What I Think and Have a Right to Say

ELTON R. EATON

INVITING REAL TROUBLE.
We have no "Pipe Line" into the Ford offices and we know none of the officials of the company.
But common sense tells us that if the radicals and trouble-makers force another Ford strike as they threaten on the 1st of December, there will not be any Ford jobs for anybody for a long, long time. No, the proposed strike to be forced upon some 65,000 workers is not due to any general labor dispute. It is all over a question of whether a dozen or so radicals can force a great industry to close its doors and throw out of work thousands and thousands of good Americans who are satisfied and want to work.

HE IS QUITE RIGHT.
David Lawrence, probably Washington's most famous and outstanding news commentator says there can be no mutual trust of Russia until there is a government in Russia which is free and which does not operate on a totalitarian basis. In that statement he is reflecting the attitude of most Americans who have carefully followed the trend of the world during the past quarter of a century. Isn't Russia doing today the very thing that Germany did under Hitler? The answer is YES.

THE "HATE MICHIGAN" MAYOR OF DETROIT HELPS ANARCHY.
Did you read in the papers the other day where Ed. Jeffries, the "hate Michigan" mayor of Detroit, put a woman restaurant owner out of business because some city mob demanded that he close up the place or they would go on strike?

No, the place was not closed because it was serving poor food or anything of the kind. It had the approval of the health department of the city of Highland Park and was operated in conformity with all state laws.
Newspapers said the city mob wanted the place closed so some friend within the mob could take the place over.
There was no other way they could accomplish their illegal purpose except to threaten an illegal strike, and the "hate Michigan" mayor of Detroit fell right into the game along with the mobsters and closed up the restaurant, thereby causing the loss of a life's savings of the woman owner.
Maybe you have another name for it, but to my way of thinking it is nothing more than downright anarchy, and those that had any part in it, including the Mayor, should pay the penalty for this kind of a crime.

MORE ABOUT DREW PEARSON.
Drew Pearson, the Washington radio blatherskite, is being shown up by the recent election to be the most outstandingly notorious political faking propagandist in the business. Michigan voters showed what they thought of his statements about the racial issue he tried to inject into the Michigan election at the last minute. Pearson does much talking about bigots who use racial issues in politics, but in the Michigan campaign, he stooped to the degrading level of the bigot he so strongly condemned.

Voters down in Massachusetts also had a pretty good demonstration of his method of political faking. Two or three times before election he gave hope and encouragement to the radicals in Congressman Joe Martin's district by suggesting that Martin was having the fight of his life to retain his place in congress.
What did the final vote show? A tremendous victory for Martin—with nothing to indicate that at any time he was in danger of defeat. It would appear that the sponsors of this radio bunk artist would wake up to his political tricks.

THAT! OPA —
So the OPA is slowly but surely giving up the ghost! And what a sigh of relief the public is breathing. Of all the obnoxious, snooping, trouble-making, hate-creating and downright good-for-nothing departments the government ever created, this outfit was the prize of them all. Oh yes, there was now and then some "good guy" associated with it, but how a government agency could step out and get so many haters, squealers, snoopers and downright trouble-makers working in one branch of the government, no one will ever be able to figure out. Thanks to the overwhelming vote of AMERICANS, this goofy scheme is buried for all time and its army of trouble-makers soon will be scattered to the four winds. If any one can tell of one good deed that the OPA ever did for anything or anybody without chiseling on some one else, we will give 'em a nice, big ripe, sour apple.

THE SUGAR SHORTAGE RACKET.
In a recent issue The Michigan Tradesman of Grand Rapids, revealed some interesting information about the New Deal and the sugar shortage. You will be interested. It follows:

Growers, as well as their customers have wondered why we have had a sugar shortage so long in this country, and why the shortage continues.
One of the most convincing replies to the shortage inquiry is given by Lamborn & Co., large New York sugar brokers. Basically, the shortage is due to government controls. At the same time this brokerage house tells us that on account of heavy shipments to foreign countries, Americans this year will have available only 73 pounds of refined sugar, compared with pre-war per capita consumption of 98 pounds.
"Your Government has completely controlled every phase of the sugar business since Pearl Harbor—production, processing, distribution, and rationing," said Lamborn. "This is still true. We are no longer a 'free' people insofar as sugar is concerned."
"Yugoslavia, whose belligerence toward Americans is all too well known, secured tens of thousands of tons of sugar through United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration this year with the approval and aid of our Government."
The Lamborn statement strongly criticized the proposed program of Howard R. Tolley, formerly chief of the Department of Agriculture's bureau of agricultural economics and now a member of the United Nations' food and agricultural organization, for sharing this country's sugar supply with other countries for many years to come.
"The Tolley program is not a famine relief program," it said. "It is a plan to raise the normal consumption of sugar in other countries at the expense and through the sacrifice of the people of the United States."
Lamborn said millions of dollars worth of fruits in the United States have gone to waste because of the sugar shortage, and farming communities have suffered not only the loss of fruit but the food values that canned or preserved fruit would have given. It said labor in the food processing industry has been thrown out of work because of the sugar shortage.
"As a result of the war regimentation we have fallen into the habit of accepting anything put before us, be it an empty sugar bowl or an empty meat platter," said Lamborn. "This has presented a perfect opportunity to a few men in Washington to tell us what we shall eat, what we should wear, and how in general we shall conduct every detail of our lives."

Hunters' Ball Is Big Success

No matter what they do, it seems that the members of the Western Wayne County Conservation club have a way of making a big success of anything that they set out to do. So it was with the first annual hunters' ball held last Saturday evening in the club house on Joy road. More than 200 were present to enjoy one of the most delightful social affairs ever arranged by the club. President Brick Champe states that it was a far greater success than anyone had anticipated and that it will safely be an annual event hereafter.
The music was good, the program was highly satisfactory and the refreshments were plentiful. The hunters that were foolish enough to wear neckties with their hunting outfits soon learned that it didn't pay to do anything like that. Ernest Henry, the secretary, states that the event also proved a financial success.

