that the legislature "may" continue a system of primary schools.

It says that the legislature "SHALL" continue a system of primary schools. And when the constitution makes it mandatory for the legislature to continue a system of primary schools (which are the public schools) that means, too, that the legislature MUST provide the funds for the proper education of our children.

Unfortunately for Michigan, our rural schools have long been neglected by those responsible for their advancement.

Right now is the ideal time for Michigan to take steps to remove their rural schools from the bottom of the heap and place them at the TOP, where they belong.

BURNED FINGERS.

There's plenty to indicate that soon there will be a "hot time in the old town" for some of the "boys" who played along with the McKay-McKeighan gang during the last 15 or 20 years. Yea! It's not only going to be a "hot" time, but it's going to be a SCORCHING time for some of them, from what one hears.

IT IS UP TO CONGRESS.

President Truman who started out to do a swell job when he suddenly became president, says it is up to congress, which went back into session this week, to straighten out the labor mess in which the country finds itself. We do not like to be critical, but it appears that the President has fumbled the ball pretty badly. There is a lot of talk about it around the country, and now his direct slap at his Democratic congress would indicate that he would like to have the people believe that congress is to blame instead of himself. But having placed congress "on the spot" so to speak, congress should take "the bull by the horns" and do what should be done — STOP this drive against the American way of doing things — a drive that is led by a lot of loud-talking rabble rousers who never have worked and never will work. Yes, it is up to congress to do something and do it pretty soon.

SHE DOES NOT APPROVE.

A while back we wrote a letter to Governor Kelly in which we suggested that if Michigan was going to finance the operation of Wayne University, then Michigan should take over full control of that institution. We suggested that the University might be placed under the control of the state board of education, a very responsible group of state officials elected directly by the people, and who do not have any too much work to do at the present time.

We have received a letter from Mrs. Laura Osborn, a member of the Detroit board of education, which now controls Wayne University, strongly protesting state control of the school. But she thinks the state should provide the money to operate the University.

In other words, she is asking that Michigan taxpayers pay the bills of an institution over which they have absolutely no control.

Here is one member of the legislature who is not in accord with any such plan.

Under the constitution, the state can take over complete control of Wayne university, if the Detroit board of education and members of the legislature approve of such a transfer. The majority members of the Detroit board have voted in favor of this transfer. Mrs. Osborn seems to be the only board member opposed to it.

We are publishing Mrs. Osborn's letter, because it does contain much information about the University of general interest to readers of The Plymouth Mail, not because we agree with her viewpoint. The letter follows:

A proposal to give complete or partial control of Wayne University to the State of Michigan, in return for financial aid, has been transmitted by the Detroit Board of Education for submission to the Governor and the Legislature.

The following constitutes the minority report:
The Board is agreed that the State must give financial assistance to Wayne University for reasons given herewith: The Board is divided on the question of giving any control over the University to the State.

Wayne University is a distinctly municipal institution. In 1918, the Detroit Board of Education took over the Detroit College of Medicine and Surgery, then in financial distress, the faculty and student body depleted by World War I. A State Law was enacted empowering the Board to confer degrees equal to those conferred by any accepted college of higher learning. This law was the birth certificate of what is now called Wayne University. The undersigned was a member of the Board then, and has served continuously since.

The Board of Education rehabilitated the old Washington Normal School, creating the College of Education and raising teachers' standards of certification and professionalizing teaching. The Board established the College of Liberal Arts. Soon Colleges of Engineering, Law, Pharmacy, a graduate school were added, and more recently schools of Nursing, Government, Business Administration, Mortuary Science, and Industrial Health.

Wayne University, so named in 1934, has become a people's university more truly than any other university in the country. It serves young men and women of Detroit and Wayne County and provides them with an opportunity for higher education which many of them could not otherwise obtain. Many of these attend late afternoon and evening classes, working part time to earn their way. Wayne University is the most democratic institution of a city which

War Friendship Results In New Business for City

Plymouth is to have a new sporting goods shop and gunsmith service under the same roof in the very near future. Two local brothers, one a discharged veteran, and another World War II veteran from Pittsburgh, Pa., will be the co-owners.

They are Joe and Jim Schomberger and John Susko. All are ardent athletes and Jim is an experienced gunsmith. What better combination for a successful future in that type of business?

The enterprising trio have already purchased a building at Mill Street and Ann Arbor Trail as the site for their shop. If their schedule is not delayed they hope to be open within two months.

Joe, well known here as a baseball player and team manager for several years prior to the war, is spokesman for the partnership. He told The Mail that it was their intention to offer a full line of all kinds of athletic equipment and supplies as well as sporting goods and accessories. They also will offer repairs for any and all types and makes of firearms.

It was in England at an Army Air Forces base that Joe and John Susko, both sergeants in the

New Network of Storm Sewers Planned by City

The City Commission this week authorized City Manager Clarence Elliott to proceed with the drafting of a master plan of storm sewers to be built here within the next four or five years at an estimated cost of $75,000.

The sewer system blueprints, to be prepared by a Wayne County engineering firm, will cost $2,400, according to Mr. Elliott. The state will underwrite one-half of the cost. The sewer project is a most necessary one in Plymouth's future, the commission feels, and has been under consideration for some time.

Minstrel Dates Set by Kiwanians

Chairman Robyn Merriman announces that the Kiwanis Minstrel Show will be held January 31 and February 1st at the Plymouth High School Gym.

Earl Harrison, who has been producing and directing local talent plays for many years and was an actor in big time minstrel plays of years gone by has arrived and is in the process of selecting a cast. "We also wish to emphasize," says Bob, "that this is not going to be strictly a Kiwanis production. We are asking the cooperation of many people in making this an old time minstrel show. Naturally, there will be Kiwanians, their wives and members of the family in the show". Mr. Harrison states there will be an entire change in the program from the past productions.

"The Ford Novelty Band" has already been secured by Bob Merriman. Press notices from Milan and Belleville state this show to be one of most outstanding shows ever seen in their communities.

Architect's Drawing of Kimbrough Building Now Under Construction

Central Grade PTA Will Hear U of M Professor

Prof. Avarad Fairbanks

Guest speaker at the Central Grade school Parent Teacher Association meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, January 22, will be Avarad Fairbanks, MFA, Ph. D., associate professor of Sculpture, Institute of Fine Arts, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Everybody, member or not, is welcome to attend and here Prof. Fairbanks.

Dr. Fairbanks comes from a family prominent in the field of fine arts. His brother, J. B. Fairbanks, of Provo, Utah, was a painter of great fame, and another brother, Prof. J. L. Fairbanks, is current head of the Department of Fine Arts at the University of Oregon.

It was early in life that Dr. Fairbanks showed talent along the lines of sculpture. When 13 years old he left Oregon to work in the Metropolitan Museum of Art at New York. Later he began studying sculpture at the Bronx Zoological Gardens. For his performance there he won a two year scholarship in the Art Students League School.

European study next engaged him but was soon interrupted by World War I. In 1920 he returned

Building Off To Good Start

Building permits for a factory and two new stores have been issued so far this year by the City of Plymouth according to City Manager Clarence Elliott.

The J. K. Lytle Corp. of Detroit, manufacturers of paper boxes and containers, have secured a permit for a one-story factory unit to cost an approximate $70,000. It will be 100 by 300 and use 12-inch concrete blocks with Gabriel steel joists.

The store buildings include the $25,000 Kimbrough Appliance Co., to be located on Forest Avenue and more completely described elsewhere in this issue, and the double store building to be built by Charles Gustin, local plumber.

Gustin's structure will be 40 by 100 and consist of two stores with a center partition and two entrances from the same vestibule. It will be located at South Main and Wing.

Hi-12 To Install New Officers

Members of Plymouth's Hi-12 club will hold their next meeting Saturday night at the Detroit House of Correction. A full rounded program has been planned by Blake Gillies host for the evening to the members and their wives.

Kimbrough Appliance Company Plans New Store Building Here

Appearing above is the architect's drawing of the building which eventually will house the Kimbrough Appliance Co., here on Forest Avenue between Ann Arbor Trail and Wing street. It will be constructed at a cost of approximately $25,000.

The modernistic 80 by 100 structure will be built of eight inch concrete blocks with steel supports throughout. The front exterior is to be of colored structural glass blocks. It will have the futuristic all-glass doors too.

The structure will be a combination warehouse, showroom, retail store, electric appliance and radio shop. The floor will be of asphalt tile for the comfort of shop personnel and customers alike. There is to be special fluorescent lighting also. Everything modern to enable the shop to better serve its customers will be found there.

At the rear there will be a large loading dock for the warehouse and a spray booth for use in repairing and renovating furniture.

Work on the new structure already is underway. Workmen this week began pouring the concrete foundation walls. Providing the necessary materials can be readily obtained the structure should be ready for occupancy by mid-summer.

CLOTHING DRIVE

Plymouthites, both in the city and township, are reminded that the national Victory Clothing Collection drive will be held here next Saturday, January 26. Donations ready before then can be left at the City Hall.

The drive will officially open next Monday with the house-to-house canvass for contributions scheduled for Saturday, January 26. City Manager Clarence Elliott, chairman of the drive, urges donors to bear in mind that nothing can be accepted after that day as the contributions will be shipped out that night.

Police Chief Gives Safety Suggestions

It just seems as though the minute some article which has been scarce or non-existent for years is made available, users throw all judgment and common sense to the winds in the use of that article. This spree usually lasts only a short time, but while it lasts it sometimes assumes considerable proportions. Witness the excesses that arrived with repeal of the prohibition act; but after a while people settled down and took in stride the fact that liquor in one form or another was available, and that, no matter how hard they tried, they couldn't drink it all up, nor was there any immediate danger that tomorrow none would be available.

When gas rationing ended V-J day there followed weeks of more or less reckless driving, usually in old "crates" that just couldn't stand the gaff. But before long the pent up desires to get out on the road and roll were expiated. Today, a few short months after the end of the war, most people are back in their old pre-war routine so far as driving is concerned.

To bring the examples of this "blowing-off" of steam right home to Plymouth, a large proportion of kids from 8-13 had never seen, let alone own an air rifle. Even those "lucky" enough to own one couldn't get "bee-bees" for it, so air rifle shooting went the way of a lot of things for the duration. This Christmas a few air rifles were made at Daisy; and, in keeping

D.A.R. Will Meet In Northville

The Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter of the D.A.R. will hold its annual birthday luncheon, Monday, January 21 at 12:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian Church House, Northville.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. Sweetman Smith on the subject "Mexico a Good Neighbor." Mrs. Smith was born in Mexico City where she spent her early school years. Then she travelled in Europe, spending some years studying in Paris. She is now an American citizen but visits her family frequently in Mexico.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Girls' Glee club from the Northville high school under the direction of Mr. Leslie Lee.

This is guest day and reservations must be made by January 15, with Mrs. Harry Deyo who is in charge.

Plymouth Mill In New Building

With an eye on the future, Dewey Smith has moved The Plymouth Mill Supply into a new building on Starkweather Road. Mr. Smith has been in his new location about three months and at the present time, when he can get materials, is working on several large contracts for the Eclipse Company making boxes and the Hoban Rifle Company making stocks for their rifles.

For many years Mr. Smith was located in town where he manufactured boats and trailers. For the present he is chiefly concerned with industrial work but when woodwork becomes available again plans to expand further and construct more Dewcraft boats.

The plant has 3,744 square feet of floor space which is about half again as big as the old building. The new site affords plenty of room for sheds, storage and loading docks, plus space for future expansion. Mr. Smith states, "The only drawback to this location is: I used to work 14 hours a day now living right along side, I am working 20 hours a day".

Contest Winner Cites City Needs

Robert A. Webster, who resides at 650 Evergreen was announced last week as the winner of the contest sponsored by the Plymouth Federal Savings and Loan association.

In his essay which won him a $50.00 war-bond Mr. Webster points out the fact that the first community need is a hospital of at least 50 bed capacity. The essay appears in its entirety here and others submitted will be run in following issues of the Plymouth Mail.

What Plymouth's progressive city needs in the way of improvement immediately is a new spacious 50 bed hospital located in some advantageous part of the city. I would suggest for the City Commission to approve a bill buying a few acres at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail or on Sheldon between Ann Arbor Trail and Golden Road. I believe that the

Famous Humorist Coming Here for Rotary Club Fete

Colonel Jack Major Rotary Guest

Kentucky Colonel Jack Major, America's ace humorist and former protégé of the late Irvin S. Cobb, is scheduled to speak at the annual "ladies night" banquet of the Plymouth Rotary club at 8 p.m. Tuesday, January 29, in the Masonic Temple. The Eastern Stars will serve the meal.

C. H. Bennett, president of the Daisy Manufacturing Company, and chairman of the program for the occasion, has been very fortunate in getting Col. Major. He spared no effort to obtain this outstanding speaker who ordinarily does not appear in communities the size of Plymouth.

Mr. Bennett first heard Col. Major at a convention of toy manufacturers and was so favorably impressed he was determined to bring him to Plymouth for an occasion like the Rotary ladies' night banquet.

Lynton L. Ball Returns Home

Lynton L. Ball another Plymouth Vet has returned home and is going to take over the operation of the Ball Studios for his father, L. L. Ball.

Lynton was discharged from the Army December 22nd after leading a varied life in the armed forces. He spent 18 months as a M.P., 6 months at Camp Grant as an X-Ray technician in the separation center and 6 months with the 9th Armored Division in Germany. The 9th Armored was the second company across the Rhine River at Ludendorf. His last two months in Germany were with the occupational forces in the First Army. All told, Corporal Ball spent 34 months working for Uncle Sam, but is pleased to be a civilian once more.

Prior to entering the service, he worked for his father and the Ford Motor Company. Lynton, his wife Beatrice and two and one half year old son Larry will make their home at 736 Maple in the next week or two.

He intends in the future to enlarge the studio and give even better and more comprehensive service to their many friends and patrons.

Wickens Catches Big Sail Fish

J. J. Wickens of the Specialty Feed Products caught his first sail fish in the Gulf Stream off Miami Beach last Wednesday according to a story in the Palm Beach Post.

The fish measured 7 feet 8 inches and weighed 54 pounds. Mr. Wickens returned to Plymouth this week to check on his business and is to return to Palm Beach for some more fishing by American Airlines on Sunday.

His prized trophy will be hung on the wall of his office on Haggerty Highway when he returns in the spring.

Daisy Employees Formulate New Wage Agreement

After several weeks of orderly negotiations between the Independent Daisy Employees Association and the management of the company, a new contract for 1946 operations has been negotiated.

Among other provisions, the new contract provides for a 13c per hour wage increase for all hourly-rated employees, and corresponding increases for employees paid on a weekly or monthly basis.

Supplanting a wage-incentive plan for workers on production jobs, the new contract embodies a genuine profit-sharing plan which encompasses all the employees of the company whether employed on productive jobs or not.

A ten minute rest-period twice a day is also provided, as is the establishment of a joint committee of management and employees to study productive processes and productive rates.

Negotiations for the new contract were begun early in November, the new contract was agreed

Fire Destroys Old Landmark

Last Saturday morning about 3 a.m. the local fire department responded to a fire on the Hough Farm, three miles from Plymouth on Warren Road.

A workman passing by noticed the fire burning in the upper part of the big red barn and gave the alarm but the fire had a good start and the best the firemen could do was to save the adjoining buildings.

The barn with its contents of hay, grain, etc., was a complete loss. Five head of cattle also burned.

The barn was a large one and the basement stable was completely equipped with automatic drinking fountains, milking machine, etc., and will be difficult to replace under present conditions.

The tenant, Delbert King, was fortunate in being offered a vacant stable by a neighbor, Phil Dingley, and will be able to care for his fine herd of cows until the barn can be replaced.

The loss was upwards of $12,000 partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire was unknown.

March of Dimes Committee Named

Harry Reeves, chairman of the March of Dimes Campaign in Plymouth, is being ably assisted in this year's polo fund drive by Mrs. Kate Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lantz. Mr. Lantz headed the local appeal last year.

Mr. Reeves and his assistants have placed canisters for voluntary cash contributions in almost every Plymouth business place, public building and the schools.

The committee asks that the local public regard each canister as representing a polio victim appealing to them for aid.

This year's drive needs the support of Plymouthites more urgently than in the past and deserves such support, according to Mr. Reeves, because during the past year the Wayne County Chapter has been financing the treatment of a Plymouth child suffering from the dread malady and is continuing to do so.

This fact, should be reason enough, the committee believes, to get the full support of the community. In addition to the canisters the local school children also will conduct direct solicitations.

Central Grade PTA Will Hear U of M Professor

In 1927 he was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship and returned to Europe to study creative sculpture and Renaissance carving. Here, too, he completed his now famous Pioneer Mother statue.

Upon his return to the United States he was offered the post he now holds in Ann Arbor. The Pioneer Mother statue is probably the best known of Prof. Fairbanks' work. It stands in a park in Vancouver, Wash., as a memorial to all pioneer women whose courageous pilgrimage into the Far West was part of the epic of a nation.

At Fort Lewis, Washington, stands Fairbanks' bronze memorial to the 91st Division, one of the country's outstanding war memorials. Other war memorials by Fairbanks can be seen at Moscow, Idaho, and Portland, Oregon.

Local Lad Finds Miss Baker's Car

Melvin Larson, 16, figured in the recovery of a stolen car last Saturday which State Police had been searching for more than two weeks.

Melvin, while enroute to Detroit last Friday, noticed a car in an orchard near Eight Mile and Haggerty Roads. It was while working at Northville the following day that Miss Dorothy Baker asked him to drive her down Seven Mile Road to see if she might chance to find her car.