Rev. Walch Talks To Women's Club

Thirty members and four guests of the Business and Professional Women's club of Plymouth attended the dinner meeting held last Monday night at the Episcopal parish house. Chicken was the piece de resistance.
Principal speaker was the Rev. Henry J. Walch, pastor of the Presbyterian church here. His topic was "Peace Is Our Business." His talk was enlightening, educational, and factual. It was very pleasing to the assembly and brought home truths more clubs should know.
Music for the occasion was furnished by Ardis Curtiss, soloist, with Mrs. Thomas Locke accompanying her at the piano.
During the business session one additional member was admitted to the club.

Russell Powell Home Is Sold

Announcement was made this week of the sale of the attractive home and acreage of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Powell of West Territorial road to Judge and Mrs. Leo R. Schaefer of Dearborn.
The new owners will take possession about December first. The Powells plan to move into a smaller home they have on East Ann Arbor road near Haggerty highway.
The Powell residence has been one of the show places in this part of Wayne county since it was erected a number of years ago. Surrounding the house is 2 1/2 and one half acres of grounds that are included in the transaction. A small artificial lake and a stream across the back of the place add much to the landscaping possibilities of the property.
Mr. Schaefer served as a municipal judge in Dearborn before he entered the naval forces during the early part of the war. He was recently given his honorable discharge from the service.

Nearly 400 Get Deer Hunting Licenses for 1946 in Plymouth

Pity the poor deer!
Especially when nearly 400 deer hunters from Plymouth and vicinity begin blazing away bright and early this Friday, morning.
So excessive was the demand for deer hunting licenses in this vicinity the Plymouth Sporting Goods shop ran out of blanks over a week ago, and according to William Rambo, it was necessary to turn down dozens and dozens who sought licenses.
Those unable to get licenses in Plymouth will probably get them in other places between Plymouth and their favorite hunting camps in the north.
The William Rose Plymouth hardware store and Mr. Rooker of the Western Auto Supply had similar demands for license blanks.
"Never saw anything like it" said Mr. Rambo. It just seem that every one wants to go deer hunting this year. We've had a number of chances to rent rifles, but that is just out of the question at this time. We can't even get enough to sell, say nothing about keeping a rental stock" he added.
Following is a list of those who had secured deer hunting licenses up to Wednesday morning:

Names of 27 Plymouth High School Boys Who Gave Lives to Country Will Live Permanently on School Plaque

Students at Plymouth High School dedicated a plaque on Armistice Day in memory of former classmates who gave their lives to our country during the last war.
A gold star committee, composed of Joan Dipboye, Margaret Plummer, Thelma Swan and Irene Walldorf, faculty advisor, were in charge of the impressive program.
A brief explanation of what Armistice Day means was given by Principal Louis Schmidt. An anthem sung by a girls' double quartette preceded the unveiling of the tablet by Joan Dipboye, who in turn presented it to Claude Dykhouse for the school.
Songs were played by Frank Sarno and a prayer by Rev. Henry Walch, followed by a vocal solo by Mary Ann Cylik closed the impressive service.

Best Turkey Crop In Years Is Ready For Market

Plymouth turkey growers have ready for the Thanksgiving market over 5,000 of the finest turkeys grown in this vicinity in years.
Up until the last two weeks of rainy weather, the turkey growers have had one of the best growing seasons in years, the weather having been ideal all during the spring, summer and early fall months. Not until the bad weather of the past ten days or more have growers had any worries. So far, there have been no losses, and probably will not be due to the advanced growth of the turkeys, say local growers.
Mrs. Clinton Gottschalk, just off Territorial road, has nearly 2,000 of the finest turkeys she has ever grown.
Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hersh on West Joy road, have somewhere near a thousand turkeys for the market, and the Guy Taylors of East Ann Arbor trail have a similar number ready for the roasting pans. There are a dozen or more smaller growers around here, who have ready for the market probably another thousand or two.
Walter Postiff, who has always been a heavy grower of turkeys, did not venture into the business this year because of the high price of feeds. The Hersh family rightly guessed that the snoop, obnoxious OPA would be out of business this year, and ventured back into the turkey business after much difficulty with this messy, trouble-making, useless lot of political job holders. Now they have ready for the market again this year a fine lot of Thanksgiving turkeys.
Although the total production of turkeys in Michigan is approximately 900,000 birds, that's only about half of the annual Michigan turkey consumption.
Otis E. Shear, extension turkey specialist at Michigan State college serving Michigan producers, have found a reasonably good market this year. While he does not predict a turkey shortage for the holiday season he does advise buyers who desire small turkeys to place their orders early.
At the holiday season there's a big demand for the small turkeys—dressing from 8 to 15 lbs. Most of Michigan's production of turkeys is of the large Bronze breed, which usually weigh considerably more.
Many Michigan turkey growers, near to large markets, have installed poultry picking machines and are dressing and marketing their own birds instead of selling through poultry firms, Shear said.
The nation over, there are probably plenty of turkeys for all. But if you want one of a particular size, the poultry specialist thinks you had better place your order early and not wait until the day before you want to prepare it for the roaster.

Fix Dates For Christmas Seal Drive In City

Plymouth's annual Christmas seal drive will take place between December 9 and December 14, according to an announcement just made by Mrs. Lisle Alexander, who has been named executive chairman of the Plymouth committee.
While letters to Plymouth residents will be mailed out previous to that date, the intensive solicitation campaign will be between the days specified.
It is strongly urged that local residents be sure and realize that it is the so-called "double-bar" Christmas seal campaign that they should support. This drive includes the city, county, state and nation and the funds raised from it do not go to just one institution.
It was from this fund that many hundreds of Plymouth school children, restaurant and hotel workers, and other citizens were able last summer to secure free X-ray examinations. Some cases were discovered where those examined were suffering from tuberculosis and medical treatment since has saved them from long periods in hospitals.
Plymouth hopes to make the double-bar Christmas seal drive this year because of the successful ever conducted in this vicinity.
Supt. Helmar Nelson of the public schools has stated that the school children will this year take an active part in this great humane work, but details of their activities will be announced later.