He suddenly remembered the car he had seen in the orchard. He drove Miss Baker there and sure enough it was her car. Apparently the thief had abandoned it there when the gas tank ran dry.

Police Chief Gives Safety Suggestions

(Continued from Page One) ing with an old established policy. Plymouth (and nearby) merchants were given a far larger proportion of the air rifles available than were other, less fortunate dealers.

And "bee-bees" too—the combination immediately producing a mild version of the old frontier days. This will taper off—in fact, is tapering off already. But Chief of Police Lee Sackett, charged with keeping law and order in Plymouth, issues a fair warning that, if parents and their air rifle-toting sons don't cooperate in the matter of intelligent use of air rifles, he will be forced to take away from these youngsters the precious air rifles and bee-bees they waited so long to get.

He calls attention to the fact that boys can have just as much fun shooting at targets, either indoors or out, as they can have from shooting indiscriminately around the streets; and, in addition, can actually improve their shooting when using regular shooting targets. "There isn't a dad who doesn't want 'junior' to be a crack shot," commented Chief Sackett, "and it's Dad's responsibility to see that junior becomes just that. Also, there's nothing like the good healthy competition that comes from Dad and 'junior' matching their abilities on a target range. It's about the only sport that enables boys to match or best their Dads, regardless of age and physical size."

Continuing, Chief Sackett pointed out that "the Police Department want boys to have fun and particularly to see their become good shots. We'll help in any way we can to achieve this, and, in return, we ask parents and boys to cooperate with us—to make sure we don't have to be 'kill-joys.'"

War Friendship Results in New Business for City

(Continued from Page One) service, became acquainted and decided to go into business if they survived the conflict. John, a veteran golfer and tennis enthusiast, thinks Plymouth is an ideal place for such a venture. Joe is certain of it.

While based in England they spent their spare time in teaching the "limeys" how to play baseball and found it was rather hard to coax them into discarding their beloved cricket. Knowing Joe as we do here in Plymouth it's a safe bet that those he taught the game are through with cricket for life.

Joe and John were in England for 33 months. Joe spent over four years in service and is mighty happy to be out and back home. He says his post war future was decided when he met John and found his ideas for a business were similar to his own.

The Mail joins with other Plymouth businesses and the entire community in welcoming these young men and extending a sincere wish for continued success in their enterprise.

CONTEST WINNER CITES CITY NEEDS

(Continued from Page One) City of Plymouth has grown to such a proportion to need this new institution. If the City has no way to finance the building of this hospital I would suggest forming a stock company and electing officers and a board of trustees. It will not only help Plymouth but it will bring a wealth of medical science to our fair community. Also it will bring physicians and surgeons also dentists and all the more medical men to our city. A hospital will provide a good many jobs for citizens of our city and other-wise who in turn will help Plymouth grow.

My second suggestion is to go ahead with a viaduct on the Pere Marquette-Plymouth Road crossing enabling traffic to come and go and not be disrupted. Also in the future with rapid transit between Plymouth and Detroit, Plymouth should have a new railway station to take care of this additional amount of passenger traffic which must surely come our way if this city will prepare for the expansion of Detroit.

My third suggestion is to complete the paving of Farmer Street to Sheldon Road which will give us three outlets for automobile traffic East and West, the other two in the city being, of course, Penniman Avenue and Ann Arbor Trail. I would suggest the paving of South Harvey from Ann Arbor Trail to Golden Road giving another through artery North and South in and out of downtown district. I would further suggest the paving of Forrest from Ann Arbor Trail to Wing street and making this section into a parking lot. A suggestion for future parking facilities which will undoubtedly be needed as Plymouth keeps growing is to clear away and make a parking lot of both sides of Fralick between Harvey and Main. These parking lots would be handy to the business district. As Detroit grows and if Plymouth prepares now she will be the finest city and can then be called with pride, Plymouth the City of Beautiful Homes.

Night Classes Are Started at School

Night school classes in English, history, shop math, shop drawing, and blue-print reading were organized at a meeting held Monday night, January 14, at Plymouth High School. There were 26 men in attendance, nearly all of whom are veterans of World War II. Of this group, many wish to apply the credit earned in these subjects on the requirements for high school graduation in order to receive their high school diploma in June of this year or in 1947.

James Latture will conduct the classes in English and history in Room 13 in the local high school each Monday and Wednesday evening from 7 until 9 p.m. Robert Ingram will be in charge of the work in shop drawing, shop math and blue-print reading, and will meet his classes each Monday evening from 7 until 9 p.m. in Room 15 at the high school. Classes in all subjects begin next Monday, January 21, and will continue for ten weeks.

Anyone wishing to enter these classes may do so by coming to the high school at 7 p.m. Monday, January 21, Room 13 for English and history, room 15 for shop math, shop drawing and blue-print reading. Both rooms are on the first floor.

FAMOUS HUMORIST COMING HERE FOR ROTARY CLUB FETE

(Continued from Page 1) cah, Ky., spent many hours with his fellow townsman, Mr. Cobb, and caddied for him on the local links so he might learn, all he could about that worthy gentleman's brand of humor.

Jack first decided to become a minister but gave that up to follow the gypsy trail. He did, however, enroll at Rice Institute, Houston, Tex., and during vacations he sailed the seven seas as an able seaman to gather material for his career as a humorist. He tried writing stories for magazines. Then he went on the stage as soloist with Isham Jones' orchestra.

Following that he made records for the Columbia and Brunswick companies. He then got into vaudeville and established himself as one of the foremost masters of ceremonies in the American theatre. He toured the theatres of England and Australia and was acclaimed as the "world's greatest comedian" by audiences in those countries.

Radio then grabbed Jack for sustaining programs and he wound up with three weekly sponsored programs and made many guest-star appearances on the air. Jack is a favorite in Washington with the great and near-great of our statesmen. In 1933 John Vance Garner, then vice president, had him as the banquet speaker for the now famous "make-up" party he tendered the late President Roosevelt.

When not filling speaking engagements Jack spends his time at his "hog farm" in Paducah. His Hickory smoked Kentucky Ham ranks with the nation's best as does his homespun brand of humor.

DAISY EMPLOYEES FORMULATE NEW WAGE AGREEMENT

(Continued from Page One) upon between the IDEA workers committee and management on Friday, January 11, and ratified at a meeting of the IDEA that evening. All provisions of the contract are retroactive to January 2.

While it took approximately two months to reach a full agreement on all provisions of the contract, it is noteworthy that at no time was there any slowdown or stoppage of work, no lost pay, and no threats and recriminations on the parts of either party to the contract. All negotiations were conducted in an orderly, friendly fashion, and both the IDEA and the management at Daisy are in complete harmony over the new contract's provisions.

Mrs. Henderson Elected Scout Commissioner

Mrs. Wallace Osgood who has just completed the first term of commissioner since Plymouth has been operating under its own council and who was elected to deputy commissioner at this meeting is one of those few patriotic Plymouth women who stepped into the breach some four years ago when Girl Scouting was at its lowest ebb in this city. Through her untiring and valiant efforts the Girl Scouts took a new lease on life and began the remarkable growth which has been recorded during her term as commissioner. Today the Girl Scouts of Plymouth have eighteen troops, each with a leader and assistant leader. Most of the troops are sponsored by civic minded organizations of the city.

ROSEDALE CHURCH HAS NEW PASTOR

(Continued from Page One) chaplain. The surrender coming soon after the Army had accepted his application, his papers were cancelled and he did not see service. Since September he has been on the staff of the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., in New York City.

Before entering the ministry Mr. Wooley was a bank clerk for two years, part of this time being spent in the main office of the National Bank of Detroit. Seeking industrial experience he entered the factory of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, and spent five of his summers later in the factory of the Ford Motor Company in Dearborn. He has had considerable other working experience. He served for a year as Associate Membership Secretary of the Downtown Y.M.C.A., Detroit.

Mr. Wooley will be installed as pastor by the Presbytery of Detroit on Sunday February 10 at 8 p.m. At the service next Sunday at 11 a.m. the new pastor will preach. His theme will be "When Religion Is Power."

SECOND STRINGERS LOSE 35-25

The Trenton second stringers rolled to a decisive victory over the local reserves and beat them 35-25 in a fast moving game here Friday night preceding the big game. Like the Varsity the second stringers stepped off with an early lead and like the Varsity saw it dissolve by half-time. The loss marked their third defeat of the season against a record of two victories. Stout paced the locals with 8 points while Teska and Paige each made 9 for Trenton.

January 18, today — I foresee great tests to your mental ability coming very soon. I caution you to prepare and be ready.

January 21, Monday — Today those that were born between the dates of January 1 and March 15 are subject to severe criticism, a quick tempo, and will be inclined towards the doubting of others. Take an aspirin and go to bed.

January 22, Tuesday—Go to your classrooms with confidence for you are sure to conquer all doubts if you do. Be happy, enjoy your friends. Visit with your teachers. Visiting with your teachers doesn't mean that you need to apple polish.

January 23, Wednesday—Avoid making remarks that will spread rapidly to the wrong ears. From all that I can see this is the way too many grievances begin in PHS.

January 24, Thursday— Just another day. Go to school. Do your homework and retire.

ROCKS EARLY LEAD FADES TO DEFEAT

Plymouth's largest crowd of the season packed the Training School Gymnasium and watched the Rocks early lead over Trenton fade to a 35-27 defeat. The locals leaped to a five point lead in the first two minutes, but that was snatched from them by the fast moving Trojans at the end of the first quarter.

George Schomberger shared honors with Trenton's McDonald for highpoint man of the evening netting 13 points. Meanwhile the Rocks Dwayne Becker tallied nine. During the first period, by a strange coincidence, all the scoring was done by the Rock's Becker and Trenton's McDonald. The game moved fast, each team was trying to be slightly more aggressive than the other and it was Trenton that finally grasped the deciding edge and held it to the end.

The capacity crowd that watched the game braved a cold wintry gale that came in the afternoon. Many cars and buses were delayed on the way to the game; yet, all of the teams loyal supporters managed to get there some way or another.

For the game Plymouth was privileged to have Don Lund and Bob Ufer as officials. Lund is former University basketball captain, and played professional baseball during the recent season. Ufer is Big Ten 4-40 champion, and broadcasts his own program over the air.

Coach Falko, with a group of his boys stayed after the game and made short work of the bleachers, putting them away in record time.

The Rocks next play Eorse away Tuesday.

FIRST FLOOR TO BE DECORATED BY END OF YEAR

When asked as to what extent the school board planned to remodel and redecorate classrooms in the high school, Mr. Helmer Nelson, Superintendent of Schools, stated that they hoped to have the first floor completely redecorated before the end of the year.

The room which was formerly occupied by the music department has been partitioned into two rooms for orientation and social science classes. Mr. Nelson stated that the floor of these two new rooms has become so dehydrated and dried out that it is not level and that if it is possible it will be removed and a new one will be laid composed of asphalt tile.

During the Christmas holidays one partition was removed and another was constructed in the main office. This new arrangement enables the Superintendent and his secretary to have desks in the same room which is separated from the outer office.

ASSEMBLY FEATURES MOVIE

The assembly on Friday, January 11, featured a movie titled "Your Fight Against Infantile Paralysis." This movie was part of the March of Dimes program which will soon be organized for the whole country. Mr. Henry Reeves, chairman of the March of Dimes committee for Plymouth, urged everyone's cooperation in this drive.

After the movie Mr. Reeves introduced Mr. McLaurin, of the Wayne County chapter of the Infantile paralysis fund. Mr. McLaurin spoke about the dreadful affliction and urged everyone to give generously to the March of Dimes drive.

Mr. Penhale announced that the clothing drive would soon begin. There will be a large container at the front door for students contributions of clothing.

REASON FOR WATER ON OFFICE FLOOR DISCOVERED

Persons wondering why there was always water on the floor of the main office now may be given an answer.

When Christmas vacation came, officials wasted no time in finding the cause of the "mysterious" artesian well which had to be mopped several times each day. After removing some of the floor in the office they found the explanation, for before them they saw sections of pipe which had completely rusted and deteriorated so that water was leaking from it.

Evidently these pipes which carried water to the second floor drinking fountain were improperly installed in the earth and chemical reaction resulted.

So that one may receive a more clear impression of the water conduit, a section of it is on display in the show case by the front doors of the high school.

GIRLS—CHECK YOUR POINTS

In preparation for taking in new members into Leader's Club, sports points are now being checked. To be eligible for Leader's Club a girl must be in at least the ninth grade and during her first semester have earned 1225 points in school activities.

Girls are taken in on the following basis: scholarship, active interest in sports as shown by participation in school sports, marks in gym class, and rule tests on volleyball and basketball. The points are kept and checked by point checkers. A point checker is in the Girl's Athletic Office every Monday noon and at any other time by appointment. The following girls are point checkers: Eleanor Hart, Jackie Dalton, Shirley Schockow, Barbara Daniels, Mary Jane Christensen, and Joan Diboyle.

Every girl who has earned any points should check them before the end of this semester. This is very important, especially for freshman girls.

The members of Leader's Club have been invited to Dearborn high school by the G.A.A. for a play night. Every Thursday evening the Dearborn G.A.A. has a play night for all surrounding schools.

Basketball practice games started last Tuesday. The tournament will start next week. Teams will be fully organized by that time.

"Where Your Money's Well Spent"

WHY Michigan Bell Goes to Court Again

A year ago, Michigan Bell asked the Ingham Circuit Court for relief from an order of the Michigan Public Service Commission directing us to refund $3,500,000 from 1944 revenues. That court declared the order illegal on the grounds that the Commission has no authority to make a retroactive rate reduction. The issue has been taken to the Michigan Supreme Court on appeal.

On December 13, 1945, the Commission issued another order directing us to refund $7,000,000 from 1944 and 1945 revenues and to reduce rates for 1946 by an amount estimated by the Commission to be $3,500,000. Michigan Bell has now asked the Ingham Circuit Court to restrain the Commission from enforcing this present order.

We went to court BEFORE because of our obligation to protect the service we render the public. For the same reason, we must go to court AGAIN.

We can afford no such reduction in our revenues, and the same conditions apply to the refund provisions of the new order as in the 1944 order, previously held illegal.

Each utility, like the same as each different business, has its own individual problems. During the war, we gained a large number of telephones, although restrictions prevented expansion of facilities to meet ordinary civilian needs. We still are far behind the demand for service.

We are shy $50,000,000 of investment in facilities needed to serve today's business the way it should be served. This plant already would have been built had it not been for the war. Now it must be built. But as we add these new investment dollars, with no additional revenues from the increased investment, our rate of earnings will go even lower than the inadequate level to which it already has fallen.

Michigan Bell's earnings today are a lot lower than those of most industries. Our wartime earnings were the lowest in history except during the depression. Now and in the future, savings from lower taxes will be more than offset by the increased costs of doing business. Our basic wage rates, for example, are up more than 10 per cent since a year ago and the national pattern of further wage increases is still a matter of debate. Other costs are climbing higher every day.

Unless conditions not now foreseeable improve the situation, the Commission's order would reduce our earnings to the point of impaired credit, which, if continued too long, would result in insolvency.

When the financial standing of a public service institution is impaired, rate increases are necessary or the service slips. Earnings must be fair over the years or good telephone service cannot be maintained.

If refunds and a rate reduction cut our earnings further, it will tend to discourage folks from investing their money in the telephone business. And we'll be needing more investment money from now on to expand and improve telephone service in keeping with the high standards you want.

Michigan Bell's objective is to furnish the best possible service at the lowest possible cost. Since 1936, the last time the Company challenged a reduction in exchange rates, there have been numerous rate cuts, representing a total savings of some $7,700,000 a year on the basis of present usage.

Looking toward the widest possible use of the service, we expect and want our rates to come down as rapidly as technical improvements will permit. Such improvements in the past have kept telephone rates down in the face of rising costs. But today, increased costs are coming so rapidly that improvements in the telephone art cannot keep pace in offsetting them. We simply cannot afford another rate cut at this time.

What it all adds up to is this—Michigan Bell is not in court seeking increased rates or large profits. The Company is in court AGAIN to contest an order which is contrary to present economic conditions and which cannot be carried out at this time without jeopardizing the future quality of your telephone service.

SENIORS OF THE WEEK

"Conceited boys and boys who won't dance are my pet peevs," emphatically stated Shirley J. Miller, who also dislikes life in the country. Shirley, who lives at 12303 Ridge Road, is the daughter of Aila and Harry Miller. Girls Glee Club, Girls Sports, and J-Hop Comm. are her activities while dancing and writing letters are her hobbies. Shirley's travels have taken her to New York, Florida, and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. She is completing a commercial course.

Bowling and skating are the hobbies of Ellen Kelly, who attended Verdale High School in Minnesota, during her Freshman year. Ellen lives at 4116 Napier Road, Ypsilanti and says that people—some of them—are her pet peeve. Drama Club, J. Hop Comm. are the activities Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kelly, has participated in. She is completing a general course, and has traveled in most of the midwestern states.

Charles Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Stewart, is completing a college course in school this year. Model airplanes and the clarinet are Chuck's hobbies and he wonders why we can't have a school paper. Girls wearing slacks are his pet peeve.

Lois Norgren of 7025 Napier Road is completing a commercial course this year. Lois has traveled in the New England States and says she has no pet peeve because she has faults of her own. Singing and listening to blues song and driving are her hobbies. Mixed chorus, Glee Club, J-Hop Comm., L.A.M.S. basketball, baseball, volley ball, Senior Annual, Prom Comm., Senior Play, Dramatics, and Senior Get-Together are of the many activities of Lois. She attended Milford High for one year and plans to go to Cleary Business College.