Communism Real Threat to U. S.

Those attending the dinner meeting of the Men's Club of St. John's Episcopal church last week Thursday night at the parish house were privileged to learn about Communism and the dangers of Communism from an authority.
Speakers at that meeting were Larry S. Davidow, prominent Detroit attorney and anti-Communist leader, and his friend, Joseph Kornfeder, a former member of the Communist Party who trained in Russia at Lenin University.
Davidow said that Stalin is the absolute ruler of all Communists and party members obey his commands without question. He told the club that lawlessness and force, which include everything from maiming to murder in order to further Communist ideals and goals even within the United States, stamp Stalin as the most absolute, cruel, and ruthless ruler in all the world.
According to Mr. Davidow there are between 3,000 and 6,000 trained Communists acting as party agents within the United States. He said they were acting as revolutionaries and had entered every known profession including the ministry.
Mr. Kornfeder took the floor and confirmed everything his friend, Mr. Davidow, had said. He told how he was trained to act as an agent of the Communist party and how he had quit and had turned against them.
He said that in 1918 it required but two weeks for the Communists to gain control of Russia. It required only the combined efforts of 134,000 party members. Considering the fact that the population of Russia is 180 million, the United States should not pooh-pooh the power of Communists when they poll more than 300,000 votes in a national election here, Mr. Kornfeder said.
He told the churchmen that during the bank holiday of 1933 many high officials in the country approached Communist agents and offered their services to the cause of Communism. He declared that many army colonels were among those making such an overture.
Great minds had rather deserve contemporaneous applause without obtaining it than obtain without deserving it. —Colton

U. S. Bond Drive On

Plymouth Hopes To Equal Some of War Time Records

Plymouth's two big banks and the savings banks committee that served during the war, have given 100 percent support to the campaign of the U. S. Treasury department to conduct an intense U. S. Savings bond campaign from this week until December 7.
It is hoped to bring about an investment on the part of Plymouth residents in U. S. Savings bonds that will equal some of the spectacular records that were made here during the war.
The Savings bonds that are now offered by the government are of the same type that were sold during the war period and draw the same amount of interest.
Plymouth bankers, and every one who knows anything about financial problems, declare that government bonds, right now, are without the slightest question, the best investment that anyone can make.
While it was generally believed that government savings bonds might be withdrawn from the market following the end of war, the Treasury department decided that it was for the best of the nation and its citizens to continue the offer of savings bonds investment to the people.
While it is known that many companies are investing their earnings in government savings bonds, the sales to individuals in Plymouth, like in most places throughout the country, have considerably decreased. It is the hope of the Treasury department, as well as all bankers, that individuals will again resume their buying of government bonds. If this is done, a long step will have been taken to head off inflation. Let's go, Plymouth!

Plymouthite Gets State Air Post

William Ryan, head of the Plymouth Aero Company and manager of Mettetal Airport, last Tuesday night at Lansing was elected to membership on the board of directors of the Aviation Association of Michigan.
He is one of nine directors selected from all over the state. Mr. Ryan said he would represent the Detroit Metropolitan Area as well as Southeastern Michigan on the board.
The group of which he was chosen a director is made up of all flying service operators in Michigan. Whether the service is for charter hops, sight seeing or business the operators of such all hold memberships in the association.
The selection of Mr. Ryan is a distinct honor to Plymouth and to him. It demonstrates that the association recognizes his past effort towards the advancement of aviation and his ability both as an aviator and instructor and worth as an airport manager. Congratulations, Bill.

WEDDINGS

Church Wedding for Geraldine Hix and Frank McCloskey

Our Lady of Good Counsel church of Plymouth, was the scene of a wedding, Saturday morning, November 9 at 8 o'clock, when Miss Geraldine Hix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hix of Pine Street became the bride of Frank McCloskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCloskey of Maben road. Yule Decorations Contest Planned

If the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce has its way, the "Biggest Little City in Wayne County" (Plymouth, that is) will this holiday season return to the splendor of pre-war Yule decorations and activities.

Yes, the JCCs are planning a big time for Plymouth this Christmas season. Max Todd, erstwhile manager of Hilltop Golf Club and new host at Saddle Ridge, has been named chairman of the committee appointed to bring about Plymouth's gay revival of its pre-war holiday observance.

The JCC plan as outlined calls for a contest among home owners who go in for extensive holiday decorations inside or outside their residence, detailed street lighting and decoration in Plymouth's business sections and Park and a contest among the city merchants for their store interiors or windows.

Next week The Mail will have a more detailed program of what the JCC boys are planning for Plymouth. They, of course, hope to secure the co-operation of the city, its merchants and residents. Watch The Mail next week for more about this vital subject.

Plymouth's Latest Air Marker Is Largest in State

Kim Sigler, Michigan's barnstorming governor-elect, and all other pilots who have complained about the lack of air markers in Michigan should fly over Plymouth.

Yes, with the completion this week of Plymouth's second gigantic air marker, said to be Michigan's largest, on the roof of Richard Kimbrough's new store, this city has become the best marked for air travelers of any city in the state.

The new marker runs diagonally across the roof of Kimbrough's new building. The name—PLYMOUTH—is in chrome yellow letters fifteen feet high on a black background and stretches 92 feet from corner to corner.

Included is a true north arrow and airport direction showing the nearest landing field (Mettetal Airport) and the distance (2 miles).

It is the second such air marker to be installed on the roof of a Plymouth building. The first was placed on the roof of the Parkview Bowling emporium a month ago.