Daniel James Wiseley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby Wiseley, does 4-H club work for his hobby. Dan who is completing a college course, has traveled extensively through Detroit and Lansing! Track, football, football manager, Varsity Club, Hi-Y, vice-president of Junior class, and J-Hop comm. chairman make up his activities while girls and women who smoke are his pet peeve.

Mary Alice Schuster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Schuster of 660 Burroughs Avenue is completing a college course. Mickie spends a lot of her time in her father's bowling alley but she likes swimming, horseback riding, and tennis. People who cannot see the humorous side of life are her pet peeve. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Niagara Falls, and the Upper Peninsula are the places she has traveled and she hopes to get to California some day. Mick has been busy since she has gone to Plymouth High with the following activities: L.A.M.S. Drama Club, Junior Play, J-Hop, Prom comm., baseball, Senior Annual, and secretary of the Music Box. After completing high school she plans to go to Cleary Business School in Ypsilanti and adds that she simply adores Italian Spagetti.

One of the most active senior girls is Marilyn Vershure who has participated in the following activities: Student Council, L.A.M.S. president, Jr. Red Cross, J-Hop Comm., Prom Comm., Service Star comm., Leaders Club, 1000 pt. letter, Majorettes, and class vice-president. Collecting china, lamps and all sports are her hobbies, while squeaky doors and lipstick marks on straws and glasses are her "pet peeves." "Versh", daughter of the Roy W. Vershures, is staying at 489 Blunk, and plans to attend the University of Wisconsin next year. She has traveled in Ohio, Canada, Northern Michigan, and Wisconsin.

SOUNDING OFF ON DATES

Mr. Latture had another brain storm the other day. After thoroughly discussing the state government and how it works, he gave a most unusual assignment. "Write out your pet peeve while on dates," he said. You should have seen some of the sharp answers!

Some of the best reports were: "When a fella brings you to a party and makes himself so scarce during the course of the evening that you almost forget with whom you came, I could just scream," one girl replied. "A girl who dresses up fit to kill to go to a basketball game oughta be spanked. Guys who treat girls like they were halfbacks on the football team don't deserve a date. Flutery females could at least have an intelligent look on their faces, even if that is as far as it goes. Both boys and girls harped on being on time for a date. I almost go crazy when my date for the Hop doesn't ask what kind of flowers I want and turns up with pink carnations, for my red net. I'm not complaining but I was just wonderin' who admires the gal which "ain't" so subtle about the guy she's after. Just plain, everyday manners could be improved in many a case, I know. A boy ought to give you more than 20 minutes notice to get ready before he picks you up for a date. These women that are so delicate they have to spend the whole evening talking about their illnesses, really should be poisoned. In closing this sounding off on non popular people, a girl said her pet peeve about dates was not being able to get them!

Mickie Schuster and Dale Bentley attended a hockey game at the Olympia in Detroit Sunday night.

ARMY NEWS

Senior students of Plymouth High School have been issued a special invitation by Lt. Colonel Albert J. Hannon, Commanding Officer of the U. S. Army Recruiting Main Station No. 2, to investigate the unusual educational opportunities now available to them through enlistment in the Regular Army.

According to Colonel Hannon, "It's a good opportunity—anyway you look at it." He went on to explain that anyone now enlisting in the Regular Army would be entitled to the full benefits and privileges offered by the G.I. Bill of Rights. As far as students of Plymouth High School are concerned, the outstanding of these many benefits are the broad educational opportunities which permit Army veterans to enjoy as many as four years of free schooling.

"For example," said the Colonel, "high school graduates who enlist for a three-year period will have the opportunity of attending the college of their choice following their honorable discharge from service. Not only will they have at least $300.00 in cash—their mustering-out pay for foreign duty—but while they are attending college, the government will pay them a minimum of $65.00 per month for living expenses. Tuition, books and fees will be taken care of by the $500.00 per year which the government pays to the college or university which the veterans attend."

In inviting senior students of Plymouth High School to drop in for further first-hand facts and information, Colonel Hannon emphasized the fact that the Army is not encouraging students to leave school prior to graduation. "Our main reason for offering this information at this time," said Colonel Hannon, "is so students and their parents may have ample time to discuss the matter before the students graduate. Under no circumstance do we want any student to interrupt his education or leave school before he gets his diploma."

Offices of the U. S. Army Recruiting Main Station No. 2 are located at 21 Cadillac Square, Detroit, Michigan, and are open daily until 5:00 p.m.

THEY'RE CALLED SISSYS.

Sometimes they're even referred to as teachers' pets; other times as just plain "suckers." Why is it that a boy feeling his sense of patriotism is ridiculed? Why is it that a person who tries to show his true school spirit in its brightest colors to old Plymouth High School is laughed at? Could it be because the people who make these charges are just a tiny bit jealous because they haven't the gumption and courage to do the work that a truly good citizen is doing?

A timid trooper stopped a tall, nice-looking student and asked him to please refrain from screaming from one end of the hall to the other. The reply from watch your tongue, sucker. You're talking to a snor." What authority did that lower classman have over him? He had the authority of a good citizen to cooperate with the school government's rules and regulations. Our troopers do not discipline you to show their authority but they do try to help you as a friend. Don't be against them. Try to realize they're doing their duty for the sake of making Plymouth High School a better place in which to spend your time.

Donna says "I'll walk alone." It looks to us as though she had a shadow by the name of Dan Detling.

Plymouth Scouting News

(By Harold H. Schryer)

Seven Troops were represented by eleven patrols at the Dawson City Sweepstakes program held at the Cass Benton Park on Sunday last.

Despite the cold weather about seventy Scouts and twenty-five Scouters turned out to lend a real Scout-like atmosphere to the snowy countryside.

Paced by the Panther Patrol of Troop RG. 1 of Rosedale Gardens the several patrols went through their demonstrations of the Scouting skills in a very workman-like manner.

The results of the scoring was as follows in this sequence: Panthers, RG.1; Eagle, P.1; Beaver, P.1; Eagle, P.2; Lion, S.1; Bob White, P.3; Wolf, E.1; Flaming Arrow, P.3; Panther, LV.2; Wolf, P.2; Flaming Arrow, P.2. Congratulations are certainly in order for all these fine Scouts and Scouters who were out on the field. This is the kind of co-operation that makes Scouting what it is.

The tallied results are mere figures; the real result is to be found in the hearts of all those who participated as part of the over-all Scouting team the made the program click away on all four.

Monday January 14 saw six more Tenderfeet invested into Troop P.1. Scoutmaster Wingard seems to be collecting quite an assemblage of Scouts. Nice going, fellow! Nice going, Troop!

"Flash!" All Scouters attention! Don't forget about the Scouters' Rally to be held at the Music Hall in Detroit on Saturday, February 2.

James Lee Ellenwood, nationally known author and a most gifted orator has been secured to speak. Music will be furnished by Ole Foerch, famous organist of Station WWJ.

Pageantry and community singing and the presentation of outstanding awards will highlight the evening program.

Tickets for this event were put on sale at the Council office a few days ago. Leaders and their ladies in the community are urged to make their reservations early as tickets are selling rapidly. Music Hall (old Wilson theatre) has a seating capacity of only 1900.

Cubs, Scouts, Leaders and friends of Scouting all over America will celebrate Scouting's 36th birthday anniversary during the period of Feb. 8 to Feb. 14.

February 8 is the Scouts actual birthday because on this date in 1910 the Boy Scouts of America was officially incorporated in Washington. Later on as the movement gained much favor with all walks of life, Scouting was recognized by Congress and granted a Federal Charter on June 15, 1916.

Mr. Roy Leeman, Chairman of District Seven, has named the following men to head the several District Operating Committees for 1946:

Organization and Extension, Robert Wesley; Leadership Training, Barton Rogers; Finance, Carl Shear; Health and Safety, Joe Messel. All of the men are of Plymouth.

We of District 7, are sorry, indeed, to hear that our old friend and District Commissioner, Cliff Hefron, is to leave us for the greener fields of Ohio.

Cliff has accomplished much since he took office and we most sincerely hope that he takes the same stand when he arrives in his new location.

They say that "once a Scouter always a Scouter," Cliff, and that "Old Scouters never die." So just walk up to the council fire in your best regalia and take over. You'll be welcome, we're sure, for you're just the right sort of a fellow to fit in anywhere.

Good luck, Cliff! Keep your matches dry!

The Scout swimming program being held at the Wayne County Training School is building along fast. About thirty were out last week and it is thought necessary to split the groups into two sections.

There is still plenty of room for more swimmers so get your card signed up, fellows, and get into the swim.

IS PUBLIC EDUCATION COLLAPSING?

An exhaustive study by Allen Shoenfield of The Detroit News staff reveals an alarming situation in Michigan.

Teachers are leaving, buildings are deteriorating. From one-room schoolhouse to state university, education is being starved by neglect, lack of funds and political scheming. Education is at a crisis.

What are you going to do about it? First, read the Shoenfield articles. Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, says: "I think this is the best popular exposition of the school problem I have ever seen in print."

Army Officer From Plymouth Sees Patton Burial

Lieutenant Colonel G. R. Clemens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Clemens, of 10000 Levan road, R4, Plymouth, has written that he was among those attending the funeral of General George S. Patton, Jr., last month in Germany.

He stated that it was a peculiar Christmas season for him to be attending burial rites for such a personality as Gen. Patton. However, his previous Christmas—in 1944—was marred by the bloody Battle of the Bulge against Von Ronstadt.

Lt. Col. Clemens, who is expected home on leave sometime this month, said in his letter that the funeral was "quite an affair." He wrote a very vivid description of the entire service and the traditional military interment.

Veteran to Open Law Offices Here

W. Lee Butler, a discharged veteran and former Detroit attorney, has announced that he will open law offices here at 276 South Main street.

Mr. Butler, who prior to the war was associated with his father in the Plymouth Recreation, spent two years in the Army intelligence service and over a year negotiating prisoner of war labor contracts with Louisiana farmers who desired to use Nazi PW's as farm hands.

Before the war Mr. Butler maintained law offices in Detroit. This is the first time he has practiced law in Plymouth.

What I Think and Have a Right to Say

nearly 30 years ago, established non-partisan election-at-large of all its local officials.

By 1941, the students of Wayne University, including part-time and summer session students, numbered 23,718. Many of its graduates are contributing as leaders in diverse fields of learning to the welfare of the City, State and Nation.

It has been stated recently by certain critics that "Wayne has outgrown Detroit" and must become the responsibility of the State. Wayne could not "outgrow" the City, since its student body and its essential services to the entire community, including those offered Detroit industry, grow with the City. These are parallel developments. The truth of the matter, rather, is that funds are now immediately required to build facilities to provide for an increase in students with the end of the war and, even more urgently, to care for veterans entitled to continue their education under the GI Bill of Rights.

These needed funds are not now available because of the limitation placed on the usual methods of raising taxes for the support of the municipalities.

Outright support from the State—without strings attached—must be forthcoming to enable the University to meet its responsibility to the veterans, and the University is entitled to such support by virtue of the great amount of money paid by Detroit as sales tax which does not find its way into funds available to the school district.

However, five members of the Detroit Board of Education have supported the proposal of the university president, David D. Henry, to give the University to the State in return for aid, the immediate request being for $3,000,000 for needed laboratories and class rooms. Should the members of the Legislature accept this proposal, or an alternative proposal for joint control by State and City, the Legislature and University would be embarking on a new and dangerous course.

The proposals of President Henry are not acceptable by the undersigned board member. I see no reason for rejecting the question of state control at the special session, at which emergency aid is asked.

State ownership and control of Wayne University would amount to a major usurpation of a purely local institution by the Legislature. The way would be open for any community in the State, regardless of whether need was established, to demand establishment of its own institution of higher education. The University would face biennial competition for funds with the established State university colleges and normal schools.

Governor Kelly has stated wisely: "I am not as much interested in the question of who shall control Wayne University as I am with the necessity of providing facilities to meet the great demands made upon it by the veterans of World War II and the youth of the area."

In the depression of the 1930's, with prices inflated, business at a standstill, banks closed and homes lost because of inability to pay taxes, a remedy was thought to be a constitutional amendment limiting taxes on real property to 15 mills. At the same time, to offset this limitation on necessary governmental activities, there was enacted a three-percent sales tax to be collected by the State and returned to the units of government from which it was collected, the State making a budget of its own needs and participating to that extent. The sales tax was and is very necessary to meet the growing demands of government activities in local communities for health, sanitation, welfare, education, etc. It is unnecessary to point out that the 15 mill property tax cannot meet the demand of modern standards of living in the communities.

It was not anticipated that the State would retain the sales tax, which last year alone amounted to 99 million dollars, or to exact control of local affairs. Detroit and Wayne County pay a large part of the total, the contribution being variously estimated at between 40 to 75 percent of the whole.

Nevertheless, Detroit is cramped in every particular. It is without adequate school buildings, classes are too large, the number of teachers insufficient and poorly paid. Its institution of higher learning, Wayne University, which provides an opportunity for our youth, regardless of race, creed or economic conditions, to develop their God-given faculties, is a conglomeration of old buildings, many of them converted residences.

Mayor Edward J. Jeffries, Jr., in The Detroit News of Dec. 23, 1945, stated: "The cities have the alternatives; they can either get back some of this money in accordance with fixed schedules or they can go to the State capital each year, with hat in hand and ask for handouts."

"These latter handouts are always accompanied by conditional controls and their continuance means the end of independent local government as we know it."

Turning Wayne University over to the State will not solve the financial problem of the school district of the City of Detroit. This year's school budget, cut to an irreducible minimum, including Wayne University, shows a deficit of funds under the 15 mill property tax limitation of $8,307,417. The University budget is $3,866,678, leaving a deficit of some $4,400,000 even with removal of the Wayne item. If a reasonable amount of the sales tax were returned to local communities, as was the original intention behind establishment of this tax, Detroit could take care of its own needs.

The State has a large surplus, said to be earmarked for veterans. The school district of Detroit is now petitioning the Legislature and the Governor for $3,000,000, now available and representing a small return for the sums paid in to the State by the district as sales tax, with which to care for approximately 2,500 veteran applicants at Wayne University this year.

The proposal is now made by persons of limited foresight that the Board of Education, in return for aid which is no more than Detroit's just due from the $50,000,000 set aside for veterans' aid, turn over Wayne University to the State.

The specious argument is made that higher education is the function of the State. The City of Toledo, through its excellent municipal university, provides its citizens with higher education. So, too, do Akron, and Cincinnati, and Houston, Texas. New York City operates its four municipal colleges without State control. State aid is essential, yes, but without loss of local control.

The people of Detroit, moreover, have not been afforded an opportunity to give their considered judgment on the vital matter of transfer to the State of the integral part of their school system represented by the University.

Introduction of the question of State control at the special session is gratuitous, and those who have advocated such control, whatever may be their reason, are anticipating the use of snap judgment arising out of the current situation.

State control of Wayne University in order that Detroit may obtain a share of the sales tax would be as logical as turning over the entire school district to the State, inasmuch as removal of the University from the picture would still leave the problem of finding nearly $5,000,000 above the 15 mill real property tax limit to meet a budget set up as the minimum requirement of the Detroit school system.

Proponents of State control have said that State aid for Wayne without a share in control would approximate taxation without representation but it is, rather, the Detroit taxpayer who is now denied representation by reason of his lack of control over Detroit's share of the sales tax.

Actuated only by the best interests of Wayne University, the Board minority requests the raising of an additional $3,000,000 for urgently needed facilities for Wayne and trusts to the good judgment of his Excellency Governor Kelly and the Honorable Members of the Legislature to permit control of the University to remain with the people of Detroit, through the elected Board of Education which for so many years has assisted Wayne to fulfill its high function to the community.

A post-war rebirth of the civic spirit which has made Detroit great will see the University through its present crisis, with preservation of its identity and its ideals, if justly due State aid is now given.

City Buys Modern Garbage Wagon

Purchase of a closed Gar Wood all metal garbage box to be installed on the present garbage truck chassis has been authorized by the City Commission. It will cost $1,200 and be capable of holding eight and one-half yards of garbage or rubbish. The city hopes to have delivery on it within 90 days.

This new box will facilitate garbage and rubbish pickups and make it possible for only two men and the driver to handle the collections instead of three men beside the driver as is required by the present truck. It will be much easier to load and because of its capacity will eliminate many of the trips to the dumping ground. The present truck is forced to make

There isn't always room for one more

Triplets are an expensive addition to any family. There isn't always room for another in the buggy—or in the budget! And there isn't always room for the extra lamp or appliance you want to have—if your wiring is inadequate. An inadequate wiring system means frequent blown fuses, resetting of circuit breakers and a loss of electricity which you pay for in both money and benefit. Having that recreation room you've always wanted may be a grand idea—that is, until you discover that you can't have lights without a network of "drop cords." And your plan to get Junior's electric train from underfoot by putting it in the attic won't be thwarted if you've modernized your wiring system to meet such needs. Adequate wiring means even distribution of outlets on each circuit, that does away with "overloading" and frequent blown fuses. It means the "full light" of satisfaction in your home.

This is one of a series of advertisements prepared in the interest of the electrical contractors in your area to insure adequate wiring for every home. When you build or remodel, be sure your home is properly wired.

(Written by a Cadet)

The first C.A.P. group meeting of the year was held at the High School Tuesday evening at seven o'clock. And plans were made for completing the program for the semi-formal public dance to be held at the Masonic Temple to help raise funds for the C.A.P. airplane fund. Details of this plan were too late for this week's press column and will be announced later.

All members appreciated the review of the 1945 events discussed by Lieut. Wells. The highlights of this consisted of the start of the Plymouth C.A.P.'s in April. The total original membership group was 118. In May the first over-night maneuver came at Adrian and the latter part of May came the big moment that brought them their first airplane ride at Ypsilanti. Cadets were sworn in; in June and July kept them busy getting their uniforms completed. August remembered as it found them in the fields practicing sharp shooting brought them their first classes in Communications. October was of which they proudly boast of their champion Cadet Lieut. Ralph McDowell.