Both markers were engineered by Al Schuster, former Navy pilot, and one of the most active air enthusiasts in Plymouth. He planned both of them, laid them out and did the painting on each. It was a splendid job and local aviators and students say the markers are superb, attesting to the good work Al put forth.

Each marker was made possible through the united efforts of the building owners and Mettetal Airport. Mr. Kimbrough was doubly interested in the project involving his building as he is currently taking instruction at Mettetal Airport in pursuit of a private pilot's license. He knows the value of air markers and was eager to have his roof used for one.

That was the feeling Mr. Schuster had when he was placing the city's first postwar marker on his father's bowling alley building. He appreciated Mr. Kimbrough's enthusiasm and was happy to aid in placing a similar marker on his building.

Prior to the war, according to William Ryan, manager of Mettetal Airport, Plymouth had an air marker on the roof of the Daisy Manufacturing Co. Of course when the war came that along with several hundred other markers throughout the state were obliterated upon order of the War Department.

That's why Plymouth along with countless other Michigan cities were or still are without air markers today.

Mr. Ryan said he was in receipt of a letter from the CAA and the State Department of Aeronautics complimenting Plymouth and Mettetal Airport on being so plainly marked for air travel and upon the spirit of co-operation prevalent which made such markers possible.

Community Fund Still $3,000 Shy

So far despite all the pleas of the committee, the Plymouth Community Fund is still far from its goal of $7,000. In fact the fund to date has collected $4,000 and that, according to the committee, has not come easily.

The committee is discouraged and ready to call the drive off. They have extended it repeatedly in the hope that Plymouthites would become aware of the great need for a community fund and give till it helps. Apparently the community is not going to become aware of that and neither is it going to give any more money, for no matter how the committee appeals to the citizenry the result is still the same.

The indifference encountered is thought to be prompted by lack of knowledge of just what the community fund provides Plymouthites.

Naturally it underwrites part of the Boy and Girl scout activities and youth center work and aids indigent families and individuals. It also, if operating with a full quota, would provide a visiting nurse service.

That is what will suffer if the fund does not meet its quota, the committee points out. Plymouthites who should be unfortunate enough to be ill, but not hospitalized, will be forced to depend on the kindness of neighbors for care.

Such an arrangement works a hardship on everybody. It forces a well person to assume the chores of two people and also takes time from their own family. It also causes the sick person mental anguish to think they are forcing somebody else to nurse them back to health when that person had sufficient to do without the added burden.

All of this could be eliminated if a visiting nurse service was available here. Such a service also would provide a nurse to aid in home deliveries, advise new mothers on the proper care, feeding and training of infants, provide nutrition service for the undernourished or persons needing special diets and first aid service for small industrial plants.

Persons able to pay for such service on an hourly or even half-hourly basis would be expected to do so, but those unable to pay would not have to. The community fund would guarantee a visiting nurse her salary and expenses.

Right now, the committee points out, there is just enough money in the fund to take care of the scouting needs and recreational activities for the city's youth. If Plymouth wants a visiting nurse, the committee said, then they need to heed the pleas of the community fund and send contributions in at once.

Science Lecturer To Discuss Health Aid

The abundant health and joy that thousands have found in the study of Christian Science will be emphasized in the free public lecture on this subject to be given next Thursday evening, November 21, at Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist, Detroit, Grand River and Evergreen Roads.

The speaker will be Dr. Hendrik J. DeLange, C.S.B., of New York city. Miss Dorothea Dulin, Second Reader of Eighth Church, who will introduce the lecturer, points out that "mankind is becoming increasingly ready to exchange its counterfeit views, possessions, unsatisfactory aims and purposes, for the genuine, satisfying and enduring."

All Christian Science lectures are open to everyone, and are free. This lecture begins at eight o'clock, and a section of seats will be reserved until 7:45 for those who have never before attended a Christian Science lecture.

For a flock of 100 breeding ewes, 20 ewe lambs should be retained for replacements each year, MSC sheep specialists recommend.

Horses can sleep standing up. Their legs are provided with muscular mechanisms that cause them to lock, and they are like standing on stilts.

If you have anything to sell or rent, try a Plymouth Mail want ad. They bring results. Phone Plymouth 6.

State Police Head Warns Motorists About Dangers Of Winter Driving

Warning that highway accidents increase as the temperature goes lower, Oscar G. Olander, Commissioner, Michigan State Police, urges Plymouth motorists and truck operators to prepare their vehicles now for the wintry days ahead.

The accident rate per 100-million miles of travel in Mich. was 79 per cent higher last winter than during the previous summer, and the death and injury rates were 40 per cent higher on the same comparative basis.

Principal causes for high winter accident rates are added hazards of inadequate traction and limited visibility. Commissioner Olander said. Stop and go traction is greatly reduced on snow and ice with either new tires or worn treads.

Visibility is cut down by frost or snow and ice on windshields, side and rear view windows or mirrors and by longer hours of darkness.

Studies show that more than half of last winter's fatal accidents occurred on highways which were wet, snowy or icy. Three out of four of these accidents took place during the hours of dusk or complete darkness. Reports also indicate that one out of 12 of these involved drivers had his vision obscured by rain, fog, frost or snow.

One out of every three violations reported was for driving at a speed too fast for the prevailing conditions.

Right now, the commissioner urged, is the time to prevent accidents by getting safety parts into proper shape for winter driving. He also pointed out that careful check should be made of brakes, tires, windshield wipers, heater, defrosters, lights, tire chains and exhaust systems.

Some of these safety features should be checked even by those fortunate few who are owners of new cars if they would avoid a crash or eliminate the possibility of being stalled.