Bill Farrant and Lieut. Duffy got in quite a lather as to how "little Oscar," could live on a hill 14000 feet above sea level and the "little fellow" at the bottom couldn't just because Oscar had five thousand more red corpuscles than the little fellow below. Lieut. Duffy explained that the little fellow could live up there if he went step by step but would never be very active. Bill agreed that he apparently knew many who must have made the trip. Then Lieut. Duffy went on and explained that Oscar could come down but one step at a time or his head would throb and his eyes become the size of ping-pong balls and his face would become red. This would last for about six months until the 50000 extra red corpuscles could be gotten rid of.

Lieut. Wells has a new year program which has the Cadets enthused and beyond a doubt will be very educational and will keep all members interested.

But there is this about Florida in the winter time—a person can get "hooked" good and plenty unless he keeps his eyes open. If he is watchful and doesn't walk into the traps that are set for him, he can spend a very delightful and a very inexpensive winter in the south. One can thank the various chambers of commerce and tourist organizations as well as the newspapers for this.

Members of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association have consistently advocated a greater expansion of the fish planting services of the state department of conservation. They believe that the demands that will be made upon Michigan lakes and streams in the years to come will be such that unless large numbers of fish are reared and planted by the state, that there will not be much fishing left for anybody ten or twelve years from now.

It is interesting to note that sportsmen in this part of Michigan are not the only ones concerned about fishing conditions of the future.

The California Fish and Game Commission, according to the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, recently asked Governor Warren of that state to request the legislature to appropriate $11,000,000 for a fish and game building program, the money to come from the post-war employment reserve fund. He was also asked to schedule an additional support and construction budget of $1,000,000 to come from the State Fish and Game Preservation Fund, this to supplement the budget approved by the legislature at its regular 1945 session.

The Commission approved Pittman-Robertson projects to study the life history and management of the ring-necked pheasant in California, to study the effects of brush-burning on wildlife in California, and to study the status of the Chukar and Hungarian partridges in that state. This same sort of a study might well be made in Michigan.

The Commission also approved further study of veterans training program in fish and game work, and the issuance of game

Down in Miami there is a large fleet of boats that operate in the same way, but the rates are much higher than they are in Michigan. The average cost per day ranges from $40 to $60. In fact a day's fishing usually costs the fisherman $15, providing there are four in the boat. One can hire a boat and pay the full $60 if he desires to do so and fish alone.

But that is not all. The other day one of the out-door editors of a Miami paper learned that some of the operators of these boats were not only making this high priced charge for the boats, but that they insisted on keeping all the eatable fish that their fishing parties caught.

There are a lot of fish in the ocean that one catches which are no good. In fact most of the fish that are caught are not palatable, including the famed sword fish that so many try to hook.

After the fishing guides read what this out-door writer had to say about their greed in trying to keep the good fish that their customers caught, you can bet the practice ended mighty soon.

management area licenses to ten applicants.

Following Michigan's example Texas has taken the first step toward acquisition of several million acres of forested lands for public hunting grounds, reports the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, with the leasing of 20,000 acres in East Texas. This area, near Deweyville in Newton County, will be used for experiment in controlled restocking.

It is planned to conduct deer and turkey hunting on a special permit basis after suitable restocking, with the take regulated in strict accordance with the game population in the controlled area. The plan will be similar to that now in effect for antelope hunting in the Trans-Pecos. Squirrel hunting will not be affected. It was the writer of this column who introduced and secured the passage of legislation in Michigan which enabled the state to purchase public fishing and hunting grounds along streams and on lake shores throughout Michigan. Because of this progressive legislation enacted a number of years ago, Michigan leads all of the states of the Union in this public recreational development.

According to the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, the 1945 migratory waterfowl season saw the biggest flights of wild geese across Michigan noted in many years. Reports from the Michigan Department of Conservation state that fewer reports of poor goose shooting were received this year than in many seasons. A number of Plymouth duck hunters bagged geese during the last season.

Duck flights were also larger than for the past two years, and flight birds, especially redheads, arrived early. Bluebills again were back in good numbers.

The Sportsmen's Service Bureau credits Don Stillman of the N. Y. Herald-Tribune, with digging up the following from the reverse side of a Korean hunting license:

"Hunting in public streets, squares and temples is not permitted. Firing at buildings, people, cattle and street cars is not permitted."

Not bad ideas, comments the Bureau.

Another item "for the book" is quoted by the Sportsmen's Service Bureau from Bob Wilson's column in the Washington Times-Herald. This tells of a Canada goose shot by Dr. Carleton Vaughan in November, on the Sassafras River, Maryland. This goose was found to contain a mature, fully developed hard-shelled egg.

Both Clarence Cottam, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and C. S. Williams of the Service's Bear River Migratory Bird Refuge, two outstanding waterfowl experts, reported they had never heard of a similar instance, and termed it a "freak."

May Benefit from Feeding Birds

Persons who feed birds in winter probably benefit equally with the birds themselves according to conservation department ornithologists.

For Michigan's winter-braving birds are fully capable of looking out for themselves except when ice-storms cover even the weed seeds that form a substantial part of their diet.

Bird-lovers, however, get intimately acquainted with the species that winter in Michigan when they place food outdoors, preferably grains, suet, bread crumbs, and meat scraps. Best feeding places are covered to keep snow away from the food.

During the 1900s in China, an obscure writer named Lin Shu became known as the "King of Translators" and was celebrated as one of his country's foremost literary figures after he had translated 156 books published in nine foreign languages. Years later, Lin admitted having employed interpreters to read the books to him while he wrote them in Chinese, the only language he knew.

Letter to the Editor

5 January 1945

Dear Editor:

My squadron was stunned by today's announcement that the return of men from overseas probably will be delayed for three months beyond the date they become eligible.

Up until today, we have been assured that the War Department was endeavoring to return all men with at least two years service as fast as shipping permitted. Recently men have been returned at the rate of 800,000 per month. That number is now to be cut to 300,000 per month.

If the change in policy were for the good of the people of the United States and the world, we could understand; but the reasons offered are not convincing. There is no shortage of personnel in this station—replacements have been pouring in faster than they can be absorbed. We are amazed that the recruiting drive is considered a failure, since the original goal was two-thirds met by 30 November 1945. The demobilization plans now abandoned were, of course, based on the original enlistment goal which probably has already been met.

But what can we do? We are still shackled by military law. We cannot lawfully advocate corrective legislation in letters to our congressmen. We cannot ask "Who's kidding who" when it is said that there is a critical shortage of personnel, even though we see manpower spent on luxury items for a privileged few, and even though we see two or three men assigned to a one-man job.

If this is some diabolical plot by the military to get Congress to extend the draft or to institute compulsory military training, our sense of humor fails to comprehend it. Our sense of justice is, however, outraged, and we will not be lax in remembering this "incident" when we return. The polls will testify to this.

Although we are bound, YOU and your family and friends MAY SPEAK. YOU may write or wire OUR Congressmen and Senators to enact appropriate legislation; you may write THE PRESIDENT.

Sincerely,
 (Name of Plymouth serviceman serving in China withheld for obvious reasons.)

OLD JUDGE: "Fortunately not, Art. Scientists at a great university have stated that approximately 95% of the people who drink do so sensibly. Only 5% are immoderate at times. And the beverage distilling industry which does not want a single person to use its product immoderately, is cooperating fully in the solution of this problem."

Home Building Now in Control of Bureaucrats

It isn't going to be an easy job for the Plymouth G.I. Joe to get all the papers he needs from government bureaucrats when he starts to build that new house he's been dreaming about. People who build homes, both contractors and individuals, after January 15 are going to have to get certificates from the Government if they want any assurance of obtaining materials. And, to get these "tickets," they often are going to have to prove their need for new homes. This is the meaning behind the new rules governing priorities on building materials, just issued by the Civilian Production Administration. Offices for this district will be set up down in Detroit.

Veterans of World War II are to have top preference when it comes to getting materials. In fact, comparatively few persons who did not serve during the recent war will be able to build. Priorities will be given only for homes that cost no more than $10,000, including the cost of the land and improvements. So, very few homes costing more than that will be constructed in the months ahead.

A set-aside of 50 per cent of the country's building materials for homes costing under $10,000 means that there will be a scramble for the rest of the materials. These will have to be obtained from supplies where priorities are not required. Only 50 per cent of available materials, thus, will be left for construction of industrial buildings and hospitals, for repairs and improvements, and for building higher-priced homes. Some critics of the program say this condition will increase black market operations.

First, the prospective home builder files an application for priorities with the nearest office of the Federal Housing Administration, which processes the applications in the field. FHA will have been told in advance by CPA how much materials will be available for homes under the program.