On the thousands of over-age vehicles still in use it is imperative that such checks be made to insure safe operation. Motorists also can guard against the added hazards of winter, Commissioner Olander said, by observing the following rules:

1. Adapt your driving to prevailing road and weather conditions.
2. Follow other cars at a safe distance. It takes three to eleven times as far to stop on snowy or icy surfaces.
3. On Slippery pavements, apply brakes lightly until point of skidding is impending—then release and apply over in a like manner. If the skid starts, turn front wheels in direction the rear is skidding.
4. Slow down far in advance of intersections, curves and hills. Give signals for intended stops or turns, even farther in advance than in other seasons.
5. Keep windshields and windows clear and clean. You must see danger to avoid it.
6. Slow down after sundown. Use dimmed headlight beams in snow, rain or fog.
7. Remember the danger of carbon-monoxide and always provide some fresh air within the car or truck.
8. Give pedestrians plenty of room and be especially alert for the unpredictable actions of children, handicapped or elderly persons and animals. Longer hours of darkness increase these hazards.
9. Use anti-skid chains when necessary. They reduce braking distance 40 to 50 per cent on ice or packed snow.
10. Winter road maintenance crews do a splendid job in minimizing the hazards of winter travel, but it is not possible to remove snow and ice at all times and locations. This means drivers and pedestrians must assume great personal responsibility for their own safety under bad weather and road conditions.

Rotarians Hear Plymouth Pastor

The annual Armistice Day program of the Plymouth Rotary club at Hotel Mayflower featured an impressive address by the Rev. Clifton Doty, pastor of the first Methodist church.

Mr. Doty told the club that fear, frustration and commercialism are the prevailing moods of today's world. He urged the Rotarians to treat the ex-service personnel with honor, justice and without discrimination—things not covered by mercenary remuneration.

The speaker declared that another war would be a battle of obliteration, in view of that he suggested that the Rotarians show the world the way to live by the Golden Rule—the Christian way. Any other way, Mr. Doty warned, will lead only to chaos.

Rotarians were urged to read Bob Hope's "So This Is Peace", Kirby Paige's "Now Is The Time to Prevent War", and Ely Culbertson's "Must We Fight Russia."

It will never do to be behind the times in things most essential, which proceed from the standard of right that regulates human destiny.—Mary Baker Eddy

Bear Hunters Get Bear Laugh

"They" went bear hunting up in Canada. "They" means Bert McKinney, Matt Powell and Dewey Cobb. And what a laugh all the bears up in Canada are giving these three big bear hunters from Plymouth! The grape-vine says that they hunted bear here, there and everywhere. But "nary" a bear did they see, although there were bears peeking from the tops of trees and poles wherever these big bear hunters from Plymouth went.

Bears followed them down the road. Bears crossed the highways in front of them. Bears scratched at their cabin doors. Bears rolled over and played hop, skip and jump as these three big bear hunters hunted bear everywhere.

But why didn't they shoot a bear? Said Matt Powell, "We didn't see a single bear."

Said Bert McKinney, "Who said we went bear hunting?"

Said Dewey Cobb, "Ask Bert McKinney."

That's the bear story — and what a haw-haw the bears are giving these three big bear hunters from Plymouth.

P.S.—Oh yes, each one did bring back a nice big buck from northern Ontario, even though they didn't go deer hunting.

Plymouth Police Prove Pavement Patrolling Pays

Four Detroit and Highland Park juveniles who admittedly waited all night to steal a car, were apprehended here early last Sunday morning by Plymouth police officers Lou Westfall and Roger Vanderveen five minutes after their excursion into crime began.

While on patrol about 1:15 a.m. the officers stopped a car on Hart-sough street because it was traveling without lights. Two frightened youths jumped out.

Without being asked they told the officers they had just stolen the automobile. Westfall and Vanderveen were happily surprised to say the least but made the youths think they had witnessed the theft and practically caught them in the act.

It later developed that the car, owned by Marvin F. Bond, of 824 South Main, had been driven away from the Collins garage which the pair had broken into and entered.

While taking the youths to the police station, one said two others were waiting for him in a field at Joy and Main.

Officers Westfall and Vanderveen went to Joy and Main after locking up the two. There they arrested two more boys.

Apparently the pair hiding in the field thought the police were their pals coming after them in a stolen car, the officers said. Their surprise left them speechless and barely able to climb in the police car. They were too frightened to run.

Back at the police station once more the officers were told that one boy had a gun. He denied this and told the officers he had thrown it out of the car when they stopped him.

Returning to the scene, Westfall and Vanderveen found a nickel-plated seven-shot revolver-.22 calibre. Returning to the station the officers searched the quartet and found another boy to be in possession of a hunting knife in a sheath. It was a very wicked weapon, the officers said, and learned they had fashioned it from a bayonet.

The youths said they came to Plymouth from Detroit Saturday night, arriving in Plymouth about 6 p.m. They walked along the Pere Marquette tracks from Telegraph to Newburg road. They then walked out Newburg to Plymouth road and boarded a Plymouth coach, they said.

After eating at a local restaurant they went to the Penn theatre. Following the show they walked to the field on Joy and Main and hid there until they thought it was late enough to steal a car without encountering any interference.

They were amazed to think they were caught less than five minutes after breaking into the Collins garage and getting a car. They said "we could have done it okay in Detroit, the cops there are stupid. We didn't think Plymouth had more than one policeman and we thought he would be home in bed sleeping at 1 a.m."

The four are in the Wayne County Juvenile Home at Detroit awaiting court appearances on charges of breaking and entering, stealing a car and carrying concealed weapon.

The true test of civilization is, not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops, but the kind of man that the country turns out.—Emerson

Fair in the Light of Memory Shines

MICHIGAN, My MICHIGAN

BY • ELTON R. EATON

Now that the pheasant hunting season is a thing of the past, we have a suggestion to make. It is needless to tell the hunters that the season was probably the poorest one ever experienced in Michigan. And if Michigan is to have any future pheasant hunting something has got to be done about it.

Here's our suggestion! And how the Detroit game hogs and the cock-eyed "conservationists" will howl when they read it!

The Michigan state conservation department, we believe, should either close the entire state for two years to pheasant hunting, or block off large sections of the state, close these sections and for at least two years conduct a most intensive re-planting program. Not only should this be done, but the legislature should put the fear of God into the hearts of the game hogs who come out from Detroit to roam the fields and shoot any and everything, by making a game law violation so severe that these fellows would do a little thinking and looking before they did any shooting.

Game control in this section has been a farce during the past two year period. For this, only the department is to blame. "Experts" can talk all they want to about cold springs, and wet weather preventing normal hatches of pheasants. That may be partly responsible for the rapid decline in the pheasant population.

The fox, too, may be getting his share—but the chief decline can be placed squarely upon the game hogs who kill anything they see and at any time. Another important factor in the pheasant decline is the terrific hunting "pressure" that has developed all through the state.

Let the game hogs squeal, but our recommendation is that the state conservation department close all of southeastern Michigan and the Thumb district for a period of two years. Meanwhile permit hunters to hunt and trap fox, with a bounty being offered for each one killed. We have a lot of hunters in and around Plymouth who hunt fox for the pleasure of hunting and not for any reward, but unfortunately the state hasn't too many hunters of this type, so we suggest that a bounty be paid in order to induce the fellow who wants to get something for what he goes to get out and do his part in killing off the fox menace. It is getting bad when hunters can kill them almost within the city limits of Plymouth.

In addition to closing off large sections of the state for two years, we recommend that the state intensify its planting program, raise thousands and thousands of pheasants and put them out on their own in the closed counties just as soon as they are able to take care of themselves.

Plus these suggestions, we also recommend that the state legislature make the penalties for game law violations so stiff, that this alone will just naturally keep the game hogs under control—and most of the game hogs in Michigan come right out of the city of Detroit.

Reconstructing the skeleton of a prehistoric mastodon or identifying a fossil snail or fern—such assignments are all in the day's work at the University of Michigan Museum of Paleontology.

Housed in the University Museums building on the campus, the Paleontology division conducts research on the animal and plant life of past geologic periods.

The Museum of Paleontology has four major functions: research, training of students, cooperation with Federal and State geological surveys, organization of collections for the use of scholars and of exhibits for the general public.

Within the past year, the Museum has carried forward its work in all these fields. Dr. Lewis B. Kellum, director, has reported. Research work has been concentrated upon Michigan this year, with studies in progress on the plant fossils of the Michigan coal basin, on the geology of the Mackinac Straits area, and on paleontology of southeastern Michigan. Dr. Kellum has likewise collaborated with the U. S. Geological Survey in an Alaskan field expedition.

Fossils may be taken as an index to the age of the rocks in which they are found, paleontologists explain. Thus fossils found in Michigan which are like those found in another locality indicate that the two rock beds are of the same geologic age. The two beds will probably contain the same rocks and minerals.

Although the Museum is not a regular teaching unit of the University, advanced students do work under the direction of museum staff members. They may also use the museum's collections of research materials as a basis for their own studies.

The museum's exhibits are seen annually by many thousands of visitors, including school children from all over the State. Paleontological exhibits include displays of plant and animal fossils with explanations of their origin and of their age.

Currently the museum staff is preparing for public exhibition the "Owosso mastodon," the most complete mastodon skeleton ever found in Michigan. The bones were uncovered near Owosso in 1944, and work has been in progress since then in excavating the bones and reconstructing the great skeleton.

The completed mount, including plaster molds replacing some of the bones not located, will be displayed sometime this year. Dr. Kellum has said. The mastodon is of the Pleistocene period, frequently termed the "ice age."

Purchases Two Arabian Horses

James E. Stolte and son have just returned from a trip through Pennsylvania and Indiana where they visited several famous Arabian horse farms, the trip resulting in the purchase of two valuable Arabian horses, one a stallion named Raffles that was and was sired by the famous stallion of the same name that was imported from England in 1932. Mr. Stolte and son also purchased the Arabian mare, Lillith, No. 1475 from the C. A. West farms near Pittsburg. These famed Arabian horses may be seen at the Morningside Riding Academy, on Hubbard road, one half block north of Fenkell.

The south boundary of Oceana, Newaygo, Mecosta, Isabella, Midland, Arenac counties also is the boundary between state forests to the north and state game areas to the south. Only exception is Allegan state forest, which is administered by the conservation department's forestry division.

Rose Is Pioneer "House-Cleaner"

Lots of talk, these days, about cleaning house up at Lansing. Now that Kim Sigler has been elected Governor, they're all looking for it, and what a cleaning it will be!

But! Would you believe it, one of Plymouth's good citizens took a broom in hand back in 1938 and started to sweep out the legislative halls. That was during the Frank Murphy administration. That citizen was William Rose of the Plymouth Hardware.

"Bill" was one of some 200 Plymouth citizens who had gone up to Lansing to visit the Representative from this district and tell him a thing or two about voting.

They had feasted at the hotel Olds, gossiped with his honor, the Governor, and then had gone over to attend an evening session of the house of Representatives.

In fact, Abe Goldstein had a heart-to-heart talk about matters of state with his political idol (the Governor), the friendly chit-chat taking so much time that the Governor only had time to say "hello" and "goodbye" to the Plymouth delegation.

"Bill" saw a broom that had been placed in a corner in a corridor of the house.

"I don't care what they say, but this place needs a good cleaning out. I have felt it in my bones, and I am going to sweep the whole mess out" declared Bill to some of his associates who stood near.

The kindly intervention of a sergeant-at-arms prevented Bill from doing the job that has waited all of these years for Kim Sigler to do.

When you hear any one talking about the necessity of "cleaning house" up in Lansing, remember that Bill Rose started to do it some eight years ago or more.

SIXTY YEARS OF LIGHT..