With his application, the home builder must give a complete outline of his plans. This must include specifications and must show that financial backing has been arranged. It also must show that arrangements have been made for local building permits, utility services, etc., and that actual construction can start within 60 days. In addition, the application must give assurance that the prospective builder owns or has arranged to lease the property on which he plans to build.

In cases where there are more applications than materials available in a community, FHA is expected to take into consideration such matters as individual needs. Emphasis will be on preference to relieve hardship cases. If the FHA approves an application, it will issue a priorities certificate carrying the symbol "HH." This will entitle the builder to priorities on construction materials that are scarce. No priorities are involved except for materials in tight supply. HH ratings become void if construction does not start within 60 days.

The builder then will take his "ticket" to his building contractor or directly to a dealer in building supplies. The suppliers are supposed to set aside a percentage of their materials to fill these priority orders. They, in turn, can pass the certificate on to their distributors, who are supposed to furnish the materials. Finally, the orders can be delivered to producers, who also are supposed to supply home-priority materials. He sometimes can, but he is supposed to give veterans the first chance to get this home before offering it to a non-veteran. After 30 days, if there is no veteran applying to rent or buy, he can sell it to someone else. Also, there is a top limit of $60 a month on rentals of houses built under this priorities program. HH priorities also can be obtained for apartments and conversion of buildings and improvements where additional living space results and the cost is not above $10,000 per dwelling unit. There are no priorities, however, for repairs. Applications can be made to get HH priorities for buildings already started, provided all requirements are met. Priorities ratings cannot be transferred by veterans or other builders without FHA approval.

old, homes, though builders usually can get higher rental rates to offset higher buildings costs. OPA has no control over the selling prices of either old or new houses, though bills are pending in Congress to grant this power. This new-housing program is aimed at producing 500,000 or more homes during 1946, but may not produce more than 400,000. The priorities system will continue in effect only until July 1, unless Congress decides to extend it. In the meantime, most new priorities homes will go to veterans, including members of the merchant marine during World War II, or to families with veteran-members who are able to qualify for priorities "tickets."

Babson Says

Babson Discusses Airlines

New York City, January 18.—Have had an unfortunate experience at La Guardia Airport in New York City where I waited from 6 A.M. for a plane due to leave for the South at 7:30 A.M. Then at the very last minute it was announced that "due to weather conditions" the flight had been cancelled. I immediately went to the Penn. Station to get a Pullman berth. There I was told that all space had been sold for two weeks ahead. Let me further add that, although I had my plane reservations two weeks in advance I would now have to wait another two weeks before getting another plane seat.

Air travel is marvelous when the weather is good and there are plenty of planes; but this winter on long routes it is terrible. For runs over 400 miles I advise readers to engage Pullman accommodations and not depend upon airlines. The same general principle may also apply to airline stocks as an investment. For a few years they should have good earnings and much glamour; but then look out! They may be as uncertain in the long run, as the weather.

Government Competition

Now that our country is honeycombed with a network of railroads, it would practically be impossible for the government to build new competing railroads. Furthermore, their securities are probably now selling for less than their original cost—not to mention reproduction costs. Remember that the railroads own their roadbeds and terminals, as well as their equipment.

With the airlines the situation is very different. They own no roadbeds nor terminals. The air is free to all; while the terminals are publicly owned. At anytime the government could start competing air routes with little expense. This means that—however large the profits may be during these hon-eymoon years—they cannot last many years. Airplane traffic will increase tremendously; but this does not mean that airplane companies will always make much money. Furthermore, it strongly suggests that some airplane stocks are now selling too high.

An Investment Yardstick

One of the best yardsticks for judging most stocks is the relation of price to earnings. I try to select stocks which are selling about ten times their annual earnings; certainly twenty times is a maximum ratio. Yet, the leading airline stocks are today averaging to sell at forty times their earnings. Two of the most popular ones are selling from sixty to seventy times earnings. This seems crazy to me.

Of course, there is one thing about airline stocks which appeals to investors, viz: In order to buy an interest in 75 per cent of the nation's rail business an investor must buy stocks of 300 different railroads. But he can buy an interest in 75 per cent of the total air business by buying the stocks of only seven airline companies. These are American Airlines, Eastern Airlines, United Airlines, T.W.A., Pan-American, Northwestern and Penn. Central. Yet, this advantage cannot justify the big rise in prices which all have had during the past ten years.

Inflation Possibilities

Airplane stocks are no good as "inflation" hedges. They are poor "socialistic" hedges. Their value lies with the probability of huge earnings during the next few years; but then look out. Although very popular they can be very risky for the long-pull investor. Better keep your money on the ground rather than in the air! Personally, I am not keen for anything that operates on wheels and that depends upon franchises or public regulations.

The best inflation hedge is good fertile Mother Earth upon which you can live—near enough to a small city where you can get a job or have a small business of your own. The next best is a family of God-fearing children, each educated to some one profession or trade. Money invested in good land, good children and good education is far safer than in the stocks of any company operating on the ground, above the ground or, under the ground!

What I Hear And See Under The Palm Trees Down in Florida

Last summer "Fink" Ely, who had worked many years at the Ford plant in Northville, decided that he wanted to do something else to make a living. "Fink" had worked for Henry Ford from the days he got out of high school, and he was generally regarded as one of the top-notch men in the Northville plant.

Mrs. Ely, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Parmenter of Northville, is one of those enthusiastic antique hunters. It wasn't long, therefore, before Mr. and Mrs. Ely decided to go into the antique business.

But they wanted a location where it would benefit Mrs. Ely's health and where they could spend more of their time outdoors.

They sold their home in Northville and decided to locate in Florida.

By mere chance they ran across a former resident of Northville who is in the real estate business in Hollywood. Through him, the Elys found an ideal spot for their proposed business as well as future home in Dania, Florida, a progressive little community some 25 miles north of Miami and close to both Fort Lauderdale and Hollywood.

Many weeks were spent in making it ready for their new store and home but by late fall they had on display hundreds of pieces of glassware, silver, pitchers, copper pans and pots—articles of the long ago that would appeal to any antique buyer.

They are delighted with the success of their business and with their new location. Although residents of Florida less than a year, they appear to be real Florida converts and are great boosters for the fine little city in which they have located.

Mr. and Mrs. Parmenter of Northville are spending the winter with them.

Once in a great while, Florida folks need a little heat to keep them warm. While that has not been the case so far this winter in the Miami area, in other parts of the state it has been necessary during some of the evenings and early mornings to have some sort of a heater going. Some people have stoves or fire places that can be used in these emergencies. If you have a wood stove or a fireplace that requires wood, you are going to pay plenty to get that wood. Read in the paper the other day where the OPA had decided that $44 a cord, yes, that is right, $44 a cord, was a fair price to ask for stove length wood.

coat lapel, and that that was the only thing that looked good about him. We should add this comment, that we can say much more for our Michigan Senator who wears a red rose the year around than the Floridian said for his own U. S. Senator.

There is something dead wrong somewhere with this sugar business. Reports in Florida are that the warehouses in Cuba are filled to overflowing with sugar, but that the sugar companies will not export it. They are demanding that our government sign contracts to buy the Cuban sugar crops for the next three years. The government, say these reports around here, has offered to buy the Cuban crops for the next two years, but is hesitating about buying the sugar crop for the next three years. It seems that the Cuban sugar producers are afraid that in another couple of years the Philippine Islands and Hawaii will be back in the sugar market strong and that there will be less demand for the Cuban sugar than there is at present. So they are trying to make sure that they get rid of their crops for the next three years at good prices—and that's why people in these United States right now are going without much sugar.

Speaking of sugar, recalls a remark I heard the other day at the Rotary meeting for Senator Pepper. Some one sitting near said he hoped Senator Pepper would be asked to explain his stand on the sugar business. He declared that a number of years ago a group of northern men planned to buy up a large section of the Everglades country, plant sugar cane and build a sugar mill in Florida. It seems that this state can grow sugar cane almost as well as Cuba. But the project was knocked out in some way, said this Miami citizen, by Senator Pepper. Didn't get the full story, but it would be interesting to know all the details.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith of Northville who are spending the winter at St. Petersburg, recently came down to Miami to take a plane over to Cuba for a few days. Boats are not yet running between Florida and Cuba, so all travel between the two countries is by plane. Mr. Smith, who is in the real estate business back in Northville and Plymouth, says he was amazed at the amount of building going on in and around Havana.

"Not dozens, but hundreds of new cement block houses are being erected everywhere over there. Most of them are small homes, but still we saw plenty of big houses going up. There wasn't so much building going on in Havana's downtown section as there is around here, but I certainly was surprised to see so much home building over there. Just can't figure out what is the trouble back here, when we need homes so badly," said Mr. Smith. No one can figure it out.

Do you like bananas? There is a plentiful supply of nice, ripe bananas in the stores here at all times. They are shipped in from nearby islands, Cuba and Central America, but chiefly from Haiti, the Bermudas and Cuba. They are sold by the pound, but the price runs about 20 cents a dozen.