Just sixty years ago this week, electric lights winked on for a handful of Detroiters—eighty-nine, to be exact. Amid applause and excitement, four little generators in the Edison power plant at Washington Blvd. and State St. (which now houses Detroit Edison's downtown office) had begun to hum.

As overworked housewives cleaned the soot from kerosene lamp chimneys, they thought enviously of the new lamps. Off and on, they had been thinking of them ever since Thomas Edison invented the incandescent lamp seven years before. But, though some of these women might have foreseen a day when they could flood their homes with sunlight at the flip of a switch, they couldn't have dreamed of a time when lamps would purify the air they breathed or sterilize the food they cooked.

Similarly, the husbands of these women, reading by flickering lamps about John L. Sullivan's latest battle, might have looked forward to a day of better lighting. It isn't likely, though, that many of them foresaw the growth of southeastern Michigan into a great industrial giant. How could they visualize vast factories lighted day and night by hundreds of thousands of fluorescent lamps?

Yes, it was an historic event for Michigan. But the Edison Illuminating Company did not consider itself a public benefactor—bringing Edison's priceless gift of light to a darkened city. Far from it. It thought of itself as just another small business—it had little realization of its destiny.

The first bills were high. Many of those eighty-nine customers used their current recklessly, demonstrating their lamps to friends and playing with them as though they were toys. It was November, when the nights are long and the days are dark. And the rate was more than six times as much as you pay today.

As people saw the advantages that electricity had for them, they sought electric service. The business grew. With its growth, service improved and rates began to go down. They are still going down.

Today, more than 850,000 customers are served with light and power by Detroit Edison. Quite a contrast to the eighty-nine of sixty years ago.

Mt. Clemens Tramples
Plymouth "Rocks"

A spirited Rock eleven put up a good fight until the end of the game, but took it on the chin to Mt. Clemens 34-7 Friday, November 8, at the Riverside gridiron. The Bathers, who are champions of the Eastern Michigan League, drew first blood early in the initial quarter. After the Rocks had made two first downs and advanced into Mt. Clemens territory, they lost the ball and the Bathers sweep down the field for the score. Carlos went over from the seven yard line, Charboneau ran over for the extra point. Carlos, the Mt. Clemens captain tallied his second T. D. in the second quarter going over from the ten yard line. The conversions were again made on a running play. That ended the scoring for the first half.

In the third period, Mt. Clemens pushed over two more touchdowns. Jim Charboneau, the smallest player in the game was the main scorer for the visitors. He ran fifteen yards for one tally and passed thirty yards for another. On both tallies, Lisensberger ran over the conversions. The Bathers kept the Rocks away from their goal line until late in the game. Then Daggett faded back and threw the pigskin to Jack Dobbs, who made a remarkable catch and went over for the Plymouth score. Schomberger kicked the point. This score was the first tallied against Mt. Clemens in four games. The Bathers' victory was clear cut, gaining 19 first downs to the Rocks five and outrushing them 379 yards to 100.

And that's just about the condition which returning veterans face today! No place to live . . . overcrowding almost everywhere . . . because of the current housing shortage.

Added living accommodations, however, can be provided for thousands of veterans' families, and quickly, if owners of spacious homes . . . or of commercial structures will "remodel for veterans." Every square foot of unused living space must be put to use at once to meet the current emergency in sheltering the families of ex-servicemen. Low-cost FHA-insured Property Improvement Loans up to $5000 and for terms up to seven years are available to pay for the work. Priorities assistance, too, may be obtained to get building materials under the Veterans Emergency Housing Program. Rentals will repay the loan and furnish a steady extra income. We can help you plan your remodeling and we can assist you, too, with your FHA financing. Let's talk it over.

BARBON

Barbon Discusses Election

Pabson Park, Mass., Nov. 15.—Everyone who is interested in the welfare of the country—whether Republicans or Democrat—should be happy about last week's election. This does not mean that the Republicans are any better men and women than are the Democrats. Both parties have rendered useful and patriotic services.

IMPORTANCE OF A CHANGE

The simple fact is that a change is always helpful after a certain number of years. The Republican Party, owing to its strong hold on the people, abused its trust. A reaction was inevitable in 1932. Presidents do not make conditions, but conditions make presidents. There never was a better man than Herbert Hoover; but conditions defeated him. Even if Franklin D. Roosevelt and his friends had campaigned for Mr. Hoover, he would have been defeated just the same.

The Democratic Administration rendered valuable service. It gave Washington a house-cleaning which it greatly needed. Moreover, the "New Deal" had much in its favor and for many years it was only a fair deal. The nation owes a lot to the Democrats for their courage in giving prompt aid to England and in the waging of the war. The Roosevelt Administration was very wasteful; but a Republican Administration with its strong isolationist element might have been too late in getting into the conflict and too economical when waging the war.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

All will not be rosy for the new Republican Congress. The people demand a revision of the Wagner Act and legislation whereby labor must be subject to the anti-trust laws. Whether the Republican Congress will have the courage to enact such legislation—especially over the President's veto if necessary—is uncertain. It is also unknown now as to whether labor will get into a "cyclone cellar" for the next two years, or will fight more bitterly than ever before.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

If labor now behaves half way

cently, we ought to have a couple of more years of good business. Furthermore, it should be in the interests of the Democratic Party to have good business in 1948. On the other hand, labor leaders could easily throw a monkey wrench into the situation. If so, last week, the Republican Party may have been given a "headache" instead of a "victory."

Most people believe that last week's victory assures the election of a Republican President and a Republican Senate, as well as a Republican House, in November, 1948. Perhaps so. Based on previous history, this will come true. On the other hand, let us remember that there are exceptions to all rules. It may be that the Republicans would have a better opportunity in 1948 if the Democrats had been forced to carry the bag for two more years. We cannot now tell.

CHRISTMAS OUTLOOK

One thing is certain, namely, most retailers should have the greatest Christmas in their history. During the past few weeks the Christmas trade outlook has been a little uncertain in some communities because of the factory layoffs and the stock market break. I am sure that this will all be forgotten for the next two months. The election should revitalize every community and most consumers. The only ones who will economize on Christmas purchases will be government employees who know they are to lose their jobs.

Let me add that it may not be too much of a misfortune to those who lose these government jobs. Working for the government, as a rule, is not good for most people as they become stale and inefficient. Employers do not like to hire people who have worked for the government too long. Hence, it may be "a kick upstairs" to be kicked out of a government job even as a Christmas present! Everyone should try to get into a business where he can do his utmost and get rewarded for his results. This may best be accomplished by getting a position in a small community in a home-owned concern where it will not be necessary for you to belong to a labor union.

KIMBROUGH'S

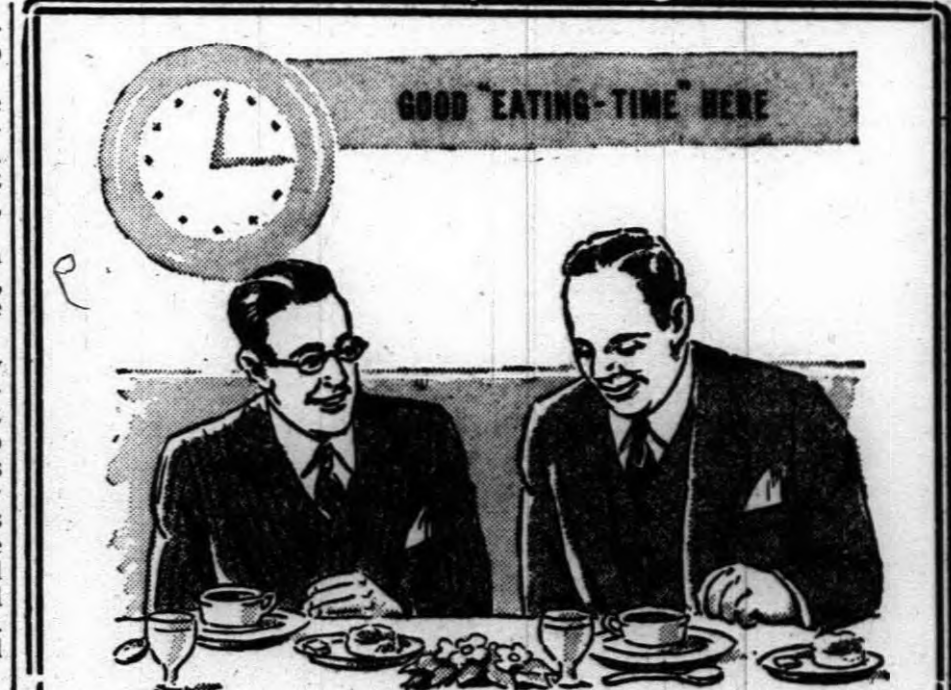

868 W. Ann Arbor Tr. Ph. 160

At 4:00 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, November 5, a pretty little wedding took place at the Methodist parsonage, when Isabelle Amrhein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Amrhein of this place, was united in marriage to Thomas E. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, of near Newburg, by Rev. D. D. Nagle. The bride wore a beautiful gown of net over white satin, with a corsage of bride's roses, and was accompanied by her sister, Fern Amrhein, who wore a lovely dress of white organdie and a bouquet of roses. The groom was accompanied by Fern Day of this place. Both the bride and groom are very popular young people of the community. They will reside in a pleasant home just outside the village on the Plymouth road.

On Monday evening, November 7, a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louise Loosmore of Redford, when their daughter, Helen C. Loosmore, became the bride of Daniel J. Welzer of Plymouth. A double celebration has been planned for Plymouth this, Friday evening, November 11, when Armistice Day and the turning on of the new boulevard lighting system will be appropriately observed. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stewart pleasantly celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home on West Ann Arbor street, Saturday, November fifth. Four inches of snow fell Tuesday night and Wednesday. Nothing like it in many years, so say the oldtimers. Mr. James Swegles of the Grange gave an excellent description of their trip with the Farm Bureau on the tour from Fruit Ridge, Michigan, to Wheeling, West Virginia. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whittaker, a daughter, Irene May, on November 5; weighing nine pounds. By a substantial majority, Cady school district in Nankin township, at the special meeting last week Monday evening, voted to authorize the issuance of bonds for the construction of a new school in accordance with plans which had been prepared by the building committee. Contract will now be made immediately and the work started without delay. The building will be of tile and stucco, with brick trimmings. John Warkup and wife have bought the house on Adams st., in which they have been living for the past three years, from George H. Robinson. The following first grade children have neither been absent nor tardy during the month of October or so far in November: Viola Blossom, Melvin Blunk, Mary June Hamilton, Chester James, Sanford Knapp, Irene Kovak, Alice Lee, Russell Micol, Ralph minehart, Alice Postiff, Leo Parks, Wilhelmina Rocker, Marian Taylor, Jean Weeks, Vera Woods and Gladys Zietsch.

Speaking of shortages...

REMEMBER the man who said, "IF I had some ham I'd have some ham and eggs IF I had some eggs?" We sympathize with him. We meet up with new "ifs" every day. Huge quantities of copper, lead, steel . . . of lumber, rubber, textiles . . . are required to expand the telephone plant. Yet all are hard to get. Meanwhile we're doing our best with what we have. No "ifs" about that. To bring telephone service to as many waiting applicants as possible, Michigan Bell is using existing equipment to the limit and installing additional equipment just as rapidly as conditions permit. We already have filled a large majority of the orders received before January 1, 1946, and we hope to complete the remainder of these orders by early next year—in many cases sooner than that. Of course, in areas where facilities are available, we are filling many orders that have come in this year. And by late 1947, we hope to be on a ready-to-serve basis everywhere.
